There are two reasons

1. A House committee will take earlier this year, that would re-quire each state to honor a divorce went to the Virgin Islands last 2. A law obtained in another state if certain requirements are met.

2. The Supreme Court will be asked to decide whether a person must be a domiciliary of the state in which he secures a divorce. These two questions are at the very heart of the divorce problem, which has bewildered lawyers and judges ever since the United States came into being

Sen. McCarran (D-Nev), author of the bill now before the House, said today that many divorced Americans are confronted with becoming lawbreakers if they get married again. This, McCarran said, is because divorce secured in one state may not be honored in another and the parties to the divorce may be accused of bigamy if they remarry, Such a thing has happened.

McCarran's bill says that, when four specific requirements are met a divorce granted legally in state "must be given full faith and credit in every state as a dissolution of such marriage.

Here's what might very well happen under the law as it stands:

Mrs. Jones goes to Nevada and secures a divorce without telling her husband about it. She goes back home to New York and remarries, whereupon her first husband decides to sue her for divorce, claiming she was not legally divorced under New York law. If the New York courts agree with him, Mrs. Jones could be sent to jail for biggapy.

Dr. Einstein Makes Rare Social Visit

NEW YORK UM - The aged white-haired man strode into the fashionable Hotel Plaza last night and headed for the elaborately decorated Terrace Room.

He handed the checkroom girl an old navy blue knitted cap similar to those sailors wear for a cold watch. Then he doffed an overcoat in which a waiter spotted an NRA label of the early 1930s.

Then, in a well-worn dark business suit and vest and an ordinary striped tie, the white-haired man strolled into the main room to mingle with men in white tie and tails, and women gowned in formal silk and jewels.

It was one of the season's most elegant weddings, and the aged gentleman in the dark business suit was perhaps the most eminent wedding guest. He came late but was one of he first through the reception line after the ceremony to congratulate the bridegroom, Dr. Thomas Lee Bucky of Cornell University Medical College here, and the bride, the former Miss Margaret Neuberg of Park Avenue and Weston, Conn.

The guest, a close friend of Bucky's father, physicist Gustav Bucky, quickly ducked around a from the reception line and into an elevator and out of sight. It was the end of a rare social appearance for 74-year-old Prof. Albert Einstein.

Dedication Of New Road Set

LAMESA (SC) - Plans are now being completed for the official dedication of State Highway 349 between Lamesa and Midland, it has been announced by De-Wayne Davis, manager of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce.

The dedication will be held, he said, at 2:30 p.m., Jan. 13, at the intersection of the last segment of this highway that has been completed, and State Highway 87 which is known as the Big Spring-Andrews Highway. New Rules Put The Spotlight And Call Of Statesmenship By Press

History was made Wednesday night when a full recording of President Elsen-hower's press conference was made available to press, radio and television. The conference had lasted 33 minutes, and all national networks boiled it down to 30 minutes and broadcast the results. Two TV networks used the sound track against a background of films made at previous press conferences.

Although excerpts from previous conferences had been recorded and portions released for broadcasting, this was the first time the full proceedings had been allowed to go out. White House officials indicated that in future such recordings would be made, and some of them might be released to press and broadcasters, as was the case this time.

If so, the American public may gain a better understanding of the trials and tribulations of the presidency, as well as firsthand information of what's going on. Heretofore, everything a President has said at a press conference has been "off the record" unless specifically authorized for direct quotation. Press and radio

but that was all, barring explicit permis-

Presidential press conferences are com paratively new in our history. Mr. Hoover held some, but would answer only questions written out and agreed on in advance. Mr. Truman followed Mr. Roosevelt's expansive methods, and Mr. Eisenhower has followed that pattern generally, but in all three cases any direct quotation was forbidden except when authorized.

Obviously we have come a long way from the "White House spokesman" of the Coolidge and Hoover eras, and from the "planted story" of the Theodore Roosevelt days, in which T. R. would bare his osom to some press crony as a trial baltoon to test public sentiment-and promptly repudiate the whole thing if there was an unfavorable reaction.

Prospective release of full proceedings should have the effect of making the President as well as the press-radio corps more careful in what is asked and an-

The U. S. News & World Report published a disturbing item this week under a Panmunjom dateline. It said hundreds of Americans are still being forcibly held in Communist prison camps, the real forgotten men of the Korean War. The magazine says 944 Americans are

"positively identified as being in Communist hands-most of them GI's." They have neither been reported nor returned Their existence has been established in various ways, including reports by re-leased comrades and the appearance of their pictures in Communist propaganda handouts.

The magazine says there has been no official U. S. protest, except that he an Army communique last September.

"There is seeming reluctance by American officials to press the case of the GI's who are still missing," the article says. "Emphasis, instead, is on finding a way to make a deal with the Communist Chinese on terms of peace. There is even pressure to speed up a United Nations membership for Communist China. Any emphasis on the missing Americans, apparently, could complicate those proceedings."

This is strong language, coming from a magazine that has been friendly to the administration and highly critical of its predecessors. It is scarcely necessary to point out that Messrs. Truman and Acheson are no longer in power, so blame for this situation can hardly be placed on

Is there now in operation a program amounting to appeasement under way with respect to Red China, as the same magazine recently hinted? We do not know, but if there is any substance to the story of the 944 missing and still presumably alive GI's, and if the magazine has drawn the correct conclusion therefrom, then there must indeed be something afoot with respect to our relations to the whole Far East situation.

Publicized Fifth Amendment Involves A Number Of Rights

been as unfittingly used by witnesses before Congressional committees as the Fifth Amendment, Action, under it, has become so vulgar that one witness did not even trouble to plead. He shouted, "Fifth!" "Fifth!"

The Fifth Amendment reads: "No person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a grand jury, except in cases arising in land or naval forces, or in the militia, when in actual service in time of war or public danger; nor shall any person be subject for the same offense to be twice put in jeopardy of life of limb; nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty, or property without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use, without just compensation."

Obviously this amendment involves a number of rights. In the instances before current Congressional Committees, only one clause is made to apply, namely: nor shall be compelled in any crimfnal case to be a witness against him-

This clause can only be applied in a matter involving a criminal case. If the statute of limitations has run, there is no criminal case and therefore the amendment does not apply. It is to be presumed therefore that whenever a witness pleads under the Fifth Amendment, he

Few articles in our Constitution have knows that his conduct has been such that, if discovered, he could be prosecuted for could be perjury.

> In Robertson S. Baldwin it was held if the witness benefited by the statute of limitations (lapse of time), a pardon, or a statutory enactment, he could not also benefit by the Fifth Amendment. In a word, this right can only be used when it is clear that a person may actually incriminate himself in a punishable crime. Many witnesses before Congressional Committees are therefore using the plea incorrectly and could be held in contempt, because they are withholding information for which they cannot be punished, unless it is perjury.

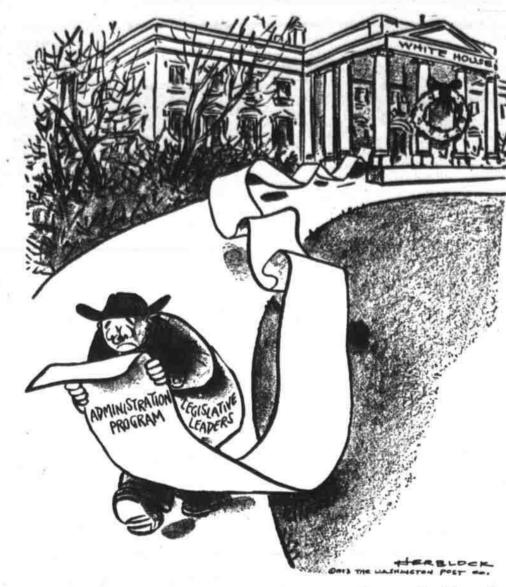

> It has been claimed that the Fifth Amendment protects the innocent as well as the guilty. This is nonsense. The entire amendment deals only with infamous crimes. In Ex Parte Wilson (114-U. S. 417, 426 (1885)), it is made clear that the purpose of the amendment was to limit powers of the legislature as well as the prosecuting officer of the United States in criminal matters; no declaration of Congress that a crime is infamous s needed to secure or competent to defeat the Constitutional safeguard.

In a word, the amendment sets out to safeguard a person from testifying against himself in a criminal matter for which he can be punished. Therefore, if no crime has been committed, the amendment does not apply. The innocent are never involved in its safeguard, because the innocent cannot be punished for a crime which they have not committed. If falsely accused, the innocent can testify in their own defense.

This privilege may be waived at discretion, but once it has been waived, the witness must make full disclosure. The question then arises whether an employe of the government of the United States may not waive the privilege of self-incrimination in advance of obtaining employment by the government in sensitive work. He could not be deprived of this Constitutional right by an Act of Congress, but employment by the United States is a privilege and not a right and the govern-ment can withhold employment without explanation. It is under no compulsion to employ anyone, although the civil serv-ice and veterans preference and do provide safeguards for those already employed.

No witness before a Congressional Com-No witness before a Congressional Committee is being accused of a crime. Only a grand jury can do that. The witness is interrogated for information about conditions in the country, of which it is believed that he possesses knowledge. He may or may not be involved personally in these matters. If he pleads the Fifth Amendment, in advance of a grand jury proceedings it must be assumed that he has knowledge that he has been involved in a crime for which a grand jury could indict him.

Englishman Has Own Idea Of When A Writer Should Work

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald.—Editor's Note.

If you want to be a great writer, says Edward John Moreton Drax Plunkett, Lord Dunsany, steer clear of it as much

"A writer who writes every day can't expect to make all his writing great. In writing too often, he sees nothing of life," says the learned man.

'I work only every few weeks. Great ideas don't come every day," he adds.
Once he had warmed to his subject, Lord Dunsany said the permanent presence of the wolf at the door was just the thing needed to keep every one on his toes.

The Englishman must have been speaking for the privileged few who can apply themselves to the task of writing, when the inspiration strikes them.

He wasn't championing the cause of the ordinary working stiff, who has to spend hours daily in the salt mines, or make his bed alongside El Lobo.

At any rate, the English peer suggests a man get himself a hobby, if he wants to keep inspired with great ideas. The man himself gets his kicks from fox hunting. He never went into detail as to why his writing improved, once he had ridden with the hounds.

Lord Dunsany is quite caustic about modern civilization and present-day poetry

Payrolls Are Holding Up Well, Despite Talk About Recession

WASHINGTON - That man from Mars lyze traffic in most large cities. visiting almost any community in America at this season would see evidence of prosperity underwritten by employment still virtually at a peak and payrolls only slightly diminished by a reduction of overtime in certain industries. Christmas shoppers are out in force and the mails are beginning to swell with the customary tide of packages and greeting cards.

Seeing all this, the man from Mars would be puzzled by the undercurrent of talk about trouble ahead. He would be told certainly by the Republicans, that this was political, reflecting the frustration of the Democrats who regard a recession as their only opportunity to return to power. Adlai Stevenson was charged with playing that kind of politics when in his Philadelphia speech he included fear of a depression as one of the four fears induced by a Republican administration.

But a recent visitor to Washington, who can hardly be accused of playing politics, talked in his shrewd and earnest fashion about the signs of trouble he sees ahead and what steps he believes should be taken immediately. Marriner Eccles, for 12 years chairman of the board of governors of the Federal Reserve System and now living in San Francisco where he directs the worldwide operations of the Utah Construction Company, has a habit of being right. Calling the turn on the Truman inflation, he broke with the former President over fiscal policy and worked closely with his friend, the late Senator Robert A. Taft.

In a long talk with W. Randolph Burgess, deputy to Secretary of the Treas-ury George Humphrey, Eccles said he saw signs just ahead of the kind of recession calling for a concerted program of government action. Burgess was skeptical. He suggested that Eccles was giving too much rein to an inherent pessimism.

When it came down to what to do. Eccles' views were right, Eccles readily agreed that substantial cuts could and should be made in defense spending. But instead of reducing the budget by the $4 or $5 billions saved in this way, Eccles recommended that the money saved be routed into constructive spending. He suggested that working through the cities and states it would be possible to put such an amount into highways and into an effort to break the bottlenecks that para-

Through payrolls engendered by such spending the slack would be taken up and there would be a constructive gain to show. It could be related to civil defense since most cities, squeezed into the traffic pattern of another era, are appallingly vulnerable targets in the atomic

The difference between the Eccles' view and that of the Treasury is fundamental. Humphrey feels that an inevitable adjustment is taking place. He believes part of the trouble may be behind us already. Thus the Treasury has noted improvement in the Textile industry which a year ago showed soft spots.

The adjustment, as seen from the Treasury, is not only inevitable but healthy. It is an indication of recovery from the inflationary spree that was started all over again in 1950 by the outbreak of the Korean War.

In this same category of essential adjustment the Treasury puts the cutbacks In the steel industry reported in a recent survey in the Wall Street Journal. For big producers, the cuthack is small and considered seasonal. Since just before the beginning of World War II industry has not experienced such seasonal slowdowns and so they come as something

But for many smaller companies, the Wall Street Journal survey shows, the cutback has been drastic. One Midwest company concentrating almost entirely on wire fencing has cut back 70 per cent of its production and one-third of the labor force has been laid off. This sharp drop reflects a decline in purchases by farmers.

Writing in the Manchester Guardian, Colin Clark predicts a slump in mid-1954 of the severity of 1930. He believes that Congress would have to cut taxes by $20 billions while maintaining or increasing government spending in order to check such a shide. Clark, whose predictions have stirred wide interest in England, is virtually alone among world economists in expecting a drop of that magnitude.

At the head of the President's council of economic advisers is Arthur Burns, an analyst of outstanding brilliance. Burns is confident steps can be taken to check a decline. But those steps call for quick cooperation from key Republicans in Congress. And that is a big question mark on the horizon of 1954.

Niger Has Leopards, Crocodiles

One of the long and famous rivers of Africa is the Niger (pronounced NY-jur), Draining more than half a million square miles on the western side of Africa, it empties into the Gulf of Guinea, which is a part of the Atlantic Ocean.

Here is a strange fact about the Niger: this river is 2,600 miles long, but its main headstream is only 150 miles from the shore of the Atlantic! You may wonder how that can be. The answer is that the Niger has almost the shape of a gigantic half circle. Rising in mountains far to the west, the river flows northeastward, then southeastward. In the middle of Nigeria, it bends southward and goes to the Gulf of

As it winds along, the Niger passes through mountain valleys, forests and fairly high prairies. For a space it is close

Roses Aid Safety

SAUGUS, Mass. Wi-A motor vehicle research company reporting on rose bushes as a safety factor when planted on safety islands says they resist the impact of a car as gently as a normal, light application of brakes.

The tests were made to design methods of reducing fatal accidents on multilane highways, where vehicles might skid or run out of control.

Judge And Jury

LINCOLN, Call. W Judge Edward A. Grey was involved in a traffic accident,

He pondered the matter, then ordered himself to post $50 bail.

After further thought, he decided he was to biame and forfeited the bail. "That," he commented, "Is the standard procedure."

Crime Goes To Jail

DALLAS W -- A prisoner here is charged to the southern edge of the Sahara Desert. If you visited the valley of the Niger, you would find it rich in plant and animal life. The trees include the huge baobab (pronounced BAY-oh-bab), with bark which can be turned into cloth. Among the other trees are the ebony, the rosewood, the corkwood and the shinglewood.

In the forests are dozens of kinds of monkeys and apes which chatter and howl. Lions, elephants and African buffaloes wander about. There are so many leopards that a section of the valley has been nicknamed Leopard Land.

The river teems with crocodiles, and these are far more dangerous to people than alligators would be. Some natives fear to go close to water which contains crocodiles. If their journey must take them near the water, they suppose that illness is likely to attack them. To ward off evil magic, the natives rub their skins with

Take the Crisp Cold of a December night, add two generous parts of snow, stir Into a generous heart, mix the wonder of a little girl, the sparkle of a young boy's glance, the love of parents and set gently before the chimney side.

Add the lightest touch of a reindeer's hoofs, a sprig of holly, a scent of fir. Set the mixture to rise in the warmth of a dream of good will to men. It will be almost ready serve when it bubbles with warmth and good feeling.

Bedeck with the light of a star set in the East, garnish with shining balls of gold, silver and red. Serve to the tune of an ancient carol in the middle of the family table. This recipe is sufficient for all the men and women you will ever meet. With best wishes for a Merry Christmas.

Texas Mother Sends Appeal To Balking Son

PANMUNJOM UM - An appeal from a Texas mother to "come back to your country and to your God" arrived today for delivery to her son, Sgt. Howard G. Adams, one of 22 American war prisoners who remained with the Commu-

The message from Mrs. J. H. Adams of Corsicana was broadeast to Tokyo and relayed to Panmunjom by The Associated Press. It was handed to the Indian command, which presumably will give it to Sgt. Adams if he is willing to accept it. Mrs. Adams walked into the studios of radio station WFAA in Dallas yesterday. The station helped her record the message for broadcast to the Far East.

Her brief message: 'Dearest Gayle: I want to send this Christmas message to you. I had hoped and prayed that you would be on your way home by

"It is going to be a very sad Christmas for us unless you decide to come home. You have always had courage to do the right thing, so please have that courage now. "We all love you very much and are praying every day that you have thought things over and will come back to your country, and to

"I love you. Mother." The deadline for him to ask to come home is Wednesday although he could change his mind any time before Jan. 22. The radio station helped her record the message for broadcast to the Far East.

Mrs. Adams explained the name Gayle is a family nickname. After recording her message the graying mother boarded a bus back to Corsicana because "I have to go to work at 10 o'clock to-

Mrs. Adams, showing the strain of facing Christmas without her boy, rode a bus 56 miles for help. Her voice, though tense, did not falter.

Early Trial Likely For Negro Held In Carolina Slayings

COLUMBIA, S. C. UM-An early murder trial was in prospect today for scar-faced Raymond Carney, 38, who officers say admits the lovers' lane slaying of a 15-year-old girl and her boy friend two weeks ago. The girl's head was cut off. Carney, a Negro escaped convict from North Carolina, was quoted by Sheriff John Hanna as saying he only planned to rob the couple but became panicky and started shooting when the girl screamed and her companion lunged at him.

Pretty Betty Clair, Pamplico High School student, and Henry Allen, 22, of Latta, were killed Dec. 6. Her body—the head missing-was found the next day in a shallow grave on the banks of a river.

Two days later her head and Allen's body were found in an abandoned well in the same area. Carney, according to Hanna, cut off Miss Clair's head with a knife to try to destroy evidence of hole and also planned to cut off Allen's head but "lost my

Carney was captured near Johnsonville by a trio of hunters Saturday. He was charged with mur-

Government Yuletide Parties Will Be Dry

WASHINGTON UM-It may be a dry year for Christmas office par ties in government buildings—the drought already has reached the State Department press room.

The State Department Correspondents Asan, called off its tra-ditional Christmas party, usually ditional Christmas party, usually attended by top officials, when Under Secretary of State Donald B. Lourie sent the newsmen word the han on liquor would extend into the quarters they use.

All office parties in State Department divisions will be nonalcoholic. And there were signs the same rule would apply in other government departments.
