Tanker's Crew To Get Wages, Bonuses

BEAUMONT, Mar. 14 (AP)—An official end to the adventurous voyage of the oil tanker Nantucket Chief was to be written today when crew members receive between $15, and $30,000 in wages.

Wages and bonuses, a question which had delayed the ship's sailing home after it was released by Spanish insurgents, were settled between National Maritime Union officials and the vessel's agents.

Capt. J. E. Lewis, who was held in jail two weeks by the insurgents when the vessel was taken and her cargo confiscated, plans to embark again with the same officers when tanks have been cleaned and the vessel loaded at Port Arthur, 30 miles from here.

READING AND WRITING

"OXFORD LIMITED," by Keith Briant; (Farrar & Rinehart; $2.50).

As Keith Briant remarks in his study of Oxford University, Oxford is new and Cambridge is not. He might also have added that Cambridge is the more beautiful of the two, perhaps partly because of this very circumstance.

Briant is a young man. In 1906 he edited the Isis, undergraduate paper at Oxford, and managed to attract quite a lot of attention to himself in the process. He leans toward the Left, although not so far he breaks the thread of common sense. He writes well, if not brilliantly, and he is not afraid to say part of what he thinks. Being English and bearing the scars of English public school manners, he lacks of mannered in him. He once in a while comes a coper.

So much for that. "Oxford Limited" is in theory a perfectly frank study of Oxford from a first-grade graduate standpoint. The present university does not come out too well, and can give the impression that this is justified—certainly it is by Briant's material as he presents it. He acknowledges the difficulties in the Oxford system: an overload of tradition, an under-supply of money, suspicion from the nation at large that the institution is a kind of pedagogue, the financially responsible youth of the land to sport about in the idleness of reorienting public school boys whose training has been ironical, impractical; too many liberated rules and senseless prohibitions—these and many others.

He tries to analyze calmly the result and the product in the light of history as well as current fact. He feels, for example, that the attitude of the undergraduates toward sex is rather pathetic, and not their fault. He thinks the rowdiness which exists is vicious enough, but as much the fault of the badly conceived "proctor" system as of youthful stupidity. He does not see how Oxford can be expected to be a center of research in the social sciences without the necessary money. The dons, he feels, have virtues and vices, some of the latter not their fault.

And so on. Allowing for everything, it seems to this reader that Mr. Briant has done rather an honest job.

TVA MAY WITHDRAW ITS SALE OFFER

WASHINGTON, Mar. 14 (AP)—Senator Norris (Ind-Neb) predicted today the TVA may withdraw its offer to purchase private utility properties unless the power companies show more willingness "to play fair."

"The TVA will not keep its offer for the purchase of private properties open indefinitely," he declared.

Norris said that temporarily halting the public works program of aiding city power developments—a step suggested by a utilities spokesman—merely would give the private companies a stronger hand in bargaining for sale of their properties to TVA.

HARVESTING THE ROOKIE CROP— International Aids Giants, Yanks

By DILLON GRAHAM
AP Features Service Writer

The Yankees may have to credit the International league with an asset if the Bronx Bombers win another world championship.

For New York dug into the Newark roster for replacements it needed to carry on. The Yanks lifted Joe Gordon into the second-base slot Tony Lazzeri vacated and brought on Joe Boggs, Atley Donald, Steve Sundra and Spurgeon Chandler to bolster pitching staff that possibly might crack sometime.

No rookies will make his debut under more pressure than Gordon, the former Oregon university youngster who flashed brightly last season.

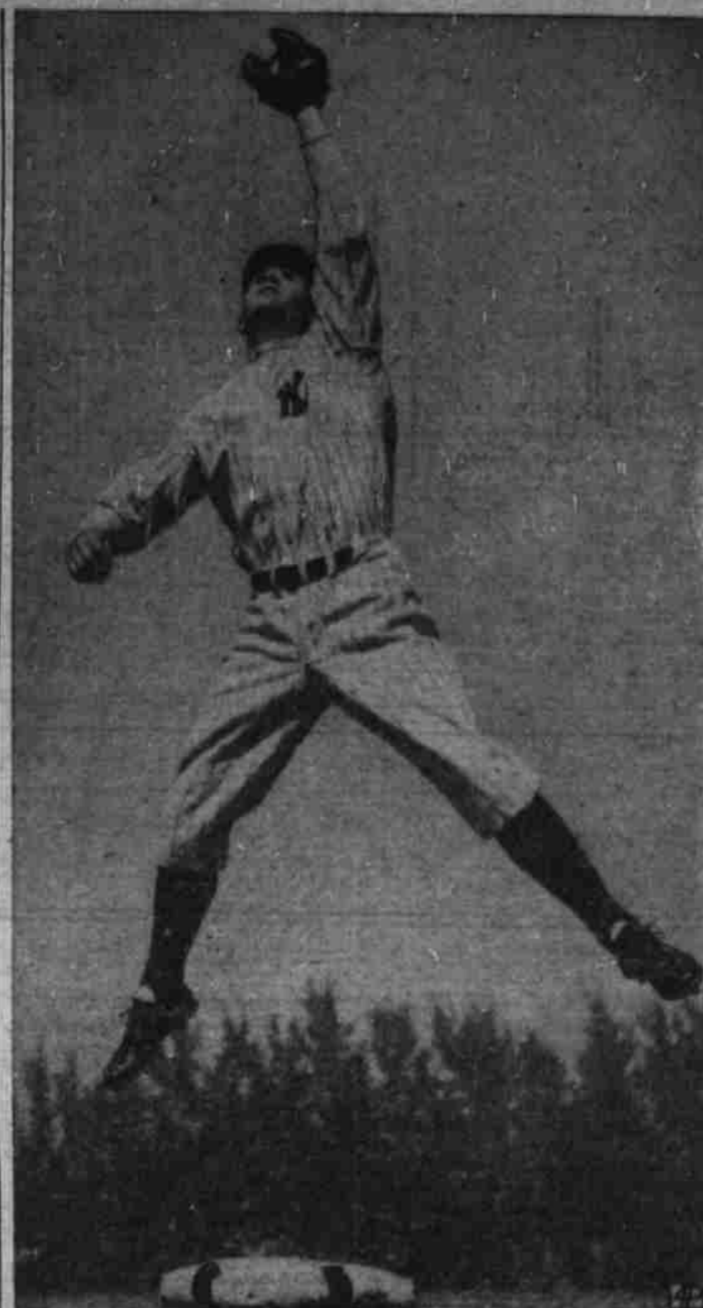

Although he hit under 200 for Newark, Gordon was a competent lead-off man and a long hitter. His fielding was fancy.

Boggs, who won 21 games, and Donald, who copped 19, figure prominently in the Yankee battle.

New York also took Catcher Warren Roar and Infielder Babe Dahlgren from the Bears.

Newark contributed Catcher Willard Hersberger to Cincinnati and First Baseman George McQuinn and Pitcher Vito Tamulis to the St. Louis Browns.

The Giants, National league title holders, may also vote a grateful assist to the Internationals come September. They pliffed three twirlers, Bill Lohman and Hy Vandenberg from Baltimore and Moose Meket from Jersey City. Lohman bagged 20 victories for the Jersey Giants last season. Another rookie who caught Bill Terry's eye may shine for the Reds. Terry wanted Harry Craft.

The Chicago Cubs may find a spot for Jim (Big Train) Asbell from Jersey City. Asbell binged Southern association fences for Knoxville most of last season, gaining a .352 average before moving to Jersey City. The Chicago White Sox admire a peppery third-baseman from Baltimore, Smoky Joe

Officials To Pause To Pay Tribute To All-Americans

DENVER, Mar. 14 (AP)—The National A.A.U. basketball championships' highest education section commanded a sizable chunk of the spotlight at the 21st tournament in the city auditorium today.

All 10 college teams were given the nod to show their campus-bred product in the day's 12-game bill, continuing from 8:30 a. m. Mountain standard time, until probably a show.

The Crows were the "dead pans" of the tournament's first round. They never uttered a word while playing. Donald Deernose, the manager, said they never do.

The Indians sank tremendous shots from all parts of the court in a second-half uprising, but lost out when they forgot all about defending their own basket.

Set For Second WT-NM Loop Confab

Coast Floods Keep Jack From Looking At Prospects

Jack Hutcheson's expedition into California for baseball material for the Big Spring West Texas-New Mexico league entry didn't pan out so well since the coast floods stopped the Monahans druggie from getting an interview with the youngsters but he is taking the personal recommendation of the instructor of the National Baseball school and at least four boys will dock here next month when the school plays its exhibition game in the Big Spring park.

Jack arrived in Monahans last week and was due to return to Big Spring Tuesday to begin operations toward construction of the Big Spring park.

With Fincher Withers back to the Midland camp, all appears set for the year's second meeting of the representatives. Loop President Milton Price has issued no official statement from his Dallas headquarters yet but the confab is expected to be called Sunday either in Roswell or Big Spring. He is expected to make his decision either tomorrow or Wednesday.

Four-Ball Play In 2nd Round

Revolta-Picard Are Victorious, Little-Manero Lose

MIAMI, Fla., Mar. 14 (AP)—Survivors of a first-round blast that ushered out three of the favored twosomes, Johnny Revolta and Henry Picard, moved toward a fourth consecutive victory in the $4,000 international four-ball golf tournament today.

Picard and Revolta met Jimmy Hines and Vic Ghezal, conquerors of Paul Runyan and Horton Smith—three-time finalists—in the feature match.

Hines and Ghezal overcame a two-hole deficit to win, 1 up, yesterday. Observers expected Revolta and Picard, 2 and 1 victors over Stanley Horne and Andy Kay in the 36-hole opening, to find the going rockier from now on.

Harry Cooper and Jimmy Thomson, one up winners over Willie Macfarlane and Frank Walsh, teamed Willie Goggin and Ben Hogan, 3 and 1 victors over Lawson Little and Tony Manero, last year's runners-up.

The Penn Athletic club of Philadelphia, unable to come defaulted. The southwest had eight teams left in contention, the Pacific coast and east five each and the south three.

West Texas Teachers, with one of the tallest troupe of shoemiths in the meet, will tangle with Colorado college at 7 p. m.

A brief armistice will be called after this game for ceremonies honoring Colorado's only two all-America gridgers in history, Earl (Dutch) Clark and Byron (Whizzer) White.

All the teams in the tournament will parade before Clark and other officials, including Alan Gould, general sports editor of the Associated Press, who plucked the "Dutchman" from the obscurity of mountain-hemmed gridrons for the all-America team of 1926.

Gould named White to the all-America last season. Both football stars have won high honors on the gram that ended near midnight.

Champs Asked To Tourney

Invitations Sent To Give; Fulcher And McMillan May Go

DALLAS, March 14 (AP)—Five of the eight Texas Golden Gloves winners have been invited to compete in the Southwestern A. A. U. boxing championship tournament here March through 25.

Invitations were sent Arthur Dorrell, Dallas welter; Carl Hilger, Dallas middleweight; True Fulcher, Abilene lightweight, Alex Parria, Wichita Falls featherweight, and Lon McMillan, Abilene lightweight.

Bob Humphrey, president of the Southwestern Association of the A. A. U., said invitations to the Abilene fighters were issued on condition they affiliate with the Southwestern A. A. U.

No War Whoops Ring Out As Redskins Beaten

Denver, 52-14 (AP)—Here is a band of Indians nearly as accurate with a basketball as their great-grandfathers were reputed to be with a bow and arrow.

They didn't last long in the National A.A.U. cage tournament here. But while they were in there, the Crow Indian team gave its white opponents a shooting match and the howling customers a show.

The Crows were the "dead pans" of the tournament's first round. They never uttered a word while playing. Donald Deernose, the manager, said they never do.

The Indians sank tremendous shots from all parts of the court in a second-half uprising, but lost out when they forgot all about defending their own basket.

Montana State, Central Missouri State Teachers and West Texas Teachers are all highly regarded in the college bracket.

Tournament spectators also looked forward to the first appearance of the giant Denver Safeways, defending champions. They will clash in a second round game with the Tulsa Fruehauf club at 9 p. m.

The original entry list of 55 teams from 25 states showed a shrinkage of 13, 12 of which were erased in yesterday's sabbath program that ended near midnight.

Budge Opines Helen Moody Is Ready

Says Within Three Weeks Time She Will Be Tops

BERKELEY, Calif., Mar. 14 (AP)—Is Helen Willis Moody, once the world's first lady of tennis, ready for an attempt to win her eighth Wimbledon championship?

Don Budge, carrot-topped reigning king of the courts, says she is. William "Pop" Fuller, the veteran coach who started Mrs. Moody against seven American and seven Wimbledon championships says she isn't.

Mrs. Moody and Budge were featured in a series of exhibitions on Berkeley courts yesterday, playing before a small group of fans under most unsatisfactory weather conditions. A strong wind blew throughout the matches and rain and hail fell at too numerous intervals.

After it was all over—Budge had defeated Frank Kovacs, and Mrs. Moody, paired with Kovacs lost to Margaret Osborne and Gene Mako—Fuller has this to say: "Helen Moody isn't ready for Wimbledon."

The versatile coach asserted particularly noticeable was Mrs. Moody's loss of speed foot, a less accurate judgment of timing and distance.

"Which," he said, "is to be expected of any player when he or she reaches the age of 28 or 30. They can't go on forever at top speed."

But in the opinion of Budge, Mrs. Moody is "wonderful." "She's wonderful!" he exclaimed. "She looks great. Three weeks and she will beat any of them. She probably could do it right now."

JIMMY WILSON LOOKS FOR THE PHILLIES TO THREATEN SIXTH PLACE THIS SEASON

Mueller Will Help, Martin Is Back

BILOXI, Miss., Mar. 14 (AP)—Jimmy Wilson, the chief fall guy of the floundering Phillies, insists stubbornly he is going to have a better club in the coming National League race, presumably on the theory that it couldn't be any worse.

Some think the Phils will be worse, because their most important hitter, Adolph Camilli, has been sold to the Brooklyn, but Jimmie says that isn't true. Also, he says it isn't true that he is thinking of selling his other big league player, Third Baseman Pinky Whitney.

"We'll be better," he persisted in the face of obvious disbelief. "We would be better still if Camilli hadn't gone. I mean to say, if we still had Camilli, along with this other improvement, why we would be that much better than we will be."

Mueller Looks Good Jimmie was asked to get down to cases. Did he think, for instance, that his improved team would make a stirring fight for say, sixth place?

"Earl Browne will take Camilli's place at first base," he answered unhesitatingly, "and I have a fine looking young infielder from Houston named Emmett Mueller. George Scharen will be a better shortstop than he was last season and my two young outfielders, Morris Aronovitch and Herschel Martin, should be greatly improved. My pitching will be much stronger with Bill Hallahan and Al Smith taking the load off the youngsters."

Just a minute. Did he refer to the Bill Hallahan and Al Smith who were cut loose during the winter by Cincinnati and the Giants, respectively, in the belief that their left arms were ready for the wringer?

"I'm glad," said Jimmie, sticking doggedly to the subject, "to hear that Connie Mack has picked up all that weight and is feeling good. We were worried about him."

Austria's Economic Position Is Studied By Leaders In Germany

BERLIN, Mar. 14 (AP)—Hard-headed and economists were busy today planning in minute detail the economic future of annexed Austria.

Lead, graphite, silver, gold, copper and magnesium are found in Austria and they will add the German reich on the path to economic independence.

While the masses in Austria and Germany were celebrating joining of the two German-speaking nations with Fuehrer Hitler as their leader and in command of their combined armies, German economists gave attention to the practical aspects.

Their job is to bring Austria under the four-year plan to make the reich independent of foreign markets in providing for its needs.

They are planning to effect the economic cooperation. Echoing his Fuehrer, Field Marshal Goering yesterday announced Austro-German union, predicted its endorsement by the Austrian people in forthcoming plebiscite, and pointedly told the world it was strictly Germany's business.

"This question," said Goering, setting Chancellor in Hitler's absence in Austria, "is something which the German people alone in their entirety must decide."

The School Child and THE AP

Should it be possible for the 7th grade editors of the "Elm Signal" to have the privilege of saying that their paper is a member of the Associated Press? We are having a challenge with the 8th grade to see which class can put out the best paper and we want to win.

* Excerpt from a letter received by The Associated Press from Roberta Shearer, news editor of the seventh grade paper of Elm Union Elementary School, Hilmar, California.

Dear Roberts: As one of the 1,400 member newspapers of The Associated Press, we thank you for so clearly stating your request. This newspaper is proud to say it belongs to the AP because it believes in the principle on which this unique non-profit, cooperative press association was founded many years ago.

You may not be able to say your school paper is a member of the AP, but you have demonstrated you know what would make any newspaper all its editors would like it to be. This newspaper, for example, recognizes a public trust. It knows its duty is to report the events of the world accurately, swiftly and fearlessly, so that its readers may have a clear knowledge of what is happening. As a member of the AP, it is able to do exactly that. Perhaps you may have read what the founder of the present-day AP said away back in 1893. It was: "The people must be given the facts, free from the slightest bias, leaving to them the business of forming their own opinions."

Throughout the years The Associated Press has provided just such news reports. Long after you are out of the seventh grade — as long as there is freedom in this land of ours — it will continue to report the truth, swiftly and fearlessly. That's why 1,400 newspapers are proud to be members of such a world-wide news gathering organization.

Sincerely yours, The Big Spring Daily Herald A MEMBER OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

FOOTBALL AND EDUCATION

Diversity of opinion follows decision of the Texarkana school board to abandon football as one of the activities of the college in that city.

Enthusiastic devotees of football asserted that abandoning football meant the death of the college—that without this sport there would not be sufficient attraction to students and the college would lose its usefulness.

Then the Gazette says: "The fundamental reason for the existence of the college in education. The idea that actuated the sponsors of the college was to provide two years of college work for students of Texarkana and adjoining areas without the necessity of leaving home or incurring the heavier expense of attending college in other places.

That is a clear statement of the matter. If education required football as a part of its success, then the definition of education has been radically changed.

FLASHES OF LIFE

NEW YORK—An attorney here advertised in a New York newspaper. "Lawyer disgusted with conditions will take job as dishwasher, business executive, musician, body guard, traveler, diplomat, truck driver, writer or anything else anywhere—paying a decent salary."

ST. LOUIS—All the police have to do to solve a burglary here is to find a man standing up to eat—and with a hole in his trousers. The hole was made by a family watchdog whose bite was worse than his bark to a thief who made off with jewelry and clothing from the home.

The householder reported to police he found bits of trouser cloth and bloodstains, proving the dog had not kept on the job.

KANSAS CITY—"Help! There's a man hanging himself down here, yelled someone in a basement cell of the city jail. Several policemen dashed downstairs only to be greeted with: "Give me a match, I just wanted to light a cigaret."

THE LETTERS THEY DIDN'T SEND

From Arthur E. Morgan to Senator Norris:

My dear Senator: I am deeply moved by the personal tribute you bestowed on me in your speech of March 8th. It was one of the happiest experiences of my life to have your support in a fight for the highest ideals of American public administration.

Thompson part of one who, for so long, had himself waged a lone war. But what green-eyed monster has seized your soul that you suddenly jeopardize the glory of your whole career by showing a tolerance, curious in you, for practices which you have so often and so rightly condemned in other quarters?

ARTHUR E. MORGAN

From John L. Lewis to Senator George E. Berry:

Dear George: As you may imagine, I am somewhat disturbed by the newspaper reports that you have been involved in a business deal with the United States government. I don't believe for a moment all the calumnies that a hostile press is spreading about you.

I am sure, of course, that it was mere chance that you happened to own this land, and that the evaluation you put upon it represented "prudent investment."

In these activities, which eventually landed you in the United States Senate, you have been fighting our common fight against the exploitation of the American people by Big Business, against Wall Street robbery, and the corruption of government by capitalist influence.

JOHN

Senator Berry to Vice-President Garner:

I'm shocked to read in the newspapers that the Chairman of the T.V.A. in a public letter calls the Berry marble claims "an effort at a deliberate, bare-faced steal."

GEORGE

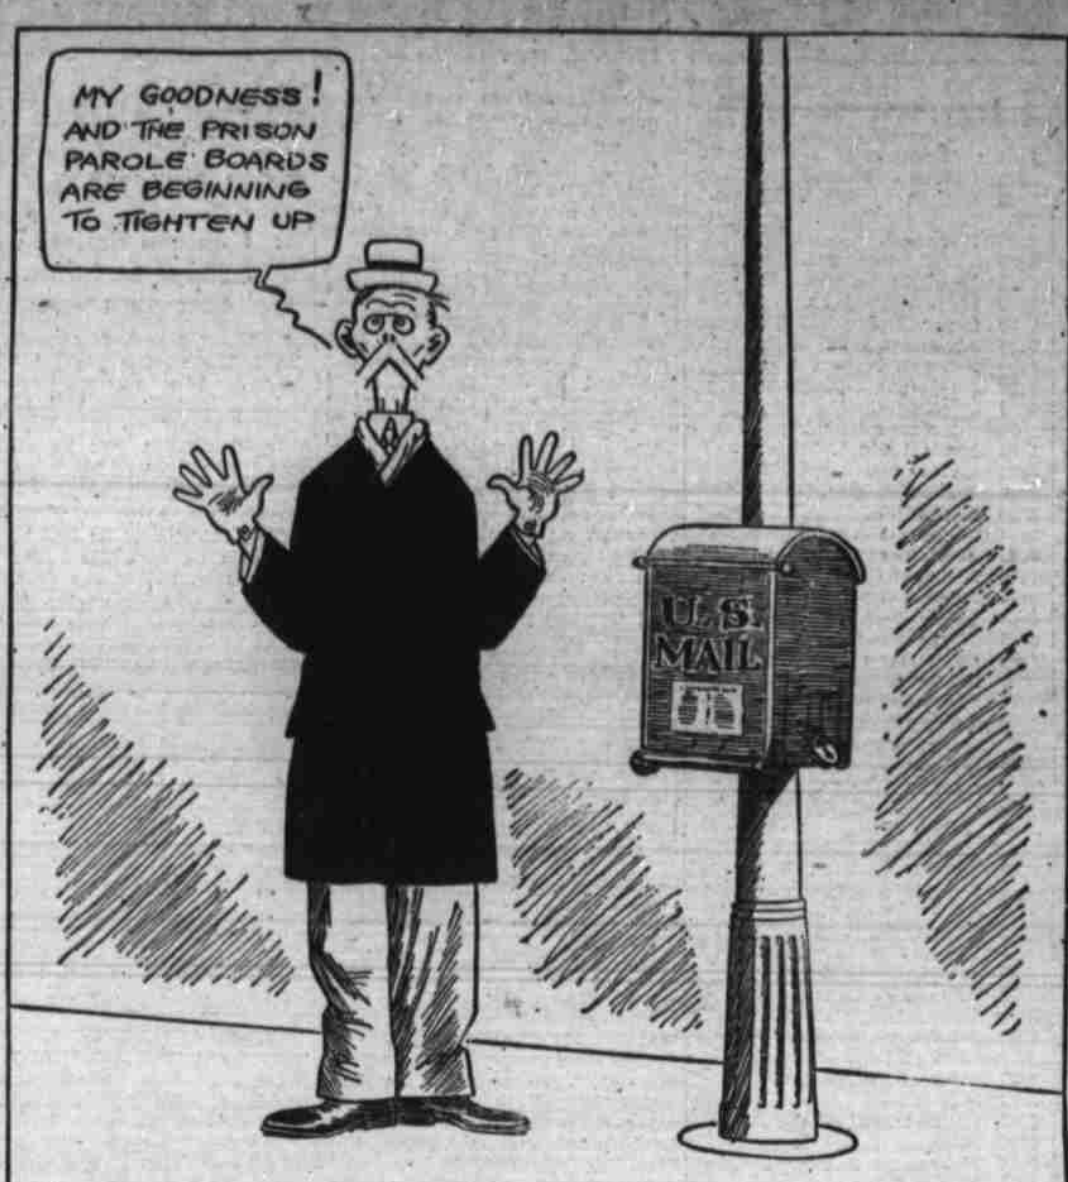

Senator Norris to David Lilienthal:

Dear Dave: I have fought my whole life long for the public ownership of utilities, and for decency and honesty of public administration.

GEORGE E. NORRIS

David Lilienthal to the President: My dear Mr. President: Referring to the statements of Mr. Arthur E. Morgan and the comments which they have aroused in the public I feel compelled to ask you most urgently to exert all your influence on Congress, and particularly to join forces with Senator Norris, to set up a Congressional Committee, to be joined by independent experts, to review the whole set-up and practices of the T.V.A.

NEW PRODUCTION FROM DEEP LEVEL

WICKITA FALLS, Mar. 14 (AP)—The most promising producing pool in North Texas since the rise of the KMA pool and the discovery of Chalk Hill canyon was seen here today when the Hull & Silk No. 1 L. F. Wilson, four miles southwest of Holliday, drilled the plug from oil sand topped at 2,825 feet.

Oil filled the hole to the top of the casing and the well was shut in as a protective measure.

The well is located in the northwest corner of the southeast quarter of section 35, A. T. N. C. L. survey in Archer county and is about eight miles from nearest deep production.

Man About Manhattan

by GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—In the uncertain shadows behind the footlights are often brief moments of drama so sharply drawn that one remembers them long after the plays themselves are forgotten.

These are the bright, vivid vignettes of the theater, and while they may be no more than fleeting scenes between minor characters or tricks of staging by the authors and directors, they stab at you like flashes of summer lightning and impress you so that you never forget.

The first one that really got hold of me this season was the death scene in "Murder in the Cathedral." Three characters come on the stage and murder a high dignitary of the church. Suddenly, for the first time, they become aware of the audience's presence.

Another moment not likely to be forgotten was the locomotive scene in "Casey Jones." To achieve realistic sound effects the producers went out on the New York Central lines and recorded hissing steam valves, screeching boilers, whistles, and all the accumulated noises of a great railroad locomotive.

Then the designers constructed a locomotive on the stage, authentic in every detail. There is the slow gathering of speed. There is fire and smoke and steam. The cab begins to sway, and the countryside races past at breakneck speed.

Sometimes it is a laugh or a gag that "lifts" an audience just when it needs a lift. Such as that dictator in "Save Me the Waltz" who desires to walk in the moonlight with a pretty princess. This dictator isn't used to having his orders disobeyed.

Hollywood

Sights And Sounds by ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Have you been missing those "three little words" in movie dialogue lately?

You have, and there's a reason. Screen dialogue writers will go to desperate lengths to avoid having characters say "I love you" in so many words.

Sam Hellman sneezes "I love you" because it's "the hardest thing in the world to get an actress to say those three words convincingly." And K. It isn't done convincingly you get a laugh.

Lamar Trotti concurs. Says he: "All scenes are hard to write and the love dialogue particularly so. Romantic scenes are difficult to keep within bounds. Unless you watch your step, they're apt to go sour, maudlin and overly sentimental."

Sonya Levien, who co-authored the screen play of "In Old Chicago" with Trotti, is of the same mind: "Personally, I find that more ingenuity and effort is required in writing these (love) scenes than in all others. Nowadays, the action may say 'I love you' but not the words."

Working on "State Fair," Miss Levien took more time on one love scene than on any other sequence in the film.

Richard Sherman dissent but slightly: "Any scene dealing with deep and profound emotion is difficult; and love, I find, is a harder to treat intelligently in writing than death, sudden disaster and other occurrences in life that shock and move the heart. They are all hard, in fact."

But Ernest Pascal insists the love stuff is easy if it is "honest and sincere. If the love scene or any other situation is synthetic and contrived, it is the most difficult to get down."

All Scenes Tough Morris Ryskind ("Stage Door," "There's Always a Woman," etc.) concurs in spirit but won't take sides: "All scenes are tough. The next scene in the picture is always the toughest."

Sidney Buchman ("Vacation Bound") finds one scene like another—equally difficult "if conscientiously approached." The writer who finds a particular scene apparently easy to handle should examine it suspiciously for cliches, he declares.

Glady Lehman opines that the most difficult thing is to get "effective naturalness" with the economy of words imposed by film technique—in a love scene or any other.

Love Is Dangerous And John Lee Mahin holds that the best love scene is the one with the least dialogue. "Dialogue," says Mahin, "is always dangerous in love scenes. The least lack of balance can betray a tender passage into raucous merriment."

The veteran H. J. Mankiewicz sums it up aptly: "Love scenes are incredibly hard to dialogue—even when they're on the level—as when a boy is actually trying, in real life, to make love to some girl. And I don't know why art should be any easier than nature. The ability to carry off love scenes must carry with it the ability to believe yourself in love while you are writing. It's a quality that many an otherwise fine writer lacks."

It wouldn't be Hollywood if Nick Thompson, who for 29 years has been playing movie Indians, really was an Indian. This is Hollywood. Nick's of Italian parentage, born in Houston, Texas.

FORESEES POSSIBLE RIFT BETWEEN HITLER, DUCE KANSAS CITY, Mar. 14 (AP)—Thomas Mann, exiled German writer, foresees a possible rift between Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini as a result of the unification of Germany and Austria.

Mann, in an interview here last night, said Hitler's action in annexing Austria without waiting for a plebiscite announced by Kurt Schuschnigg, disposed Austrian chancellor and Nazi foe, may prove an entering wedge to split the two dictators.

EMPIRE FOR A LADY

Chapter 48 FAREWELL TO BALINGONG

Blair read my mind. "Looks like he'd sooner die on the water," he said, "than in this hole."

At that, my uncle spoke; and though his words were husky and very faint, it seemed to me that there was satisfaction in them. "It's going to be a good old-fashioned winter, Paul."

I don't know whether he was conscious while we were moving him, or whether he felt the river under him when he was finally laid in the bottom of the boat.

"You going to leave all that stuff for the Malays?" Blair demanded. "There's more'n 100 guns, and a lot of—"

"No; I'm staying back a few minutes. Where's your powder keg?" "Under the house. There's a hatch in the deck, near the table."

"Pull like the devil. I'll keep their attention here a little while. I went back to the house; and now Clyde's Tenyalaing riflemen were flocking around me from the darkness, gravely anxious to know if they had seen aught, and their rajah was gone. I kept some of them with me, and told the others to make ready their canoes."

For a short while I stood looking around that cluttered main room. Things of great value were there, if I had had time to scry them out. But if I had once started to take away anything, there would have been no place to stop.

I found the hatch in the floor. Below it was a ladder and a sling. With one of my Dyaks I went below where the kegs of powder waited in a black pit, and had the Tenyalaing men pass up three kegs to the room above. I split the kegs open with an axe, and we spilled powder all over. It was my intention that the place should be in full blaze before the powder sent it up; I wanted no scrap of anything left.

By this time Clyde's Tenyalaing panglima was begging me to come outside. There was something he must show me at once.

I followed him, stumbling in the dark as we rased across the compound and up the embankment of the inner stockade. Three or four of Clyde's Dyaks were standing there on the top of the stockade, silently staring at something up the river. I could not see what they were looking at; I could hardly see the men themselves.

The panglima said, "Praus. Tuan. How many?" "There are six. No, there are seven now."

"I can't hear their paddles." "They are backing water in the current; waiting for others, maybe. We don't know what they are going to do, Tuan Paul, it's time to go."

A quick panic struck me. I so nearly had Clyde out of there—but I didn't take my canoos; they wouldn't sweep down on the whole boat, too, and take Blair and Clyde. "Get all your people into their boats, and shove off—fast."

I sprinted back to the house, and fumbled about for the fuse dangling beside the ladder. I struck fire to it, and for a moment watched the little sputtering coil of light begin to climb. It was burning well, faintly, in fact, but I had expected. I turned and ran. I vaulted down from the top of the foot stockade, and in two moments more we were on the river again, at last.

Slung! We had not taken 10 strokes into the current before we began to hear the many paddles of the Malays moving in the river above. They were closing a little now, but slowly, and they did not fire yet. It seemed to me that they could not decide what they were trying to do. One of my Tenyalaing lay in the stern, his rifle slung back over the stern post. "Shall I fire, Tuan?" "Hold your fire." Suddenly I decided to try something else. "Sif," I ordered. "Sing, all of you."

Demonstration On Tire Safety Is Slated Monday

One of those things that have to be seen to be believed, the blowout of a tire on a car traveling at upward of 60 miles an hour without serious consequences of any kind, is to be shown in Big Spring on Monday, March 21 at 1:15 p. m. The demonstration will be staged on 11th Place near the Washington Place entrance. Local police authorities have consented to the demonstration and will assist in conducting it.

The purpose of this apparently dangerous but really routine performance is to prove that in a car equipped with LifeGuard tires, failure at any speed is no more dangerous than a slow leak. The blowout is induced either by means of railroad spikes firmly fixed in heavy steel plates or by dynamite caps detonated from within the tire.

The casing is ripped to shreds, but the car remains in control of the driver and is brought to a smooth, safe stop without weaving or leaving the road. The explanation, according to Troy Giffard, local tire dealer, is that the LifeGuard, a reserve tire within a tire, is not affected by the destruction of casing or tube but holds air long enough to enable the car to be stopped. The LifeGuard is a two-ply tire placed within the regular tube, to which it is joined at the base. They are inflated through the same valve. When the tube is suddenly deflated, a tiny vent allows the air to pass slowly from the reserve tire of the LifeGuard, which meanwhile supports the car. As the LifeGuard reserve tire floats freely within the tube, it "gives" with sharp objects that puncture casing and tube, instead of being ripped.

That Myth Debunked

SANTA FE, N. M. (UP) — The old-time belief that bats possess "sixth sense" which guides them past objects they cannot see is a myth, according to A. E. Borzell, of the National Parks Service. He said he had captured 200 bats in six nights by means of fine wires stretched across the top of a water tank.

ment in central Europe by Fuehrer Hitler:
1. An understanding was sought with Britain, said an informant closely connected with the government, that the two democracies "tolerate no more violations of European order."
2. The mutual assistance treaty with Czechoslovakia would be revised to provide military action against Germany, even should Hitler attempt peaceful renunciation of the war-born republic, with its 3,800,000 Germans. Czechoslovakia is thought here to be Hitler's next goal.
3. Then France would seek to extend her mutual assistance understanding with Czechoslovakia and with Russia to include all central Europe, Poland, Rumania and Yugoslavia.

Duce Gives Assurance Of His Friendship
ROME, Mar. 14 (AP)—Premier Mussolini today gave Reichsfuehrer Hitler his personal reassurance of Italian friendship.
In a telegram to Hitler at Vienna, Il Duce declared "my attitude is determined by the friendship between our two countries consubstantiated in the (Rome-Berlin) Axis."
Mussolini's communication was in reply to Hitler's earlier message that he would "never forget" Il Duce's attitude toward his annexation of Austria.
Hitler, answered by a controlled press from a stand for independent Austria to endorsement of Austro-German union, seemed bewildered

Ventriloquist Is Featured In Ritz Stage Show
And there are feminine ventriloquists, too.
Coming to the Ritz theatre, on Tuesday and Wednesday will be Johnnie McClusky, advertised as Charlie McCarthy's wooden-headed cousin. Johnnie isn't the feminine ventriloquist. That's his mistress, Madam Alberta, who is said to be the nation's first lady ventriloquist. She and Johnnie have made 14 trips across the nation, entertaining thousands.
Johnnie reposes most of the time in a suitcase, just a bundle of clothes, a stuffed body and a wooden head, yet when he appears with his mistress of the stage he takes on the appearance of a live personality that walks and talks and seems almost human and will long be remembered for his funny sayings and songs.
Along with Madam Alberta will be other entertainers in a novelty vaudeville program called "Hollywood Varieties." The stage show will be in addition to the regular screen fare which features "Paradise For Three," with Robert Young, Mary Astor and Frank Morgan.
The Ritz theatre's customary bargain price schedule will prevail for the two days.

County Fund Balances Up
Cash On Hand Increases During February
Balance of Howard county funds showed another gain during February, the regular monthly treasurer's report showed Monday when approved by the county commissioners court.
The $70,093 on hand was almost $7,000 ahead of January and $11,000 ahead of the same month a year ago. Biggest single gain was in the general fund where the $31,709 balance was almost twice the figure a year ago. The same was true of the permanent improvement fund which had $8,000 to its credit.
Still overdrawn was the road and bridge fund, this time for $4,383. Highway fund revenues for February were not heavy enough to overcome the heavy expenditures, but substantial aid was due in March from the highway fund into which go automobile registration receipts.
During the month the road and bridge fund received $1,821.51 and paid out $4,596.99. The general fund got $7,592.24 and spent only $1,738.01, and the officers' salary received only $1,979.84 from officials but had $3,643.53 in disbursements.
During the month, one court house and jail warrant in the amount of $1,000 was paid off.
Balances by funds follow: July, 11,126; road and bridge, $4,383 (deficit); general $31,709; road bond, $7,712; good road, $6,737; highway, $2,166; permanent improvement, $5,775; courthouse and jail, $1,211; district, $1,406; special No. 1, $76; special No. 2, $90; special No. 3, $1,472; officers' salary, $1,976; total, $70,093.88.

Eastland Oil Co. staked two new locations in the area, one 2,310 feet from the west and 330 feet from the north lines of section 33. Shastis is drilling the well with rotary, the first such equipment in the new pool. The other location is 330 feet from the west and 990 feet from the south lines of section 27-30-12, T&P. APPEARS AGAINST FREIGHT INCREASE DALLAS, Mar. 14 (AP)—C. A. Day of Plainview, Texas Agriculture Association representative, opposed at an interstate commerce commission hearing here today a rail carrier request for an increase in rates on coarse grains shipped between points in Texas.
