drove around in the speed demons shown above. A good many people will rem-ember the L. B. Wright Hard-ware and Furniture Co., the Sla-ton Auto Supply Company and the Simmons Grocery and Market. This scene was one in early day Slaton and it comes in handy to bring to mind to the folks that Slaton will celebrate its 40th Birthday on June 16th. Full details for observing the dy have not been completed but something big is brewing. Plans are being made to entertain the regional square dance association at that time and unless war con-ditions make it unpatriotie or in-advisable to celebrate the event it is probable that some reminders of Slaton in 1911 will be evidenc-ed in the town on June 16th, 1951.

Dance Show To Be Here Thurs.

Folks who enjoy dancing, sing-ing and comedy are in for a that next Thursday night if they go to the Janice Blake Dance Show that is to be sponsored by the Slaton Lions Club and will be held at the Slaton High School starting at 8:00 p.m. Miss Blake has been instructing talent from Slaton Lubbock and 8:00 pm. Miss Blake has been instructing talent from Slaton, Lubbock, and Brownfield, in dancing, for two seasons. From reports, every one who will take part, is a real artist. There will be comedy, tap and ballet dancing and dance acts in-cluding "Little Red Riding Hood and the Wolf," from the ballet "Sleeping Beauty," and an act "After the Ball Waltz." Also included will be a hand balancing act by Dingy Davis and Tommy Allison of the Lubbock Athletic Club, a French Can Can and a dance known as "La Gaute Parisienne." The same show that is to be given here will be repeated Fri-day night in Brownfield. Miss Blake is a talented in-structor, and has had training in the East. She has also had con-siderable professional experience and it is reported that the show will be top entertainment. The cast will include a large number of students of Slaton. The Slaton Lions Club is bringing the show to Slaton with the hopes that more and better entertain-ments can be secured for the community.

Kural Mail Boxes The Week of April 28 to May 5 has been designated at Rural Mail Box Improvement Week by the United States Postal Department. The Slaton Postmaster says that those who proposed the week must have been thinking four local conditions for many of the mail boxes, on the two routes out of Slaton, are sprely in need of at-tention. Some of the rules governing rural mail boxes are: they should be of neat appearance and readily accessable to the carriers, the name of the box facing the car-rier, as he approaches the box, and all supports should be kept painted. painted.

It is important that the boxes

It is important that the boxes be on supports that are of pro-per height above the ground so the carrier can reach it from his car window and at the same time see into the box. The height of the shelf above the ground should be from 3½ to 4 feet. Postmaster Scudder says that the poor condition of many of the boxes on the Slaton Routes is be-cause youths are knocking them down with automobiles and trucks. This is a very dangerous amuse-ment as damaging the mail boxes is put in the same class, by the postal authorities, as damaging the Post Office itself. If caught, the persons who are doing the damage could be sentenced to sev-ere jail terms. Postmaster Scudder said that he

Blank Shell Found Causes Excitement

Considerable excitement was caused last Saturday by the find-ing of an empty artillery shell in the rear of the building formerly occupied by the Dickson Hatchery. The shell was found by City

ery. The shell was found by City Sanitary workmen who were clean-nig up alleys in preparation for the clean-up days held last Mon-day and Tuesday. The rear of the Dickson Hatch-ery was a very unpopular place until military men from Camp Hood came, via airplane to Lub-bock, and by special delivery to Slaton, to investigate. The shell was removed to the City of Slaton Shops, where it was taken apart by experts. "Just an empty," reported the men. Chief of Police Gentry said that it must have been a souvenier it must it must have been a souvenier some one brought back from the

Presbyterians To Hear Rev. Martinez ful

Hear Rev. Martinez Rev. Waldo J. Martinez of Cuba, N. M., Moderator of the Synod of that state, will speak on Home Mission Work in New Mexico, at the First Presbyterian Church, Friday, April 27th at 4 p.m. All members and friends of the church are urged to attend this important meeting. Rev. Martinez has been educat ed in the Presbyterian Mission schools and is a graduate of Me-Cormick Seminary, Chicago, III. He is delivering a series of ser-mons at the Mexican Presbyter-ian Mission which will close with the 11 o'clock service Sunday, April 29. The public is invited to attend these services at 8 o'. clock each evening. Four trucks and eight workmen spent the two days covering the entire town. After a close inspec-tion it has geen found that there is little in the way of rubbish about town to complain about, "Our men will have to go back to a few places where refuse needs to be moved," said the Mayor, "because some folks were a little slow in putting it where our men could pick it up. If those who have rubbish will place it where it can be picked up our men will make calls to get it. Phone the City Secretary for such service."

The Best Place To Spend Your Money!

Ine Best Place To Spend Your Money! Quite often merchants in Slaton complain that the people who live in this trade area do not give them an opportunity to show their lines, but go to Lubbock without trying to find what they need here when many items are available in Slaton at prices as low, or lower, than in Lubbock or in other towns. Customers complain that on some items the variety of choice is not wide enough to give a range of choice. Most merchants are reasonable and admit that they do not blame people in this territory for going other places to buy when there are price concessions on items that are so seldom sold that circumstances do not warrant the local merchants to carry them. Perhaps there is some fault on both sides, but it appears that more and more people are shopping in Slaton, and that the merchants are being encouraged to carry broader stocks in both the medium priced and higher priced brackets. This is probably true because the manufacturers can sell everything they make without reducing their rates to big buyers and the small merchant is in the best position he has ever been in. It behooves people who live in the Slaton trade terri-tory to rade in Slaton.

It behooves people who live in the Slaton trade terri-tory to trade in Slaton for convenience, it saves travel expense, encourages local merchants to stock all of the things that the people want, or need. Better get right with the folks who sell you things be-fore gasoline rationing sets in.

Old Tack In The Amarillo Globe!

 Old lack in the Amarillo Globe!

 Cannot help but feel sorry for Harry Truman. What tortures he is experiencing this week. And no doubt on the international situation he is doing the very best he knows how. But it's too big for him. Maybe too involved for most anyone. No matter what is done, there will be an uproar.

 If the United States appeases, the world has been sold down the river. If we stumble into another world war, there will be blood on the consciences of those responsible. It's hell if you do and hell if you don't.

 Imagine how Truman feels when he reads of the tumultuous reception accorded MacArthur across the country.

 Put yourself in his place within the next for whours when he is in the White House, feeling as lonely and as deserted as any man has ever felt, awaiting for "it." The "it" will be the cheering outside when MacArthur shows up. MacArthur's march of triumph into Washington will be unprecedented. A truly tremendous aflar, with the President of the United States completely out of it.

out of it. And how the wise-crackers are wise-cracking. Bob Hope over the radio says that the people of this country have nothing it worry about; that we still have General Yaughan. And a Denver newspaper columnist says he is curious to know what MacArthur said about Margaret. The Republicans are playing polities viciously. They may be overdoing it. Truman kept on politicking when the great national emergency emerged and now the other side is shooting back at him. But if he is made too much of an underdog, there could be a reversal of sentiment. This very thing handed him the Presidency. One of Truman's tragic mistakes: His refusal, when he asked the country for billions for war preparations, to reduce domestic expenditures. Hundreds of thousands of office holders not needed but who are retained in the maintaining of the costliest political machine in the world's history.

Mr. Truman has been able to save a quarter of a million while in the White House for the reason that much of his income is non-taxable.

The Bottle, Tack And Nail Menace!

Fort Worth motorists, who wisely are conserving tires in the defense emergency, are protesting about the undue amount of broken glass found on many city streets. A more extreme case was the littering of West Berry Street near McLean Junior High School a few nights ago with roofing tacks which cause punctures. The heavily traveled thoroughfare is used by many defense workers going to and from work.

Slaton Students List 12 Novels As Most Popular BY BONNIE TAYLOR

BY BONNIE TAYLOR What books are most popular in the library? The most popular books that are listed in the library are: "The Scarlet Letter," "Two Years Be-fore the Mast," "Wuthering Heigh-ts, "Jane Eyre," "Sitas Marner," "Idylls of the King," "God is My Co-Pilot," "Magnificient Obsess-ion," "Dr. Hudson's Secret Jour-nal," "White Banners," "Green Pastures," "The Chain," and "Shakespearian Dramas." Most of the students that are in High School favor these books be-cause they have an interesting climax and keep the person in sus-pense during the reading. Many students go to the library and check out a book that doesn't have any background or plot to it. They probably start reading it and then lay it aside and never finish it because they find someone else who has read it and they can fin-ish telling them about it and save them the time in reading the book. If a person goes to the library and checks out one of these books that are listed, they will find out they are all very interesting that is, if they will continue to read them and not let someone tell them the story. — The Tiger's Cage.

By way of assuring your flock proper care throughout the grow-ing season, keep the following chick-raising suggestions in mind as you make those daily check-ups on your young flock. You will find that by applying sound mana-gement methods such as those mentioned here you can greatly eliminate the causes and conditions which lead to flock irregularties. Brocoding Pointers

Brocoding Pointers

Remember that the most im-portant factors in brooding are proper temperature, plenty of room, and thorough sanitation. You should also concentrate of housing conditions, taking care to provide chicks with well-protected, well-ventilated quarters. Every ef-fort should be made to eliminate drafts and to make the house as concentrate and to make the house as comfortable as possible.

Separate Chicks Separate Chicks Separation of chicks is almost always advisable, since older birds tend to crowd the younger ones, sometimes hindering their growth and development. Separation of the chicks according to sex is also commonly practiced. The time or age of seperation is usually de-pendent on the breed, but gene-rally cockels of the lighter class, such as Leghorns, can be separat-ed from pullets at 6 to 8 weeks of age. Those of the general pur-pose class, such as Plymouth Rocks, can be removed when about 8 to 10 weeks old.

8 to 10 weeks old. Poultry raisers should give their growing chicks an abundance of clean, fresh range. Chicks raised on good soil are more inclined to grow faster and remain relatively free from disease. Without proper range care, growing birds may become contaminated and leave themselves open to such poultry troubles as intestinal worms, body lice, and other parasites. 8 to 10 weeks old.

Chuck Wagon Dinner Given In Honor Of Graduating Class

Graduating Class Members of the Senior class of Slaton High School, their spon-sors, and the principal and super-intendent, were guests of the Methodist Church at a Chuck Wagon Dinner Tuesday night, April 10, at the church. The hon-orces and hosts were dressed in western garb to blend with the western decorations. The high-light of the decorations was the chuck wagon, with a scare-crow, cowboy, a camp fire, a sad-die, old horse collars, lanterns and other articles completing the mo-tif. The serving table was covered with a centerpiece of cactus plants, flanked by oil lamps. Mrs. Howard Swanner played selections of appropriate music during the evening. Superintendent Lee Vardy showed an educational, travel film to the group. Mrs. L. A. Harral was in charge of all arrangements.

-The Prairie Yours Truly-One of the most controversial issues of the nation's history exploded this week, with President Truman's dismissal of General Douglas MacArthur. In Wink, as well as every other ham-let and city in the nation, one can hear vehement expressions on both sides-that's the good old Ameri-can way. All we have to say, though, before going overboard either way, one should try to get a clear picture of both sides of the question. It's very confusing at this time, even to the big boys supposedly in the know. Time will lend to clarify and it will not be too long, we think, before we will all know who was right in this decision which is having world-wide repercusion. -The Wink Bulletim Editorial - A Dallas gambler says

Editorial-A Dallas gambler says

Editorial—A Dallas gambler says that the gamblers are having a lough time of it, trying to get a-long. He says that he is an ex-gambler, but that he could not pay the necessary overhead, even if he wanted to get back in the business of gambling. The gambler has to buy pro-tection, the same as any other business, so he says. That is ano-ther form of graft which American cities tolerate. We ran into that thing a few years ago in New York City. Thugs were paid for protec-tion, and the police force turned its back when the thugs found it necessary to work over a victim who refused to pay for this pro-tection. The investigation in Washington who refused to pay for the structure tection. The investigation in Washington is turning up a lot of crazy things which we tolerate in this great-nation of ours. We like to com-plain about conditions which exist in other nations, yet we tolerate a lot of social evils here in America. —The Canyon News

Work for Red Cross

Work for Red Cross Red Cross chapters in the United States provide nurses, doctors, transportation, canteen, shelter and clothing during major disasters. After the emergency is met, Red Cross assists in the rehabilitation of victims on a basis of need by re-pairing homes, supplying furniture, providing long-term imedical and nursing care and reestablishing many small businesses.

DOUBLING UP-Russell, at left, and Ralph Logan, six-year-old twins of Houston, Tex., found their double persuasion ineffective against the double stubbornness of these twin donkeys. The boys needn't be too surprised at their failure, for they were up against a special pair. The owner of the animals stated they are the only twin donkeys in Texas and probably the nation.

Dining Car Kitchen Dining car kitchens of postwar design range from approximately 15½ feet to 32 feet 10 inches in length and are approximately 7½ feet in width.

What's Happening In The Classrooms

In Ine classrooms Everything seems to be progres-sing nicely in Coach Poulos' driv-ing class. The Coach feels honor-ed to have such a fine group of students in his class, although he stated that he may have to install rockers in the chairs to keep the students from tearing them up. -000-Coach Henderson has come through his Texas History class with flying colors. According to a statement from one of the stud-ents, they have almost completed the text with three weeks still left until the close of school. Now, this is indeed a fine opportunity for the class, in that they may dis-cuss their study of the history of Texas instead of spending all their time with their heads in their books. -000-

-000-Mr. McPherson reports that most of his classes are coming a-long nicely with an exception of few of his students griping about the hard work he is assigning. Mr. McPearson says if his students would pay attention and stop talk-ing to their neighbors, writing English themes, and holding hands in classes, they would understand the explanation of the problems. -000-

The Typing I classes have been typing and assembling the booklet entitled "The Right Thing To Do" which deals with etiquette. To Do" which deals with etiquette. -000-The shorthand class has been taking dictation and transcribing it for several weeks now. They took dictation on familiar material at 120 words recently. A recent study of phrases had aided the students to write more rapidly. -000-The bookkeeping class has been working on their practice sets. The girls are ahead of the boys so far by several days transactions. The film, "Bookkeeping and You" was recently viewed by the class. -000-The journalism class has enjoy-ed writing and publishing the Tiger's Cage each two weeks and they hope the students have got-ten enjoyment from reading each issue. -The Tiger's Cage. These new styles created by Nancy Warren Wallpapers, are promised to be beyond the ordin-ary selection and will give the homemakers an opportunity to add a fresh touch to her home all through the decorating season with a wallpaper never before shown in the stores. Butterfly Bush, the first Wall-paper of the Month is delicately drawn floral pattern. The design of this Wallpaper is imported and styled for wallpaper by the Nancy Warren Company. Its design is adapted from the Budlea Bush, which dies down completely in the Fall and grows anew in the Spring, blooming throughout the nummer with lilac like sprays of flowers. The design is somewhat stylized flowers. The design is somewhat stylized in its drawing, seeming to have strong highlights and shadows. Its silhouetted leaves and the shad-owed effect have a three dimen-sional look that should add depth to small or narrow rooms. Promising Athletes

Promising Athletes By ROBBY TAYLOR AND LEON MOORE Harold Moore has been selected as one of the promising athletes for this week. Harold weighs 160 pounds and stands 5 feet and 9 inches. He is a freshman this year and shows promise of making Slaton High School a grand athlete in the next three years. He alternates at tackle and halfback although he has been playing quite a lot in the backfield lately. Harold is Leon's brother and 1 know the whole school will join me in wishing him as much suc-cess as Leon has had. -00-cess as Leon has had. -000 Bryan Morgan, a freshman this year, will be out battling for the first team next football season. Bryan weighs 155 pounds and is about 5 feet and 9 inches tall. He has the ability of becoming one of Slaton's outstanding players for the next three years. The Slaton people had better keep their eyes set on Bryan, be-cause he will be playing with Sla-ton's first team for the next three seasons. —The Tiger's Cage.

A.M.J. At the corner stone laying of the new Methodist Church last Sunday evening I noticed that all of the middle aged and older men had on ties that they picked cut in the dark or that their wives must have selected, sun burst reds, flamingo yellow, grewsome greens, sea bottom blues, and combinations that would quell a riot, but the young men were slumping around in the sub zero weather, at least it seemed sub zero to my thin blood, wearing sport shirts and with nothing on their heads. While there I learned that Judge Smith has returned from a fish-ing trip with some good pictures of the fish he caught which he promises to show all doubting Thomases'. There is a copy of the Slatonite sealed up in a copper box along with a Bible and some history about the church that will be sealed ap next to the corner stone. You can't hide garbage from cats and dogs in our neighborhood because Max Arrants has a great big bird dog that goes around pushing over trash barrels every morning. She never stops to in-vestigate what is in the barrels, but seems to feel that it is her duty to cover about three square blocks every day. Max feeds her choice T-bones, so she does not care for the round steak trim-mings or the fish tails that we might have but she sees to it that other dogs and cats can have the table scraps if they want them. That's what I call an unselfish dog. dog.
