Sale Tax Rebate Reflects Growth

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said Texas cities will receive $19.8 million as their November share of the local option one percent sales tax.

Money that Texas cities will be receiving this month total slightly less than last month's rebate, but the yearly total is about $42 million ahead payments made over the same period last year.

The November checks raise the cities' total to $349.8 million.

Muleshoe again showed an increase in sales as they were scheduled to receive a check in the amount of $8,939.93, up from the $5,950.73 check during the same period of this time last year.

This reflects an overall increase for the past year of 13 percent, one of the larger increases in the state for the year. Last year at this time, checks totaling $103,909.24 had been mailed to the city's coffers. This year, during the same period of time, the checks total $118,153.61.

Alarcon Family Named Muleshoe's Outstanding

A local family was chosen as Muleshoe's Outstanding Family, following an essay contest for junior and senior high school students who nominated their families.

Chosen as Muleshoe's Outstanding Family for 1978 was the Benito Alarcon family of 321 East Fourth Street.

Rosa Irma Alarcon, a sixth grader, nominated her family and wrote her reasons in an essay. Included in the family are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benito Alarcon, and sisters, Vickie and Agapita.

They have lived in the local area for the past 15 years, and Alarcon is employed by Mills Machine Co.

Below is the complete text of Rosa Irma's essay:

WHY MY FAMILY IS THE BEST FAMILY IN THE MULESHOE AREA

"My family is the best family in the Muleshoe area, because they are nice, kind and generous. Whenever I need help, they are always there."

"My parents do not speak English but I help them the way they help me. My family isn't rich or poor, but on times like Christmas, if they do not give us a gift, like a doll or some sort of present, all of us children understand. We still know that they still love us."

"My family is very funny sometimes and sometimes they are not. My family really cares about me, and they also care about my brothers and everyone else. I can tell that they care because they want me to have a good education. They also want me to be someone special, when I grow up."

"When I grow up, I want to give my family the best,

4-H Winners Honored At Lubbock Banquet

Outstanding youths from 20 South Plains counties held the spotlight in Lubbock last Monday night, at the annual 4-H Gold Star banquet.

Forty boys and girls received the highest county award offered in the 4-H club program--the Gold Star award--at the program in the Coronado High School cafeteria. And with it, each received the acclaim of parents, fellow 4-Hers, government officials, extension leaders and other community leaders.

Twelve member-owned electric cooperatives serving Extension District Two were hosts for the event. The 4-H program in Texas is directed by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Honored from Bailey County were Belinda Wheeler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wheeler, Goodland and Greg Harrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Harrison, Muleshoe.

The award recipients were encouraged by J.B. Wheeler, Plainview, to continue to capitalize on their opportunities for education.

Wheeler is president and chairman of the board of the Hale County State Bank.

"This is a fun time, but it also is a formative time that will go with you the rest of your lives," Wheeler told the youths.

He said they had the best start possible, coming from agricultural communities with friendly neighbors, and from families with loving and devoted parents. Wheeler noted that retiring U.S. Rep. George Mahon came from a similar background, and urged the youths to emulate Mahon with lives of service to their fellowman.

"Above all," Wheeler urged, "don't forget the catalyst for life...Jesus of Nazareth."

Master of Ceremonies for the banquet was Bob Ethridge, farm director for KCBT-TV of Lubbock. Guests were welcomed by Parker Wetzel, general manager of Midwest Electric Cooperative, Inc., Roby, on behalf of the sponsoring cooperatives.

Mules Revenge Loss To Idalou On Oct. 13

Early Idalou Fumble Gives Muleshoe Mules 'Win' Fever

It took total team effort, and all the team members came through for the Muleshoe Mules to win the first Bi-District title for the Mules in 15 years. Friday night, the Mules kicked off to the Idalou 'Cats at Kimbrough Memorial Stadium at West Texas State University, Canyon, and prepared to defend the south goal.

But! On the initial kickoff in the game, an over-eager Wildcat fumbled on the Mules 22 yard line and was recovered by Mule Dennis Watson. Three plays later, and with just 56 seconds gone by in the game, Jeep Shanks barreled through from the 12 for the opening touchdown of the game. Dickie Sudduth added an additional point by booting the ball through the uprights.

It was all Muleshoe Mules through the first quarter, and at the end of the quarter, they were threatening again from the Idalou five. Just three seconds into the second quarter, with 11:57 in the first half showing on the scoreboard clock, quarterback Mike Northcutt scampered in standing up from the Idalou five to add Muleshoe's second TD to the scoreboard. Sudduth did the honors on the extra point.

In desperation plays, Idalou failed to gain momentum needed in the game and were held back by the tough Mule defense, as the Mules' offense jelled and they continued to rack up first downs throughout the first half.

Idalou failed to make a first down during the first half of the game and with 2:22 left in the first half of play, quarterback Northcutt again sneaked over from the one to add the Mules' final tally of the ballgame. Again Sudduth added the extra point, and the Mules and Wildcats went into the dressing rooms at halftime with the score, 21-0.

After the first half of play, Muleshoe had 202 yards rushing and 10 yards in the air, along with 15 first downs. Idalou had managed only 27 yards rushing and no yards passing, along with no first downs, for the first half of play.

The crowd at the stadium was estimated to hold more than 2,500 Muleshoe fans, who were vocally happy at the turn of events, and Mule fans were extolling the virtues of the Mules.

Pacing the team Friday night was Jeep Shanks, who had been expected to see only limited action in the game due to a leg injury. However, he racked up 171 yards in 32 carries to lead the Mules to victory. Behind excellent blocking from the offensive line, not only Shanks, but Mike Northcutt had a respectable 77 yards in 14 carries and Zeke Pecina's 49 yards in 15 carries helped add up as the Mules were credited with 302 rushing yards, along with 10 passing yards, for a total of 312.

At the same time, the Wildcats' Ricky Hobbs, who ran roughshod over the Mules in the Friday October 13 loss to the Wildcats in Benny Douglass Stadium in Muleshoe, was held to 29 yards on 12 carries, and Buckles Bryant, another outstanding Idalou back, managed 25 yards in 17 carries. Tailback Gary Smith had 40 yards in seven carries and Idalou quarterback Brad Debusk had one yard rushing.

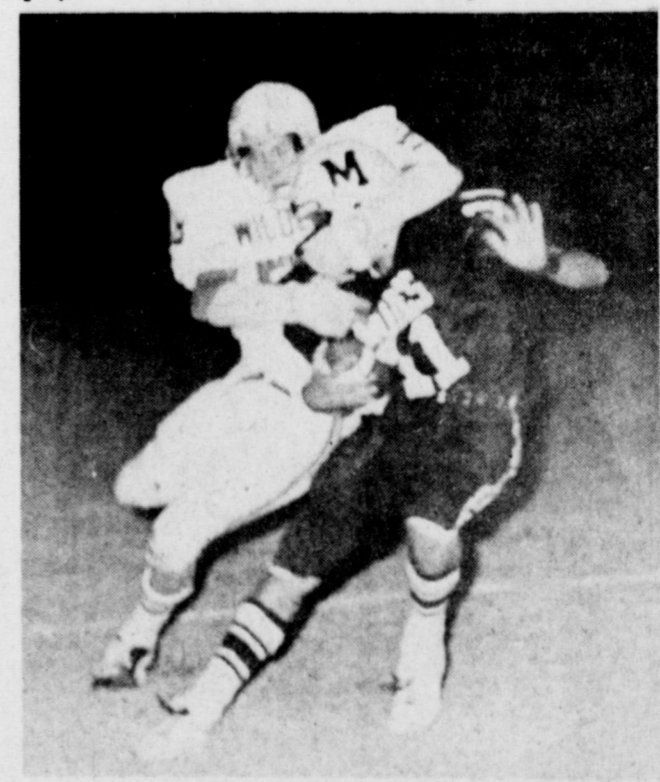

During the second half, the Wildcats made their only first downs of the game for a total of seven, and the Mules added another five, bringing their total to 20 for the game.

Northcutt completed one of three passes for 10 yards and Debusk completed three of ten passes for 59 yards.

Muleshoe's Terry Shaffer punted three times for an average of 31.3 yards and Bryant punted four times for the Wildcats for an average of 39.5 yards. The Mules had 28 yards in penalties and Idalou had 25 yards. Each team lost the ball one time on a fumble during the game.

During the third quarter, with 6:35 on the scoreboard clock, Brent Burrows stopped an Idalou threat by intercepting a pass on the Muleshoe 26 yard line.

But, Buckles Bryant broke loose on a 72 yard punt return with 6:40 left in play.

ALL WRAPPED UP--An Idalou Wildcat defender wraps up Muleshoe Quarterback Mike Northcutt in an effort to stop the Mules on their 21-6 victory march over the 'Cats Friday night.

There's good news for lovers of fish

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.) — The University of Texas has good news for fish lovers. Researchers at UT's Marine Science Institute laboratory at Port Aransas have been able to spawn red snapper in captivity for the first time.

If the spawning continues to be successful, it would make it possible to raise thousands of red snapper fingerlings for release along the Texas Gulf Coast, where the species has been severely overfished in recent years.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — New Governor-elect Bill Clements this week began working on plans for taking over the state chief executive's office in January.

Clements upset Democrat John Hill in the general election for the most monumental Republican gain of the century at the statehouse level.

Republican U.S. Sen. John Tower also edged back for another term.

Tower and GOP State Chairman Ray Barnhart of Houston hailed the Clements victory as the harbinger of a two-party Texas.

"It's now respectable to be a Republican in Texas," commented Barnhart. "More Republicans will be elected next year—especially at the court-house level."

But while the GOP captured one prize it hadn't been expected to get, its gains were modest in congressional places and the state legislature, and Jim Baker lost his bid for the attorney general's office.

Tom Loeffler, young Kerrville rancher-attorney, defeated Democrat Nelson Wolff of San Antonio in the 21st congressional district.

Dr. Ron Paul, who once held the 22nd district seat briefly, ousted Democratic incumbent Bob Gammage of Houston.

The GOP's legislative gain totaled only three seats. Actually there are four new faces among the Republican House delegation in Austin, but a new GOP representative, Dr. S.L. Abbott of El Paso, lost to a Democrat.

Judges Named

About the time U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen recommended lifetime appointment of 10 Texans to federal courts, Gov. Dolph Briscoe named nine to Texas state appellate courts.

Briscoe appointed Henry Doyle of Houston, James Warren of Huntsville and Jim Wallace of Houston to the First Court of Civil Appeals; Spencer Carver, Charles Storey and Joe Bailey Humphreys of Dallas to the Fifth Court of Civil Appeals; and George Miller, Paul Pressler and Felix Salazar Jr. of Houston to the 14th Court of Civil Appeals.

Nominated by Bentsen for the new federal judgeships were Barefoot Sanders of Dallas, Gabrielle McDonald of Houston, Mary Lou Robinson of Amarillo, James De-Anda of McAllen, George Kazen of Laredo, George Cize of Houston, Norman Black of Houston, Robert Parker of Longview, David Belew of Fort Worth and Ted Butler of San Antonio.

The nominations add up to the largest number of federal judgeships ever picked at a single time in Texas history. An omnibus court bill signed last month created 117 new federal district benches over the country.

Guards Move On

There is a 60 per cent turnover among Texas prison guards, in part because of low salaries and lack of promotion opportunities, Texas Research League said in a new study.

The League suggested better pay, improved training and a chance at supervisory jobs might curb the exodus. Texas has 11 inmates per guard in its prisons, while the national average is five-to-one. During night shifts, a single guard may be watching several hundred prisoners.

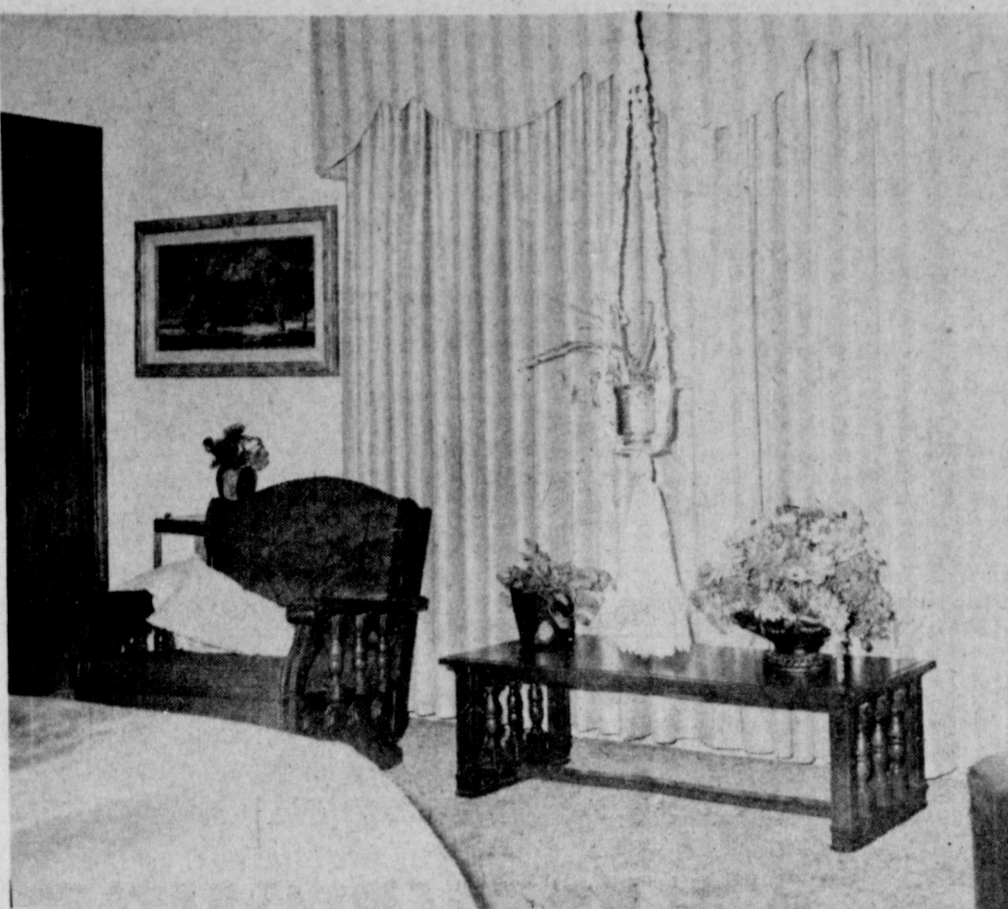

Most correctional officers in prison units are paid about $848, and have little chance of advancing to supervisory ranks.

Courts Speak

The State Supreme Court held the attorney general cannot file suit to knock out state agency decisions which they view as illegal.

The high court affirmed a state law which requires filing of paternity suits before an illegitimate child is a year old.

It found no reversible error in a lower court award of $12,000 in accidental death insurance compensation to the widow of a San Antonio man who was shot to death.

The Court of Criminal Appeals reversed a probation revocation order of a Hurst man where the judge was a temporary official who had not taken the oath of office.

The same court reversed murder convictions in Palo Pinto and Harris County cases.

The Third Court of Civil Appeals found the state not immune to prosecution in a case where a Runnels County motorist collided with a highway patrol car which pulled out to chase a speeder without turning on red lights or siren.

The Court of Criminal Appeals held policemen are not required to quote people they arrest exactly when reducing their voluntary oral confessions to writing. The decision upheld the 10-year sentence of a Jefferson County man in the death of his three-month-old son.

Car Theft Increasing

Auto theft is on the rise, and law enforcement officers this week announced a major statewide effort to combat it.

The Department of Public Safety, Governor's Criminal Justice Division and Texas Crime Prevention Institute announced the effort, together with the National Automobile Theft Bureau and several insurance company representatives. They noted there is an auto theft in the state every 10 and a half minutes.

Short Snorts

A legislative study committee concluded pension funds of firemen and policemen in some of the state's major cities are in bad shape.

A House sub-committee rapped the board which regulates private detectives for snooping on private citizens. Texas Railroad Commission refused to withdraw its order to stop dumping of oil-field wastes into Whalen Lake near Andrews.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe hinted he may try for a political comeback.

Speculation is rampant on who will take over leadership of the Texas Democratic party in the wake of Republican Bill Clements' victory over John Hill in the November 7 governor's race. (Recounts of ballots were still under way in many counties this week).

Fashions focus on the shoulder this season.

From the popular shoulder drawstrings, tucks, embroidery and other detailing currently popular, fashion is adding an exaggerated shape with shoulder pads.

The look ranges from the more extreme "football" effect to a slight shoulder modification.

Besides pads in jackets and coats, women will see them also in blouses and dresses.

Considered a basic home-sewing notion, shoulder pads were primarily used in outerwear and suit jackets or blazers.

However, in line with an increased fashion emphasis, notion companies are expanding shoulder pad varieties and quantities. Some of the types available include blouse pads, iron-ons, press-on/peel-offs, heavy designer weights and covered pads.

Some companies distinguish between shoulder pads and shoulder shapes with the shape being a thinner version.

Many interfacing companies provide information for making shoulder pads.

For a set-in sleeve, the armhole seamline of the garment is traced between front and back armhole notches. The width along the shoulder seam and number of padding layers needed depends on the garment, figure and look intended.

Before sewing any shoulder pad into a garment along armhole and shoulder seam allowance, first pin the shoulder pad in place and try the garment on.

Placement, size or amount of padding is easiest altered at that time.

also balance a heavy hip-line. Slight to moderate padding often makes garments fit better, maintain their shape longer.

Couple Married In Double Ring Ceremony

Miss Delores Ruth Ramm and Billy J. Owens, Jr. were united in marriage Saturday, November 11 at 7 p.m. in the St. John Lutheran Church at Lariat, Texas. Rev. Herman Schelter of Lariat officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ramm of Muleshoe and Mr. and Mrs. Billy J. Owens, Sr. of Eloy, Ariz.

Charles Turner of Farwell provided musical selections on the organ for the ceremony.

Miss Tina Gerles, cousin of the bride from Texico, N.M. sang wedding selections of "We've Only Just Begun", "Whither Thou Goest", and "The Wedding Prayer".

The wedding guests were registered in the foyer of the church by Miss Frances Brown of Muleshoe.

The altar was graced by two altar bouquets of red rosettes, apricot carnations and leather fern. Flanking both sides of the altar were two spiral candleabras holding cream colored tapers. The couple's memory candle was centered on the altar. A small candle arrangement graced each window on the side aisles of the church.

Escorted by her father and given in marriage by her parents, the bride was attired in a traditional white A-line, empire waisted gown of sheer organza.

The gown featured a Princess Ann neckline trimmed with Venice daisy lace accented with seed pearls and full bouffant sleeves. Venice lace enhanced the bodice and skirt with a full scalloped cathedral train. The finger tip illusion veil with Juliet cap and butterfly blusher was edged with Venice lace and sprinkled with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of silk flowering dogwood blossoms, lily of the valley, and English ivy intertwined with apricot ribbon atop a white Bible. For something old the bride wore a 63 year old necklace which belonged to her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Eddie Ramm.

Something new was the Bible she carried, a gift from the maid of honor, Alta Ramm. She borrowed her wedding dress and veil from her sister, Mrs. Linnie Davis. Something blue was the traditional blue garter, a gift from the ring bearer. To complete her attire she wore a pair of diamond earrings, a gift to her on her 18th birthday. The diamonds came from her mother's first set of wedding rings.

Attending her sister as matron of honor was Mrs. Linnie Davis of Plainview. Serving as maid of honor was Alta Ramm, sister of the bride and Miss Renee Owens, sister of the groom of Eloy, Ariz. was bridesmaid. The bridal attendants were attired in formal length gowns of spice Quiana. The dresses were fashioned with a scoop neckline and blouson bodice which had an open sleeve giving a capulet effect. The dresses were tied at the waist by a self fabric ribbon and fell to the floor in accordin pleats. Each attendant carried apricot silk roses, lily of the valley and apricot streamers atop a white lace covered Bible. Susan Blalack of Wichita, Ka. cousin of the bride was flowergirl.

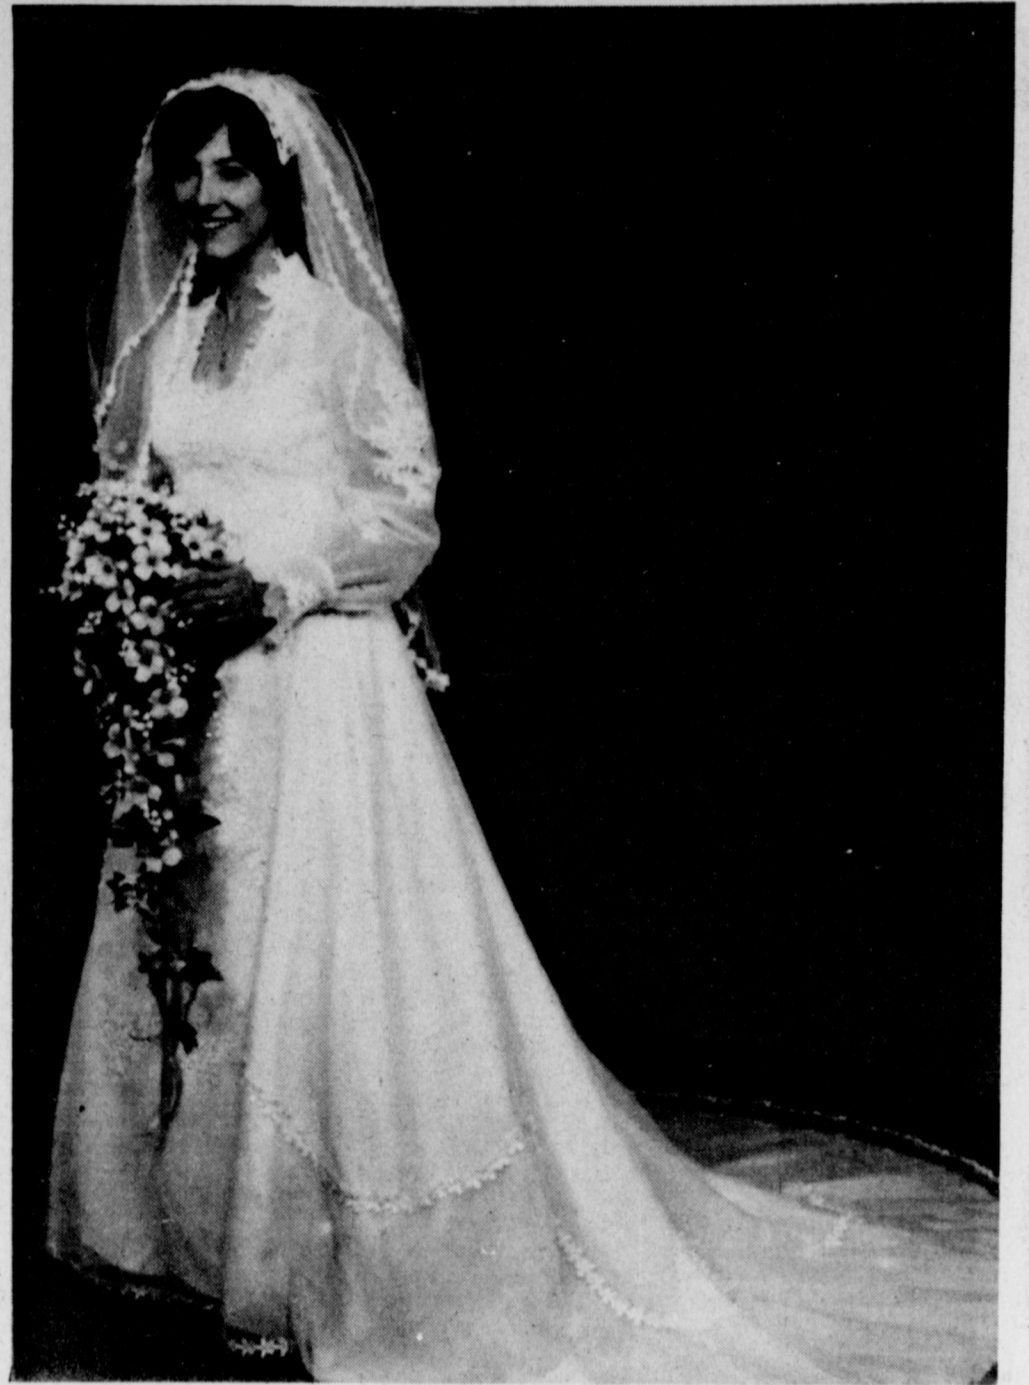

She wore a dress styled similar to the bridal attendants with cream colored lace edging made by the bride.

Serving the bridegroom as best man was Ron Lyons of Clovis, N.M. Groomsmen were Clayton Ramm, brother of the bride and Larry Lee from Eloy, Ariz. Brian Haseloff of Farwell was ringbearer.

The groom wore a beige tuxedo edged in tan velvet complimented with a beige ruffled shirt and bow tie. The groomsmen and ringbearer wore identical tuxedos with apricot ruffled shirts.

Ushers for the occasion were Linnie Davis, brother-in-law of the bride, of Plainview and Craig Kaltwasser of Farwell. Their tuxedos were identical to the groomsmen.

With 12 seconds left in the game, the Mules took over the ball on downs and ended Idalou's hopes for another TD, while bringing home the Bi-District trophy which was presented by WTSU Head Football Coach Bill Yung. This was the Mules first Bi-District win since 1963.

Next week, with a time undetermined at press-time, the Mules will meet the 'Cats again. But this time, it will be the Childress Bobcats, who defeated Spearman for Bi-District honors, playing in Pampa Friday night. Following the Mule-Wildcat clash Friday night, Muleshoe Head football coach Mike Wartes stayed overnight in Canyon to meet with Childress coaches and school officials on Saturday morning to work out game plans for the Regional playoffs.

Tentatively, it was expected that the Mules and Bobcats would also tangle in Kimbrough Memorial Stadium in Canyon. However, nothing official had been released by press-time.

Education Successful Attacking Diabetes

A Texas team is stressing education for diabetics, their friends and families in order to help diabetics survive. The team's techniques also help hold down health care costs.

Writing in the November issue of Texas Medicine, the Texas Medical Association's (TMA) Journal, the team outlined a study they did of two groups of diabetics for five years. The group educated by the team had to go to the hospital fewer times and saved approximately $41,000 in hospital costs, plus office visits and other fees. After adequate education, one patient's total costs dropped more than 75 percent.

This program obviously helped diabetics but also benefitted the public. Unused hospital facilities were available for other patients and taxpayers saved whatever costs Medicaid and other programs would have paid.

The team, headquartered at the pediatrics department of The University of Texas Medical Branch at Galveston, stressed teaching diabetics physical facts, coping skills and proper attitudes.

The American Diabetes Association has said friends and families of diabetics also need to know about the disease. In fact, with more than one million undiagnosed diabetics in the U.S., knowledge is necessary for everyone's health because an estimated one in five will get diabetes eventually.

Diabetes mainly strikes people in the following categories: Those who are overweight, those related to diabetics, those who are over 40, and women. The most common symptoms include excessive thirst, frequent urination, constant hunger, weight loss, itching, blurred vision and slow healing of cuts. However, some diabetics, especially those who are older, have few symptoms because of the slow progress of the disease. Luckily a physician can give several simple tests to help detect diabetics.

Once, diabetes, is diagnosed, it often can be controlled by a combination of diet and exercise. But sometimes oral drugs or insulin injections are necessary. Patients can be taught to use these techniques to manage their disease and live full, active lives. But diabetics also need support from family and friends. TMA said people should understand and support some diabetics' needs to eat proper foods at regular times, take injections, test urine and practice other management techniques. Being able to recognize an insulin reaction also is important. The diabetic usually can tell when the body's blood sugar drops too low and the person then can eat something with a high sugar content. But companions also should be alert for a diabetic's insulin reaction on symptoms such as weakness, trembling, double vision, drowsiness, slurred speech, sweating and extreme hunger. Symptoms can progress and include confusion, awkwardness, hostility and unconsciousness. This condition, which can happen in minutes to hours, sometimes is mistaken for drunkenness. Diabetic coma, which develops in hours to days, needs to be treated by giving insulin, not sugar. Symptoms of oncoming coma can include fruity smelling breath, vomiting, heavy breathing, flushed skin, frequent urination and unconsciousness, a spokesman for the diabetics association said.

Home Energy Conservation Should Be Family Affair

Energy conservation can be a family affair. Youngsters can do lots to save energy when parents set a good example and make basic facts available.

"Practice what you preach," says Mary Tucker, a member of the Kansas State University Extension Energy Task Force. Keep in mind that conservation by parents will go a long way in visual instructions to children. Along with this technique, keep your children informed about the hard, cold facts of wastefulness.

The water a family uses adds up quickly. A typical four-person home consumes about 300 gallons each day or 110,000 gallons a year—and that is water used on the inside only.

Where water is concerned, it teams with children like sugar and spice. They love to play in it or may turn the faucet on and leave it run while they get drinks or brush their teeth.

Teach children the importance of turning off faucets completely so water does not continue to drip. If your household has small children, but or make them a footstool, so they can reach faucets easily.

When it comes to bathing, a little water can go a long way, particularly when it's hot water. Hot water consumption for the family of four amounts to about 75 gallons a day, requiring 180 gallons of oil or about 6,000 KWH of electricity to do the heating. This energy represents between a tenth and a quarter of the total energy consumed by an average home.

Children usually cannot equate numbers like these with home comfort. It is even difficult for adults to comprehend the tons of oil and coal it takes to keep our homes well lighted and running efficiently.

K-State's Energy Task Force has other suggestions for ways families can practice conservation without causing much inconvenience. Actually, Tucker says, all it takes is a little remembering and reminding on each family member's part.

Parents can help their children remember to turn off battery powered toys when not in use. Such activities as hiking, roller skating, or bicycling instead of watching television allow children to burn up excess energy, while saving the electricity needed to run the TV.

An energy weakness of both children and adults is standing in front of an open refrigerator while they decide what to eat. Not only does this practice waste electricity by causing the refrigerator to work harder, but also an old style manual defrost box, with an interior freezer unit, will build up ice rapidly during summer months.

Be creative in thinking of ways to save energy in your home. If your children like cool drinks in the summer and head for the ice trays in the freezer each time they fill up a glass, try putting cubes in an ice chest. You will save energy while setting a good example for your children. They will understand that you consider conservation important.

You can cut down on the number of drinking glasses used in a day by marking each child's cup with a name. One cup per child each day can go a long way in saving you, your dishwasher, time and energy.

Be patient when teaching children about ways to conserve energy, and keep in mind that you serve as the best example.

FHA Reports High Break Record Loans

The Farmers Home Administration (FmHA), the rural credit agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, reported that its loans and grants for rural development in Texas during fiscal year, 1978, reached a record high of $525 million -- 43 percent above the FY 1977 level, according to W.H. Pieratt, State Director.

Of the $525 million, 98 percent of which are loans repayable with interest, over $345 million are farm loans. Housing loans accounted for almost $96 million, over $50 million went for community facilities improvements and more than $33 million were used for business-industrial financing.

Pieratt cited these highlights:

--Farm credit. FmHA in Texas made 10,299 farm loans, including more than 5,000 emergency loans to farmers and ranchers hit by natural disasters or economic emergency. Emergency loans totaled more than $223.2 million. Other services included over $121 million to individual family farmers for ownership, operation and improvement of their farms. A new economic emergency farm loan program, enacted in August, began with $920 thousand of loan approvals in Sept. Under this program, FmHA nationwide is authorized to carry up to $4 billion in loans through May 15, 1980.

--Housing. FmHA made 3,268 loans totaling $63.2 million to families of low and moderate income for home ownership or improvement, and over $32 million in loans for 79 multi-family apartment projects in rural towns throughout the state. FmHA housing programs are available in rural areas, towns of up to 10,000 population, and in non-metropolitan areas of up to 20,000 population where other credit is not available.

--Community facilities. FmHA provided more than $42.4 million in FY 1978 to build or improve water and sewer systems in approximately 123 towns and rural areas in Texas. Loans for other types of community facilities, such as medical and fire departments, added over $7 million to the agency's community facility programs. Facility projects may serve countryside and towns of up to 10,000 population.

--Grants for comprehensive planning in rural areas were issued to 8 state, local and area planning bodies during 1978. --Business and Industry. FmHA's guarantees of commercial lenders' loans to businesses and industries employing rural people rose from $15.8 million in 1977 to over $33.4 million in 1978. A loan level of 45.1 million is budgeted for the current fiscal year. Grants totaling $415 thousand were made last year to local public bodies for improvement of rural industrial sites. During that time, the program provided an estimated 2,144 new jobs in rural areas and saved an estimated 2,160 existing jobs. Pieratt said, "a state reorganization will be completed this year. Under the plan, new district offices will service all community, multiple-family housing and organization project loans and grants. County FmHA offices will concentrate on improved service to families applying for farm and individual housing loans."

Grain Elevator Fire, Explosion Meet Set

Ways to avoid the most serious of all types of industrial dust explosions—grain elevator fires and explosions—will be the topic of a shortcourse to be presented in Amarillo Nov. 29-30.

Causes and prevention will be spotlighted in the two day program at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center, 6500 Amarillo Blvd. West. The course is being presented by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in cooperation with the Texas Grain and Feed Association.

The shortcourse is to illustrate and describe effective methods to control explosions in grain elevators, said Dr. Gary S. Nelson, shortcourse chairman and Extension safety engineer.

"We hope to bring attention to the most recent technology available to prevent grain dust fires and explosions," he said.

The program is especially designed for persons involved with grain elevators and grain feed mills. This includes line supervisors, plant managers, plant owners, design engineers, construction contractors, safety representatives, grain inspection representatives, insurance representatives and personnel of the department of agriculture.

Grain elevator fires and explosions rank first in number of occurrences, people injured and property damage in the history of industrial dust explosions in the U.S., Nelson said. There have been at least 43 grain elevator explosions in the U.S. since 1976, resulting in 85 fatalities and millions of dollars in losses.

First day topics will focus on the primary causes of grain fires and explosions. These will include definition of basic ingredients and how each can be a factor of explosions. The second day's agenda will concentrate on prevention techniques, again focusing on the role of each of the basic ingredients of explosions -- dust, air, ignition sources and a closed container. Discussions on dust control, ignition control, structural equipment designs, preventive maintenance, electronic monitoring systems and the cost-effectiveness of prevention also will be featured.

"There will be several demonstrations of grain explosions and plenty of time for informal questions and one on one discussions," Nelson said.

The program features individuals who know and work in the field and are well equipped to discuss special areas with each participant. Included in the list of speakers will be grain company executives, industry and consulting engineers, and Extension service specialists.

For further information or registration materials, contact Dr. Gary Nelson, 303 Agri. Engr. Bldg., Texas A&M University, College Station, Tx. 77843.

A & M Plans Farm Summit December 4-6

A National Farm Summit to examine the important issues confronting the nation's agricultural economy will be held at Texas A&M University, Dec. 4-6.

The conference, which will center around the work of five task force groups, will be sponsored by A&M and the Agricultural Council of America, according to Spencer Tanksley, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Service.

Major issues to be addressed at the national meeting, termed a "symposium on Economic Problems of Agriculture," include prices, income, international trade, production costs, nutrition and food quality safety, and agriculture's role in government decisions.

The various task forces began work this summer to develop reports for consideration at the national meeting. The Agricultural Council of America, a non profit organization formed in 1973 to promote better understanding between farmers and consumers, has called upon top level leaders to develop the format and approach to the summit.

Among featured speakers will be John Connally, former Texas governor and Cabinet members and U.S. Senator Robert Dole of Kansas.

Persons interested in participating in the conference are urged to preregister as early as possible, as only individuals registered and badged may attend sessions. The registration form also includes information for requesting housing, notes Tanksley.

The county agent also emphasizes that Texas A&M University has the nation's largest College of Agriculture, and its faculty includes national and internationally respected scholars in agricultural economics and related disciplines.

For more information about the conference, interested producers and other leaders are asked to contact Dr. Bruce Gardner of Dr. James Richardson, professors in agricultural policy, Department of Agricultural Economics, Texas A&M University, College Station, Tx. 77843.

Parrot Fever New 'Menace' With Imports

Pet birds smuggled from Mexico and legally imported birds with inadequate quarantine have more than doubled the number of parrot fever cases in humans in Texas this year.

As of Mid-October the total was only give but that is apparently enough for two researchers at Texas A&M University to declare parrot fever "a significant public health menace in Texas."

Parrot fever, also called psittacosis, is most common in people who often are around pet birds such as parakeets, parrots, macaws and cockatiels. The disease can be fatal for birds and people but it is treatable in both groups and is rarely transmitted from human to human.

Writing in the Nov. issue of Texas Medicine, the Texas Medical Association's monthly journal, J.E. Grimes, Ph.D., and B. Panigraphy, Ph.D. said physicians should suspect psittacosis if a bird owner complains of chills, fever, sore throat, headache, sensitivity to light and lack of appetite.

The two authors, who are associated with the veterinary school at Texas A&M, also said psittacosis can occur in poultry, especially turkeys. Veterinary treatment and quarantines apparently fail mainly when large numbers of badly infected birds do not get enough medicine to rid them of the infection.

A Look at the Cross on THANKSGIVING

"Surely he hath borne our griefs, and carried our sorrows: yet we did esteem him stricken, smitten of God, and afflicted."

"But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities; the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed."

"All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way; and the Lord hath laid on him the iniquity of us all." Isaiah 53:4-6

Our prayer this Thanksgiving Season is that everyone will attend the house of God, giving thanks unto him for his great gift, which is eternal life through his son.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny, the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

YOUNG MEN OF Bangkok still seem to prefer traditional boats over flashy motorcycles and sports cars. Their storybook city on the Chao Phraya River has been called the Venice of the Pacific.

NEIL YOUNG HAS hit the road with some powerful music and a cast of companions that includes con-eheads and hooded "Star Wars" sand people with flashing red eyes. The show opens with a sand person hauling a giant amplifier from the stage to reveal an apparently sleeping Young.

FRIEDMAN ON PROGRAM President Carter's anti-inflationary program "will not work," a Nobel Prize-winning economist, Milton Friedman, a former presidential economic adviser, said.

MARY MAY HAVE had a little lamb to follow her to school. But Dalilah Wood had the company of a little elephant named Charlie when she went back to the classroom this fall. Both Dalilah and Charlie are performers in the Ringling Bros. Barnum & Bailey Circus.

NEW BREED TAKES on old guard in "WKRP in Cincinnati," a situation comedy about
station manager and Gary Sandy the new programming chief. It remains to be seen whether viewers will jump at the bait of the new TV offering.
