HOMETOWN TALK

BY BEDDY

Pay your poll tax.

January 31 is the deadline for payment of poll taxes. In this connection we present an appeal signed by our good friend, J. Ripps, well-known Texas & Pacific trainman: "The right of a citizen to vote in Texas is restricted to those who qualify by paying a poll tax unless otherwise exempted by reason of age. Therefore it behooves every worthy citizen to pay his or her poll tax and qualify to express his opinions at the polls or any place where public questions may arise. Our right to vote is the result of centuries of struggle and the shedding of rivers of human blood and martyrdom of millions of human beings. If we thought this right was to be taken from us we could make it a life and death struggle. If we were true and loyal sons and daughters of the men of freedom whose bones long since passed back into the dust from whence they sprang, having the greatest of earthly hopes we do not know what it means nor how to prize it. Therefore, we as worthy citizens and do your duty and pay your poll tax now."

A lady came to your humble servant late yesterday and said she had wept all morning after the old dog of her elderly next door neighbor woman had been poisoned. She gave vent to her opinion of the woman who poisoned the dog and she said she thought every owner of a pet cat in the city ought to be warned to catch out. We certainly agree with our friend that the law is not to be tampered with. He was a very brutal fellow. We know a lot of people who have pets that would do something pretty hard toward any one who tried to kill their pets.

A lady called on us late yesterday and asked that we do what we could to help her find employment. She knows tailoring and how to do things in a laundry, but would not refuse work of other kinds. If any of you readers have anything for her to do call the Herald, 728, and she will be sent to you.

Two fine young Big Spring men who were graduated from high school last year and are enrolled in McMurry college at Abilene will have to drop out of school next week unless they can borrow $50 apiece to tide them through the rest of the session. The college president, Dr. J. W. Hunt, telephoned his friend, Shime Phillips, and told him that the boys were fine ones and they didn't want to lose them but would just have to in a few days if they couldn't borrow the money.

Shime talked with several men about it. Fox Stripling and Mayor J. B. Pickle handed him $10 apiece to send the boys as part of the loan. Anyone wishing to add some to this loan should see Mr. Phillips.

Representative Bridge Company Is Visitor Here

Marion Burns, representative of the Vicksburg, Miss., Bridge & Terminal Company, operator of a new toll bridge across the Mississippi river there, visited here Thursday. He is being sent to clear all along the Hankland highway from Savannah, Ga., to San Diego, Calif., acquainting Chambers of Commerce and other citizens with advantages to tourists of the Vicksburg bridge.

The tourist driving from Big Spring to Vicksburg will meet paved roads all the way, he pointed out.

"Vicksburg is a city of 23,000 people," said Mr. Burns. "One of its most interesting things is a national park in which monuments stand honoring soldiers of almost every state that was in the confederacy during the civil war. Cannon and other things left on the battlefield there remain in the park. You can drive from here to Vicksburg in comfort and without any sort of delay."

Sermon Topics For Sunday Announced

Following Bible study and followed by communion services at the Sunday morning services at the Church of Christ, Fourteenth and Main streets, the minister, Thornton Crews will preach on the subject of "Loyalty." The evening sermon topic will be "Our Bibles." "In this age of scepticism, unbelief, broken vows and broken homes these subjects should be discussed frankly," said Mr. Crews.

Tax Payment Bill, Passed By Senate, Now Before House

AUSTIN, Jan. 23 (AP)—Already passed by the senate the Oneal tax bill, to provide for semi-annual payment of 1930 and 1931 taxes, will be considered today at a special meeting of the house committee on revenue and taxation.

The bill provides that if one-half of the taxes were paid by January 31, the time for paying taxes without penalty, the other half would be carried over to June 30 without penalty of interest.

The house was expected to revise the bill to a certain extent and was to consider the bill in conjunction with one introduced by Representative Weinstock which would delay collection of all taxes until October 15 without penalty.

Weinstock's bill would apply to all taxes, county, state, school, special school district and levee improvement while Oneal's bill affected only state and county taxes.

The Oneal bill passed the senate with a rider giving county commissioners courts the right to require payment of all county taxes by February 1.

Question

The question of rules governing operation of the house and senate and the relations between the two houses continued as a legislative bugaboo yesterday with a free conference committee trying to reconcile the differences between the two branches.

The committee held a long session yesterday but mostly ran in circles and accomplished little.

The senate resolution on rules provided for introduction of bills during the first sixty days and after that time only with an affirmative vote of four-fifths of the membership.

The house, however, desired a little more freedom and passed a rule permitting introduction of bills during the first sixty days and after that time only with an affirmative vote of four-fifths of the membership.

The house, however, desired a little more freedom and passed a rule permitting introduction of bills during the first sixty days and after that time only with an affirmative vote of two-thirds of the membership.

The senate yesterday declined to confirm the appointment of Fred Horton of Greenville as a member of the prison board. Opposition of Senator Moore of Greenville was reported to have been the motivating cause. The senate, however, approved about 90 recess appointments of Gov. Dan Moody.

Approval to a resolution endorsing the Garret plan of cotton acreage reduction was given by the house agriculture committee.

A bill introduced by Senator Berkeley of Alpine provided that owners of motor vehicles licensed in other states could make as many as two trips into Texas a month without buying a Texas license, providing they did not stay more than two days.

The counties of Jim Wells, Duval, Starr and Brooks would constitute the 15th judicial district under provisions of a bill introduced by Senator Parr of Benavides.

Following a discussion by Senator Purl of Dallas in favor of the program outlined in the constitutional amendment, Senator Woodward of Coleman charged Purl with cluttering up the machinery. He also said Purl did not know what he was talking about, and asked Purl to familiarize himself with the proposed rules before the membership became confused.

"You're misleading the senate," he charged.

Robbins On Texas Oil Men's Board In Washington

C., by representatives of 15 oil producing states, was selected an one of the five Texans who will remain in the capital city for an indefinite period to help present position of the independent operators to legislators during consideration of tariff and embargo bills being introduced.

He will stay in Washington indefinitely, perhaps a week or two longer.

Smitham Reviews Costs Of City Water and Sewer Department Expansions

V. R. Smitham, city manager, and James Little, county attorney, were speakers Thursday before members of the Kiwanis club in their regular luncheon session in the Crawford hotel.

Mr. Smitham read financial reports connected with construction items within the past few months by the city. He pointed out that all details of the things reviewed in the talk were open to the public on the records in the city hall.

He reviewed sewer improvement operations of the past 12 months, made possible to a great extent through passage last March of a bond issue. Sewer lines built included the following: 3,000 feet of 21-inch line; 400 feet of 18-inch line; 6,400 feet of 15-inch line; 2,600 feet of 12-inch line; 17,500 feet of 8-inch line; and 67,305 feet of 6-inch line.

The total length of these new lines is 20.3 miles.

Sewer Lines

Cost of the sewer line construction includes these items: outfall lines, $37,515.47; lateral lines, $44,181.44; disposal plant, $48,693, a total of $130,399.91 or $689.91 more than the sewer bond issue.

In the water department, he said 7,066 feet of 12-inch line, 3,119 feet of 8-inch line, 48,878 feet of 6-inch line, 65 fire hydrants and 57 gate valves have been put in at a total cost of $71,482.29.

"For comparison and to justify my conviction, I compare the cost to us to the cost to Midland of right-of-way. We have done this pipeline work on a day labor basis, said Mr. Smitham.

Crude Output Order Nears Of Grapefruit

AUSTIN, Jan. 23 (AP)—The railroad commission was expected to enter an order before the end of the week on the amount of oil production to be allowed in Texas during the next 65 days.

Rotten Fruit Hurled During Concert In Theater

BOSTON, Jan. 23 (AP)—Rudy Valle, a stooping idol of thousands of radio listeners, was greeted with two over-ripe grapefruit during a performance at the Metropolitan theatre last night.

It was the final performance of the opening day of a week's engagement and Rudy was in the midst of one of his characteristic melodies. Without warning, the fruit came hurtling down from the balcony. Neither of the grapefruit struck the singing maestro but one did strike the drummer's cymbals and the other splattered over the stage props.

The audience gasped. Murmurs were audible throughout the house. But Rudy kept right on crooning. He took no notice of the interruption until he had finished the song. Then, stepping to the front of the stage, he addressed the audience in a mild but decided tone. He took the hecklers to task for their discourtesy and added that there might be some in the audience who enjoyed hearing him. He said many had paid admission for that purpose and that those who disliked his singing were not compelled to stay.

The young men, whose names were withheld, were taken into custody by ushers and turned over to the police.

The show went on and the young men went to police station 4, where a desk sergeant "read the riot act" to them. Valle and the theatre management declined to press charges and they were released.

Fellow Workers Bear Bier of Quinn, Newspaper Official

LUBBOCK, Texas, Jan. 23 (AP)—Fellow workers with L. Herbert Quinn, 32, publisher of the Avalanche-Journal, were assigned today to carry his bier at funeral rites set for 2:30 p. m. at the First Presbyterian church here. Quinn was found dead late Tuesday on a ranch 15 miles west of here, where he had fallen from exposure and exhaustion after becoming lost Sunday. His fiancée, Miss Frances Bagot, and her brother, Walter Bagot, of Anderson, Indiana, were here.

Quinn became lost after leaving the sand-stalled automobile of his companions, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Guy, to obtain aid. They had gone in search of antelope. Guy is editor of the Avalanche-Journal publications here.

Prohibition Topic In Texas House But Is Quieted

AUSTIN, Jan. 23 (AP)—Prohibition flared for a time in the House today but debate was cut short when a point of order was sustained by the speaker that the resolution, extolling the benefits of prohibition and pledging support to the 19th amendment could not be considered as the time for resolutions had passed.

The resolution was offered by Forbes of Weatherford and Farmer of Fort Worth. The point of order was raised by Harrison of El Paso and cut off Farmer in the middle of a heated dissertation on the benefits of prohibition.

It probably will be brought up again tomorrow.

Forbes said that had Al Smith not taken his stand in favor of prohibition repeal he would have been elected president and would have served with more success than President Hoover. Smith wrote defeat across the banner of the democratic party when he sent his telegram to the democratic national convention at Houston declaring his position on prohibition.

The resolution also opposed showing drinking scenes in moving pictures. Farmer stated it was a detriment to the morals of the youth of the nation and that almost every picture show portrayed drinking from bottles filled with red liquor.

A resolution endorsing the Garret plan of cotton acreage reduction was defeated by the House, 53 to 51, but was kept actively before the body when a motion to reconsider the vote and table was lost. The Garret plan provides for stoppage of credit to cotton farmers who refuse to reduce acreage 25 per cent during the next five seasons.

It is the desire to enroll 50 new Legion members at the meeting. A very appropriate program has been arranged.

Charity Project Expected To Raise $1,000 or More

LUBBOCK, Jan. 23 (AP)—Lubbock is a hungry city today.

The customary rattle and clatter of dishes is missing from the coffee shops and lunch rooms as waitresses, cooks and other employees stand idle as regular customers pass them by as today has been set aside as a city-wide fast day and practically no food will be consumed within the border of the town. Donations will be made to the poor of funds which otherwise would have been spent in the daily consumption.

Milk bottles and contribution boxes have been placed in all stores, offices and schools and at noon today were fast filling as this city's populace made its sacrifice that others less fortunate, might eat.

"I was hungry and ye gave me meat," is the slogan which is borne by each of the small bottles.

Tonight the bottles and boxes will be gathered by officials of United Charities and a check made of the funds derived from what is believed to be the first attempt at a city-wide fast.

Glasscock No. 9 Right-of-Way Is Sought By Group

All except five owners of property in the corner of Glasscock county, across which the state highway commission will pave highway No. 9, have signed an agreement to give the right-of-way or signified their intention of doing so, it was reported here Thursday by a committee that is trying to get all property owners to sign the agreement.

Five property owners, some of which would be barely touched by the highway, have not signed and some of them have indicated they will oppose building of the highway. The state wishes to pave the 3-mile strip to join up with the paving that has just been contracted for No. 9 in Sterling county and across the corner of Coke county.

The commission, knowing that their survey called for the road to cut across the extreme corner of the county, does not expect it to pay any of the cost of the paving and will handle all expenses connected with it with exception of the right-of-way.

STEERS CLASH WITH SNYDER FIVE TONIGHT

THEY FACE REAL TEST THIS WEEK-END

"Bill Stevens," remarks the Lubbock sports writer, "Big Spring coach, parlayed with us a while last night after the game and we came to know the man for the first time. Have heard and read quite a bit of his exploits and were glad of the chance to make his acquaintance. He's an affable chap, a good coach, and has a fine basketball team. He feels at home here for he's an old Austin College boy, a former class and team-mate of all the Lubbock coaches. Every coach in town was once associated with Austin College at Sherman, and they're nice guys. Stevens says he's heartily in favor of M. H. Dunham's proposed one year rule, with which Lubbock fans are acquainted."

Tonight the Steers tangle with the Snyder Tigers. Fans, on the lookout for an hour's entertainment, more or less, should attend the tilt tonight and return for the encore Saturday night. Putting things on a pecuniary basis, it is hoped enough money will be realized to send the quintet to a tournament at Sandeque. All that Stevens needs besides approximately $100, is three automobiles. It's a funny thing—everyone has an automobile except when someone wants to go somewhere. However, it is hoped that the two tiffs with Snyder, and one with Colorado Tuesday night, will so fill the coffers that the Longhorns will get to take the trip. It might be mentioned here that this department interrogated Stevens Thursday on the feasibility of sweeping down through the down-state centers. He declares he would be perfect only he has been unable to get games with any of the schools along the line. It seems their schedules are filled to the brim, as it were.

"Wild Willie" Flowers and Ted Phillips did wonders at Lubbock, declares Stevens. To the untrained eye, even, it is an easy matter to see that the two tiffs with Snyder, and one with Colorado Tuesday night, will so fill the coffers that the Longhorns will get to take the trip. It might be mentioned here that this department interrogated Stevens Thursday on the feasibility of sweeping down through the down-state centers. He declares he would be perfect only he has been unable to get games with any of the schools along the line. It seems their schedules are filled to the brim, as it were.

Coach Francis Schmidt and his Horned Frog five face a real test Friday and Saturday nights in Fort Worth when they take on the Arkansas Razorbacks for a two-game series. Schmidt and five of his sharpshooters are pictured here. Robertson and Sumner, have been Schmidt's choice for starters at the forward positions with Chappell and McCulloch as relief men. Connelly, forward on last year's freshman team, is now an understudy of Dietzel at the pivot position. Chappell and Robertson are seniors. McCulloch a junior, and Connelly and Sumner sophomores.

Longhorns Will Seek to Avenge Defeat Handed Them Last Year In District Basketball Battle

The Big Spring Steers, having already won two contests this week, will fly into action tonight and Saturday night at the local gymnasium, with the strong Snyder Tigers as the opponents.

The Steers ran their 1931 consecutive winning streak up to nine games this week when they defeated the Lubbock Westerners at Lubbock. They won Tuesday night, 26 to 12, and returned Wednesday night to cop a bitterly fought contest, 30 to 23. It marked the fourth time this year the Steers carried home the Lubbock contingent.

With Bill Flowers and Ted Phillips rapidly whipping into formidable positions as two of Texas crack schoolboy guards, with Elmer Parvise back at center after an absence on account of a death in his family, with Tommy Hutto and Dave Hopper holding down the forward posts, the Steers will be in excellent condition tonight to take on the team that a year ago knocked them out of the district picture.

The Tigers loopers are reputedly tough Snyder. It seems, has a habit of being that way in athletic circles. Last year in the district tournament, the Scurry county representatives whipped the Longhorn cage contingent, and how! This year—in fact tonight and Saturday night—it is possible that the Steers will avenge, to some extent, the action on the part of the Snyder contingent.

Although the Steers have swept through all opposition offered this year, the offerings have been rather weak in spots. None of the teams the Steers have met have been equal to them, as a whole, and few of them have come anywhere near the halfway marker.

Tonight, however, the scene, in all probability, will be shifted suddenly. The Steers are expecting competition in great quantities, not simply because Snyder is reported to have a rather dangerous quintet, but more so because Snyder happens to be Snyder.

It was remarked before that Snyder checked Big Spring right out of the district chase last year. It was not said that there existed between the two schools at that time a rather heated debate as to the status of one of the players used by the Snyder club. In fact the debate was a bit more heated; it bordered on the stage of being tepid.

Fighting two tiffs this week-end, the Longhorn cage will rest over Sunday and Monday, only to take on the Colorado Wolves here Tuesday night. Although the Steers defeated the Colorado aggregation a week or so ago at Colorado, 27-15, the Wolves have displayed marked improvement since that time.

So marked has been their improvement, in fact, that they slipped into Abilene and downed the high-flying Eagles in a court contest, carrying out to a fine edge the tradition that Abilene should always bear in front a small bit of fear for a Colorado athletic contingent.

Stevens hopes to raise enough solid cash and currency in the three games to take his quintet to Sandeque for a tournament the last of this month. Each of the tiffs will start at 7:30 p. m.

HALL LEADING BILLIARD TOURNEY Ernie Schaaf Returns To The Ring

CHICAGO, Jan. 23 (UP)—Allen Hall of Chicago, outstanding challenger of the dark horse brigade, today held a technical advantage in the close fight for the world's three-cushion billiard championship.

The Chicago star had three straight victories and no defeats to his credit while his closest rival, Arthur Thurnblad, another Chicagoan, and the veteran Otto Reinit of Philadelphia, had perfect records with two triumphs each.

Johnny Layton of Sedalia, Mo., defending champion, stood in a tie for fourth position with Tiff Denton of Kansas City, each having one victory and one defeat.

While Layton was defeated in his first match by Frank Scoville of Buffalo Monday night, he proved he still is the man to beat for the title by trimming Charles E. Jordan of Los Angeles in his second start last night, 50 to 25 in 38 innings.

Hall, however, has turned in three brilliant performances. He polished off his third opponent, Scoville, 50 to 27 in 35 innings yesterday.

Reinit, a former champion, also turned in a fine exhibition to defeat Dave Jacobs of St. Louis, southern champion, 50 to 35 in 52 innings yesterday.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23 (UP)—Ernie Schaaf, husky Boston heavyweight, returns to Madison Square Garden tonight to battle James J. Braddock, erstwhile light heavyweight contender, in a ten round bout.

Schaaf, one of the most effective of the young heavies, rules in 5 to 5 favorite over Braddock who returns to the ring after a three month's layoff.

The Boston battler in the last year has been upsetting favorites with monotonous regularity. He holds two decisions over Tommy Loughran and outpointed the highly-touted Pacific Coast slugger, Max Baer, in his last garden engagement.

Braddock, after fighting his way into a title bout with Loughran in the light heavyweight division and taking a fine boxing lesson for his pains, has deserted the 175-pounder to see how he fares with the heavyweights.

SHOWDOWN FOR T. C. U. CAGE TEAM TONIGHT

By GAYLE TALBOT, JR.

DALLAS, Jan. 23 (UP)—Texas Christian University's "sensational" sophomores, pre-season favorites for the Southwest Conference basketball title, face a show-down tonight and tomorrow, when they engage the University of Arkansas Razorbacks, defending champions, in a two-game series at Fort Worth.

The two battles will go a long way toward settling the thing, once and for all. A double victory would put Coach Francis Schmidt's colorful Christians on top of the heap, with four straight wins, and leave only the undefeated Southern Methodist quinter, between them and a clear road to the championship.

emphasis of football. Let us reflect. Football at Southern Methodist the past year showed a net profit of $32,139.96. Very well. What went with the shekels? Basketball, baseball, track, tennis, golf, cross country, Southern Methodist relays, and coaching schools, ate it up like this department does fried chicken at a Methodist picnic. What would have happened had football not been "over emphasized?"

Southern Methodist lost $2,206.66 on basketball; $3,786.63 on baseball; $1,875.63 on track; $1,721.36 on tennis; $409.28 on golf; $114.90 on cross country; $2,202.75 on relays; $41,312.62 on general athletics. Reflect, you statisticians and mathematicians, reflect. And buy another football ticket next year.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23 (UP)—Tommy Hitchcock is still king of all he surveys on the polo fields.

America's international captain, who led the new "big four" to a triumph over Great Britain last September, again is ranked at the maximum of ten goals by the United States Polo Association, the only player in the world so honored.

Of other members of the squad from which the "big four" was picked, Cecil Smith of Texas was raised from seven goals to eight, while the handicaps of H. W. (Rube) Williams, R. E. Strawbridge, Jr., Stephen (Laddie) Sanford and Stewart B. Iglehart, from six to seven. Elmer Boeseke, another California star, is ranked again at eight goals, and G. H. Pretty Girls and Lovely Flowers Make Yesterday's Lectures Attractive Affairs

Diets and Exercise for Reducing; Correct Footwear; Treatment for Dry Skins Add Practical Note

Yesterday was the big day—and the crowded day. Women, who were not on time, found it hard to find even standing room in the Crystal Ballroom of the Settles Hotel where Miss Nancy Earle spoke on women's problems...

At the evening lecture it was plainly impossible to squeeze in all the curious-minded husbands. We saw them wandering disconsolately around the mezzanine, getting what kick there was out of seeing the Maurice Shoppe's models cross the doorway that took them inside the lecture hall.

Correct Footwear

The subject of shoes and the advantage of being correctly shod was an important part of the afternoon program. Bob Heath of Grison-Robertson's came up on the platform with the skeleton of a foot to demonstrate the cause of foot troubles.

Tips On Reducing From The Herald's Charm Talks

What Miss Earle had to say about diet and reducing in her lecture yesterday, constituted the answer to so many questions that we know the Herald readers will be glad to have some of it reprinted here.

Warning

She advised her women to enter a system of strenuous dieting and reducing without first consulting her physician to assure herself that he will suffer none of the harmful effects that have come to some reducers.

First, she said, go to your physician to see if it is safe. Second, find out how many pounds you need to lose to be in good health.

Dry Skin Treatment

The women asked for treatment of a dry skin, which is a common complaint out here, Miss Sophia Richardson, who is assisting Miss Hatcher, demonstrated the use of creams and ointments for a dry skin while Miss Hatcher stood by and gave the reasons for each step.

A dining table furnished with green and crystal glassware was placed in the ballroom for the women to observe. The table was furnished by Mellinger's store; the candles by the Crescent Drug Store; the glassware by the Big Spring Hardware Co., Ribble, the florist, sent up a green glass basket of large pink snapdragons which was placed on the table as a centerpiece. The flowers were later sent to a hospital.

General Electric Refrigerator A general electric refrigerator was in the ballroom, balancing the table. Miss Earle called attention to its helpfulness for the particular hostsess. This was the contribution of the Texas Electric Service Co.

In the afternoon Miss Earle appeared in an evening dress of chartreuse green chiffon and black tulle; its daintiness brought a hint of old-fashioned gardens to the platform.

With it she wore two lovely antique bracelets—they were genuine antiques, too, because I had a chance to examine them at close range later.

She changed from this to a powder blue pajama ensemble in which to demonstrate reducing exercises.

Miss Earle's Evening Gown Her gown for the evening lecture was a delicate orchid taffeta frock. The two tiered skirt banded with tulle of the same shade was very becoming to her slight figure because the skirt was extremely long; it cleared the floor by barely an inch.

Her accessories were of rhinestone and crystal necklaces, earrings and bracelet. The most beautiful accessory of all was an arm bouquet of pink and orchid carnations from Ribble, the florist, which was delivered to her during the lecture.

Miss Hatcher also spoke at the evening lecture. Her subject was "Annie."

Maurice Shoppe Style Show One of the evening's chief attractions was the style show. The dresses were furnished by the Maurice Shoppe, with models from the shop, assisted by prominent young society girls.

The models were Misses Lola Bell, Stewart, Mamie Hair, Winnie Taylor, Greta Flippin, Violet Cox and Mrs. Ernestine Glenn. Mrs. C. E. Read stayed behind the scenes and helped the models with their rapid changes.

Nancy Dawes was the evening's pianist.

The style show was devoted to six types of wearing apparel for spring. The model came in, first in sports clothes; then in morning prints; then in spring coats. They changed to afternoon and party frocks. The next showing was Sunday afternoon gowns and the

Chop Suey Makes Ideal Dish for Evening Meal

By JOSEPHINE B. GIBSON Why not delight the whole family some evening soon by serving an American Chop Suey dinner? When well made, Chop Suey is a dish that almost everyone enjoys; and it is so substantial that the remainder of the meal may be quite simple.

Chop Suey requires so little last-minute preparation that it is ideal for serving to company, too. The steamed rice may be cooked, drained and kept tightly covered for at least half an hour before the meal; and the main course is so rich and hearty that only the lightest of desserts is required.

The recipe for Chop Suey that is given below makes an especially savory dish, and you will be delighted with the ease with which the following menu can be prepared and served:

Chop Suey with Border of Steamed Rice, Crisp Chinese Noodles, Bread, Parsi Apple Butter, Celery Stuffed with Roquefort Cheese and Salad Cream Dressing, Chilled Fruit Cup, with Whipped Cream, Rice Fluke Cookies, Tea or Coffee, Chop Suey with Border of Steamed Rice.

One (1) tablespoon Worcestershire Sauce, and 1 cup warm water. Cut bacon fine and fry. Add pure olive oil to pan, and cook until brown. Add mushrooms, celery and onions cut in small pieces, and cook for several minutes. Blend cornstarch and sugar with 1 cup warm water, and add to the meat and vegetables. Season with salt and pepper, and cook until tender (about one-half hour), stirring occasionally and adding more water as needed. When almost finished add 1 tablespoon Worcestershire Sauce. Serve on a platter with a border of steamed rice.

These may be purchased in cans or packages, and should be opened and heated in the oven, to make them very crisp. Celery Stuffed with Roquefort Cheese, Moistened Roquefort cheese with (CONTINUED ON PAGE 7)

GUSTARD DESSERTS WILL BAKE BETTER IN SMALL DISHES

Coffee is Also Better When Roasted in Small Lots—Hills Bros.' Method

The smaller the dish, the more evenly and quickly the oven heat can penetrate to the center of the custard. Such results cannot be counted upon when large baking dishes are used.

Applying this principle to roasting their fine blend of coffee, Hills Bros. found the way to develop uniform flavor in every ounce. A constant stream of green coffee is introduced into the roaster in automatically measured lots of about three pounds, and passes through in a steady flow, roasting a little at a time. There is accurate control of both the flow of coffee and the temperature.

This process, patented by Hills Bros.—Controlled Roasting—develops a delicious uniform flavor no other coffee has. The ordinary method—roasting in bulk—is virtually lacking in control.

Grocers everywhere sell Hills Bros. Coffee in the vacuum can that keeps it ever-fresh. Air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is removed from this can and kept out. Coffee packed in ordinary cans, even if air-tight, does not stay fresh. Ask for Hills Bros. Coffee by name and look for the Arabi—a trade-mark—on the can.

Children's Health Habits

The time to acquire good health habits is during childhood. Habits are established by repetition rather than by preaching.

At this age the child is more prone to comply without objecting, and by dint of repetition the habit can be so firmly established that there will be little likelihood of its neglecting its teeth later.

The important health habits are few in number. They involve good feeding habits, rest and exercise and cleanliness.

The child's sphere is hemmed in by prohibitions. The cultivation of good health habits requires no such procedure.

Masked Longing

BY HOWARD ROCKEY A ROMANCE OF RADIO

SYNOPSIS: Although Aileen Gray, musical comedy actress, loves Jimmy Crane, press agent, she refuses to marry him, believing her first duty is to her younger sister, Vivienne.

Chapter 12 SHATTERED DREAMS Petrified, Vivienne stared at the shattered glass. In the instant that she had swung those doors the knowledge of what must happen stabbed her like a knife.

As they lifted Aileen, Vivienne glimpsed her sisters blood-streaked face. She was not unconscious, and Vivienne shuddered to think of the pain she must be enduring.

Jimmy Crane had tried in vain to stop Aileen when he saw the glass doors closing. Now he stood guard at the doorway as Channing helped the physician who had luckily been a guest.

Bobbing, she sank down in a chair, feeling like a criminal and terribly alone. Dawn was peeping through the windows. The musicians had departed. Stale smoke filled the disordered studio.

Vivienne got up and on tip-toe moved toward the bed. Her agonized eyes met the doctor's as he shook his head. A white-capped nurse and a young interne came in.

It was not until late the next afternoon that Jimmy was allowed to see Aileen.

First he read her what Bruce Burns, Woodward and Quinn had written—just their praise of her performance without any reference to its aftermath.

"Thanks, Jim," she murmured faintly. "But you and I can't ever—pretend what we don't mean."

"That's true," she agreed, "except for one thing, Jimmy. I couldn't say this to anyone but you. Viv mustn't think—mustn't blame herself if I—have to go on the shelf."

Is the future hopeless for Aileen? In tomorrow's chapter Jimmy Crane brings a ray of hope.

ENGINEER GAVE UP, WENT HOME

Says He Could Not Stand Indigestion Any Longer.—Relieved By Black-Draught.

Pulaski, Va.—How a railroad engineer was relieved of indigestion was described by Mr. C. K. Nelson, a Fourth Street resident of this city. Mr. Nelson said:

"I was suffering from stomach trouble in 1917, and had been suffering for some time. I had a tightness in my chest, a shortness of breath. There seemed to be a heavy weight in the pit of my stomach, and quite a bit of nausea, yet I couldn't vomit. I tried different remedies, yet suffered on just the same."

"One morning while on my engine I felt like I would another. I stopped in a little town, bought a package of Black-Draught, took a dose and later in the day took another dose. It relieved me and I have not had a bad spell like that in more than two and a half years."

ATHLETICS TO REPEAT THINKS SLUGGING FOXA

FORT MYERS, Fla., Jan. 23 (UP)—Jimmy Foxx believes the Philadelphia Athletics are going to win another pennant this year.

"If things go well, it looks like another pennant for the A's," the slugging first baseman said today.

"Joe McCarthy can get all there is out of New York. Cleveland and Detroit have a lot of good stuff in prospect, and Washington has been on the upgrade for a year."

Connie Mack will have 18 rookie pitchers in camp when training opens here the middle of February, Foxx said, in addition to the regulars.

"George Earnshaw and Lefty Grove can still twirl them when twirling is necessary," he assured a questioner.

Flashes of Life Night Coughing Weakening — How To Conquer It

Those who are racked nightly with a miserable, persistent cough which, by robbing them of sleep, weakens their system and so lays them open to chronic bronchitis and other dangerous infections, can now end their trouble overnight, through a remarkable new remedy perfected by three specialists.

People who have hardly been able to sleep a wink have found they can rest the whole night through undisturbed the first time they try it. And in just a short time the entire cough is gone.

This wonderful new remedy, known as Mentodene, is based upon a new way of taking menthol internally in a pleasant-tasting liquid. Everybody knows how menthol, even when just inhaled, 'cleans out the pipes,' soothes rawness, loosens phlegm and kills a cough quickly. When taken internally in this new combination with other healing ingredients—coming in direct contact with the irritated throat lining—it is 10 times more effective than as a spray, inhaler or ointment.

Furthermore, Mentodene at once works its way all through the system, clearing out from the inside all the cough, cold and bronchitis poisons that cause headache, fever, etc., and builds up the entire system. So a cough that has hung on days overnight. Make this amazing overnight test yourself without risking a penny. Get a bottle of Mentodene today from your druggist and take as directed. No matter how severe your cough or how long you have had it, if you do not have a thoroughly comfortable and cough-free night, and if you don't feel 100 per cent better in the morning, market refunds your money. Don't let cough hang on. Start today.—adv.

Hess To Meet Berg For Title

CHICAGO, Jan. 23 (UP)—Golde Hess, blond freckle-faced youngster from Los Angeles, will have a chance to win the world's junior welterweight championship tonight when he engages Jack "Kid" Berg, spectacular British holder of the 140-pound championship, in a ten-round battle.

Hess and Berg share the headline role on the Chicago Stadium card with Bat Battalino, world's featherweight champion, who is meeting Eddie Shea, rugged Chicago contender. Both contests are scheduled for ten rounds, but the featherweight battle is a non-championship affair as agreed to weigh in above the class limit of 125 pounds.

The appearance of two champions in the same ring gave indications that 15,000 to 18,000 fans will witness tonight's battles with gate receipts approximately $50,000 to $55,000.

Another son of the British empire, Johnny Peters, a fast stepping sharp-hitting bantamweight, also will appear on tonight's program. He will engage Ernie Peters, Chipewa Indian youngster. The balance of the program brings together Ralph Lenny, sharp shooting lightweight of Jersey City, and Marty Stone of Detroit, and Willie Oster, 65-lb. light heavyweight and Buck Esterling of Chicago.

RADIO Day By Day

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD Associated Press Radio Editor NEW YORK, Jan. 23 (UP)—Sir Herbert Samuel, M. P., chairman of the liberal party in England, makes his second radio talk from overseas within four months, next Sunday.

He is to speak from London in the weekly international broadcast carried by WABC and stations at 11:30 p. m. (CST), and is expected to review the political situation in England.

Sir Herbert's previous talk was made October 5, when he discussed free trade.

The musical program that is to replace the Three Bakers on the WABC chain, starting Monday, is to consist of Leo Reisman's orchestra and a male trio.

There's a clause in Maurice Chevalier's new radio contract which provides that his program is to be picked up from any city in which he happens to be. He starts a 26-week series February 8 on the WEAF hookup.

Try these on your radio tonight: Frances Williams, crooner, guest artist with the Chocolate, WJZ and stations at 7 (CST); Billy Jones and Ernie Hare to the WJZ coast to coast setup at 8. Concert by the New England Conservatory of Music orchestra from Boston at 9 via WABC stations.

SPOKANE—Super Judge Charles Witt always gets up and gets his own breakfast, and he is happily married. He had revealed when a man seeking a divorce complained his wife was asleep in the morning.

PHILADELPHIA—Douglas D. H. March, who has been bitten 13 times, is afraid he is getting old and must give up his specialty as an expert on handling snakes. The thirteenth bite came when he was demonstrating how to obtain venom for the manufacture of serum. He is recovering but for a time his condition was critical.

Former Resident County Comments On Right of Way

T. Lindsay of Tarzan, north of here, has issued the following expression of appreciation for the efforts of the Big Spring committee in charge of obtaining right-of-way and making other movements in behalf of the proposed Texas & Pacific Northern railway line:

Tarzan, Texas, January 9, 1931.

Chairman of the Committee on the Proposed T&P Northern Ry., Big Spring, Texas. Gentlemen: I want to express to you my appreciation for the nice work this committee did in helping to promote this line of railway. I have kept up with it from the time of the announcement until the present time. I hope that this permit is granted as this line of railway will pass through the heart of the best section of this state to my opinion. People that are not now served with a railroad ought to appreciate it and I am sure that they will do so. I am sure that the Knott and Ackery country will be well benefited by this new road if it is allowed to build.

I own a half section of land that this proposed road will cross, according to the survey made by the engineers, and I want to say that I will not be hard to settle with when it comes to the point where the right-of-way is to be secured. I am willing to do my part and what ever that is just let me know and you will be satisfied with my decision along that line.

I lived in Howard County up until 1924 when I moved here, and Big Spring and Howard County to my opinion are certainly stepping out and I am sure it is due to the men you have that can see a long way ahead and are willing to put their shoulder to the wheel and get behind projects like this proposed railway. I don't see how the L.C.C. can help granting this permit.

I know personally some of the men that are on this Railroad Committee, namely R. L. Price, R. L. Cook and Dr. G. T. Hall. I know that these men will do their part for the benefit of your county and city, and I want to personally thank them for their timely effort on this committee, for I know this railroad will benefit me and also will give me a closer market for produce raised on my farm at Knott.

Again thanking you and your committee I am, yours very sincerely, T. LINDSAY.

Tax Payment Bill Senate Debate Topic

Holbrook Leads Opposition To Semi-Annual Plan

AMENDMENT APPROVED
Sulphur Production Tax of $1.50 Tonn Sought Through Bill

AUSTIN, Jan. 22 (AP)—The semi-annual tax payment bill was passed by the senate today.

Prior to its passage an amendment making semi-annual collection of county taxes optional with the county commissioners was tacked on to the bill.

AUSTIN, Jan. 22 (AP)—Consideration of the merits of the bill to permit semi-annual payment of taxes was started in the senate today while the house voted back and forth concerning employment of a legal advisor to aid members in drafting proposed legislation.

Senator Holbrook, Galveston, led the opposition to the split tax plan, saying that counties already had set in motion the complicated tax collecting machinery.

Senator Holbrook, Galveston, led the opposition to the split tax plan in operation was passed. The option would give the commissioners the right to determine if the plan should be employed in their respective counties.

Both houses continued operation under general parliamentary rules when the senate refused to concur.

HOME TOWN TALK

BY BEDDY
We know of several men and their wives who expect to attend the Will Rogers benefit performance in Abilene Tuesday. But they have not reserved their tickets. If they neglect buying them until they reach Abilene Howard county will receive no benefit.

You fellows stop by one of the 16 places in town where reservations may be made, or see Shine Phillips, Miss Nell Hatch or the writer personally, and make your reservations before Friday evening, please.

Change your mind instead of your mates.
Wednesday afternoon we slipped into the Churn School at the Settles for a few minutes. Sort of embarrassed us to be in such a large crowd of women. But, anyway, we heard our delightful friend, Miss Nancy Earle, deliver one of the finest addresses we've ever heard from a man or a woman.

She advised her women friends to change their own attitudes toward life, including their husbands, instead of resorting to the courts for permanent relief through divorce—or by just separating, and letting it go at that.

Now, don't get it in your heads we're on the verge of delving into the causes and effects of marital harmony and strife. Our experience, somehow, does not qualify us as an authority. If pre-matrimonial matters were under discussion we might snap into dime and voluminous statements.

Miss Earle said something pretty sound, though. She told her fair friends they ought to change their attitudes toward life if they were not enjoying life, nor possessing any ambition or desire to make their own lives and those of their mates and children more profitable and joyful.

Of course, we imagine that if you came right down to the founda-

Three Martin County Stills Are Captured

6,000 Gallons of Mash, 30 of Liquor Are Taken

Three stills, over 6,000 gallons of mash, 30 gallons of corn whiskey, and six arrests.

That is the record made by Sheriff Milt Yater of Martin county and his deputies this week.

Starting early Monday morning, Sheriff Yater and his force, assisted by Sheriff Jesse Slaughter of Howard county, and Midland county officers, confiscated a still on a ranch 20 miles north of Midland in Martin county. One negro was arrested, and 4,000 gallons of mash seized.

Returning Tuesday night, Sheriff Yater and his deputies found two stills on the same ranch. One of them was running, the other was in the process of erection. The apparatus was confiscated, 2,000 gallons of mash seized, and four arrests made by the officers. Two of the men, it is said, were arrested near the site of the stills.

Thirty gallons of whiskey was taken in the raids.

Day Of Fasting Lubbock Charity Campaign Plan

LUBBOCK, Jan. 22 (AP)—Voluntarily offered aid to the poor of the city, citizens of Lubbock will observe a day of fasting Friday and indications were today that the plan will bring in several thousand dollars for charity.

The affair is purely voluntary, no drive or effort to obtain pledges being made. The idea was suggested by Dr. John C. Granbery of Texas Technological College and is being sponsored by the ministerial association, civic service clubs and women's organizations.

The response has been spontaneous and it was indicated that the plan would be generally observed. So far as is known here the plan is the first city wide fast day in the nation. Money received is to be spent by the United Charities in its work in Lubbock. None will be spent only for food. Boxes are being placed in banks, downtown stores, and in churches for receiving funds.

Bell No. 1 Well Flowing

Creamery Sued By Dairymen On Milk Agreement

Alleging breach of verbal contract, W. D. Coffey and A. F. Moore, dairymen, have filed suit for $5,961.60 damages against the Snowwhite Creameries, in district court.

The plaintiffs alleged that on July 1, they entered into a verbal agreement with T. W. Long, manager of the Snowwhite Creameries, to supply the creamery with 100 gallons of sweet milk daily, at a rate of eighty-five cents per pound of butterfat.

They alleged the milk was delivered daily from July 1 to Dec. 29, inclusive. It is alleged in the petition that the agreement was for 12 months duration. On Dec. 24, it is alleged in the petition, the plaintiffs received a letter signed by Mr. Long, in which it was stated arrangements had been made to obtain milk from other sources, inasmuch "as it is understood you will be interested in a cooperative creamery."

The plaintiffs alleged that delivery of 100 gallons of sweet milk was made the morning of Dec. 29, and that it was refused by creamery officials. The dairymen alleged that the 100 gallons of sweet milk they sold daily averaged 40 pounds of butterfat, which at eighty-five cents, brought them an income of $34 a day.

Since Dec. 29, they allege, they have been interested in retail milk trade, and that their sales have averaged $8.50 a day. A profit of $1.60 a day is realized when expenses are deducted.

They contend had the contract been fulfilled they would have sold milk 184 additional days to the creamery, for a total of $6,266. In seeking for $5,961.60 damages, they deduct $294.90, using an average of $1.60 net profit a day from their retail sales.

Wounded Negro Called To Hearings On Woman's Death

ARDMORE, Okla., Jan. 22 (AP)—A wounded negro was to be carried into county court here this afternoon to tell what he knows about the shooting of Mrs. A. J. Hardy while on a hunting trip with her husband November 12.

Hardy, former county judge and county attorney, faces a preliminary hearing on a charge of murder in connection with the death of Mrs. Hardy.

The negro is Mitch Ligon, 38, who is suffering from a wound in the shoulder from a pistol shot to have been fired by a brother-in-law, A. E. Alexander, in a quarrel over an insurance policy. Officers said this had no connection with the Hardy case.

Although refusing to reveal the nature of Ligon's expected testimony officers have described him as the state's most important witness.

Faint echoes of the Clara Smith-Jake Hamon case of 1929-31 were heard when it was learned that J. B. Champion and H. H. Brown are among counsel for Hardy. They were attorneys for Mrs. Smith, acquitted of slaying Hamon, former Republican national committeeman.

The case will be heard before County Judge Charles N. Champion, nephew of J. B. Champion.

Attorney Champion said the defense is ready to go to trial in the case now if necessary, but will not introduce testimony at the preliminary hearing today to "go through to justify bail for our client."

"However," Champion said, "if gaining this end would urge us to reveal enough of our case to weaken it we would permit Judge Hardy to remain in jail until trial time."

Mrs. Hardy refused to issue a statement since arrested Monday. Mrs. Hardy died of gun shot wounds. At the time Hardy reported to county officers that a dog had tripped the hammer of a shot gun in the automobile in which he and Mrs. Hardy were preparing to return from a hunting trip. The accidental discharge, he said, killed her.

Six Bandits Rob Passengers On Train Of $6,000

BELLEFONTAINE, O., Jan. 22 (AP)—Working with quiet but grim precision, six bandits routed sleeping Florida-bound passengers from their berths as a Big Four train neared here early today, shot one man and made away with cash and jewelry estimated at $6,000.

Evidently timing the holdup well in advance, the gunmen, all masked, invaded the next to the last Pullman of the No. 9 train, en route from Detroit to Cincinnati. One man who shouted in alarm was shot and critically wounded and the remaining six passengers were marshalled in the drawing room with the porter and a brakeman.

One robber stood guard while the rest went through the car, snatching money and valuables. As the train slowed down for Bellefontaine, they leaped from the rear car and disappeared into the darkness.

The time between their leap and the arrival of the train was sufficient for them to make good their escape.

The man shot was Edwin K. Nelson of Tampa, Fla. He shouted when aroused and was ordered to "keep quiet." He shouted again and was shot, the bullet piercing his right arm and chest. He was in a serious condition with a punctured lung.

Mrs. E. G. Batharian, Detroit, the sole woman passenger, said she lost $3,000 in diamonds and cash. She was forced to join the subdued group huddled in the drawing room. While the robbers leisurely went through the car Brakeman Morris came through and immediately joined the prisoners.

The robbery occupied about an hour while the train proceeded from Carey, about 45 miles north of Bellefontaine. They disturbed no other car. Railroad detectives thought the robbers probably climbed aboard while halt was made at Carey for coal.

Fess Discusses Hoover Attitude Toward Report

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—Emphasis was made today by Senator Fess, republican, Ohio, to the point that President Hoover in objecting to the Wickersham commission's substitute 18th amendment had not closed the door to all revision proposals.

Party leaders looked significantly at this statement of Senator Fess, who is chairman of the republican national committee and an adviser of Mr. Hoover's. He was at the White House yesterday.

The Ohioan, one of the staunch supporters of national prohibition himself, would not say that Mr. Hoover favored any other revision or had any other idea for modification in mind.

"I just simply say," explained Fess, "that Mr. Hoover did not close the door to any revision when he rejected this substitute amendment because it would throw prohibition forever into politics."

The law enforcement commission said in its conclusions: "All the commission agree that if the amendment is revised it should be made to read substantially as follows:

"Section 1. The congress shall have power to regulate or to prohibit the manufacture, traffic in or transportation of intoxicating liquors within, the importation thereof into and the exportation thereof from the United States and all territory subject to the jurisdiction thereof for beverage purposes."

Senator Fess stipulated he had no idea whatever that Mr. Hoover had any modification or revision plan in mind.

"I believe the president has an open mind," explained the Ohioan. "He wants to do what is right. 'I don't want to say that he is keeping the door open for I do not want to put him in the position of considering any revision or modification of prohibition."

"All I do say and can say is that Mr. Hoover in his message has simply rejected this particular plan of the commission for the obvious reason that it would place prohibition into politics forever."

"It would make prohibition the everlasting paramount issue."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—Immediate legislation of a 3 percent beer was urged in the house today by Representative William E. Hull, republican, Illinois.

A resolution also was introduced by Representative Celler, democrat, New York, to carry out the Wickersham commission's recommendation for removal of restrictions on doctor's prescriptions of liquor.

Hull told the house "for the first time in the history of this country, if not in the history of the world, crime has become a paying institution. The unenforceable prohibition law is responsible for American community life. It is allowed to continue, we will be under the combined domination of the bandit, the burglar, the bootlegger, the narcotic vendor and the racketeer."

Plans Made For Railroads To Meet Truck Schedules

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—A tentative move toward assisting southwestern railroads to meet motor truck competition in the cotton trade was made today by the interstate commerce commission.

A petition of the carriers to make new schedules from all southwestern points to the Texas seaports which will match the charges made by the truck haulers was allowed to go to hearing, and a proceeding settling general rates on cotton in the territory which the commission decided last summer was reopened.

The object of the order, the commission said, was to "permit southwestern carriers to establish and maintain reduced rates on cotton from southwestern points of origin to Texas ports of reduced rates to meet competition of motor trucks."

The reopening of the entire cotton rate schedules in the territory in the matter is necessary because any changes allowed to the Texas ports will reflect themselves in the competitive traffic to New Orleans and Mobile. During the last few months the rise of the truck competition in cotton haulage has become a matter seriously disturbing to the management of the southwestern carriers.

Soviet Russia Is War-Threatened Says Secretary

MOSCOW, Jan. 22 (AP)—Soviet Russia is threatened with the greatest war in history, commissar of war Voroshilov said in an address today to the congress of communist youths.

The Soviet Union, he declared, must organize the masses not only for the purpose of defending the country against inevitable intervention, but for victory over "the sword against us."

Three million young communists are in the congress of youths, he said, and 200,000 of them are in the army. He urged the entire membership to begin intensive training for defense of the state.

"Our country," said he, "is a socialist island surrounded by capitalist enemies. These are difficult times and we must not forget the external factors all about us. The danger of attack is constantly growing and it is obvious that the international bourgeoisie are preparing to march against us."

He quoted the German General Ludendorff, "the danger of war once again has become real everywhere," and asserted that capitalism, in the grip of an economic crisis, "blames the Soviet Union for all its misfortunes and is preparing for war against us."

"The coming war," he said, "will be a factory for the annihilation of men and in such a factory men must not only be willing to die but must be qualified to handle the complicated machinery of war. We must face the attack with a trained army."

He indicated that preparations for defense already were under way with the declaration, "in case of war all light and heavy industry will be mobilized."

R. E. Lee Birthday Holiday Sought

AUSTIN, Jan. 2 (AP)—The birthday of General Robert E. Lee, leader of the Confederate armies in the war between the states, would be made a legal holiday in Texas: a bill introduced in the house today. "The date is January 19. The bill was offered by Representative McComb of Dallas.

643,354 Daily Output Aim Of Committeemen

Van Pool Allotment Raised To 35,000 Barrels Per Day

PENN HEADS GROUP
West Texas Would Be Cut Less Than 1,000 Barrels

AUSTIN, Jan. 22 (AP)—The central committee on oil proration today recommended that the state's allowable production be reduced from 680,238 barrels to 643,354 barrels daily.

Recommendation was made, however, that the allotment of the Van field be increased from 27,500 to 30,000 barrels February 1 and to 35,000 barrels March 1. The railroad commission also was asked to hold a hearing to fix a figure for the new field in Rusk and Gregg counties, which was not included in the general recommendation.

The recommendation of the committee headed by R. R. Penn, Dallas independent oil operator and consulting representative of both the independent and the major companies, was as follows:

Recommendation
Panhandle district, production as of January 17, 57,400 barrels; allowable recommended, 40,000; North Texas, present production, 60,350; recommendation, 57,245; West Central Texas, production, 25,500; recommendation, 24,000; West Texas production, 248,650; recommendation, 245,927; East Central Texas production, 43,150; recommendation, 43,725; Southwest Texas production, 75,850; recommendation, 77,447; Gulf coast production, 163,000; recommendation, 153,000.

Penn said the demand for crude oil was around 670,000 barrels; substantially the same as during the life of the old era, which was due to expire Saturday. He said his committee was endeavoring to keep production down to the demand level. Penn told of the success with which the state's proration program had been attended since 1 in production last August. He said production at that time was about 863,000 barrels whereas the minimum reported recently was only 656,100 barrels.

The committee dealt particularly with the Van field, the Big Lake field and the new Rusk and Gregg county field.

"I personally anticipate the committee will recommend that production in the Van field be increased to 35,000 barrels the first month until the 50,000 barrel figure is reached," he said. "However, this order will last only until April 1 and the committee did not deem it pertinent to make any recommendations for the allowable after that date."

J. A. Elkins of Houston, attorney for the Pure Oil company, one of the chief producers in the Van pool, objected to the committee's recommendations. He stated the proposed plan was satisfactory if assurance could be had that the schedule of production would be maintained until the 50,000 barrel figure had been reached. "We already have a contract for that much oil," he said.

Penn asked the commission to "clamp down" on the operators in the Big Lake field, where the unit acreage of Texas has a considerable amount of oil land. He said the acreage was losing thousands of dollars weekly because of waste of gas in that field. He urged the production of oil in that field be reduced to the market outlet and the amount of oil in storage be cut to a minimum.

Rusk-Gregg
The committee chairman pointed to the danger of waste in the Rusk and Gregg county field, which he said was just being opened. He said he was glad to see that a committee of citizens of that vicinity already had been formed to prevent waste and to conserve the oil.

Friend Tells Of Events On Fatal Drive

L. Herbert Quinn, Lubbock, To Be Buried Friday

MARRIAGE WAS NEAR Broken-Hearted Co-Worker and Wife Found By Woman

LUBBOCK, Texas, Jan. 21 (AP)—"I will not come back without help," was the parting injunction of L. Herbert Quinn, publisher of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, when he left his long-time friend and newspaper associate Charles Guy, on the frozen sands of repote Youkum county Sunday to go for assistance in their predicament caused by a stalled automobile. He perished in the attempt.

"We kept waiting, waiting—feeling that Herb would get back with help even though he and his aides had to search his out," Guy said, explaining his experiences.

Guy, Mrs. Guy and Quinn had gone to look for antelope in a little-traversed section of Texas Sunday afternoon. Their automobile bogged in the sand far from habitation. The Guys were not rescued until Tuesday noon and Quinn's body was found several hours later.

"I started out for help, but had not gone far when Herb called me back, reminding me that it might take until early morning to get teams to the place," Guy said. "You stay here with your wife; I do not mind going at all," Herb argued. And with that we shook hands; joked as we always have, and Herb Quinn marched away to his death.

Helped Search

After searchers had found Guy and his wife, Guy, managing editor of Quinn's papers, joined in the hunt for his friend. He was with the group that came up soon after his frozen body had been found about 10 miles from the sand-bound automobile. There were evidences he had been walking in a circle.

Quinn had gone to a windmill, about two miles distant, in an effort to possibly find a light in the darkness.

Tracked after leaving the windmill, Quinn evidently was making his way to the Surrat headquarters of the Snyder ranch.

"He evidently saw a light from the windmill and headed for it," Guy said.

"It was bitterly cold both nights we were stranded there in the sand. As we huddled in our coupe at night our breaths formed a coating of ice over every particle of glass and metal inside the car. It was impossible to see out without opening a door until the sun each day became sufficiently warm to melt the ice.

"We had set out for Lehman, 25 miles away, walking through the sand, when we met Mrs. John Robertson. She did not know at the time we were missing. Lehman was the last point of civilization we had passed.

Roomed Together

Guy and Quinn had roomed together for a year prior to Guy's marriage a few months ago.

"Of course we had no idea of the seriousness of the predicament," Guy continued. "When Herb marched off to the windmill, two miles away, one of us ever entertained the idea of other than he would be able to perceive a light, after dark which was approaching, and make his way to help.

"As we tracked him yesterday from the point where he left the windmill we perceived that he was making his way directly to the Surrat headquarters of the Snyder ranch. He evidently saw a light from the windmill and struck out for it.

"Reconstructing the whole terrible occurrence, I believe the light went out as he was pushing his way across the ten intervening miles, for his trail led to a point a quarter of a mile from the headquarters before turning abruptly to the south.

"I can't believe yet that such an awful thing could happen right within sixty to eighty miles of Lubbock, not to mention other smaller points of lesser distance away.

Never Lost

"We were never lost. As my wife and I grew weak from lack of food and water we were without both for 36 hours—we set out for Lehman, 25 miles away, walking through the sand. When we met Mrs. John Robertson, who had no report of our being missing, we were going straight to Lehman, the last point of civilization which we had passed.

"We kept waiting, waiting, feeling that Herb would get back with help even though he and his aides had to search his out. His last words had been 'I won't come back without help.'

"When we were first stalled beyond getting out without additional motive power, I satried out to help. I had gone thirty or forty yards when Herb called me back, reminding me that it might take until early morning to get teams to the place.

"You stay here with your wife," he said. She'll feel better than she would with me in case help doesn't come before morning. I don't mind going at all."

Shook Hands

"And with that we shook hands, joked as we always have while working and living together, and Herb Quinn marched to his death."

Funeral services for Mr. Quinn will be held Friday afternoon at the First Presbyterian Church with Dr. Jack M. Lewis in charge. Burial will be in the Lubbock cemetery.

Services are being held up pending the arrival of Miss Francis Bagot, Anderson, Indiana, fiancée of the publisher and Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Guy, Sr., of Tulsa, parents of Mr. Guy.

Mr. Quinn and Miss Bagot were to have been married within the next few weeks.

Recipe For Corned Beef Canned at Mrs. Pendery Little's Demonstration

Dear Club Women and Girls: A beef canning demonstration was given at Mrs. Pendery Little's, December 3, at which time some of the beef was corned. The product is so good I want to tell you how it was done, so you may corn some of the next beef you butcher.

For one hundred pounds of meat use the following proportions: 7 pounds salt, 2 ounces salt petre, 1-2 pounds brown sugar, 6 gallons water.

Method: Combine ingredients, let come to a boil, cool mixture, pour over meat in a stone jar. Weight down to hold under brine. Let cure for four or five weeks. If the brine becomes very, boil and strain, cool and pour back over meat. The meat will have a bright yellow color in the center when it is cured. This meat may be prepared by boiling for about three hours over a slow fire.

Mrs. Chess Anderson of the Elbow club has made a good record from her cows. She has milked on an average of three ewes all during the year.

For her family of four she has had an abundance of milk products from these four cows, milking an average of three all through the year. She has sold the following: cottage cheese, $2.21; butter, 12; sweet milk, 12; cream, $9.60.

The club girls are doing good work. Most of the girls have finished their pillow slips. They have been made according to directions I gave them. That is good, girls, learn to follow directions. The Moore girls were one hundred percent in having their material for their pillow slips the day I asked them to, and made the same record in having them finished.

Sincerely yours,
LOUILLIE ALLGOOD

tion of many marital fiascos the advice women should change their own minds as the best method of healing marital illnesses might be a step in the right direction but not a long enough step, in itself.

If the good wives' minds were to be changed they'd more or less naturally have to change them themselves. It is history, we take it, that changing their minds is something next to impossible in most cases, if a man attempts to cause the changes.

We've seen a lot of cases where we wonder how in thunder a good little wife endured living with the fellow she happened to be married to. On the other hand, cases wherein a good-hearted fellow was going through torture emanating from his mate are not rare, by any means.

Heard a married woman say the other day she figured a lot of married folks didn't care for each other but kept up a united front to keep the family together. Trouble about this, sometimes, is that the Mrs. does as she pleases and the Mr. does likewise, and the things they please to do frequently would provoke divorce action if they really gave a whoop.

All this hot air we've been sprouting in this column today was jotted down at random just to try to learn whether you'd read such boloney. Don't know whether we'll learn whether you did or not, but the words will help fill the column anyway.

They do say, nowadays, you're a back number if you cling to some old-fashioned principles about marriage, as well as a lot of other things. But, we plead guilty to being subject and disciple of the old principle that honest-to-goodness love is the cause, the answer, the remedy to everything in families including relationships between parents as well as children and between parents and children.

Just what true love is may vary according to the personalities of various couples. True love is, we're afraid, that too many folks have gotten to where they just laugh at these old beliefs.

After all is said and done true charm of the wife has a lot to do with the smoothness or roughness of the marriage highway. At the same time, the true power of personality, lack of uncouthness, strong adhesion to moral and ethical things, have a lot to do with determining the acceptability and worthiness of the men folks.

Now, pour it on your humble servant's back for popping off about something he has no personal right to consider he knows anything about.

Carl Estes, of Tyler, chairman of the East Texas committee looking after affairs of the new field, said his committee would meet in Longview next week. He promises cooperation with the railroad commission and the central committee.

Penn said two wells already had been completed in the new territory, one with a potential of from 15,000 to 20,000 barrels and the other 1,000 barrels. He said another well was due to be put on "te" today and that 18 or 20 wells were being drilled.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—Limitation of the importation of crude petroleum for the next three years to 16,000,000 barrels annually was proposed in a bill introduced today by Senator Capper, republican, Kansas.

Senator Capper said he introduced the bill as a result of conclusions reached by the recent meeting of independent oil operators in Washington.

The bill also would place an embargo against the importation of any refined petroleum except for scientific purposes. It was referred to the commerce committee.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)—The move to protect the independent oil industry which was unsuccessful during the pendency of the tariff bill, was revived in the senate today—republicans proposing both duties and import limitations as relief measures.

Senator Shortridge, republican, California, offered a resolution to place a duty of $1 a barrel on crude and refined petroleum and 50 per cent ad valorem on refined products, based on the American selling price rather than foreign valuation.

Senator Capper, republican, of Kansas, introduced a bill to limit imports of crude petroleum for the next three years to 16,000,000 barrels annually and to embargo imports of refined products, including all by-products and fuel oil.

Both proposals were referred to the commerce committee. Their sponsors contend the senate has the right to initiate the legislation under the commerce clause of the constitution.

The house, however, is jealous of its prerogative to initiate all revenue raising legislation and undoubtedly would contest arguments to the contrary, as it has in the past.

Six attempts to gain a duty on oil and gasoline failed when the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill was pending in the senate. Senators Thomas, democrat, and Pine, republican, Oklahoma, sponsored the moves then, but in every instance the senate voted them down.

Capper said he introduced his bill as a result of conclusions reached at the recent meeting in Washington of the independent oil operators.

More laxity, however, was desired by the house, which adopted a resolution whereby bills could be introduced after the first sixty days through an affirmative two-thirds vote of the members present, a quorum voting.

Negro Killer Dies As Mob Crowds Near

Peritonitis Beats Would-Be Lynchers To Prisoner

KILLED TWO OFFICERS Three Mob Members Break In, And View Black's Body

—BREVUEPORT, Ia., Jan. 9. (AP)—Death in the form of peritonitis claimed Lemuel McDaniel, negro, at midnight, and dispersed a mob of 1,500 persons, who milled about the hospital where he was being treated for wounds suffered in a police gun fight. The shooting was fatal to two officers.

A few members of the crowd climbed an unguarded fire escape to the negro ward on the third floor, but left after three of the group had been called into the negro's room by Dr. E. L. Sander-son, superintendent, and shown the body.

The entire police force, augmented by sheriff's deputies and a score of city firemen, held most of the crowd to the ground floor.

Mayor J. G. Palmer, Sheriff Tom Hughes and Captain Harry Stahl of the National Guard unit here, made speeches.

The negro was brought to the hospital after a raid Saturday night upon his grocery which was led by three policemen wearing old clothes and with faces blacked. The officers said they suspected the grocery of hiding a gambling den.

In the fight, Teddy Williams, policeman, was shot dead, and Lee Allen Williams, his fellow officer, wounded fatally.

McDaniel denied shooting the officers, naming another negro as the slayer. This negro was arrested and spirited away to jail.

S. A. Jones, the third policeman, escaped the bullets by lying on the grocery floor. He said McDaniel fired the fatal shots.

The first shots were fired from the grocery. Police said they believed the negroes mistook the blackfaced policemen for bandits.

The raid was part of a drive against lawlessness, the city recently having experienced a series of robberies.

Miss Earle Reveals Charm

Lecturer Also Discovers Charm In Our Sunshine-Flooded City

By O. H. P.
That subtle form of charm which captures you before you are aware of what is happening to you; that gracious form of charm which makes you feel as though you had been friends for a long time and it is easy to talk of things—these are some of the charming characteristics of Miss Nancy Earle who opened the Herald Charm School in the crystal ballroom of the Settles Hotel today.

Mrs. Ellington and I had a brief visit with Miss Earle yesterday. She was too busy to talk as long as both of us would have liked. But we had time enough to discover that she is going to give Big Spring women just exactly what they want to hear.

None of us, I am sure, are asking to be made Cleopatras. We prefer more practically and less dangerous lore. Miss Earle is very modern in this respect. It is plain to see that charm, according to her version, is more than skin deep. It does not consist of rolling one's eyes or applying worlds of makeup or wearing extreme clothes—it is something more subtle and intense; and it is extremely comfortable and comfortable for the beholder and comfortable, I hope, for the possessor.

Miss Earle was becoming a small black hat with the new all-round raised brim that is not easy to wear. It displayed a pair of calm and quietly smiling eyes and expressive vivacious lips. Miss Earle's conversation revealed a rather dry and cerebral outlook on the hurriedly passing world about her. I thought to myself that if she could show us all how to be so happy and so content with our lot she would have surely passed on one of the secrets of charm.

It did not take Miss Earle long to remark on Big Spring's most valuable possession—the flood of sunshine. She left Laredo, she said in a downpour of rain. Mrs. Ellington and I promised to do our best to insure a week of West Texas' best-behaved weather.

We offered that partly because Miss Earle is from Memphis, Tenn., and is just now getting acquainted with this part of the state. Her chief ambition at present, she says, is to see an oil well at close range. I told her we still had enough wells left to boast about and that I was certain any number of people would be delighted to show them to her.

Miss Earle is really very eager to meet a large number of Big Spring women at the Herald Charm School. Although she is a slender little thing herself, we soon saw that she was interested in all types, maternally as well as young, plump as well as thin. We really believe that if Big Spring women will cooperate with her willingly, will ask her questions and will attend her lectures regularly, they will find that she has something valuable for each one in the way of charm.

Tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 Miss Earle will give her second lecture in the crystal ballroom of the Settles Hotel. Her subject will be: "Face Facts and Facts About the Face."

30 Million Naval Construction Bill Given Approval

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19. (AP)—The administration's $30,000,000 naval construction bill was approved today by the senate naval committee, including provision for a six-inch gun cruiser, which was rejected by the house naval committee.

The committee voted unanimously to report the bill which provides for one aircraft carrier, one flying deck cruiser with six inch guns, one six inch gun cruiser, and four submarines.

An amendment, recommended by the navy department, to appropriate $3,000,000 for experimentation with Diesel engines also was approved. The aircraft carrier, completely equipped will cost $27,650,000; the flying deck cruiser, $20,780,000; the six inch gun cruiser, $16,605,000; and the four submarines, $4,400,000 each.

The Royal Workers met with Mrs. Lee Nuckles.

Cosden Again Wins From Midland

Easily Down Sister City's Aggregation Here 33 to 14

If Cosden Refinery's basketball contingent desires larger and more improved competition, the solons of the organization will have to look elsewhere than Midland in order to locate it.

For the second time this month the Cosden cagers easily ousted the Midland All-Stars Monday night, winning 33-14 at the local high school gymnasium before a small—very small—crowd.

"Skeeter" West, Cosden forward, looped six field goals and three free goals for the grand sum of 15 tallies and high point honors. Steelman, the other mainstay at the Cosden forward post, gleaned 13 during the evening to run second.

The smooth running machine grabbed a 14-point lead in the first quarter, and therein lies the tale of how badly Midland was defeated. Midland cagers were able to shoot only five field goals during the evening's entertainment, compared with 11 for the red and white Cosden aggregation.

Defense work of Wilson, and Baker, with the accurate loop shooting of West and Steelman, joined together to down the Midland representatives in no uncertain terms.

The Midland basketballers were completely outclassed in the few but assorted departments of the game.

Magician And Girl Kill Selves, Leaving Reason

ATLANTA, Jan. 19.—The "last trip" of Jose Cruz, 30-year-old Filipino amateur magician and biller of Asa G. Calder, Jr., was written into DeKalb county records today as the murder of Miss Gladys Frix, 19-year-old stenographer, and his own suicide.

After discovery of the bodies of the couple yesterday in a parked automobile on the Chandler estate, officers found a note in the Filipino's room, scrawled on a child's slate, which said: "This is my last trip and I hope you enjoy the performance."

On Cruz's body was found an unsigned note which said: "To whom it may concern: 'We, Gladys Frix and Jose Cruz, are taking our own lives because we love each other but due to objections of Louise Frix (sister of Gladys) and Mrs. J. T. Clay (grandmother), we cannot find a way to be together in peace.'"

The coroner's jury did not believe there was a suicide pact, since the note bore a mark from the girl. Testimony before the coroner's jury showed that Miss Frix's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Frix, had forbidden Cruz to call at their home or to see their daughter.

But all at once I felt a jar. A voice in my ear said: "It's four A. M.—relief on 'de." And then, I woke.

In a bitterly fought game, the Big Brothers' quintet of the First Methodist church noosed out the Baptist loopers, 23-22, on Monday night.

At the end of the half the two teams were tied 13-13. Trailing the loopers by seven points, the Baptist team, despite a rally in the final minutes, was unable to either catch up or pass the Big Brothers' aggregation.

Widow Alleges Oil Field Gases Killed Husband

Alleging that gas inhaled while her husband was a gauger for Merriell & Bristol, caused his death at the company's leases near Forsan, Mrs. Mary Zody of Indiana, has filed suit against the Texas Employers' Insurance Association, seeking to set aside the award of the Industrial Accident Board.

M. Zody and Autry Zody, children of the deceased, and Bryan H. Atchinson, Breckenridge attorney, join in the suit as plaintiffs. It is alleged in the petition which was filed in district court, that Zody, while pursuing his duties on the lease, inhaled gas issuing from the tanks. It is alleged the small amount of gas he inhaled daily caused him to be ill, later resulting in his death May 18, 1930.

The plaintiffs seek damages in the amount of $7,164, a portion of which is sought by Atchinson as attorney's fee in the case.

Robert Hill's Discovered On Juarez Bridge

Companion Of Marshall Ratliff, Recently Molested, Is Caught

ONE SHOT IN BANK Cisco Chief of Police Fatally Wounded In Gun Battle

EL PASO, Texas, Jan. 18. (AP)—The last of a quartet of "Santa Claus" robbers who held up the First National Bank of Cisco, on Dec. 23, 1927—Robert Hill, also Bobbie Catcher—was captured here last night by El Paso officers as he started across the international bridge to Juarez, Mexico.

Marshall Ratliff, wearing a "Santa Claus" costume, entered the Cisco bank with three companions, among them Hill. They obtained $12,400 in loot and in the ensuing gun fight with officers, G. E. Bedford, police chief, was shot dead and G. W. Carmichael, police officer, was mortally wounded, dying on January 7.

Louis Davis, another member of the bandit quartet, was wounded. He died Dec. 24 in the Tarrant county jail at Fort Worth.

Ratliff was shot down Christmas Eve, near South Bend, Texas. His companions, Henry Helms and Hill, escaped in the Brazos river bottoms but later were captured near Graham.

Hill escaped from the Wynne state prison farm Sept. 25, 1929. He was among eighteen convicts who made a successful break for freedom. Helms paid for his crime in the electric chair on September 6, 1929.

You Can See What You're Doing With the Oliver Hart-Parr Row Crop

You don't have to crane your neck over your shoulder when you plant or cultivate with the new Oliver Hart-Parr Row Crop. Practically all planting and cultivating equipment is hung between the front and rear wheels, where you can see it all the time.

Equipment can be changed quickly and easily. And when it's in place, it's there to stay until you want to remove it. It becomes a part of the Row Crop itself—no wobbling or shifting. If other general purpose work is necessary—raise the gangs and go ahead. There's no need to detach the suspended implements.

Come in and let us tell you about the revolutionary features of the Row Crop—the general purpose tractor with the tiptoed wheels.

EPILEPSY IN HISTORY
 Epilepsy is one of the diseases well known to history. Hippocrates, the father of medicine who lived 400 years before the Christian era, knew of and described epilepsy.

Hippocrates observed that the brains of persons afflicted with epilepsy were "unusually moist." It is significant that a recent promising study on the cause and control of epilepsy points to the presence of excess fluid in and about the brain as a possible immediate cause of epileptic convulsions.

Epilepsy is mentioned in many of the writings of the ancients. It is found in the New and the Old Testament, and in the holy books of many religious sects. In fact, epilepsy was considered by many as a holy disease and those suffering from it were at times treated as if they were sanctified individuals.

The Koran, (the bible of the Mohammedans) considered epilepsy an ailment which might come upon those who thrived by usury.

The hereditary character epilepsy was appreciated by the ancients. We find the Talmud, a collection of Hebrew writings, prohibiting marriage with a woman who had come from an epileptic family.
 In Delphi, epilepsy in the female was valid ground for divorce.

The aura associated with epilepsy, representing a state of disturbed conscience, which precedes epileptic seizures, was also known to the ancients. According to the Talmud, the testimony of an epileptic person could not be credited as long as he was subject to seizures.

The term epilepsy, which is derived from the Greek, was not used to describe the disease until after the tenth century.

That Report
 OPPORTUNITY of debating over prohibition, a pastime both anti and pro have enjoyed for ten years and in which many engaged more for personal satisfaction than through sincere desire to see the problem solved one way or the other, has been increased by the Wickersham commission's report.

Senator Borah's statement: the report will soon be hidden on the shelves and the debate over "repeal or no repeal" continued as it has been conducted through the years is pretty correct.

Aside from a few who believe prohibition violates personal liberty and do not consider the latter nullified when exercising it inflicts misfortune upon others, campaign against prohibition is caused ether by those who like to drink liquor or those who wish to sell it.

Return of the open saloon will never occur in the United States, although there may be some legislation allowing limited sale of light wines and beer some day.

We believe those who burn with the old-time prohibition zeal ought to consider whether the true purpose of prohibition would be promoted—that is the cause of temperance strengthened—by changing some points in the law. Blind stubbornness ought not to guide them.

The basic theory of prohibition is sound. It is right and, some day, will be subject of much less opposition than today.

Prohibition has not had a completely fair trial, chiefly because interests of some government officials would have been damaged by proper enforcement efforts.
 As much honest effort was made to enforce it as is exerted for most laws the conditions would be different.

Temperance is the real goal. Perhaps this would be promoted by allowing some sort of sale of light wines and beer. Perhaps not. The problem ought to be studied on a practical basis and not from the viewpoint of those saturated with a reform complex that do not do some hard study.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS

"The Strike" Has Seen Its Day

Sherman Democrat:
 WHEN William N. Doak was sworn in as secretary of labor in the cabinet of President Hoover, a man who has been a member of a trades union since his apprenticeship days as a "two-third," was called to office. He succeeds another trades union man, Mr. Davis recently elected to the United States senate from Pennsylvania.

Mr. Doak is a trainman, having worked his way from a brake man and conductor to head of the Railway Trainmen's union. This made him one of the executives of the Big Four, which included the Locomotive Engineers' and the Locomotive Engineers' and Firemen's union. During his years of service there was never a strike among these organizations, although they made many complaints and got many of the things they asked for.
 As a rule Mr. Doak spoke for the railroad unions. He never failed to settle the differences without calling a strike.

On the subject of strikes, he is quoted as saying: "Except as a last resort in extreme cases, the strike should never be used, for it is essentially wasteful, anarchic, and in the end necessarily hurtful to all concerned."

The strike long ago lost favor with the public and has done more to cause labor unions to lose their popularity than any other one thing. The past ten or fifteen years the railroads, constituting one of the most vital industries in the world, in which the relations of worker and employer have presented some of the most puzzling and deep-seated problems in the history of organized labor, have offered plenty of proof of the needlessness of strikes.

Mr. Doak is following a good

Hollywood Sights
 HOLLYWOOD — The stories of newspaper life now marking another cycle in films are strikingly different from former movie treatments of the same subject.

There was a time when some producers refused to consider journalistic experiences as material for screen
 entertainment.

Lucien Hubbard, screen writer formerly of the press, recalls that he broached a newspaper yarn for filming in 1919, and it was protested scornfully that "newspap-ersmen come in the same category as actors and actresses—the public won't accept them as people having genuine emotions."

Hubbard prevailed, however, and his "Deadline at Eleven" was one of Corinne Griffith's early vehicles.

SCOOPS
 That, unless its title is misleading, was a story of some cub reporter's struggle for a scoop, with a romance of course for motivation.

There were to be more of the same species—pictures playing up the so-called "thrills of the game."
 They were as little concerned with the portrayal of reporters as human beings as they were with the accurate painting of real newspaper life.

The executive who catalogued actors and newspapermen as equally impossible screen subjects has now been proved doubly wrong. Fans have always been intrigued by stories of backstage life, and the cycle of such stories which came in with the talkies continued until it killed itself off by overemphasis.

And that cycle was scarcely under way when the film version of "Gentlemen of the Press," presenting a thoroughly human portrait of a managing editor, launched a series of talkie newspaper yarns.

MORE REAL

In the new newspaper cycle, reviewed now after a temporary lull, pictures seldom resort to the old thrills-and-scoops school for their main punch.

Thrills are present, and scoops sometimes figure, but in most of the films the newspaper men are pictured as human beings with human problems rather than as half-normal scatterbrains.

George Bancroft's "Scandal Sheet" is sure-fire stuff, though overdrawn, and "The Front Page" is pure melodramatic comedy, but more serious offerings are "Fires of Youth" with Lew Ayres and
 "The Mob," a Barthelme vehicle.

Masked Longing
 BY HOWARD ROCKEY A ROMANCE OF RADIO

Chapter 11
THE PRICE OF FOLLY

ALLEN eyed Burns suspiciously as he agreed to let her buy his silence. What would be his price?
 Burns took another gulp from his highball before continuing.

"I'm the very soul of fairness," he said. "All I ask is a private peep of Channing's picture of you."
 "How did you know—it's like that?" She sketched a vague curve with her cigaret.

"Guessed again," he told her.
 Channing was coming toward them.

"I see you haven't even missed me," he said pleasantly.

Burns winked at Vivienne dis-cretely. "Miss Gray and I were discussing art."

"I told him about the statue," Vivienne lied with assumed contriteness.

"Can't we have a look at it? If Miss Gray doesn't mind," asked Burns.

Channing did some rapid thinking. He had no doubt that Vivi-enne's motive was something more than deviltry. Even at that, he was agreeable. He had the first porcelain copy of the little figure.
 Only he must warn her privately to be quiet about the murals. He meant to let out no hint of those until the canvases were in place on the new theatre's walls.

"Burns, console yourself with a drink while we get out the statue."
 Channing signed to Vivienne.

"Say, shouldn't we sort of stage this?" Burns' dramatic instinct had fostered an idea. "Suppose I prepare the audience for the big surprise."

"All right," Channing assented.
 You're elected official Barker."

Channing draped a black velvet cloth over a table and posed the statue on it.

"La-dies and gen-tlemen!" Burns voice was reminiscent of a circus ballyhoo. "You see before you, in the center of the arena, a large and commodious stage. Channing's model-dais had been pushed into the middle of the vacant dance floor.

"There, shortly, you will see a statue so marvelously life-like that you will not believe your eyes."
 "Everyone will have ample opportunity to witness this ravishing spectacle. Then, with a magic wave of my riding crop, I shall produce the original!"

Then the orchestra began and everyone watched expectantly as the servants carrying the table came in.

"Oh, isn't it simply exquisite!"
 One of the women at Allen's side voiced her admiration.

"Just look at the features—perfect!" Observing more closely, it dawned upon Allen that the statue was Vivienne.

Caught Him Squarely in the Face

Above the shout which greeted that, Vivienne heard Allen's cry as she came running toward her.

"Viv! You shan't! Do you hear me!" She leaped over the squirming men in her path, her arms outstretched in appeal.

For the fraction of an instant, Vivienne hesitated. She's never reach the fountain before Allen could stop her. Oh, darn it all!
 Why did Allen have to be a spoilsport? Well, she wasn't going to four-flush after they had dared her!

Quick as a sprite, her hands sought both doors. With all her strength she swung them. They closed with a bang just as Allen tripped—a—d crashed into the glass.

Philips Made B.C.D. Chairman

First Meeting of New Organization Is Held Thursday

Shine Philips, of the Cunningham & Phillips Drug Stores, was elected chairman of the Board of City Development at the initial meeting of the organization held in the county courtroom of the Howard county courthouse Thursday night.

Wm. F. Fahrnkamp, chief clerk to the master mechanic of the Texas & Pacific Railway, was named vice-chairman, and Mrs. W. A. Earnest, secretary.

A committee, composed of E. A. Kelley, Joe Kuykendall and C. T. Watson, was appointed to draft rules and regulations for the body.

The members of the board were appointed several weeks ago at a meeting of the city commission. It is considered a group representing practically all residential and business sections.

The next meeting will be held when called by the chairman.

E. Reagan and M. H. Morrison, after the close of the meeting, reported to Mayor J. B. Pickle and members of the commission, that it was the intention of the organization to "work in harmony and cooperate with the city commission in all matters."

The group pointed out that at all times the members "will be more than ready to aid the city commission in any matters that may be brought before us in community building."

The work of the body will be so arranged as to not conflict with plans of other organizations in Big Spring.

Fifteen Blocks of Paving Ordered By City Commissioners; Scurry and Gregg Street Sections Included

The city commission, in special session Thursday night, ordered fifteen blocks of paving on Scurry and Gregg Streets, after petitions asking for 28 blocks had been considered.

Petitions were presented by property owners of Eleventh Place, Johnson Street, Gregg Street and Scurry Streets asking for paving. The territory included in the petitions was one block on Johnson Street, connecting with Eleventh Place, with paving from that point to Washington place; from 1400 to the 2500 block on Scurry, and from 14th street to 10th street on Gregg. The commissioners passed an order providing for paving 10 blocks on Scurry Street and five blocks on Gregg.

Due to the fact that several major property owners on Eleventh Place, which is considered one of the most important residential arteries in the city, had not signed the petition, the commissioners passed the request until further arrangements.

It was the consensus that the commissioners did not care to insure more than $15,000 in warrants. It was estimated the 15 blocks ordered paved would consume this amount. The estimated total cost of the paving is $65,000, with the city bearing one-fourth and the property owners three-fourths of the cost.

According to the order passed Scurry Street will be 60 feet wide, and Gregg not less than 48 feet. The motion to order the streets paved was made by Commissioner Talbot and seconded by Commissioner Hinman. The vote was unanimous.

The city manager was authorized to have plans and specifications drawn, to arrange for arranging preliminary assessment of property, a hearing for property owners, and calling for bids on the contract. The commissioners declared at the Thursday night meeting that if it is found after the 15 blocks have been paved that property owners along other streets desire the paving, it will be necessary to order an election and pass a bond issue. Arrangements will be made whereby the contractor who obtains the work on the Scurry and Gregg Street projects can pave other streets at the same price if property owners are willing and the bonds passed.

According to V. R. Smitham, city manager, it will be 60 days before work on the two streets actually starts. A local labor clause will be included in the contract when it is awarded.

Reverend Bailey Principal Speaker At Luncheon

Endorsement of the work done by the State Highway Patrol in this section was given today by members of the Lions club, at the regular luncheon held at the Settles Hotel.

The valuable work done by the motorcycle officers along the various highways in this section was discussed by Cecil C. Collings and Tracy T. Smith. A committee consisting of Collings, Smith and Dr. C. K. Bivings was appointed to draw up written resolutions commending the work of the local officer. The endorsement will be forwarded to the state offices of the organization.

It is probable, it was announced, that additional members of the patrol will be authorized.

The Rev. W. G. Bailey, pastor of the First Methodist church, was the principal speaker to today's luncheon. He took as his subject, "Depression." He urged members of the club to "accept this thing with a smile of diplomacy rather than one of hypocrisy."

Cosden Official Squashes 'Gossip' About Free Fuel

V. R. Smitham, city manager, and C. T. Watson, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, said Saturday that "gossip" reported to have started from sources that could not be traced in which they have been accused of protesting to the Cosden Oil company for its free distribution of fuel to needy people, was absolutely untrue and unfounded.

Several days ago the Cosden company, through the local press, announced it had thousands of pounds of coke, formed as residue in the refining process, that made good fuel. The company offered this free to anyone unable to purchase fuel, who would haul it away.

E. J. Mary, Cosden superintendent, reported Saturday that although more than 500 loads had been given away and 1,000 loads remained near the refinery, no person had asked him not to give the fuel away to needy people.

The "report," "blaming" Smitham and Watson with asking the company not to give the fuel away was unfounded, he said, because either those men or any other person had said anything to him "at smacked of" protest.

On the other hand, he said, many people had complained of the company's offer to those in need of fuel.

The only ones who have been refused any of this fuel have been a few whom the company officials knew were able to buy fuel and a few others who, it was learned, were hauling it away and selling it.

"We offered to give this material away to needy people only and that's what we are doing. We are not giving it to people who are able to buy fuel."

Mrs. Watson added that although Mr. Watson and Mr. Smitham had not asked him to do so, he wished to brand as unfounded any report that they had asked him not to give the fuel away.

Smitham and Watson said that, instead of entering a protest against free distribution of fuel to those in need, they were heartily in accord with it, and to see every family needing it procure it and felt the Cosden company ought to be commended for offering it.

Phillips Five Defeat Canyon

CANYON, Texas, Jan. 17 (AP)—In the greatest cage game ever in West Texas the powerful Phillips "66" quintet of Bartelville, Oklahoma, nosed out the West Texas Teachers, 30 to 28. The Phillips team, third place winners in the national amateur tournament last year, ran into the toughest competition of an extended road trip and the Buffs played every bit as great a game as did the winners.

The Phillips team, composed of several All-America players, came from behind to win the contest with a rally in the last half featuring the work of Tex Gibbons, Stratford, who scored eight points in the final period. Gibbons shared high point honors for the night with Fortenberry, six feet, six inch Buffalo center with 10 counters each.

There may be a shortage of food, or rather a shortage of money with which to purchase a food, but to a number of Howard county women it doesn't mean anything. They just open another can.

According to Mrs. Leucille Alltough, county home demonstration agent, 11 1/2 carts of meat, vegetables and fruit were canned and preserved in this county last year by club women. The value of the foodstuff is placed at $6,039.50.

In addition to the canning work, 869 pounds of vegetables were dried and cured during the year. The value is placed at $108.36.

Worth $3,339, 22,660 pounds of meat were cured during the past twelve months. The report covers the work of 81 women, including eleven demonstrators and 70 cooperators.

In addition to this work, eleven women provided storage space, and 19 assembled recipe files, in an effort to increase efficiency of organization. Among the outstanding demonstrators of the year were Mrs. Roy I. Eckhart, Luther; Mrs. J. W. Wooten, Fairview; Mrs. W. J. Williams, Lomax; Mrs. J. W. Smith, Highway; Mrs. Leese Adams, Soash; Mrs. Wylie Davis, R-Bar.

Work of Hutto, Phillips and Flowers Stands Out As Eastland Cagers Prove Poor Competition for Local Loopers

BY BOBBY CAMPBELL. The Big Spring Steers had a Stag party Friday and Saturday nights. The Warner Memorial University quintet of Eastland were the hosts. The Big Spring Bovines were the guests.

In two listless affairs Bill Stevens' charges swept through the Eastland aggregation, winning easily Friday night 40 to 22, and again Saturday night 40 to 24.

Two big evenings were in store for Tommy Hutto, the crack Steer forward. He won high score prize both evenings registering 18 points in each conflict.

In the Friday night affair, Parker, Warner, forward, and Mopper, Steer forward, tied for second place with eight points each. Saturday night that fellow Parker furnished the thrills of the evening with his long, his unexpected, his unannounced tosses of the orbit. He registered thirteen points to fall five beneath Hutto, Cecil Reed, elongated sub center of the Bovine boys, clicked off 10 points during the entertainment to take the third position.

Neither of the tilts were anything for the record book. Warner was outclassed, and out passed. The first string Steers proved too tough, and the second crew was a mass by any means, although Warner did show up a bit better in the pinches.

Some Figures To give a rather jumbled ideal of how the Steers advanced, rapid in conquering the invading Eastland contingent, the score by quarters Friday night were: first quarter, 11-3; Big Spring; second, 15-7; Big Spring; third, 25-13; Big Spring; final, 40-22; Big Spring.

Saturday night the quarterly results were: first quarter, 11-3; Big Spring; second, 19-11; Big Spring; third, 33-16; Big Spring; final, 49-24.

And there, in a peevish lament, is the story of how the Steers ran roughshod over the Eastland countians.

The game was featured by Steer stalling, and Warner Stags letting them stall. In each of the tilts the roughhouse sparring was resorted to. In the Friday night affair, the Stags fought it for awhile, soon flopping to the hardwood resting place to allow the Steers to continue. Saturday night they didn't fight it. They just let the Steers hold the ball or pass it at their will.

Only a handful of fans witnessed the Saturday night contest. Bill Flowers and Ted Phillips, two of the best high school guards in Texas, turned in stellar games in the two tilts. Saturday night Phillips contented himself with shooting the far and high loops—and making them—in addition to his usual crack game at guard.

In each of the tilts, Stevens used his reserves frequently. Morgan, Rockhold, Reid, Woods and Stampfl were in the games each evening. Warner never did seriously threaten to do anything much besides drop a long one through the iron loop at rather long intervals.

The two victors gave the Steers a record of seven straight victories this year.

HORNETS BEAT STAGS

The Lomax Hornets, the cream of the rural basketball teams, defeated the Warner Memorial University cagers here Saturday afternoon, 25-19.

The fray marked the third loss over the week-end by the Stags, they having been defeated by the high school quintet in two tilts.

Phillips Five Defeat Canyon

CANYON, Texas, Jan. 17 (AP)—In the greatest cage game ever in West Texas the powerful Phillips "66" quintet of Bartelville, Oklahoma, nosed out the West Texas Teachers, 30 to 28.

The Phillips team, third place winners in the national amateur tournament last year, ran into the toughest competition of an extended road trip and the Buffs played every bit as great a game as did the winners.

The Phillips team, composed of several All-America players, came from behind to win the contest with a rally in the last half featuring the work of Tex Gibbons, Stratford, who scored eight points in the final period. Gibbons shared high point honors for the night with Fortenberry, six feet, six inch Buffalo center with 10 counters each.

There may be a shortage of food, or rather a shortage of money with which to purchase a food, but to a number of Howard county women it doesn't mean anything. They just open another can.

Smith, Highway; Mrs. Leese Adams, Soash; Mrs. Wylie Davis, R-Bar.

Road Bond Vote Is Set For February 2

Former Plan Followed In Court Order

$900,000 Issue Would Finance Both State Highways

NO. 4 IS INCLUDED $200,000 Set Aside For Two Roads In Precinct

Voters of Howard county, for the second time in two months, will go to the polls Saturday, February 21, to accept or reject a $900,000 road bond issue.

The election was ordered Saturday afternoon by the county commissioners after seven petitions, bearing a total of 371 signatures had been presented by M. H. Morrison, local attorney.

The proposed bond issue is identical with the one which was defeated December 23 by the slender margin of 24 votes.

It calls for bonds in the amount of $900,000 to be issued, bearing interest at a rate not to exceed five and one-half per cent, and maturing at such a time as may be fixed by the commissioners' court, not to exceed thirty years from date.

The money would be used for constructing highways and lateral roads in this county.

The plan of spending $700,000 on state highways 9 and 1, and $200,000 for construction of paved roads in Precinct No. 4, on the Vincent-Coshana, and Big Spring-Gall routes, will be followed, according to the commissioners. Petitions were put into circulation last Wednesday. A number were distributed here, with some going into the rural communities.

When the issue was placed before the people in December, a heavy vote against it was received in the rural boxes, while an opposite vote in the city favored the issue. The southern part of the county voted in favor of the bonds.

Government Purchase Of Wheat To Stabilize Price 'Bad Dope,' Says Rogers

Well all I know is just what I read in the press. Course those five hundred that came in out of the woods down in Arkansas and demanded food for their families that was a real sensation. It caused more than any one item that had appeared in long time. Now those folks down there who was hungry or they wouldn't have come in and asked for food for their families, and you don't believe in accepting charity.

Plenty of Wheat In Oklahoma

Well the Government would up and voted $15,000,000 for food right away. At first the Government said they would try and provide money to get the Farmers some seed for their next crops, but that they wouldn't give them money for food as that would be too much like the "Dole" that the thing they do in England when you want get work they give you a certain weekly allowance, and it called the "Dole." Course everybody over there says it hasn't worked out, and that it was a mistake to start it. But I guess the ones that have been receiving it and buying their bread, don't think that it is such a terrible blunder, so that the way it is, it sorter depends on which side of the fence you are on.

If you live under a Government and it don't provide some means of you getting work when you really want it and will do it, why then there is something wrong. You can't just let the people starve, so if you don't give em work, and you don't give em food, or money to buy it, why what are they to do? What is the matter with our Country anyhow? With all our brains in high positions, and all our boasted organizations, thousands of our folks are starving, or on the verge of it. Millions of bushels of wheat are in Granaries at the lowest price in twenty years. Why can't there be some means of at least giving everybody all the bread they want ed anyhow.

Here they are starving in Arkansas and in our adjoining State of Oklahoma they are feeding their wheat to the stock to try and get rid of it.

Oh, there was never such an over-production of oil in the World, and yet Gasoline was never much higher. But there you have a business that is in the hands of a few men, and they see that the price is kept up. Its not regulated by supply and demand its regulated by manipulation. If the Farmer had a Rockefeller among them, you wouldn't see them pulling off a hundred different ways, and no two agreeing on what to do.

Now this Farm board I been reading all I can about em, on both sides, and Lord knows there is sure two sides. If ever a Gang of fellows that are, (we all know trying to do some good) ever kicked up a dust in them. Now take Mr. Coolidge for instance he had always kinder kept his typewriter out of the government affairs. He had always stuck pretty well to writing on the merits of the ten Commandments, and the Merits of "Hard work, perseverance, and taking care of your Opportunities." But even he said that the Government is going in and buying wheat to try and stabilize the Market was bad dope. Well that is about the first flat footed statement that he has come out on since he advised everybody to advertise. But on the other hand Mr. Hoover put some mighty fine men on that Farm Board, and I don't seem hardly that they could all be so terribly wrong. But its like arguing the tariff, no two can agree on just where it should start or stop.

But the main thing is we just ain't doing something right, we are on the wrong track somewhere, we shouldn't be giving people money, and them not do anything for it, no matter what you had to hand out for necessities, the receiver should give some kind of work in return. Cause he has to eat just the same when he is laying off as when he is working. So every City or every State should give work of some kind at a livable wage so that no one would be in actual want. Of course it would cost the Taxpayers more money, but if you are making it, and all your fellow men are not why you shouldn't mind paying a good slice of it for the less fortunate. Course the big mans argument, and all the heavy Taxpayers alabi is that when you take too big a slice from a mans tax, he takes that much more out of his investments and might cut down on money being out into enterprises. But it didnt work that way after the war, and during it why income taxes run as high as seventy percent on every dollar earned, and yet there was more money being made and put into things than there is now.

If your Income Taxes go to help out the less fortunate, there could be no legitimate kick against it in the world. This is becoming the richest, and the poorest Country in the world. Why? Why, on account of an unequal distribution of the money.

How can you equalize it, by putting a higher surtax on large incomes, and that money goes to provide some public work, at a livable wage. I dont mean a wage that is maintained in other lines. I mean a wage is provided for the unemployed. That is if you could in no way find a job, you could go to some State or National, or City or Country Public work that would give you say four hours a day work, instead of the usual eight. You wouldn't be accepting Charity. But you would be doing honest work for it, until you could get employment in some line that was not public work, and at a regular wage. It wouldn't cheapen labor. I would only cheapen Public works, the thing that belongs to all the people, and the thing they would like to have cheapened. But it would be an incentive against not having anything to do.

There is nothing that makes a man feel better than to know that no matter how bad things break he has something to fall back on, that he can make a living out of. It would be a glorified Community Chest idea, only instead of it being doled out to you as Charity you would work for it. There would never be any real Unemployed. This so-called unemployed would be working for the State of Government a guaranteed number of hours each week, at a living wage. Now that we got that settled all we have to do is get by Congress, and see if the Republicans will vote a higher Income tax that would work for it. There would be a great plan, but it will DAM sure beat the one we got now.

If You Have "Menu-itis", Just Try This Easy Cure

By JOSEPHINE B. GIBSON
If "menu-itis" could be classified as a dangerous affliction, almost every woman would find her name enrolled on some hospital list.

The first symptom, usually, is a feeling that one cannot—simply cannot—plan another dinner! Ever! And matters soon progress steadily from this point until the complaint becomes chronic, and the whole family is involved in the suffering.

Of course, no two persons will arrange a menu in quite the same way. The best method for obtaining needed relief from this daily task of meal-planning is to allow someone else to furnish occasional suggestions. I am sure you will find the menu printed below is a welcomed, practical idea. Try it for dinner tonight!

Deviled Ham Loaf
Succotash of Corn and Kidney Beans: 2 cups fresh corn cut from cob; 1 medium can oven baked red kidney beans; 1 green pepper, minced fine; 1-2 teaspoon. salt; egg, slightly beaten; grated cheese; buttered crumbs.

Chocolate Wafer Dessert
Small open sandwiches, often called "canapes," make excellent appetizers. They should be ready on small serving plates at each place when dinner is announced. The following simple appetizers are made from foods that you more than likely have on hand:

Olives and Hard Cooked Egg Appetizers
Cut rounds of bread, and toast on one side only. Butter the un-toasted side and spread with a layer of thinly sliced stuffed Spanish olives. Then cover with a generous layer of chopped hard cooked eggs, moistened with mayonnaise salad dressing. Sprinkle with egg yolks that have been forced through a sieve and on the center of each, place a slice of the olive.

Deviled Ham Loaf: 1 lb. raw ham and 1-2 lb. fresh pork, ground together; 2 beaten eggs; 1-2 cup tomato ketchup; 1 teaspoon prepared mustard; 2 cups Rice Flakes; 1-1/2 teaspoons evaporated horseradish; 4 tablespoons green pepper, chopped; 2 small onions, chopped.

Combine ham and pork, egg, tomato ketchup, prepared mustard, rice flakes, and horseradish, which has been soaked for 10 minutes in 2 tablespoons cold water. Fry green pepper and onions in a skillet with butter until they are tender, but not brown, and add to the meat mixture. Form into a loaf and bake in a moderate oven—350 degrees F.—for about one hour.

Succotash of Corn and Kidney Beans: 2 cups fresh corn cut from cob; 1 medium can oven baked red kidney beans; 1 green pepper, minced fine; 1-2 teaspoon. salt; egg, slightly beaten; grated cheese; buttered crumbs.

Mix corn with kidney beans, and add green pepper, salt and egg. Pour into a buttered baking dish, sprinkle with grated cheese and buttered crumbs, and bake in a moderate oven for 30 to 45 minutes.

Chocolate Wafer Dessert: Use a package of very crisp chocolate wafers, which may be purchased in almost any grocery. Whip 1-2 pint cream, add 2 tablespoons sugar, and 1-2 teaspoon vanilla. Put the wafers together with a thin layer of whipped cream to form a cylinder. Then coat the outside thinly with whipped cream. Allow to stand in the ice box (not in the freezing compartment) for two or three hours, and cut in diagonal slices.

FATHER OF GIRL RECENTLY FOUND DEAD IN PORT ARTHUR KILLS MAN HELD BY LAD TO HAVE ESTRANGED HER
PORT ARTHUR, Texas, Jan. 17 (AP)—Three weeks to the day after his 17-year-old daughter was found mysteriously shot to death in a motor car parked in front of the First Methodist Church, South here, A. B. Johnson tonight shot and killed O. L. Adams, 22.

Robert L. Williams of Austin, Texas, sophomore in the University of Texas, was charged in connection with the death of Elizabeth Johnson but the grand jury declined to indict him and he was released. Williams claimed he left Miss Johnson in the motor car while he went into the church to obtain counsel from the minister because of a love spat with the young girl, to whom he was engaged to be married.

Williams stated a married man had come between him and Miss Johnson and it was understood he had named Adams as the man. Adams was estranged from his wife and tonight was the eve of an attempt at a reconciliation. He was shot down as he leaned over a counter in the M-C cleaning shop in the act of delivering a suit of clothes to be pressed preparatory to visiting Vinton, La., tomorrow to see his wife, Mrs. May Ratcliff Adams, daughter of J. E. Ratcliff, reputedly wealthy. Adams and his wife had been separated ten months.

One Shot
Johnson fired one shot from a long barreled .44 calibre pistol, the bullet penetrating the heart in passing through the chest. Johnson immediately surrendered himself and quickly was released on $10,000 bail bond.

The only statement Johnson would make during the brief time he was held in custody was that he had done the shooting of Adams and wanted O. L. Brown, Port Arthur city detective to investigate and see whether he had done "a good job."

"It's nobody's business," he replied to question as to a motive for the slaying.

Johnson is a foreman in the Gulf Refinery here.

His youthful victim was said to be a former medical student at New Orleans and had been an assistant in the Gulf company's medical department at Port Arthur.

Unsolvable
Elizabeth Johnson was killed by a bullet from a .22 calibre rifle, Williams said he had cut down nearly to pistol size in Austin and had taken to Port Arthur to use in shooting himself in the hand to prove his love for the young Sunday School worker and high school student.

Funeral services will be held in Fort Worth tomorrow.

Williams' father is presiding elder

Section 2. By the term "homogenization" or "emulsification" is meant falsification of the cream layer or any mechanical process or treatment enlarging the showing of cream in the bottle or container and making the volume of fatty substance or cream appear greater than the normal showing or actual condition.

Section 3. Nothing in the above section shall be construed to prevent preparation or sale of recombinated milk where said recombinated milk has been properly prepared and labeled as such. Section 5. The fact that certain milk distributors are selling milk within the City of Big Spring, Texas, which has been put through a process to make the cream content appear much larger than it is in fact, thus deceiving the public, creates and is hereby declared to be an emergency necessitating the suspension of the rule requiring ordinances to be read at three separate meetings before passage, and such rule is hereby suspended, and this ordinance shall become effective from and after passage and approval and publication as required by law.

The Sooners led 19-16 at the half, and battled the visitors on even terms until Captain Lorry Meyer, guard, was removed from the game on personal fouls.

At this point, Fletcher, giant Husker center, and Flash, forward, went on a scoring spree, to bury the Sooners.

Andy Beck, Sophomore sooney, who was shifted from guard to forward, led the scoring with 15 points.

Rural Districts To Get At Rogers Fund

Sale of tickets in Big Spring to Will Rogers' performance in Abilene Tuesday, January 27 at 2:30 p. m., started Monday.

Decision was reached to devote all money raised for Howard county to the aid of needy people living outside the city of Big Spring.

Solicitation among local people will be carried on from now until Friday evening by a committee headed by Shilse Phillips, with Mrs. Nell Hatch and others, when they will enlist to aid, also serving.

Distribution of the money thus raised will be made by a committee of nine composed of representatives from various rural communities.

In most counties where tickets to the Abilene program are being sold the fund will be divided 50-50, or 75-25 between the city rural needy folks.

But every cent raised through purchase of tickets in Big Spring will be used outside the city in Howard county.

Plans had been to turn half the Howard county share of the fund over to the Community Chest and use half outside the city.

Chest Favors Plan

Monday morning Wendell Bedichek, the Howard county chairman appointed last week by the general committee in Abilene, after conferring with Carl S. Blomshield, general chairman of the Community Chest, and several other local business men, announced the change in method of disbursing the fund.

Mr. Blomshield pointed out that the Community Chest was formed to raise and distribute funds to support activities of the Red Cross, Salvation Army, Boy Scouts and charity within the city. However, numerous requests for aid are coming to him from other places.

It was decided, therefore, that the money raised through Will Rogers' ticket sales would be going into a very worthy cause if used outside of town, and would also relieve the Community Chest committee to some extent, of an unexpected demand for help from people outside of the city.

First ticket sale reported was that of a $10 ticket to C. W. Mitchell, proprietor of the State Hotel, who called at the Chamber of Commerce and left that sum. It was not a sale, exactly, but a voluntary answer to the appeal issued in the local press late last week.

Mr. Mitchell will not receive a regular coupon ticket. He will be presented an engraved card, suitable for framing, bearing Will Rogers' picture. Mr. Mitchell's name and a few words of gratitude.

For it was announced from Abilene Monday that all buyers of $25 and $10 seats will be presented with such cards.

Where to Buy

Tickets were on sale here Monday, and will continue on sale through Friday at the following places:

Cosden Refinery offices.
Settles hotel.
Douglass hotel.
Crawford hotel.
Crescent drug store.
J. D. Biles pharmacy.
Texas Electric Service company offices.
Collins' Bros. drug stores Nos. 1, 2 and 3.
W. B. Ballard drug store.
Cunningham & Phillips drug stores Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 4.
Big Spring Herald office.

Here is the procedure by which ticket sales are being handled: Those wishing tickets should call at either of the above places and pay for their tickets. They will be given receipts and their names taken. Ticket sales will close Friday evening. The local chairman then will wire Abilene giving the exact number and class of tickets sold here. The ticket coupons then will be rushed here, Saturday, Sunday and Monday those holding receipts for money given for tickets will call at the places where they bought them and receive the tickets. Tickets are not being sent now by the general committee because by waiting until sales have been closed in each town it can be determined exactly how many and what priced tickets are needed in each town. In this way having ticket left over in any town the day of the program, thus tending to prevent their sale at all, will be prevented.

WILL ROGERS INFORMATION

TIME: 2:30 p. m. Tuesday, January 27.
PLACE: Simmons U. auditorium, Abilene.
GENERAL PURPOSE: To aid needy people in 12 West Texas counties.
LOCAL PURPOSE: To aid residents of Howard county living outside Big Spring.
PRICES: $1, $2.50, $5, $10, $25.
Will Rogers started the campaign by wiring friends in Texas, telling them he wanted to donate his time to aid needy people. He is paying all his own expenses.
Every cent paid by a Howard county resident for tickets to Rogers' Abilene performance will be sent back to Big Spring and spent among people living outside the city in the county.
Ticket sales were started Monday in county seats of 11 counties outside Taylor, where an effort is being made to sell 50 per cent of all tickets.
Reason for choosing Abilene, San Angelo, Breckenridge and Wichita Falls as West Texas sites for these benefit addresses by Rogers is that they have auditoriums large enough to house a crowd that can raise good-sized sums.

Hoover Sends Report to Congress With Qualified Praise of Plan Looking To Possible Amendment Revision

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20. (AP)—President Hoover sent to congress today with qualified praise a report from the Wickersham commission which declared against repeal of the eighteenth amendment but put forward a plan for its possible revision.

The President said he concurred in the commission's finding that the amendment should stay, and did not recommend any present effort to amend it.

He made no direct reference to the fact that six of the eleven commissioners asked for repeal or modification, or to the declaration of the whole commission that a revision of the clause giving concurrent power to the state and nation would be wise.

Not convinced that prohibition under the eighteenth amendment is unenforceable and believe that a further trial should be made with the help of the recommended improvements, and that if after such trial effective enforcement is not secured, there should be a revision of the amendment. Others of the commission are convinced that prohibition under the eighteenth amendment is unenforceable and that the amendment should be immediately revised, but recognizing that the process of amendment will require some time, they unite in the recommendations of conclusion No. 9 for the improvement of the enforcement agencies.

Agree

"1. All the commission agree that if the amendment is revised it should be made to read substantially as follows:

"Section 1. The congress shall have power to regulate or prohibit the manufacture, traffic in or transportation of intoxicating liquors within, the importation thereof into and the exportation thereof from the United States and all territory subject to the jurisdiction thereof for beverage purposes.

"2. The recommendations referred to in conclusion number 9 are:

"1. Removal of the causes of irritation and resentment on the part of the medical profession by the prohibition act, as to side and fruit juices by making some uniform provision for a fixed alcoholic content.

"2. Increase of the number of agents, storekeeper-gaugers, prohibition investigators, and special agents; increase in the personnel of the customs bureau and in the equipment of all enforcement organizations.

"3. Enactment of a statute authorizing regulations permitting access to the premises and records of wholesale and retail dealers so as to make it possible to trace products of specially denatured alcohol to the ultimate consumer.

"4. Enactment of legislation to prohibit independent denaturing plants.

"5. The commission is opposed to legislation allowing more latitude for federal searches and seizures.

"6. The commission renews the recommendation contained in its previous report for codification of the national prohibition act and the acts supplemental to it, and in amendment thereof.

"7. The commission renews its recommendation of legislation for making procedure in the so-called padlock injunction cases more effective.

"8. The commission recommends legislation providing a mode of enforcement of petty offenses in the federal courts and modifying the increased penalties act of 1923, as set forth in the chairman's letter to the attorney general dated May 23, 1930, H. R. Rep. 1699.

"9. There are differences of view among the members of the commission as to certain of the conclusions stated and as to some matters included in or omitted from this report. The report is signed subject to individual reservation of the right to express these individual views in separate or supplemental reports to be annexed hereto.

Mr. Hoover described the report as "a temperate and judicial presentation." He emphasized its recommendations for better enforcement, and said he hoped the lawmakers would give them consideration at an appropriate time.

"My own duty and that of all executive officials is clear," he said, "to enforce the law with all the means at our disposal without equivocation or reservation."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20. (AP)—The law enforcement commission summarized its prohibition report as follows:

Conclusions and recommendations "in the report on the enforcement of the prohibition laws of the United States.

"1. The commission is opposed to repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

"2. The commission is opposed to the restoration in any manner of the legalized saloon.

"3. The commission is opposed to the federal or state governments, as such, going into the liquor business.

"4. The commission is opposed to the proposal to modify the national prohibition act so as to permit manufacture and sale of liquors or beer.

"5. The commission is of opinion that the cooperation of the states is an essential element of the enforcement of the eighteenth amendment and the national prohibition act throughout the territory of the United States; that the support of public opinion in the several states is necessary in order to insure such cooperation.

"6. The commission is of the opinion that prior to the enactment of the bureau of prohibition act, 1927, the agencies for enforcement were badly organized and inadequate; that subsequent to that enactment there has been continued improvement in organization and effort for enforcement.

Not Adequate

"7. The commission is of the opinion that there is yet no adequate observance or enforcement.

Large Crowd Gathers For Ceremonies

Dan Moody Says Farewell And Introduces Successor

WITT IS SWORN IN

Retiring Governor Introduced By Speaker of House

AUSTIN, Jan. 20. (AP)—Before thousands of admirers who stood under a pleasant sun, Ross S. Sterling of Houston today was inaugurated governor of Texas.

The oath of office first was administered to Edgar A. Witt, incoming lieutenant governor.

All troops stationed in Austin, augmented by the state highway patrol, Austin police and firemen state rangers and a force of deputy sheriffs were pressed into action to police the crowd.

Three bands of uniform, the Arabia Tem in Shrine band of Houston, the Texas A. and M. college band, and the University of Texas band were massed in front of the crude plank platform on which Mr. Sterling accepted the oath of office.

The platform was built in front of the south entrance of the capitol, where Governor Moody was inaugurated four years ago. The crowd extended half way to the south limit of the capitol grounds.

The ceremonies were broadcast by radio stations KPRC of Houston, KFDM of Beaumont and WFAA of Dallas. Motion picture and newspaper photographers were active.

W. S. Lockhart, pastor of the South End in Shrine church of Houston, prayed that "may this beautiful day be prophetic of the new administration."

Fred Minor, speaker of the house of representatives, introduced retiring Governor Dan Moody as a man who "lays down the office without the slightest blemish or shame."

Former Governor Sterling in turn introduced Governor Witt, his successor. They exchanged felicitations.

As Sterling finished repeating the oath, a governor's salute of seven guns was boomed from a cannon on capitol hill.

Mr. Witt delivered his inaugural address in a strong, clear voice. He was applauded several times during the address, especially when he mentioned tax reforms to lift the burden from small home owners and when he declared "building Texas" was the prime function of the legislature and his administration.

Introducing Governor Moody, Speaker Witt pointed to Moody's record as attorney-general and governor. He said the "boy governor" had set a high standard for his successors to shoot at and that he had maintained the respect and integrity of the office through his administration.

"He goes out with the hearty good wishes of the multitudes of Texas," he said, "and followed the principle of honesty in the administration of public affairs. He lays down the mantle of governor without the slightest blemish or stain," Minor said.

WITT'S SPEECH

AUSTIN, Jan. 20. (AP)—Lieut. Gov. Edgar A. Witt today took the oath of office in the capitol building under circumstances and with opportunities never before accorded a Texas legislative assembly.

The people of Texas, he said, by the adoption of the constitutional amendments governing legislative procedure, have placed a confidence in this legislature and a responsibility upon it that challenges its best thought and its highest patriotism.

Witt said he wished to pledge his every effort to Governor Ross S. Sterling to bring about such cooperation of the legislature with him as will give the people of Texas a constructive, efficient and harmonious administration of the state's affairs.

The occasion of his speech was the inauguration of Ross S. Sterling as governor and himself as lieutenant governor.

"I want to congratulate the members of the house and the senate on the decision far shown to attend to the state's business in a business-like manner, without any indication of the playing of any personal politics, to the detriment of the state's interest," Witt said.

The speaker lauded the work performed by retiring Lieut. Gov. Harry Miller.

In closing Lieut. Gov. Witt said: "To the legislature of Texas, to the people of Texas, I pledge my best efforts to the end that there shall be more business and less politics in government."

Ladies and Gentlemen:

This is a great honor that has been bestowed upon me—the supreme honor of my life. I am profoundly grateful for it and shall strive with all my power to be worthy of it and to reflect credit upon my state and the people who entrusted this great office to me.

But I am not concerned about the honor so much as I am about the responsibility of the chief executive. It is a tremendous task, and I approach it with deep humility, but not with fear or trembling. A high mark of ability and courage has been set for me to shoot at by our retiring governor.

What is this big job of ours? It is the business of government, which the people have entrusted to us to carry on. Primarily, of course, it is to keep things going so the people will have protection, schools, tribunals of justice, roads and so on, but the job means far more than that.

I think the most important function of this government is to build Texas. Build it industrially, economically, physically, mentally, socially and spiritually. If we cease building, we suffer and die; if we continue, we have prosperity and happiness. Happiness is the ultimate goal of all and the only true happiness lies in development—progress.

How build?

First, through agriculture, which we call the backbone of civilization. Farm relief by legislation seems a difficult undertaking. I think we can best relieve the Texas farmer and stockman by relieving his terrible tax burden; by encouraging him to raise his own feed and food and "live at home"; by giving him the best possible educational advantages for his children, so that they may learn how to live and how to farm; by promoting the conservation and reclamation of soil; and by improving in every possible way the marketing end of his industry.

Thus can Texas be made a greater agricultural state, and thus will her vast undeveloped lands be settled and cultivated, supplying food and other commodities to the markets of the world, and wealth to her own citizens.

Next in importance, perhaps, are the mineral resources of Texas. During the present century, the gushers of liquid gold that have been struck from the ground by the drill bits of men have provided one of the state's chief sources of wealth. Sulphur has provided millions of dollars and there are other minerals, some of which have scarcely been touched. They should be conserved and their development encouraged; though at the same time, they should be required to contribute a fair share toward the support of the government that protects and nurtures them.

Waterways

In our waterways, Texas has resources as yet undreamed of in value. Some of our seaports have been deepened and developed, and are doing a rapidly increasing business. Others may be opened in the future. The inland waterways, the Intra-coastal Canal some day will be a great artery of commerce, and the Brazos, the Colorado, the Trinity and other Texas rivers are waiting to be harnessed for power, irrigation, navigation and municipal use.

Texas is beginning to awaken industrially, and a great thing this is for Texas, for the state is the greater factor in the upbuilding of industry. Industrial development must come in hand with other lines of development, such as good roads, waterways, fuel and power. These advantages Texas is offering in increasing measure; plus good climate, good labor, and good raw materials of various kinds. In order to further encourage industry here, we must not so restrict its operations as to repel newcomers. Some of our laws tend to do that, as well as to discourage and keep out capital. Likewise, we should make our laws fair to labor in every way.

When I speak of not restricting industry or capital too much, I do not mean to suggest that our anti-trust laws be relaxed. They should be strengthened, if anything, and all due regulation should be maintained. But in some respects there is too much government in business, too much regulation and restriction for the state's own good.

Good Roads

I mentioned good roads as a factor in industrial development. I believe that good roads are the most potent single factor in the forward march of the state generally, and that the growth of Texas will be pretty much in proportion to the growth of the Texas highway system. North Carolina, as well as other states, has demonstrated the value of highways. By completing her road system, she has transformed herself from one of the most backward states of the Union into one of the leading states in industry and wealth. Governor Neff once said, "We shall go by way of the highway." He was right; that is the route that state progress will take, and the better the highway, the swifter will be the progress.

Building Texas requires constant development of educational advantages, adequate to attract and hold, rather than repel, settlers. The state's laws must be enforced and its justice reinforced and accelerated. We must not have a state known as one where human life is cheap, and where the safety of person and property is doubtful.

We must take care of our convalescing tuberculars and other unfortunate public charges in such way as not to bring reproach. We need parks, state and county, for the recreation of our people, and to attract visitors here from other states. Texas has natural scenery whose charm compares favorably with that of Colorado, California and Wyoming. It is potentially a great asset, economically as well as otherwise.

Tax Relief

I mentioned tax relief as a means to farm relief. Equalization of our system of taxation would also afford sorely needed relief to others besides the farmer. As a friend declared to me recently, taxes are eating the heart out of the people. The tax burden is a serious handicap to full and wholesome state development. Home ownership is the cornerstone of good government and state progress, and the present tax load is discouraging home ownership as well as farm and ranch ownership. Some are paying more than their shares of taxes, while some others, usually more able to pay, are not paying their full share. Texas will suffer serious consequences if the spread in tax rates made more even, and I am gratified that there seems to be such a determined demand throughout the state of equalization.

One good medicine for tax bills is economy in government. I hope it will be administered in generous doses during the next two years. Aside from the economy of frugality in state expenditures, an efficient office, there is a very real field for economy in legislation.

In the haste and confusion of "twelve-kind under the old plan of two months' regular session and emergency special session, it was natural and inevitable that a bill would be passed now and then without full consideration of all its consequences. Some of these measures have proved costly to the state and its people in dollars and cents and otherwise. Several have been called to my attention recently.

Opportunity

With one full month in which to introduce bills, a month to take them up in committee, and two full months for action on passage, the 42nd legislature has an unprecedented opportunity to deliberate upon bills from every angle. I anticipate that the laws to be brought forth by this assembly will have money rather than lose it, strengthen the government rather than weaken and confuse it, and advance the welfare of the state rather than retard it.

I have recited these directions and landmarks of the route that leads to a greater and better Texas, so that we might remind ourselves of them and get our bearings anew as we start out upon this two-year journey of government. Texas has a glorious past, and a more glorious future. When the fathers founded Texas, a century ago, it was a diamond in the rough. They hewed out its shape, performing a magnificent feat, considering their crude meager tools. Now, with our modern instruments, we have the task of polishing the facets and finishing the gem. It will never be entirely finished, but every constructive stroke we apply brings it nearer to perfection.

Let me say in conclusion that I welcome the opportunity to work hand in hand with each and every member of this joint assembly for the advancement of good government, for the building up of the Lone Star State, for the fulfillment of her great destiny, and for the increased happiness of her people.

State-Wide Bond Plan Is Introduced

200 Million Dollar Proposal In Resolutions And Bill

WOULD STOP AID

Cotton Acreage Reduction Measure Introduced

AUSTIN, Jan. 19. (AP)—The $200,000,000 statewide highway bond issue proposal hit the senate today in the form of two resolutions and one bill.

Resolutions drawn by Senators Walter Woodul of Houston and W. A. Williamson asked that the constitution be amended to allow the levying of taxes by the state for state highway purposes and to permit the extension of credit of the state. The proposal would also reimburse the counties and districts for money expended by them in building and maintaining state designated highways.

The bill which was introduced in connection with the resolutions would do away with county aid in highway building and lift burdens of road building from counties.

The resolution carried provisions for retiring $90,000,000 in bonded indebtedness in the counties and would take the state's remainder of the $110,000,000 for construction not more than $20,000,000 could be spent in any one year.

Real property would never be taxed to pay off these bonds, Senator Woodul said.

The state highway bond proposal was in the platform of Ross S. Sterling, who becomes governor tomorrow.

Such a proposal two years ago precipitated a long hard fight, before being defeated by a few votes. Another intense battle was predicted for this year.

Legislation designed to head off the issue has been projected. One resolution would take the state schools share of the state gasoline tax and turn it to the highway funds. A like amount for the schools would be obtained from a state income tax.

AUSTIN, Jan. 19. (AP)—Introduction of the cotton acreage reduction bill and adoption of a resolution calling on congress to aid in construction of a dam across the Red River at Denison were the major accomplishments of the house of the Texas legislature today.

The house adjourned until tomorrow in commemoration of the birth of Robert E. Lee, Confederate commander in chief.

Squabbling over the amount of contingent expense money to be allowed members occupied most of the time. A resolution allowing members $50 for stamps and $30 for telephone and telegraph tolls was finally adopted.

The cotton acreage reduction bill, introduced as a soil and water conservation measure, was signed by J. J. Olsen of Yoakum, Coke Stevenson of Junction, and several others. That it would encounter serious opposition was seen when several members declined to sign, many holding it unconstitutional. The bill would set up a commission to determine the acreage of each farm in Texas to be planted in cotton.

The bill, if passed by the Texas legislature would not become effective until at least four other major cotton producing states had adopted a similar bill.

Amendments

Two proposed constitutional amendments were introduced. One by J. R. Donnell of Hillburo would give the state highway fund "one-fourth of the revenue derived from state occupation taxes, except for telephone and telegraph tolls or other substances used for propelling motor vehicles all of which revenue shall go to the highway department."

The other would permit retired officers and enlisted men of the national guard, army, navy and marine corps to hold public office.

The resolution asking congressional aid on the proposed Red River dam was offered by Elbert M. Barron of Sherman and Speck Fred Minor of Denton. Preliminary work on the projected dam has been completed congress was asked to take action to provide funds as soon as possible.

A total of 16 bills was introduced with about 20 others ready for introduction when the house adjourned.

A bill to make it a felony for a person to cohabit with a husband or wife which has been married without the state when such person has living another husband and wife, was introduced by Albert G. Walker of Vernon. The bill was offered as the result of a recent decision of the court of criminal appeals which held a man could be prosecuted only for adultery if he cohabited with his wife, married in Texas although he also had a wife in Oklahoma. Adultery in Texas is classed as a misdemeanor.

Auto Fee Matter

Automobile owners seeking registration licenses would be required to present a receipt showing payment of ad valorem taxes. If the vehicle before given a license, under a bill introduced by Joseph McGill and H. P. Jackson of El Paso McGill said about 80 per cent of the automobile owners were evading payment of ad valorem taxes on automobiles.

A bill to equalize the ages of males and females in delinquency cases as 15 was introduced by R. H. Holland of Houston. Present statutes set the age of males at 17 and females at 15.

Holland also introduced a bill to allow judges, in trial of civil cases, to charge the jury in a general way and not confine the charge to special issues. He said charging special issues "halls up" the jury and often resulted in mistrials, and other to reduce the number of mistrials in civil cases was introduced by Holland. The bill would make it necessary to prove that misconduct of an officer in charge of a jury had influenced the juror's decision before a reversal or new trial was granted.
