

FD Suggests A Post-War Service Plan For Youth

Returns To Capital After Long Tour

Has Idea For Keeping In Use Various Camps, Factories

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP)—President Roosevelt ended a 20-state war inspection tour today with an idea that the youth of America, making use of industrial plants and military camps, might well give a year's service to their government in the post-war era.

He had traveled 7,652 miles in seventeen days, checking up on widely scattered war activities and dropping down into Mexico to confer with President Manuel Avila Camacho.

Mr. Roosevelt told reporters accompanying him that the trip convinced him that the armed forces and the home front factories are in their stride, but that he was wondering what could be done, after victory is won, with camps and plants in which millions had been invested.

He had no specific plan or program to offer but he emphasized the benefits in physical condition and mental alertness that men and women in service and war-workers uniforms had realized in the last few months. And he indicated that he thought their training should be extended to all young men and women in some form after we win the war.

Objecting to the term "compulsory military service," the chief executive preferred to speak of a year's contribution of services to the government. Any program that develops, he said, probably would be only partly military.

The president left Washington April 15. When he returned late this morning, he had swung through most of the southeastern states, down to Monterey, Mexico—nearly 150 miles below the border—out to Denver and back back through the middle of the country.

He visited eleven army posts, four war plants, and one marine base, one WAAC school and one naval air training center. He talked with a dozen governors and at least double that number of plant executives.

Everywhere he went, Mr. Roosevelt saw action. He saw green troops in the first day of their training, and hardened troops just about ready for an expedition to the battle zones.

He saw the most minute facets of military training, even sampling three times the food the neophyte soldiers were eating. He saw bomber and fighter planes on the assembly lines and in the air and a clattering factory rolling out 30 caliber ammunition by the carload.

News stories on the early part of his trip were released midway of his travels. He went "off the record" again after parting with Mexico's president at Corpus Christi, Texas, April 21.

Taylor, Seven Others Win Acquittal

A federal district court jury in Abilene Wednesday deliberated only 20 minutes before acquitting eight men on a charge of conspiracy to defraud the government in connection with the construction of Avenger Field at Sweetwater. Those winning exoneration included Elton Taylor of Big Spring, who had an electric wiring contract on the project.

Nazis Make Slight Gains In Fierce Counterattacks

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, April 29 (AP)—Tank-supported German shock troops counterattacked twice yesterday northeast of Medjes-El-Bab and, although first repulsed with heavy losses, finally compelled British First army vanguards to withdraw slightly even while United States and French units gained anew on the flanks.

The Second U.S. army corps was announced by the communiques to have "made further progress and gained some important ground" in its push through the brushy hills of north Tunisia toward Mateur and Bizerte. The 16th French corps in the south, operating at the hinge between the British First and Eighth armies, was credited with additional local gains.

The first of the Nazi counterattacks against the British penetration was launched by infantrymen supported by 30 tanks at 4:40 p. m. on the Djebel Bou Auouas, 12 miles northeast of Medjes-El-Bab. The British defenders hurled it back in one of the bloodiest battles of the North African campaign.

A considerable number of the German riflemen were killed and several of the tanks were knocked out.

The Germans, however, reformed and put on a second attack which dislodged the British advance units and sent them a short distance back to new positions. Fighting continued through the moonlight night.

The Americans were reported to have made their gains in the north in a bitter struggle over difficult terrain. There was heavy fighting in the area west of Jemna, and Ball Hill, 28 miles southwest of Bizerte, remained the scene of fierce combat.

Enemy troops facing the Americans and the British First army are now composed entirely of German units. On the Eighth army front the axis forces were reported to be 30 per cent Italian and 70 per cent German.

Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery's army has advanced about seven miles along the coast toward Bou Fichta since the start of his present offensive, three miles in the center and two miles on the left.

Low clouds hampered air operations, but Allied planes destroyed 17 axis aircraft in the fighting over Tunisia and related assaults against Mediterranean assets.

Solons Call For Action Against Japs

Tightening Of Grip On Pacific Islands Termed 'Grave'

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP)—Fresh warnings from lawmakers that the Pacific war may continue many more years—or "forever"—sparked a new attempt today to prod congress toward action bolstering American striking power against the Japanese.

While Chairman Reynolds (D-NC) of the senate military committee observed that a tightening Nipponese grip on conquered islands is "extremely grave," Senator Chandler (D-Ky) broadcast an appeal to citizens to "use your influence with your representatives in government to make them in some way aware of the danger which the country faces from the South Pacific."

Chandler declared that the Japanese digging-in process is "making a Tokyo of every island they've captured."

"I have no criticism of the army or navy," he said, "and I depend upon the general staff to run the war. But we're not going to get firmly entrenched Japs out of those islands by bombing alone. It will take men, planes and ships."

In a radio broadcast last night, Chandler expressed fear that both government and military leaders failed to recognize "the seriousness of the Japanese menace."

"It is suicide, in my opinion," he said, "to permit the Japs time to dig in in the South Pacific. If they are given this time, I fear that they will grow so strong—both economically and military—that the war in the Pacific may last 10 years or 20 years or may go on forever."

Third Street Improvement Authorized

The state highway department has announced a project, estimated to cost around $14,000, for reconditioning of Third street the width of the city.

The announcement came in a letter to Mayor G. C. Dunham from S. J. Treadaway, district engineer.

According to City Manager E. J. McDaniel, the project is to involve the treatment of corrugated spots, similar to the most aggravated of these places around the Galveston street intersection.

Base will be retreated and perhaps in some instances stabilized with concrete. In this case it will be built up with pre-mix asphalt and the entire 14 miles of the street, from east to west city limit, will be given a light double-top.

The city has been conferring with the state highway department on the project for sometime, and in recent months Burke Summers, Big Spring, 91st district representative, has assisted in contacting the highway department.

The emphasis placed by the air ministry on the night's mining operations was taken as an indication of a campaign to disrupt German submarine training.

Death Claims Alvin Leach

Death came at 4:30 a. m. Thursday to Alvin L. Leach, former Big Spring resident and a retired Texas & Pacific Railway engineer.

He succumbed in the T&P hospital at Marshall, where he had been under treatment for the past month.

The body is being returned here for burial, but funeral arrangements have not been completed.

German Naval Base Raided By The RAF

LONDON, April 29 (AP)—RAF bombers attacked the German naval base at Wilhelmshaven last night and also carried out unprecedented mining operations in Baltic waters, it was announced today.

Twenty-three bombers were reported missing from the missions, which marked the resumption of large-scale raids on the continent after a one-night lull.

Wilhelmshaven was last attacked on March 22, when United States airmen carried out a daylight raid on the base.

A dispatch from Folkestone said that big formations of high-flying bombers, which may have been United States craft, streamed across the channel this morning in the direction of Abbeville and Boulogne, in northern France, indicating a resumption of round-the-clock pounding of the continent.

The emphasis placed by the air ministry on the night's mining operations was taken as an indication of a campaign to disrupt German submarine training.

Testimony Heard In Compensation Suit

Testimony in the suit of William E. Randall versus American General Insurance company, to set aside award, went into its second day Thursday in 70th district court with character witnesses testifying and medical testimony heard.

Thursday morning medical testimony was given by Dr. W. R. Sarw of Abilene, who was queried by attorneys as to whether the injury received by Randall during construction work at the Big Spring Bombarrier School had made him totally unable to work at hard labor.

The German communiques, broadcast by the Berlin radio and recorded by the Associated Press, said that Russian attacks yesterday against the Kuban bridgehead and southeast of Leningrad were force, it was declared, destroyed 52 Russian planes without any loss of axis planes.

Nikolai Akimov, a military reviewer of the Moscow News, reported the Germans were experiencing great difficulty in protecting their supply lines across the Kerch Strait from aerial blows.

Akimov said Soviet planes of all types were taking part in raids in those sectors on the fringe of the Kuban valley in the Caucasus, as well as in the northern Donets Basin.

Says Government Will Act After Saturday Deadline

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP)—Terminating walkouts of more than 70,000 soft coal miners "strikes against the United States government itself," President Roosevelt today set a deadline of 10 o'clock Saturday morning for a return to work or action by him to prevent interference with the war effort.

Coupled with his flat statement that he would "use all the powers vested in me as president and as commander in chief" to protect the national interest, was an appeal by Mr. Roosevelt "as the friend of the men who work in the coal mines" for them to return to their jobs and let the war labor board handle the controversy between the United Mine Workers and the operators.

Action came also from the legislative branch of the government, the senate voting to consider on Monday a bill by Senator Connally (D-Tex) authorizing the government to seize struck mines or industrial plants. Connally called Lewis "a dictator."

Whether troops might be called out in the mine dispute was only a matter of speculation at this stage. Secretary of War Stimson said "I have no comment" when asked at his press conference whether the army had any plans for moving soldiers into the mine fields.

The chief executive stepped into the wage dispute between miners and operators after it had been closed today by a work stoppage of United Mine Workers Unions, the owners reported.

The extension into Ohio of work stoppages, which already have made some 70,000 miners idle in other states, halts total production of about 23,000 tons of bituminous coal and affects 2,000 or more employees, the companies added.

turned over to him by the War Labor Board, which has been ignored by John L. Lewis and his associates in the United Mine Workers.

Mr. Roosevelt sent telegrams to Lewis and Thomas Kennedy, secretary of the union, in which he asked the men in the mines to "resume work immediately and submit their case to the national War Labor Board for final determination."

Thus far, the union leaders have ignored efforts of the board to handle the case through a three-man panel set up to investigate the facts.

"The strikes and stoppages in the coal industry that have occurred and are threatened," Mr. Roosevelt declared, "are in clear violation of the 'no strike' pledge."

"These are not mere strikes against employers of this industry to enforce collective bargaining demands. They are strikes against the United States government itself. These strikes are a direct interference with the prosecution of the war. They challenge the governmental machinery that has been set up for the orderly and peaceful settlement of all labor disputes. They challenge the power

Strike Stops Transport In Cleveland

CLEVELAND, April 29 (AP)—An AFL strike today tied up Cleveland's mass transportation system, forcing uncounted thousands of war workers to thumb rides from friendly motorists or to walk to their jobs.

Not a street car or city bus could be seen on busy Public Square during the morning rush hour as the City Transit System's riders—averaging 1,315,000 fares daily—pulled their frequently-idle automobiles from garages and created traffic jams reminiscent of pre-ratification days.

Mayor Frank J. Lausche urged automobile drivers to "travel the main streets" and pick up pedestrians, and motorists reported so many people were cooperating that, on well-traveled thoroughfares, they had difficulty filling their car seats.

In walking out at midnight, the unionists defied an order by their international officials and also ignored a telegraphed plea by Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson to refer their wage dispute to government agencies.

Although the system's 1,378 trolleys, trailers and buses remained in a survey of key war plants showed most workers were on time or early.

"It's out of our hands," declared Thomas P. Meany, the local's president. "The men voted for it and the transit board broke off negotiations."

Howard county could, in effect, report "mission accomplished" on its Second War Loan Drive Thursday, but there was no letup in sales efforts because the $703,000 quota is, after all, only the minimum.

Chairman Ted O. Groehl said the April campaign would come to an end officially Friday night, and expressed the hope that by then the county could be over the top by $100,000 or so.

Actual issue figures through Wednesday night showed a little over $10,000 to go, but there was a backlog of sales of at least that amount. Groehl and his committeemen were hoping that Thursday and Friday would see a big public response.

Wednesday sales were around $80,000, with one major firm placing $50,000 of it.

And the drive got a nice boost

Army Show Goes Over In Big Way

The rummy put on a show Wednesday night at the municipal auditorium, and the public liked it.

Designed by the Special Services section of the Big Spring Bombardier school to stimulate interest in the WAAC recruiting campaign, the program not only told of WAAC activities, but sold some war bonds and provided high entertainment as well.

There were such stars as Marcia Nell, an NBC songstress who has personal charm and beauty to go with a sweet voice; Cpl. Phil Tucker, a young man of agile dancing and a flair for comedy who had the audience eating out of his hand; Jean Odele, who did a tap dance a la Hawaii with effectiveness, and Sgt. Hal Harris who did some cowboy vocalizing and then brought his "Cornhusker" orchestra on for novel numbers. Strong support for the whole show was the AAFES orchestra led by Bill Mavromatis and which hit the groove with popular numbers.

Skits which told of the need for WAACs but which also were sprinkled with comedy were directed by Lt. Jessie Gardiner and Sgt. Ruth McLeod of the Lubbock recruiting office. The numbers almost reached the "Hellsapoppin'" stage of craziness before they were over.

Cliff Wiley represented the War Bond committee in selling bonds. There was a capacity crowd on hand.

Charlie Jenkins writes me from down at camp:

"Dear Joe: Somethin' mighty swell happened to me on my last day's leave. I'm standin' in the corner, not knowin' anybody in town, when a stranger says 'hello, soldier—how'd you like a chicken dinner at home with me and the wife?'"

"Well, it turns out they were the kind of folks who couldn't do enough to help out soldiers. They'd invited two other fellows and just as soon as we're introduced the lady brings us a glass of beer before dinner.

"We had a fine dinner, talked till ten ... Honest, Joe, I'll never forget their hospitality. Makes me feel good fighting for people like that."

Thought you might like to hear what kind of fellows were in this army of ours, and how they like to enjoy themselves when they get a chance to.

MORE GOOD NEWS FROM THE PRODUCTION FRONT

A REPORT TO THE NATION

on General Motors' Production, Employment, Economies and Profits

PRODUCTION

TODAY THE COUNTRY'S LARGEST PRODUCER OF WAR MATERIALS

During 1942 war production in General Motors increased rapidly. Deliveries in the fourth quarter were more than four times those in the fourth quarter of 1941 and were at an annual rate of more than three billion dollars. In reality, war production increased far more rapidly than dollar value indicates—thanks to decreases in cost of manufacture. General Motors' interests and energies are concentrated on speeding war production.

PERFORMANCE

THROUGH BATTLE TESTS WITH FLYING COLORS—THE WORLD AROUND

General Motors' war products are now being used by both the Army and Navy on battlefronts all over the globe. Reports of their effectiveness—and, in many cases, of decided superiority over enemy equipment—are evidence of the quality materials and precision workmanship going into their manufacture. The great variety of equipment furnished is indicated below—and there are additional secret weapons which cannot be listed.

SUBCONTRACTING

THOUSANDS OF SUBCONTRACTORS AND SUPPLIERS ASSIST GENERAL MOTORS

Continuing peacetime practices, thousands of subcontractors and suppliers—companies which have demonstrated production efficiency and ability to maintain quality—have been utilized by General Motors. This practice has resulted in the spread of approximately one-half of General Motors' war work to outside firms. Thousands of these subcontractors and suppliers are firms employing 100 people or less.

"KNOW-HOW"

ENGINEERING AND PRODUCTION KNOWLEDGE PRODUCES RESULTS

The experience gained by General Motors over the years has provided of immense value in war work. This "know-how" in the fields of engineering and manufacture has made possible quick conversion to war production, and resulted in simplification of design, improvement of quality and reduction in cost. This not only speeded up the work and got the job done, but saved manpower and millions of dollars of the taxpayers' money.

EMPLOYMENT

EMPLOYMENT FIGURES HAVE MOUNTED TO AN ALL-TIME HIGH

Although more than 50,000 G.M. people have joined the armed forces, employment in the U.S. and Canada rose to 370,000 in 1942—an all-time high. This increase involved great problems in training personnel. Hours worked increased to an average of 45.5 hours per week compared to 40.7 hours in 1941. General Motors' employment is spread through 107 plants in the U.S. in 46 communities in 13 states—and five plants in Canada.

SERVICE COOPERATION

TECHNICAL TRAINING AND FIELD SERVICE TO ASSIST THE ARMED FORCES

General Motors' training schools for technicians of the armed services have graduated more than 11,000 men—will train approximately 40,000 in 1943. Parts schedules have also been established, and maintenance units set up in combat areas. Technical observers are stationed at battlefronts, so that our engineers and mechanics, cooperating with the armed forces, can more rapidly improve the military effectiveness of weapons.

WAGES

WAGES REACH A NEW PEAK AS RATES AND HOURS INCREASE

Along with increased employment and working hours, wages have risen substantially. Hourly workers, who averaged $43.41 weekly in 1941, averaged $84.91 in 1942—an increase of 26%. The payroll for both colored and hourly rate employees in 1942 was $839,314,062. G.M. paid $259,331 to employees for suggestions furthering the war effort. More than $7,000,000 was paid to employees through group insurance.

REDUCED COSTS

SAVING MILLIONS OF DOLLARS FOR UNCLE SAM—AND YOU

As a result of the industrial "know-how" reviewed above, manufacturing costs were so reduced that, by the end of 1942, more than $177,000,000 had been voluntarily returned to the government in price reductions, and there will be an additional $183,000,000 in price reductions which will apply to subsequent deliveries under existing contracts.

PROFITS

GENERAL MOTORS' PROFITS WERE LOWER IN 1942

The General Motors policy of limiting its rate of profits, before taxes, on its manufacturing business by about half of 1941 resulted in a net income from manufacturing of 4.5% of total sales. Common stock dividends were $2 per share in 1942, as compared with $3.75 per share in 1941.

BOMB HITS

OUT AT THE BOMBARDIER SCHOOL
816th Squadron
 Ratings were posted last Friday and those lucky enough to get one wore smiles from ear to ear. And, as usual, cigars were passed around by those who had the price of a box. The middle of the month is a pretty bad time for soldiers to buy boxes of cigars as they're usually broke after the first week in the month. At any rate, there are enough to keep the boys in stock till the first of next month, when they can start all over again. Congratulations to you boys who were promoted. Well, spring is here. And in the spring, a young man's fancy turns to thoughts of love. The only exception is Staff Sergeant DEAN H. HOLDEN, who long ago was bitten by the love bug. Yes, it will be but just a matter of a few months before Holden will trek down the aisle. Dean hails from Ticonderoga, New York, while the lucky girl is a local beauty. Softball season is just about underway here at the Bombardier School and the 816th is figuring to be in the thick of the race. The team fared fairly well in practice games, having won two, lost two and tied one.

With the return of Staff Sergeant and Pitcher - Manager FLYNN D. DUNHAM, the team will be strengthened considerably. Dunham is a fast ball artist and may be remembered for his fancy baseball play which figured heavily in our winning the post league basketball champion. Pfc. BILL RAMSEY, a well-known local diamond star, will be expected to hold the infield together. Ramsey covers the whole left side of the infield and part of the outfield. We don't think we're sticking our necks out by picking Ramsey as the best shortstop in the league this season. He's fast and has power at the plate.

Having won the basketball championship and the pingpong championship, the boys are looking forward into making the year complete by winning the soft-ball championship. A great number of the boys are sweating-out Officer's Candidate School and also a number have already left to become Flying Cadets. Those awaiting for appointment for O. C. S. are: Sgts. Charles M. Ogle and Jesse D. Merrett, Cpl. Ralph Koch and Pvt. John A. Buck. S-Sgt. Claborn T. Hill, Pvt. Carl E. Mateer and James A. Berry have already left for flying school. Lots of luck to these future officers and flight-officers.

One of the most irksome things for the fellows here in the 816th is trying to return one of Sgt. Morris J. Stein's serves in ping pong. Outside of that, he has a drive that you think is going one direction, but goes another. They tell us that Pfc. TAMS BIXBY, III, was celebrating Friday night because he didn't make a rating and then he celebrates Saturday night because he did make one. Both times TAMS tells us he had a most enjoyable time. TAMS, like a lot of other fellows here spends the latter part of the week hoping and praying for checks from home.

100,000-Plane Production Is 1943 Outlook

NEW YORK, April 29. (AP)—William L. Batt, vice chairman of the war production board, announced that nearly 100,000 airplanes would be built this year, an increase of nearly 50,000 over 1942 and said that "management and labor must be prepared for idle plants in war time. Batt, in a speech before the annual meetings of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, said idle plants provide flexibility so that "if a sudden need arises we will have them available."

Batt, departing from a prepared address, said: "There is a danger that labor will slow down in the fear of being out of a job. What tomorrow may bring, no man can tell; what the next movement is, will have a vital effect on demand. We may suddenly hear of a great need and then we will need those idle plants."

He said the next shortage, besides materials, will be a shortage of men because "you can't divert men like materials." Batt said that 1942 was a "shaking down process," and he expressed confidence that the production situation now is under fairly good control. He said that there was a fairly well balanced natural production budget and that America's war economy was becoming "a solid institution."

Cotton Production Placed Finally At 12,284,000 Bales

WASHINGTON, April 29. (AP)—The agriculture department issued today final figures on the 1942 cotton crop showing production to have been 12,284,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight, compared with 10,744,000 bales produced in 1941.

The area in cultivation July 1 last year was 23,302,000 acres, and the area harvested was 22,802,000 acres, compared with 23,130,000 and 22,286,000 for the 1941 crop. The average yield of lint cotton to the acre was 27.25 pounds, compared with 23.19 pounds for the 1941 crop.

The area in cultivation July 1 last year, area harvested, yield of lint cotton an acre, and total production in bales of 500 pounds gross weight, by states, were reported as: Louisiana, 1,028,000; 1,001,100; 285 and 593,000; Oklahoma, 1,872,000; 1,785,000; 190 and 708,000; Texas, 8,430,000; 8,044,000; 182 and 3,038,000; New Mexico, 124,000; 130,000; 409 and 111,000.

Physical Fitness Needs Stressed In Club Talk

One "blessing" of the war may be the compelling of public attention to the need for physical fitness. Ross Clarke, USO director and for years associated with physical education programs in YMCA work, said in an address to the Lions club Wednesday. The talk was similar to one he gave before the Rotary club Tuesday in which he pointed out that maintenance of physical health was "not only expedient but a duty."

There is always hope at any age of improving physical status and it is not a vain hope, said Clarke. However, he warned that a change in routine should be predicated upon a complete examination at the hands of a physician. Points in maintaining a balanced program of health, he said, are: Avoidance of worry; consumption of right foods by "eating to live rather than living to eat"; plenty but not too much fresh air and sunshine; relaxation, wise exercise, and cleanliness. Mental and spiritual cleanliness are just as important as bodily cleanliness, he commented. As for exercise, Clarke said it should be designed to meet the age of the subject, his occupation, temperament, and should be regular, moderate, planned. Better no exercise at all than irregular exercise, according to Clarke, who described a moderate routine, designed to produce a perspiration, three times a week. Fatigue should be avoided in exercise, he added. At the meeting, Dean Bennett gave a report on the zone meeting in Lorraine Tuesday evening and announced the next quarterly session would be in Midland. C. J. Staples, Randall Pickle and Crawford Norman were named as a committee to head up the club's clean-up activities. Jim Harvey, John Coffee and Joe Pickle were appointed as a committee to plan the club's traditional "I Am an American Day" program on May 18. Jean Stewart and Billy Bob Bohannan, accompanied by Mrs. J. H. Kirkpatrick, gave a cornet duet and were encored.

A good attendance was noted at the Christian Service band of Wayland college program held here recently. Vivian Westerman has as house guest this week her aunt from Houston. They will visit in Christoval during the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Westerman. Members of the Adult Training Union gave a playlet Sunday night entitled "A Little Child Shall Lead Them." Taking part were C. H. Matthew, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Martin, Mrs. Bill McLaren, Mrs. J. G. Montgomery and Mrs. Walter Halcombe. Mr. and Mrs. Everett Overton of Elbow visited with his mother Sunday. Frances Watson of Big Spring visited her mother, Mrs. Harrison, Sunday.

Second Polish Govt. Appears In The Making

MOSCOW, April 29. (AP)—Soviet Russia's official government newspaper, Izvestia, published an article today signed by Wanda Vasilevskaya, president of the "Union of Polish Patriots," in which she declared that the Polish government-in-exile with headquarters in London does not represent the Polish people.

"Whom does the Polish immigrant government represent?" she asked. "The Polish people?" No. "The people did not choose or appoint, and did not give any authority to this government."

"The present government undertook the functions of remnants of the Polish government that fled from Poland—the Rids-Smigly government of the September defeat of Poland." (Marshal Edward Smigly-Rydz—his compound names have been used alternately over a long period of years—was chief of Poland's Army and was among the Polish government's chiefs who fled into Rumania in September 1939, after the German invasion. Yesterday Polish circles in Washington were described as expressing a fear that the Polish-Russian situation would be complicated by the setting-up of a free Polish regime with headquarters in Moscow, two governments-in-exile then presuming to speak for Poland.)

The communist party organ Pravda also published a long editorial vigorously attacking the Polish government in exile, which it charged with "treacherous behavior x x x in regard to the Soviet Union in connection with the vile campaign of slander on the occasion of the murder of Polish officers in the Smolensk area."

"Twice the editorial in an English translation broadcast by Tass, the official news agency, referred to Moscow's decision 'to sever relations with the Polish government.'" (Use of the word "sever" may be significant; there had been speculation in London quarters whether relations were merely "suspended" or broken.)

COUPLE MARRIED IN PARSONAGE

Lieut. and Mrs. Thomas C. Bowles are at home here at 1906 Scurry following their marriage Tuesday evening.

Single ring wedding vows were repeated by the young couple in the home of the Rev. Dick O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist church.

Mrs. Bowles, the former Nona Mae Dawdy of Bristow, Okla., was attired in a black ensemble with white accessories.

Former Resident Ill

Mrs. Morgan, who had lived in Dawson county since before it was organized, succumbed in Ashland, Ore. on Sunday after a prolonged, serious illness. Extra Premium Offered With Wedding Ceremony

Something really new has been added to the marriage ceremonies performed by the Rev. Dick O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist church. Rev. O'Brien hit upon the idea of making a recording of each marriage ceremony read in his home, and the results are amazing. Not only does the bride have proof of the better half's "I do" but something extra to gently pack away with bride's books and wedding invitations.

"These young people get a kick out of listening to the ceremony after it has been read," Rev. O'Brien stated. In the past few weeks, recordings have been made and mailed to parents and other relatives unable to attend the wedding ceremony.

Miss Laneous Notes

MARY WHALEY
Watched the parade yesterday and it had all a parade should have. Stirring band music, marching men in uniform, the flag and even a couple of WAACs. But the crowd might have been just as well have stayed home.

Not a cheer, not a handclap or even a whistle broke the silence as the parade went by. As seriously as if they were watching a newswreel, the people stood and when they turned away they remarked on what a nice parade it was, how well the boys marched and wasn't the music good. They were as enthusiastic as a lemon meringue pie.

We hesitate to venture an opinion as to what we think is the right or the wrong attitude. For twenty years, we know, young and old alike of this country were given a pretty good dose of disillusionment concerning war hysteria. For twenty years the people of this nation got pretty sophisticated about the ignorant ones who went sentimental about war and its glamorous trappings.

But we believe that enthusiasm is the most necessary item in accomplishing any venture and a bored, calm and sophisticated people never accomplish much of anything.

Once a country is at war an academic approach to the problem is not enough and the pastel approval of the folks on the sidelines must give the men on the fighting fronts a let down feeling.

Food Conservation Schools To Be Conducted

Helping every Texas family acquire the know-how for conserving every extra pound of vegetables and fruits produced in the Food for Freedom drive is the objective of a war-time program being launched by the home demonstration staff of the Texas A.&M. extension service.
A series of Save and Share for Victory schools will blanket the state. Each county will develop its own conservation plan, and home demonstration agents may over-look to hold schools in near-by counties which do not have agents.
Since so many towns and city people are growing Victory gardens, they are seeking latest, scientific information on canning, drying, and brining methods.
Plans for the Save and Share Victory program is to be discussed at the May meeting of the Howard County Home Demonstration Council on May 22.

Parsley Omelet
6 eggs.
6 tablespoons milk.
1-2 teaspoon salt.
Dash of pepper.
3 tablespoons minced parsley.
*3 tablespoons butter or margarine.
Beat eggs slightly. Add milk, seasonings and parsley. Put fat into hot skillet and when fat is melted put in the egg mixture. Stir it only enough to be sure that the still liquid part can run underneath and cook. Be sure that the mixture is well spread over the whole pan. When it is nearly cooked stop stirring it for a minute so that the bottom may brown. It takes only 3 or 4 minutes all together. It is easier to make two omelets of three eggs each, than one of six. When the omelet is done fold it and serve at once.

Poultry From The Backyard Flocks

Families in villages and the suburbs of cities often can supply their tables with eggs and poultry by raising chickens in their backyards. Male birds are needed only when the eggs are to be used for hatching. According to George P. McCarthy, poultryman for the A. and M. College extension service, Texas' 1943 poultry production goal calls for 11 per cent more chickens on farms than in 1942. Poultry raised on backyard town lots will supplement farm supplies.
Chickens and other poultry can thrive on ground which is too shady or too poor for a vegetable garden, McCarthy says. But town and city folks desiring to raise a small flock should first find out whether zoning laws permit it, and have enough fencing on hand. New fencing of close mesh, woven wire, the kind needed to keep the chickens at home, is hard to get. But it often is possible to salvage enough to make a small pen.
Plymouth Rocks, Rhode Island Reds and New Hampshire are especially suitable for backyard flocks. If bred for egg production they lay well and also make good table poultry. Leghorns are good layers, but are more inclined to fly over fences than the other and heavier breeds.
McCarthy says that a backyard flock may be started with day-old chicks, three or four week-old chicks, or ready to lay pullets. Twelve to 16 layers should be sufficient to provide a family of five with a liberal supply of table eggs for most of the year. The cost of feed, if kitchen scraps are used to supplement a balanced commercial feed, generally is small in proportion to the food produced. The chicken house should allow three square feet of floor space per bird, and the roosts, nest feeders, and waterers should be designed so as to take up little floor space.
Isolating the chicks after getting them from the hatchery is the main problem for amateur poultrymen. . . and some times for the more experienced, too. Proper spacing in the brooder house and disease prevention are the main elements in bringing them successfully into production. And correct spacing is the chief of these.
Crowding opens the gate to disease which picks off chickens that would become needed producers. The right capacity for a brooder house having 100 square feet, for example, is 200 chicks.
Fowl pox, or sorehead, and coccidiosis, levy a heavy toll on eggs and chickens. Both are preventable, McCarthy says. Beginners, or those who have experienced outbreaks on their farms, should make vaccination of flocks for fowl pox a "must" this season, especially the pullets after the cockerels have been sold. Vaccination, which costs approximately one-half cent a pullet, is the safest chicken insurance. The county agricultural agent will advise or help in applying it.
Sanitation is the best preventive of coccidiosis—clean feeders and waterers, and clean, dry litter, with emphasis on dry. Coccidia need moisture to develop. Stirring the litter, moving the feeders and water fountains to new locations in the house daily will keep it down. Detailed information on poultry raising may be obtained from the county extension agents.

Japs Building New Bases In China

CHUNGKING, April 29 (AP)—The Japanese are building a new naval base and two large airfields in China, a spokesman for the Chinese army told a press conference today.
The invaders, alarmed at the increasing menace to their shipping by Allied submarines, he said, have begun construction of a naval base at a recently-occupied island northeast of Foochow. He said that the Japanese were using Q-boats—ships disguised as fishing trawlers and ready for quick action against unsuspecting prey.

Seed Treating Is Crop Insurance

Treat planting seeds, advises O. P. Griffin, county agent, for best crop results.
Cost is comparatively light, and under ordinary circumstances will be offset many times by better stands, healthier plants and better yields.
There are two kinds of seed treatment, one for plants of the pod family—such as peas, beans, peanuts, etc.—to increase yield; the other is to prevent decay of seed and control plant diseases, such as smut, transmitted through seed.
In either case the treatment is essentially the same. Seed should be placed in a container with the treating material and turned until every seed is thoroughly coated with the dust.
To control fungus, this could be done two weeks in advance of planting, but results have shown it profitable to treat even immediately before planting.
For sorghum, maize and small grain, copper carbonate dust will get good results, both in preventing smutty heads and in getting a better stand of strong plants. Ceresan, a mercurial dust, is effective but must not be used in too great strength.
If cotton seed are treated with lint on, Ceresan must be used to get worth while results. Delinting is urged since it makes possible a more effective treatment of seed.
Information on chemicals to use and on mechanical devices used to cover seed may be had from Griffin.

FOOD NUTRITION and Point Rationing NEWS

The Big Spring Daily Herald

Food Experiments To Continue; New Recipes To Be Available

(Official news of rationing, nutrition and other war programs affecting the home and kitchen, prepared by the Regional Office of War Information.)

New recipes and plans for varied meals will continue to be available to housewives in spite of rationing. The OPA has recently granted allowances of food for experimental purposes to food research laboratories, experimental kitchens, and demonstration groups and other organizations engaged in similar work.

Experimenters are expected to enlarge the number of possible substitutions for the buyer who has run out of points or finds unobtainable the rationed foods planned to use. Until food experiments catch up with present rationing, meal planners can get some good tips from the army cooks.

When the army cook finds it necessary to substitute one food for another in a planned menu, he is required to consider two factors: the acceptability of the substitute with relation to other foods on the menu and the other nutrition yardstick. The substitute must provide the same nutritional value, unless other changes in the menu are made, to meet the lack in any food.

For instance, an army cook may substitute sweet potatoes for Irish potatoes, but he may not use rice in place of potatoes unless he has the means of making up the amount of Vitamin B and C that would be lost through the substitution.

He might solve the difficulty by adding more milk, greens or fruit to the menu.

Each of the food groups was figured out according to the particular contribution it makes to health and vitality. When you skip one, you are not getting all you could out of life. Here they are again:

1. Green and yellow vegetables.
2. Oranges, tomatoes, grapefruit.
3. Potatoes and other vegetables and fruits. These three groups add up to strong bones and good teeth, healthy blood and the vigor you need for today's job.
4. Milk and milk products, to keep your eyes and skin healthy and young, add more help for your bones and teeth, help your body repair the wear and tear of each day's activities.
5. Meat, poultry, fish and eggs, for children to grow on and adults to repair worn bodies and tired blood.
6. Bread, flour and cereals—energy to keep going and more pep when they are "enriched" according to government standards.
7. Butter and fortified margarine, more energy for work and play and vitamins to keep up your enthusiasm. There are some little extras in each group, though, so don't skip any.

Take Care Of Brain

Incidentally, the old story about fish being brain food is not pure folklore. Your brain needs oxygen to keep working right. And you can't get it to the brain by sticking your head out of the window. It has to get there through another food substance called riboflavin. And fish—as well as lean meats, milk and eggs, and leafy green vegetables—provide it.

Canning-Preserving

Sugar for canning fruits will be available to housewives on approximately the same basis as it was last season. Last year, housewives applied to their local boards for allotments of sugar on the

Extra Ration Book Comes From Garden

Uncle Sam's Ration Books No. 1 and 2 cover a good deal of our daily needs, but the Ration Books we make at home are just as important. Unlike Uncle Sam's Ration Books, the home-grown sort are unlimited. They are counterfeiting ration cards in Germany, but we are not talking about counterfeits when we say "home-made" ration books—they are as genuine as a dish of beans or a platter of steak for which we give up a handful of those precious "points" from Book No. 2.

It's like this: Victory Gardens go a long way in season, on the daily menu, but that's only half the story. During their prime there will be some surplus over daily needs, and that's the making of the extra "ration book." Two pounds of snap beans or about three pounds of tomatoes will fill a quart jar, three or four pounds of lima beans will shell out a quart of delicious "baby limas," and so on. Every can or jar that is filled would cost a certain number of points if bought on the market.

To put it another way, a bushel of tomatoes in the can is worth about 300 points, a bushel of snap beans about 416 points, a bushel of limas about 456 points. A bushel each of these three items grown and processed at home adds up to 1,272 points, more than twice the quota for canned vegetables in Uncle Sam's Ration Book.

This sort of home-made ration book saves the official coupons for buying a variety of processed fruits and vegetables which cannot be produced at home, all of which belong to the "home front" where the Civilian Defense armies must do as good a job as our boys in uniform are doing on the world-compassing battle front.

Warning—Poison

The department of agriculture announces the steam pressure canner is the only method it can recommend for canning meats and such non-acid vegetables as beans, peas, corn, asparagus, spinach and other greens.

The reason for this is deadly danger of poisoning, officials said. Certain spoiled organisms as well as the beginnings of fatal poison may be present in these foods and they are not readily killed by boiling temperatures. When food is eaten fresh or cooked, these organisms are harmless, but during the time the jars sit on the shelf, the poison may develop.

A pressure cooker, properly used, develops a temperature high enough to kill these possible poisoners.

Acid foods, such as fruits, tomatoes, rhubarb and pickled beets, may be safely canned by the boiling-water-bath method, since the acid renders the small organisms harmless.

The department of agriculture recommends the housewife boil all home-canned, non-acid vegetables for at least ten minutes before using them from the jar. This will make harmless, any poison which may have developed, but the foods must be eaten promptly, not allowed to stand, or poison may develop again. The presence of the poison is not always made evident by spoilage and what appears to be good food may contain the fatal dose.

Pressure Cookers

Obviously the 150,000 pressure cookers for which WPB has allocated materials this year will not be enough to supply everybody who would like to have one. Rationing, therefore, is the solution which Solomon would probably have recommended, and the U. S. department of agriculture county boards have been appointed to receive applications under rationing.

If you're planning to can a lot of non-acid foods, such as beans, peas, corn, meats and others, a pressure cooker might be the answer to your problem. However, groups such as neighborhood pools, church organizations and other women's clubs will be likely to receive priority consideration when rationing of pressure cookers begins. County war boards will be able to supply information for those who want to apply for a purchase certificate.

Vegetable Ceilings

While new ceiling prices went into effect on seven fresh vegetables April 22, the price of these vegetables can still change each week. The vegetables are cabbage, carrots, lettuce, peas, snap beans, spinach and tomatoes. On each of these, your retail dealer will determine his ceilings each Thursday by applying a definite mark-up to the net cost of the vegetables. The net cost is based on the largest single purchase of the preceding week.

Thus each week you will pay for these vegetables just what your retailer paid the previous week, plus a set percentage of this price for his operating expenses.

Coffee

An improvement in the coffee supply situation assures us we will continue to have one pound per person every five weeks. Stamp 23 from War Ration Book No. 1 is good for one pound of coffee through May 30.

Tomatoes Moving

Tomatoes have started moving from the lower Rio Grande Valley and you should find them more plentiful during the coming weeks you will still be buying before your own victory garden crop appears. Use them every day as salad or in meat-stretching casserole dishes, as a garnish to be eaten. They're for bones and teeth and energy as well as good eyes, and help you resist infection of nose and throat; they belong to Group I with oranges and grapefruit but have some important extras you can't get too much of for radiant health.

Point Values Reduced On Many Items

With black-eyed peas on a point-free basis, you will be using more of these, of course. Canned soup points are down from six to three and four points. That's good news for lunch or dinner—when you aren't sure your menu for the day have sufficiently covered the basic seven groups of must-have foods.

Tomato soup, if you missed your grapefruit this morning or haven't fresh tomatoes on the day's plan. Vegetable soup to help fill out that Group 3 of "Potatoes and other vegetables."

Remember any soup made with milk is all to the good for health and beauty, whether it's fresh or canned milk you use. Milk helps fill out in most any food-group you may have slighted a little. There's a simple supply of canned milk, so don't over-buy. But save the can for the scrap metal campaign.

If frozen foods are available in your community, you can enjoy twice as many on your point ration, since Thursday, April 22. Frozen fruits and vegetables in pound sizes except baked beans are down from 18 points to six.

Household Hints

If you have trouble separating strips of bacon, place several stuck-together strips in a cold frying pan. Heat slowly and after a minute or so you can easily separate the strips with the aid of a fork. Pour off the fat as soon as it collects and cook the bacon slowly until it is crisp. Bacon goes further when cooked this way and the fat can be used for browning and seasoning foods.

Cook eggs slowly. Quick cooking toughens the whites. Creamed hard-boiled cooked eggs are a good meat alternate, with a goodly amount of nutrition. Add three hard-cooked eggs (diced) to two cups well seasoned creamy vegetable sauce and serve over boiled rice, mashed potatoes, macaroni or toast. With a green vegetable, simple salad and plain dessert you have an economical, interesting dinner menu.

Cream cheese makes an interesting top for fresh gingerbread to take the place of the old fashioned whipped cream covering now banned. Cream a small package of white cheese with two tablespoons hot cream, add a dash of salt and beat until fluffy. Spread over fresh gingerbread just as it comes from the oven.

You can get an interesting follow up meal after having had fowl by adding the chopped food giblets to savory rice and serving poured over boiled rice, noodles, or browned sweet or white potato cakes. You might add a beef bouillon cube to the sauce for extra color, flavor and nutrition. The family will never miss the giblets when the fowl is served.

A speck of nutmeg added to seasoned limas introduces a new flavor blend.

Meat organs (kidneys, sweetbreads, liver, brains) spoil more easily than other meat cuts so store them in the coldest part of the refrigerator.

Inquire About Ceiling Price On Poultry

Ceilings are now in effect on poultry prices. Find out from your nearest district OPA office what the ceilings are in your town. District offices are located at Dallas, Houston, San Antonio, Fort Worth and Lubbock. Don't hesitate to inquire. That's one of the things these district offices are for—to answer your questions.

Poultry is fine to supplement your meat points—useful for growth and repair of the body, helps build good teeth and bones; also helps turn other foods you eat into energy for the day's activities. If it is still high under your local ceiling, stretch it with eggs (hard boiled, in chicken salad or creamed chicken) and add dried peas or beans to the week's marketing list to get the same important element. Or buy plentiful, economical peanuts to add to salads or serve as an informal dessert when you are short on meat and poultry.

Smaller sizes and frozen baked beans are down to four points. Point values of dehydrated soups have also been cut in half.

Death Penalty Is Upheld Second Time

AUSTIN, April 20. (AP)—The court of criminal appeals Wednesday affirmed for the second time a death penalty assessed in a rape case against Henry Allen Hill of Dallas.

The supreme court of the United States reversed the case last year on the grounds that race discrimination had been shown in the selection of the grand jury which indicted him.

One other death penalty and a 99-year prison sentence were affirmed by the high court. Upheld was a death penalty assessed Ar-

Ortiz Keeps Title By Pounding Down Lupe Cordoza

FORT WORTH, April 29 (AP)—Manuel Ortiz, the little brown symphony from El Centro, still was world's bantamweight king today and you won't hear even a feeble protest from the corner of one Lupe Cordoza.

Lupe tried Manny again here last night and if he wasn't convinced the first time they met, when Cordoza lost because of a badly cut eye, then he would be a very recalcitrant young fellow if he didn't admit it today.

Ortiz showed the classiest left hand Texas has seen in many a moon. Of course this state hasn't seen many of them, since last night's scrap was its second world's championship bout, but Manny would do until somebody with two lefts comes along.

The California Mexican climbed on Cordoza from the opening bell and knocked him out in one minute and seven seconds of the sixth round. But whereas Ortiz had been doing all the damage beforehand with that rhythmic left, it was a hard right to the body that floored the challenger from Sacramento.

However, a left that preceded the right was really the telling blow. It buckled Cordoza's knees and left him ready for the kill.

Cordoza took the count on the hands and knees, too weak even to shake his head.

The fight drew a crowd of 3,000 but that did not represent the total number of tickets sold by the four Fort Worth Lions clubs, which sponsored the show for the

Loss May Put Stop To Those Winning Ways

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The American league's pennant race seems to be in the hands of the draft authorities today.

It has been right within their reach all along, of course, and all the pennant predictions this spring were hedged with a dense foliage of "ifs" and "buts" covering the possibility of the loss of key players by contending clubs.

However, the matter is down to cases now. Today Shortstop George Sturweiss of the New York Yankees undergoes an induction examination at Hartford, Conn. and last night it was disclosed that an appeals board at Mansfield, Ohio, has retained Second Baseman Ray Mack of the Cleveland Indians in class 1A.

Neither of the players is as prominent as some that are sure to be called later in the season, but they are vital cogs in the clubs that now rank one-two in the American league and their cases are as controversial as any baseball is likely to produce.

The pace-setting Yankees have played five games, winning four, and Sturweiss has hit safely in every contest for a batting average of .455 to show that even though he is a 24-year-old rookie he is as valuable to the club as any veteran. Yesterday the Yankees shut out the Boston Red Sox, 5-0, with Ernie Bonham pitching six-hit ball.

Sturweiss made three of New York's eight hits, scored one run and batted in another.

Cleveland took over undisputed possession of second place as Lefty Al Smith shut out the Chicago White Sox, 2-0.

The Indians in winning five of their first seven games have distinguished themselves as pennant possibilities if they can keep their team together and keep clicking.

The Washington Senators, who moved into third place as Ewald Fike pitched them to a 3-0 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics, also suffered a draft blow when infielder Gerry Priddy was summoned to New York for his physical examination.

The Detroit Tigers, making their debut opening at home before 17,943 fans, stopped the St. Louis Browns, 4-2.

The world champion St. Louis Cardinals lost their contest with the Chicago Cubs, 4-0.

There were nine errors in the Brooklyn Dodgers affair with the Philadelphia Phillies and Brooklyn's National league leaders finally obtained a 4-3 decision with an unearned run in the tenth.

The New York Giants' deal for Ernie Lombardi boomeranged as Connie Ryan, the infielder they cast off Tuesday, came through with a three-run homer in the ninth inning to give the Boston Braves a 2-1 victory.

The Cincinnati Reds beat Pittsburgh, 3-1, with Elmer Riddle holding the Pirates to five hits, although Joe Beggs had to get the final out for him in the ninth.

Easy Victory Chalked Up By 816th Squadron

Free hitting, supplemented by opposition loose fielding, gave the 816th Squadron an easy 15-3 victory over the Mess Company in Wednesday afternoon play of the Big Spring Bomber School softball league.

Five runs in the opening canto and four more in the second crushed the Mess outfit. Too, Sgt. Dunham was red hot on the mound for the 816th and struck out 10 men. The rampaging 816th drove Sgt. Wolfe, Mess company pitcher, from the door and then got over Pvt. Camel's hump ball quickly to maintain the rout.

Sgt. Davis led hitting with two singles and a double for the 816th and Waller connected for the circuit. Sgt. Wolfe had two singles to lead the Mess company slugging. Pfc. Ramsey, 816th shortstop and Sgt. Wolfe for the Mess was outstanding in the field.

Court Tests Due On Kansas Labor Control Law

KANSAS CITY, Kan., April 29 (AP)—Kansas' new labor-union control law, upheld by the republican legislative majority as a model for the nation, headed into two federal court tests today with union attorneys claiming thousands of arrests are inevitable unless its application is stayed.

The law, enacted a month ago, requires licenses for union business agents, specifies unions must report their dues, officers' salaries and status of union funds, and restricts picketing and the conduct of strikes.

Two bills in equity were filed in United States district court yesterday challenging constitutionality of the act. Union attorneys filed the identical suits on behalf of the Kansas City Building and Construction Trades Council, AFL, and the United Mine Workers of America.

Judge Richard J. Hopkins said he would hold a hearing on the petitions today.

The suits contend requiring public reports of union finances "deprives the union of its constitutional right to conduct its affairs in its own way."

Stiwell, Chennault In Washington
WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stiwell, commander of U.S. forces in the China-Burma-India theater, and Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault, commanding general of the 14th air force in China, are in Washington for military conferences, the war department announced.

Fuel Oil Rationing Cited Unjustified
WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP)—Senator Wherry (R-Nebr.) said today evidence before the special senate subcommittee investigating the fuel oil rationing and conversions for home consumption are unjustified.

He added that he was "recommending their elimination in 17 states."

"The evidence also has disclosed that about 5,000,000 barrels a day are consumed."

Wherry said he did not know what the committee itself, headed by Senator Clark (D-Mo.), will recommend.

The states in which he would have the restrictions lifted, he said, are Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, Tennessee, Kentucky, Texas, Missouri, Oklahoma, Kansas, South Dakota, North Dakota, Arkansas, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan.

Board Tells Why Men Deferred
UNION, N. J., April 29 (AP)—The names of registrants with selective service board two were posted publicly today, together with the reasons for their deferment, because, said Chairman Paul Slavins, board members had tired of explaining why single men remained at home while married men and fathers were inducted into the armed forces.

Under the heading "deferred and why," lists have been placed in postoffices at Slavins' order. They list the names, addresses, ages, marital status, occupations and employers of registrants on post-

Heart-To-Heart Talk Would Solve Rubber-Gasoline Squabble, He Says

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP)—A good "heart-to-heart talk" between the principal antagonists in the seething synthetic rubber vs. 100-octane gasoline priorities controversy was advocated today by Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.), who said:

"If bet if you could lock Patterson and Jeffers up in a room for a sufficient time for them to talk over their differences, they would come out smiling and with a solution to offer."

A member of the senate Truman committee now refereeing the controversy, Ferguson said his experience as a judge in Michigan had shown him that it was "much easier to settle disputes after the opposing parties have an opportunity to get their complaints off their chests."

Rubber Director William M. Jeffers will have that opportunity Monday, Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson on Tuesday. The committee was in recess today.

Petroleum Administrator Ickes testified yesterday that despite difficulties in getting materials for high octane gasoline plants, the petroleum administration was a meeting every army and navy requirement as estimated a year ago.

Progress of the wheat crop was generally good in areas with sufficient moisture. Greenbugs were still in evidence in some counties but the extent of their damage was varied and cannot as yet be fully determined.

Good progress was made in planting of spring crops except in a few counties in southwest and central West Texas where work was somewhat delayed by deficiency of moisture. In the high plains area planting of spring crops will not become general until May. Corn was making fair to excellent growth.

Cotton was still being planted in some of the central North Texas counties and planting had started but was not general farther north and west. Progress of the crop in the south part of the state was reported satisfactory.

Planting of grain sorghum was widespread. Some peanuts were up in South Texas.

Growth and harvest of commercial vegetables continued satisfactory, with cool nights the principal drawback. Moisture supply was ample except in part of the Rio Grande valley area and a few counties in South Texas. Important crops in Central and East Texas, such as beans, onions, potatoes and tomatoes, made good growth. Tomatoes in the Youkum area and in a few early East Texas districts were blooming.

Over a large part of the state condition of ranges and grass either continued good, or improved. Cattle were in generally good condition throughout most of the state. Shipments from south West Texas to Kansas and Oklahoma pastures continued. Sheep shearing was under way, but progress was not as good as usual in some counties because of difficulty in securing hands.

Moisture Is Needed Over The State

AUSTIN, April 29 (AP)—While weather conditions permitted full-time field work over most of Texas during the week ending April 25, soil moisture conditions were widely varied, the USDA reported today.

The moisture situation was becoming serious in some localities. Reviewing conditions over the state, the department's weekly crop and weather bulletin showed:

Ample moisture through most of East Texas, North Texas and across part of the Panhandle. Much of the southwest, trans-Pecos, western edge of the high plains, and a few counties in Central Texas were deficient in moisture.

Progress of the wheat crop was generally good in areas with sufficient moisture. Greenbugs were still in evidence in some counties but the extent of their damage was varied and cannot as yet be fully determined.

Count Fleet Listed As 'Sure Thing' In The Derby

LOUISVILLE, April 28 (AP)—The baseball bug busted into the conversation on racing in general and the Derby in particular.

Just what a baseball bug was doing in the middle of all the jam-packed hotel lobby and street-corner horse hysteria in Derbyville today will have to remain a major mystery.

"That Count Fleet," one reasoned, "is just like the Yankees used to be in their batting practices before a World Series. The Count's a real fine horse, and everybody else in the race knows it. The Yankees were murderers' row in those days, a few years back, and every team they tangled with knew it.

"But when they took their cuts during batting practice, they always made sure the fellows on the other side were watching them. Then they put on their show. Every guy would step up and belt that apple out of the lot. By the time they finished, the other guys were shuddering."

The guy just about hit the bulls-eye. There are going to be nine or ten other horses in the $75,000 scramble Saturday, but only one of them has ever beaten the Count in the 17 starts of his career. This was Gold Shower last summer, and that was regarded as an accident.

Generally the second-money complex still was all over the place as Louisville began to get dressed for its big party, despite the war-time atmosphere.

Meetings, the stables of all Derby candidates reported "present and accounted for" at the dawn patrol today, although two—Twosies and Bankrupt—still were on the doubtful list, and one other—Burnt Cork—was given the he-ha.

Scrimmage On Schedule For Steer Squad

Football fans may witness some classic head-butting Friday afternoon when the 1943 edition of the Steer football team squares off for another of its "balanced scrimmages."

The term "balanced" is used more than advisedly, for Coach John Dibrell actually will balance his squad members so that two teams selected will be about equal in strength.

If his schedule for last Friday holds good, there will be about three half-hour periods of hard scrimmage with touchdowns as well as fundamentals the object. Last week the Reds trimmed the Whites, 18-6.

Scrimmage may not start until around 4:30 p. m. or after since Dibrell will put his charges through a series of loosening exercises and some passing and kicking.

In rehearsal this week, linemen have been showing more charge and precision with end play continuing to stand out. Backs have been given a real dose of pass defense and offense. Both were Steer weaknesses last season and Dibrell is attempting to build against this.

He auctioned an autographed ball for a $200,000 bond bid and a bottle of beer brought $100,000.

Aviation Bill Is Set Back

AUSTIN, April 29 (AP)—Sen. Karl Lovelady of Meridian said today he would continue to press for passage of a bill setting up state control for intrastate commercial aviation despite house committee action last night that virtually throttled his measure.

The 11 to 5 state affairs committee vote referring the hotly-contested bill to a subcommittee left several possible avenues open for passage, but several adherents admitted off the record they considered the legislation a dead duck so far as this session was concerned because of the little time left.

A favorable vote by the committee, which would have sent the rectly to the house following its relatively low-numbered bill directly to the house following its passage by the senate 10 days ago, would have given it a favorable position on the crowded calendar that stands between the house and adjournment May 11.

It has been said: "FOOD, TOO, HAS BECOME PART OF THE GRAND STRATEGY OF WINNING THIS WAR!" We cannot win without FOOD—nor can we produce FOOD without FEED. Feed Crops include grains, hays—and COTTON COTTON, for generations, has been the chief source of protein in the United States. COTTON produced more concentrated protein (cottonseed meal and cake) than any other crop in the season 1941-42. . . . More tons of protein were produced from cottonseed than from any other crop, from August 1, 1942, to January 1, 1943. But—we do not have enough COTTONSEED CAKE and MEAL, to supply the demand. ENOUGH COTTON MUST BE PRODUCED IN 1943 TO SUPPLY THE COTTONSEED MEAL AND CAKE NEEDED!

Better Keep On Nursing Tires

A representative of the Office of Rubber Distribution told tire dealers of West Texas in a meeting this week that the average motorist can expect "half a new tire a year" for the duration, unless the picture materially changes meantime. Production for 1943 will be about 13 million tires, as against 20,000,000 automobiles in the country. Tires will continue to be distributed wholly on the basis of essentiality.

In a Houston interview Rubber Clear Bill Jeffers reiterated his promise to "keep the country on rubber." But there were some strings to this bland statement. To begin with, only about 5,000,000 tires will be made from synthetic rubber by the end of this year. A good many have already been made, but none of them has been put into service. They are still being tested.

"I am hopeful that eventually we can meet all requirements," he said. "There will be enough tires by the middle of 1944 to meet all essential requirements."

Then he added:

"That does not necessarily mean that there will be an abundance of tires for pleasure driving."

The casual motorist who operates his car on the assumption that it will be possible to get new tires sometime in 1944 should ponder that statement well. Nobody has ever promised that tires would be available next year for anything but essential driving. It may be possible to get purchase certificates, as it is now, but a certificate isn't a tire. It's merely an authorization to buy a tire if you can find one. Many an essential driver has been packing the essential certificates around for weeks looking for a tire, but hasn't been able to find it.

The best bet of all is still this: Treat your tires as though they'd have to carry you for the duration. It's at least an even chance that they'll have to do just that.

More Manpower From Ranks Of Handicapped

By JACK SEINNETT

WASHINGTON — Congress has spread on the statutes provisions for taking care of the physically handicapped who will emerge from this war.

Private industry, in some sections, has been doing an excellent job of tapping this potential manpower. Some war plants are being manned almost entirely by the "lame, halt and blind." According to the American Federation of the Physically Handicapped, Inc., with headquarters here, approximately 92,000 physically handicapped persons have been placed by the War Manpower Commission since it opened for business. That sounds swell, but wait.

Paul A. Strachan, president of the federation, and himself deaf, says there are 23,000,000 physically handicapped persons in this country and that a large portion of them are employable. If that is true, the 92,000 figure becomes pretty insignificant and it looks as if the manpower agencies are neglecting one of our best sources in combatting the employment shortages.

Washington repeatedly has received stories about factories in which blind persons have become adept "touch" inspectors; in which deaf persons, unperturbed by the noise of heavy industry, have proved highly efficient in operating various machine tools, stampers and welders; and in which the arduous and tedious have done everything from handling precision instruments to driving trucks, tractors and cranes. Even partial invalids, whose efficiency plays out at the end of four or five hours, have been worked into short shifts.

The only thing that has been done about it so far is the introduction of a joint resolution, sponsored by Senator James J. Davis, Pennsylvania's "Puddler Jim," to make the 1,500 United States Employment Service offices recruiting stations for physically handicapped persons.

Senator Davis, who is not physically handicapped, but who started life here as a Welsh immigrant lad, rose to be Secretary of Labor, and long has been a champion of the underprivileged.

The law he wants enacted would establish a division for the physically handicapped in every U. S. Employment Service office. These would be headed, where possible, by some person who is handicapped. Without regard to the civil service laws, these divisions would be authorized to employ, fix the compensation of, and otherwise see to the employment of such persons. They would work, of course, with state and local organizations already operating.

National headquarters of the division would make reports every three months to congress to show what progress is being made.

The federation and several other organizations are, of course, thumping the drum pretty hard to see that the bill goes through. In view of manpower problems, it is difficult to understand what objections there would be to it—at least for the duration.

However, for some strange reason, there has been a lot of buck-passing here on federal handling of the problem. While some states and smaller organizations have been very active, the federation's figure that only 92,000 have been placed is evidence that little has been accomplished.

Chapter 17

So Tubac told the marshal that he was the man who had put the bum money into Hi Grab's bank. "But how did I know it was bum money," he growled. "I took it in payment of a debt—an I supposed the guy was a gentleman."

Jinx Mueller eyed him dubiously. "Lack of knowledge is a poor excuse," he said grimly. "You had quite a real pile of jack, an' you ain't got the look of having forty-five cents. What would a man be swim' you all that money? I'm not promising anything, but if you don't come clean, by the gods you'll stay here till hell freezes! Now—what about this money? Who's the guy that owed it to you? An' when did he pay you? An' why?"

He raved for satisfaction rendered. But to hit on the name of the outlaw's employer was a deal too much like hunting the proverbial hay-hid needle. For all Tubac knew the spurious money might have been printed in Mexico. He rather inclined to the belief that it had.

With a scowl Tubac dismissed the whole business and turned his mind to thoughts of Sue. Not to say that his thoughts were serious. He might be the boneheaded yap Jinx had called him, but his head wasn't solid ivory. There were not going to be any gal's apronstrings hitched onto Tubac Jones, by grab!

But she was a dang nice critter just the same, but he wasn't lurch to think of her serious. Too many guys had got hooked in that fashion—and some of them right good poker-players, too. Girls were all right if you just keep your head; too much girl—Well, anyway, she was handsome as an ace-full on kings, and the prospect of taking her horsebacking some night was nothing to get the creeps about.

Maker Of The 'Spitfire' Honored In New Movie

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — One of the really good things about the motion picture industry is its devotion to the lives of great men who have gone before us. Just recall how painlessly you learned about Emile Zola, for instance.

Now you're going to learn about Reginald Joseph Mitchell, who as history goes is pretty obscure, but who as the inventor of the famous Spitfire warplane deserves a great deal of attention. The man who portrays Mitchell on the screen is Leslie Howard, a choice reportedly pleasing to the widow of the British aircraft engineer, since "Reg" in his lifetime was shy and retiring, the sort of demagogue you expect from Howard.

Mitchell died June 12, 1937, at the age of 42, and the New York Times said in his obituary: "He gave his name to no company or aircraft yet he designed a military airplane believed to be the fastest in the world and now being produced in great quantities for the Royal Air Force. Its performance is a well-kept secret."

Mitchell's story, traced in the film "Spitfire," begins at the turn of the century in the British town of Stoke-on-Trent. The son of a printer, he showed such an early interest in science and mechanics that his first job of importance was in a locomotive shop.

During World War I Mitchell worked on airplane engines at the Vickers Supermarine factory, and made such progress that in 1920 he was chief engineer and designer for the company. In the post-war period, Mitchell designed a radical monoplane which incorporated steel tubing and a high bullet-like fuselage.

That September a world sea-plane record of 236 miles per hour was established with the plane. Although it crashed later in a wing flutter, Mitchell already was at work on an all-metal successor. It was in this machine in which Flight Lieutenant Airey Grieg reached a speed of 319 miles an hour, in 1927.

The first actual Spitfire was flown in 1936. Seven years ago, mind you, yet it had a speed of 346. Mitchell calmly accepted the news that the Germans had produced a Messerschmitt which could do 379 miles an hour, because he knew he had the right basic idea and that developments could come later. The tragedy of his life was that he did not live to see an RAF pilot step into one of today's Spitfires and fly away to challenge a Messerschmitt.

Mitchell became ill from overwork of whole cloth; some is piped to him on borrowed time. He refused to rest, and when he did go to a Vienna clinic it was too late.

The film, incidentally, is billed as a Leslie Howard production. Howard also was the director. In the cast is David Niven, one of the first film actors to go to war. He went before the cameras while on leave, still being in active service.

About Columnists' 'Dope'

By GEORGE STIMPSON

Herald Washington Correspondent

Nothing much happened here today in the Texas group, except Congressman Luther Johnson gave me a cigar, which helps some. Judge Mansfield offered to buy me lunch, but I asked for a rain-check on that. It is possible to get a place to live in wartime Washington, but your chances are better if you don't have dogs, cats, canaries, radio, phonograph, children or bad habits like playing violin or singing in bath. A kid in khaki just told me he thinks food in Washington is rotten and expensive. I met Secretary of State Cordell Hull today; he appeared to be in a chatty and communicative mood, but didn't say anything.

Wright Patman complains that industrial development of South has been retarded for years by discriminatory freight rates; under present rate structure it bears from eight to 56 per cent more than is charged in "official territory," the preferred industrial North and East; I. C. C. more friendly to South now than formerly; Wright gives imaginary example how discriminatory freight rates operate against South; suppose, he says, the Daingerfield plant mined commercial iron; metal could be shipped North or East, smelted and cast into finished stoves, stoves freighted back to Daingerfield and sold for less than they could be made in Daingerfield and shipped to the point of manufacture; why? because of the discriminatory freight-rate-of-finished products out of the South; that's why South hasn't come into its own industrially.

"A very natural and normal part of our commercial process," are eliminated and all goods standardized and labeled according to one pattern regardless of their origin in point of manufacture; the public should be informed on what they are buying; "I see no particular objection to grades being posted on a label under a trade mark, because that would further inform the public, but to do away with trade names and trade-marks would to me seem unconscionable."

Arthur Leon Webb, a retired lieutenant colonel of the regular Army, died at Walter Reed Hospital in Washington at the age of 73; born in Mississippi, he graduated from Baylor University law school and practiced law at Palestine, 1892, and in New York City; commissioned in the Army, he fought in Cuba during the Spanish-American war, in the Philippines during the Philippine Insurrection and served 21 months as major and lieutenant colonel in France, Switzerland and Germany during the first World War; since his retirement in 1928 he has lived here with his wife and two daughters. "Perhaps things would run smoother in Washington if it didn't have so many coordinators, liaison officers, go-betweens, expeditors, press agents, public relations officers, efficiency experts and statistical analysts. I spent three hours the other day filing out a District of Columbia income tax blank; my pet peeve is those birds who design these blanks; they ask a lot of cock-eyed questions and leave no space for the answers; it wouldn't break my heart if they put such fellows in Class-A with preferential service in the front lines.

Oil Differential Problem Studied

DALLAS, April 29. (AP)—A committee of oil men headed by C. R. Starnes of Gladewater began the study today of methods to adjust price differentials between East Texas crude oil and Gulf Coast crudes of comparable grades. H. P. Nichols, executive vice president of the East Texas Oil association, said that the present differential of 16 cents between East Texas crude, which sells for $1.25 a barrel, and similar crudes from coast fields, which bring $1.41 to $1.46 per barrel, tends to create a greater demand for the lower-priced East Texas oil, which if met would violate the best conservation practices.

In addition to Starnes, the following were appointed to the committee after a meeting here yesterday: Capt. J. F. Lacey, W. L. Pickens, Summerfield Roberts, E. M. Solow and Jay Simons, all of Dallas, and E. J. McCurdy of Fort Worth.

In Canada at one time bachelors were forbidden to hunt, trade or fish.

Wool Parley Is Scheduled

KERRVILLE, April 29 (AP)—Texas ranchmen, warehouse operators, wool dealers, and others associated with the production of wool meet here tomorrow to discuss the government's wool purchase program, in effect since midnight last Saturday.

The meeting was called by Horace Fawcett of Del Rio, president of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' association, for all persons interested in wool production. It will begin at 10 a. m. William Darden, assistant to Lawrence Myers of the Commodity Credit corporation; Jim Coon of the wool division of the Food Distribution administration of the CCC; Durham Jones, national wool appraiser; Ernest Woodward of San Angelo, Texas wool appraiser, and representatives of the Dallas office of OPA will attend. Many West Texas warehousemen, producers, and dealers have expressed opposition to the program as not favorable to them. Warehousemen, meeting at San Angelo the first of the week, voted to delay any action which might be considered until after the Kerrville discussion.

Dallas Man Heads Police Association

HOUSTON, April 29. (AP)—The Texas Police association ended its annual war conference yesterday after electing Chief J. M. Welch of the Dallas police force as its new president. He succeeds Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., director of the state department of public safety. Other officers: Ed A. Gormley of Dallas, first vice president; Sheriff Allan G. Falby, El Paso, second vice president; Police Chief T. G. Curry, Fort Worth, third vice president. Chief Curry is the only new officer, the others merely moving up a step. Lieut. W. S. Brogdon of the Dallas police department was re-elected secretary-treasurer, and Chief G. C. Flournoy, Stamford, sergeant-at-arms.

Swimming Pool Due To Open On May 7

Tentative date for opening of the municipal swimming pool has been set for Friday, May 7, city commissioners decided at their regular semi-monthly meeting Tuesday evening. This is the normal time for the opening, for since it was built the pool has been opened the first week in May. Commissioners also ordered that city lakes remain closed to fishing regardless of the opening of the game fish season Saturday. Should ample runoff be trapped if and when it rains, the commission indicated it might then open the lake or lakes to the public.
