

2 Red Attacks Are Beaten Off On West Front

By FORREST EDWARDS SEUL (AP)—Outnumbered Allied soldiers, fighting in the haze of Communist smoke shells, beat off two Red attacks on a Western Front outpost in a bitter, bloody clash early today.

The Reds attacked behind a curtain of more than 1,000 rounds of punishing mortar and artillery fire. Some were smoke shells that hampered Allied observation and cast a thick haze over the area for hours.

In the relentless Allied air war U. S. B29 Superforts roared to within five miles of Manchuria in the early morning hours and dumped 11 tons of bombs on a Red communications and supply center.

Allied fighter-bombers roared out a few hours later and bombed Red rail lines and supply centers. U. S. Sabre jets, screening the aerial blows, damaged two Communist MIG15s, the Air Force said.

The Superfort target area had been scouted by reconnaissance planes whose pilots reported heavy vehicular activity.

The Air Force said the 140-acre depot, 20 miles southeast of Sin-ju, contained 360 buildings, a headquarters area, fuel storage tanks, supply dumps and warehouses.

Crewmen reported smoke and flames shot 2,000 feet into the air after a tremendous explosion, indicating a fuel tank had been hit. One pilot counted more than 40 fires.

The Reds hurled anti-aircraft fire and night fighter attacks at the raiding Superforts. The Air Force did not say if either side suffered damage or loss.

The U. S. Eighth Army today confirmed that warplanes "presumed to be" Allied killed three U. S. soldiers and wounded five Feb. 2 in a mistaken bombing behind the U. N. lines in Western Korea. The bombed unit was a battalion headquarters of the U. S. Seventh Division.

Mrs. Van Gieson Dies; Funeral Set On Sunday

By less than a month, Mrs. Jessie Van Gieson, widow of Verd Van Gieson, followed her husband in death here Friday morning.

She died in sleep, probably shortly before 6 a. m., at her home at 504 Main Street.

Funeral has been set tentatively for 2 p. m. Sunday at the St. Mary's Episcopal Church with the pastor, the Rev. William Boyd, minister officiating. Burial will be beside the grave of Mr. Van Gieson, who had died on Jan. 22.

Mrs. Van Gieson was born Jessie Miller and was reared in Colorado City. She came to Big Spring prior to the turn of the century and she and Mr. Van Gieson became constant companions at the various social functions of the community.

On Feb. 10, 1902, less than a year after he had gone into the mercantile business in Big Spring for himself, they were married in an Episcopal ceremony here. When Mr. Van Gieson planned to enter a bank in Toyah in 1909, she preceded him to that point. Subsequently, Mr. Van Gieson took a position as traveling auditor for the old Pierce Oil Corporation and they made their home in El Paso, San Antonio, Houston and other points.

Upon the death of Mr. J. B. Young, husband of the Mrs. Agnes Young, Mr. Van Gieson's sister, they returned to Toyah, and shortly afterwards to Big Spring.

She had been quite active in the affairs of the St. Mary's Episcopal Church here and had served as treasurer of the Women's Auxiliary of the District of North Texas.

Victims Of Jail Breakers

Dr. W. L. Bass (left) treats night deputy Jim Smith (center) and Jason Young (right), desk sergeant, who were struck from behind by prisoners who overwhelmed them in the ground floor office of the Tarrant county jail in Fort Worth, Tex., and escaped. One of the ten escapees was ex-convict Floyd Hill, who was being held on a charge growing out of the robbery in Fort Worth last October of $248,000 from two Cubans, who were alleged to have been in this country to buy arms for a revolution. (AP Wirephoto).

Three Escapees Still Free As Probe Of F-W Jailbreak Opens

FORT WORTH (AP)—Sheriff Haron Wright, arriving early today by plane from Illinois, launched an investigation into the County Jail break which freed tough man Floyd Hill and nine other prisoners.

The sheriff said recommendations concerning lockup procedure and the handling of cell keys would hinge on the probe.

Dist. Atty. Howard Fender, who posted $100 reward for the capture of Hill "dead or alive," delved into the break yesterday.

He said he found no criminal negligence. The district attorney declared he would ask the grand jury Friday if the group desired to conduct its own investigation.

Three of the 10 prisoners who slugged their way out of the fifth floor of the jail Wednesday night were still at large.

Six of the 10 escapees were caught yesterday. The seventh had been picked up in Fort Worth half an hour after the break late Wednesday night.

The FBI joined the hunt for Hill because his parole from Alcatraz Prison was revoked when he was jailed in the robbery of $248,000 from two Cubans.

Automobile accidents which occurred in their hurried flight from custody landed six back in custody.

Near Deweyville, Tex., Bobbie Dean Baker, 18, indicted for rape; Fred Hall Walters, 22, charged with burglary; and William Paul Hill, 19, charged with burglary, were captured when their stolen car overturned.

William Paul Hill, injured in the accident, was taken to a Beaumont, Tex., hospital, but later moved to jail at Newton, Tex.

A five-car wreck, caused when the fugitives' car was driven through a red traffic light, resulted in the capture in Nashville, Ark., of Ray Bayless, 20, charged with burglary; Manuel Hernandez, 17, indicted for burglary; and Lloyd Laesher, 19, charged with burglary.

Still free, along with the 41-year-old Alcatraz veteran, Hill, were Michael Kenneth Davis, 19, charged with burglary, and Glenn C. Crawford, 22, facing rape charges.

Service station owners, complaining of customers who drove off without paying for gasoline, set officers on the trails of both sets of the fleeing felons.

In Arkansas, Howard County Sheriff Ambrose Chesbir said Bayless was driving the escape car, ran through a traffic signal on Nashville's main street, crashed into one car and then bounced off three others.

Hernandez and Laesher remained in the wrecked car and surrendered meekly. Bayless ran but stopped quickly when a deputy sheriff fired two shots into the air.

After Deputy Sheriff Glenn Blackburn of Deweyville chased the other trio into Louisiana, the fugitives doubled back into Texas, and struck a truck-trailer just inside the Texas line. Their car turned over. Deputies Blackburn and Carroll Phillips quickly closed in on them.

The jailbreak was made after three guards were slugged with a shower pipe and two guns stolen. One of the escapees was caught within 30 minutes as he walked down a Fort Worth street.

Washington (AP)—The Senate Interior Committee today took up one aspect of the "tidelands" controversy—legislation to give the states a share of oil and gas revenues from the continental shelf many miles beyond their shores.

Called before the committee was one of its own members, Sen. Daniel (D-Tex.), to explain provisions of a bill he introduced. The measure would let the states manage petroleum developments in the continental shelf and turn over all but 37 1/2 per cent of the revenues to the federal government.

The continental shelf is the vast submerged land that encircles the continent. Its waters are relatively shallow out to its edge, where it falls steeply to greater depths. The shelf has been estimated to extend offshore from about 50 to 100 miles into the Gulf of Mexico, about 50 miles into the Atlantic and only about five miles into the Pacific.

Sen. Holland (D-Fla) has introduced a bill to give the states clear title to that part of the continental shelf which lies closest to land. It is within this part that the states have fixed their seaward boundaries—three miles out generally and 10 1/2 miles in the case of Texas and the Gulf coast of Florida because of conditions under which they entered the Union.

Daniel's bill embodies provisions of the Holland measure, which Daniel and 28 other senators have endorsed.

Daniel was among witnesses at the Interior Committee hearings this week on the Holland bill. He urged settling the whole submerged land question with one piece of legislation. But Holland argued the continental shelf problem should be considered after the seaward boundary issue is disposed of.

Chairman Knowland (Calif) said examiners greater power to regulate the profession. The measure would knock out optometry chain stores by limiting optometrists to two branch offices.

"Legislating us out of business," cried an owner of a 24-store chain. "Raising the standards of the profession," replied other optometrists.

Sponsors are having a tough time trying to bring the bill to a floor vote. Newspapers and radio stations also are keeping a close eye on the measure because they fear some provisions might restrict advertising.

Real estate men worked fast this week to set back a bill allowing Texas insurance companies to construct branch office buildings, using as much as 10 per cent of

Young Escapee From Gatesville Recaptured Here

A 16-year-old escapee from the Gatesville State School for Boys was taken into custody by Big Spring police last night at the end of an automobile chase in the west part of town.

The car the youth was driving, stolen from L. J. Lane, collided with two other vehicles before it was stopped.

The youth, identified as one of a group sent to the reform school from Howard County as a result of burglaries in the Midway community last December, abandoned the car and was afoot at the time of his arrest, officers reported. He also is accused of stealing a quantity of clothing here last night.

A. E. (Shorty) Long, county juvenile officer, said the boy reported to him earlier this week after running off from the Gatesville school. Long said the youth told him he wanted to visit relatives here before returning to the school.

The juvenile officer planned to return the escapee to Gatesville Saturday when he will take some other juveniles to the institution.

City Policemen Bill Cartwright and F. V. Chapman started chasing the youth about 9:30 p. m. Thursday when they spotted a 1950 Studebaker which was reported stolen. Starting at West Third and San Jacinto, the officers chased the car "all around the neighborhood."

The fleeing car collided with a 1950 Ford, owned by Robert H. Hall, Webb AFB, at one point. The escapee left the car and started running when he crashed into the 1946 Ford at Second and Jones. He was apprehended a short distance away near the T&P Railway tracks.

Owner of the 1946 Ford was not identified. Police recovered a coat, shirt, trousers and jacket which had been stolen from the Crawford Hotel. They said the clothing was in the youth's possession.

The escapee was being held in city jail today. Police said Gatesville authorities were expected here over the week end to assume custody.

1-AAA Hoop Playoff Set Here Tonight

Lamesa and Sweetwater, two of five teams in the running for the District 1-AAA basketball championship, meet at 8:30 o'clock in the HCJC Gymnasium tonight.

The remainder of the playoff, which also includes Vernon, Snyder and Plainview, will take place Saturday, possibly in Stamford.

Coaches of the five teams met in Spur, a neutral site, this morning to lay plans for the unprecedented playoff.

A league champion must be certified with the Texas Interscholastic League by Saturday night.

Each of the five teams in the running finished the season with 6-4 win-loss records. Big Spring wound up last with a 0-10 record.

Vernon upset Sweetwater and Lamesa turned back Plainview Thursday night to deadlock the standings. Snyder had ended its season previously.

The two games last night were make-up games, having been scheduled in January but postponed due to bad weather.

Admission prices for tonight's game here have been pegged at 75 cents adult and 40 cents student.

O. W. Follis coaches the Lamesa team while Bennie Rutherford, former HCJC member, masterminds the Sweetwater club.

Lamesa is the defending champion in the league. Its attack is led around Burnell Stevens and Ed Bennett.

Carl Anderson, 6-foot-5, the conference's leading performer, is Sweetwater's top threat.

NORTH SPAWNS TORNADO

Hard Freeze Is Due For Most Of State

A howling norther which spawned Texas' first tornado of the year moved southeastward into the Gulf of Mexico Friday.

Behind, the state shivered in bitter cold punctuated by sleet, rain, hail, window rattling thunderstorms and blowing dust.

The Weather Bureau predicted a hard freeze for much of Texas Friday night and Saturday morning.

At mid-morning, rain pelted a wild band of East and South Texas. In the West, precipitation apparently had ended, but strong northerly winds whipped up dust storms.

At Lufkin, Houston, Marshall and many other points early Friday, lightning flashes and thunder rumbled as thunderstorms let loose hard, welcome rain.

Winds described as "roaring" accompanied a storm in the Marshall area in East Texas late Thursday and early Friday. A total of 1.27 inches of rain and some hail fell. No hail damage was reported.

Austin had scatterings of rain, hail, dust and sunshine early Friday. Northwest Austin residents got the rain and hail about 6 a. m. Later, the sun came out—its rays filtering through a dust haze.

Light snow flurries fell in Dallas and Fort Worth early Friday, the weatherman said.

The coldest pre-dawn reading in the state was 14 degrees at Daltart in the Panhandle.

At 5 a. m. Dallas had sleet and light rain fighting with dust clouds for dominance as a thunderstorm rumbled in the distance. Similar conditions existed all over the eastern portion of the state.

Temperatures were plunging and were far below freezing in the Panhandle and South Plains. There was little or no precipitation in those regions.

Strong variable winds that reached gusts of 30 miles per hour kicked up clouds of dust in West Texas and kept sand in the air in East Texas when it was not raining.

Earlier, tornado threats for East Texas dissolved after the year's first twister bounced across a wide section of Southeast Texas.

DENVER (AP)—A radio report to the Sterling, Colo., Police Station early this morning said nine school children missing since yesterday in snow-locked northern Colorado had been found safe and well at a farm house.

Sheriff E. M. Brown who led a search party into the area radioed that the children and the bus driver were eating bacon and eggs at the Merle Carey Farm, 12 miles northwest of Sterling, when found. They had spent the night at the farm.

It was not immediately known how far the farm house is from where the bus stalled. Other details were lacking. There are few telephones in the area.

The bus had been last heard from at 3 p. m. (MST) yesterday when it made one of its stops between Sterling and the Mount Hope area, a sparsely populated section of small farms.

First news that it was lost came from anxious parents who reported their children had not arrived home by evening.

The sheriff took one rescue party out but had to give up the search at midnight because of the severe weather. He reported that even a snowplow was swept off the road and soon buried in snow.

Deaths of three persons were blamed on the storm, which pushed its way into the area Wednesday with winds that reached 65 miles an hour.

The U. S. Weather Bureau here said there had been greater snow depths but not as much sustained wind with a snowstorm in the region since the big one in 1949.

Whistling along the eastern slopes of the Rockies, this storm shucked off 12 inches of new snow at Cheyenne and nine inches at Denver.

Wheatland, in the central part of Wyoming, got 13 inches of new snow which, added to some already on the ground, made a total of 19 inches. Most snow depths in the area were two to six inches.

Auto and air traffic was slowed to a crawl, if not halted; power and telephone lines were blocked out; and many rural and small community schools were closed.

The Weather Bureau in Chicago reported severe blizzard conditions early today over the Great Plains from eastern Colorado across western Nebraska to Minnesota.

The storm, with northerly winds in some parts of Nebraska reaching gusts of 57 miles an hour, swept eastward. Near blizzard conditions were forecast for North Central areas.

Temperatures tumbled to near zero and below in the storm belt, with a low of minus 4 at Miles City, Mont. The cold air extended as far south as Texas. Snow fell from upper Michigan to Colorado, with amounts ranging from a foot at Cheyenne to five inches at Wausau, Wis.

The storm center, located near Omaha early today, also brought dust storms to the Southern Plains and showers and thunderstorms over the Eastern Plains and Lower Missouri Valley.

The weather watchers said the snow would begin to thin out this morning but that the winds would last throughout the day.

Although temperatures were below freezing, they were not sub-zero nor what the Weather Bureau would term "extreme."

Storm warnings went out to Minnesota and northern sections of Wisconsin and Michigan last night as they appeared in the path of the storm, which erupted from the meeting of Canadian and Pacific fronts. Earlier, 40-mile-an-hour winds had blasted both Southern California and the Texas Panhandle.

High wind whipped snow throughout Western and Central Nebraska late last night and Chadron, in the northwest corner of the state, reported seven inches of new snow. Winds there were clocked at 50 mph per hour, with gusts up to 60, and temperatures about 10 above.

Railroad employes in Western Nebraska told of snowdrifts up to six feet but said snow plows were idle because drivers couldn't see where they were going.

Otto F. Boyd, 58, of Denver died of a heart attack yesterday, which the medical examiner said was caused by over-exertion while putting on tire chains. Earl G. Schultz, 39, of McGill, Nev., and Gary Saruwatari, 18-month-old Delta, Colo., baby, died in traffic accidents blamed on ice-crusted roads.

Telephone lines were reported up and operating in Colorado, but several Wyoming communities were nearly isolated before repairmen could huck huge snowdrifts to find the breaks. There also were reports of power line failures, but none apparently caused emergencies.

Ranchers herded livestock to shelter in the two states but spokesmen said feed supplies were ample and that the water content of the snow would prove to be a boon to dry farm lands and grazing areas.

Highways east and north of Denver and the mountain passes, as well as some Central Wyoming roads, were particularly bad.

Bus lines traveling the area canceled schedules yesterday afternoon. Trains were getting through but were, in some instances, behind time. Airline operations were spotty.

Plan Offered To Up Cattle Prices

WASHINGTON (AP)—A four-point program to stabilize the cattle market in the face of declining beef prices was recommended today by a House Agriculture subcommittee.

The principal point called for immediate strengthening of credit sources to provide emergency loans as a stabilizing influence on prices and production.

The subcommittee also recommended stepping up military procurement of beef, prompt controls over foreign beef imports and emphasis on meat as an item in the Chairman Hape (R-Kan) said the full Agriculture Committee will meet Monday to consider the program drawn up by the subcommittee headed by Rep. Hill (R-Colo).

Hope said some legislation might be necessary to make credit available to farmers during the present decline in prices but the easiest method probably would be to utilize the existing machinery and funds of the Farmers Home Administration.

Harried State Solons Heading Home For A Week-End Respite

AUSTIN (AP)—Every legislative session brings the cry, "You're going to legislate us out of business."

The charge has been flung repeatedly at various legislation the past 10 days. It was ringing the ears of House members as the Legislature quit work yesterday for the week end.

Certain members of at least four business groups—optometry, real estate, watchmaking and commercial fishing—are using the argument that proposed laws will cause them financial damage.

A reverse twist can also be applied to the "legislating us out of business" angle. This is seen in the pleas for passage of bills to help protect some group's economic security.

Hotel and auction barn operators are using the latter approach.

Hotel men moved quickly to try to kill a State Parks Board plan for construction of million-dollar, 100-room hotels in three state parks.

"Socialistic. The state shouldn't endanger hotels built by free enterprise," they cried, and their bill to limit state parks to 12 cabins of four-person capacity sailed out of committee.

It was amended by the House yesterday to allow 18 cabins—or housing for 72 persons. The House then passed the bill on second reading, 76-63, but did not put it to a vote on final passage.

Accurate or not, the declaration that a proposed piece of legislation will put people out of business frequently is an effective argument.

Texas optometrists are split over a bill that would give a board of

Soil Conservation Importance Stressed At Sweetwater Meet

By FRANKLIN REYNOLDS
SWEETWATER — The stake that business and professional men have in an all-inclusive soil conservation program in West Texas was emphasized in an all-day meeting at the Blue Bonnet Hotel here Thursday.

The conference, sponsored by the Agriculture Department of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce was attended by more than 50 West Texas bankers, representatives of Chambers of Commerce, Soil Conservation Service specialists, members of the state and district boards of soil conservation districts and other interested business men.

The purpose of the meeting as explained by Loyal Walker, WTCC agriculture specialist, was to devise ways and means of conveying to the public the importance of soil and water conservation and the equal importance of their participation in the program.

The area covered by yesterday's meeting included territory in the Upper Colorado, Mitchell County, Upper Clear Fork, California Creek and Middle Clear Fork Soil Conservation Districts. That section of West Texas includes the trade territories of Abilene, Anson, Colorado City, Hamlin, Haskell, Lueders, Merkel, Roby, Rochester, Roscoe, Rotan, Rule, Snyder and Sweetwater.

Walker said an effort will be made to have a similar meeting in the Big Spring area at a later date, but added that the place for this meeting has not yet been determined.

"We plan," he explained, "to hold it at some point most convenient to most of the people in the area."

J. C. Porter, manager of the Agriculture Department of the First National Bank of Wichita Falls, presided at the Sweetwater meeting. Porter is also chairman of the Agriculture Committee of the WTCC.

Those in attendance were welcomed by Paul Cain, president of the Sweetwater Board of City Development. Speakers, in addition to Walker, were Frank Kelly of Colorado City, former president of the WTCC; John Cole of Temple, executive director of the Association of Texas Soil Conservation District Supervisors; Ralph Schwartz of the Abilene office of the SCS; H. B. Boswell of Temple, assistant state conservator with the SCS; Curtis Bell of Temple, representing that State Soil Conservation Board and Hiram E. Olson of Avoca, chairman of the Board of Supervisors for the California Creek Soil Conservation District who spoke on behalf of the district supervisors.

The morning session was adjourned in time for a short field trip to observe actual soil conditions in the Sweetwater area. The afternoon session was resumed at 1 p.m.

Schwartz explained the technical problems of conservation, while Boswell explained in figures and "dollar marks" just what an improved conservation program will mean to all the business people in West Texas.

If West Texas ranges can be improved to the point where every acre of them will produce an additional four pounds of beef annually at 25 cents a pound, then every million acres will produce another million dollars to be spent with the business people, Boswell pointed out. He said that conservation will also produce more cotton, grain sorghums and other crops.

The planting of legumes for soil conservation and improvement was stressed throughout the program.

Among those attending was W. S. trip to observe actual soil conservationist with the SCS, whose area takes in part of the territory represented at the conference.

Canada Sets Income Tax Cut As Prelude To Expected Vote

OTTAWA (AP)—Canada's government announced a new budget last night to cut taxes an estimated 361 million dollars in 1954. It included an 11 per cent drop in the income tax and reduction in corporation levies.

The new program also:

1. Reduced the cost of legal cigarettes to 35 cents a pack by dropping four cents off the federal tax immediately.
2. Eliminated a 10 per cent sales tax on newspapers for domestic consumers only (no help for U. S. papers).
3. Removed radio license fees.
4. Trimmed an estimated one million dollars a year in import tariffs on manufactured articles, most of them bought from the United States.

The income tax cut is effective July 1. With that, it was estimated, approximately two-thirds of the Canadian taxes imposed following the outbreak of the Korean War in 1950 will have been removed.

Other reductions to become effective are prior to July, some as far back as Jan. 1.

Finance Minister Douglas Abbott announced the changes in a House of Commons speech on the 1953-54 budget. Political observers said it was a typical pre-election budget.

No date has yet been set for the national elections but it is generally believed that Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent will call them for next August or October, with Oct. 5 frequently mentioned as a likely day.

The budget predicted the government in the fiscal year beginning April 1, would spend $4,462,000,000, including just over two billion dollars for defense. Income was estimated at a record $4,473,000,000 which would leave a surplus of 11 million dollars—and result in Canada's eighth successive revenue excess.

Last year, the finance minister forecast a nine million dollar surplus for 1952-53, but he now expects to wind up the year on March 31 with an excess of nearly 48 million dollars.

Parliament is expected to approve the budget with no substantial changes. St. Laurent's Liberal party has a big majority in both the House of Commons and the Senate.

Abbott estimated the personal income tax cuts would save the Canadian public 87 million dollars in the 1953-54 fiscal year and 155 million dollars a year after that.

Present average income taxes—including an unchanged 2 per cent social security tax—for a married man with two children range from $130 on an income of $3,000 to $24,406 on $50,000. Under the new schedule, estimated tax figures in 1953 for these brackets would be $126 and $22,397. They would be lower for 1954, since the reduction is effective for only six months of this year.

The cut in corporation taxes was made effective back to last Jan. 1 and was expected to save corporations 85 million dollars in the coming fiscal year and 120 million dollars a year after that.

The tax previously took 20 per cent of the first $10,000 in profits and 50 per cent of all profits above that figure. Under the new budget, the tax will be 18 per cent on the first $20,000 and 47 per cent on all above that.

The tariff reductions were spread among some 40 items—ranging from atomic isotopes to electric stove clocks.

The cigarette tax cut is expected to make cigarettes sold legally somewhat more competitive with packs smuggled into Canada from the United States. The illegal U. S. smokes, called "smugs," go for about 30 cents a pack.

Theatre Admission Law Change Put Off

AUSTIN — The question of amending the law on amusement taxes so that motion picture theatres can raise their rates without adding a state tax almost came on to the floor of the House Thursday.

But it was postponed until March 2.

The career of the bill, House Bill 13 by Rep. Joe Kilgore of McAllen, has not been peaceful.

The House Revenue and Taxation Committee split on the issue, with Rep. W. G. Kirklind of Odessa voting against the majority.

The majority, of which Rep. L. L. Armor of Sweetwater is one, favors raising the exemption level on admissions from 50 cents to $1.

At present, Armor said, the state law requires no amusement tax on admissions of 50 cents or less. So your usual theatre admission price is 50 cents, 50 cents admission plus 20 per cent federal tax.

If theatre managers were to raise prices to 60 cents, there would be a 20 per cent federal tax on top of that, making 72 cents, plus a state tax of 10 per cent, making the ticket finally cost 78 cents.

"This would mean that taxes would be 18 cents on a theatre ticket if the proprietor got an additional 10 cents," Armor said.

"Motion picture people have asked us to raise the exemption to $1, and we did," he continued. "Theatres are big taxpayers in every community, hire a lot of people, and deserve some consideration."

Jury Deliberates In Bledsoe Murder Trial

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—A Criminal District Court jury began deliberations again today in the assault to murder trial of Robert Bledsoe, 20, accused of beating his 15-year-old bride with a claw hammer.

The case went to the jury late yesterday. When a verdict was not reached by 8 p.m., the jury was ordered locked up for the night.

The young housewife was beaten last July 11.

Yesterday Bledsoe testified that he struck his wife with a hammer because of jealousy caused by her love affair with another youth.

Mrs. Bledsoe was found in the trunk of the couple's car the next morning.

Youths Ordered To Gatesville School

Two teen age Latin-Americans who were recently arrested in connection with break-ins in north Big Spring were today ordered sent to Texas State School for Boys at Gatesville.

One was 15-years-old and the other 16. Both admitted stealing 2,000 pounds of lead from Marvin Saunders Plumbing Company recently.

They also admitted breaking into Derrington's Garage and Massey Hartzel Implement Company. A third youth implicated along with them has already been sent to the boy's school. He confessed to his part in the crimes several days ago.

Neither of the two boys has been attending school. County Judge R. H. Weaver told both that the school would give them an opportunity to attend classes and learn a trade.

Judge Weaver informed the parents that the boys could return to Big Spring when school authorities think the youths are ready to make useful citizens.

Cuts Predicted In Military Spending

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Taft of Ohio said today the Eisenhower administration has been saddled with a "terrific burden" of proposed long-range military spending in its efforts to balance the budget.

Reserve Officer Unit Holds Its Initial Meeting

The new Webb Air Force Base-Big Spring chapter of the Reserve Officer's Association held its first formal meeting at Webb Thursday night.

L. Col. John L. Campbell, Webb officer, was appointed temporary president of the chapter until such time as the charter for the organization has been received from state ROA headquarters in Waco.

Close Watch Is Urged In Land Buying

WASHINGTON (AP)—Any request for money to purchase land bordering the Falcon Dam in Texas for recreational purposes should be looked at "closely" by Congress, Rep. Russell V. Mack (R-Wash.) declared.

Mack yesterday told the House that during a trip he made to Texas recently he was told "several" themselves were "upset" by proposals to set aside 47,000 acres of land near the Rio Grande dam for a public park.

the public ought to know "just what a terrific burden was left to us by the Truman administration" with its spending plans—as represented not only in the $78,600,000,000 budget former President Truman sent to Congress for the year planning for military outlays.

The New Hampshire senator said he understands the military services plan to spend—out of money already voted them by Congress—2½ billions more than Truman estimated.

Under these Truman plans, Taft said, military spending would not reach its peak until next year and would then taper off with a budget balanced at $3 billion dollars in 1955.

Dodge has called for reports from department heads by March 4 on spending cuts they can recommend in their fields. However, he is understood to have been met in some instances with requests from military officials for more money, not less.

The House passed it yesterday after cutting sharply the $2,313,719,590 asked by Truman, who sent the requests before he left the White House. The House sliced the bill to $25,172,920. Most of the reduction came through elimination of $1,200,000,000 asked to pay a military pay raise voted last year by Congress. The House told the Pentagon to find the money out of funds already on hand.

Bristow Opposes Activities Fee In State Universities

AUSTIN.—West Texans didn't vote alike in the House Education Committee hearing this week. Rep. A. J. Bishop Jr., Winters, favored the $15 activity fee for all state colleges and universities, but Rep. Obie Bristow of Big Spring opposed it.

Bishop said in effect that it was a bargain package. For the $15 fee, students at the University of Texas, Texas Tech, A&M, and other state schools will get tickets to all athletic events, recreational events such as dances, concert series, and health and hospitalization.

Board Cannot Oust Married School Students

SHERMAN (AP)—A rule automatically expelling school children who get married was upset yesterday by a district judge who said: "My sympathies are with the School Board, but the law is not."

Dist. Judge Paul G. Peurifoy, Dallas made the ruling. He ordered the Sherman School Board to re-instate Frank Dodd, 18, and his 17-year-old wife, Wanda Sue Atkinson. He enjoined the School Board against enforcing its automatic expulsion rule.

It was believed to be the first court decision in Texas dealing with such cases. About 30 per cent of the state's school districts have similar rules.

School Board President Lewis Hall Jr., said, "It is the hope of the School Board that the people of Sherman and Texas will realize that a serious problem exists in the marriage of school children. The members of the Sherman board sincerely hope the people will prevail upon the Legislature to address itself to the problem with an eye to passing legislation designed to alleviate the problem."

The young couple was married Jan. 19 in Durant, Okla. The bride's father, O. T. Atkinson joined them in bringing suit against the school district.

High School Principal Byron Davis testified high school marriages lead to problems of morals and discipline. He said unmarried pupils, many of them still in junior high school, are filled with stories of marital relationships.

Judge Peurifoy substituted for Judge R. C. Vaughn.

Waterway Hearing Held By Engineers

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Reasons why the Gulf Intracoastal Waterway in Louisiana and Texas should be widened, deepened and modernized were told here yesterday at a hearing by Army Engineers.

One staunch supporter of the waterway, Harry B. Jordan, New Orleans, said if traffic on it continues to develop for the next 15 years as it has in the last 15, annual tonnage will be increased eight times.

He spoke in behalf of the American Waterways Operators. He said 36 million tons of cargo were handled last year on the waterway. He produced figures that showed if the trend of growth is constant, the tonnage will reach 280 million by 1969.

Most of the canal in Texas and Louisiana is 125 feet wide with a 12-foot channel. Most of the waterway interests represented agreed the canal should be widened to 300 feet and the channel deepened to 16.

The New Orleans district Army engineer, Col. Charles Hollis, said he would take the testimony and other evidence under advisement and recommendations would be submitted to the chief of Army Engineers for study and recommendation to Congress.

J. W. Fulbright, Beaumont, president of the Intracoastal Canal Assn., said because the modernizing project would "take years," it should be presented in its entirety instead of piecemeal.

Fulbright suggested improvement of the Morgan City—Allen route: constructing a bypass at the Galveston docks changing the route near Aransas Pass, early completion of the Algiers cutoff and locks and reduction in mileage.

N. L. Carruthers, New Orleans, southern field representative of American Waterways Operators, listed the AWO's proposals: straightening a bypass at Houma; straightening the canal and constructing a bypass at the Bayou Boeuf lock near Morgan City.

Chinchilla Breeders Stop Over In C-City With Costly Animals

By TOM JAY GOSS II
COLORADO CITY — When the big Bellanca parted the dust curtains hanging over the Sweetwater airfield and came in to land, it carried a load valued at $50,000. No armored car greeted the California plane and its two occupants nonchalantly transferred its cargo to a car driven by a tiny Colorado City woman — Mrs. Everett Stagner.

rodents with the precious pelts. Eight of the show animals from the Chapman Chinchilla Ranch near Big Bear Lake, California, six are from the Ardis Stagner ranch at Walteria, and three pair — valued at $1,850 per pair — were to go to Dallas buyers, one was a pelt, to be used in a pelting demonstration by Toby Von Euw, manager of the and Von Euw accompanied the animals and stopped over in Colorado City to visit the Everett Stagners — also Chinchilla ranchers. Mr. and Mrs. Everett Stagner become interested in chinchillas in 1945, and were among the first in Texas to attempt to raise the cold loving animal in West Texas. The Stagners have 22 chains now, and live south of Colorado City in a home especially constructed with chinchillas in mind. An air conditioned basement is the answer to climatic problems — chinchillas don't like it when the thermometer goes to 80 and 85 degrees — and the Stagners say that they are odorless and insect free. Mr. and Mrs. Stagner left Thursday for Fort Worth, taking one female chin to display. Ardis Stagner and Von Euw emplaned at Sweetwater Thursday for Fort Worth. The National Chinchilla Breeders Association meet is scheduled for three days, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, and Stagner says competition will be fierce at the Fort Worth show, with entries from other California breeders, as well as those from Idaho, Utah and Texas and other states.

Armed Services Begin To Pour Out Publicity On Their Worth

By ELTON C. FAY
Military Affairs Reporter
WASHINGTON (AP)—This is the season when the picture turns grim and things are in a hell of a fix.

It is the time when each of the armed forces tells how good it is. And it is, perchance, the time of budget-making. It happens every year, in peace and war, in every administration. Some years there are mysterious rumors of foreign submarines cruising off American shores. Other years there are vapor trails from highflying, unseen, unknown aircraft above the northern defense perimeter. And some years people just sit down and add up all the military and diplomatic perplexities and intelligence estimates and come up with a broad and brooding and black picture.

Only yesterday a group of congressional leaders emerged from a White House session with military, intelligence and national security council officials—speaking cryptically but apprehensively of the briefing they had. It was nothing new, they said—the picture has been grim for a long time.

The congressional leaders then went to the Capitol where Congress is going to work on the budget. Across the Potomac at the Pentagon the armed forces seemed to hear no unusually loud alarms from around the world but maybe that is just because they are used to the grimness of the times.

Individually, the three services wanted folks to know how each of them was ready to fight any kind of war in any kind of place. There was the impression each could do it as well or a little better than either of the other two services.

In fairness, perhaps they recalled the economy drive of a few years ago, under Louis A. Johnson's defense secretaryship. Most people in the Pentagon believe that campaign was partially responsible for the state of U. S. unreadiness when the Korean War broke out. And perhaps each service wanted to guard against 'oo-deep cuts in its budget this year. At any rate—

The Navy announced it had developed a fully pressurized flying suit which would allow "Navy pilots" (the press release didn't say why other pilots couldn't wear it too) to "travel in safety in the extreme upper atmosphere — or even in outer space."

The account had wide reader interest among those anticipating the advent of space travel and warfare. It also had the rapid and slightly annoyed interest of the Air Force.

The Air Force, with practically as urging, was ready to produce a press release it issued last Oct. 4, saying it then had a new type pressure suit "enabling pilots to survive in the near vacuum of the upper atmosphere." In that release, the author waited until he got down eight paragraphs to say the suit "resembles to some extent the popular conception of a space suit." But the author of yesterday's Navy release hit, right at the beginning, the idea it was a suit good "even in outer space." The Air Force had learned a lesson in the art of publicity.

The Army, perhaps not wanting to be overlooked when ideas about rocket-age arsenals were being circulated, came up with a summary of its program in the guided missile field. Through several hundred words the Army went in for some re-presentation of technical facts about rocket shooting, captioned the release with the declaration that "A'm's new guided missiles now roll off assembly lines." But it didn't say what the missiles are or how many have rolled off. With the background presented, the Army got to the point, announcing:

"The Army now has weapons that aim themselves after the trigger is pulled — and it is almost impossible for them to miss a target... fantastic though it may seem, one of the Army's surface-to-air missiles... carries a guidance system designed to cut-manuever and hit enemy aircraft." The enemy plane, said the Army, may "dive, climb, bank, side-slip or turn tail—but the Army's new weapons still will knock them out of the skies."

Probing Legislator Admits His Mistake

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Velde (R-III) of the House Un-American Activities Committee has declared publicly he was mistaken in saying Mrs. Agnes E. Meyer wrote a letter to a Soviet magazine praising the Russian people. But he contended in a statement yesterday that Mrs. Meyer, in a speech which precipitated a row between them, hoped to coerce the committee "into calling off its investigation of Communist infiltration into the field of education."

In a retort, Velde said that Moscow Pravda had quoted Mrs. Meyer as writing to the journal "Soviet Russia Today" a letter expressing "profound admiration for the people of the Soviet Union." Velde said yesterday he acted on information given him as accurately based on committee files, but subsequently learned it was inaccurate "due to the complexity of the Russian language" and that Mrs. Meyer was not the author of this letter. He said he had taken "appropriate disciplinary action against the employee responsible" for giving him the wrong information. The employee was not named. Mrs. Meyer said Velde was informed Tuesday night that the writer of the letter was Mrs. G. S. Mayer of Fort Clements, British Columbia.

The Post said Velde refused to withdraw his accusation "unless Mrs. Meyer withdrew what she said about him and about Sen. McCarthy." She had also criticized McCarthy (R-Wis), head of the Senate Government Operations Committee which has supervision over investigative activities in that chamber. Mrs. Meyer called Velde's statement an "outright falsehood" and telegraphed the Atlantic City conference it was "the sort of reckless, irresponsible and false utterance that is going to be thrown at members of the teaching profession."

Sick Violators To Face Trials For Tax Evasion

WASHINGTON (AP)—A lot of people who have pleaded they were too sick to face trial on charges of federal income tax evasion in recent years may soon be telling their stories to a federal judge. Atty. Gen. Brownell announced last night that the old "health policy" in criminal tax fraud cases, where prosecution was withheld on grounds that the defendant was in ill health, is out so far as his administration is concerned. Brownell disclosed that his new assistant attorney general for tax prosecutions, H. Brian Holland, has reviewed all of the cases where the question of health had delayed prosecution and has referred these to the federal district attorneys with a go-ahead where the evidence warrants.

More than 24 hours later, Velde issued the statement in which he said, "Honest mistakes are sometimes made in the investigation of Communism."

In Fort Clements, Mrs. Meyer, wife of a retired rancher, said she and her husband wrote the letter in question because they felt "a certain amount of admiration" for the job of postwar reconstruction the Russians accomplished. The letter was published in 1946. Mrs. Meyer added, "We certainly have nothing to do with Russia."

Clamp-Down Sought On Loan Businesses

AUSTIN (AP)—A constitutional amendment introduced in the House would give the Legislature a go-ahead for a clamp-down on the small loan business. The amendment is the first step in a State Junior Bar Assn. campaign to stop high carrying charges and insurance often attached to short-term loans. The group is now preparing legislation setting maximum extra charges. Sponsored by Rep. William Kugie, Galveston, the amendment retains the limit of 10 per cent annually for interest alone.

4-Year Sentence Is Given To Ford

AUSTIN (AP)—Former Galveston Police Fred Ford today faced four years in prison for evasion of income taxes. Federal Dist. Judge Ben Rice sentenced Ford yesterday, one year shy of a maximum penalty. The former island police officer was charged with failure to report income totalling $41,000 from 1945 through 1947. Attorneys said Ford spent almost $50,000 during the three years covered by the indictment.

He is also liable for the cost of prosecution and for more than $8,000 in back taxes which the government may seek to recover through civil suit. Ford gave notice he would appeal to the Circuit Court of Appeals, and Judge Rice set bond at $5,000. Ford was placed in Travis County Jail for the night, and his son went to Galveston to raise bond. Ford was not fined.

Houston Police Aides Subpoenaed By Jury

HOUSTON (AP)—Three high-ranking Houston police officers and Lucille La Porte were subpoenaed yesterday to appear before the federal grand jury at Waco Tuesday. Wednesday, Steve Bruno, the S. Warner and former Chief Deputy Sheriff Jake Colca were subpoenaed. Police officers called yesterday were Lt. J. R. (Bob) Davidson; Lt. Glen Sheppard, head of the police safety division; and Inspector W. P. Haley.

Peron Visits Chile

SANTIAGO (AP)—Chile's capital hung out the welcome sign for President Juan D. Peron of Argentina today as he crossed the Andes for a seven-day official visit. He will arrive tonight.

"What's up, Mac? What're they doing?"

It happens to everybody. You. You walk down the street, see a crowd, join it, and watch some strange goings-on. Then you tap somebody on the shoulder and ask what's up—even though you can see what's up with your own eyes.

Chances are that he doesn't know what's going on any more than you do. Chances are he'll have to get a newspaper to find out — just as you will.

Then, for the first time, you'll discover that the firemen on the ladder were trying to reach a young man who had escaped from the police and climbed a pole.

It's great to be on the spot at a football game . . . or political gathering . . . or hear and see any burst of excitement. It stimulates your appetite for the whole story.

But being on the spot is not much better than seeing one or two photographs of the action, or seeing a headline about it.

All of these can whet your appetite for news, but they cannot satisfy your hunger for the whole story.

• This goes for advertising, too. The brief message that hangs in the air . . . or brief headlines here or there . . . may indeed have a momentary interest.

But the newspaper ad carries the brass-tacks quality, the urgency of the newspaper itself.

Like a news item, the ad can be examined and re-examined. Can be read any time. Anywhere. Can be clipped and carried in a pocketbook.

And just as the newspaper speaks the special language of the town it mirrors, the ads themselves have the same important local quality. No other medium can match this quality.

Add to all this the fact that the newspaper reaches just about everybody in town, not just fractions of audiences, and you know why the newspaper is the nation's most effective advertising medium.

No wonder advertisers—both retail and national—invest more money in newspapers than in any other form of advertising.

The newspaper is always "first with the most"

Pact Council Okays More Construction

PARIS (AP)—The NATO Council in a surprise move has promised Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway 224 million dollars more for 1953 European military construction — money it denied him last December. Now the council has to figure out which country will pay how much.

Allocation of the additional 224 million — matching the same amount approved at the council meeting last December — was announced last night by Lord Ismay, British secretary general of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The new allotment gave Ridgway, NATO's supreme commander, a bonus. In December he said 428 million dollars was the minimum needed for 1953 construction of air bases, jet fuel pipelines, communications and headquarters installations in Western Europe. The council then allocated only 224 million.

Ismay said the council had not solved the important problem of how to split the new allocation among the NATO members. "We are trying to avoid the sordid business of bargaining around the table," he added.

The December economy move drew sharp criticism from Ridgway, who called it a lack of imaginative planning. He said a slackening of the NATO defense effort could not be excused.

Military planners felt that projects should be pushed during good construction weather this spring and summer. Commenting last night on the increase, a spokesman at Ridgway's headquarters said: "Too bad it's come two months too late."

The spokesman, who asked that his name not be used, said "pressure must have been heavy" for the bigger allocation because the military authorities had not expected it to be announced before the scheduled April 23 meeting of Atlantic Pact foreign ministers.

With sums previously authorized, 562 millions dollars has now been set aside for the 1953 NATO building program.

Hearings Put Off On T-H Law Until Ike Views Known

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Labor Committee has postponed hearings on proposed Taft-Hartley law changes after a Democratic member called for such a delay until President Eisenhower's views are known.

Sen. Murray (D-Mont), senior Democrat on the committee, urged the postponement yesterday and Chairman Taft (R-Ohio), co-author of the labor law, and Republican floor leader, said hearings will be delayed until next month.

The House Labor Committee, however, already has started extensive hearings on Taft-Hartley law changes.

Murray said he felt the Senate committee wanted to avoid forcing Eisenhower "into an untenable position." He said that is what the House Ways and Means Committee did by approving legislation for a 10 per cent income tax cut in the face of Eisenhower's statements that tax reduction should be deferred until a balanced budget is in sight.

Young Girl Saved From Burning Home By A Shepherd Dog

MENDON, Mass. (AP)—A German shepherd dog pulled a baby girl from a burning house last night before anyone else was aware the house was afire.

Mrs. James Stimson said she let the dog into the house after he barked furiously to have the door opened. She said he ran directly to a play pen and hauled 9-month-old Billie Jean to the yard.

Mrs. Stimson said that not until then did she realize another part of the house was afire. She gathered her other two children and fled herself.

Reporters who saw him a few hours later, following a luncheon for a group of Democratic senators, found him in excellent spirits and showing no strain from the office he took over from Harry S. Truman just a month ago.

Still later in the day Eisenhower demonstrated to a growing crowd of at-a-distance onlookers how he relaxes and keeps physically fit in the White House. He practices golf shots.

He had done this before but not until yesterday did his practice swings, a few of them ripping divots from the lawn behind the White House, attract any spectators.

This time, they even slowed traffic.

News photographers started it. Their camera, pointed through the wrought-iron fence that surrounds the White House grounds, drew scores of curious passers-by. Cars stopped in the street. A bit of 5 o'clock traffic congestion developed.

What the onlookers saw was the President of the United States, wearing a cap, white sweater and gray slacks, swinging away at a succession of golf balls.

Somebody in the audience called Eisenhower the most determined golfer to occupy the White House since Woodrow Wilson, who once played the game with red-painted balls so he could see them in the snow.

Eisenhower called off his practice session after 45 minutes.

Local Patrolman Given Post In Training Class

COLLEGE STATION—Albert V. Brown, patrolman, Big Spring Police Department, was elected vice-president of the first class of the new Texas Municipal Police Training school held on the A & M College campus.

Purpose of the school is to train municipal policemen in Texas law and the basic fundamentals of police work.

This school is the fifth of its type in the nation. Others are located at Michigan State, Louisville, Kentucky, and Northwestern University in Chicago. The FBI Academy also trains municipal policemen.

Instructors include Wallace D. Beasley, head of the school, sponsored by the Texas Engineering Extension Service, A & M employees, Bryan and College Station officials, and out-of-town law officers and legal officials.

The Texas Municipal Police Training School is divided into four-week training periods. Maximum enrollment for each unit is twenty-four men. The present class began school Feb. 2 and will complete their work here Feb. 27. The second group will begin training March 30, 1953.

Police departments pick men from their forces to attend the school. Each policeman must maintain an average of 70 or above to stay in the school.

Men are trained in turn to teach other members of their respective departments the information learned at Texas A & M. Students who properly participate in all classwork and satisfactorily complete assignments made by instructors will be awarded certificates of completion.

Ike Practices Golf On Lawn Of White House

By ED CREAUGH
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower rounds out his first month in the White House today—to all appearances chipper and undaunted by the "grim" problems facing him and the nation.

"Grim" was the word applied to the world situation by some Congress members leaving the White House yesterday after a top-level briefing on military and financial hurdles ahead.

Eisenhower sat in on the briefing, but to all appearances it didn't get him down.

Reporters who saw him a few hours later, following a luncheon for a group of Democratic senators, found him in excellent spirits and showing no strain from the office he took over from Harry S. Truman just a month ago.

Still later in the day Eisenhower demonstrated to a growing crowd of at-a-distance onlookers how he relaxes and keeps physically fit in the White House. He practices golf shots.

He had done this before but not until yesterday did his practice swings, a few of them ripping divots from the lawn behind the White House, attract any spectators.

This time, they even slowed traffic.

News photographers started it. Their camera, pointed through the wrought-iron fence that surrounds the White House grounds, drew scores of curious passers-by. Cars stopped in the street. A bit of 5 o'clock traffic congestion developed.

What the onlookers saw was the President of the United States, wearing a cap, white sweater and gray slacks, swinging away at a succession of golf balls.

Somebody in the audience called Eisenhower the most determined golfer to occupy the White House since Woodrow Wilson, who once played the game with red-painted balls so he could see them in the snow.

Eisenhower called off his practice session after 45 minutes.

Combat Films From Korea To Be Shown

A showing of films taken in actual combat in Korea has been booked here for March 9 under sponsorship of the Veterans of Foreign Wars post.

The show will be at the city auditorium starting at 7 p.m. All proceeds from the movie will be used to buy additional hospital beds for lending purposes, said J. B. McKinney, VFW commander.

Scenes in the show were taken from Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine films.

Men In Service

SGT. JIMMY FLOYD

Sgt. Jimmy Floyd is due home most any day now from Korea where he was in ordnance work for the past 16 months. In a letter to Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Floyd, Jimmy's parents, Lt. Robert W. McMeilen, who was the company commander, wrote a fine tribute to Jimmy's service. "I can't remember ever assigning Sgt. Floyd a task that he not only accomplished but in many cases did it better than I would have done. In his main job for me, he was my right arm... measuring diameter of the artillery gun tubes to determine serviceability. I hardly gave the gun tubes a thought with Sgt. Floyd on the job. He is one of the finest, well-bred, good natured, dependable and most likeable young men I have met during my six years in Army service."

Sgt. Le Chilton A. Cook was recently graduated from the 7th Army's Non-commissioned Officers Academy at Munich, Germany. Cook, a radio platoon sergeant in the 585th Signal Support company, entered the Army in June 1946. He has been awarded the European-African-Middle Eastern theatre ribbon with six campaign stars. He has the good conduct medal, army of occupation medal for service in Germany, and the American theatre ribbon. His father, Robert F. Cook resides at the Dixie Courts here and his wife, Mattie, lives at 1348 Ellis, Augusta, Ga.

Alleged Madam Testifies In Vice Trial Of Minot Jelke

NEW YORK (AP)—Erica Steel, alleged cafe society madam, says Minot (Mickey) Jelke's romance with call girl Pat Ward cooled off in Florida last year when she arrived there with less cash than he expected.

The red-haired Miss Steel testified yesterday in the vice trial of Jelke, 23, accused of forcing three young women into prostitution and living off the earnings of one—Miss Ward.

A witness for the prosecution, the 28-year-old Miss Steel told taking Miss Ward into her apartment while Jelke went south in early spring.

Miss Steel's testimony, as relayed to newsmen from the closed courtroom by attorneys, went like this:

Jelke telephoned Miss Steel from Florida and asked how Miss Ward was "making out."

Informed that Miss Ward had about $1,000, Jelke invited both women to go to Florida.

Miss Steel told the all-male jury that at the meeting of the three: "The first thing Mickey did before he even kissed her (Pat), was to ask, 'How much money did you bring down?' He was furious when he found it was only $350."

"This was the beginning of the breaking up of Pat Ward and Mickey Jelke. In a few days Pat and Mickey broke up."

Miss Steel said she had to argue with Jelke to give 19-year-old Pat enough money to pay her fare back to New York.

Miss Steel is awaiting sentence next month after pleading guilty to a charge of committing a public nuisance—a charge involving her as madam of a midtown brothel.

The press and public have been barred from the general sessions courtroom by Judge Francis L. Valente during prosecution testimony. Newsmen have been getting their stories in the court corridors from attorneys.

Valente reportedly will not ban the press and public from hearing defense testimony in the trial. Defense Atty. Samuel Segal has said Valente assured him of that.

Texas Pelicans Not Doing Well In A London Zoo

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Four pelicans sent from Texas to London haven't done so well, a radio announcer said last night while trying to get Louisiana replacements.

In 1951, the zoo at St. James Park in London let it be known that it could use some pelicans. Four were rushed from Texas before neighboring Louisiana could get around to filling the demand.

Mark O'Brien, announcer for Radio Station WCLB here, last week queried the zoo for a progress report on the Texas birds—Gal, Ves, Ton and Tex.

The reply came from Alan Melville, British humorist and playwright via the British Broadcasting Company.

Gal and Ves had died. Ton and Tex were not allowed out on the zoo lake except in the summer months.

But two pelicans from Pakistan romped merrily around summer and winter, the report continued. O'Brien began seeking Louisiana pelicans to send to London but did not meet immediate response.

Ex-Gov. Peterson Takes Over Civil Defense Position

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former Gov. Val Peterson of Nebraska took over today as federal civil defense administrator, on an acting basis pending Senate confirmation. The White House, in announcing the appointment yesterday, said it was cleared with Nebraska's Senators Butler and Griswold, both Republicans, who voiced no objections.

The two reportedly were ready to block confirmation of Peterson's appointment as ambassador to India when it was under consideration last month. Peterson had run against Butler for Nebraska's GOP Senate nomination.

Peterson succeeds James J. Wadsworth as civil defense chief and will draw $17,500 annually as compared with the $15,000 which went with his job as a White House administrative assistant.

When GRAND PRIZE introduced the original Texas Pale Dry Beer in January, 1950, it signalled the subsequent appearance of kindred brews in this area and the trend to lighter, drier beers began. It was part of a national change to a new characteristic in taste appeal.

But there was a real difference in Grand Prize Pale Dry, for this beer, brewed by the exclusive TOP OF THE BREW process for lighter color and drier taste did retain real beer flavor.

This flavorful, full-bodied, slow aged brew was a Gold Medal Award winner in International competition in Antwerp, Belgium in August, 1952, among judges who were experts — people who really know beer. For Texans who really know beer, it's the same taste result—PREMIUM QUALITY GRAND PRIZE—the brew with the REAL BEER FLAVOR.

Taxes Should Not Be Cut Unless And Until Budget Can Be Balanced

The House Ways and Means Committee has challenged the position of President Eisenhower that budget balancing should precede or at least accompany tax cutting. The committee, of course, seeking to carry out campaign promises of a tax cut, now says that the idea that taxes shouldn't be reduced until the budget is balanced is untenable. This philosophy is based on the assumption that there will be budget savings in the next fiscal year, so why not go on and take care of some tax relief out of this expectation.

to what extent the proposed $78 billion budget of Harry Truman can be sliced. The thing which will determine more than anything else the extent to which the budget can be reduced will be the defense appropriations. This outlay will have to be cut sharply before a significant dent can be made in the budget requirements. Yet, we can ill afford to cut this below a proper margin of safety. Until defense and other basic demands can be firmly established, Congress does not have any business cutting taxes, campaign promises notwithstanding. With the lifting of price controls, it is now more important than ever that the budget be balanced. And that can be said about the heights to which the national debt has attained out of deficit financing.

Some Things Which Blockade Can Accomplish And Yet Might Hazard

The Red radio Peiping was bragging this week over the amount of cargo moved last year along its coast and inland rivers. It claimed the total tonnage moved in government-owned ships was 5,312,000 tons, an increase of nearly 50 per cent over 1951. Another contribution to the discussion of a China blockade is made by Olen Clements, an AP correspondent currently with the U.S. Seventh Fleet off Korea. Clements says the fleet has Korea bottled up completely; the Reds have not been able to move anything by sea in that area, but the fact that the Korean peninsula is blessed with good roads and ample railroad lines has made it possible for the Reds to bring in supplies across the Yalu. In other words: while the peninsula is totally blockaded, the blockade hasn't starved out the Communists.

are leased from members of the United Nations. But a U.S. blockade of China, while it might stop the bulk of sea traffic, would be no easy chore, such as riding herd in Korean waters, because it would hurt the Communists badly. It would also produce violent reaction. Clements quotes Rear Admiral Apollo Soucek, commander of U.S. Carrier Division 3 in the Sea of Japan, as saying: "If there is nothing to keep the Russians from giving the Chinese planes and guns, there probably is no reason why they wouldn't give China submarines too." It is estimated Russia has 80 or more submarines in the Far East—some at Dairen and Vladivostok, perhaps some at Tsingtao. She has far more, all told, in operation or building than the U.S. takes a long time to train submarine crews, and nobody is available but Russians to operate them, the use of Russian U-boats in anti-blockade work would be tantamount to a declaration of war against the United States.

Timing Of The Reed Bill To Cut Taxes Is What Makes It So Bad

What the President does about the Reed tax bill is of truly critical importance. For this bill would lay it down as the over-riding rule of policy that the convenience of the taxpayers comes ahead of the national defense, the maintenance of our alliances, and the conduct of the cold war. The menacing character of this bill is not in its actual terms, which may prove to be sound, but in its timing. Under the existing law the excess profits tax on corporations will expire on June 30; the extra 11 per cent on individual income taxes, which was levied to finance the Korean War and rearmament, will expire on Dec. 31. Congressman Reed of New York, who is chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, has introduced his bill to favor the individual income tax payers. He would let the extra income tax expire with the excess profits tax on June 30.

could war. In the vast struggle around the globe nothing counts more than how Moscow and Washington estimate one another's intentions, and how the many nations of the two coalitions estimate these intentions. Any action is damaging which leads them or allows them to believe that we are putting our comfort and the convenience above our vital interests and our duties. President Eisenhower cannot afford to deal softly with an issue of this kind. The introduction of this bill has imposed upon him a test of his leadership of his party. It is not a difficult test. It is not that he can fail to pass successfully unless he hesitates, and lets it get away from him. As compared with the hard things he has to do and will have to do, the Reed tax bill is not a serious affair, not so to speak a serious wound but only an infected cut which, if it is not treated promptly, can do no end of harm.

The theory of the Reed bill is that by reducing taxes before the appropriations have even been considered, the Congress will have fixed the limits to which the Eisenhower administration must fit all its requests.

The right way, which will also prove to be the easiest way, is for the President to say in no uncertain terms that taxes should not be reduced until the budget has been balanced, and that he will propose to put the budget in balance at the level which does not impair our security and our capacity to play the part we have to play in the world.

Once he has taken this obviously right position, which is of course what he believes in, it will be a bold politician who can think up an argument to challenge it. Carrying Lunch Just A Bit Too Far

ST. LOUIS (U) — A man carrying his lunch in a paper bag walked into a restaurant, sat down at a table and ordered coffee. After the coffee was served he complained it didn't have enough cream in it. While eating his lunch he spilled coffee and cottage cheese on the tablecloth. There he put the unconsumed part of his lunch back in the bag and told the proprietor to put it in the teabox and he would return tomorrow to finish it.

Unavoidably and necessarily an action of this kind by the Congress would be regarded everywhere as an objective measure of what might be described as the quitting point of this country in the

His findings were based on a study of the seven largest denominations in the National Council of Churches of Christ in America. The survey included replies from 1,300 congregations.

American People For The Most Part Believe They Will End Up In Heaven

NEW YORK (U) — Americans never had it so good on earth. And a majority are snugly sure that, when they die, they will have it good in an after life, too. They are more certain of heaven than they are afraid of hell. How do the American people feel on the fundamental tenets of religion? Catholic Digest, a monthly magazine, is making a series of surveys to find out. Its most recent poll had some unexpected and disturbing results. It found that 99 per cent of Americans over 18 years of age believe in the existence of God but only 77 per cent think their own individual souls will live on after death.

President Wants To Score Soviets For Breaking Pacts

WASHINGTON (U) — One of the most puzzling things President Eisenhower has said since taking office—it was in his State of the Union message Feb. 2—was on the subject of war-time secret agreements. By putting together various statements since then, this seems to be what he had in mind: He wants Congress to denounce Russia, which has been roundly denounced in the past by this country, for breaking agreements. And this week Eisenhower said he personally knows of no agreements which are really still secret in the sense of not being known. Some parts of the Roosevelt-Churchill-Stalin agreements in 1945 were kept secret for awhile. The three men agreed that the people in the Eastern European countries, now under Russia's heel but then just being freshly liberated from the Nazis, should choose their own governments in free elections.

erved them, could promptly repudiate other agreements which might hurt this country. Berlin is a good example. The Americans, British and Russians made wartime agreements on dividing up Berlin and Germany. American officials in Berlin this week said not all those agreements have been published. When it came time for him to deliver his message Feb. 2, Eisenhower did not go so far as to talk of "repudiating" agreements. This is what he said: "We shall never acquiesce in the enslavement of any people in order to purchase fancied gain for ourselves. I shall ask the Congress at a later date to join in an appropriate resolution making clear that this government recognizes no kind of commitment contained in secret understandings with foreign governments which permit this kind of enslavement." But from the language, no one could tell for sure what Eisenhower meant or what agreements he might have in mind or whether he meant some war-time agreements still secret. So reporters asked for clarification when he held his first presidential news conference this week. Then, for the first time, he used the word "repudiate." He said he didn't assume it was desirable for the government to say everything agreed to was repudiated. It was at this conference that Eisenhower said he, personally, knows of no agreements still secret only in the sense the Senate has not formally approved all of them. But when Secretary of State Dulles held his news conference the following day, he said no "repudiation of any legally effective agreements" was intended. Making it clear that Eisenhower was proposing a joint resolution by Congress, Dulles said: "The declaration by the Congress and the President has two primary purposes: One is to register dramatically what we believe to be the many breaches by the Soviet Union of the war-time understandings; and, secondly, to register equally dramatically the desire and hope of the American people that the captive people shall be liberated."

This Day In Texas

By CURTIS BISHOP

The Lieutenant Colonel temporarily appointed to head the Department of Texas on this day in 1860 served only briefly in the Lone Star State, but has figured prominently in Texas history and legend. His name was Robert E. Lee, and his most pressing business was the protection of the Texas border against the raids of Juan Cortina. While military records show no outstanding feat during his tenure as head of the Texas department, an accumulation of legends about him would show him to have been a busy traveler. And also sleeper. If Robert E. Lee camped and resided at all the spots claimed by Texas communities, then, in a slangish term, he certainly "got around."

When he first raised the subject of secret agreements, Eisenhower was trying to live up to a pledge contained in the Republican campaign platform of last July. It said: "The government of the United States, under Republican leadership, will repudiate all commitments contained in secret understandings such as those of Yalta which aid Communist enslavement. It will be made clear, on the highest authority of the President and the Congress, that United States policy, as one of its peaceful purposes, looks happily forward to the genuine independence of those captive peoples." The word "repudiate" is far-reaching. If this country tried to repudiate one agreement made with Russia, the Communists, if it

The Thrill That Comes Once in a Lifetime

He was relieved of his command in 1861 and returned to Washington where he submitted his resignation and accepted a general's ranking in the Confederate Army. According to most accounts he was opposed to secession but preferred to fight with his native state. After his surrender he became president of what became Washington & Lee College. Lee did make a thorough inspection of frontier military posts and some of the legends about him are undoubtedly true. The story persists that when he left San Antonio he forgot some of his personal luggage, and that he never recovered it. Lee figured in another story dear to Texans. In one of the major battles he rode to the front lines to personally lead a charge. Hood's Texas Brigade, supposed to head the onslaught, refused to advance until their commander-in-chief had retired to the rear.

Maybe The Mississippi Mud Did Not Agree With Escaped Lions

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald.—Editor's Note. There was an interesting piece in the papers recently about a couple of lions that escaped during a circus performance, only to learn quickly that they were no match for "society." The incident happened over in Memphis, Tenn., that famed Mississippi River metropolis. Apparently one taste of freedom in one of the country's major cities was enough to make the lions want to sing one of those "blues" songs, for which Memphis and other points on the Mississippi are noted. According to documented reports, the lions slipped from the confines of conventional cages and made their way out of an auditorium and on to a city street. The "uproar" of the crowds, plus modern American traffic, caused the two beasts to return voluntarily and somewhat meekly to the cages, the report said. Since National Brotherhood Week is being observed now, this could be interpreted as serious indictment against the American people. Of course Brotherhood Week concerns itself chiefly with relations between human beings, but no doubt there are those among us who will ask how people are going to get along with other people if they can't get along with animals.

We won't attempt to answer that question, but in passing we can speculate on just what course of action the lions would have taken if they had escaped in Big Spring instead of Memphis. Certainly the specific locality of the escape would have some influence on their behavior. For example, if they had escaped at some spot like the Big Spring Rodeo grounds, or the ball park, while hundreds of people, called and whooped, chances are the "uproar" would have had the same effect that it did in Memphis. If they had escaped along Third Street, with its roar of automobiles and diesel trucks, perhaps they would have been seized with such fright that they wouldn't have been physically able to return to their cages. Or if they had made their escape on "high ground" while some of the recent breezes were kicking up "sprinkles" of sand and dust, they likely would have forsaken their old facilities of confinement to search frantically for cages with solid walls instead of bars. Although the report didn't say so, perhaps they got contrasting treatment in Memphis on the Mississippi. Maybe they got mud in their eyes. —WACIL McNAIR

Washington Calling—Marquis Childs

Administration Trying To Get U. S. Back To A Free Economy

WASHINGTON.—If anyone still doubted that a sweeping change has taken place in Washington, President Eisenhower at his first press conference made it abundantly clear. What could hardly have been surmised from the nature of the campaign last fall or from Mr. Eisenhower's background and conditioning is that the emphasis was largely on problems here at home. More than half of the time was taken up with the domestic economy and much of it with falling farm prices and price controls. The President traced the downward course of cattle prices from January 19, 1952, when beef brought $34, to January 23 of this year when it was $23.90. Now, said the President, the price is going back up again. He said it hopefully, reassuringly. He said it against the background of an intention to support Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson in his effort to free agriculture from the kind of controls considered too rigid and arbitrary. The President talked about the natural working of the economic law. He said that this could be counted on to keep prices in their proper relationship one to another. Some would go up, others would go down. That was the major theme of the conference—the return to a free economy. It came out in the President's discussion of taxation when he spoke of the very necessary objective of restoring private incentives by scaling down the burden of taxation once the budget has been brought in balance. What the Eisenhower administration is undertaking will require the stubbornness of an Army mule and the fighting spirit of a mountain lion. The angry roar already directed at Secretary Benson is a sample of the reaction to a declining economy—the end of the more or less permanent inflation of the past 10 years.

million to a million and a half pounds, with a standing offer by the government of 67¢ cents a pound for Grade A butter. Thus from $650,000 to $900,000 a day goes to buy butter that can be held in storage only a certain length of time before it becomes rancid. The law requires that butter prices be supported at 75 to 90 per cent of parity. The former secretary of agriculture, Charles F. Brannan, fixed the current buying program at 90 per cent. Many kinds of monetary and credit controls are available to government today which did not exist in 1929 when the crash put an end to the boom of the 'twenties. There are also cushions to prevent a too precipitous drop. The trick in the experiment launched by the Eisenhower administration would seem to be to have a little deflation—just enough to check the inflationary spiral and get the economy onto a stable plateau. But to have a little deflation may be as much of a trick as to have a little inflation. Leading Republicans in Congress seem determined to make the balancing act harder than it would be with full cooperation. Congressman Daniel Reed has set his Ways and Means Committee on the tax-cutting path in spite of repeated warnings from the White House. It is like watching a man walking across Niagara Falls on a tight-rope. You want him to succeed but you know about all the forces pulling against him.

Use Clicks, Clucks In Speech

Buffaloes and elephants supply much of the food of Bushmen, but the small hunters are ready to bring down almost any other kind of wild beast, including the giraffe, and they eat the flesh of the ostrich. When Bushmen learn that ostriches are nearby, they sometimes disguise themselves. After covering their shoulders and heads with leaves and ostrich feathers, they pick up sticks. Each hunter holds one stick above his head; this is meant to imitate the long neck of an ostrich. Creeping slowly toward the big birds, the Bushmen wait until they are close before shooting their poisoned arrows. A careful census of the Bushmen never has been taken, but their total number is estimated to be between 20,000 and 30,000. They range across a large area in southern Africa. The language of the Bushmen is known for its click-click sounds, also for croaking noises which are used as words. Nine kinds of clicking and clucking sounds are employed by these hunters. More than 20 tribes of Bushmen exist, and they speak different dialects, but all use clicking and clucking sounds when they talk. Common words run through the dialects. If a native uses as many as 100 or 150 words in everyday speech, he does very well—for a Bushman. These people have little to talk about except wild beasts and birds, trees and shrubs and roots, and they also use words for weapons, for people and for accounts of their hunting. Guesses of counting exist among the Bushmen. It seems that they know only two words for numbers, these meaning "one" or "two." To say "three," they speak of "one and two." To say "four," a Bushman may hold up two fingers of each hand. One hand, spread out, represents the number "five." Two hands give the count of "10." For TRAVEL section of your scrapbook. Mrs. Currie Speaks To Hyperions

Mrs. Ruth Currie, using a map to illustrate her points, discussed her trip to Africa at the meeting of the 1946 Hyperion Club in the home of Mrs. W. W. Posey Wednesday.

Mrs. Currie, who traveled in the Union of South Africa, Northern and Southern Rhodesia and the Belgian Congo, told the group that she covered 5,500 miles by automobile on her trip and that only 90 miles were on pavement.

She described Victoria Falls as seen from the air and barrier-controlled roads which are, in reality, one-way affairs with a native at each end to stop the flow of traffic when a given number from the other direction are on the road.

During the business meeting, the nominating committee made its report. Fourteen attended.

... CAPTAIN SPRINGER AND HER BROTHER

Sister Meets Brother For First Time In Two Years

A telephone call from the operations tower at Webb AFB Wednesday brought a moment of worry and then a feeling of jubilation for Captain Edna M. Springer, information and education officer at Webb.

The call was from the dispatcher and the reason for the happiness was that a C-47, piloted by her brother, Captain D. D. McCarty, was circling the field for a landing. Captain Springer, the only WAF stationed at Webb, said later, "I didn't know what to think when the radio dispatcher answered. When he said my brother was landing, you can imagine my feelings."

Lectureship Set To Open At ACC

ABILENE (Spl.)—Abilene Christian College is ready to welcome what is expected to be the largest number of persons ever to attend its annual Bible Lectureship.

The 34th annual five-day series of lectures on Bible subjects will open Sunday and run through Thursday. The lectures will relate to the 1953 theme, "The Church at Work."

Opening the series will be Glenn L. Wallace, minister of the College Church of Christ, Abilene, who will speak on "The Influence of the Church in Community Life" at 10:30 a.m. Sunday in the College Church of Christ.

Robert C. Jones, minister of the Southside Church of Christ, Fort Worth, will close out Sunday's program, speaking at 7:30 p.m. in the College Church of Christ on "The Influence of the Church in the Individual's Life."

After Sunday, the lectures will move into three auditoriums simultaneously to accommodate the crowds. Besides the College Church building, Sewell Auditorium and Bennett Gymnasium on the ACC campus will be used.

Delivering the main lectures, besides Wallace and Jones, are the following Church of Christ preachers:

Delmar Owens, Tulsa, Okla.; Clifton Rogers, Fort Arthur; Paul Wallace, Gladewater; Willard Collins, Nashville, Tenn.; James D. Willetford, Madison, Wis.; Carl Spain, Houston; and Leonard Mullens, Dallas.

Twenty classes pertaining to practical phases of the work of the church will be held four afternoons, Feb. 23-26. This new feature is especially designed for elders, Bible class teachers, preachers and song leaders.

Coffee Proceeds Next Week To Aid In Disease Fight

When you take that coffee break Thursday, it may mean a lift for someone suffering from a unique malady.

Proceeds from sale of coffee in most Big Spring restaurants during the day will go to the National Foundation for Muscular Dystrophy. Lonnie Coker has been made chairman of the effort in Big Spring and Howard County.

"So far I have had 100 per cent cooperation from the heads of restaurants I have called," said Coker.

The Texas Restaurant Association is sponsoring the campaign. Funds raised will be devoted to helping some of the victims of the malady. It is the type of disorder which claimed the life of Lou Gehrig, famous "pride of the New York Yankees," many years ago.

The state restaurant organization took over the project when two needed and deserving cases were called to attention of the organization's leadership. Coker is urging all restaurants in Howard County to observe the day and to turn the proceeds over to him to be recognized and forwarded to state headquarters.

New Cost-Of-Living Index Is Due For Appearance Next Week

WASHINGTON (AP)—A brand new cost-of-living index, computed after an exhaustive three-year price and spending survey across the nation, makes its first appearance next week.

Ewan Clague, computer of the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics, says the new index, though not an exact measurement, will be the "most comprehensive" in the past 20 years.

The consumers' price index is nothing more than a monthly measurement of the change in prices—with the accent on "change"—of hundreds of goods and services bought by moderate income families who live in big and small cities.

Taken all together, BLS calls these 30 items, ranging from cigarettes to surgery, the "market basket" of goods and services which families of wage-earners and clerical workers must buy to maintain their level of living.

The American people are constantly changing their spending habits. Ten years ago there were almost no television sets. Today there are nearly 21 million. TV sets are now as much a part of the average family's budget as automobiles and movies. Thus, TV sets will now be included in the "market basket" and their changing costs will become part of the monthly index.

Up to now the cost-of-living index has been computed from price changes in 225 items, measured by price sampling in 34 cities, all large. Besides expanding the number of items to 300 by adding TV sets, frozen foods and others, BLS will take price samples from now on in 46 cities, ranging in size from New York to towns of 2,500.

BLS sent pricing specialists into the homes of typical families in all these cities to get a complete record of the kinds, qualities and amounts of foods, clothing, furniture and all other goods and services bought in 1950, and how much was spent for each item.

Results of this survey showed that: The average family spent 30.1 per cent of its total expenditures for food; 32 per cent for housing; 9.7 per cent for clothes;

11 per cent for transportation; 4.7 per cent for medical care; 2.1 per cent for personal care (such as toilet articles); 5.4 per cent on reading and recreation (which includes TV); and 5 per cent for "other goods and services"—tobacco and alcoholic beverages, legal services, burial expenses and others.

Comparing this modern market basket with the one in use up to now shows interesting contrasts. For example: The old cost-of-living index gave a weight of 35.4 per cent to housing, nearly two points more than housing's new value in the market basket.

The new index will use average prices in the period 1947-1949 as a base of 100. The base is arbitrary—it could be any period at all. In fact, Clague has announced that he will issue the new index also on a 1935-1939 base for at least the next 12 months, so that easy comparisons can be made between the new and old index.

The old index was tied to the 1925-1929 base.

The 1947-1949 base means this:

If the new index out next week, which will measure the change in the price level from Dec. 16 - Jan. 15, shows that prices on Jan. 15 were exactly the same as the average in 1947-1949, the Jan. 15 index would come out exactly 100. This won't happen, because prices are now about 14 per cent higher than the 1947-1949 average. So the new index due next week will probably be somewhere around 114—114 per cent of the 1947-1949 base.

Masked Man Can't Stand In Sunlight

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP)—Harry Brockley, 26, an employee of the Wyoming Game and Fish Department, wears a pillow-case mask when he is out in the sun.

He suffers from lupus erythematosus, which means simply that he is allergic to sunlight.

Brockley says there is no known cure for the rare malady, which he believes he caught while serving for three years as a crew member on a patrol torpedo boat in New Guinea and in The Philippines. However, the disease did not become apparent until last fall.

The disease also causes severe rheumatism which curtails his physical activities, he said.

A few minutes of direct sunlight, Brockley explained, causes a breakdown of the connecting tissues—blood, nerves and cartilage, resulting in a skin rash and nausea. When he goes outside, he wears the mask and uses a skin cream that filters the ultra-violet rays from the sun.

Wood substance weighs about 1 1/2 times as much as water, but most wood will float because the substance contains many air spaces.

General Marries 'Frisco Widow

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Maj. Gen. Daniel H. Hudelson, commander of the 40th Division, California National Guard, was honeymooning today with his second wife, the former Mrs. Patricia Lemoge, San Francisco widow whom he met while his troops were in training before embarking for Korea.

Gen. Hudelson's first wife, Edna, divorced him last Wednesday in Las Vegas, Nev., after 28 years of marriage. When he returned from Korea last year and announced his love for Mrs. Lemoge, Mrs. Hudelson told reporters: "I love the guy and am going to fight for him."

Yesterday's ceremony was performed by Superior Judge Benjamin Scheinman in his chambers, with the general's sister, Mrs. Elsie Cawelli, and the bride's 19-year-old daughter, Pat Lemoge, as witnesses.

The general has two children by his first wife, William, 18, and Mrs. Juanita Smith, 25.

THE BEST TIME TO STOP TELEPHONE TROUBLE is before it starts, so the hunt for possible trouble goes on through the night. Wires are checked with electronic testers (above). Sensitive switching equipment is vacuum-cleaned. Every possible precaution is taken to make sure that you will have instant service whenever you want it—day or night. As a result, the average telephone gets out of order only once in 24 months. Only in America can you find such a telephone service record. "THE GREAT DIVIDE"

In the great Mid-West of our country stands one of the miracles of nature called "The Great Divide." Here, if a drop of water falls to the west of the divide, it goes on and on into the Pacific Ocean. If it falls to the east, it flows until it reaches the Atlantic Ocean.

In our lives, little "divides" cause us to swerve to the right or to the left; toward the thing that is right or the thing that is wrong and sinful. Little things? No, not as little as they seem, for often a little deed changes the whole course of one's life, or the life of another.

Of ourselves we can do nothing, but help is near. The Church stands ready, offering us the sure hand of Christian faith. Here we can find strength to make the right decision at every "divide" in life's way.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

AT BIG SPRING CHURCHES
Churches Of City Taking Part In A Religious Survey Sunday Afternoon

Many churches in Big Spring will join together Sunday afternoon in taking a religious survey of the city.

To be held from 1-3 p.m., the survey will cover all residential areas of the city, according to the Big Spring Pastor's Association which is sponsoring the event. Members of the churches in the Association will make the canvass.

A new plan for including in the survey any persons who will be away from home and others who may not wish to be disturbed during the afternoon has been announced.

This includes a re-production of a religious survey card which is being published in The Herald. Those who enter the requested information in the blank forms and attach them to the front doors of their homes will not be disturbed during the canvass.

This will not only be more convenient for many residents, but will also enable workers to complete their tasks rapidly, members of the Association have said.

Two churches are continuing revivals this week while two others are making plans to being services early in the week.

ASSEMBLY OF GOD
 The first service in the newly-organized Second Assembly of God Church will be held Sunday at 11 a. m. immediately following Sunday School at 10. Pastor of the church is the Rev. H. A. Wilson, formerly of Post.

At 9 a.m. Sunday there will be the service of Holy Communion. The Rev. Grooms' evening topic

Methodist Church in Colorado City, will speak. The Rev. Thurston is no stranger to Big Spring as he held a revival at Wesley Memorial several years ago.

PRESBYTERIAN
 Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, will preach on "What About Him" at the church's morning service, which will be broadcast over Radio Station KBST. In the evening, Dr. Lloyd will begin a new series of sermons on the Cross as he speaks on "Looking Toward Easter." The newly-organized Youth Choir will sing.

A. A. Porter, elder in the First Presbyterian Church, will speak at the morning services of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church Sunday.

H. L. THURSTON

Sunday will be "The Divine Invitation."

A Holy Communion service will be held Sunday morning at the Wesley Memorial Methodist Church. That evening, the Rev. Marvin Fisher, pastor, will speak on "Christ for All." A revival will be held at the church Feb. 24-28 at 8 p.m. each day. The Rev. H. L. Thurston, pastor of the First

How Jesus Answered Questions
 HIS REPLIES SILENCED HIS ENEMIES

Scripture—Matthew 22:15-46.

BY NEWMAN CAMPBELL
WE ALL ask questions. We begin in early childhood when we are filled with curiosity to know the what and the why of everything we see or hear, in order to gain a knowledge of this strange world in which we find ourselves. We go to school and then the teachers ask us questions to discover what our young minds retain of the subjects which have been taught us.

The questioning does not cease when we become adult. In fact, there are more questions, more important ones, that keep us asking all our lives. We ask questions about religion that we may know the truth and live by its teachings. We ask about right and wrong and justice, and we try to solve our personal problems by the knowledge obtained by our questionings.

In our free country we ask questions of the lawmakers whom we have elected to make and administer our laws, and give them our approval or disapproval at the polls at the next election. Do we appreciate fully this great privilege?

However, Jesus, whose life on earth is our example and answer to our moral queries, was asked questions merely to discover if in His answers He would say something by which they could trap Him to His death. His wise and brilliant answers usually silenced His tormentors.

After taking counsel with one another as to how they could entangle Jesus in His own words, the Pharisees sent some of their disciples with the Herodians (possibly principally Sadducees), to ask Him if it was lawful to give tribute unto Caesar or not? Under the dominion of Rome Jews were naturally resentful and rebellious.

The messengers of the Pharisees began their question with the flattering words: "Master, we know that Thou art true, and teachest the way of God in truth, neither carest Thou for any man: for Thou regardest not the person of men."

"Tell us, therefore, what thinkest thou? Is it lawful to give tribute unto Caesar or not?"

Jesus knew what was in their wicked hearts, and He said: "Why tempt ye Me, ye hypocrites?"

He then asked someone to bring

MEMORY VERSE
 "Never man so spake."—John 7:16.

seven brothers married and then died, the law said the second brother should marry the woman and bring forth children. In this case, they said, the second brother was wed to the woman and he, too, died, and the next brother married her. One by one the brothers each married the same woman, all died, and finally the woman herself passed away. Whose wife, they asked, would she be in the Resurrection?

Jesus rebuked them for not knowing the Scriptures and the power of God. In the Resurrection, He told them, there is neither marrying nor giving in marriage, but all are as angels. And the Scriptures say that God is not the God of the dead, but of the living.

They were astonished at His doctrine.

The next question, concerning the greatest commandment, is discussed very fully in our next lesson, so we will not devote space to it today. The last question, that the Pharisees were unable to answer, will also be discussed in the lesson of March 2, and as our space here is filled, we will leave that one, too, to the next lesson.

Voice Official Scores Watered-Down Script

By G. MILTON KELLY WASHINGTON (AP)—A New York Times editorial today said the "Voice of America" today charged three of his fellow workers with "watering down" anti-Communist references in scripts prepared for overseas broadcasts.

The employees, Virgil H. Pulling, told a Senate investigations subcommittee he had encountered several such instances and had come to feel he was fighting "insular influences."

Asked by Chairman McCarthy (R-Wis) to name those he considered responsible "for this softening down or catering to the Communist," Pulling called out the names of Harold Berman, Donald Taylor and Robert Goldman.

Pulling identified himself as chief of the Latin-American news service of the "Voice."

He presented to the subcommittee documents which he said covered a specific instance of watering down last Jan. 21, the day after President Eisenhower's inauguration.

On that day, Pulling related, he prepared a script which told of anti-American demonstrations by "anti-Communist" elements in Guatemala.

However, he said that the description, "anti-Communist," was twice penciled out of his copy on the central news desk of the "Voice" in New York.

The subcommittee is digging into charges of both waste and subversion in the State Department's information program. The overseas broadcasts by the "Voice" are only one phase of the program.

Sen. Mundt (R-SD) told reporters that on the basis of what already has been disclosed he is convinced the "Voice" needs "a lot of new blood and a new set of directors."

McClellan declared the situation "looks rotten."

The State Department has accepted the resignation of Dr. Wilson S. Compton as head of its International Information Administration which runs the Voice, emphasizing his departure has nothing to do with the inquiry.

McCarthy entered his denials after John C. Caldwell, who had worked with him in China, termed him "a very ruthless opportunist."

Caldwell said Connors had favored the Chinese Reds in an apparent hope that such a position would help him reach "the top" in the information and propaganda section.

He said he did not doubt Connors' loyalty.

The subcommittee also placed in its record the purported confession of a man executed by Nationalist China as a spy. This document, signed by one Li Peng, named Connors as one of a clique in the Far East which it said "wittingly or unwittingly" leaked secrets for the Communists' benefit in the mid-1940s.

Connors disclosed the State Department, effective Wednesday, had clamped a ban on the overseas use of material from "controversial" writers, including Communists and fellow travelers.

He said it cancels one he had signed on Feb. 3—but responsibility for which he "saved" authorizing the use of material favorable to the U. S. written by such persons.

Some officials at the State Department questioned whether this would bar the Voice from quoting Stalin, since he is a Communist.

The radio has often used quotes from Stalin in an effort to point out contradictions to its listeners behind the Iron Curtain.

McCarthy told Connors he should be removed as policy chief after the witness testified he had never read any works by Stalin, Marx or Lenin.

McCarthy said this showed "a complete lack of knowledge" of the evils Connors was said to combat.

Korea To Offer Chance To Gain Asian Troops

By RUSSELL BRINES WASHINGTON (AP)—Informed congressmen said today the Eisenhower administration apparently has decided to use the Korean peninsula as a time to build up Asian replacements for some of the American forces there.

They said they based this interpretation on various evidences of administration policy, climaxed by yesterday's White House briefing for congressional leaders and including Secretary of State Dulles' news conference remarks Wednesday.

The policy, they believe, will be to intensify pressure on Communist China without risking heavy American casualties in a spectacular effort to end the Korean War.

Most of half a dozen congressmen interviewed said they thought Congress would support such a program. Some congressmen have predicted, however, that strong public pressure will build up for dramatic action.

One informant, who attended yesterday's briefing and requested anonymity, said there was no indication that a major offensive or any radical change in American strategy is contemplated.

Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, reportedly told the Senate Armed Services Committee recently that an offensive now would risk heavy casualties and would be of doubtful value.

However, the retiring 8th Army commander, Gen. James A. Van Fleet, has said he believes an offensive now would be successful.

Dulles has told senators the administration will consult Congress and America's allies before making any dramatic moves in the Far East. At his Wednesday news conference, Dulles said the U. S. is considering shifting some of the fighting in the Orient to native troops as one way of erasing Russia's advantage in having Western forces tied down in Korea and Indo-China.

McCarthy told Connors he should be removed as policy chief after the witness testified he had never read any works by Stalin, Marx or Lenin.

McCarthy said this showed "a complete lack of knowledge" of the evils Connors was said to combat.

Contested Will Of Oilman Is Settled Outside Of Court

HOUSTON (AP)—Contest of the will of the late Calvert Smith, Houston oilman, was settled out of court yesterday.

Smith's estate was valued at an estimated 2 1/2 million dollars in inherited largely from his father, the late R. E. Smith.

Probate Judge Glen McClelland approved an agreement where Smith's widow, Mrs. Mattie Smith, will receive 2,000 shares of Humble Oil stock, $1,000 in cash and dividends paid on the stock since last Oct. 14.

In the will, filed for probate Oct. 22, Mrs. Smith had been left a home in Houston.

Argentine Party Is Ousted From Antarctic Isle

LONDON (AP)—The long standing international contest over control of the Antarctic was stirred anew today by Britain's announcement that it has ousted an Argentine party from Deception Island, in the disputed Falklands, and tipped down Argentine and Chilean buildings there.

The British have maintained a weather station on the barren nine-mile-wide island 10 years, but their claims to the region have been challenged by the two South American countries. Both the latter claim sovereignty over all territory between their southern borders and the South Pole. Britain rules the island group as a crown colony.

A Foreign Office spokesman told reporters today that two Argentine establishments themselves on an airstrip adjoining the British base in January.

"On Feb. 15," the statement said, "the acting governor of the islands took steps to dismantle the buildings which had been erected and to arrest and deport . . . two Argentine personnel occupying them."

"A Chilean hut, established in the same area, was dismantled at the same time," the Foreign Office statement said.

Accidents Break Out On Thursday; No Injuries Noted

A flurry of accidents, two of them involving three vehicles each, broke out in Big Spring Thursday.

Two of the mishaps occurred in the 200 block of East Second.

Police said David C. Bryant, Terrell, and S. S. Patkin, Big Spring, were operators of vehicles in collision about noon in the 200 block of Second. Laverne Wiser, 711 E. 12th, Arno B. Ligon, Abilene, and Mack Majors, 510 Bell, were operators of machines which collided in the same area about 1:15 p.m.

An accident at 100 E. 4th about 2:20 p.m. involved cars driven by Kenneth Porter, Mesa, Ariz.; John Henry Bailey, Abilene; and John Braxton Drake, Keller, police said.

L. G. Cantrell, 400 Gollah, and Mary Anne Leonard, 714 Scurry, were operators of cars involved in a collision at 18th and Rannels about 7:10 p.m., according to officers.

A car owned by Gladys M. Collier Clinton rolled across the street and struck another auto, owned by Joseph L. Borghorst, 1009 Wood, in the 1100 block of East 15th about 8:40 p.m., police reported.

No injuries resulted from any of the mishaps, according to police reports.

Forsan Bisons Win 23-B Cage Pennant

GARDEN CITY — Forsan's Buffaloes won the District 23-B basketball championship by nudging the Garden City Bearkats, 46-37, here Thursday night.

The win was the second in a row for the Bisons over Targe Lindell's Kats, eliminating the necessity for a third game, which would have been played in Big Spring tonight.

Garden City gave the Buffs all they could handle until Wilburn Bednar, Bobby Fritzel and Truet Newell fouled out late in the game. Garden City scored five points early in the battle before Forsan could untrack. Forsan was leading at the end of the first period, however.

After the Buffs had taken a 19-16 advantage at half time, the Bearkats came back to tie the count at the end of the third round, 21-all.

Albert Oglesby tossed in 21 points to lead Forsan. Dan Hayhurst had eight and Jerry Fowler seven for Forsan.

For Garden City, Bryant Harris again set the pace with 13 points. Harry Calverley counted nine for the Kats.

Bills May Pass Up Tourneys

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Invitation Basketball Tournament, which lost greatly desired Seattle to the NCAA, may lose equally sought after St. Louis to the classrooms.

St. Louis, tremendously popular with the New York fans, virtually wrote its own invitation to the NIT last night by swamping New York University, 98-78, at Madison Square Garden. But St. Louis Coach Eddie Hickey said he was doubtful that bid could be accepted.

"We've missed an awful lot of school on this road trip," Hickey said. The team has been away from St. Louis since last Friday and won't get home until Sunday.

"It will be up to the university authorities," the coach continued, "and they may think another trip back here would be too much."

Hickey admitted he would like to come to the NIT. "After all," he said, "New York is the Billikens' second home."

St. Louis won the NIT in 1947 and has played in it three times since then, including last year.

The NIT, which opens March 7, has correlated four of its needed dozen teams—unbeaten Seton Hall, ranked No. 1 nationally in the Associated Press poll; fourth-ranking LaSalle; ninth-ranking Western Kentucky; and Manhattan College of New York, No. 13 in the poll.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Hack Miller, field boss of the Big Spring Brones, is of that group which isn't too worried over the decrease in the number of leagues in Organized baseball.

Miller reasons there haven't been enough ball players to go around in the immediate past. "Oh, there are some fellows who passed for ball players, but they shouldn't have been allowed on the playing field," says Hack.

"They got by only because there wasn't anyone to take their place. It should be different, now that jobs are less plentiful and the young boys trying to break into the game are really going to have to do something to rate a second look."

Miller says there's no other sport quite like baseball. He points out a big boy, if he has the least bit of co-ordination, can learn football and generally excel at the sport by using his size to good advantage.

Baseball players, on the other hand, don't have to be behemoths to be good hitters or good fielders. Lack of left is no handicap, he reasons. Good baseball players come in all sizes.

SLEEPING ACCOMMODATIONS WOULD BE BETTER Hack says he yearns to return to the major leagues as a manager for only one reason: "I want to ride in a lower berth. When I was with Detroit, it was always Upper Five for me," laughs Hack.

MILLER TRIES TO KEEP HIS CAP ON Hack is no more sensitive about his bald pate than the next fellow but he tries to keep his cap on during a game, even while he's catching and is forced to throw off his mask to go after a foul ball.

He thinks showing a bald head to enemy stands can only be compared to waving a red flag in front of a bull. A few years back, the fans in a city of another league hung the nickname "Blondy" on Hack because they were afforded no close glimpses of his bare head from a distance, thought the man actually had golden locks.

Hack employs no chin strap. Neither does he glue his sky-piece down, but he does wear a tight fitting cap that stays on under the most trying of conditions.

AL MONCHAK IS STILL SEEKING BASEBALL JOB Al Monchak, the tempestuous ex-boss of the Roswell Rockets, continues to be dogged by tough luck.

Al had a job lined up as manager of the Sunbury team of the Inter-State (Class B) League but the circuit isn't going to operate this year. He's still hunting for a manager's job.

Mark Christian, former San Angelo boss, was manager of the York, Penna., team in the same circuit but the city was moved into the Piedmont League and Mark kept his job.

NO REASON GIVEN Stanton Mentor Resigns Post

STANTON (Sp) — Charles T. (Red) Read, coach at Stanton High, has submitted his resignation to the Stanton school board effective today.

Read gave no reason for his decision and school officials had no comment. A spokesman did say that a successor will not be named until the matter has been given considerable future study.

Read also taught mathematics and history. He is married and he and Mrs. Read have two children. The coach was considered very popular among students and towns people alike. His resignation caught the whole community by surprise.

He did not announce any plans for the future. Read succeeded Leo Fields as head coach here in 1951. His team failed to win a game in 1951 but staged a great comeback to cop four decisions the following year.

Fields had taken his team to the regional finals in 1950 but practically all his players were seniors.

New SMU Coach

Chalmers E. Woodard (above) has been named Southern Methodist University head football coach. He succeeds Rusty Russell, who resigned. He was athletic director and head coach of football, basketball and track at McPherson College in Kansas. (AP Wirephoto).

Bell Pleased Job Is Over

DALLAS (AP)—Nineteen days and $500 in telephone tolls later, Southern Methodist University has a new head football coach—Chalmers E. Woodard, who made McPherson of Kansas the scourge of the Midwest's small colleges.

Woodard yesterday was named to succeed H. N. (Rusty) Russell, who resigned Feb. 1 after three losing seasons in which the alumni howled.

Matty Bell, athletic director of Southern Methodist, said he was worried about only one thing—the telephone bill he will get as a result of his efforts to land a coach. "I telephoned everywhere," said Bell.

But the athletic director added that he felt a great load had been lifted from his shoulders. He recommended Woodard to the faculty committee on athletics as "one of the outstanding young coaches of the country."

Bell compared Woodard to Paul Brown, who gained fame as a high school coach in Ohio, coached at Ohio State and now is a top coach in professional football.

Woodard coached at Kingman, Dodge City and Lawrence, Kan., high schools, having six undefeated teams in 10 years. In three years at McPherson College he had 18 victories against eight defeats, being unbeaten last season.

When he took over at McPherson the team had won only one game in two years. Woodard will fly here Sunday to discuss his assistants. The faculty committee gave him a free hand in naming his staff.

The McPherson College mentor received a three-year contract at an estimated $12,000 a year. The faculty committee has just finished paying Russell for the last three years of his contract—an estimated $38,000.

Woodard will return to McPherson to finish the basketball season —he is the cage coach, too—then plans to open spring training at SMU March 2.

Woodard will install the T formation at SMU, a school that has never known anything else except the single wing. This means that next fall only one school in the Southwest Conference will have the single wingback-Arkansas. All others will have the T, including Texas Christian, which was a single wing stronghold until Dutch Meyer retired as coach in December and was succeeded by Abe Martin, his first assistant.

Meyer Says He May Claim 20 Mound Wins

By BEN OLAN AP Sports Writer

Major league hurlers will get down to serious spring training business in a couple of days but so far the pitch is the usual "I'm gonna have a great year."

Russ Meyer, acquired by the Brooklyn Dodgers in a four-club, five-player transaction earlier this week, reported to the Brooks' camp at Vero Beach, Fla., yesterday and promptly predicted he'd help the Dodgers gain their second straight National League pennant.

"If I pitch the type of ball I did last season," he said after signing his 1953 contract, "I have a good chance of winning 20 games."

Russ posted a mediocre 13-14 slate in 1952 with the Philadelphia Phillies but his record was dipped in hard luck. He lost six times by one run and in three other of his games the Phillies were blanked.

Washington's Bob Porterfield, another tough left moundsman, declared at Orlando, Fla., "I'm going to come up with a really big year and kill the idea that I'm jinxed."

The 28-year-old pitcher has been the victim of a broken finger, a line drive which creased his skull and another liner which hit his leg and kept him out of action a month.

At Tampa, Detroit Manager Freddie Hutchinson said the Tigers' pitching staff will be the best in the American League this season. The Bengals finished in the cellar in 1952.

Art Houtteman, Ned Garver, Ted Gray, Hal Newhouser, Bill Wight and young Bill Hoelt form the nucleus of the Tiger mound corps.

Cook's To Play Bottlers At 6

KNOTT — Knott, Coca-Cola of Big Spring and Ackery picked up wins in the first round of play in the Knott Independent Basketball Tournament here Thursday night.

Play will be resumed at 6 o'clock this evening. Championship finals are down for 9 p.m. Saturday. Knott trounced Forsan, 55-40. Bobby Beall paced the winners with 18 points. Girz Gilstrap had 14 for Forsan.

Garden City yielded to Coca-Cola, 60-45. D. A. Miller counted 23 points for Coca-Cola. A. Gregg led for Garden City.

Ackerly outlasted Center Point, 45-27. Cook's Appliance Store of Big Spring, which drew a first round bye, plays Coca-Cola at 6 p.m. today. Forsan and Center Point meet in the loser's bracket at 7 p.m. Knott and Ackerly have at it at 8 p.m.

Should Cook's Appliance lose to Coca-Cola, it will return to action against Garden City at 9 p.m. Otherwise, there will be no game. A girls' exhibition between Knott and Stanton teams get Saturday night's action underway at 7 p.m. Consolation finals are down for 8.

Haney, Sandlock Helped Lindell Get New Chance

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Johnny Lindell, former Yankee slugging star now back in the big leagues as a pitcher with the Pittsburgh Pirates, credits Fred Haney and Mike Sandlock as the two men most responsible for his return to the big time.

The big, good-natured Californian, en route to Havana to join his new mates at spring training camp, said today if it weren't for Haney and Sandlock he probably would be out of baseball altogether working as a cop at the Santa Anita Race Track.

"Haney managed me in Hollywood," explained Lindell, "and it was he who gave me my chance to pitch when it became apparent to both of us that I no longer had it as an outfielder. Fred is one of the finest persons I've ever met. He's the nearest thing to Joe McCarthy as a manager I have ever played under. If it weren't for his faith in me, I'd never be here."

"Sandlock was my catcher in Hollywood. He helped me greatly. It was he who nursed me along, gave me encouragement and acted as my tutor and counselor. My luckiest break, next to coming back to the big leagues was when a new career as an outfielder and was not only good enough to make the grade with the Yankees but was chosen on several all-star teams and helped the Yankees win three world championships.

The day came when John's batting eye dimmed and he could no longer get his bat around on the fast ball. He moved on to St. Louis, then to Hollywood. Never one to kid himself, Lindell realized that his playing days were numbered unless he did something drastic, so he went back to his first love—pitching.

Somewhere along the line, John had picked up a knuckleball pitch. So he put it to use with the Hollywood club. Manager Haney allowed him to pitch in the final game of the 1950 season—and John lost a 1-0 game in which he allowed two hits.

Lindell came to camp the following spring as a pitcher. He did fairly well, winning 12 while losing only nine. Lindell returned in 1952 to burn up the league. He knuckleballed the Pacific Coast to death, racking up a 21-9 mark. He led all pitchers in total victories, complete games, innings pitched and strikeouts. This earned him a trip back to the big time—at the age of 36.

Dave Hobson, sophomore guard on the Yale basketball squad, is the son of Howard Hobson, coach of the Eli hoopsters.

Haney and Sandlock were brought up to the Pirates with me."

It was 15 years ago that big John, then a 21-year-old minor league sensation on the mound, saw his dream go up in smoke when he hurt his pitching arm.

Most youngsters would have thrown in the towel. But not this strapping kid. Unable to throw the fast ball any more, Lindell started

DEFEAT ODESSA, 52-49

Hawks Clinch Zone Crown

The Odessa JC Wranglers, a ball hawking group that played possession basketball all the way, gave the HCJC Jayhawks the scare of their lives before yielding in a spine-tingling West Zone game here Thursday night. Final tab was 52-49 and the Big Springers had to go into two overtime periods to decide it.

The triumph, shaky though it was, clinched West Zone honors for the third straight year for the locals.

HCJC never led in the game until Chuck Warren zeroed in on a penalty shot three minutes deep in the second overtime period.

Odessa, led by a quick-silver performance on the part of little Tommy Smith, commanded a ten-point advantage at one point in the game.

The Wranglers seemed content to make the Hawks come and get them and rarely worked the ball in save when they had a sure shot at the basket.

HC was off its game as it never had before this year. To the Jayhawks' credit, however, they gathered their forces when the outlook appeared hopeless and simply bruised their way to victory.

Tied at 49-all at the end of the regulation game, the two teams scored not a point in the first five-minute overtime. Odessa grabbed the tipoff, went into its shell and held onto the melon throughout the period. The Wranglers drove for the basket in the last six seconds of play but were never able to lift the lid on the hoop.

HCJC controlled the ball when play was resumed and gave the Wranglers some of their own medicine. Three minutes deep in the round, Warren was fouled under the basket and sent the Hawks ahead for the first time by sinking one of two free shots.

With the seconds ticking away, Odessa brought the ball back down court but an erratic pass gave the locals the ball out of bounds. Bobby Williams then got loose under the basket and got a tip-in for the clincher.

A fine all-around performance by Bobby Maines in the first half kept the Hawks within shooting distance.

Casey Jones kept firing at the basket and wound up with high scoring honors for HCJC with 18 points, the same number Smith gathered for the Wranglers.

Smith was the key man in the Odessa attack and speeded up the game or slowed it down to his liking.

The Wranglers lost their tallest boy, Bobby Black, on fouls in the third period. Shortly thereafter, the Jayhawks' Dick Gilmore and Maines trekked to the sidelines for the same reason.

HCJC's B team yielded to a combination Y Industrial League all-star team, 70-67, in a preliminary game.

Frank Hardesty again led the independents with 18 points. Howard Washburn had 13 and Bob Parkin 11 for the winners.

For the losers, Rodney Cramer, was red-hot with 23 points. Jerome Farmer had 11 and Calvert Shorten ten for the Beehawks.

Crafty Admiral Hialeah Choice

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Twelve horses with a grand total of almost $2,500,000 in race earnings—the richest field ever assembled for a race in Florida—are expected to be entered today for the 16th running of the $100,000 added Widener at Hialeah Saturday.

With 12 starters, the race would gross $137,500, with $100,200 going to the winner.

One likely entrant was eliminated when trainer Joe Jansen reported that Sam E. Wilson Jr.'s Gushing Oil had not been training satisfactorily for the mile-and-a-quarter test.

The 12 probable entries will be Crafty Admiral, Spartan Valor, One Count, Battlefield, Alerted, Oil Capitol, Ken, Happy Go Lucky, How, Admiral's Price, Royal Vale and Golden Trend.

If the track is muddy, Crafty Admiral, despite his top weight load of 131 pounds, would be a standout favorite.

A fast strip would be to the advantage of the Admiral's chief rivals—Spartan Valor, One Count and Battlefield.

Al Brosch, Johnny Palmer Tied At 64 In Tournament

By JACK RUTLEDGE
MEXICO CITY (AP)—Goldfom's big guns began putting pressure on the two leaders today as Mexico's par-busting tournament went into its second day.

Scores pointed to a possible photo-finish as 48 of the 162 players broke par on the 6,664-yard 72-par Chapultepec course.

Al Brosch of Garden City, N. Y., who led the first round in the 1952 U. S. Open, and John Palmer of Charlotte, N. C., winner of last summer's Canadian Open, got off to a quick start with eight-under-par 64's.

Despite their solid scores, the big names of North American golfers were breathing on their necks.

Lloyd Mangrum, Cary Middlecoff, Julius Boros, Byron Nelson, Jimmy Demaret, and Tony Holguin also had below-par cards, and with three days to go could make things tough for Brosch and Palmer.

Entered in the 88,400 peso ($9,450) Open are champions from five Western Hemisphere countries—the U. S., Mexico, Argentina, Venezuela and Canada.

Mexico's Andres Cruz was tied with Nelson for third with 66. Argentina's Roberto de Vicenzo had a 69 and his fellow countryman, Antonio Cedro, a 70.

Today, Nelson and Vicenzo were bracketed with Juan Neri of Mexico in second round matches.

GAME AT 8

HC, Ranger Vie Here Saturday

HCJC's basketball forces go after their 24th victory of the 1952-53 season here Saturday night, when they meet Ranger JC at 8 o'clock.

The Jayhawks' all-time record for victories is 25, set when they ruled as state champions in 1950-51. They have a good chance to shade that mark.

The Hawks, prepping for their Tuesday night engagement with Amarillo, will seek a return to form in Saturday night's engagement. The locals were almost caught napping in the battle last night with Odessa.

HCJC defeated Ranger decisively early in the season. Little is known of Ranger's record since that time.

The game was originally booked for Tuesday night but was moved back on the recommendation of the Ranger mentor.

After Saturday night, the Big Springers have only two more regular season games, both of them at home. In addition to the Amarillo contest, the Hawks will

Field Of 11 Due To Take Part In Arcadia Handicap

By BOB MYERS

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—Headed by the favored Decorated and the challenging Chanlea, a field of about 11 three-year-old colts was expected to be named today to race in the $100,000 Santa Anita Derby tomorrow.

Formal entries were waited this morning, but the lineup for the Derby probably will include: Decorated, Chanlea, Social Outcast, Correspondent, Boo Who, Invigorator, De Anza, Merryman, Book Circle, Black Rascal, and Swell.

This is the 16th running of the Derby at Santa Anita Park, and the winner will pick up $66,000 and more. The runner-up purses are worth $20,000, $15,000 and $10,000. Upwards of 50,000 fans are expected to witness the event if the weather continues to be bright.

Decorated, racing for automobile dealer Andrew J. Crevoilin of suburban Alhambra, merited the favorite's role off his victories in the San Felipe Handicap and the San Gabriel Stakes. His rider again will be veteran Johnny Longden.

Used as a lowly lead-pony most of last year, Ocean Drive, Fred W. Hooper's seven-year old horse, is back racing at Hialeah.

Inspection Points
To Halt Bollworm
Spread Are Set Up
BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Fifteen border inspection stations east and north of Texas to prevent the spread of the pink bollworm will require about $94,000 the Louisiana agriculture commissioner reported.
Dave L. Pearce said yesterday the 10 posts in Louisiana, three in Arkansas and two in Oklahoma will operate from July 15 to Dec.
1 to check cars, trucks and cotton-picking equipment moving out of the bollworm-infested areas in Texas and Mexico.
The stations, expected to be financed by Louisiana and 11 other cotton states, will operate around the clock, Pearce said.
The patrol was approved by representatives of nine Southern and Southwestern states Feb. 9 and it was estimated 104 men will be required, the commissioner said.

THE GRUB LINE

With Franklin Reynolds

Farmers and ranchers in this area may not know how much precious top soil they're losing—but Monday dust from the Big Spring-South Plains section reduced visibility at San Antonio to one-half a mile, and those folks say they would just as soon that we keep this dust at home.

Unfortunately, too, the valuable crop-growing organic matter being the lightest element in this West Texas Soil is the first to go and travels the greatest distance in the shortest time. Thus Bexar County farmers should have better crops this year because they'll be growing in soil further enriched with some of the best of Howard County land.

The Amarillo Exposition and Fat Stock Show will be held Monday through Friday, March 2 through 6. The club boys' show will be held on March 3 and the show animals will go through the auction on March 6.

The 37th annual Blue Ribbon Sale of the Panhandle Hereford Association has been set for March 4. Cattle are being consigned from herds in the Panhandle, in New Mexico and Oklahoma. One hundred bulls and 20 cows will be offered, and among this number will be eight groups of three head each.

This is the top show in its area and is always well attended.

On the basis of the figures it is going to be hard to convince some farmers in Terry, Gaines, Lynn and Dawson Counties that cloud-seeding doesn't pay off.

This is true even making due allowance for irrigation and improved cotton varieties.

In Terry County, on a 20-year average (1932-1951 inclusive) the average natural rainfall was 18.73 inches and on this moisture the county produced an average of 31,691 bales of cotton.

In 1952, on 9.45 inches of seeded-rain the cotton produced 49,523 bales.

Comparable figures for the other counties are:

Gaines—20-year average rainfall

16.13 inches, and 20-year average cotton production 5,752 bales. Seeded-rainfall in 1952 was 13.10 inches and production was 19,500 bales.

Dawson—20-year average rainfall 17.85 inches, and 20-year average cotton production 54,588 bales. Seeded rainfall in 1952 was 9.65 inches and cotton production was 45,000 bales.

Lynn—20-year average rainfall 17.84 inches and 20-year average cotton production 69,220 bales. Seeded rainfall in 1952 was 14.21 inches and cotton production was 100,000 bales.

These four counties are now organizing to make another cloud-seeding contract and a great many of the farmers have expressed themselves as favoring such a contract on a five-year basis.

These men swear they get much better penetration and no runoff from seeded rain, and that, they insist, accounts for the difference in cotton production.

Jack Jenkins, SCS work unit conservationist at Lamesa, says farmers are learning that buying the correct size pump for an irrigation well is just as important as buying the proper size tractor.

He points out that a wheatland type tractor isn't needed on a small truck patch and that neither is an eight-inch pump on a well with a capacity suited only to a four-inch pump.

Noel Cooper of the Key Community and Sterling Stovall of the Midway Community had SCS engineers measure the capacity of their wells a few days ago in order to determine the size pumps needed.

N. B. Leatherwood of the Pumpkin Center Community in Dawson County has had SCS personnel assist him in selecting an irrigation well site. He has also worked out a soil and water conservation plan with the Dawson County SCS.

O. K. Oliver, whose farm is located two miles west of Grandview also worked out a conservation plan on his farm. SCS engineers assisted him with irrigation problems.

Jack Fambrough was another Pumpkin Center man who called for, and received, assistance from the Lamesa SCS Unit recently.

Rex Dunn of the Welch Community reports he has been having trouble with irrigation ditches on the sandier part of farm. Some of the ditches wash out in places and others fill up with sand. This occasions quite a large water loss. Dunn is literally "piping" around his troubles. He has purchased sufficient sprinkler pipe to serve as main ditches this year, and later he plans on putting in a complete sprinkler system on this part of his farm.

A bill to increase the bonded liability of livestock auction firms in Texas has been passed by the House of Representatives and is now up for consideration in the Senate.

The bill will tighten up requirements concerning the sales rings keeping a descriptive record of the animals sold, the consignor and buyer, and will require higher bonds of them for greater protection for sellers and buyers and persons whose stolen livestock may be run through a ring. Under the provisions of this proposed law the records of stock sales will be open to any citizen wishing to check them.

The sponsor says the bill has the support of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation, the Texas Livestock Auction Company Association, and the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association.

With all that support it must be a good bill and certainly there appears to be enough power behind it to put it through.

Oilman To Test For Oil On Galveston Isle

HOUSTON (U-P)—James H. Snowden, Fort Worth oilman, said he's going to make a wildcat oil well test on Galveston Island.

Snowden said yesterday he was assembling a block of Galveston Island leases. He said the planned test would be to a depth of 8,500 feet. He wouldn't say when the test would be drilled.

Snowden said the tracts he is leasing are located seven to eight miles west of the City of Galveston on the Gulf side of the island.

Previous wildcat tests on the island have failed to produce oil.

Minesweeper May Aid Search For Wreckage Of Missing Airliner

MOBILE, Ala. (U-P)—Navy minesweepers from Florida may join Coast Guard boats today fighting heavy seas in an effort to locate the wreckage of a National Airlines DC6 in the Gulf of Mexico.

The Coast Guard started dragging the Gulf yesterday for the hulk of the plane, believed to contain bodies of 29 victims still missing. Bodies of 17 other victims were brought to Mobile earlier in the week.

The plane crashed about 44 miles southeast of here Saturday during a violent storm on a trip from Tampa, Fla., to New Orleans.

Problem Of Dead Whale Is Solved

SAN FRANCISCO (U-P)—A six-ton dead (ugh) whale washed onto San Francisco's Ocean Beach Wednesday night was carted away yesterday—much to the relief of sensitive-nosed residents and sundry authorities who disclaimed responsibility for the carcass.

The decaying whale was spotted in the surf by 12-year-old Norman Linoreux. Police said it was outside their jurisdiction, the Coast Guard said it was on shore and therefore not theirs, the Public Health Department agreed with the police, and the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and the State Fish and Game Department indicated they were interested only in live whales.

In desperation, police suggested letting Norman handle the problem on the basis of "finder's keepers." But late Thursday, the Royal Tallow and Soap Company appeared with a crane and hauled off the whale to reduce it to grease, tallow and fertilizer.

No Serious Injuries

SANTA FE, N. M. (U-P)—Four members of the Wayland College Choir of Plainview, Tex., and the secretary of the Glorieta, N. M., Baptist Assembly escaped serious injury when their auto overturned 13 miles east of here.
