The Crosby County 4-H Girls Achievement Week will be set up Monday afternoon and be open for exhibit to the public Oct. 25-30.

The Robertson and Lorenzo 4-H girls will exhibit their clothing and linens in Lorenzo in Jennings Dry Goods store windows, and canned goods will be on display at the Alexander Hardware Company.

Through a check up of the gins in Hockley county this week the records show that a little more than 22,000 bales of cotton has been ginned here this season.

None of the gins are running anything like full time, with the cry from all sections of the county of a need for more pullers.

—Hockley Co. Herald

Burning gas flares that light the Hockley county landscape from one end of the vast oil fields to the other may be pretty to a lot of people, but the Texas Railroad Commission has a different viewpoint on the situation, according to reports from Austin this week.

Gas is being wasted in both the Levelland and Slaughter fields according to charges made by Commission Chairman Ernest O. Thompson and Hockley county is faced with the shutdown of these fields unless steps are taken to correct the situation.

—Hockley Co. Herald

A census report shows that 333 bales of cotton were ginned in Garza County from the crop of 1948, prior to October 1, 1948, as compared with 1,566 bales for the crop of 1947.

The above announcement was made last week end by the Department of Commerce, Bureau of the Census, Washington, D. C.

—Post Dispatch

Messrs. Winborn and Heith, who built and opened the Pik-Pak store here a few months ago and who had purchased the lots on which it was built, including the Bud Milliken home, this week removed the big Milliken residence off the lots and transported it to Lamesa, where they will find another use for it.

—Lynn Co. News

Floydada (Spl.)—First carrots to go to the markets from Parrish Farms, Inc., amounted to some 200 crates. They left here last week, the first to be offered commercially from a crop variously estimated at from 50 to 100 carloads.

The carrots were cleaned, crated and iced at the loading dock of the Quannah, Acme & Pacific. They were sent to Dallas along with several crates of bell peppers from the same farm.

Seagraves will be aglow with Christmas lights and decorations during the holidays season.

The Chamber of Commerce this week announced plans are under way for decorating the Main street shopping district with permanent Christmas ornaments. A thousand light bulbs have been ordered for colored illumination.—Gaines Co. News

Therefore carrots and the jumping off conveyor belts at the sheds this week as the first big scale harvest of these truck vegetables climbs toward its peak.

Activity in the packing sheds, converted from potato sorting days, speeds along as a crew of experienced help, imported by the contracting farms clips, washes and sorts the vegetables.

In the Associated Growers Shed, leased by Williams Farms from J. J. Paetzold and in the Barkley shed, leased by San Pat Company, new machinery, except for the cull bins, was installed two weeks ago for the season.—Hereford Brand.

An executive committee last Thursday at a meeting held in Big Spring was charged with recommending to four West Texas cities how to go about a $12,500,000 dam project on the Colorado river to furnish an estimated amount of 30,000,000 gallons of water per

First Successful Turkey Hunter Is Mrs. C. R. Potthast

Over 200 readers of the Slatonite took part in the Turkey Hunt Contest last week, the first of five turkey hunts that will be held, the second of which appears in this paper.

The first Turkey was won last Tuesday night by Mrs. C. R. Potthast of 805 South 9th St., Slaton, and she will have turkey for Thanksgiving. Those interested in working the contest this week should keep in mind that any ideas can be used to make the answers original or different will count as well as neatness. Bringing the answers in early will not help, but having all of the answers correct, neat and original will.

Those who worked the contest last week reported that it was a lot of fun. If you do not win the turkey you may win other valuable prizes. Winners will be announced from the Slaton Theatre Stage next Tuesday night immediately after the first main show. Full details of the contest are printed at the top of the page in another part of this paper. Get your hunting clothes on and see what you can do.

The 6th and 7th graders won by a score of 19 to 0, with right half Joe Sparkman scoring two touchdowns on 35 and 60 yard runs, and quarterback Jerry Reynolds scoring on a 40 yard run and converting one extra point.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Shelton of Carlsbad, N. M., spent the week end with Mrs. Shelton's mother, Mrs. Lewis Mosser. Dorothy and Margaret Mosser returned to Carlsbad with them for several days visit.

Over the Wire

There have been many improvements in the equipment being used by the City of Slaton but few people realize what is being done for them because these improvements have been made gradually.

The street sweeper has helped the appearance of the streets but few people say much about it or probably ever think about it, the new garbage truck that is the most modern equipment of its kind, has proven a great help in keeping the town clean and the few corners where the streets have been marked are a help and could be a much greater help if the work could be completed.

Real Estate dealers over town report that sales are slow and that there are a good many desirable places on the market, however rental property is still as scarce as it was during the war.

Between the Lions Club and the Rotary Club plays, the town should be well entertained next month. The Lions are offering a comedy and the Rotarians a magician.

Those who have pecan trees in this area report extra good yields. It may be in the future that the South Plains may become not only a vast truck garden but also a region where fruit and nut trees will be propagated. It is said that English walnuts would do well in this section if properly cared for.

Many farmers report better crops than they hoped to gather. Some who have farms in the canyon say that they will get as much as three quarters of a bale of cotton to the acre on some of their land.

Funeral Held For Father Of Mrs. Mack

Funeral services were held yesterday evening for Dr. C. B. Leggett of Abilene, father of Mrs. Roy Mack of Slaton. Dr. Leggett died Monday night.

Dr. Leggett, who had been a resident of Abilene for the past three decades, was an eye, ear and nose specialist and was well known over West Texas. He had been ill for the past three years.

He is survived by his wife, his daughter, Mrs. Roy Mack, and one son, C. S. Leggett of Abilene. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Mack were at the funeral.

We Made A Mistake

Unusual as it may seem to everybody in Slaton and the surrounding territory, except to W. R. Sewell and Howard Swanner at the Bank, the Slatonite mechanical department made a mistake this week. You need not look for it in this paper but if you received a circular from Clay Oates Department Store you will find it on the left hand side where Cannon Wash cloths are advertised at 79c. Mr. Oates said that he would be glad to get 79c for the wash cloths but he has no hopes that even the most extravagant will kick loose from that much for one wash cloth, the price he intended to advertised the cloths for is 7c each. The cloths are one of his feature items and he says they are real bargains at this 7c.

BOOK REVIEW IS TO BE AT METHODIST CHURCH

The second in a series of book reviews which are being presented by Circle One of the W.S.C.S., is scheduled for next Thursday night, Nov. 4, in the basement of the Methodist Church, beginning at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. O. L. Byrd of Lubbock, who is a prominent reviewer in religious circles, is to review, "Journeying Through The Bible."

John H. Mosser has returned home after completing a course in refrigeration at a technical institute at Ft. Worth.

Mr. Allen O'Connor of Odessa visited last Sunday with his mother, Mrs. F. P. O'Connor and grandmother Henderson.

Slaton Football Fans To Ride Special Train To O'Donnell

Rotary Club To Bring Show Here

Dignified, yet exciting, entertaining with one whirlwind climax after another — That is the way the performance of Dr. Gaffney, master magician and company has been described by reviewers who have witnessed this streamlined performance of ultra-modern miracles.

The Slaton Rotary club is bringing Dr. Gaffney and Company to the High School auditorium here in Slaton, Monday night, Dec. 6th.

Dr. Gaffney declares that grown-ups alike will enjoy the transitions from the ridiculous to the sublime—from the realm of the eastern mystics to the ultra-modern tempo he has personally developed.

Outstanding among the many, many big time features of his presentation is the Egyptian Mummy case in which the beautiful princess is placed and in less time than it takes to seal the case she is no longer trapped by its mystic powers.

Every magician has his in-between features that cause all the boys and girls to want to be magicians when they grow up and then go home and try to do some of the things the Master has presented on the stage. But Dr. Gaffney's golf-ball routine during which he plucks as many as fifty golf balls out of the thin air and then gives them back to the air that gave them will have all such ambitious young fellows saying, "I guess I'll have to go to school to him, maybe he'll let me in on that, if I do."

Over two tons of rich and expensive equipment are required for this outstanding attraction in which the pupil, Dr. Gaffney, has out shown the Master, Harry Keller.

"The man with spirit hands" is indeed a true description of this artist whose speech and mannerisms on the stage is the envy of even Shakespearean actors.

Advance tickets will be on sale at the following places: Teague Drug, Palace Barber Shop, Meyer Bros. Book Store, Fitzgerald Drug.

The Slaton Tigers took another beating last Friday night at Seagraves, going down by a score of 19 to 7 in a south half District 4-A conference game. Seagraves started from the kickoff with a fast and furious brand of football which made them almost invincible, and the Tigers could not seem to get going. Seagraves scored two touchdowns and converted one extra point in the first quarter of the game. The Tigers scored their only touchdown in the second quarter when Lewis went through the line 32 yards for the tally and Smith rammed the line for the extra point. The Eagles scored again in the fourth quarter.

The Pep Squad drilled for the first time this year at the Seagraves game, looking very nice in their new uniforms. They formed a small circle and as the band played, "I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles," the circle gradually grew larger until at last the bubble burst and the girls raced off the field in every direction. The Pep Squad leaders have been putting on a very good performance at each game, showing they have spent plenty of time in practice.

Tonight Slaton will go by special train to O'Donnell where it is hoped the outcome will be in our favor. The Santa Fe Railway Co. is providing five coaches to carry about 250 fans to the game. The train will leave Slaton promptly at 6:30 p. m., will arrive in O'Donnell at 7:40 p. m., and will leave O'Donnell soon after the end of the game. O'Donnell fans have promised to meet the train with enough conveyances to provide the Slaton people with rides to the football field.

The Tiger team as a whole is in good physical condition, but Coach Tillery reports that Bobbie Taylor and Laurence Morgan, first string halfbacks, will not be in the game tonight, due to previous injuries. O'Donnell defeated Seagraves by a score of 26 to 6.

Carnival Is Held At High School Thursday Night

Elaborate preparations had been made and the annual Halloween Carnival was scheduled to be held Thursday night. A large crowd was expected to attend. The parade was held at 4:30 Thursday afternoon, with the High School Band leading and Halloween Spooks, and weird characters of all sorts taking place.

Everything was in readiness for a night of fun for old and young at the High School building, beginning at 6:30.

Rotarians Hear Production Man

Members of the Rotary Club were asked to bring farmer guests to the regular meeting of the club yesterday at the Slaton Club House to hear B. F. Vance, representative of the State Production and Marketing Administration.

Mr. Vance is one of the best informed men in the Southwest on the subjects of Production and Marketing and his talks are always entertaining and informative.

Thursday, October 21 the Club was entertained with a Musical program supplied by Dr. R. W. Ragsdale, jr., and Howard Hoffman. Mr. Hoffman on the violin and Dr. Ragsdale at the piano.

THIS WEEK'S SMILES

A small retailer in a Chicago suburb had been trying for months to collect an overdue bill, but all his pleas and threats were completely disregarded. As a last resort, he sent a tear-jerking letter, accompanied by a snapshot of his little daughter. Under the picture he wrote: "The reason I must have my money!"

A prompt reply was accompanied by a photo of a voluptuous blonde in a bathing suit labeled: "The reason I can't pay!" — Park Ridge Kwanian.

BETTER HEALTH FOR YOUR FLOCK

ARTIFICIAL LIGHTING BOOSTS OUTPUT

One among many means of increasing winter egg production is artificial lighting. The laying hen belongs to no union, but her working day is over when sunlight no longer filters into the laying house. She's ready for the roosts, then, and the production of her next egg will have to wait until tomorrow's daylight.

13-Hour Day

To offset the effect of short fall and winter days many poultry raisers resort to the use of lights, turning them on either early in the morning or at dusk, or both. Enough morning or evening lighting to account for a 13-hour day is considered about right by most raisers of poultry.

Lighting is an important factor because it helps maintain proper body weight, tends to hasten maturity for late hatched pullets, and has the effect of bringing breeders back into production—all these in addition to lengthening the daily feeding and egg-laying period.

If hot weather retards food consumption among early hatched pullets that begin laying in June or July, use lights to prevent the loss of body weight if weight cannot be maintained by any known feeding method. Usually by mid-October lighting should be started on birds that have been in production for some time.

Protect Their Health

Ask your feed dealer what your birds are going to need to keep in high production. See that your flock has plenty of the right kind of nourishment. Make sure there's enough room at the feeders so that each bird can have an adequate ration. Above all, look after the health of your chickens—a well managed flock will usually be in good condition and their appetites will be on a scale that guarantees good production.

Mr. and Mrs. Arno Albrecht and son, Warren, of San Antonio have been visiting in the homes of her daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Hallman of Lubbock and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Stolle of Post.

AT SELF'S SERVICE STATION

Howdy Folks: Some one compared us to Milton Berle, the radio comedian. They said he didn't pay his writers as writers. He paid them ransom money for jokes they kidnaped.

It's the first time we ever got into the big time, but we do admit our jokes are good. They should be—they're time tested.

We were about to say that our humor is wholesome, anyhow, but some one would probably say that wholesome humor couldn't come from half-wits.

We still claim to be a humorist. You know what a humorist is. He's a guy who originates old jokes.

And just to prove that we are a humorist, may we suggest that next time you meet a cross-road you humor it.

Brother, we really dug deep for that one.

Oh well, we can get serious, too. So let us say again that it is a mighty good time to change to WINTER WEIGHT OIL at . . .

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Want To Join Our Club?

Newcomers to our town are puzzled when they hear talk of "The Barbecue Club." Want to know who can join, and what the purpose is.

Well, the answer is: any one can join who's neighborly inclined. The purpose is simply to enjoy good food, good beer and ale, good conversation—all towards getting to know one another better.

Every other Saturday, at one farm or another, the pit is dug, and the fire started. And by sundown, neighbors from miles around have come together—the women contributing cakes, pies, and coffee, the men contributing the meat for barbecuing, and the beer or ale.

From where I sit, it's this simple wholesome side of country life in America—its spirit of good-fellowship—that makes for tolerance and better understanding between neighbors.

As I say, Neighbor, any one can join up! So come along a week from this Saturday.

Joe Marsh

JUST TALK

by
A.M.J.

As publisher of the Slatonite and citizens of Slaton, my wife and I have been here for slightly over eight years and, in looking back over that time, I have seen a good many changes in Slaton and all of them that I can think of have been for the best.

One of the greatest improvements was the building of the Hestand Grocery store building on Texas Avenue, that eliminated the crumbling old walls of the building that had been burned years ago. The Ray C. Ayers concern has expanded to more than twice the size it was when we came to Slaton, the Berkley & Haddock new building and the building now occupied by Anthony's have been built and nearly all of the buildings on the West side of the square have been remodelled. There have been more homes built here than at any time in the town's history, except when it was first incorporated and most of this has been done when the price of labor and materials has been at higher costs than it has ever been.

When we first came to Slaton in 1940 a lot of good homes were being hauled away on trucks to other communities and the homes that were here were selling at very low prices, with few buyers. Do we want such conditions again? Most everyone who is willing to work has or can get a job, prices are high and the world is in a mess. It is enough to make a man take aspirin.

The following from the Lampasas Dispatch reports that a former Slaton man made a hole-in-one at his present home golf course in Lampasas, Texas. Here is the way the Lampasas Dispatch tells it:

Nick Carter registered the first hole-in-one on the Park course Tuesday when he holed out with a No. 4 iron on No. 9. Playing with Nick were Joe Peak and Word Jackson. Playing at dusk, Nick didn't even know his shot was in the hole until he started to find his ball.

Never having been a golf addict, I cannot appreciate the hole-in-one as much as those familiar with the game, but I can understand that it would be a very unusual circumstance and I imagine Nick will never recover from the shock.

Allan Payne called me last Friday to come over to his store to see something that he had that was very interesting.

It was a head of lettuce that was bigger than any cabbage that I have ever seen and about a peck of carrots. Allan had been out near Wilson where a number of farmers are working in cooperation with a former California truck grower and a canning factory in Lubbock, on developing this section into a trucking area.

The Slatonite carried a feature on this development about four weeks ago and the Lubbock papers devoted considerable space to it last Sunday.

Truck farming can be done on small acreage, but to be done right, it takes a lot more work than cotton or grain and as long as cotton and grain are paying crops, this country is not likely to turn into a second Rio Grande Valley.

Most young folks want to get away from the town in which they grow up. This is natural and the opportunities for both boys and girls to get out and see the world are greater than ever before. Most of them seem to want to go to the bigger towns and cities and I can look back on my boyhood and understand just how they feel.

My home town was about twelve or fifteen thousand in population and it seemed like a jail to me. It was my privilege to know every yellow cat and flop-eared hound and I could tell you to whom each belonged. The City of Dallas, which was some one hundred miles away, seemed like heaven to me and the Frisco's one dollar yearly excursions to the Dallas Fair, as it was then known, were the big events in my life. It was an all night trip and the trains were always crowded with squalling kids and drunk men, but I gladly sat up all night and got a thrill out of the trip, and it was my fondest hope to go to Dallas as soon as I graduated from High School.

This I managed to do, and nearly starved to death for almost a year. I worked for the meanest man in Dallas and I have never liked the town since.

These young folks who are so anxious to get away from home do not know it, and the only way they will ever find it out is to get the experience. The small town has as many or more advantages as the larger towns and cities. It is easier to make friends in the smaller town and there are more amusements for those whose finances are limited, you do not have to work as hard to make a living and you do not have to have as much monthly to be recognized as a citizen of the community.

This is not meant as advice to the young folks for I know it is useless to give advice to young folks about business or marriage.

Folks who are supposed to know something about dogs say that most all dogs are healthier when they spend most of their time out of doors, they also claim that a dog is not in the best of health when it is fat.

This may be true but most dogs want to get in where it is warm and I am sure that if a dog could talk it would certainly put up a mighty good argument for being allowed to stay where there is a little warmth.

We have a pooch at our house and so far we have managed to keep him out in his little mansion in the back yard but he is about as hard to get out of the house as it is to get an elephant in the house. He is only a small pooch but he has the appetite of a lion and if I were as good a salesman on selling advertising as he is on selling my wife and I that he should have a part of every meal we serve then the Slatonite would be bigger than the Dallas News. If most of us would study the actions of our dogs we would learn a lot about how to get the things we want.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Demel of Rosenberg visited over the week end in the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kahlich.

Slatonite And Daily Papers At Bargain Rates

Daily papers all over the nation have raised their subscription rates and trends are still upward however both the Star-Telegram and the Lubbock Avalanche are allowing special rates for a limited time.

The Slaton Slatonite is offering the following combination prices on the Star-Telegram and on the Lubbock Avalanche.

Star-Telegram, seven days per week, including Sunday, a regular $15.00 value and the Slatonite, regularly $2.00 per year, all by mail for the bargain price of $15.45.

Star-Telegram, six days per week, no Sunday, regularly $14.00 and the Slatonite, one year regularly $2.00, both by mail for only $14.10.

Lubbock Avalanche, six days per week, including Sunday, a regular $9.00 value and the Slatonite, a regular $2.00 value, all by mail for one year, for $10.50.

The Lubbock Avalanche, five days per week, no Sunday, a regular $8.00 value and the Slatonite, a regular $2.00 value, both for one year by mail for only $9.50.

New subscribers will be accepted for all of the above mentioned papers. The Sunday Star-Telegram only can also be secured at the Slatonite office for $5.00 per year or in combination with the Slaton Slatonite for one year for $7.00.

If you wish to save money on your daily papers and on the Slatonite it would be advisable to subscribe at once as the bargain rates this year will not likely be in effect as long as in past years. Expiration dates on the papers do not have to be the same as the Slatonite to secure the bargain.

Casual Comment

By Mrs. Nora Billingsley

One of the most sensible articles I've ready lately is "Barbaric Funerals," by Margaret Morton McKay, in a recent issue of Today's Woman. It begins:—"I'm in favor of abolishing funerals! They are barbaric, and we'll be taking a big step forward when we do away with such tragic, three-ring circuses. The greatest agony any human being faces is the death of a loved one, yet we do nothing to ease the pain of bereavement; on the contrary, we perform rituals which accelerate the sense of loss."

Personally, I have a great distaste for funeral orations. Even when the subject has been a good and useful citizen, and faithful to his churchly duties, a paean of undiluted praise must often strain both the speaker's imagination and his hearers' credulity. On the other hand, if a doubt is expressed as to whether the departed is flying or frying, I always have an acute attack of the sensation that comes when "we want to sink through the floor." It has always seemed to me that the dead are so far beyond our censure or our praise, that either are out of place.

My own observations, over a fairly long lifetime, have shown that the good are never entirely good, and the bad are far from being wholly bad. If peoples degrees of goodness and badness could be thrown on a screen, probably none would show up as really white or black, but that all would vary in shades from a very light, to a very dark, gray.

The old verse is usually true, which begins:

"There's so much good in the worst of us,
And so much bad in the best of us—"

I think also that the dead preach their own best funeral sermons. They tell us, in the words of the Bible, "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might, for there is no work, nor device, nor knowledge, nor wisdom in the grave, whither thou goest." They tell us that our life is a passing and transient thing; that our little wisp of time, from out eternity, will soon be over whether it be used or wasted, and that we too, will join them in their last long sleep.

The custom of sending flowers is beautiful — and also an enormous waste. If it was the custom to leave an envelope containing money, on the casket of a friend, which contribution could be used to brighten the lives of disabled veterans in hospitals, or in a hundred other ways, where money is so badly needed, surely it would be a more useful and lasting memento of our regard than sprays of flowers that die in a day or two. I have heard a number of people express the wish that this be done in the event of their own deaths, though, as most people fear being considered eccentric they will probably never request it.

I think it would be a kind and thoughtful consideration if the bereaved could be less exposed to public inspection — no matter how sympathetic this regard may be. They could, in a private room at the funeral chapel, be allowed to sit with their dead if they wished. Here too, in privacy, they could look for the last time at the loved one, before the casket was permanently closed.

Yes, surely a much shortened and simplified burial service would be better for all concerned.

The dead — any dead — may well remind us of an old quotation, the following of which precept will prevent our lives from having been lived in vain:—"I shall pass through this world but once. Any good thing, therefore, that I can do, or any kindness that I can show to any human being, let me do it now. Let me not defer it or neglect it, for I shall not pass this way again."

What They Write:

CBS Commentator Ed Murrow liked a column in the Shortsville (N.Y.) Enterprise so much that he broadcast it one night to his radio audience of about 22,000,000 families.

Mr. Murrow discovered the column while judging the contest sponsored by Ithaca Radio Station WHCU in connection with its program, "Radio Edition of the Weekly Press."

After the broadcast, Mr. Murrow said listeners' requests for copies of Editor Don Perry's column were considerably higher than requests for copies of some of his other broadcasts—even those he'd been particularly proud of. In addition, Editor Perry has had fan mail from all over the country. The column, aired from coast to coast, follows:

Automobile Situation

"The market for automobiles being what it is these days, you almost have to present a birth certificate and a character reference from the family pastor before you are allowed on the showroom floor. New cars are so valuable that the dealers have them arrive in the dark of night, and as for used cars . . . they are worth more than new cars, and are kept in burglar-proof vaults, where the attendants wear white cotton gloves, surgical gowns and gauze masks. Any citizen who is so carefree with his happy lettuce that he is considering trading cars, has a great little experience in store for him. He will learn, first, that there is a vast difference between buying a car and selling a car. When an auto is privately owned, it is a heap of junk, held together only by fence wire and heavenly providence. But put the same model in a used-car lot and it immediately becomes a 'miracle of the auto manufacturing industry' and needs only diamond-studded hubcaps to be fit for the Shah of Persia. If you are selling your car, the routine goes something like this: 'Tsk, tsk, tsk!' says the dealer. 'A 1937 model; that was their bad year. Needs a new coat of paint. Uses oil. Muffler is all shot. Upholstery worn threadbare. Brakes are bad. Tail pipe has a hole in it. Fenders are dented. High mileage. Did you drive it in here, or were you towed? I'll give you a hundred dollars as she stands, and believe me, I'm doing a favor, taking it off your hands.'

"So what happens? The dealer gives the jalopy a quick polish job, puts in a couple of 50-cent floor mats and advertises it in the Sunday paper to wit: 'FOR SALE—Snappy 1937 sport model, like new. Original owner was elderly school teacher who liked to walk. Excellent finish, good tires. A sparkling beauty for a man with young ideas. Only $335 down, balance in low monthly payments.'

"New cars are a little harder to come by, unless you buy them in a used-car lot at twice their original value. But suppose you are a stickler for propriety and want to have a NEW new car. You call up the dealer and say, 'Hello, Joe? Bill sent me. Got a few thousand dollars and want a new car. Whatcha got?'

"This is known as the Intimate Approach and is just as useless as any. The dealer will tell you that he has no cars on hand and that he has been allotted only 69 new cars for 1948, which he doubts if he will get because of the coal strike, the steel strike, the auto workers strike and the strike of men in a plant at Ipsiwawa, Idaho, where they make flanged nuts for the inside brevoort of the franzipans. He will, however, put your name on the waiting list and you can expect delivery of a $1750 four-door sedan in about six months.

"Leave us dream awhile and suppose that your blood pressure has kept below the boiling point for six months. Comes that glad some day, when the dealer calls and says 'She's here! And bring a check with you for $2595.' All of which means that you have a new car, and as you soon discover, a few other things too.

"During that six-months waiting period, you find that (1) the price has increased twice; (2) a few accessories have been added such as a 16 tube radio with FM and television, a complete air-conditioning unit that also makes ice cubes and mixes cocktails, super-balloon low-pressure white sidewall tires, de-luxe plastic seat covers for front and rear seats with extra kick pads and lipstick pockets, removable barbecue pit with extension handle frankfurter toaster.

"You sell your home, mortgage your mother-in-law and buy the car. And that, kiddies, is why mothers-in-law are becoming scarce while the highways are crawling with cars."
