Farmers Union Plans State Convention

Farmers and ranchers from across the state, who are delegates to the Texas Farmers Union 70th Annual Convention, will converge on Lubbock December 7 and 8. The state-wide general farm organization will hold its two-day meeting at the Ko Ko Palace Convention Center in Lubbock.

The Friday morning opening session will feature speeches by Texas Senator Lloyd Bentsen and Lubbock Congressman George Mahon. The speeches will follow a welcome to Lubbock by Morris Turner, the mayor of the city.

A luncheon for Green Thumb workers and distinguished guests will hear Governor Briscoe's special assistant, Reagan Brown. At the same hour, the ladies attending the convention will be hosted at a luncheon and style show at the South Plains Mall in Lubbock.

The Saturday morning convention program will feature greetings by representatives of youth and other agricultural organizations. Spokesmen from 4H, FFA, FHA, Young Farmers and Young Homemakers of Texas will be on the morning program. Highlights of the Saturday morning program include addresses by National Farmers Union President, Tony Dechant, and National Farmers Union Insurance President, Ray Novak, both of Denver.

The annual banquet on Saturday evening will hear from Congressman Bob Bergland of Minnesota. Bergland, a member of the House Agriculture Committee, is a farmer and was a high official of the Department of Agriculture before going to Congress. Special awards will be made to farm news editors at the banquet. A party has been planned for Friday night to entertain the young people and a breakfast for the youth and leaders has been planned for Saturday morning, featuring an appearance by Mrs. Sherry Leach, Youth Director for National Farmers Union.

Convention entertainment includes a dance on Friday night and a chartered bus tour of points of agricultural interest on Friday afternoon.

Several hours of the convention program will be devoted to the adoption of a policy statement to guide the farm organization in 1974. The voting delegates will choose a state president, vice president, and delegates to the National Farmers Union convention which will be held in Milwaukee, Wisconsin in March.

Selective Service Answers Questions

Austin, Texas - Colonel Melvin N. Glantz, the State Director of Selective Service for Texas, has released a list of questions and answers selected from the most asked questions about Selective Service. The questions are in BLOCK letters, with the answers following questions:

HAVE INDUCTIONS STOPPED? Yes! On July 1, 1973

Telephone Co. Reduces Speed On Vehicles

General Telephone of the Southwest announced that the speed limit on all company vehicles will be 50 miles per hour effective immediately.

General Telephone with headquarters here at San Angelo serves more than 405 exchanges in Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Arkansas, maintains a fleet of almost 3,000 vehicles. "We are doing this voluntarily prior to passage of any laws which are expected to make compliance mandatory," L. Gray Beck, president of General Telephone said. "By

A Four Million Ton Shortage Expected

Anticipating a four million ton shortage of fertilizer next spring, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White warned Texas farmers they must try for "maximum benefits from a minimum amount of fertilizers in 1974"

Stressing more efficient use of fertilizers, White said it may be necessary to re-evaluate some farming procedures.

An important early step in determining fertilizer needs is a soil test, he said. Some of the larger fertilizer companies will provide this service for their customers. Farmers may also take their own soil samples and send them to Texas A&M University for analysis. Boxes and forms for sending soil samples are available through the county agent.

Farmers should also take a close look at the fertilizers they have been using to make sure they are using a fertilizer best suited for their needs, White said. With the current shortage of fuel, White suggested that farmers may be able to save by using a fertilizer which takes only one application.

The Fertilizer Institute has advised that fertilizer needs be determined early and suggests farmers get their orders as soon as possible to avoid transportation problems. Early orders will help the companies plan their shipments.

Good aeration of the soil will also help to get the maximum benefits from fertilizers, White said.

"Farmers must utilize every known method for getting full benefits from the fertilizer to

Mrs. Blackman Receives Service Award

A Muleshoe resident was honored Wednesday night at Pioneer Natural Gas Company's annual service award dinner at the Lubbock Country Club.

Barbara M. Blackman was presented a service award recognizing her 15 years of service to the company.

K. Bert (Tex) Watson, president of Pioneer, presented the award at the banquet which was the second of three such events being held by the company at different cities in its service area. This year a total of 196 employees, representing 3,025 years of service, are being honored.

SIGNS OF WINTER Ice creates a wintry scene early in the morning just outside of town. Temperatures have been in the teens in early morning with temperatures rising to the upper 60's and lower 70's by mid-afternoon. As December enters this week, Muleshoe has yet to experience any real bad winter storms. The ice in this picture was created by a water sprinkler system just south of Muleshoe.

Beef Short Course Will Be Held Here

A beef production short course for adult farmers will be held December 10th-13th under the sponsorship of the Muleshoe High School Vocational Agriculture Department according to Mr. Neil Dillman Superintendent, and Bill Bickel and Keith Bray, teachers of Vocational Agriculture.

Vocational Agriculture Division of the Texas Education Agency and the Department of Animal Science at Texas A&M University, will be the instructor for the course. He is headquartered at Texas A&M University.

Dr. Krehbiel is a native of Oklahoma. As a farm boy and FFA member, he had shown livestock and won many awards, including championships at the Southwestern Livestock Exposition in Ft. Worth and at the American Royal Livestock Show in Kansas City.

He has a strong background in animal production and genetics. He received a B.S. degree from Oklahoma State University in 1950, an M.S. degree from the University of Arkansas in 1959, and a Ph. D. degree from Virginia Polytechnic Institute in 1966. His graduate studies were based on selection for type and reproductive performance of cow herds.

Between periods of formal training, Dr. Krehbiel worked with the beef cattle industry as artificial insemination technician, beef cattle herdsman, and ranch manager in Oklahoma. He also served as beef cattle research assistant in Arkansas, and animal geneticist for the USDA at Miles City, Montana. For the past two years prior to joining the Agricultural Education Specialist Program, he served as Area Livestock Extension Agent in Ohio.

The short course at Muleshoe High School is scheduled to begin December 10th at 7:30 p.m. in the Vocational Agriculture Building. Other meetings in the series of four will be held on the 11, 12, and 13. During the dates the short course is in progress, Dr. Krehbiel will be available to assist cattlemen with individual problems and to provide on-the-farm instruction, according to Bill Bickel and Keith Bray.

Cattlemen interested in attending the short course should write or call the teacher of vocational agriculture, Bickel or Bray. An entry fee of $3.00 will be charged.

Beef Production Short Course certificates will be presented to each cattleman who attends all the training sessions.

Dr. Krehbiel states that the field of beef cattle production must take a close look at efficiency of production in the future. With land prices, feed, and taxes rising, the producer is meeting more and more competition for the consumer's dollar at the meat counter. From the economic view of the beef cattle business, there is every indication that in comparing the producer of yesterday and the producer of tomorrow, beef must be produced more efficiently in order to be a profit-making business. Dr. Krehbiel indicates that the beef production short course will deal with methods of producing beef at a lower cost and the ways of producing the kind of beef that the homemaker wants to buy. He also states that the course will include such important topics as cattle reproduction and pregnancy diagnosis, selecting bulls and replacement heifers, calf crop percentages, and supplemental

Job Corps Offers Second Chance

A second chance is waiting for unemployed, out-of-school young men and women 16-21 who want to learn an occupation that pays. The name of the chance is "Job Corps", says the Texas Employment Commission.

"Openings exist now for young men and women who would like to improve themselves and qualify for jobs in the labor market of today," says Lonnie Merriott, Office Manager of the Texas Employment Commission office at 210 South First Street.

Enrolees in this residential training program receive room and board, medical and dental care, work clothing, a nominal allowance, and other benefits, Merriott explains.

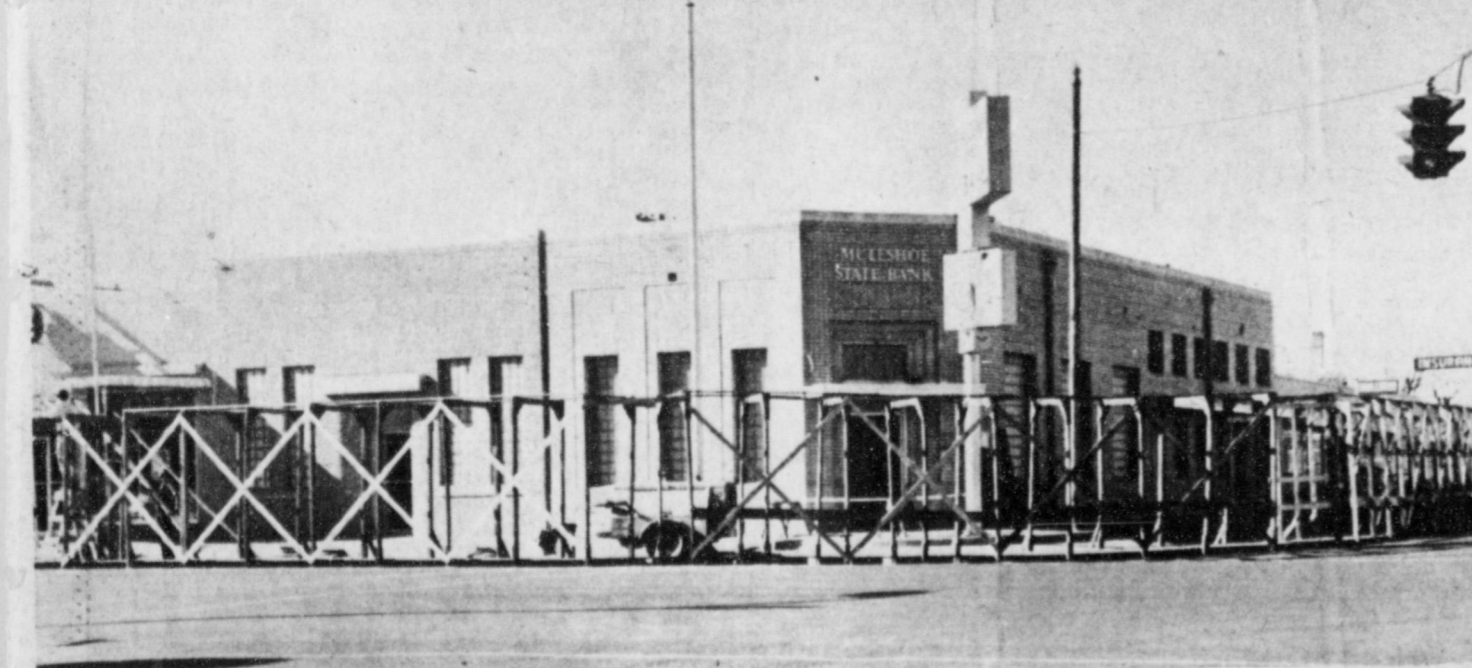

"Job Corps strengthens basic educational skills, and offers a wide range of vocational training in job skills, which are in demand today," Merriott says. "In addition, personal development is encouraged through sports, music, hobbies, student government and recreation."

The length of training depends on the individual, some completing the training program within a year, and others taking up to two years.

The Texas Employment Commission interviews and screens applicants for Job Corps openings and sends the applications to Job Corps headquarters for selection and assignment.

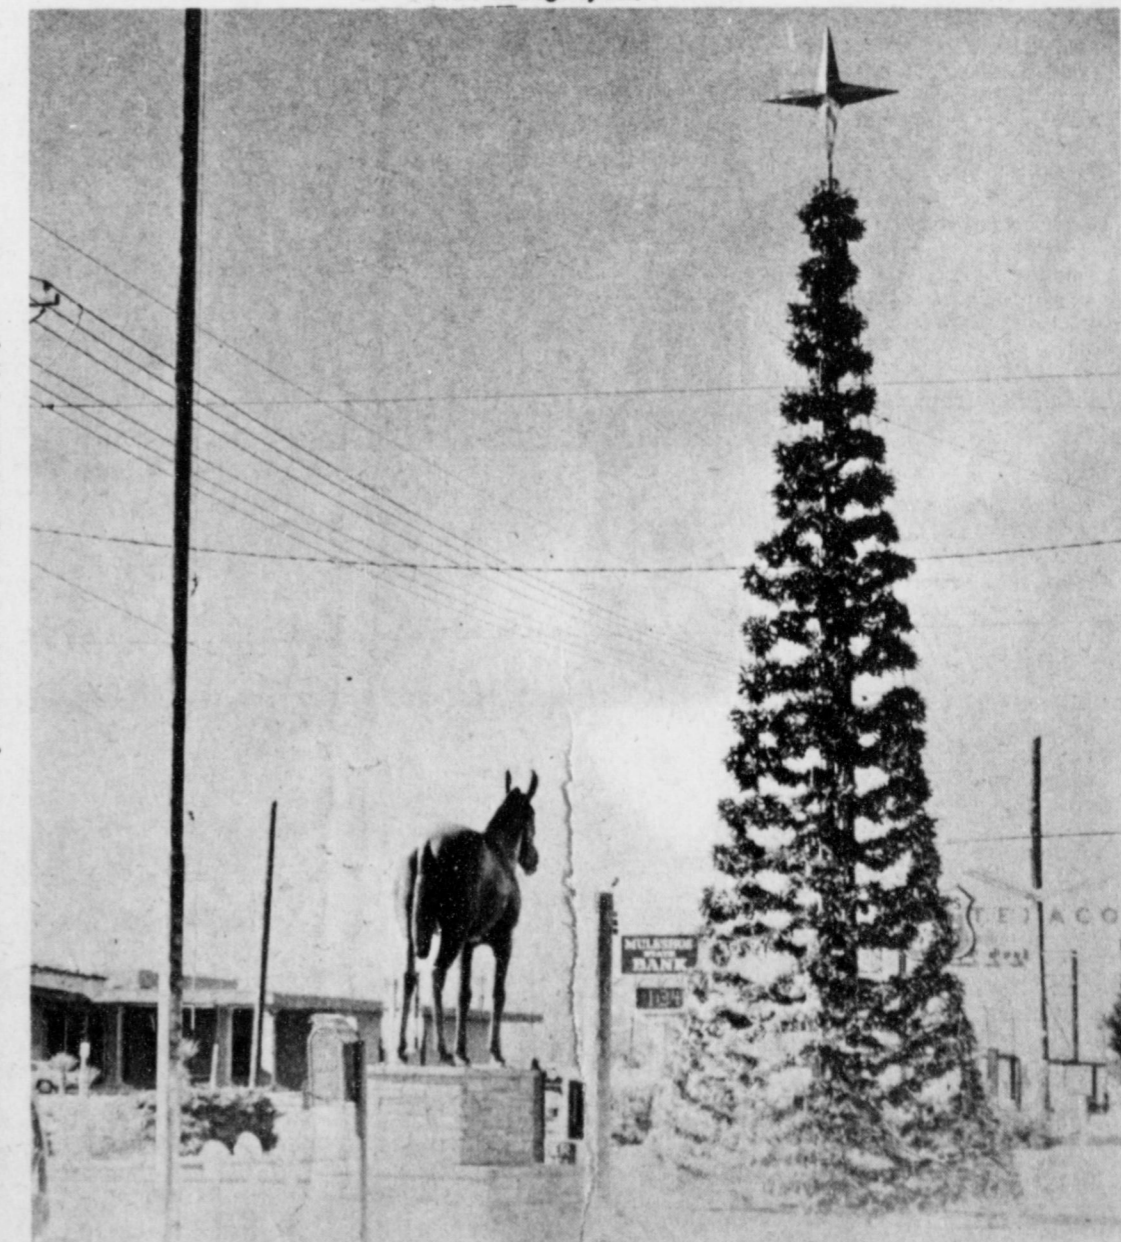

Most enrolees can be assigned to a center in Texas, either at Camp Gary at San Marcos, for young men, or at McKinney for young women.

Interested applicants should contact the Texas Employment Commission office, 210 South First Street for more detailed information.

REMODELING BEGINS. . . . remodeling of the future home of Tri-County Savings and Loan Association on Main Street began this week. Scaffolding has been erected around the building and construction has begun on putting up new siding on the building. Extensive work is being done on the building and it will be ready for occupancy sometime next spring.

TREE ERECTED An artificial Christmas Tree was erected Friday at the Mule Memorial Site. The tall tree replaces a live tree put up in previous years. Bailey County Electric employees installed the tree this year. In an effort to conserve energy, the tree will not be lighted and there will be no lighted Christmas decorations in downtown Muleshoe this year.

be considered for reclassification by your local board as available for induction and, unless deferred or exempted, you will "stand ready" for induction during the calendar year of your 20th birthday, which is your prime year of vulnerability to the draft.

CAN I APPLY FOR A DEFERMENT OR AN EXEMPTION? Yes! If you have a lottery number at the 1-H cutoff or below, you can ask for any deferment or exemption for which you believe you qualify.

CAN I APPLY FOR A CONSCIENTIOUS OBJECTOR CLASSIFICATION? Yes. If you have a lottery number at the 1-H cutoff or below, you may apply for conscientious objector classification which is either 1-A-O or 1-O.

WILL I BE GIVEN A PRE-INDUCTION EXAMINATION? Registrants are not being given preinduction examinations at this time. However, if examinations are resumed, those registrants below the 1-H Cutoff number will be examined, with those found to be qualified remaining in Class 1-A and those found to be not qualified being reclassified into Class 4-F. Qualified registrants may be considered for deferred or exempt classifications.

WHAT HAPPENS AFTER I FINISH MY YEAR OF PRIME VULNERABILITY? You will be placed in a lower category of vulnerability for induction along with men of your age group and will be returned to Class 1-H unless you qualify for a lower classification. Each succeeding year, until you reach 26, you will be placed one step lower on the "ladder" of vulnerability for induction.

WHAT HAPPENS WHEN I REACH AGE 26? As a practical matter, your immediate concern with Selective Service is over under the present Law. CAN THE PRESIDENT RESUME INDUCTIONS ON HIS OWN? No! The Congress would have to grant the President the authority to induct registrants.

IF THERE IS A NATIONAL EMERGENCY, CAN THE PRESIDENT TELL SELECTIVE SERVICE TO RESUME INDUCTIONS? No! Inductions can be resumed only with the approval of the Congress. DOES THE PRESIDENT INTEND TO ASK CONGRESS FOR INDUCTION AUTHORITY? Not unless an emergency develops. The Administration seems confident of the success of the All-Volunteer concept in the Armed Forces.

WILL ALL SELECTIVE SERVICE LOCAL BOARD OFFICES CLOSE? Not under present Law. Many local board offices have been grouped, which has reduced the number of offices open now. However, the Selective Service System will continue to operate on a stand-by basis unless the Congress changes the Law.

WHY CONTINUE SELECTIVE SERVICE IF NO ONE IS BEING INDUCTED? Congress does not want this Nation to be faced with a national emergency without a quick and equitable method of calling men to military duty. With the Selective Service System operating on a stand-by basis, the Nation can quickly respond to a national emergency.

These questions were selected from the most asked questions about the Selective Service System today. State Selective Service Director Glantz reminds young men of their responsibility to register with Selective Service at age 18. Registration may be accomplished at all Selective Service System Area Offices, at all Army National Guard Armories in Texas, at each County Court House in Texas, and at many High Schools.

Failure to register makes a young man subject to Federal prosecution.

Carbon Monoxide Is Silent Killer

COLLEGE STATION -- "You can't see it, taste it or smell it, but it can kill you if it's present. It's the silent killer--carbon monoxide!"

"Carbon monoxide is an odorless, tasteless, colorless, deadly gas produced when fuels such as wood, coal, oil and natural gas are incompletely burned," explains Wayne Keese, agricultural engineer for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Properly working heating equipment in the home produces only a small amount of carbon monoxide, but when heating equipment is not functioning properly, dangerous amounts winter feeding. The course can be changed to meet the wishes and interests of the farmers and ranchers enrolled.

"Short courses in beef production, as well as in other areas, are now available to farmers throughout the state under the cooperative program between Texas Education Agency and Texas A&M University," states Bob Jaska, associate professor, Department of Agricultural Education at Texas A&M University, who coordinates the program for Texas A&M.

"This cooperative program," states Jaska, "is designed to make the services of specialists available to conduct short courses under the supervision of public schools. Such a program will enable teachers of vocational agriculture to provide improved educational services to farm people."

Specialists are now available in the fields of beef production, farm electric wiring and safety, farm electric motors, arc welding, swine production, tractor maintenance, pasture, and oxy-acetylene welding.

keep up production levels," he said. "Fertilizer is not only going to be in short supply, but it is also going to be more expensive."

Several factors have contributed to the fertilizer shortage, White said. An additional 62 million acres of cropland diverted from production in 1972 have been released and are available for production next year.

Also, fertilizer exports have increased this year due to higher foreign prices. Export market prices were about $70 per ton while price ceilings held domestic prices to about $45 per ton. With the removal of price ceilings last month, more fertilizer should be available in the United States but at higher prices, White said.

If estimates of a four million ton shortage are accurate, "we could lose 200 million tons of grain potential for next season's crop," White said. "More efficient use of the product is absolutely essential."

lowering our speed now we can make a sizeable contribution to gasoline conservation. Our Corporate citizenship dictates our need to share the conservation responsibility."

an encounter with the silent killer," advises the Texas A&M University System specialist.

Symptoms of carbon monoxide poisoning are drowsiness, headaches, dizziness, confusion, nausea, muscular weakness and unconsciousness. If these symptoms are recurring, take action immediately. However, do not depend on these symptoms to warn you of possible danger. If the victim is overcome by carbon monoxide gas, get him to fresh air and immediately being mouth-to-mouth rescue breathing.

Keese lists some safety precautions to help free your home of carbon monoxide poisoning during the coming season.

Assure that heating equipment is vented into a safe chimney. Keep the chimney clean: remove soot, broken bricks, bird nests and anything that might keep gas from escaping. Test the chimney to see if it draws well by placing a lighted match near the clean-out or other opening. If smoke is drawn up the chimney, it is drawing properly.

Check vent pipes to make sure there are no holes where gas fumes can escape back into the home. Allow fresh air into space where heating equipment is used, especially if unvented space heaters are used. Be sure the burner of an unvented heater is clean and adequate air is reaching the burner.

Use habachies and other charcoal grills outdoors only, unless proper ventilation for gas fumes is provided. Never be tempted to grill a steak in the garage or closed-in porch.

"As for your automobile, all fuel-burning engines emit carbon monoxide. Since your car exhaust contains carbon monoxide, make sure doors in any enclosure are open before starting your car or other gasoline engines," advises Keese.

Carbon monoxide can also leak into an auto from a faulty exhaust system. So check the exhaust system regularly and repair any defects, including manifold gaskets, joints between muffler and pipes, and any holes in the system.

"Take steps now to make this winter a safe one," cautions Keese, "by guarding against the silent killer."

MR. and MRS. ROGER DALE BUTLER
nee MISS VICKI CRENSHAW

Miss Crenshaw Weds Butler

Miss Vicki Lynn Crenshaw and Roger Dale Butler were united in marriage in a double-ring ceremony in the First Baptist Church in Blossom, Rev. Robert Griffith, pastor of the Post Oak Baptist Church presided.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Crenshaw of Muleshoe, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack R. Butler of Paris.

The couple exchanged vows before an altar marked by a full arch with greenery, baskets of blue and pink carnations and seven branched candelabras. Accompanying Mrs. Sonny Lemonds of Pattonville as she sang "Twelfth of Never" was Mrs. Anna Crawford at the piano.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an A-line, empire gown of white featuring a V-neckline accented by lace, long lace sleeves and a satin trimmed bodice. Her veil of bridal illusion fell from a headpiece of lace over net enhanced by pearls. She carried a bouquet of pink and white sparkly chrysanthemums centered by a white orchid, with pink streamers.

Serving as matron of honor was Mrs. Tom Carlock of Colorado City and Miss Janie Kenmore of Paris was the maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Dian Graham of Colorado City and Mrs. Bill White of Paris. The attendants' empire gowns, each in a different rainbow color, were of knit overlaid with Chiffon and featured a lace-covered bodice, scooped neckline and baby doll sleeves.

Miss Terri Crenshaw, of Odessa the bride's niece, was flower girl.

The groom's best man was David Crenshaw, brother of the bride and groomsmen were Tom Carlock of Colorado City and Mr. Tony Dake and Bill White, both of Paris.

Seating guests were Danny Nations of Paris and Bill Crenshaw of Muleshoe.

Immediately following the ceremony, Mrs. Jean Mitchell, Mrs. Gin Waters and Mrs. Glenn Graston hosted a reception honoring the newlyweds.

The couple is residing in Killen where the groom, now serving in the U.S. Army, is stationed.

The bride attended schools in Muleshoe and business college in Plainview and is a former employee of Sears in Paris. The groom is a graduate of North Lamar High School.

A rehearsal supper was held Friday evening at the First Baptist Church in Blossom and was hosted by Mrs. John Crenshaw.

Progress 4-H Plans Float

The Progress 4-H Horse Club met November 20 at the home of the Henry Stouchams. The business of the meeting was to discuss and plan for a float in the Christmas parade. Larry Nowell led the pledge of allegiance and Curtis Wheeler led the 4-H pledge.

Meeting was then adjourned for refreshments of pop corn and hot chocolate. There were 27 members to attend the meeting.

Award Given To Mrs. Vaughan

Chastening Thought
Wisdom may come with age, but so often death arrives first.

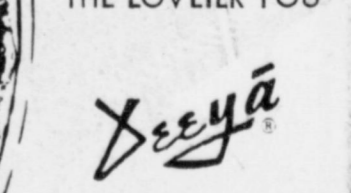

The empire style dress is popular this season. One of the loveliest designs for the Christmas season is a low, high waisted bodice of black velvet, or fashioned of one of the new jersey-like fabrics, combined with a solid color skirt of contrasting color.

Flower prints for evening are used for many of the new garments. Some of these have bands of a solid, harmonizing color used as waistbands or around the neckline.

If work-dodging paid dividends we would have a few hundred millionaires in town.

Mr. Hedgecote Gives Program

"When you grow up you'll have to find a job so you'll have the money you need to buy the things you need and want. The best job for you is one that lets you have fun." This is the way High School Coach Fred Hedgecote began his presentation to the Richland Hills kindergarten classes. This program was for Career Education which is being started in the Texas Public Schools.

Mr. Hedgecote told the children that his job is all fun--playing football all the time. He then related how people make money from football, beginning with the man who makes footballs, his salesman, coaches who buy from them, officials who referee the games and the ticket sellers. The children enacted this chain of jobs and had a mock football game complete with whistles, referee's shirts, and a football.

Mr. Hedgecote and Jim Allison, a high school student, gave a demonstration of the video-tape equipment and how they use it to review the games. Then they let the children see themselves on the screen as they were taped.

The children also saw equipment needed in football such as shoulder pads, helmets, and the uniforms. Mr. Hedgecote then discussed the safety factors involved with these items. Some of the children then tried on these items to see how they fit.

After this presentation the children had a better understanding of what a coach does and that this is his job which lets him provide for his family and their needs.

Mr. Hedgecote came on Tuesday, November 27. The Kindergarten teachers are Miss Virginia Bowers, Mrs. Norma Prather, Mrs. Floree Peugh, Miss Linda Jones, and Mrs. Treva Taylor.

Buying Body Suits

COLLEGE STATION -- Stylish, comfortable and easy-to-wear. That's how Marilyn Brown describes body suits.

The consumer education-clothing and textiles specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, pointed out that unlike blouses and shirts, "they have no shirttails that can bunch up or pull out to ruin an otherwise well-groomed appearance."

"Hostery sections of department stores and specialty shops usually feature these 'one-piece blouses with panties,' although sometimes they're found in sportswear and lingerie departments."

"Bodywear departments -- created by larger stores -- display body suits along with coordinated or matching accessories. These departments also feature body stockings--which, unlike body suits, clothe a person from neck to toe," the specialist continued.

"Due to comfort and natural 'give' features, most body suits are knits. They range from sleek jersey to leavely sweater-knit types.

"A few body suits are constructed of woven fabrics. Crepe, for example, provides a dressy look. The woven blouse part of the suit may be sewn to knitted pants for comfort.

"Nylon, polyester and acrylic fibers make knits and wovens easy-care."

When considering a body suit, try it on. "That's the only way to tell if it's comfortable," Miss Brown emphasized.

"Make sure the body suit fits. If too big, it will look bulky. One that's too small will be uncomfortable--and if made of stretch fabric, look strained and thinner in spots."

Also check construction details. "Select styles with an easy-to-snap crotch--they can be pulled over the head or stepped into.

"Snaps securely fastened to sturdy fabric--such as twill tape--won't twist around, becoming uncomfortable. Also, they're less likely to tear away from the suit.

"High-necked styles, on the other hand, are easier to get into and out of if they also have zipped or buttoned neck closings," she noted.

Also examine seams for undesirable bulkiness. Leg openings should be smoothly-finished and non-binding, she added.

"Always read the permanent care label. Most body suits are machine-washable, but some require hand-laundering or dry-cleaning.

"In general, sizes include small or petite, medium or average, and large or tall. Some carry corresponding dress sizes, and a few are sized by height and weight.

"To help preserve their shape, fold knit body suits and store on a shelf or in a drawer."

Women's clubs put the "sip" in gossip.

Coaches

The Males basketball team, with two games under its belt, hopes to make up for the lack of practice. The Males so far have played two games while having only four practices. This weekend, the Males entered their first tournament. The tournament held at Friona gave the Males valuable game experience. The Junior Varsity should have a well-rounded ball team with several juniors coming down from the varsity. During the Friona game, the varsity showed signs of a good ball club but could muster only a weak offense. The Males could also hit only a few outside shots. All of this should change as they get a few more practices.

First Quarter Elected At District V Convention Nov. 17

Muleshoe Student Council was elected president of the South Plains Association of Student Councils at the District V convention held Saturday, November 17, in Denver City. Muleshoe will preside over 58 Student Councils during the coming year. Muleshoe has also won the right to serve on the Executive Committee at the State Convention to be held in Dallas.

Upon arriving in Denver City, campaign posters were quickly put up as students were being registered. After registration, a musical program was presented by the Denver City High School choir. A general assembly was held in the High School auditorium. Jim Hulston, Director of Student Activities at West Texas State University, was the speaker. Mr. Hulston's central theme was to treat everything as if it were something new and challenging.

After a short coke break, those present broke up into small discussion groups to discuss some of the duties and problems which face schools and Student Councils. Steve Block was head of one of these discussion groups. After lunch, the General Assembly reconvened for the purpose of electing officers for the 1973-74 fiscal year. Denver City was elected Parliamentarian, Floydada was elected Secretary, and Littlefield was elected Vice-President.

Next on the agenda was discussion of the bowling party on November 30. After voting on Jana Oylar by acclamation to pick up the coke bottles, Steve adjourned the meeting.

Mulette Maneuvers

The Varsity girls played in the Friona Tournament Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The first game was against Spearman at 4:00 p.m. Thursday. The girls have been working hard but have lost their first four games to New Deal, Slaton, Dimmitt, and Friona. We have three girls who played on the Varsity last year. These girls are Brenda St. Clair, Laverne Carpenter, and Belinda Throckmorton. If the girls continue to work hard, they will improve.

FFA Has Citrus Sale

The Muleshoe FFA Chapter turned in their orders for citrus fruit this past week. The fruit is expected to be in about December 12. If anyone did not place an order for fruit, they may still be able to receive some as the chapter ordered some extra fruit. The Chapter has sold approximately 1500 crates of fruit this year.

Rose Chapter Discuss Activities

The Rose Chapter met on November 26 to discuss upcoming activities. The chapter had the concession stand at the girls basketball game on November 20, and made $25. They also sponsored it again Tuesday, November 27, and made $100. December 3 is the date for the annual vocational party. All members of FHA, Hero, FFA, and DECA are invited. Everyone is urged to help on the Christmas parade float. The parade is December 1 and the Christmas tree on the float will be given to a needy family. The float will also feature Peanuts-Snoopy in his dog house.

Bill To Finance HEW

A bill to finance the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and the Department of Labor for this year which the Senate just approved contains some very important funds for Texas. The emphasis that this legislation places on the need for expanded medical research, improvement of our community health care delivery systems, and reduction in our health manpower shortages is a clear statement of our Nation's health care priorities.

Included are funds for an expanded Federal research effort into the two leading killers—cancer and heart disease. However, it also maintains the funding for research into other such devastating and widespread health problems as diabetes, kidney disease, stroke, mental retardation and blindness.

The Senate bill contains funds for such vital programs as Hill-Burton, Community Mental Health and Mental Retardation, and drug and alcohol abuse treatment programs. Recent studies have indicated that many areas of the nation have a surplus of hospital beds. Based on these reports, the Administration recommended that the Hill-Burton program be terminated. Without the Hill-Burton program, however, many communities would not be able to provide the health care facilities necessary to meet the needs of their citizens.

Therefore, I was pleased that the bill contains funds to continue the grants and loans to communities and States to enable them to construct long term nursing homes, chronic disease facilities, rehabilitation program facilities, outpatient and emergency room facilities, as well as funds to modernize existing hospital beds which have become outmoded and antiquated.

One of the most successful Federal grant programs in the health field has been the Community Mental Health and Mental Retardation Centers Act. In Texas alone, there are over 24 communities which are served by Mental Health and Mental Retardation Center Programs. Many communities which are presently trying to establish programs would be cut short if Federal assistance in construction and staffing grants were unavailable. Although the funding for Fiscal Year '74 is at a lower level than previous years, Congress is still committed to assisting communities in providing community-based services.

This year we also gave a high priority in funding the battle against drug abuse. The bill contains monies for communities and States to provide drug abuse and alcoholism treatment, prevention and education programs.

In the area of Federal support for elementary and secondary education, it should be kept in mind that the major legislative act expires in the upcoming year. Both Houses of Congress have either held or are in the process of holding extensive hearings on legislation to extend and reform the Act. It is my hope that Congress will pass legislation that emphasizes two basic interrelated principles: First, the need to recognize that the Federal interest is limited to supplementing local school districts in meeting the educational needs of the communities rather than becoming the prime funding agent in public education; and secondly, in recognition of the limited Federal interest, local school districts should be given more flexibility along the revenue sharing philosophy, to set priorities and administer

The High Plains Boll Weevil Control Program for 1973 wound up aerial sprayings November 3 with "perhaps the best overall results achieved in any of the past four years," according to Field Service Director Ed Dean of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock.

Dean said spray contractors performed well, the weather for the most part was good, and that therefore boll weevil populations were reduced to very low levels.

The program was initiated by PCG in 1964 as a means to protect the huge acreage of uninfested cotton above the Caprock which borders the High Plains on the East. It is jointly financed by cotton producers in PCG's 25 county territory and the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Methods and techniques developed in the High Plains program, acclaimed for their success across the nation, are now being hailed as possible stepping stones to a beltwide weevil eradication program. The Secretary of Agriculture is authorized and directed by Congress in the Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act of 1973 to carry out a beltwide eradication effort when and if it appears practical. The High Plains Program in 1973 required spraying of an aggregate total of 643,000 acres, with some heavily infested fields treated as many as six times. The total treated acreage in the 1972 season was 542,000, and these figures compare with well over 1 million acres sprayed in each of the first few years of the program.

Using non-toxic, ultra low volume Malathion as the insecticide, the weevil's reproductive cycle is broken with Spring applications, and additional dosages are flown on in the Fall before remaining weevils can go into hibernation.

The program's control zone lies primarily in Dickens, Motley, Floyd, Briscoe, Hall, Crosby, Garza and Kent counties, with smaller acreages treated in Dawson and Borden counties. Asked how long the control program or "holding action" on the Plains will be continued, Dean said "We dare not turn the weevil loose at this stage, and plans are to carry the program on until such time as a beltwide or at least a Statewide program can be utilized to relieve the pressure."

 The 2,707,000 - bale cotton crop estimated for the 25 High Plains counties represented by Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, indicates a new record for total production on the Plains, but falls well short of the Per-acre yield record set in 1965.

In 1965 the area turned out 2,301,100 bales from only 2,149,200 acres for an average yield of over 513 pounds per acre. This year's production, to be harvested from an estimated total of almost 2,710,000 acres, anticipates an average of only 479.5 pounds per acre.

The previous record for total production was set in 1961 and 1965 as noted above and in 1968 when the second highest yield was recorded at 495 pounds.

The intensive cotton production area of the Plains didn't produce an average of 400 pounds per acre until 1953, but has average 438.7 pounds per acre over the 15 years since that time. Only three times since 1958 -- in 1970, 1971 and 1972 -- have the 25 counties fallen below 400 pounds. Yields for those years, respectively, were 349,389 and 264 pounds.

To carry out the Bilingual Education Act, the Senate approved $55 million. This level would enable the continuation of many successful programs as well as new funding for others. Projects funded by this Act in Texas have been successful and serve to point out the desire and potential of our Spanish-speaking community.

It's funny how some people keep chasing society when there's really no such thing.

At Last

Stung by the refusal of our NATO allies to help us help Israel in the recent Middle East war, Congress is now moving to force these allies to assume their fair share of the burden of keeping 250,000 U.S. soldiers in Europe.

Although probably judging European governments too harshly, because few NATO-nation politicians could survive an Arab oil embargo (these countries are desperately and almost wholly dependent on Arab oil and thus afraid to get involved), Congress is justified in acting and action should have been taken long ago.

The United States, as Senator Henry-Jackson (D-Wash) recently pointed out, has given NATO allies some $25 billions in NATO grants since World War II. But the U.S. economic task has been difficult in recent years, because of a balance of payments deficit, and the dollar's stability is threatened, in part, by U.S. military outlays in Europe.

On this basis, cuts in those outlays are justified. Congress should order them, even if it means some reduction in the number of troops maintained in Germany.

BUMPER STICKER

NEWS REPORT FROM WASHINGTON

Nixon's Appeal - Public Response - Kissinger - Mideast Lessons

WASHINGTON, D.C.--President Nixon's appeal to the American people to live in colder homes, use less fuel of all kinds, drive more slowly, etc., has been answered rather well by many and by Congress and some state executives.

But it's doubtful if the President's plea will produce overwhelming cooperation. Many are skeptical of the fuel shortage's origin and as long as they see display and commercial lighting wasting huge amounts of electricity, feel their home heating should have been given priority over energy usage of this kind.

The suspicion is still strong that U.S. oil companies dragged their feet sullenly and failed to develop new oil and gas fields because they were bitter over what they considered to be low depletion allowances and government wellhead price.

This, along with the Nixon's Administration's alienation of the Arab nation's by siding with Israel has done much to produce the crisis. Nevertheless, the crisis is here and is sure to get worse and the public will have to cooperate with the President's policies or face gasoline rationing.

Secretary of State Henry Kissinger is given much credit for tentative peace in the Middle East and there's little doubt he has played a very active role, and the key one, in the cease-fire.

As with his Vietnam performance and Nobel peace prize award, however, the Secretary is actually carrying out the orders and decisions of President Nixon, who gets little credit for the Vietnam settlement or the Middle East settlement these days. President Nixon was also a Nobel peace prize nominee, and deserves credit for the agreement in the Middle East as well.

One of the lessons of the Middle East war, by the way, was the discovery that the Russians have developed weapons not thwarted by devices U.S. forces employed effectively in Vietnam against them, or earlier versions of them. U.S. companies and Pentagon experts are now hard at work to counter the latest Russian scientific progress in ground-fired missiles, especially SA-6's and SA-7's.

Editor's note: The Sandhill Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm considers the energy shortage again this week.

Dear editor:
If you think times are out of joint because we're running out of oil, gas, bailing wire, honesty and other things we're told we're going to have to do without, consider the standing of the fireplace. It has been completely reversed.

Once upon a time the fireplace was the average man's source of heat, the first thing a pioneer did was build a fireplace and chimney and build his house on to it, but last night while I was conserving electricity by turning off the T.V. set during the commercials I read that "if you have a fireplace and you're rich, you order some firewood and stay warm while the rest of us shiver."

This is true. A friend of mine from the city said he was in a supermarket the other day and saw firewood on sale for three sticks for $1.49. This makes a man stop and think as winter is closing in on us and I have been reflecting on some of the ideas being advanced to conserve energy. One idea is to close service stations on week-ends. This will save gas sales on Saturday and Sunday all right but it sure will run sales up on Friday. It will also run up the sales of funnels and five-gallon gas cans.

Another idea is to ban all driving on Sunday. The trouble with this is that it'll also ban most patronage at cafes, drive-ins, motels, football games and churches, and I'm not sure the public is ready for both of the last two. One, maybe, but which one I'm not sure.

I guess you notice nobody in Washington is brave enough to suggest people cut their television watching time in half. And I have waited in vain to hear somebody suggest banning tractor driving three days a

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

WT Water Resources Study Council To Meet Water, Inc. Exploring Proposals Of Supplemental Water Supplies

Housing Survey Planned For South Plains

An invitation to all interested persons in the Panhandle to attend the Amarillo session of the West Texas Water Resources Study Council has gone out. The Council, appointed by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and directed to study the entire gamut of West Texas Water problems, will convene at 10 a.m. Monday (Dec. 3) in the meeting room of the Amarillo City Council.

The agenda includes discussion of the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority; White River, Greenbelt, McKenzie and other similar projects; the economic impact of cattle feeding; research activities by various agencies; and presentations by underground water districts. Presiding at the daylong session will be Sen. Jack Hightower, council chairman.

"Public participation in our sessions can be most meaningful, both from the standpoint of citizen input and citizen awareness of the problems faced by West Texas," Sen. Hightower said. "For these reasons, we are encouraging public attendance," he said.

Rep. Clayton Takes Constitution To Area

Representative Clayton was in Austin last week for a ceremony at which he received a draft copy of the Constitution as presented by the Constitutional Revision Commission. The Constitutional Draft came about after 19 public hearings and eight months debate, discussion and voting on the various issues. The draft copy contains about one-fourth the verbage of the present Texas Constitution.

Clayton stated that prior to the January convening as a Convention in Austin for the consideration of adopting a document to present to the people, he would set up a schedule in the near future which would include a visit to each of the towns in the 74th legislative district. The time and place of the meetings will be announced at a later date but Clayton said he wanted to spend several hours in each city at an announced place and time so that the people might come by and express their wishes and desires in regards to constitutional revision.

Representative Clayton said he felt that the people gave a clear mandate for constitutional revision by its vote on the amendment in 1971 that set up the procedure leading to a Constitutional Convention and a subsequent presentation to the people of the document.

As a Constitution is a most important document so far as state law is concerned, Clayton encouraged everyone to watch for the announcement of time and place in each of the cities in the district so they would be able to make their wishes known.

The annual quest for members for Water, Inc., is underway in almost every county in Western Texas and Eastern New Mexico. The membership drive continues through Dec. 15.

"Many area residents have become dejected about the future possibilities of obtaining adequate supplemental water," said A.L. Black, Friona, president of Water, Inc. "Most of the negative attitude stems from preliminary findings of a study of the Mississippi River," he said, "but those who have been close to the study are optimistic."

Although the import study has never been released, a preliminary report indicated there was surplus water in the Mississippi and demonstrated the feasibility of design and construction of a facility to transport the water to the High Plains area. It concluded, however, that "under traditional standards" for evaluating water resource development projects, it was not economically feasible.

Black points out with enthusiasm that those "traditional standards" have now been superseded by a new set of standards, and couples with a major upheaval in agricultural economics, that a restudy would reflect a totally different picture.

"The real question," Black said, "is really not can we afford supplemental water? but rather, can the nation and the world afford for us not to have it?" He was referring to the snowballing worldwide food, fiber and fuel crisis.

"Water, Inc.'s primary and immediate goal will be to inform the nation and the world of our current food, fiber and fuel contributions to world supplies, and more importantly, our capabilities with adequate supplemental water," Black said.

He issued a plea for all area residents to join Water, Inc., noting that "the strength of our voice in telling the High Plains story depends directly on strength of our membership."

The world's skyrocketing demand for food and fiber is giving impetus to a quest for supplemental water for West Texas and Eastern New Mexico. That's the consensus of Water, Inc., officials as they intensify efforts toward importation of a supplemental water supply to the area.

"On every hand we hear of the approaching food and fiber shortage," said Duncan Ellison, Water, Inc., executive director. "National leaders are taking the initiative to alert their fellow countrymen of the coming crisis," he said.

Water, Inc., a non-profit corporation dedicated to a goal of exploring proposals for supplemental water and pursuing implementation of most likely proposals for supplemental water and proposals is in the midst of its annual membership campaign. The organization is financed entirely through voluntary membership dues.

An example of the national concern about food and fiber shortages was voiced by U.S. Rep. John J. Rhodes, (R-Arizona) in an address at Phoenix. "There are people who question the need for more irrigated farm land developed by investment of federal funds," he said.

"Until quite recently they could point to costly farm crop surpluses to justify their position. Now, however, the surpluses have all but disappeared and we are looking at shortages of some key crops. Are they temporary, or will they be with us for a long time to come? That probably depends upon the world market, and how we in this country decide to use our productive capacity in world trade. Trade in food and fiber can be the cause of wars or a tool for peace in the world. Personally I would rather worry about farm surpluses and how to use them to promote peace in the world than to face shortages at home and abroad," he concluded.

A.L. Black, Friona, president of Water, Inc., noted that the day is coming when the nation will demand an increase in the production from the area. "We can speed that day by giving all-out support to Water, Inc.," he said, "support by literally putting our money where our mouth is."

Market Report

Western Region cotton market activity remained at about the same level as a week ago, according to the Agricultural Marketing Service, USDA. Demand continued strong for most qualities of current ginnings with lengths of staple 31 and longer. Demand was weak for shorter qualities. Merchants and shippers actively sought cotton to fill previous commitments. Domestic mills purchased small lots for fill-in purposes. Foreign inquiries, particularly European, increased. Although growers were delivering the bulk of current ginnings against previous commitments, supplies of "free" cotton were increasing. Spot cotton prices were lower toward the last of the week. Growers in some locations began to reject bid prices. Harvesting efforts continued to make good progress over most of the Western Region. Some Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico locations received frost during the week. Harvesting had passed peak rates in California and Arizona. Growers were second-picking. Some California gins were in the process of ginning previously ricked seed cotton. Some South and Central Texas fields were dry enough to resume harvest or begin to prepare for the next crop. Harvesting was increasing on the Texas Plains and in Oklahoma.

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN --- If you're in the market for toys right now (and most people are), you may be facing a multitude of decisions. In the first place, the President's Consumer Affairs Staff estimates that some 150,000 different kinds of toys are sold in toy shops and retail stores across Texas and the nation. Then, of course, you'll be looking at toys from the standpoint of the children's ages and interests, and you'll doubtless be interested in ascertaining their safety.

Most Texas merchants are expressing a sincere interest in helping consumers with their toy selection problems, and some state that they are making a determined effort to provide toys which are labeled according to safety, as well as to denote the suitability of a plaything for an individual child's age and development. Some large department store chains and firms specializing in toy sales even maintain their own safety standards laboratories to be more certain that nothing hazardous is sold by their outlets.

In addition to federal agency actions, the 1973 Texas Deceptive Practices-Consumer Protection Act enforced by the Consumer Protection Division of the Attorney General's office prohibits false, misleading or deceptive sales practice.

So legal recourse is available here to you if a salesperson assures you a toy is "safe," or "approved," and later, you find out it is not.

Since your first priority, of course, is to protect the child for whom you're buying a toy, you will be most interested in taking steps to prevent the possibility of making a purchase which could cause one of the estimated 700,000 toy-related injuries said to occur each year. -Choose carefully and selectively. Any toy can be dangerous, if misused. -Select a toy appropriate for the child's age and development. Heed warning such as "Not Intended for Children Under 3 Years of Age."

-Avoid toys with small parts or sharp points even for older children, if younger brothers and sisters are in the home.

-Check labels on fabric toys and children's wear for labels guaranteeing that they are "non-flammable," "flame-retardant," or "flame resistant."

-Check the instructions, and help the child to understand them.

-If you're a parent, check toys periodically for development of potential hazards, such as sharp points, jagged edges and loose small parts.

-Make certain that the paint on painted toys is labeled "non-toxic."

If you have any problems or questions, do not hesitate to contact the Consumer Product Safety Commission's Texas office in Dallas, or call the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division in Austin, Lubbock, El Paso, Houston, San Antonio or Dallas.

An investment in Your Future ...ATTEND CHURCH

"For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also"

It takes a Good Eye...

TO THREAD A NEEDLE

Did you ever thread a needle?

... Most everyone has, it takes a good eye, for the opening is small. Did you ever try to thread one while someone else held the needle?

... This is almost impossible. All this brings us to the point that... there are some things that we must do ourselves. We can not send someone else to church for us, we can not have someone else worship the Lord for us. These things are strictly on an individual basis.

ATTEND CHURCH

... YOU'LL BE GLAD THAT YOU DID.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for mankind and His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

ALVIE KNOWS A LOT OF ANSWERS

How long does it take to hatch an ostrich egg? . . . How many bachelors in Bolivia? . . . How much blubber in a male whale? Alvie knows these answers and a jillion others. Folks smile and agree that Alvie is a regular encyclopedia of "useless information" but they never question the accuracy of his peculiar knowledge. That's because everybody knows Alvie gets his "answers" by memorizing the little space-fillers we all see in our newspapers. And to all of us, what we see in our home-town newspaper is immediately acceptable and believable!

The same is particularly true of advertising. To put your advertising message before all the people . . . put it in your HOMETOWN NEWSPAPER!

THE MULESHOE & BAILEY COUNTY JOURNALS

John Tower
United States Senate COMMITTEE ON ARMED SERVICES

On this Thanksgiving week-end, we Americans traditionally pause from our routines to give thanks for our material abundance. For more than a generation, too many of us have taken for granted the bounty that we enjoy -- which has given us the greatest living standard in the history of man. In many instances, we have mistakenly gone about our daily routines as if these bountiful resources of this country were endless. Suddenly in 1973, we have discovered that they really are not unlimited supplies of resources, especially in the area of energy which runs our homes, automobiles, airlines and factories. In short, I think we finally have realized that we do have problems -- that there really is an energy crisis, and it's worldwide. America has grown and prospered on this abundance of natural energy and human motivation. And now, our ever growing demands for energy have begun to outstrip available supplies. The first thing we have to realize is that we, as Americans, must now rely on cooperative initiative and individual energy conservation as we face the prospects of shortages for several years to come. Our attitude is important. We should view the current situation, not as an energy crisis, rather an energy challenge. As we have met challenges in the past -- Sputnik, for example, accelerated our now highly successful space program -- so we shall meet this challenge with creative integrity and self-sacrificing conservation. It is in this light that I applaud the action this week by the Senate to begin to meet the energy challenge by passing the President's National Energy Emergency Act within less than two weeks after it was requested as an emergency measure. It is now incumbent on the House to act speedily on this vital legislation and rush it to the President's desk. This bill which we passed this week is a strong measure, and grants the President immense powers. It authorizes the President to immediately undertake actions to conserve scarce fuels and to increase supplies. He may, if necessary, implement rationing of gasoline and other fuels. But I emphasize that he is not required to do so. I reluctantly support the rationing concept, for use only as a measure of last resort, to be imposed only if less economically restrictive programs and voluntary measures fail to generate the necessary energy savings. To best use our scarce resources, the President will require power plants using cleaner fuels such as natural gas or low-sulphur oils -- which are now in short supply -- to convert to the more abundant, less clean fuels such as high-sulphur oil or coal when conversion is possible. In order to accommodate this conversion, variances from air pollution control standards will be permitted under certain limited conditions. Encouraging energy conservation necessitates alternate means of transportation in many cases. Therefore, incentives will be provided for the use of mass transit and other efficient modes of transportation such as car pools. Another provision of the Senate bill prohibits exports of oil products considered scarce, and will divert their destination to our domestic market. In addition, it will open the door to discussion with other nations for alleviation of our fuel problems. I only regret that this bill which we passed this week does not reach the heart of our energy problem -- that of supply. Again, let me say that I reluctantly supported this legislation because such legislation has been forced upon us by decades of wastefulness in the use of energy, years of ill-advised energy-related policies on the national level, and too many examples of shortsighted thinking by too many in high levels of government. I can recall in recent years the fights we have had in the Congress over tax incentives to make funds available for exploration of new energy resources. I said a few years ago when we cut the oil depletion allowance that it was a mistake. Now it's proven it was a mistake. We must move quickly now to de-regulate the price of natural gas at the wellhead so that there will be incentives for our producers to find the vast new sources of gas which we need. Three times now this year the President has called for new legislation to meet our energy crisis. Congress is beginning to respond. The President's call for a project of independence to meet our energy needs here at home by 1980 is one to which every American should respond. I am confident that if we all work together, we will meet our needs -- and be able to help the rest of the world meet their needs. I am confident that we Americans, by working together, can continue to know the blessings of both a high-energy civilization, and a bountiful and healthy world to live in. I am confident that we can face up to our problems, and for years to come, at this season we can again pause and give thanks for the bountiful resources around us.

Dear Santa

Dear Santa
I am 5 years old, and have been a pretty good boy this year. Would you please bring me a John Deere tractor, Tonka loader, and Tonka crane. My brother Steve would like a combine and my baby brother Kyle would like a train.
