Board Finds Three Unions Red-Tainted

By DAVE CHEAVENS
AUSTIN (AP)—Texas has no room for subversives seeking to infiltrate labor unions and new tough laws will be recommended to keep them out, the State Industrial Commission said yesterday.

The commission named to investigate charges that three unions are dominated by Communists who want to get control of vital oil and chemical industries and the ports brought these preliminary findings to Gov. Shivers:

1. That the three unions are either Communist dominated or influenced through their international organizations and this is a "clear and present danger" to Texas.

2. That with the exception of the national leaders named in its hearings the three unions, there was no testimony indicating that any member of a Texas labor union was a Communist.

3. That local leaders of the three unions give immediate thought to "separating themselves from these Communist influenced international."

4. That Texas laws are not adequate to deal with the menace of Communist infiltrations of unions, and that it will recommend new laws with teeth in them to guard Texas forever "from recurrence of this threat."

The unions the commission found to be Communist dominated or influenced were the Distributive Processing and Officer Workers of America; the International Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers the International Fur and Leather Workers.

The DPOWA started picketing 22 Port Arthur firms Nov. 19. Atty. Gen. Shepperd's investigation led first to his charges the union was Communist controlled, then to the industrial commission's study.

The commission's first report was signed by all five members: Chairman C. E. Fulgham, Lubbock; Walter Buckner, San Marcos; William Harris, Dallas; L. E. Page, Carthage; and E. G. Rodman, Odessa.

Fulgham said its final document report would be filed after Christmas.

The commission said it is creating a legal advisory board made up of one lawyer designated by union labor, one to be named by the president of the State Bar, and Shepperd, to help frame its final report and recommended legislation.

"The framers of our labor laws and subversive control laws could not have reasonably anticipated the infiltration of such subversive forces because their methods of operation and philosophies are so alien to the traditions and above-board characteristics of Texas," the report said.

preponderance of evidence presented conclusively shows that these three isolated labor unions (1) Distributive, Processing and Officer Workers of America, (2) International Fur and Leather Workers Union, and (3) International Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union, through their international organization are either Communist controlled, dominated, or influenced; that through the Communist party and/or front organizations these unions are linked together; that these unions either now are operating in or attempting to enter Texas; that there is a clear and present danger."

A national CIO representative had told the commission he thought Shepperd's charges that there is a Communist-inspired plot to get control of Texas ports and vital industries is "a figment of someone's imagination."

The commission also urged tight laws to give the national labor relations board firm control over Communist connections with labor unions and urged Texas congressmen to back such laws.

The commission found that the attorney general's office was within its legal province in starting the investigation and commended Shepperd for the "orderly and dignified" manner in which the three-day and night hearing was conducted.

It was not a "fishing expedition," the report said. "The case was well prepared and showed the results of months of intensive research, investigation and evaluation."

It also thanked the Department of Public Safety's internal security section for its work with the commission and the attorney general.

Patrolman Jack Shaffer, who investigated the burglary, stated that entry was made through the office window, which was not locked. Money taken belonged to the Junior Red Cross and the school.

The burglars took a fruit jar, a cigar box, a pink envelope box, and a small metal lock-box — all of which contained money.

Hunt For Bodies Continues In Twister-Hit City

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
VICKSBURG, Miss. (AP)—Tornado-battered Vicksburg, still burying its dead, dug into a new area of town today in the search for victims of the twister that killed at least 31 persons.

Rescue crews moved shovels into a Negro residential area near the National Military Park. It was the first search of the area where the tornado spent its diminishing fury after striking the city three times.

The 25-million-dollar tornado caused President Eisenhower to declare Vicksburg a disaster area, making it eligible for emergency aid from the federal government.

Mrs. Katherine Howard, Eisenhower's personal envoy, toured the stricken city yesterday and told citizens it might be some time before actual loans can be made.

The Small Business Administration, a federal agency, designated Vicksburg and 15 counties in Mississippi, Texas, Louisiana and Arkansas disaster areas, eligible for rehabilitation loans.

The SBA set up an emergency loan office in cooperation with state and local officials.

Six burials of tornado victims were scheduled today. A dozen were held yesterday.

The body of 17-year-old Kay Warren, honor high school student, was dug from the ruins of her father's sporting goods store yesterday afternoon, nearly 48 hours after the black funnel roared in from the west across the Mississippi River.

Workers labored all last night by searchlight in the store's ruins, attempting to find another body, believed to be P. G. Hester.

Burglars Take Cash At School

Between $90 and $100 was taken from Principal Dixie Boyd's office at the Central Ward School sometime last night.

Patrolman Jack Shaffer, who investigated the burglary, stated that entry was made through the office window, which was not locked.

Money taken belonged to the Junior Red Cross and the school.

The burglars took a fruit jar, a cigar box, a pink envelope box, and a small metal lock-box — all of which contained money.

The cigar box had $42 worth of wrapped coins — rolls of nickels, dimes, and halves.

The fruit jar contained $26 in bills and some change — about $9 in 25 cent pieces; $1.75 in nickels, $1.50 in dimes and $6 in halves.

The small lock-box, which belonged to the school, had more than $2 in it, and the envelope box — containing money for practice books — held $10.

Also stolen from the office was a seven-jewel Arco stop watch and a money bag.

Another theft was reported last night by Mrs. J. C. Anderson, 1910 Johnson, who said someone took the green folder skirts from her 1951 Ford. Approximately two cases of beer was taken from Joe Torres establishment in Northwest Big Spring also.

Mrs. Eisenhower's Cold Lingers On

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House announced today that Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower has cancelled all appointments because of a chest cold.

The first lady returned from Augusta, Ga., where the Eisenhowers spent Thanksgiving, with a cold. She has been in bed since Sunday.

Her personal secretary, Mrs. Mary Jane McCaffery, described the illness as a bronchial condition.

She said Mrs. Eisenhower would be unable to attend the first of two White House diplomatic dinners tomorrow night.

Mrs. John Foster Dulles, wife of the Secretary of State, will be the hostess in Mrs. Eisenhower's stead.

Mrs. McCaffery said the first lady's condition is not considered alarming but doctors decided she should remain in bed.

Workers labored all last night by searchlight in the store's ruins, attempting to find another body, believed to be P. G. Hester.

An army of 3,000 citizens and soldiers began their third day of probing the ruins of more than 900 destroyed and damaged buildings.

Pick and shovel crews loaded dump trucks at the rate of one a minute.

U. N. Delegates Wait Eagerly For Address From Eisenhower

By TOM HOGE
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—U. N. delegates from both sides of the Iron Curtain waited expectantly today for President Eisenhower's dramatic appeal to the General Assembly for peace in an atom-peril world.

One high diplomatic source said the address would be a "sensational" aimed at breaking the seven-year-old East-West deadlock over atomic energy control.

Most delegates speculated the U. S. President would aim his plea directly at Russia. Most voiced hope that the momentous address, coming as the Assembly prepared to recess its eighth session, would pave the way for high-level big power talks designed to ease world tensions.

Eisenhower worked until after midnight in Bermuda with British Prime Minister Churchill and France's Foreign Minister Georges Bidault winding up the secret talks they hope will advance a big step towards peace.

The U. S. President, in his spare time, worked on his U. N. address.

The 60-nation Assembly hall was readied for a packed audience of foreign diplomats, newsmen and tourists.

Eisenhower's U. N. visit was planned to last only about an hour and a half.

Flying in from Bermuda, he was due at La Guardia Field at 3:05 p.m., and 40 minutes later at U.N. headquarters to be greeted by Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold, who invited him to make the address.

The speech was scheduled at about 4 p.m., EST.

Woman Must Pay For Alienating Love Of Other's Mate

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—A jury has ruled that attractive Doris Atkins must pay $1,500 for alienating the love of an Air Force sergeant.

Miss Atkins, 29, was accused of "stealing the love" of Hillman E. Estes from his wife and two children.

Miss Atkins' parents, also named defendants, were cleared in the court action yesterday.

Mrs. Estes, 35, said that she asked Miss Atkins last February to stop seeing her husband.

"I asked her how she could do this . . . and if she knew that I was expecting a baby in five weeks."

"But," Mrs. Estes said, "she never answered me."

Mrs. Estes added her husband told her Miss Atkins didn't "want to give him Atkins' parents, also named defendants, were cleared in the court action yesterday."

She said Miss Atkins often met the sergeant when he went off duty and took him riding in her car.

Observers speculated it might spell an end to the Baruch plan, proposed to the U. N. seven years ago by Eisenhower's old friend, Bernard Baruch. This plan called for control—by stages—of atomic energy production throughout the world leading eventually to international ownership of all atom plants.

Big 3 Challenge Russia To Make Peace Moves

West Agrees To Meet With Reds On January 4

By TOM REEDY
BERLIN (AP)—The United States, Britain and France have agreed to meet Soviet Russia Jan. 4—on a foreign ministers' level—to discuss the problems of Germany and the independence treaty for Austria.

A note from the Western powers—drawn up at the Bermuda conference—was delivered to Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov's office today. It likely will be made public late tonight.

The Western note is a response to a Russian proposal for the meeting, and follows a long interchange over whether such a meeting would be held and if so under what circumstances.

The meeting will be held here in the old Allied Control Building, virtually idle since 1948 when the Russians walked out of the four-power rule that this city had in the years immediately following the war. The building is in the U.S. sector of Berlin, about five minutes' ride by automobile from the Soviet sector.

The Western foreign ministers who will meet with Molotov are John Foster Dulles of the United States, Anthony Eden of Britain and Georges Bidault of France.

As the Bermuda conference broke up today American officials who attended it said the Western ministers have no intention of remaining indefinitely in Berlin to listen to Soviet propaganda. These sources expressed belief the meeting may so expose the position of the Soviet Union, presumably on the question of unification of Germany, that the Russians may have to change somewhat their attitude toward this issue.

For years the question of holding free elections throughout Germany has been one of the problems on which the West and the Soviet Union have split.

In Paris, Robert Schuman expressed belief the Soviet Union will seek at the meeting to destroy European integration. The former French foreign minister said in an interview with Paris-Press:

"The Soviet Union is going to try to obtain in that conference what it has failed to obtain by the cold war—the paralysis and then abandonment of our policy of European integration."

The issue of German rearmament is a sore one to both Russia and France—but not in the same way. Moscow pictures German arms as a threat to it on the West. France is pretty much resigned to the rearming of Germany through the European Defense Community, but itself is hesitant about ratifying the EDC treaty until it receives assurances on the Saar and other issues.

East German Communists already were building up propaganda on the Jan. 4 meeting. They were saying in their official press today that the United States intends to wreck the meeting by insisting on West German rearmament.

At the present time the city progress has been stymied in obtaining right-of-way because there is no money available. Election to determine if the citizens wish to make money available is Friday and the polling place is the city hall fire station.

Transportation to and from the WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House said today it had received 24,400 telegrams in response to the appeal of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) that the public ask President Eisenhower to stop aid to nations trading with Red China.

Murray Snyder, assistant press secretary, said the number of letters probably will approximate that of the telegrams by the time all deliveries are made today.

Perjury Charged At Spy Hearing

By G. MILTON KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) said today he will seek grand jury investigation of the denial by a former Ft. Monmouth scientist that he knew atom spy Julius Rosenberg when they worked at the fort in the 1940's.

The scientist is Aaron H. Coleman, who testified at public hearings today before McCarthy's Senate Investigations Subcommittee. It is searching for evidence of Soviet radar spying at the Signal Corps laboratories in the New Jersey fort.

The subcommittee in swift order challenged denials by Coleman that he was a member of the Young Communist League in the late 1930's, and his denials that he associated with Rosenberg after their subsequent graduation from the College of the City of New York.

Roy Cohn, the subcommittee counsel, quoted at the public hearings testimony given by Rosenberg at the trial at which Rosenberg was convicted of wartime espionage and sentenced to death. He said Rosenberg was asked by his own lawyer at the trial to list former college classmates with whom he had contacts after graduation and that among them Rosenberg listed "Mr. Aaron Coleman, who, subsequent to graduation, I met at Fort Monmouth."

Cohn called that "a direct, flat contradiction" of Coleman, and McCarthy announced that a transcript of the testimony "will be sent to the Justice Department with the recommendation that it be submitted to a grand jury."

Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens told a news conference Nov. 12 an Army inquiry had turned up no evidence of successful spying at Ft. Monmouth in recent years. He said he thought there had been some several years ago.

Director of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce made plans for a "Get Out The Vote" campaign yesterday after going on record in favor of the $50,000 city bond issue which will be voted on Friday.

The campaign, as mapped out, is to make people aware of their voting responsibilities by radio forums, telephone contacts, service club programs, press publicity, and speeches in ladies clubs.

Directors were told by City Commissioners Willard Sullivan and Cecil McDonald that the city will be ready to turn the 4th Street highway project over to the State Highway Department within 30 to 45 days if the issue passes.

Money, if voted, will be used only for paying damages and completing negotiations for the 4th Street right-of-way, directors were told. Commissioner Sullivan said he did not think it would take the entire $50,000 but that figure would take care of any contingencies.

Sullivan pointed out that the bond issue would not in his opinion necessitate any increase in taxes. He said that for the past six or seven years all improvements have been paid out of the parking meter fund.

Commissioner McDonald told the directors that passage of the bond issue would not necessarily insure the completion of the project. He said that the issue was the next step that had to be taken for obtaining right-of-way and he explained right-of-way has to be obtained before the project can be completed.

At the present time the city progress has been stymied in obtaining right-of-way because there is no money available. Election to determine if the citizens wish to make money available is Friday and the polling place is the city hall fire station.

Conference Ends With Communiqué

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda (AP)—The Big Three challenged the Kremlin today to negotiate peace settlements in Europe and Asia and to "solve the stubborn problems" of a world too long in conflict.

In a final Bermuda communiqué that occasionally ran with Churchillian prose—but omitted any concrete solutions for the key problems of Western unity, U. S. President Eisenhower, British Prime Minister Churchill and French Premier Laniel announced:

1. They are sending notes to Russia for an early Big Four foreign ministers meeting in Berlin which they hope will make progress towards the unification of Germany and independence for Austria.

2. They will continue to strive for a Korean political conference which they hope will lead to both a Korean settlement with the Asian Communists and "progress in restoring more normal conditions in the Far East and Southeast Asia."

3. They will continue to struggle for "peace and stability" in Indochina, where the "valiant forces" of France and the native states are making an important contribution to the "defense of the free world."

4. They hope for a "peaceful" liberation of the Red-ruled East European countries and reject as unjustified "the present division of Europe."

5. The three Western Powers will "lose no opportunity for easing the tensions that beset the world and for reassuring all nations that they have no cause to fear that the strength of the West will be involved in any cause of wrongful violence."

The communiqué sounded a high note of Western unity and common purpose, providing a background for Eisenhower's appearance at the United Nations later today for an address on the "Perils of the World in This Atomic Age."

The announcement of his speech was one of two known specific results of the conferences here since Friday. The other was the dispatch of the note to Russia proposing that the Big Four ministers meet at Berlin Jan. 4. There possibly were other concrete achievements, to be disclosed later.

The communiqué was issued early today after a final 13-hour session around the conference table at the Mid-Ocean Club here. The last long gathering—it ended at 1:15 a.m.—was made necessary by Eisenhower's plan to fly to New York to address the U. N. Assembly.

Laniel, still confined to his bed by a lung infection but reportedly improving, may leave tonight for Paris and Churchill for London late tomorrow. French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault reportedly will be in New York.

COTTON ANNOUNCEMENT 16.4 Million Bale Crop Told

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department, in a final report for the year, reported today the 1953 cotton crop at 16,437,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight.

This is 344,000 bales more than the 16,093,000 forecast a month ago and is far above a production goal of 12,000,000 bales set by Secretary Agriculture Benson.

The big crop helped create a surplus supply that has led Benson to invoke rigid marketing quotas on the 1954 crop to restrict output. The quotas will be submitted to a grower referendum Dec. 15. Approval by at least two-thirds of those voting is required.

This year's crop compares with last year's production of 15,139,000 bales, and with the 10-year (1942-51) average of 12,215,000 bales.

There is a carryover reserve of about 4,500,000 bales.

Under the quota system, farmers would be limited to the sale of cotton grown on a national planting allotment of 17,910,000 acres. Plantings this year were about 25,376,000 acres. Farmers could sell cotton from excess acres, but it would be subject to a heavy penalty tax.

yield per acre and production, respectively, by states included: Texas 5,000,000 acres harvested, 232 pounds per acre and 4,350,000 bales production; Oklahoma 1,010,000; 211; and 445,000; New Mexico 313,000; 505 and 330,000.

The production of American-Egyptian type cotton by states included: Texas 19,000 bales, New Mexico 12,900.

Ginnings to Dec. 1 this year and last, respectively, by states included: Texas 3,510,291 and 3,309,998 running bales; New Mexico 231,075 and 266,873; and Oklahoma 385,873 and 249,841.

Cottonseed production was estimated at 6,718,000 tons compared with 6,190,000 last year.

The department estimated 3.7 per cent of the cotton acreage this year was abandoned before harvest because of bad weather and other factors.

The production of American-Egyptian type cotton was reported at 64,400 bales compared with 55,000 last year and 27,200 for the 10-year average.

Benson Asserts Wool Industry Needs Help

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson said today some form of subsidy or unusual aid probably is needed to insure survival of this country's wool industry.

He said present federal aid programs are ineffective, since domestic wool production and sheep population are declining and wool exports are increasing.

"The American people have a choice to make," the GOP farm chief told the National Wool Growers Assn.

"Should they permit the progressive weakening of our wool industry to proceed unhindered, or should they make a determined effort to solve the problem and maintain an efficient wool production as a part of our economy?"

"If they choose the latter, they must face the fact that maintaining the industry in a sound and healthy condition will probably involve some form of subsidy or unusual assistance from the government."

Ray Willoughby of San Angelo, heads the association.

Among the convention's guests is Rep. Clark Fisher (D-Tex) from San Angelo.

Benson said four major proposals had been advanced for helping wool producers, including (1) tariff increases or import fees to reduce competitive imports, (2) quotas to restrict imports, (3) price support programs involving loans and purchases of wool by the government, and (4) use of production payments to growers when market prices fail to provide adequate returns.

While stating the administration has not yet decided upon any recommendations for future programs, Benson said use of higher tariffs, import fees or import quotas would tend to restrict international trade and encourage retaliatory action against U. S. exports.

Benson said the present loan and purchase program has resulted in accumulation of wool in the hands of the government instead of its use in woolen goods.

The secretary said the production payment plan would have the advantage of eliminating the buildup of storage stocks by the government. He added that domestic wool would be permitted to seek its natural price level, as protected by the current tariff. Benson said revenue from tariffs collected on imported wools could be used to finance payments to producers.

Another Oklahoma Leopard Tries For Day Out On Town

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—The mate of Oklahoma City's celebrated leaping leopard which touched off a three-day safari following his escape from the Lincoln Park Zoo in 1950 tried the same thing today, but her freedom was short-lived.

An attendant was attacked and severely bitten before the fugitive was shot and killed by Zoo Director Julian Frazier within a half hour after she dashed from her cage into a clump of bushes. The grounds were deserted except for zoo personnel.

Frazier fired once from a 12-gauge shotgun and dropped the beast. The injured attendant, H. S. Alsup, was treated for bites and a heavy scratch. A cage door which failed to click shut at feeding time was blamed for the breakout.

Trunk Murder Case Puzzler To Police

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—George Renfro, who came here yesterday hunting a son he hadn't seen in two weeks, found him in the trunk of an auto, shot to death.

The victim was William Delmer Renfro, 26-year-old unemployed Madison County farmer. Police said after the back of Renfro's head was torn away by a shotgun blast, the body was stuffed in the victim's own car.

The elder Renfro made the discovery after visiting a grocery to check on the son's whereabouts. When he came out of the store, he noticed the auto parked on the street.

Police said an acquaintance of Renfro's son had tipped the father to the car's whereabouts.

The murder had police baffled today. "We're working on this case without any clues," commented Lt. Stanley Hadley.

Reds Reject 'Final' Plan At Panmunjom

By GEORGE McARTHUR

PANMUNJOM (AP)—The Allies today laid on the line a "final offer" for a Korean peace conference but the Communists rejected it outright in a scornful propaganda blast the chief U. S. delegate termed "garbage."

The Red action effectively bypassed a potential Allied problem—South Korea's refusal to accept part of the U. S. proposal.

South Korea's delegate refused to attend the meeting as U. S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean delivered the new plan.

Dean's offer nailed down loose ends of previous Allied proposals and suggestions.

"I told them (the Reds) this was it and we would stand on it," Dean told newsmen. "This is our final offer."

The Communists, reading from a 16-page prepared statement, termed Dean's offering "absurd and ridiculous."

An Allied spokesman said the Red tirade "was the roughest we have heard here."

"It is very obvious that they have stopped negotiating."

He told the newsmen there is an implied time limit to his proposal but said: "We still stay here for what we consider a reasonable time." He gave no indication how long that might be.

The diplomats meet again Wednesday (9 p.m. EST).

Meanwhile, 30 more South Korean prisoners of war refused to return home after talking with officers of their homeland.

They made the interview score so far 190 to 0 in favor of communism.

Another 30 South Koreans were called for interviews Wednesday (7 p.m. Tuesday EST).

At the present rate, the 138 remaining South Koreans will be finishing early next week and then the 22 Americans and 1 Briton will be called.

Terms of the new U. S. proposal on the peace conference include:

1. Russia could sit in without being labeled a belligerent on either side or a neutral, but would insist they vote with the Communist side.

2. "Some or all" of the non-belligerent countries who have "current" experience in Korea could attend as "neutrals" without voting rights. They could talk on subjects under debate but could not bring up subjects. There could include India, Sweden, Switzerland, Pakistan and Chile and Communist satellites Poland and Czechoslovakia.

3. The meeting would open at Geneva within 28 to 42 days after the present sessions end. Dean has indicated he might accept another site—but not Panmunjom.

4. Sessions would be open to the press except on agreement by both sides.

The South Korean government issued a statement saying it would not accept "neutrals" at the peace conference. The South Koreans object strongly to India which they call "pro-Communist."

Despite the trouble with aging South Korean President Syngman Rhee, Dean said he was "confident that we should be able to iron out our differences."

However, Dean said his difference with Rhee seemed academic in the light of the Red rejection.

Dean said he was probably going to see Rhee again in the next few days.

Man In Closet Says Looking For Auntie

BALTIMORE (AP)—When George Cox found a stranger asleep in his closet yesterday, he got out his tool chest and nailed the door shut. Then he called police.

A 28-year-old New Yorker, John Craddock, emerged after the last nail was removed and explained that he was only looking for his aunt.

He said he had come to Baltimore with a friend to visit his aunt, had lost both and somehow entered Cox's house, walked into the closet and fell asleep under a pile of clothes.

Magistrate E. Everett Lane fined him $15 for disturbing the peace and suspended the penalty on condition he "leave town right away."

Mercury Offers New Body Style
 First new body style in the automobile industry since the hardtop—that's the 1954 Mercury Monterey "Sun Valley," a sports coupe with transparent plexiglass replacing steel over the front section of the roof. The plexiglass is tinted green to minimize light glare. This is one of the new models offered by Mercury and which go on display Thursday. All the 1954 Mercury models are powered by an entirely new overhead valve V-8 engine developing 161 horsepower.

ON DISPLAY THURSDAY
New Engine, New Lines Mark Mercury For '54
 An entirely new model with a transparent roof, a new 161-horsepower overhead valve V-8 engine and a new type ball-joint front suspension, feature the Mercury for 1954.
 Improved body styling and more luxurious interior trim combinations also highlight the new Mercury which will make its premier appearance in over 1,800 dealerships throughout the nation December 10. The cars will be shown locally Thursday at Truman Jones Motor Co., 403 Rannels St.
 The "Sun Valley," a Mercury Monterey hardtop, is the new model addition to the 1954 line. It is characterized by a transparent plastic roof, the first of its kind in an American production car. The front half of the roof is a green tinted plexiglass, developed for mass production following the outstanding public acceptance of two Ford Motor Company experimental cars having similar roofs—the X-100 and the X-500.
 Completely new is the overhead valve V-8 engine which powers all 1954 model Mercury cars. Developing 161 horsepower, the engine is a low-friction design with a bigger bore and shorter stroke. The bore and stroke are 3.62 inches and 3.10 inches respectively. It has a compression ratio of 7.5 to 1.
 A new four-barrel carburetor with exclusive features to provide power for rapid acceleration and economical operation has been developed for the new engine.
 A stronger, lighter, and more rigid crankshaft with five main bearings instead of three is used in the 1954 Mercury engine. Precision-molded of alloy iron, the crankshaft has eight counterweights for precise balance and smoother operation.
 Additional engine features are a new combustion chamber with unusually large valves, which creates high turbulence and best fuel combustion, integral valve guides, heat-shielded water-cooled spark plugs and chrome-plated top compression rings.
 A 40-amp low speed charging generator and a new starter located on the flywheel housing have been designed for faster cranking speeds and quieter starting. A new fuel pump, located in the air stream from the fan, provides better cooling and minimizes the likelihood of vapor lock in summer weather or warm climates.
 Mercury chassis changes for 1954 include a new frame for greater fatigue strength and the same ball-joint front suspension introduced in the 1952 Lincoln. Mercury is the first car in its price class to offer this new type suspension, which eliminates the conventional kingpin and improves riding and steering qualities.
 Other chassis improvements are new front shock absorbers and springs, and modifications to the standard overdrive, and Merc-O-Matic transmissions for increased life and to more effectively utilize the power of the new engine.
 Significant styling changes have been made on the 1954 Mercury to give it a lower, longer and wider appearance. Restyled rear quarter panels, new wrap-around bumpers and a new front grille have been combined with new ornamentation on the side to amplify the forward-motion appearance.

Woman Sad About Loss Of Harry's Dollar, Not Rest
 CINCINNATI (AP)—A year ago today Harry S. Truman stopped in Cincinnati and bought a paper from Mrs. Aleen Klerim, a fellow Democrat.
 She put the dollar he gave her into the cash register before she recognized the former President and before she noted he had autographed it.
 Last night a thief snatched her purse. It contained $101 plus "Harry's dollar."
 "It's the dollar President Truman signed that I feel so awful about," she told police.

Teacher Finally Gets Pupils To Instruct
 ELK PRAIRIE, Ore. (AP)—Schoolmaster Clyde Babcock, who hasn't had anybody to teach, finally has enrolled two pupils at Elk Prairie School.
 Babcock, who gets an annual salary of $3,425 has been without students since school opened last September in this remote western Oregon community.
 The families of the children he taught last year had moved away temporarily because work ran out in the nearby strawberry fields.
 While waiting for students to show up, Babcock spent his time improving the building and working on the school flower garden.

Mitchell Not Worried Over House; Senate Is Problem
 PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Stephen Mitchell, Democratic national chairman, says his party will win a 40 to 50-seat margin in the House next year on a platform pegged to national security, fair treatment for the farmer and lowering the cost of living.
 These he said, are among the "vital national issues, particularly on domestic affairs, which sadly need buttressing." He also cited "apathy towards federal housing, the Republican failure to meet the increasing plight of small business and inability to set up foreign trade on a sound basis."
 While forecasting the big House margin, Mitchell told a news conference last night he's fretting about the outcome in the Senate, where the Democrats now have more members than the Republicans.
 He said he's basing his forecast on information from experienced political observers.
 "The Senate elections pose a harder problem. I am hopeful we might win control of the Senate, but I am not as confident as for the House. It's a matter of arithmetic since we have just so many Senate seats at stake," he explained.
 The Republicans now control the House by a 219-215 margin with 1 Independent. The Senate has 48 Democrats, 47 Republicans and Independent Wayne Morse of Oregon.
 Mitchell is in Philadelphia to supervise the completion of plans for a weekend conference of Middle Atlantic states party leaders.
 Mitchell also announced the selection of Stanley Woodward ambassador to Canada in the Truman administration, as the party's new treasurer.
 The U. S. Census reports that coal heats half the homes in the Middle Atlantic states.

Week Night Woes

As the over-crowded jalopy out front honks again, you stop your frantic pacing and wait another shrill "please" to Mom, the warden of your social life. If the typical decisive "no" booms back you probably mutter something like "What's the matter anyway? What is this? Alcatraz?"

When you spy that new fellow who looks like Farley Granger, or maybe it's the gal who is a perfect double for Liz Taylor, you'd give your best cheat-sheet—oops, school book, that is, to stick your finger in the pie and go too. But alas, because this isn't Saturday you know there'll be no pardon tonight and you've got a chronic case of Week Night Woes.

Though I can't recommend a sure-cure vitamin, I can recommend something almost as good. Try a bit of reasoning spiced with a few compromises and you may find an open sesame to freedom. Don't forget, parents are people. When talked to as one adult to another rather than as captive to jailer, parents are generally both understanding and cooperative. They want you home on school nights for a reason. Find out what it is. Perhaps they feel that dates on week nights would cause your grades to take a nose dive or keep you up too late at night. Would they? Now be honest! If you are a fast worker and can get all, or almost all of your homework in study hall, or if you are a "brain" requiring little effort for study, you know it.

Instead of going AWOL on the sly have a talk with Mom and Dad and arrange a gentleman's or a lady's agreement, if getting out of the house on week nights is so important. Have an understanding concerning the grades which you are expected to make and also the time that you are supposed to be in bed.

If you get the chance to prove yourself, from then on it's up to you. You'll be a lucky teen to have a privilege of week night dating. Remember, if you abuse it, you lose it.

Prove your dependability by not begging for a leave of absence at a crucial time. Choose your week evenings carefully, and always make certain you make it to bed while there's still eight good sleeping hours between you and the ringing of the alarm.

If you can live up to this sort of an agreement with your parents, congratulations! You are a mature teen any parent would be proud of.

THE GRUB LINE

With Franklin Reynolds

There was a real bargain on sale at the J&H Drug Store on Gregg a few days ago. Whether or not it's still there I don't know. In a postal card rack where there was a card saying "three for 5 cents" there was a stack of the government cards with the two-cent postage on them.

Houston Harte of the Snyder Daily News stayed in the fight until he got the U. S. Department of Agriculture to agree that records of those farmers and ranchers receiving drought disaster assistance should be available to the newspapers if the newspapers wish to publish them.

Concerning this the Dallas Morning News said in an editorial: "Opening of the lists of drought-aid recipients to public gaze is a welcome bit of frankness on the part of the Eisenhower administration. It is in line with the view that the government's business is the people's concern. The folks who pay the taxes have a right to know where their money goes."

"This policy doesn't mean that all the lists will be published. But opening them for inspection is the best way to head off favoritism and graft. Those evils thrive behind the curtain of secrecy; they cannot endure long the light of publicity."

"It would be better if all government payments to individuals were generally known. That would make less likely the payment of pensions to veterans who don't deserve them. It would slink checks to wealthy landowners for avoiding the planting of crops. It would make some well-heeled people hesitate to obtain old-age assistance for their parents. It would take a lot of free riders off the gravy train."

In Mitchell County: Corley Rogers, who has a dairy farm just north of Colorado City has planted most of his cropland to cover crops. This land is of a sandy nature and will blow unless protected with crops and residues. About 90 acres has been planted to barley, rye and winter peas. He is counting not only on protection but on some grazing, too.

P. K. Mackey, who ranches five miles north of Laton, has planted about 125 acres to small grains for cover, grazing and possible harvest if growing conditions are favorable.

Ollie Byrd, rancher in the Westbrook community, also has a large acreage of small grains. For cover and grazing he sowed 145 acres of wheat and oats.

Bruce and Byron Brynes, father and son ranchers in the Landers area, have planted about 100 acres of rye on sandy soil, 40 acres to oats, and perhaps as much as another 175 acres to wheat and oats in various fields over the ranch, for cover, grazing and grain. Painter Wylie of the Colorado City unit of the Soil Conservation Service, says the Brynes native grassland continues to look good due to their light to moderate stocking during the drought. He says this father and son team is grass conscious and are hoping to really show some range improvement once the drought is broken.

Last Friday was a great day in the life of Ed Fisher of Fisher's Fowl Farm, according to Bruce Frazier.

On that day the first of Ed's pullets in his hens-in-cages project presented him with the first egg. As was explained in this column several weeks back this egg is being preserved for posterity in a sealed glass case, where thousands of years hence our descendants may go and look at it and marvel and wonder and read the inscription: "The First Fowl Fruit From Fisher's Fowl Farms."

Bruce says Ed is still passing out the cigars.

Joe Boyd and Jack Boyd are brothers. Last spring they acquired a 320-acre farm in the Spade community in Mitchell County, and when they did their first thoughts were not of immediate crop production, but of soil improvement. They wanted to first build up the soil.

So they planted some Madrid Clover and some King Ranch Blue-stem, but the weather bird didn't cooperate very well and moisture was short. The clover and the grass failed.

"Suppose we had gotten some rain?" they asked each other. "Could we have kept it?"

The question started them thinking, so they decided that this fall, as soon as there was moisture enough, they would terrace a field of 131 acres. This they have done. There are about eight miles of terraces with two-thirds end closures which they calculate will hold all rains up to three inches.

They have 25 to 30 acres of shallow cropland which they plan to seed to adapted grasses; and they are following a plan of light stocking on 170 acres of native grass which has enabled this year to make some gain this year in spite of the drought.

A neighbor says of these brothers: "They believe in soil conservation. They think and talk soil

Actress Says Sugar Heir Used Slipper

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP)—Former actress Kay Williams has told a jury that her ex-husband, sugar heir Adolph Spreckels II, knocked her unconscious with her own jeweled slipper.

Spreckels, 41, had knocked her down and dragged her by the hair earlier in the fracas, she testified yesterday at Spreckels' trial on a charge of felonious assault.

The blonde, 36-year-old fifth ex-wife of Spreckels said the altercation took place early last Aug. 20, at her former husband's Balboa Island home.

Miss Williams was in a hospital 10 days.

She described how she went to Spreckels' home the evening before their altercation and was asked to stay for dinner. Their two children were awarded to her custody when she won a final divorce decree last July, but were visiting their father Aug. 19, she said.

After the children were put to bed Miss Williams sat down to dinner with other guests. Spreckels walked in and became suddenly abusive, she said.

"He asked me if my mother were rotting in her grave. Then he called me many vile names," Miss Williams testified in a low, husky voice.

A Bible Thought For Today —

"In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God and the Word was God." — Gen. 1:1. The Greeks called Wisdom the Word. God then incarnate Wisdom. Some imagine this world was started by a silly accident, and sustained by perpetual motion. This view is supported by no evidence. It was created by wisdom and sustained by wisdom. It is going somewhere.

Republican Forces Will Proceed With Plans For Primaries In '54

By its action Monday, the state Republican executive committee apparently plans to go ahead with plans for a GOP primary next year. At the same time, the committee decided not to tamper with the state's cross-filing law, leaving the way clear to nominate the same candidates as Democrats if Republicans so choose.

Realizing that the law is quite clear on the primary requirement, Carlos Watson, Brownsville, legal counsel for the GOPs, advised that plans for holding a primary proceed. The committee, realizing that there are some formidable problems involved, because it is likely not nearly all who voted under the Republican column in 1952 will show up in the same place in 1954, has offered financial and technical aid to county organizations. This will be the difference between having a primary and not having it in many places. A number of GOP election judges and clerks, too, may have to serve as a labor of love. An attempt was made during the 53rd Legislature to change the law requiring a primary when a party polls more than 200,000 for governor in the next preceding election. The Legislature, however, balked. There was a sizable block of members who took the position that if the GOP was sincere in efforts to develop a strong two-party system in the state, it should learn to stand on its two legs and slug it out under the same rules as the Democrats, under the same rules as the Democrats, under the same rules as the Democrats. And while this is not popular doctrine among the old liners who have been used to handling the situation by the convention method, a situation which meant domination by those in control, it is nevertheless pretty sound doctrine. A good portion of the new and more vigorous element of the Republican party in Texas is ready to tackle the job.

Persistent Efforts Should Be Made To Catch Poisoners Of Pets

Reports have been received by police in substantial volume for a couple of months now concerning dog poisoners. Apparently, from information furnished by owners, those who are distributing the poisoned bait are resorting to compounds other than strychnine. One party said a chemical analysis showed arsenic.

There are two things especially detestable about poisoning of pets. In the first place, it is a thoroughly cowardly way to be rid of whatever annoyance domesticated animals might produce because it causes inhuman pain and suffering. In our book, the poisoner is just about as low as you can get. Secondly, there is always the risk that babies may innocently get the bait into their mouths. Children of less than mature years are forever getting strange objects in their mouths despite pleadings and the most well-intentioned training you can give.

Catching the poisoner is a most difficult task, we realize. However, it does occur to us that every effort ought to be made to find those responsible. In the case of a number of types of poisons, pharmacies are obliged to obtain the names of purchasers. Checks periodically on that source here and in surrounding cities might not only yield interesting information but also serve as a deterrent to those who would stoop to poisoning.

Relationship Of Picket Lines And Contracts Merits Study

It must be asked whether a labor contract is a contract at all. If a union and an employer come to terms, prepare a contract which represents a meeting of the minds, and that contract provides for a period, say one, two or three years, may that contract be violated because another union establishes a picket line around the premises?

This, it would seem, is a fundamental in labor relations. John L. Lewis, for instance, has always taken the position that the miners will not work unless a contract exists between the United Mine Workers and the employers. Most unions now adopt the same position.

But the unions maintain that a picket line is inviolable. Thus, in an enterprise involving, let us say, 10 unions, if one union strikes and establishes a picket line, the other nine unions refuse to work but without formally calling a strike. If the one union's contract has terminated, but the other nine have contracts still to run, this device may be used by the other nine unions to strike without violating their contracts. They could even say that they want to go to work, that they do not approve of the strike, but that they cannot cross a picket line by the traditions of trade unionism. Thus they actually join the strike.

Of what value then is any contract with any labor union? If a self-imposed picket line can be used as a justification for the violation of a contract, a contract is violable at the moment of signing and therefore is nullified from the moment of signature. The labor contract is then meaningless, useless, and can have no place in collective bargaining.

In the instance of the newspaper strike in New York, a small union of highly paid workers was called out on strike over wage and fringe benefits. The real motive of the strike was an internal struggle for power within the union. No other union went on strike because that would have been a violation of their contracts. Nevertheless, all the workers refused to enter the premises of their employment because they would not cross a picket line. Therefore, all the daily newspapers were closed down ostensibly because the photo-engravers, without whom any newspaper can exist, struck. Thousands were put out of work.

If all the unions agreed in advance upon such a procedure, it could be a conspiracy to violate existing contracts and to damage property. It would be an illegal strike. Such pre-arrangement may or may not be demonstrable; the likelihood is that no one will attempt to get at that fact, because business is chary of additional headaches and public officials escape unpleasant tasks. Actually, under the Taft-Hartley Act, the cooperating unions could be sued for damages, but their defense would undoubtedly be that they never struck at all, but were prohibited from fulfilling their contractual obligations by the picket line.

What makes the picket line sacrosanct? The picket line has been ignored by contending unions on the grounds that the strikers belonged to an outlawed union which included men with criminal records. If a labor union can ignore a picket line for any reason, why should workers honor a picket line which is a violation of their contract?

This escape from responsibility destroys collective bargaining, the object of which is to reach orderly-contractual relationships between employer and employee. Under our system of life, the contract ought to be inviolate during its term, as any contract is.

A contract is a legal instrument expressing the actual or presumed intentions of the parties to it, and applying only to those concerned and not to the public generally. If one party to a contract meets the stipulated terms, the other party to it has neither a legal nor a moral ground for breaking it except in clear instances which might be termed "acts of God," that is, natural disasters, wars, etc. Not even remotely may a picket line be regarded as an "act of God," although it may produce a national disaster. Surely, those who wish to revise the Taft-Hartley law need to revise the relationship of the picket line to the labor contract. If it is lawful to violate a contract because of a picket line, of what avail is a contract?

Some Homes Had Running Water

Ancient Rome, like a modern city, had homes of many sizes. Many families lived in dwellings with only one, two or three rooms. Others had 10-room houses. Still others—the very rich—owned homes with dozens of rooms. Speaking about the home of a wealthy man, a Roman writer said that it contained "four dining-rooms and 20 bedrooms."

A large, or fairly large, Roman home contained a central space known as the "atrium" (pronounced A-tree-um, with accent on the "A," rhyming with "hay," or "All-tree-um"). The atrium was partly, or entirely, open to the sky, and there was a tank in the middle of the floor. The tank had metal or masonry sides, and caught the water which came during rains.

Rome had a public water supply, with water brought in from mountains. Excellent work was done in building aqueducts through pipes and troughs. Inside the city were storage places for the water, and to these places came people with jars or bowls. Sometimes they filled their jars with water which ran out of small pipes, all through the day.

Pipes took water inside the larger homes. The people in such homes had running water in both their kitchen and their bathrooms.

The Romans had beds in their homes, and many of these were supported by legs at the corners. The mattresses were stuffed with wool, feathers or straw. Chairs and tables were employed. Many of these were made of wood, but some were formed of metal or marble. Iron or bronze chairs were likely to have cushions on the seats.

Apartment houses existed in ancient Rome. Some of these had from four to seven stories. During the reign of Augustus, a law was made to limit the height of apartment houses to 70 feet.

Eisenhower Returns To Washington To One Of Most Important Years Of Life

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower returns here, from the Bermuda conference and his talk on the atom at the United Nations in New York today, to prepare for one of the most important years of his life.

His Bermuda meeting with the British and French and his discussion of the atom were parts of the foreign affairs half of his job. He returns here to deal with the other half—domestic problems.

This first year in office for him and his Republicans might be considered a year of grace. It was pretty generally understood the President and his party needed time to get their feet on the ground.

But two years should enable them to show what they can do or intend to do. They meet their first big test of public approval or disapproval in next November's congressional elections.

By that time Eisenhower may have had so much success in foreign affairs that the voters will give the Republicans enthusiastic endorsement, in spite of any lapses in domestic matters. But judging from the stubborn attitude of the Russians, it seems unlikely Eisenhower can pull very many rabbits, if any, out of his foreign hat.

More likely his administration by the end of 1954, midway through his four-year term will have to be judged largely on what the Republicans have done at home or left undone. The two biggest immediate tasks facing Eisenhower when he gets back here will be finishing work on the budget and preparing his State of the Union message, both of which must be presented to Congress in January.

Some of the budget, perhaps most of it, is already completed. But the President and his advisers still must consider the most far-reaching item in it: how much money for national defense? A great many things depend on the size of the total budget, which is the money the administration thinks it should spend in the fiscal year beginning next July 1: taxes, for instance, and whether the Republicans will be able to keep their promise to balance the budget.

It's in the State of the Union message that Eisenhower will ask Congress for help and approval in carrying out the program which, he has said several times, will be the main issue in the 1954 elections. Eisenhower has promised to cut government spending and, to the extent Congress goes along, he may be able to do that.

He has also promised a new farm program next year. And he has talked of wanting social security widened to cover more people.

He has a problem of foreign trade—whether tariffs should stay as they are, go higher, or go lower—which is tied in most delicately with this country's relations with its Allies.

On all those points, except an attempt to cut spending, he may run into some fierce opposition within his own party.

Forceful Personality Handy Thing To Have

NEW YORK (AP)—Would you like to develop a forceful, winning personality?

A lot of people would. But there are some who would be glad to settle for a forceful, losing personality. Win or lose, they would like to have any kind of personality that had some impact.

Count me among them. Some people are born with the power of decision. The rest of us acquire it. We acquire it from others. We are always ready to meet any emergency—if there is someone around to make up our minds what to do.

We are the guys who can't say no. We would rather have our teeth knocked out than return a negative answer. In fact this happened to me several times in grammar school. The class bully would ask me:

"Do you want to fight?"

Well, I would look at his doubled-up fists, and think, "I can't tell this fellow no, no matter what he asks me. On the other hand, if I say yes..."

And while I stood there, trying to make up my mind what to do, bang!—out went another of my front teeth.

Later in life this same inability to say no has got me into trouble with ladies.

"My, did you ever in your life see anybody who looks older than I do today?" a lady asked me just the other day. And she almost bit me when I told her, "oh, sure—several."

That is the trouble with people who have strong winning personalities. Whether you agree or disagree with them, they end up by getting mad at you.

Being afflicted with a weak, losing personality is a terrible handicap in this world, a world in which self-assertion wins respect, whether the cause in which it is put forward is worthy or despicable.

You are the prisoner of people with greater will power because you can't, for some strange reason, offend them. Clothing salesmen, bus drivers, waiters, and doormen are brushed aside by the strong-willed. But they dominate me completely. And how they can tell at a glance that I am like a door with a sign saying "Push" is beyond me.

I have met scoundrels who could go into a store and cash a $100 rubber check with no trouble at all. But if I went into the bank where my wife has traded for years and offered a $1.50 check signed by John D. Rockefeller Jr. himself, the cashier wouldn't cash it until I went home and got proof of my identity.

No Delinquent Children; Rather It's Parents Who're Delinquent

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald.—Editor's Note.

It has always been a contention of mine, based upon observation and experience in both law enforcement and newspaper work, that there is no such thing as a delinquent child, but that there is, very definitely, such a thing as delinquent parents.

I once walked into an Oklahoma courtroom where a father was on trial for failing to send his son to school. The facts were that the boy hadn't been attending school with any regularity. He was a sort of Huckleberry Finn, who couldn't resist the joys of catching catfish and hunting squirrels and trapping for hides.

The father was explaining, "Judge," he said, "I just can't keep that boy in school. I've whipped him for 'not going,' and I've paid him to go. I've even taken him to school but he won't stay. I've begged him, and I've prayed for him, and I've stomped him, and beat him, and I've taken his fish poles and shotgun away from him, and I've promised him a new saddle for Christmas, and I've done everything, Judge. Now I've gone my limit. There's nothing I can do about it. I've tried everything and there's nothing else that I can do. He just won't go to school and I can't make him. Maybe you can do something about him, Judge?"

The judge remained thoughtfully silent for a few seconds and then he spoke. "I know you've tried to get that boy to go to school," he said to the father. "I know you've taken him to school and he wouldn't stay. I know you've whipped him, and bribed him and tried other means to keep him in school, and that after making every possible effort there's nothing else you can do. I realize all that. I sympathize with you."

The judge paused to expiratorate a mouthful of tobacco juice into the cusplod. Then he continued, "I know you have tried everything and that you can't keep that boy in school. But with me it's different. You can't keep the boy in school but there's one thing I can do. I can keep you in jail for six months, and that's precisely what I'm going to do!"

The judge turned to the sheriff. "He's in your custody, Mr. Sheriff," the judge said nodding toward the father. "He's in your custody for six months! It's true he can't keep that boy in school. It's equally true that we can keep him in jail!"

"But, Judge!" protested the father. "But, Judge, if you'll just give me another chance maybe I can keep that boy in school after all. I've been thinking it over. I believe I can keep that boy in school if I just had another chance."

The judge gave that father another chance. I talked to the judge about a year later. The boy's school attendance record had been perfect. He hadn't even taken time off to get the measles or mumps.

There's no such thing as "juvenile delinquency" but there is such a thing as "parental delinquency." And, there's lots of it.

Last week at Richmond, in Fort Bend County, the county judge brought to himself the distinction of being the first in Texas to invoke a new statute, when he sentenced four fathers of "teen-age offenders to six months in jail each, probated on condition "if your boys commit any more thefts, you will serve the six months in jail." This new Texas law holds the parents legally responsible for crimes of minor children. It is the most potent weapon against parental delinquency yet devised.

According to reports from Richmond, these particular boys had been caught numerous times, lectured and released to their parents, and frequent appeals had been made to these four fathers to cooperate with the juvenile court, all without profit to the peace and dignity of the community.

Now these four fathers have a real incentive to cooperate. Of course this new law hasn't been tested out on appeal. It may be that it will be held contrary to a parent's constitutional rights, but it shouldn't be, and if it is then another should be passed authorizing the public whipping post for parents contributing to this so-called juvenile delinquency by failing to perform their duties as parents, neither mothers nor fathers excepted.

In substantially every case where a "teen-ager violates the criminal code of the parent, or parents, is either directly or indirectly, an accomplice, even guiltier than the principal himself. The major cause of children doing wrong can be traced directly to neglect of that child by the parents, to the failure of fathers and mothers to discipline their heirs and to bring them up right."

Anyway, this new Texas law is a forward step in the right direction. Let's hope it sticks, and if it doesn't let's amend the Constitution and make provision for it.

Matter Of Fact — Stewart Alsop

There's Good Life In Thailand If The Reds Can Be Driven Off

LAMPONG, THAILAND — What is news anyway? Is it the great fan's startling statement, or the expert's foreboding analysis, or the truly exceptional phenomenon, or what?

These questions are inspired by a short visit to North Thailand. I came to see Gen. Li Mi's troops in transit from Burma to Formosa. I stayed to marvel at something which strikes me as more important and significant than anything I saw or heard in busy Bangkok. But since this is a doubtful judgment, the reader must make his own choice of the biggest news from the following three short scenes.

Scene one is in Bangkok, in the pseudo-Venetian-Bangkok-baroque palace inhabited by Field Marshal Phibun. In the Japanese years, the Field Marshal was dictator of Thailand. A few years ago, he seized power again in one of the opera bouffon coups d'etat, diversified with light-hearted homicide, which are this country's political speciality. He is now Prime Minister of "democratic" Thailand.

"Indochina" cries the Field Marshal. "Everyone talks about Indochina, but Indochina is not the real problem. China is the problem if the growth of Chinese power continues unchecked for another two years, all will be over in this part of Asia."

Having made this statement, the Field Marshal giggles cheerfully. Without emphasis, without solemnity, he then spells out his thesis.

Of course Thailand's position will be very difficult if Indo-China is lost to the Communists. Perhaps it will be untenable. But the struggle in Indochina is only one of several manifestations of the central fact—the ominous, continuous increase of Chinese Communist armed strength. China desperately needs the wealth of Southeast Asia. The result will therefore be certain—here the Field Marshal giggles again—if Chinese strength is permitted to grow until it cannot be challenged.

For a moment, as he concludes his analysis, the Field Marshal looks unexpectedly somber. The giggle, so suddenly realized, is the expression of an absolute and an amused detachment that permits the taking of rather inhumanly long views.

The second scene is also in Bangkok, in the bleak, humid office of a local political expert, who is learned in the histories of coups d'etat and the curiosities of Siamese government. Someone has pleased him by telling him about Ciro Terranova. The Thai government, he says brightly, "is like your famous Terranova who took five cents on every artichoke coming into New York City, only here it is not just artichokes; it is everything. All the same the country is still rich and fairly contented."

He described the ruling triumvirate—the Field Marshal as official leader, Gen. Surtit at the head of the army and Gen. Phao at the head of the police. General Surtit loves pleasure. General Phao loves power. The police are as numerous and well-armed as the army. If anyone comes out on top it will be General Phao.

"I think perhaps General Phao is turning himself from a Terranova into a patriot," says the expert. "Anyway, if anyone fights for this country, it will probably be Phao. Your excellent Ambassador Donovan is quite right to have made friends with him."

"All the same your people in Washington must be very foolish. Will you fight for Thailand-Poland after letting Indochina-Czechoslovakia go to the Communists? Do you imagine that even a brave leader can hold this country, if the Thais believe the Chinese and the Communist side are stronger than your side? Remember, all Thais are sure they did well by their deal with the Japanese, which is true. They will be wrong, but they will try it again with Communism if the West looks weak."

As for the third scene, it is merely the main street of this little Siamese farmers' market town of Lampong. It is not a very long main street. Five minutes ride in one of the tiny rattler local carriages, drawn by ponies about the size of large dogs; and you are across the river with its bamboo-plumbed banks, and out among the rich, green and golden rice fields with the teak forested mountains blue in the distance. All the same it is a very nice main street despite its shortness.

The news in Lampong is in the shops. Products of every kind—radios, refrigerators, air conditioners, sewing machines, ornate chamber pots, exquisite native textiles and horrible imported ones, watches, flutes and whisky—all these are to be had here. One of the civil air transport pilots who are efficiently carrying out the evacuation of the Li Mi troops actually saw an ancient peasant crane excitedly bargaining, with equivoqual shrill, for an American silk scarf printed with beauty spots of the State of Oklahoma. For this is the other part of the news. The people of the rice fields are the main customers of these shops bulging with goods.

But why is this news? The answer is simple. Such happiness, plenty and peace are the natural birth-right of rich lands of Southeast Asia. But today, peace and plenty and happiness are to be found only here in Thailand. Everywhere else misery, terror and hunger, caused by the ugly pressures of Communist imperialism, have now come to seem the natural order of things.

The Field Marshal is wise. The expert is almost certainly right. Yet I think the real news is that Asian peoples can still have a good life, even under a Terranova government. If only the Communist imperialist drive can be halted and rolled back.

John White Sizing Up Governor's Chair

WICHITA FALLS (U)—John White, 29, state agriculture commissioner, was sizing up the governor's chair hopefully today. In perhaps a test flight of his intentions, White said yesterday Texas needs strong and decisive leadership for next year in the "high levels of state government."

In a speech to the Texas Farmers Union, he did not stick to purely agricultural topics but time and again referred to water, taxation, labor, highways and schools.

He had asserted many persons had asked him to run for governor and that he was giving the subject "serious thought."

"If it (strong and decisive leadership) does not develop," he said in his speech, "then I, myself, pledge my support in bringing the issues out in the open in next summer's primaries—no matter what the sacrifice."

White said he would offer his services "where I believe I can do the most good for all the people of Texas."

The former Wichita County farmboy would become the second person to announce for governor where he to follow through soon with a firm statement. House Speaker Reuben Senterfitt already has said definitely that he is a candidate for governor, although he has stepped questions about his intentions if Gov. Allan Shivers announces for re-election.

Shivers has kept his counsel on his political future, but Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd—once regarded as a top prospect should Shivers decide not to run again—said last week he definitely would not be a gubernatorial candidate. He said he could better fight Communism as attorney general and would run for re-election.

White said rural electrification, farm research and soil conservation were suffering under the Republicans and pointed to what he termed the "debacle of cattle prices."

Former U.S. Agriculture Secretary Charles Brannan and National Farmers Union President James Patton also spoke.

Brannan accused the Republicans of trying to make the public "forget this is a businessman's government decided to the purpose that what is good for General Motors is good for the people."

Patton said farmers had turned out Democratic and Republican administrations before "and if the present Republicans don't do any better than they have done in the first 10 months he (the farmer) will turn them out again."

Idaho Lake 'Serpent' Due To Be Given Name

McCALL, Idaho (U)—After 15 years of nameless—and disputed—existence, Payette Lake's "sea serpent" is going to get a name.

A. Boon McCallum decided it was time the serpent was called something besides "the thing" or "the monster." So he's started a contest in his newspaper, the Payette Lakes Star.

The "serpent" has been reported seen at various times, but no one has ever photographed it and it's never rocked a boat. Estimates of its length vary from 15 to 65 feet, and the skeptics say it's nothing but a big sturgeon.

Scientists Make New Attacks On House Fly

By RENNIE TAYLOR
AP Science Reporter
LOS ANGELES (U)—A new scientific attack on the housefly, aimed to hit him in the intestines, was reported today to the Entomological Society of America.

First steps in the offensive are to find out how the fly converts his food into energy and cell-building material. When the facts about housefly digestion are determined, insect fighters will know more precisely about where and how to do the hitting.

One of the new findings is that houseflies have pepsin in their systems. Pepsin is an enzyme which helps meat-eating animals to digest protein.

Dr. Bernard Greenberg of the University of Kansas reported the pepsin discovery. Up to now it has been taken for granted Dr. Greenberg said, that insects do not have pepsin.

The new finding means that there is less difference between flies and the higher animals than previously realized. It means also that the housefly may be vulnerable to new and different forms of chemical attack.

Another similar finding was reported by Dr. W. Chefurka, of the Canadian government experiment station at London, Ontario. Dr. Chefurka said he had determined the steps by which houseflies break down carbohydrates. This involves a whole series of chemical changes, one or more of which may constitute an invitation for some other scientist to utilize some simple substance as a lethal weapon against the pest. These and related researches have been brought about by the realization that DDT and other new compounds are not going to exterminate the housefly. Flies have become increasingly resistant to these chemicals.

In another report to the society, Dr. George C. Decker of the Illinois Natural History Survey said the battle against insects is far from won.

Despite the new chemicals, Dr. Decker asserted, the total weight of insects produced each year exceeds the weight of all other animal life produced in the same time.

Dr. Decker said insects did more to reduce the yield of corn in central and southern Illinois this year than did drought. The dying of lawns and pastures sometimes has been attributed to drought when the real cause was insect damage, he asserted.

3 Elderly Sisters, Who've Never Been To Town, Due Treat

WHEELING, W. Va. (U)—Three elderly sisters who've never been in a big city will be the toast of the town today.

Wheeling city fathers will give the royal treatment to the Huffman sisters, Lou, 73; Belle, 70; and Vola, 67. They have lived within 25 miles of here all their lives but have never visited a metropolitan area.

After being picked up in a new convertible at the Belmont County, Ohio, home, the sisters will be whisked through a day's activity of getting the keys of the city from Mayor Charles J. Schuck, being interviewed by radio and television, and having lunch with the Rotary Club.

It's Wheeling's way of doing a good turn for the day.

Shepherd King, Nile Charmer Get Divorce

HOUSTON, Tex. (U)—The marriage of Texas playboy-heir Shepherd (Abdullah) King and Egyptian dancing girl Samia Gamal ended yesterday in divorce just like evangelist Billy Graham said it would.

But the ever-happy Kings, who changed his religion to the Moslem faith to marry the voluptuous Nile charmer, still could crow a little. Graham predicted the marriage wouldn't last six months. It endured about two years.

Commons Votes Okay

LONDON (U)—The House of Commons okayed the Conservative government's suspension of British Guiana's constitution by a vote of 304-271 last night. The tally came on an opposition Labor motion to annul the suspension.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS ABOUT PHILGAS TRACTOR FUEL

WHAT IS PHILGAS? Philgas is the Phillips Petroleum Company trademark for its high-quality propane and butane (L.P.-Gas or bottled gas), the same fuel that has become so popular for home heating, cooking and other uses.

WHY ARE SO MANY TRACTOR OWNERS CONVERTING TO PHILGAS? Philgas is a very high octane fuel that delivers smooth power even under heavy loads, and with greatly reduced operating costs. At today's low prices Philgas offers big savings over other types of fuel.

HOW DOES PHILGAS SAVE ON MAINTENANCE? Philgas burns clean. There's less oil contamination and less engine deposits on rings and valves, which means lower engine maintenance costs and long engine life.

HOW IS PHILGAS STORED AND HANDLED? A central tank, refilled occasionally from your Philgas distributor's tank truck, can supply all your needs around the farm. With Philgas you use a closed fuel system which eliminates losses from evaporation, spillage or overfills.

CAN ANY TRACTOR USE PHILGAS? Yes. Your tractor can be converted to Philgas at no great cost. If you plan to buy a new one investigate models factory-made for Philgas. Talk it over with your Philgas distributor.

Men In Service

L.T. STEPHEN BROOKS

First Lt. Stephen L. Brooks, a veteran of 14 years in the Marine Corps, will spend the Christmas holidays with his parents in Big Spring. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Brooks, 302 W. 11th. Lt. Brooks, now stationed at Camp Lejeune, N. C., is to be transferred to Camp Pendleton, Calif., from whence he probably will be sent to the Far East. En route to the new assignment, he will stop in Big Spring about Dec. 20 and remain until Jan. 5.

The Big Spring man joined the U. S. Marine Corps in January, 1940, and has been in the service continuously since that time. He served in the Pacific Theatre during World War II and has had sea duty which included a 31,000-mile tour of the Atlantic and Mediterranean.

Lt. Brooks is a member of the Third Battalion, Sixth Marines, Second Marine Division. Second Lieutenant Jim Bill Little is at home visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Little, while on leave from military service. Little has just completed an officers' training course at Fort Sill, and is now to be assigned to Camp Polk, La. He is in the Field Artillery.

Pvt. Erel H. Matley, whose wife Lillian lives on Star Route 2, Lamesa, recently joined the 25th Infantry Division in Korea. Matley, 105 N. 18th, Lamesa, entered the army in March and completed his basic training at Camp Roberts, Calif. He was a farmer before entering the service.

Both Shoppers, Stores Hurt By New York Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—Pity the poor bargain hunter in New York! She is as frustrated as the merchant with a store full of Christmas goods and no newspapers in which to advertise his lure.

Stores report traffic through their aisles is holding up well despite a newspaper strike choking off advertising.

But bargains are going begging. The shopper doesn't know about them or where to find them. They just traipse around from store to store in hopes of lighting on one with all the delight of a Balboa on his peak atop the Pacific.

The woman who has decided 'I'll have to be another necktie this year for uncle George' will come to the store anyway. But the shopper the merchants count heavily on getting this time of year is the one lured into a particular shop by having read of a bargain. While there she usually does some more shopping in other lines. And there's how Christmas profits are born.

The strike of New York's major newspapers may not affect national retail figures noticeably, but it's causing New York merchants to revise their early fall predictions that this year would be their best Christmas sales season. They're still hoping to break even with last year, which was a record.

But many are saying the final figures may now show a considerable and unanticipated drop—unless an early end to the strike lets them flood the newspapers with ads aimed at the last-minute holiday shopper.

The strike hurts the more because December is the outstanding sales month in most merchants' year. They count on it to make, or break, their year for their profit-wise.

New York merchants also have been hamstrung by most un-Christmas-like weather. The spring type temperatures just make the store Santa's suit look titchy instead of Christmas.

New Electronic Wonders Seen By SOS Pioneer

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—The man who sent the first SOS from an American ship just 50 years ago today isn't looking backward. He's looking ahead to a bright new day when electronics will run your life.

He is Ludwig Arson, a young man of 70 who is fit as a fiddle and tuned to the great things he sees coming to American life soon.

But he concedes: "I don't see why anybody would have wanted to live in any time except these past 50 wonderful years."

Fifty years ago today the American-registered ship Kronland bound from Antwerp to New York with 150 passengers hit a terrible westerly gale off the Irish coast which smashed her rudder. In vain the crew tried to rig a jury rudder in the pounding seas. The Kronland wallowed helplessly. Then the skipper ordered his young wireless operator, Ludwig Arson, to send out the distress signal—known then as a CQD.

The British cruiser Kent picked up Arson's signal 35 miles away and took her under tow and brought her into Cobh. So Arson made America's maritime history. He was a New York youth who'd seen a bulletin board at Columbia University, he made several other voyages before coming ashore. On his way to the office he had worked for the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Co. of America from New York to Alaska.

In 1908 Arson approved the hiring of an office boy at $3 a week. That boy was David Sarnoff, today chairman of the board of the Radio Corp. of America.

In 1922 Arson founded his own electronics manufacturing company on a $2,000 shoestring. Today, as president of Radio Receiver Co., Inc., he has 1,500 employees in his Brooklyn plant and does an 18-million-dollar-a-year business.

"But maybe the next 50 years will be even more interesting than the past 50," says Arson, smiling. Looking into the near future he foresees electronics doing these things:

For wrist watch wearers—perfect time and no more winding. Your watch will be kept wound by signals from a central station to which it will be tuned.

For auto drivers—practically no more accidents. When the sign says 50 miles an hour, you won't be able to go 55. A beam to which your motor is tuned will control it. When the sign says "stop," your car will be automatically slowed until it stops. And there won't be a thing you can do about it.

For secretaries—no more dictation from the boss. He'll be able to talk into a machine which will not even type his immortal words. It'll come out on printed paper. So the boss will have to perfect his English.

For file clerks—no more bulky files. When you want to know something you'll press a button of a memory-device machine and the machine will tell you all about it. For the whole country—no more fire alarm systems. Through a central electronic scope a watcher will be able to see a fire starting anywhere within his range. He'll be able to pinpoint right down to your backyard.

"Yes," says Arson, "it will be a wonderful, exciting world."

Dallas Tax Take Up

The Dallas district collected $98,280 in the 1952 fiscal year and $1,019,271.13 in 1953. The Austin district collected $1,146,073.23 in 1952 and $1,253,486.514 in 1953.

The Big Spring Steers placed four men, Breckenridge five on the Sweetwater Reporter's All District 1-AAA football team, chosen for Roy Scudday and Harry Noble by conference coaches.

Steers honored were J. W. Thompson, tackle; Louis Stipp, tackle; Norman Dudley, center; and Carlisle (Frosty) Robinson, halfback. Breckenridge selections were Roger Hobson, end; Sonny Everett, tackle (three were chosen); Norman Noble, guard; Kenny Ford, quarterback; and Bill Denny, halfback.

Angel Olvera, Sweetwater fullback; Jack Leonard, Sweetwater guard; and Rex Jordan, Plainview end, filled out the team. Leonard was identified as the outstanding lineman, Denny the outstanding back.

Tiny Ellison, Big Spring, was relegated to the second team as was J. C. Armistead. Both boys may not have rated the club but they bid fair to be recognized as all-state by more than a few observers. Armistead couldn't have failed to have impressed the Sweetwater people. He gained 176 yards rushing and scored both Big Spring touchdowns against them last time out.

One good feature of the team is that Stipp and Thompson are coming in for a little recognition. They're two of the most under-rated boys on the club. Both have been outstanding all season.

Brownwood will be fairly well equipped for next year's grid wars but the Lions will probably have to run off a different formation than the Spread, now that Ray Masters will be gone.

A team can use the formation only if it has a boy with such talents as Masters has.

Other Lions who will not be around in 1954 are Halfback Larry Brown, Quarterback Jesse Soliz, Center Bill Harlow (the Lions wilted against Big Spring last Saturday after he was injured and had to leave the game), Guard Marshall Camp, Guard David Perkins, Tackle Terry Lampkin, Tackle Sherwood Harris, and Tackle Gerald Moore.

Harris is the boy who threw that terrific block that sprung Masters free for his second touchdown.

Jack Pardee, the Christoval six-man football product, wound up gaining 325 yards in 76 carries for the Texas A&M Fish last season.

Texas Western is counting heavily on a former HCJC basketball player this cage season.

He is Bobby Maines, a local product, who is teaming with Gene Majors to give the Miners a fine one-two scoring punch.

Oddly enough, the two were rivals in junior college ranks last year. Majors performed for Eastern Oklahoma A&M, which the Jayhawks beat twice, once by score of 67-66 in the Region V finals and the next time in the National JC Meet at Hutchinson, Kansas, 80-78.

Maines is one of four Texans on the 15-man squad. The others are Harlan Canaler of Tulsa, formerly of Amarillo JC; Billy Gregory of Dimmitt; and Elvin McDowell, Hapy.

From the mail-bag: "Just how dumb can some sports writers get? No doubt, you read of (Herb) Owens' "super all-state team" in last Sunday's Fort Worth Star Telegram. That's what I'm referring to now.

"I still note he doesn't seem to know Big Spring is in the state. But he still has our friend Masters of Brownwood on the "super" team as fullback. Pray what did Masters do against Big Spring in either game. He spent the evening in the first game picking himself up—after he was glad to get loose of the ball every time he tried to pass.

"Oh yes, he did make a 68-yard run against Big Spring last Saturday, but so did little Ronnie Wooten, that 125-pound back on the Steers and Ronnie would have gone for a touchdown had not the "long-legged" Masters overtook him. If a "super" fullback has to have long legs, then let's nominate Augustus Mutt on the "super" team.

"Yours for the Steers to go all the way now. RAY (SHORTY) SNYDER"

INDIANA IS RATED TOP CAGE CLUB BY POLLSTERS

By BEN PHLEGAR NEW YORK (AP)—The nation's experts today picked Indiana's Hoosier Hot Shots to repeat their 1952-53 success as the country's No. 1 college basketball team.

In a preseason poll by The Associated Press, 148 sports writers and sportscasters gave Indiana the nod over Kentucky's returning Wildcats, back in action after a year's suspension.

The vote was as close as an overtime game, with the Hoosiers pulling it out, 1,264 points to 1,194. A first-place vote was worth 10 points, second was 9 and on down the line.

The Wildcats had 52 first-place ballots to the Hoosiers' 48, but strong second and third-place support gave Indiana enough points to overcome the lead.

Kentucky is the only complete newcomer to the top 10. The Wildcats were ranked by the NCAA and then barred by the Southeastern Conference for the 1952-53 season because of overemphasis in their basketball program.

The leading teams (first-place votes in parentheses): 1. Indiana (48) 1,264 2. Kentucky (52) 1,194 3. Duquesne (15) 634 4. Oklahoma A & M (8) 650 5. La Salle (3) 525 6. North Carolina State (2) 289 7. Kansas State 254 8. Illinois 238 10. Louisiana State (2) 231

The second 11. Western Kentucky (1) 201 12. Minnesota (4) 192 13. Oregon State (1) 144 15. Dayton (1) 105 16. Santa Clara 100 17. California 86 18. St. Louis 85 19 and 20. Tie between Oklahoma City (3) and Holy Cross 84

Pampa And Berger May Stay In 4A-1 AMARILLO (AP)—Pampa and Berger may not be voted out of District 1 of Class AAAA schoolboy football after all.

The Amarillo News says superintendents of schools at Abilene, Odessa and San Angelo, previously quoted as saying they wouldn't vote for Pampa and Berger to remain in the district because both schools are under the required enrollment, now are taking the stand that if all the other schools want Pampa and Berger to remain they won't vote against them.

KBST Will Air Neches Battle Radio Station KBST Big Spring will carry a play-by-play description of the Edinburg-Port Neches football game in Fort Neches Friday night, as a public service. Broadcast time is 7:15 p.m. The game starts 15 minutes later.

Jerry Doggett will do the play-by-play. The winner of the game meets the survivor of the Big Spring-Gainesville battle in the AAA finals.

Yankee Stadium Not Yet Sold ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Globe-Democrat reports a national Catholic fraternal organization is trying to buy Yankee Stadium in New York for a price "in excess of" 1 1/2 million dollars.

The newspaper's first report that the Knights of Columbus had completed the purchase brought a quick denial from the head of the organization.

This report "is not true," said Luke E. Hart, supreme knight of the Knights of Columbus, from New Haven, Conn.

The newspaper, in a later edition last night, said in a copy-righted story by Sports Editor Robert Burnes, the organization is negotiating to buy the home of baseball's world champion New York Yankees.

Burnes said in his story under the plan the Yankees would take a 75-year lease on the stadium, paying about $125,000 annually in addition to all insurance and maintenance costs.

All Alone But Not Lonely

Ray Masters (44) of Brownwood appears to be all by himself in this picture, taken by The Herald photographer last Saturday, but a bevy of Big Spring tacklers are rushing up to keep him company. They are Roger Brown (80), Louis Stipp (70), Tiny Ellison (73), Don Swinney (41), Jimmy Porter (71) and Buddy Cosby (32). Falling is J. C. Armistead (32). James Ellis (22) is leading the interference for Brownwood. Big Spring won, 54-12, to advance into the state semi-finals in AAA.

Hawks, Cisco Meet Tonight

Howard County Junior College's basketball legions, which now have won three straight games, will try to put number four into the books in an 8 o'clock joust with the Cisco Wranglers here tonight.

The Wranglers, who gave Odessa JC a spirited fight in Odessa last night before losing, could be a large order for the Big Springers.

They have the height to compete with the Hawks, for one thing, and are constantly improving their game under L. L. Lewis.

The score of last night's game in Odessa (Odessa 100 Cisco 78) is deceptive. Cisco led the Odessians for a half but Larry McCulloch's club staged a furious rally to win.

HCJC has had close calls in all three of its games. It got by HSU's Buttons, by only rallying in the final period. Then came that spine-tingling game with Dectaur, which the Hawks won after two overtime periods, 73-72. Last Saturday night, the Hawks had to find their game in the final half to beat the ACC reserves by five points.

Paschall Wickard, who local fans are already cheering for his spirited play, has about recovered from his bruised hand and will see lots of action. It was Wickard, a product of Clovis, N. M., who entered the game in the third period against ACC last weekend and swung the tide against the Wildkittens.

Another Tommy Patterson, of Roswell, N. M., who oddly enough has been favoring a hand injury, has also given the Hawks a shot in the arm in his brief appearances on the court.

Others who will see action for HCJC include Jim Knotts, a fine all-around player, Jerold Parmer, Don Stevens, Arlen White, P. D. Fletcher, Ronald Anderson and others.

Sam Scroggins, Bud Miller, Joe Palmore and Eldon Strothers are the Cisco standouts.

There'll be a B game, starting at 6 p.m.

The Hawks leave Thursday for Victoria, where they will compete in an invitational tournament for junior college teams.

Forsan Stages Football Party

FORSAN (SC) — Action pictures of this year's football thriller between Baylor and Texas, which the Bears won by a score of 21-20, will be shown by Coach Ed Price of the University of Texas following a barbecue for the Forsan High School gridders here this evening.

The banquet, which is to be held at the high school starting at 6 p.m., is being sponsored by the Forsan Service Club.

Tickets for the barbecue priced at $1 each, could still be had today. This will be a sort of father-and-son party and all men are eligible to attend.

Forsan had one of its most successful six-man football seasons in history, copping District Seven title honors without the loss of a game. The Buffs yielded to a great Lohn Team in bi-district competition.

The 1953 Buff team certainly was one of the highest scoring teams in six-man circles, having tallied 445 points in ten games.

Members of the team, along with Coach Frank Honeycutt, will, of course, be honor guests at the banquet.

Price guided the University of Texas footballers to a tie for first place in the Southwest Conference. His Longhorns lost only to Rice Institute and the Owls had to score in the last few seconds of play to turn the tide.

Price is being talked for Football Coach of the Year honors for his feats with the Austin Club.

The winner of the game meets the survivor of the Big Spring-Gainesville battle in the AAA finals.

Like Steers, Gainesville Leans On Running Game

When the Big Spring Steers take the field in Breckenridge Saturday afternoon, they will be lining up against a ball club that not only boasts a record similar to that of the locals but is actually the same type of team.

The Gainesville Leopards, District 3-AAA co-champions, who stormed into the semi-finals of the state AAA race by defeating highly favored Kilgore on penetrations last weekend, have been beaten four times this year (the Steers have lost three games).

The Leopards run off the T but occasionally shift into the spread.

They are primarily a running team, depending very little upon the pass.

They've gained 2,579 yards rushing (against 2,720 for Big Spring) and 537 yards passing (against 513 for the Steers).

Their principal threat is Roddy Osborne, who scored on an 88-yard keep play that set the stage for Gainesville's dramatic win over Kilgore last week, has gained 808 yards carrying the ball. His average gain would amount to 5.6 yards.

Scott Clark, with 634 yards to his credit, and Don Hocker, who has picked up 400 paces, are other leading Gainesville threats.

Clark has lugged the ball only 88 times. His average pickup would be 7.2 yards.

Of the 31 pass completions Gainesville has made, Osborne has thrown all of them. Hocker tried six without a completion. Richard Parten, with 14 completions for 245 yards gain, and Lloyd Nichols, with seven for 128 paces, are Osborne's principal receivers.

Osborne was also the Leopards' leading scorer in regular season play with 66 points. Clark collected 55 and Hocker 24.

Gainesville won't be as big a ball club as Big Spring but the Leopards have some big boys. Osborne himself weighs only 159 pounds but Kenneth Locke, a starting tackle, scales in at 189; Bobby Morgan, a guard, weighs 197; Tommy Winger, a center, tips the Fairbanks at 176; and Clark carries around 183 pounds.

Gainesville's losses were to North Side of Fort Worth, 20-7; Arlington Heights (Fort Worth), 20-19; Cleburne, 27-7; and Sherman, 25-14.

Here are the facts and figures on the Gainesville club for regular season games:

Pioneer To Halt Airline Service To Tucumcari, N. M.

DALLAS — The Civil Aeronautics Board in Washington has authorized Pioneer Air Lines to suspend service to Tucumcari, New Mexico, and present plans are to effect the suspension Dec. 17, Gen. Robert J. Smith, president, has announced.

Pioneer made application for the suspension on Nov. 16 and the Civil Aeronautics Board approved the application on Dec. 4, Gen. Smith said.

Tucumcari, to which service was inaugurated on May 1, 1948, is served on the Pioneer route from Dallas-Fort Worth to Albuquerque via Abilene, Lubbock, Clovis, Tucumcari and Santa Fe. The city is 57 miles northwest of Clovis and 143 miles east of Santa Fe. Pioneer presently provides the city with two flights daily.

The deletion of Tucumcari from the segment Clovis to Santa Fe will result in a savings of from 15 to 18 minutes in flying time between Clovis and Santa Fe.

The application to the Civil Aeronautics Board showed that only 382 passengers had boarded Pioneer planes in Tucumcari in the entire year of 1952. In its application Pioneer also pointed out that a savings of $8,700 annually could be effected by the elimination of service to Tucumcari.

New York Newspaper Strike End Formula To Be Presented Today

NEW YORK (AP)—A federal mediator said today he is presenting to striking photo-engravers and six struck New York City newspaper publishers a formula which he hopes will "settle all problems."

His statement and the calling of a meeting of the strikers for 1 p.m. raised hopes for an early end to the 11 day newspaper tie-up.

Walter A. Maggilo, general counsel of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, indicated the formula will go beyond the photo-engravers wage dispute and cover problems posed by other printing craft unions.

Members of the other unions have declined to cross the photo-engravers' picket lines around the six struck plants.

Unions such as the typographers, stenographers, pressmen, mailers and paper handlers have negotiations pending with the publishers.

Maggilo did not disclose the nature of the formula.

"I am for the first time optimistic," Maggilo said.

Top negotiators for the newspapers and the striking AFL photo-engravers were with Maggilo and posed together for news photographers for the first time since the strike started Nov. 28. It is now in its 11th day.

Details of the formula were not disclosed, but there were indications it hinged on creation of a fact-finding board.

Maggilo's announcement came after hours-long efforts to settle the wage dispute. He and two other U. S. mediators shuffled between various union and management groups yesterday and last night.

Shortly after midnight Denis M. Burke, president of the striking local, and William Mapel, president of the Publishers Assn. of New York City, went into consultation.

The announcement by Maggilo, with Burke and Mapel present, followed.

Burke said that if his union's bargaining committee accepted the mediator's proposal he would attempt to call a union membership meeting for today. If the strikers at this meeting ratified the plan, Burke added, pickets could be called off within an hour.

The picket lines were a major reason for the suspension of publication by the six papers. Only 400 photo-engravers—the men who make the metal plate from which photos and other illustrations are reproduced—struck; and the papers could have published pictureless editions.

However, 20,000 employees belonging to other unions refused to cross the picket lines. Among these were editorial employees belonging to the CIO American Newspaper Guild and shop workers affiliated with unions in the AFL Printing Trades Council.

Neither Burke, Maggilo nor Mapel would comment on the proposed formula.

There was, however, a slip by Burke, who started to say, "If something should be done about fact-finding—" and then broke off.

All parties previously had dodged questions concerning reports that a fact-finding board—instead of arbitration as proposed by the publishers and rejected by the strikers—would be set up to study the wage issue.

The engravers asked a $15 weekly package increase covering wages, hours, holidays and welfare benefits when the strike started and have since cut the demand to $13.75 package. Current base pay now ranges from $130 a week for day work to $131 for night work.

Involved in the strike, are the Times, Daily News, Daily Mirror, Post, Journal-American and World-Telegram and The Sun.

Only the Herald Tribune was not affected among the city's major newspapers, and it suspended publication for five days last week in sympathy with the other newspapers. The Herald Tribune, which resumed publication over the weekend, has its photo-engraving done by an outside commercial firm.

But one official, after reading the statement of a returned Japanese prisoner of World War II that he had seen Americans in a prison near Moscow, put it this way today:

"It is quite possible that some American boys are digging uranium in Siberian mines—if we could only prove it."

This source recalled in an interview that the Russians held and are still holding German and Japanese military prisoners they captured in World War II.

The Defense Department now lists about 7,500 American servicemen as missing in Korea. About most of these men, the Pentagon says frankly that it has no information whatsoever. But the Army has said about 600 were once believed to have been captured.

Everywhere are signs of industry. Workers pedal bicycles in steady streams to and from their jobs, busy shops line the streets, wider bridges are being erected on the famous Autobahn, fine new buildings rising from ruins are slowly erasing the ugly scars of bombings.

But one mark left by war, the refugee situation, will not be so readily erased.

It is a mounting tragedy, called by some the central problem of the Federal Republic, the greatest obstacle to economic recovery.

It started after World War II when German citizens and persons of German ancestry were forcibly expelled from their homes in territories east of the Oder-Neisse and the Sudetenland—Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Yugoslavia, Rumania.

Two and a half million men, women and children died in the brutal exodus. 8.3 million found their way to West Germany.

Then came the refugees from the East Zone of Germany, who for reasons of their own refused to live under Communist rule. Two million, 150 thousand have swarmed across the border, bringing with them no more possessions than those they can carry.

The task of absorbing them has been a crushing one. Today hundreds of thousands of refugees are living in barracks, dismantled factories, former hotels and school rooms, or in shack and cellars, or are billeted in crowded homes.

It has been literally impossible to provide them with adequate housing in an area which lost one sixth of its dwelling units during the war years.

Because of the lack of housing near industrial centers, and because these numbers include many who are old and sick, the refugees have a rate of unemployment proportionately double and sometimes triple that of the home population.

Refugees Represent Big German Problem

By JAN DICKERSON

This is the first of a series of articles by Jan Dickerson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Dickerson. She has been in Europe for the past six months most of the time spent in West Germany in contact with the refugees problem. Miss Dickerson gained her first newspaper experience on the Herald-Ex.

BOON — One of every five persons in West Germany today is a refugee.

Since 1945, more than ten million destitute exiles from Soviet-controlled lands have poured into this small Republic, with its home population of 40 million.

And still they are coming, at an average rate of 3,000 a day in 1953.

West Germany has progressed a long way from the bitter post-war era when people lived from hand to mouth and a carton of cigarettes was worth its weight in gold. There are few luxuries for the average man, but he has food and clothing and is beginning to look with optimism toward the future.

Everywhere are signs of industry. Workers pedal bicycles in steady streams to and from their jobs, busy shops line the streets, wider bridges are being erected on the famous Autobahn, fine new buildings rising from ruins are slowly erasing the ugly scars of bombings.

But one mark left by war, the refugee situation, will not be so readily erased.

It is a mounting tragedy, called by some the central problem of the Federal Republic, the greatest obstacle to economic recovery.

Then came the refugees from the East Zone of Germany, who for reasons of their own refused to live under Communist rule. Two million, 150 thousand have swarmed across the border, bringing with them no more possessions than those they can carry.

The task of absorbing them has been a crushing one. Today hundreds of thousands of refugees are living in barracks, dismantled factories, former hotels and school rooms, or in shack and cellars, or are billeted in crowded homes.

It has been literally impossible to provide them with adequate housing in an area which lost one sixth of its dwelling units during the war years.

Because of the lack of housing near industrial centers, and because these numbers include many who are old and sick, the refugees have a rate of unemployment proportionately double and sometimes triple that of the home population.

All too frequently those who are able to work must take menial jobs which do not utilize their previous education and training. This is especially painful to business and professional persons who formerly were accorded some degree of respect in their communities.

Young refugees pose one of the most urgent problems. Teenagers who cross the border without their families must be taught trades and skills and, above all, need to be guided on the path of good citizenship in spite of the hardships they face.

To some extent, the program for assimilation of refugees includes financial support, economic and social welfare, contact with the churches, medical aid, and vocational training. The government has adopted measures designed to create jobs, facilitate farm settlement, and provide housing.

Long-range plans are under way for resettlement of refugees who in the past have tended to jam areas nearest the Soviet Zonal border, creating intolerable living conditions.

The West Germans do not look to mass emigration as an answer to their problems. They believe it is more productive to spend money on integration of the expellees and refugees than to finance their emigration.

Too, foreign countries usually prefer taking only the young and healthy and more promising persons, the very sort which the Republic needs. Sweden, which has taken a number of tubercular patients, is a notable exception.

So, although relief methods are still haphazard and improvisatory, the West Germans are struggling to meet their problem at home, to conquer the difficulties of physically integrating homeless millions and helping them to adjust mentally and emotionally to a new life.

PORT ISABEL (AP)—A prematurely born whale shark, believed the first of its kind ever caught before hatching, has been brought ashore near here. Still encased in its shell but alive, the tiny fish was netted and hauled aboard a shrimp boat. It weighed 14 ounces and was 13 1/2 inches long. It has been sent to the Texas Game and Fish Commission laboratory in Rockport for study.

Officials Say Commies May Hold GIs Yet

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some Pentagon officials think it is quite possible that some Americans captured in Korea are alive and being forced to work for the Communists behind the Iron Curtain.

Periodically during the Korean War American intelligence agencies heard such reports and made every effort to track them down.

Defense Department officials say they cannot declare flatly that the Chinese and Korean Reds failed to return or account for all Americans they captured, because the Communists never made complete reports on prisoners and refused to permit independent investigations.

But one official, after reading the statement of a returned Japanese prisoner of World War II that he had seen Americans in a prison near Moscow, put it this way today:

Suit Filed To Block Laredo Bond Vote

LAREDO (AP)—Webb County Judge Carlos Palacios says a court suit by eight Laredo men attempting to block a $525,000 road bond issue election will accomplish nothing.

The suit was filed yesterday. Palacios said it cannot be heard until several days after the Dec. 23 election.

The suit, naming Palacios and the commissioners court as defendants, asks district court to cancel the special election, charges the judge and commissioners are not operating the county on a sound, efficient and legal basis, and that funds from previous road bond elections had been transferred to pay part of the general county expense.

Russians Lose Estates In U. S. For Not Paying Taxes

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP)—The Russian government lost title to two estates on Long Island yesterday for failure to pay taxes—but it still has a chance to regain the ownership.

One estate, in Glen Cove, occupied by Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Soviet deputy foreign minister and permanent delegate of the United Nations, was bought by the Russians for $120,000 in 1946.

The other, in Syosset, occupied by various Russian staff members, was bought in 1952 for $80,000.

Joseph Jarris of Baldwin, a real estate dealer, paid a $2,396 tax lien against the Glen Cove estate and a $2,918 tax lien against the Syosset place at a Nassau county tax sale Monday.

The Russians have two years to re-possess the estates upon payment to Harris of the tax delinquency plus penalties and interest.

The Soviets, who have argued that they have diplomatic exemption from payment of the taxes, similarly lost title to the Glen Cove estate to Harris last June but reclaimed it a week later by paying up.

The Russian government recently bought another residence for Vishinsky, a six-story stone house in New York City, costing $1,250,000. He has not yet moved in.

127-Wing Air Force Plans Draw Reaction

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Kilgore (D-W.Va.) today labeled as "a change in front" an announcement by Secretary Wilson that the Defense Department will ask Congress for funds to build toward a 127-wing Air Force by mid-1956.

Wilson's statement that "including naval aviation, we now have the most powerful and effective Air Force in the world" was hailed by Senators Potter (R-Mich.) and Welker (R-Idaho) as an answer to critics of Eisenhower administration cuts in Air Force funds.

"We now have an Air Force with planes in the air instead of on the drafting boards," Potter declared.

Declaring that "we must continue to have air power second to none," Wilson said in an Indianapolis speech last night the Air Force will have 115 wings by next June 30 and can reach an interim goal of 120 wings sooner than expected. A wing ranges in size from 30 long-range bombers to 75 fighters.

Kilgore said the proposed request for funds to build toward 127 wings seemed to him an almost complete about-face. Earlier this year, the administration abandoned at least temporarily the 143-wing goal which had been set under the Truman administration and slashed Air Force fund requests by five billion dollars. Wilson said the Air Force would still have all the money it could spend effectively.

"This is a change in front which I am very glad to see," Kilgore said. "We will see when Wilson and others come before the Senate Appropriations Committee whether this proposed Air Force buildup by Congress in training funds may have depleted manpower reserves to the point where there won't be sufficient pilots and trained crews to take care of an increase in the number of wings."

Young Brunette Breaks Around World Air Mark

CHICAGO (AP)—A young brunette flew into Chicago early today to break by eight hours the record time for rounding the world as a commercial air lines passenger.

"It was the best weekend trip I ever had," said pretty Pamela Martin as she stepped from a United Airlines plane at Chicago's Midway airport. She started her trip there at noon Friday.

She had covered the route in 90 hours and 59 minutes. She had only 10 hours sleep along the way but told waiting newsmen she felt "fresh as a daisy."

The 23-year-old advertising copywriter-artist said she was "too excited to sleep much" and she looks forward to making the trip again—but with this difference: Next time she will take time out "to see those cities."

She kissed the pilot of the UAL DC6 which made up 34 minutes on the final leg of the flight from Denver.

Pamela, met by J. Stuart Rochford, general manager of Rochford Happiness Tours which picked up the $1,700-plus-taxes tab for her trip, whisked Miss Martin to a loop hotel for a welcome breakfast and that long-for shower she has been promising herself since Sunday.

The record Miss Martin broke was something over 99 hours, set by Maj. Horace Boren of Dallas, who works for Braniff airlines.

The plane was 20 minutes late out of Denver, due to a snowstorm but Capt. White said he "revved it up" on the home stretch. He beat the scheduled 7:25 a.m. arrival time by 14 minutes, with the aid of a tailwind.

Pamela had on her nicest smile, a burgundy suit, mink jacket, a tiny-gray-feathered hat, and an orchid when she stepped from the plane.

Her trip began at Midway at 12:12 p.m. last Friday and took her to London, Rome, Cairo,

3 Texas Counties, Hit By Tornadoes, Eligible For Loans

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three Texas counties hit by tornadoes last week have been made eligible for Small Business Administration Disaster Rehabilitation Loans. Similar aid may be accorded two other Texas counties.

Acting SBA administrator Wendell Barnes designated Guadalupe, Lee and Washington counties yesterday as eligible for the loans up to $10,000. They will be served by SBA's regional office at Dallas.

Further study is being given tornado damage in Brazos and Walker counties, said Barnes. "Our present information is that tornado damage in these areas was slight," he said. "If further information discloses that further action is warranted the order may be amended so disaster loans may also be made in these areas."
