TULSA, Okla.—These boys are the first to put junk at the feet of "Frankenstein," metal monster destined to stand at one of this city's street until Tulsa County collects its scrap metal quota of 15,000 tons. This giant mascot of the local campaign was built entirely of waste oil field equipment, and the collection bin around its feet is a constant invitation to Tulsans to drive by and toss in their salvage. "Frankenstein" clutches a dummy figure of Adolf Schickelgruber—a foreshadowing of his fate to come.

ROBERTSON MADE DISTRICT COMMANDER OF VETERANS

In a meeting at Big Spring, Texas last Sunday, Briggs Robertson was chosen District Commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Mr. Robertson reports that like all other conventions the meeting was for strictly business purposes and the office to which he was elected was the only one to which an officer was to be chosen.

Mr. Robertson has been serving as Deputy District Inspector for the past year and made an inspection of the Tulsa Post last Tuesday. He also addressed the Tulsa Kiwanis Club on Un-Americanism when he visited the town.

Briggs has been active in V. F. W. in Lubbock for several years and has held responsible positions in the Lubbock Post, as well as in the District organization. Briggs says he expects the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars to be more active after the present war than they have ever been and he looks forward to a very active time in his new office.

Texas High In War Bond Sales

Texas' man in the street paced the entire nation in the purchase of war bonds in the Second War Loan drive.

Frank Scofield, State War Bond Administrator, disclosed Monday that bond sales to individuals, partnerships and personal trust accounts nearly doubled the fixed quota.

Sales to small investors totaled 199 percent in the 11th Federal Reserve District which comprises all of Texas and parts of Louisiana, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arizona. Texas has 254 of the 311 counties making up this district.

The district had a goal of $400,000,000 for all bond sales in the war loan drive. It handed Uncle Sam a cool $572,451,600 to make it hot for the axis in translation of bonds to armament and ammunition. This means the goal was oversubscribed by 43 per cent.

Banks, institutions and governmental departments invested heavily in the war loan drive, but the individual investor—the man in the street—emerges as a great factor in its success, the No. 1 Bond Salesman declared.

"This shows beyond a doubt that the average man has wholeheartedly accepted his responsibility in the people's war," Scofield added.

"Uncle Sam needs everybody in this all-out war. He called for that help and he got it. The average man has rolled up a victory of his own on the home front."

The Atlanta Federal Reserve District ranked next to Texas in bond sales to individual investors, attaining a goal of 189 per cent. The Minneapolis district was third.

In the Chicago Herald-American of Monday, April 19, a large illustration was published, showing Major General Allen pinning the medal of the Purple Heart on the uniform of John Donald Shelby, a former Slaton boy, who before entering the armed services was a resident of Chicago.

He was born and attended school in Slaton and his mother, Mrs. Harrison T. Shelby, lives at 200 North 20th Street. His sister, Miss Marita Shelby, also lives here in Slaton and is an employee of the Frozen Food Lockers.

Don has many friends in Slaton, who feel honored to have known him and who rejoice with his family in his recovery and because his heroic action was recognized by the high ranking military authorities.

Here is what the Chicago paper had to say concerning the award given Staff Sergeant Shelby:

"Sergt. Barney Ross' exploits have been widely acclaimed, but not until Sunday did it become known that a lad who used to tend bar for Barney in his loop cafe also was a hero of the war."

"This heretofore-unsung Chicagoan, now wounded and wearing an Order of the Purple Heart medal for his valor, is Staff Sergt. John Donald Shelby, formerly of 834 Montrose Ave."

"He was wounded in action in the vicinity of Oran, Algeria, and

Veterans Are To Meet Monday

Attention Veterans of World War No. 1! Monday, May 24, a regular meeting of the Veterans of World War No. 1 will be held at the Legion Hall.

Members are urged to come, even if 1943 dues are not paid yet, as there is some business to attend to regarding the Memorial Day program.

J. F. BOLDIN, Com.
J. M. HANNAH, Adj.
MRS. J. C. WILSON
BURIED IN LUBBOCK

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at the First Methodist Church in Lubbock for Mrs. J. C. Wilson, who died in Lubbock last Tuesday.

Mrs. Wilson was the mother of Elbert Wilson, Chief of the Fire Department here in Slaton. She was visiting him when she fell and broke her hip several months ago.

She is survived by her husband, four sons, three sisters and four grandchildren.

Prayers For Peace Continue

The third of the series of Prayer Meetings for Peace will be held next week on Wednesday, May 26, at the First Baptist Church, The Church of God and The Church of God in Christ Jesus (colored), co-operating, the services to be held at 10 a. m., 5 p. m., and 8:30 p. m.

Reverend Paul Stevens and Miss Lorene McIntock, who have been active in organizing the prayer services, report that excellent attendances have been held at all of the meetings and that interest is growing steadily.

Particular importance is laid on the observance of the one minute of prayer each day at 11 a. m., when everyone is being requested to stop whatever they are, and to say a prayer for peace.

Three Negroes In Trouble

Three negroes were arrested last Saturday in the east part of town for disturbing the peace, two women and one man.

"It was the reverse of the usual trouble for which we make arrests," said Charley, "the two women were fighting over the man, and it was a whirlwind of an affair."

Cigarettes To Go To Soldiers

A campaign to supply the men in the armed forces abroad has been inaugurated in Slaton and other towns over the nation.

According to reports, the men have more difficulty in securing American cigarettes than they do most other luxuries and the Cigarette Companies are offering to deliver their products to the men overseas for 5c per package. Those wishing to make donations for buying the cigarettes, may do so by mailing checks or by leaving money at the Chamber of Commerce office, and may make requests as to which brand of cigarettes they wish sent.

The Weather

Weather recording by G. H. Orr for the past week shows that we had 1-32 inch of moisture on May 18 and 1-19 on May 19. The temperature reached a low of 51 degrees on Thursday morning and the high of the month was 98 degrees on Monday.

NEW PRODUCT BEING PUT ON MARKET BY SLATON FIRM

In a program to help produce all the food for victory possible, the Ray C. Ayers & Son firm reported this week that they are now producing and selling a very satisfactory re-cleaned, tested and tagged Milo and Sorghum Seed for planting.

This is being done by new machinery that has just been installed for this purpose, which insures the best possible germination and mixes the feed in the proper proportions to make a good stand.

"We feel that top quality grain will be in great demand this season and wish to encourage the farmers of this section to produce the best quantity and quality possible," said Mr. Henry Edison, "and we have invested a large amount of money to provide the new machinery to turn out this new product."

Another Slaton Teacher Resigns

Reliable reports from close friends of Miss Addie Lee Morrison this week, were that she had resigned her place in Slaton High School, to accept a similar position with the Sweetwater school and would not return here next term of school.

Miss Morrison has been a teacher in the Slaton School for the past sixteen years and will leave a position that will be difficult to fill. With the recent resignation of K. S. McKinnon, there are at present two positions to be filled and the Slaton Independent School Board is likely to have many problems on its hands before the next school term opens.

Extensive Plans Laid For Observance Of Memorial Day

Briggs Robertson, who has been in charge of the plans for the observance of Memorial Day here in Slaton, says that he expects a large number of visitors in town on May 30th, at which time extensive ceremonies will be held in the afternoon. American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars representatives will be present with the standards of their organizations. Reverend H. I. Robertson, of the First Methodist Church of Lubbock, will deliver a sermon and two units of the Defense Guard will be present at the ceremonies.

Members of the local churches have requested to help in the observance of the day and United States Flags floating at half mast will be displayed in honor of all of our boys who have "Gone West" in the service of their country. Reports from the South that give promise that every citizen in this State will take part in the observance of Memorial Day ceremonies. Representatives of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the Lubbock Post and members of the American Legion from Lubbock, Post No. 1, are making arrangements to attend the ceremonies and with other visitors from out of town, will have one of the most extensive ceremonies ever held in Slaton in observance of this national day to pay respects to all men who have fought in wars for this country.

SLATON MEN ATTEND ROTARY CONVENTION

Mr. and Mrs. Garriott T. Baldwin and Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Crawford left last Wednesday for St. Louis, where Mr. Baldwin and Mr. Crawford went as delegates from the Slaton Rotary Club to the Annual Rotary International Convention.

They are expected to return to Slaton this week end.

Elects Officers Plans Program For Year

Tom Turner, the new Vice President for the Slaton Chapter of the Red Cross reports that due to a shortage of materials the rooms will be closed until government can release more for this purpose.

Over, the women who wish to assist in the work will be asked to assist in folding dressings. This work will be done in the building just south of the Post Office, instead of in the Red Cross Building, and will be of the help that can be given. Mrs. Turner said that she will give even a hour to the work will be of help. The Surgical Dressings will be open Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays from 5 p. m. and on Thursday nights from 7 until 9 p. m. Mrs. O. R. Patterson, of Posey, who has been made assistant in the cutting room, reports that over 750 bandages were made last week.

The Plains Lumber Co. donated the tables, Ben Mansker contributed the material for the work room, and the Southwestern Public Service Co. is supplying the electricity for the lights.

In a meeting held at the Slaton Chamber of Commerce Thursday night, May 13th, Briggs Robertson was re-elected as President of the Slaton Red Cross, Mrs. Tom Turner was elected as Vice President, to take the place of Mrs. H. R. McKee; Mrs. R. H. Bailey was made Secretary, to take the place of Mrs. Tess Bruner, and Mrs. Lee Green was re-elected as Treasurer.

Mrs. T. E. McClanahan received word from her son, Cpl. R. C. Brackeen, who is "somewhere in the Pacific," that he will be home soon.

Pvt. First Class Homer A. Ferguson, Field Artillery, Camp Howze, Texas, has been visiting his mother, Mrs. M. B. Tate. Homer is making good in his work and likes it very much.

Pvt. Joseph C. Jeter, Sr., is now with the Engineer Corp., stationed at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo. Prior to this, he was fireman for the Santa Fe, residing in San Angelo, Texas.

Lt. W. H. Mudgett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Mudgett, has recently been made an instructor in the Air Corps at Ft. Benning, Georgia.

Tom C. Madden and T. C. Boerner left Monday for their base in San Diego, after a very pleasant visit in the home of Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Madden.

Tom graduated from school here and also attended Tech until he was called to Naval Service. He graduated from an aviation metallurgy school in April and was the most outstanding pupil in his gunnery class.

T. C. Boerner and Tom are very close friends. T. C.'s home is in San Diego.

Canadian Air Men Cheat Davey Jones

NEW and ingenious methods of locating and rescuing airmen forced down at sea have recently been devised. In R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. records are detailed reports of how hundreds of airmen's lives have been saved from the ocean under conditions which would have meant certain death a few years back.

All this has been achieved despite the many-sided problem presented when land planes are forced to attempt landings on water. Bomber crews are taught how to brace themselves for the impact of a forced landing on water; how to inflate their dinghy and climb into it with minimum loss of time; and how to release pigeons telling their location and the time of the crash.

The Lindholme gear consists of five cylinder-shaped plywood containers, four of them waterproof, linked together by 230 yards of floating cord. These are dropped from the rescue plane like a "stick" of bombs.

The center parcel contains a large rubber dinghy, capable of holding 7 or 8 men, which inflates automatically on contact with the water. The other four containers are sealed to keep out water and hold food, clothing, comforts, and warning signals.

To provide drink and nourishment are tins of water, condensed milk, emergency rations, malted milk tablets, chewing gum, and barley sugar. For warmth there are four waterproof sleeping suits and eight "everhot" chemical bags. Shaken up with sea water and placed inside the sleeping suits, these bags dry out sodden clothing and generate heat for 96 hours. To send out signals and to attract attention are four red smoke generators.

Also included are cigarettes, matches, a pack of waterproof playing cards to while away time until a ship arrives, a baling cup and sponge, and a practical first aid outfit.

Being adrift on a raging sea under these circumstances isn't still comfortable as being at home in carpet slippers with a pipe and the evening paper but, once they have received the Lindholme rescue gear, torpedo victims and "ditched" airmen have protection against exposure and an almost 100 per cent chance of being located soon by surface craft.

Over Million Join League

DETROIT, Mich., April 13—In less than six months time, membership in the Victory Service League, national patriotic alliance of car and truck owners sponsored by the Chevrolet dealers of America, has reached the huge total of 1,141,920, it was announced today by William E. Holler, national director of the league.

Enrollments have averaged approximately 7,500 daily since the League was organized in November, 1942. Totals in the eight Chevrolet territorial areas of the country are as follows: Flint region, 295,469; Atlantic Coast region, 86,449; Eastern region, 73,079; Southeast region, 161,170; Great Lakes region, 150,350; Mid-west region, 125,215; Southwest region, 107,683; Pacific Coast region, 142,505.

The purposes for which the league was formed are expressed in the two descriptive phrases, "Service for Victory", to actively participate in making every patriotic effort successful; and "Save the Wheels that Serve America", by keeping the vital wheels of transportation rolling on the home front.

Included on the membership roster are the names of scores of prominent and influential Americans; governors of virtually all the states, senators, congressmen, mayors, leading industrialists and business men, eminent educators, leaders of the clergy and the professions and many other noted citizens.

Activities of the Victory Service League include the support of the American Red Cross, cooperation in the sale of War Bonds, the collection of vital scrap metals gathering books and sports equipment for men in the armed forces, and unified effort in helping to maintain and conserve the nation's essential wartime automotive transportation facilities.

Top Prices Paid For Produce

Even though everyone seems to be raising chickens, there is a ready market for good poultry, says Ralph Robertson, who operates the Ralph Robertson Produce Company in Lubbock. We have a steady outlet for good poultry, eggs and cream including big government orders.

Mr. Robertson pays top prices for all of these produce items and takes immediate delivery for cash in Lubbock. The Ralph Robertson place of business is located on Ave. H, and those who have these items for sale will find it no trouble at all to drive up and unload.

Slaton Gets Good Service

Few towns in West Texas have the close connection to wholesale markets that Slaton has, says O. N. Alcorn who operates the Alcorn Motor Freight.

This company operates a daily truck to Lubbock and can bring back or deliver any kind of freight or package in a few hours time. The truck usually leaves Slaton at nine thirty and returns about four in the afternoon, and they freight almost everything in-eligible from small envelope size packages to big pieces of machinery.

The Alcorn Motor Freight not only handles freight but also does furniture moving in or out of town and makes long trips to move household belongings to distant points. All of the work is directed and overseen by Mr. Alcorn himself and he has a reputation for being one of the best moving men on the South Plains.

Who Wants To Be A Japanese?

It is said that the Japanese sleep on thin mats on the floor, but who wants to be a Japanese, although an old knotty mattress that has not been renovated in years or has never been worked over by the Slaton Mattress Company is probably harder than any Japanese floor could be.

With spring clean-up time here and with the weather becoming so mild, now is the ideal time to have your old mattresses made into new ones by the Slaton Mattress Co., says Mr. Ed Meyers, who has been making and renovating mattresses for years and who is doing business all over the South Plains. "We are in a position to give immediate service right now," says Mr. Meyers, "and we are allowing liberal discounts to those who bring their mattresses to us and who come after them when we have worked them over."

War time restrictions have affected the manufacture and renovation of mattresses, says Mr. Meyers of the Slaton Mattress Co., but we are still able to give our customers almost anything they want in a new regulation mattress.

Potatoes Scarce But Not Music

Potatoes may be getting scarce, but hot music is getting hotter, and sweet music is getting sweeter, says B. E. Adair of the Adair Music Company of 1012 Main St. in Lubbock. Mr. Adair has one of the largest stocks of sheet music in the southwest, and customers from all over the Plains country write him to get the newest as well as rarest of sheet music that is in his stock.

Mr. Adair reports that his business is increasing daily and that while he has been having difficulty in securing new musical instruments, he has many good buys in reconditioned pianos and other band instruments.

A & M TO HAVE SUMMER COTTON SCHOOL

COLLEGE STATION, May 19—In an attempt to be of service to the cotton producers of the South, the Agricultural and Mechanical School of Texas will offer a six-weeks Summer Cotton School, May 31 to July 10, according to Dr. Ide P. Trotter, head of the Department of Agronomy, under whose direction the school will be conducted.

SANDY HOOK PILOT INVESTS HEAVILY IN WAR BONDS

"My Way of Charting a Safe Course for the Future of My Country and Myself," He Says

Charles Onasch

Charles Onasch is a ship's pilot. It is his ticklish job to bring ships into New York Harbor—safely—through the tricky eddies and currents that run through the harbor.

On his skill and knowledge lie the safety of men and ships.

He says, "In my work as a pilot, I am constantly reminded of how much our country depends upon the ships that put to sea, and how many more ships will be required to see us safely through. That's why I lend my money—all that I can and then some—to the Government in the form of War Bonds."

Yes, Charles Onasch invests his money in War Bonds. Almost 16 percent of every pay check. And in 10 years, when his War Bonds mature, that's going to mean a handsome chunk of extra cash for him.

Perhaps, like Mr. Onasch, you too are fighting on the Bond front. But make it a good fight—make it the best fight you can. Boost your Bond buying, right now . . . today!

You've done your bit—now do your best!

How To "Pep Up" Home Or Office

There is nothing that makes a home or a business building look more modern or dresses up the outside appearance of a building like pretty awnings, and the Skinner Awning Company of Lubbock has many new, tricky ideas to submit to prospective customers in the way of design and colors of awnings.

This company can make awnings, tops for sport cars and covers for luggage that will fit perfectly no matter how odd the shape of the object may be. They are always glad to quote prices and show samples of the materials and are always pleased to have visitors to come into their place of business at 2121 19th Street in Lubbock where they have all of the most modern machines to do efficient work. The prices on the items they manufacture are most moderate.

Variety Is The Spice Of Business

There is no telling what you will find for sale when you visit the Slaton Coal and Grain Company, but whatever it is you will always find it at a most reasonable price.

Lee Tudor, who is the proprietor, has always got his weather eye peeled for a good buy and he will make a bid on most anything from a locomotive to a crate of chickens. Of course, they always have a big stock of feed, seed and coal as well as a mountain of high grade sand for all kinds of construction work, but you might pick up a big bunch of extra fine fryers or some fat hens; he might even sell you a squirrel for a pet or some garden seed in bulk that will make extra fine vegetables later this season. Lee says, "Don't give up until you have seen me. I may have what you want at a bargain."

THIS WEEK'S LESSON.

"Soul and Body" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday May 23.

The Golden Text is: "We all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord." (II Corinthians 3:18).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Out of Zion, the perfection of beauty, God hath shined" (Psalms 50:2).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook,

"Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "As the physical and material, the transient sense of beauty fades, the radiance of Spirit should dawn upon the enraptured sense with bright and imperishable glories" (page 246).

CANADA'S GIRLS IN BLUE

KEEPING track of the positions and courses of every aircraft, surface ship or submarine—friendly or enemy—which approaches the rugged North Atlantic Coast is a vital war job. This job is being entrusted to carefully selected members of the Women's Division of the Royal Canadian Air Force, working in cooperation with patrols of the United States.

So secret is the work done by these Air Force women in blue that the exact nature of their duties cannot at this time be disclosed. But on Canada's Eastern coast these clerks, operational as they are called, are on duty 24 hours a day in shifts—some of them working in shifts—on their intensified training having made them efficient, conscientious and reliable, ready to deal with any emergency.

They work in specially equipped R.C.A.F. operation rooms, the secrets of which are so carefully guarded that not even other Air Force personnel can gain entry unless they have specific business there and have not only been identified to the R.C.A.F. police guarding the entrances but their visits officially authorized in writing by the Air Staff.

The operations rooms at the Eastern Air Command are divided into different sections. In one large room, for example, a visitor can find R.C.A.F. women at their posts around a large circular table, on the top of which is a detailed map of the entire North Atlantic coastline. Wearing earphones every minute she is on duty, each girl is directly connected by a secret telephone line to look-out stations scattered all along the East Canadian coast. At a table nearby sit other R.C.A.F. women picking up by telephone the reports of the thousands of civilian members of the Aircraft Detection Corps, an organization originally started by the Air Force solely to provide advance warning of the approach of enemy aircraft. But the functions of the Corps have since been expanded to include the provision of information for the Navy and Army.

Keen-eyed fishermen, lumbermen, fire-spotters, lawyers, doctors, clergymen, businessmen, and even housewives located in populated and isolated spots all along these Atlantic shores, on day and night

Clerks in operations rooms of Royal Canadian Air Force centres keep in touch with observers of the Aircraft Detection Corps and record movements of ships and aircraft on large maps covering that area. The girls work in three 8-hour shifts to maintain a day-long record of operational flights. Above is shown a group of airwomen at their work.

Reports are received every hour of the day and night regarding movements of all forces and these must be checked for accuracy, recorded and mapped to ensure knowledge of operations around Canada's coastal points. Here in an operations room, shown at right, AW2 Jeanne Robertson of Toronto, left and AW1 Lois Husby, Gibson's Landing, B.C., receive and check information while AW2 Hilda Finley of Chilliwack, B.C., is ready on the ladder to plot the course of the craft.

watch, report immediately by telephone the presence in their respective areas of hostile and unidentified aircraft, submarines and strange vessels and persons. These Aircraft Detection Corps observers today form "a line of eyes" extending from the northernmost tip of Labrador, in every cove and on every headland around Newfoundland, Quebec, and the Maritimes.

Springtime is the Time for REPAIRING AND CONSERVING

It's the season when we all need a little fixing-up, so we're in the best possible "working order." That goes for everything you work with in home and business too. Don't let small failings grow into big expenses. Repair now, to make what you have do.

There's a service in town for everything you own. Just remember to allow enough time for the job you want done: available "manpower" is being kept mighty busy these days, so we all have to wait our turn in good spirit.

MRS. M. D. GAMBLE
Rev. Clinton filled his usual appointment at the Baptist church Sunday. Many attended church.
Mr. R. D. Meyers was home for a few days visit last week, before going to Kansas to farm.

Those visiting in the home of the R. M. Cade Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. V. S. Cade and children of Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Stephenson Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gamble visited Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Stacy of Whiteface Sunday.

Mrs. J. G. Hampton has returned home from a visit with her daughter in Lubbock.
Mrs. A. L. Payne's mother of Sweetwater visited with her last week.

The Union Sewing Club met with Mrs. R. M. Cade Wednesday evening. All of the members were present. A picnic was planned for Friday night, but due to rain a domino party was held instead.

A kitchen shower was given in the home of Mrs. H. F. Doyle honoring Mrs. B. B. Jones whose home recently burned. Several called and many sent gifts. The guests were served punch and cookies.
The Cooper Rural High School's Commencement Exercises will be held Friday night. The speaker is from SPAFS. The public is invited to attend.

Quite a bit of excitement has been going around with the Union boys for the past few weeks. It was aroused when Clarence Kitten purchased some pet rabbits. All of the boys are now watching with anxious eyes hoping he will soon be able to furnish a pair of rabbits for each boy in the community.

Mrs. M. D. Gamble and George visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Presley, of Shallowater, Sunday.

Miss Nellie Jo and Tommie Ruth Jones spent the week-end at home.
Mrs. Travis Davis's mother is spending a few days with her this week.

Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Stephenson received word from their son, Pvt. I. B. Stephenson this week saying he liked where he was just fine.

Mr. Travis Davis is in Tahoka on business this week.

Since Eddie Bracken entered films some two years ago from the Broadway musical comedy stage, he has gained approximately twenty-five pounds, until now, in United Artists release of "Young and Willing", which holds forth at the Palace Theatre, Tues., Wed., he tips the scales at 150.

"The first actor", his fellow-star William Holden, remarked, "whose success went to his stomach."

Lionel Barrymore turns detective in his new M-G-M production, "Dr. Gillespie's New Assistant," showing at the Palace, Fri. and Sat.

Confronted with a baffling medical case, the doctor decides that there is some reason why it will not yield to medical science. He places his assistants on the trail, and the results form an absorbing mystery-medico-drama.

Van Johnson, Keye Luke and Richard Quine are to be seen as the physician's assistants, with Susan Peters as the patient with the mysterious ailment.

The drama was directed by Willis Goldbeck.

Meat Alternates

MEAT alternates really need no introduction. You know them well: poultry, fish, milk, cheese, eggs, dried peas, beans, nut meats, whole grain cereal and flour. But simply because these are old familiar foods in the daily menu, we face a few stubborn facts when we cast them in their new role of meat alternates.

No one food can do two health-building jobs at once. So the milk, eggs, bread and so forth that are already part of your daily menu pattern do not rate as meat alternates unless you serve an extra portion.

Not only that, but the size of portions of meat alternates must be at least doubled to equal the food value in an average serving of meat, which is very impractical for ordinary menu purposes. Luckily, though, you can solve the problem either one of two ways on meatless days: (1) Serve two meat alternates a day—one for lunch, one for dinner, and if possible, make one of them a first class protein. (2) Spread meat alternates over all three meals—for example, an extra large portion of cooked cereal for breakfast; a generous serving of cheese with salad for lunch; beans plus a custard for dinner.

A parting reminder—eggs, milk, cheese, fish and poultry are first class proteins and therefore are the best substitutes for meat. The other "alternates" are not rich enough in protein to be used consistently if you can possibly help it.

PLANE TALK

by the Observer

A significant development in this war, and one which may shorten it considerably, is the use of power turrets on our medium and heavy bombers. These power operated gun mounts have altered the roles our bombers play from the "hunted" to the "hunters".

For years gun turrets were hand-operated but, when planes began to attain speeds close to 400 m.p.h., it became obvious the marksmanship of gunners would suffer. The slip stream was so great against the protruding guns that the gunners found it well nigh impossible to obtain any degree of accuracy with gunfire.

Then, twelve R.A.F. bombers were equipped (for the first time) with power turrets for the battle of Dunkirk. They shot down 38 Nazi planes. Thereafter the Nazis approached Allied bombers with more respect.

Today, improved power turrets are standard equipment on many U. S. planes, including the Liberator (B-24) heavy bomber. And a heavy toll of Axis fighting planes is the result.

ABOUT ENGINES

Lycoming Division, of the Aviation Corporation, Williamsport, Pa., is putting out an educational kit on airplane engines for the use of preflight instructors in high schools. To our knowledge it's one of the first efforts by an engine manufacturer in that direction. The kit is complete, includes cutaway drawings, in addition to other invaluable data for the teacher.

ALL IN DAY'S WORK

Aircraft warning-net teams of the Army Air Force, some of whom live amid head-hunters, are making India virtually airtight against Japanese aerial attack.

The Japanese have neither been able to advance into India, nor to exploit their gains in Burma, because of the vigilance of these warning-net teams, plus the relentless pounding of the 10th Air Force's medium and heavy bombers.

Apparently one of the secrets to the successful defense of India is to have advance warning of approaching enemy bombers. By maintaining a 24-hour vigil in the far flung outposts, these teams are able to report at once when Japanese planes approach. This gives fighter planes time to get into the air and be waiting to shoot them down.

The men are in real head-hunter country. Many Americans have succeeded in getting along on friendly terms with the head-hunters, but they still are in such remote places that it takes from two to three weeks to reach them by trail. Supplies are dropped regularly from the air.

These hardy outfits are composed of radio operators, observers, radio repairmen, medical attendants and cooks. More and more of these units are being established.

BIGGEST AIR BASE

The Army's biggest air base for fighters, somewhere in Maryland, has just been completed. Total cost of the installation is estimated at $20,000,000. There are four miles of 150 ft. concrete runways, 14 miles of 50 ft. taxiways and hangar and other facilities for three full squadrons on the 4700-acre tract. More equipment is being used on this airport than on any other project of its kind in the country, civil or military according to Major H. D. Nottingham.

OKAY, CHUMS

A special lingo is now developing in aircraft manufacture, newest of the volume producer industries, just as it has grown on older production lines. "I'll buy it," is inspector's slang meaning "I pass my inspection." "Buddle pusher" means foreman. A "shoemaker" is a clumsy workman. A welder becomes a "rod-burner." To "pick up the butch" is to correct a faulty job. The "squawk sheet" is the complaint sheet where faulty work gets

Southland News

Virginia King, Correspondent

Sgt. Calvin Klaus and James R. King, who are both stationed near London, recently learned that Otis Browning is also in that part of England.

H. D. Hallman, Jr., who is employed in the Navy Disbursing Office at Jacksonville, Florida, is expected on the noon train Monday or Tuesday. This is his first visit home since the Christmas holidays.

Cadet Ralph Landers of Pine Bluff, Arkansas, arrived Wednesday morning to attend his grandfather's funeral. Ralph already has 65 hours in the air and lacks 10 more to complete this second lap of training. Recently he was surprised at his instructor's command to take a plane up solo, as he didn't know what part of the controls the instructor had been using on former flights, but he soon realized he could fly one alone.

Robert Hart, who is now stationed at Ft. Bliss, Texas, came back to Southland last Tuesday for a six-day visit. He was formerly employed by A. F. Davies.

Just four months had elapsed between the last two letters from Ding Martin. In his letter received last week, he hoped to stay on Treasure Island, San Francisco, until he could have some dental work done. Another seaman, Leon King, is stationed at the same place.

While standing on patrol duty at the Post Office in Treasure Island last week, Leon King met another boy from good old Southland. He was none other than Bruce Payton.

Miss Ben Etta Mining was valedictorian of the class of '43. Billy White made the highest grades among the boys and Virginia Lea Ward was salutatorian. Ben Etta was absent from the candle-light graduation exercises last Tuesday evening. She will graduate this Friday at Springfield, Missouri.

Her instructor in telegraphy gave her choice of immediate employment in three cities. She chose Lubbock. Ben Etta made a grade there of 95.

Lee Roy Voigt and Billy White were home for the week end. Lee Roy was employed last week by the Dalby Truck line in Lubbock.

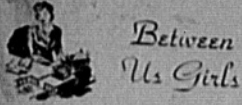

Word was received last week of the wedding of former resident Doris Gray and Alvin W. Mays, whose home is in San Saba. They were married at the First Methodist Church at Fresno, California, May 11, at 7:15 p. m. The bride attended school here the entire 11 years, and after graduation, attended Draughon's Business College at Lubbock. Until recently, she was employed at LAFS, where Private Mays was also stationed.

Between Us Girls

BY DONNA SANNER

Girls, I have the most wonderful offer to make you, so you'd better sit up and take notice. R. L. Smith has some very beautiful orange blossoms and you know what orange blossoms mean—weddings! That isn't the half of it though, for any of the girls around here who get married, he will furnish the orange blossoms. Isn't that the deal? I'm right with you, girls, there should be a couple of men left! Mr. Smith, if we just don't make it this time, how about taking good care of the orange blossoms until, well, let's say 1953?

I know that all the people in this section of the country appreciated the nice rain we had, but they couldn't have been so happy over it as K. L. Scudder. He'll wear a broad smile for weeks to come. By the by, surely you've noticed him out working in his victory garden, right behind the Forrest Hotel. I've told him that he had better get a light if he's going to work out there after dark. After all, Mr. Scudder, you might accidentally cut down one of those stalks of corn and that would be bad! Not only is it my opinion but the opinion of a number of others, also, that this is the prettiest victory garden in town. I'm sure Mr. Scudder is satisfied that it is worth the labor he has put forth. From the looks of that corn, he will be having roasting ears soon and I'll bet they'll be delicious. (M-m-m, this couldn't be a hint, could it?)

Little Ronnie Bagby, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bagby, got a bright idea that he wanted a victory garden of his own. He had been hearing so much talk about them that he thought he would be patriotic, too. He started a little garden, but finally grew tired of it. He decided it would be so much better to work in his dad's garden, so Ronnie took the hoe and started chopping (and I mean chopping) around the peas, beans, corn and what-have-you. You can imagine what happened to poor little Ronnie when his parents discovered their prized victory garden in ruins. But such is life!

Miss Mary Ellen Madden returned to her work in Lubbock after spending several days here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Madden.

Mrs. Albert Westerfeld of Ft. Worth is visiting her mother, Mrs. S. H. Adams. Mr. Westerfeld entered the Armed Forces this week.

Mrs. Wendell Eddins, of Sudan, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Jerry Mudgett, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roberts and daughter, Diana, left Wednesday to visit with Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Roberts in Andrews, Texas.

Everett Kenney is spending this week in Lubbock with his grandmother, Mrs. J. W. Kenney.

Mrs. L. D. Jamison, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. George Privett, left Thursday for her home in Little Rock, Arkansas. Prior to her marriage, she was Miss Carla Reed.

Stanley Brown left Saturday for Amarillo, where he is employed in the Civil Engineering Department.

Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Tate visited in Ropesville, Sunday.

Mrs. E. R. Legg, Mrs. Max Arants and little daughter have gone to Trenton to visit Mrs. Legg's mother, Mrs. Davis.

Mrs. W. W. Finney and daughter, Joyce Nell, left Slaton this week for a visit with relatives in San Antonio, where they also expect to visit Pfc. Sam Pat Finney, who is serving with the U. S. Ordnance Corps, stationed in San Antonio.

Mrs. Sam Ball arrived last week one of the nicest, friendliest men I know. He has a hearty smile and a cute little wisecrack for everyone. He's always asking me if I'm working hard. I guess he thinks "Cowboy" Jackson is giving me too much to do. Poor "Kentucky"! I'd surely hate to have to get out in this rainy weather just to take girls letters from their boyfriends. ### VITAL ORGANS CONTROLLED Through Nerves

Not until it is understood that every vital organ in the body is connected with and controlled by nerves from the spinal cord and brain, can one fully understand why Chiropractic methods can relieve so many human ailments. It is difficult for many people to understand why the Chiropractor seeks to correct functional and pathological disease in vital organs by adjusting the spine. He adjusts the spine to remove interference between the central nervous system (brain and cord) and the organs, knowing that if vital energy is not properly delivered to these organs they cannot function properly.

No one should feel that he or she is merely destined to be sick all their lives. Everyone is entitled to health. Everyone can have health if nervous energy is normally delivered to their vital organs.

A & M To Hold Annual School For Firemen

COLLEGE STATION, May 19—The 14th annual School for Firemen will be held at the A & M College of Texas under the auspices of the State Firemen's and Fire Marshall's association, May 24-28, according to Dr. C. C. Hedges, head of the Department of Chemistry, and director of the school.

These schools are conducted at the A & M College each year for the benefit of volunteer firemen in small towns or rural areas, Dr. Hedges stated.

Three primary courses highlight the program: General Basic Firemen's Training, Red Cross Lay-Instructor First Aid and Fire Department Instructor courses. Those taking the latter course are supposed to have had the basic course in fire fighting, enabling them to go back to their respective departments as instructors.

Eight drills are scheduled, covering ladder and knots, hose, forcible entry, salvage, hazards and safety, fire fighting practices, pump operations and methods of instruction.

Prof. E. L. Williams, head of the Industrial Education Department, will be in charge of the Fire Department Instructor course. Chairman of the Red Cross First Aid course will be Melvin A. Buzzard, Mid-Western Branch, American Red Cross, St. Louis Mo.

Assisting in the drills and evolutions will be representatives of the Fire Departments at Waco, San Antonio, Houston, El Paso, Luling and Dallas.

TALK
by
A.M.J.

Yipee, I Yil, Ho Hum, I'm an old Cow Punch from the Robertson Ranch, and my legs are all bent and my eyes are still full of sand.
 We went out last Sunday to the Gus Robertson Ranch, to see the branding and my wife's remarks reminded me of a story my father used to tell about the city girl who while visiting on a farm, pointed to some calves, and said to the farmer, "My what pretty cowlets."
 The farmer said "Yessum, only them ain't cowlets, them's bullets."
 The visit to the Robertson Ranch was most interesting and a bit consoling for I had always thought that all a rancher had to do was to turn a few cows out on a big expanse of cactus and underbrush and go out once a year and chase a few of them to market, take a big fat check to the bank and go back home and wait for another year, while a newspaper man has to dream nightmares all night, and chase around like a rat terrier after a rat all day, but after an hour at the branding demonstration I came home aching in every joint and with the firm conviction that a Hereford calf is as dangerous as an African lion.

One of the greatest disillusion-s I had was in the way the men handled the calves. Gus Robertson nor his son, Sug, or any of the ten or twelve men who helped, even looked like they wanted to bull dog one of the calves, in fact there was but one man on a horse and the horse just moseyed around like he was bored and tired of the whole business while Pete Gentry who was riding the horse, half-heartedly dropped a rope down on the ground and a calf obligingly stepped into the noose, then half the men in this section of the county jumped on the bellowing animal and started throwing it around the corral. One man cut bed a branding iron against its side and still another stuck a needle full of serum in it somewhere. It took four to five men to get the calf all fixed up and I believe that most any wild animal would have to give up to such rough treatment and I would rather face ten subscribers who had missed their papers than to grab a calf by the business end and have it take pot shots at my thimble full of brains.

There were a lot of people out watching the branding including Mrs. John Hardy Morgan and she seemed as excited over it all as if she had never seen it done before.
 Mrs. Sug Robinson, who said she could not remember the first time she rode a cow pony on her father's ranch, acted like a kid at a circus, and I sincerely believe she would have enjoyed taking part in the proceedings and I have no doubt that she could have roped those calves with her eyes closed, but I was a little disappointed for I expected to see all the men on horses whirling ropes over their heads and yipping at the top of their lungs, and waving Buffalo Bill hats in the air while the cattle surged and stomped around trying to gore the horses, the cow man and everything in sight, but just the same I enjoyed the trip and now have a lot more respect for a meat rationing coupon than I ever had before.

Of course there is little or no hope of a man in the weekly newspaper business ever having a big brick ranch home where he and his wife can sit on a deep veranda and look out over the broad expansion of lawn, and the prairie dogs bore holes in my wife's favorite flower beds and in the lawn, and look off in the distance where future prime T-bone steaks gambol over the hillside. No, these are things I will have to forego and just admire from a distance and if the meat rationing gets much tighter, I can drive by and peep in the window and lick my chops as I see the ranch owner fork big helpings of meat into his plate, but just the same I will still endeavor to get along the hard way.

Mrs. R. G. Loveless, who returned from Dallas last week reports that the chewing gum shortage has also affected the Southern

Vitamin-Rich Meatless Dish

PUT this recipe for Rice Stuffed Green Peppers in your permanent file of meatless dishes. Green Peppers are rich in Vitamin A, which has been named the "blackout vitamin" because it helps the eyes to adjust to the dark. Tomato juice and glassed condiments make the rice stuffing tasty and appetizing. To stuff 6 peppers, you'll use:

- 6 green peppers
- 2 tablespoons bacon fat (or other fat)
- 2 tablespoons minced onion
- 3 cups cooked rice
- 1 cup tomato juice
- 1 teaspoon salt
- Few drops tabasco sauce
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1 tablespoon chopped parsley
- 1-4 cup buttered crumbs
- 1-4 cup grated cheese
- Paprika

Wash and hollow out peppers. Parboil in slightly salted water for about three minutes. Invert to drain. Heat fat. Add onion and cook slowly until tender, about 5 minutes. Stir in rice. Add tomato juice, salt, tabasco, Worcestershire sauce and parsley. Fill pepper shells with mixture. Combine buttered crumbs and cheese and sprinkle over tops. Dust with paprika. Place in a greased baking pan and bake in a moderate oven (350 deg. F.) for about 25 minutes or until nicely browned.

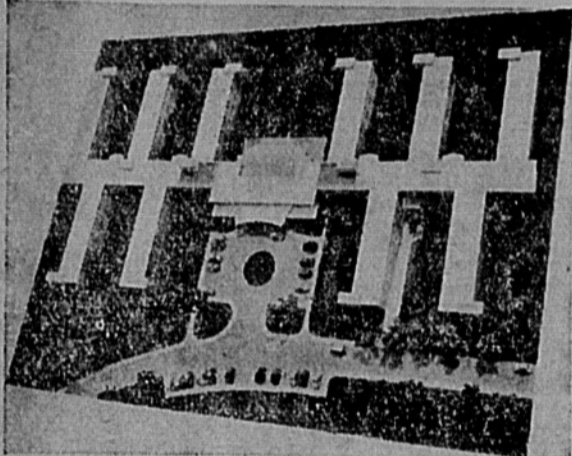

part of the state and she was still chewing on the same piece of gum that she took to Dallas with her.

And while I am on the ranching subject I might say that my ideas on what the average cattle man's wife looks like have all been remodelled and my mental picture of a bonnet sticking out of a covered wagon is all wrong, at least if all the cattle men's wives look like Mrs. Gus Robertson, Mrs. Sug Robertson and Mrs. John Henry Morgan. They have bonnets but they are the kind that must have inspired the song that was written about Easter Bonnets and a fashionable pair of slacks are just as much at home on the ranch land of this section as they are on the college campuses. My former ideal ranch woman has been completely blotted out but I'm anxious to meet some more of the 1943 feminine models.

Should the war continue for several years there are many habits, to which the average citizen has become accustomed, that may be broken never to come back into public favor, such as chewing gum and the consumption of vast quantities of soft drinks and coffee.

The boys who have gone to foreign shores will probably bring back some new habits and the women will have to work out new methods of breaking their husbands of the ones that will tend to take the men away from home. Whether severe headaches, crying spells or just ordinary tantrums will serve as well on the new habits, that are in the offing, as they have against fishing trips, is yet

FROM MODEL TO REALITY

BUILT TO CATCH SUNSHINE—Pictured above is the model of a typical ten-wing residence hall in the Arlington Farms project being built to accommodate thousands of newly-arrived Government girl war workers. Built of Cemetex wall units and other modern discoveries in construction, each wing is designed to bring the maximum in sunshine, light and air to each of the hundreds of rooms comprising the development.

Buildings From Bagasse

WASHINGTON, D. C.—They used to stack it in heaps, burn it, do anything to get rid of it.

Now they build houses out of it. That is the transformation of bagasse, the waste product of a sugar mill; what's left of the sugar cane after its sweetness is extracted.

Its transformation into Celotex is the modern version of the old-time fairy tale in which the prince lives in a house made of sugar candy, except that Celotex is strong, durable, and keeps out heat in summer and cold in winter.

Ernst Dahlberg, president of the Celotex Corporation, is the man responsible for making walls, roofs, floors and interior fittings from what used to be thrown away.

Bagasse is the strong fibrous residue of cane stalks, left after they have been crushed between huge, grooved milling rolls. Sliced with water and squeezed, leaves of every drop of sugar juice, looking rather like well-chewed tough grass, the bagasse is baled and shipped to the mills where the fibers are washed, sterilized and processed to make them repellent to moisture and the attacks of termites and dry rot. The fibers are then transformed into boards that serve a variety of building needs. Celotex plants cut up hundreds of tons of bagasse every day.

From the original miracle of Celotex to the scientific achievement of Cemetex wall panels through uses of new materials is another development in the activities of Ernst Dahlberg, Celotex Corporation president. This unusual product has met exacting requirements in being chosen as the basis of most of the construction of the Federal Government's Arlington Farms residence halls, a huge project now being built on the outskirts of Washington for the accommodation of some 7,000 women war workers. Cemetex wall panels are multiple function products which provide a complete wall including exterior and inside finish and ample insulation against heat and cold. They make possible faster construction of urgently needed structures, at the same time conserving both materials and manpower. These wall panels are another Dahlberg achievement that has helped to revolutionize the art of building.

Cemetex's Cemetex wall units are being installed in the residence halls in accordance with a system of construction of the John B. Pierce Foundation of New York City, of which J. F. O'Brien is general manager and Robert L. Davidson is director of housing research.

NEITHER FIRE, VERMIN, MOISTURE NOR CLIMATE—

Fire, vermin, moisture and climatic changes have no effect on Certain-tyed Bestwall Gypsum Exterior Board, a building material that is highly useful in new construction, remodeling or re-pairing.

This durable material comes in smooth solid sheets, which can be quickly and easily applied. Its core of fireproof gypsum provides a high degree of protection, and tests have repeatedly demonstrated that it will not burn.

Here's the clincher for me

This is my kid. He's a pretty good kid. I always used to figure he'd get along all right in the world, the same way I did. But a war starts you thinking. Nobody knows for sure just what kind of a world my kid will have to grow up in. But whatever kind of a world it is, a little money behind him will help. That's why I'm salting money away for him now. I'm not taking any chances with his future. I'm guaranteeing it in the best way I know how. Every pay day, nearly a quarter of what I make goes into War Bonds. Not just when I can spare it. But every single pay day—week in, week out.

It's taken right out of my pay, on the Payroll Savings Plan. That way, I hardly miss it! But it mounts up fast. And every one of those War Bonds will pay back four dollars for three. Pay it back when my kid may need it most. Sure, I'd be buying bonds anyway. I know the Government needs money to win the war. And, it's the least sacrifice a guy can make for the country that's been good to him. But the clincher with me is my kid. Chances are, you're already in the Payroll Savings Plan—buying War Bonds—doing your bit. But don't stop there. Raise your sights! Do your best!

South Plains Army Air Field has paid tribute to one of its men killed in the line of duty.
The No. 1 athletic field at the post has been named Kanne Field in honor of Cpl. Lester B. Kanne, of Waseca, Minn. Cpl. Kanne died in a plane crash at the field March 17 while on a routine training flight.
SPAFS, May 17.—Rationing and conservation of food has come a little closer to men stationed at SPAAF this week with the starting of more practices aimed at eliminating waste of food.
Not more than two bars of candy, two packages of chewing gum or six cigars may be purchased at any time. In cases where cigars are bought by the package, not more than one package of five or ten cigars may be bought.
Another big saving in the amount of coffee, milk and rolls consumed during the day will result from closing of the lunch counter during the noon hours.
Regular point rationing for foods is in effect at the commissary which prevents military personnel and their dependants from securing additional foods besides their allowances in coupons. Shoe rationing has been in effect for several weeks with special permits required for any enlisted man who purchases a pair.
Walter Mosser, Joe Turner and Leroy English left Friday to report for induction into the Armed Forces.
