

War Boom In Cotton False, Says AAA Man

Tells Group Agriculture Still Must Undergo Transition Hopes of 40 cent cotton as a result of the current European struggle are delusions, E. N. Holmgren, state AAA administrator, told more than 200 representatives from 39 West Texas counties gathered here Thursday for a two day AAA educational parley.

E. N. HOLMGREN

During the afternoon the general assembly dissolved into special group meetings for technical discussions of the 1940 program. Many attending indicated to S. A. Dehnam, Midland county agent, that they would attend a range contouring demonstration Friday. Prewitt said that the two day meeting here likely would end by 10 a. m.

Holmgren quoted from a table to show that the production of cotton, in the U. S. and foreign countries, amounted to 29,900,000 bales in 1910-14, dropped nearly a million and a half bales during the war and declined to 17,300,000 bales in the four years following the war. Today the production figure is at 28,900,000.

As for the U. S. supply and price of cotton, there was a total of 16,000,000 bales.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9 (AP)—War department estimates being studied by President Roosevelt were reported reliably today to call for equipment for an army of a million men.

If Mr. Roosevelt approves, congress may be asked at the January session to appropriate $3,000,000,000 or more for national defense, nearly double the record sum this year for the army and navy.

The army high command wants immediately available, authoritative military quarters heard, an "initial protective force" of 600,000 regular and national guardsmen, full war equipment to expand the force to 730,000 or more in an emergency, and the essential arms for the remainder of the million.

Detailed cost figures are confidential, but it is understood that the proposal contemplates total appropriations for the war department exceeding $1,700,000,000. Some of the expenditures would extend into 1942.

BLAST OCCURS SOON AFTER DER FUEHRER LEFT 'BEER CELLAR'

Seven Of Followers Killed, Many Hurt; Apparent Faulty Timing Of Explosion Plot Saved The Dictator's Life

BERLIN, Nov. 9 (AP)—Adolf Hitler, safe behind the walls of his new chancellery in Berlin, today viewed photographs of the first officially disclosed serious attempt to kill him since he assumed power in 1933.

Meanwhile the reich's tremendous police power combed the nation for perpetrators of last night's explosion in the Munich Buergerbrau cellar which would have buried the fuhrer under nine feet of debris had he not left the "beer hall" putsch anniversary observance earlier than customary.

The blast in the Buergerbrau hall, a shrine of nazidom, came a few minutes after Hitler had left to entrain for Berlin and killed seven of his veteran followers and wounded 63 others, 29 of them seriously.

The British secret service and Jews were openly charged with an attempt on the fuhrer's life, but officials said so far there was no trace of persons directly responsible for what "must have been a long and carefully planned attempt."

The original reward of 500,000 marks ($200,000) for information leading to seizure of the guilty was increased today to 600,000 marks ($240,000) by an anonymous additional offer of 100,000 marks ($40,000).

None of the high Nazi officials who accompanied Hitler to Munich for the annual celebration were reported among the killed or injured.

One Of Fatalities Woman Cashier In Cellar A death list announced by the propaganda ministry disclosed that one of the seven dead was a woman. She was believed to be Frau Maria Henle, cashier of the beer cellar, but was not definitely identified.

Others were Franz Lutz, Wilhelm Kaiser, Franz Weber, Leonhard Reindl, Emil Kasberger and Eugen Schachta.

The dead were said to have been killed instantly.

With the fuhrer were Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels, Deputy Party Leader Rudolf Hees, Labor Leader Konstantin Hierl, Interior Minister Wilhelm Frick, Labor Service Leader Konstantin Hierl, Alfred Rosenberg, head of the Nazi party's foreign political division, Ritter von Epp, Governor of Bavaria; Wilhelm Schaub, Hitler's personal adjutant; and Julius Streicher, governor of Franconia.

Hitler himself was safe aboard a special armored train at the time, heading toward Berlin after an address which was regarded generally as preparation for his people to face a prolonged conflict.

Witnesses of the explosion said it was so violent that a hand grenade or amateurish infernal machine could not have caused it.

The beer hall had been one of the most strictly watched spots in Munich for days and no explanation was offered how a foreigner or conspirator could have entered.

Clues 'Indicate Plot Originated Abroad' The train that brought the fuhrer here after the impromptu annual address in which he warned that Germany would "speak the language which England understands," was said to be one of the safest trains ever built.

Technical experts said its padded coaches and steel-shuttered windows could withstand the force of a mine exploded on the tracks.

"We thank providence for sparing the fuhrer," an early morning radio commentator broadcast.

"But he is moved by fanatic hate for the preparators of this outrage. Enemies will learn what it means to lay hands on Adolf Hitler."

A semi-official statement said "clues indicate the plot originated abroad" and it was expected Germany's borders would be watched for evidence of intrigue.

It's The Time Of Year To "Talk Turkey"

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE
AP Feature Service Writer

If you are thinking about Thanksgiving, you are, naturally, thinking about turkeys.

The size of the bird will depend upon the number to be served, whether seconds are in order and how the family reacts to leftovers.

A pound per person is a generous serving. This year, probably, one can afford to be generous for turkeys are comparatively moderate-priced.

In proportion to its size the hen turkey has more meat and less bone than the tom turkey. The 10 pound turkey is about the average buy. When preparing for a large crowd some cooks prefer two 10-pounders to one very large turkey. Of course this is determined by the cooking facilities.

Classic Thanksgiving Meal—Turkey and cranberry sauce.

Here are the four stages through which a turkey passes:

1. THE CHOICE: Select a turkey that is plump, has the fat evenly distributed under clear, firm, yellow skin, has few blemishes or pin feathers. The breast bone should be straight and pliable at the end. Most turkeys are sold by dressed weight, picked but not drawn and with the feet and head on. The neck and head are clean the fowl. The giblets are placed inside the cavity. Drawn weight is about one-fifth less than dressed weight.
2. THE PREPARATION: Remove all pinfeathers and singe off any hairs by holding the fowl over a low flame. Make sure that all the entrails have been removed. Thoroughly scrub both the inside and outside of the turkey. Rinse by letting cold water run through. Wipe very dry both inside and out. Sprinkle inside with salt, then stuff. Wash the giblets and see that there are no green spots on the liver as they would give a very bitter taste to the gravy. Simmer the giblets in salted water until tender, probably 1-2 hours. The hopped giblets and the giblet stock is ready for the gravy. Remove the giblets from the stock and place in a casserole. There always is a call for "more stuffing!" Lightly fill the cavities with the

TEN-MINUTE CRANBERRY SAUCE

1 1/2 cups granulated sugar
2 cups water
1 pound (4 cups) cranberries
Boil sugar and water together for five minutes. Add cranberries and boil without stirring until all the skins pop open. (Five minutes is usually sufficient.) Remove from fire and allow the sauce to remain in the vessel until cool. One pound of cranberries makes two and a half pounds of sauce.

For A Thinner Sauce
Just bring sugar and water to a boil, then add cranberries and cook until they stop popping.

Put up Ten-Minute Cranberry Sauce in sterilized jars. Simply pour the sauce hot into the jars and seal tightly. Keep in a dark, cool place for future use.

Remove all cords when the fowl is served.

4. THE COOKING: Rub the outside of the bird with salt mixed with butter. Place the turkey breast side down, on a rack in a large open roasting pan. An old turkey will need a cover so that the steam will help make it tender. Roast in a moderate or moderately slow oven, about 300 degrees. This even, slow cooking keeps in the full flavor and juices and gives a delicious crusty (not hard) skin. Baste every 15 minutes with 1-2 cup butter mixed with 1-2 cups hot water. When this is used up, baste with the drippings in the roasting pan. Carefully turn the bird on its back during the last hour of roasting. A 6-to-8-pound bird requires about 3 hours to cook, 9-to-14 about 4 hours and a larger one from 5 to 7 hours.

If the fowl gets a little brown before it is done, cover with a cloth rinsed out of hot water. Baste right through the cloth. To test whether the turkey is done stick a skewer between the leg and the breast and also in the thickest part of the breast. If the juice comes out clear and not red, the turkey is done.

Turfman Slain In Chicago

CHICAGO, Nov. 9 (AP)—An anonymous threat to bomb the home of Edward J. O'Hare added a new element of mystery today to the slaying of the nationally known turfman.

The threat to "blow up" the suburban Glenview residence of the wealthy horse and dog track operator was telephoned to a negro maid whom the caller advised to leave immediately.

O'Hare, 45, and president of Sportsman's park race track, was slain in gangster fashion late yesterday afternoon after a wild automobile chase along Ogden avenue.

The victim raced his expensive automobile northward toward the Loop apparently knowing he was marked for death. His car smashed into a pole when he turned into a side street. The assassins then allowed almost to a stop and fired two shotgun charges.

An unfired .32 calibre pistol lay on the seat of O'Hare's car. A crucifix, a rosary and a religious medallion in a box marked "happy birthday" were among the effects found in his pockets.

Investigators reported they also found a memorandum which indicated O'Hare recently had been in touch with the Federal Bureau of Investigation. This led to a theory that the underworld may have suspected him of having given information to the FBI. The FBI refused to comment.

Investigators also considered the possibility of a quarrel arising from horse racing activities. The police said O'Hare had voiced a desire to quit the racing business because of the "heat."

CITIES REDUCTION IN TRAFFIC FATALITIES

AUSTIN, Nov. 9 (AP)—Safety features built into highways and utilized by drivers are reducing traffic fatalities in the opinion of Julian Montgomery, state highway engineer.

He cited 1,998 fatalities for the first nine months of the year compared to 1,148 for the same period last year, a reduction of 4.4 per cent.

Montgomery attributed the reduction to "fine cooperation" by automobile operators in observing traffic control regulations, including center and restricting stripes, signs and signals.

The Differential Again

West Texas, freight-differential conscious these days, is not going to be pleased with Tuesday's news from Washington that reported a location differential attached to the new cotton loan program.

There is no general opposition, as far as we know, to the loan itself. It follows, in the main, last year's program, in that a base of 8.30 cents is established on middling, seven-eighths cotton; further, it goes to cooperating farmers who followed the allotment program, and provides for banks and other lending agencies to make loans to producers on cotton stored in approved warehouses and to sell their notes to the Commodity Credit Corporation from time to time.

The location differential, however, works a hardship on West Texas. Cotton stored near principal markets will be eligible for a higher rate than that stored under the loan at "remote" points, which means West Texas.

This net reduction to the West Texas grower is another example of what rate differentials are costing the area, and should mean a spur to further efforts to remove discriminatory schedules.

Some interests foresaw the location differential, the West Texas chamber of commerce last month taking steps in an effort to head it off. It is the same organization which has been a leader in the campaign for a general readjustment of freight rate differentials, and which has full information and data to substantiate its argument that business and agricultural interests in this section are being penalized.

In the new loan schedule, the penalty hits direct at the cotton grower, and he can readily see where some remedies are in order.

The WTCC protest against the location differential evidently was unavailing, and it probably is too late to do anything further about it as far as this year's crop is concerned. But West Texas is taking a penalty it shouldn't have to take; and this section must keep fighting to get an equitable rate position with all other sections.

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK—These little girls married well. They were Ann and Jane and Jackie and Emily and then Ann again. They also danced well. They were so good at it that they earned their livelihood as dancing instructors.

For Emily, romance came like this. Her name was Burrow. She was one of Arthur Murray's dancing teachers. To those halls of terpsichorean instruction in the lower Forties one day came Dr. Hans Syz, the noted Swis surgeon.

Then there was Ann—Ann Dawson. You could say ditto to the first story and have all the details correct, except as to names. In this case romance was John Greer, a Detroit financier, who visited Manhattan once each year, and who always dropped around for a lesson or two. He liked dancing. It gave him relaxation. And Ann liked to teach dancing.

And now another financier approaches the altar—Mr. W. W. Founce, of Philadelphia. When he confessed to Mr. Murray that he desired dancing instruction, Mr. Murray nodded understandingly and pressed a small button. Presently a demure miss came out.

You could go on like this a long, long time. It must be something in the air, or the drinking water. ...Murray finds himself a new dancing teacher, and then it happens—Boy meets Murray—Murray presses button—Out comes girl—Boy meets Girl—Boy and Girl say, "Goodbye, Mr. Murray," and there stands Arthur, wondering where he can find another girl.

That's the way romance blossoms every day in Manhattan. For bachelors who are interested, the number is Murray Hill 2-4647.

Bob Crosby believes the reason there aren't more girl orchestra leaders than there are is because women haven't the stamina to lead, or play in, a swing band. After you play a wind instrument for a certain length of time, it changes your features. Your face is actually getting plastic, and the features shape themselves accordingly.

But one of the newspapers has a scheme that is interesting to behold. Every day it prints gaily proofs of the "Daily Variety" column in its ads on shiny, white paper, and passes them out to white-collar seekers-after-employment. You'll find this at the paper's circulation station, on Broadway.

Chapter 37 DOG BURIAL

As Michael put the car into the garage at the side of the house he heard the sound of hammering coming from the Deanes.

"It'll be out for a while, honey. Over with Gordon," and went down the path and around to the other house. There, as he expected, he found Gordon out in the yard, finishing the lid on the box that was to serve as Fred's coffin.

"Good job there," he muttered. "Taken manual training lessons?" "Yes," said Gordon. He got up and carried the box to the gate, then lifted the dog's body, lying there beside the hedge wrapped in a torn blanket, and laid it gently in the coffin.

"Give me one end," Michael said briefly, and picked it up. Gordon led off into the woods, toward the river bank, and Michael followed. The box was very light. Fred had been only a small dog. The world, Michael reflected, was full of small dogs; but, in Gordon's eyes, there would never be another one exactly like Freddie.

The grave was already dug, lying open underneath a great pine tree almost on the edge of the river. They put the box down, and Gordon lifted it to set it softly in the hole. He turned away for a minute before they started heaping dirt upon it.

"Have a cigarette," he said, as man to man. Gordon shook his head. "Don't smoke," he said gruffly, and straightened his shoulders.

"My own way, Bunny?" "Yes. Feeling about half what you think. Keeping the most important things to yourself. Getting a grip on the whole thing and saying very little about it. But I want to know something. Will you tell me?"

"Michael considered. 'Glad to tell you the answer.' 'Thank you. Now—is that letter from Chicago a fake or is it not?' 'I don't know. The Commissioner is tracing it. He's written a letter to Police Headquarters there. We ought to know in a few days.' 'Yes. I thought so. And the logical next question is—why do you think it's a fake? Because of all this suspicious around, or have you any proof that...Dr. Murchison...might have been murdered? Real proof?'"

Michael thought that over carefully. He decided. He told them about Higgins, the rockeries, the watch. "It is Edgar Murchison's watch," he said. "There isn't the slightest doubt. It was Edgar Murchison's hat that someone left at McBain's the night he disappeared. Who? Why, I don't know. But taken all together, I doubt if a man would go off and leave his hat, his watch, and fifty thousand dollars worth of diamonds, to say nothing of his wife—voluntarily."

"Charming fellow?" "I see," Bunny put the tips of her long graceful fingers together and contemplated them carefully. Tuck got up from her chair, went over to Michael's, sat on his knee, pulled her feet up off the dark floor and put both hands under the edge of his coat. She put her head on his shoulder. She was safe.

Washington Daybook

WASHINGTON—The radio industry is confronted with a tough public relations problem since it adopted the code under which it refuses to sell time for the broadcasting of controversial speeches.

John L. Lewis and his Congress of Industrial Organizations and the group interested in Father Coughlin's broadcasts are piling up complaints. Particularly has the CIO charged the National Association of Broadcasters, sponsor of the new code, with an attempt to destroy freedom of speech.

For the broadcasters, it is a thorny case. They announced that their purpose was to protect freedom of speech, not to destroy it. They proposed in their code, effective October 1, to do two things:

- 1. Sell no more time for discussion of controversial issues (except to politicians in political campaigns).
- 2. Organize "forums" where time would be given free to all sides to argue questions of public interest.

The station owners reserved to themselves the right to determine what are "questions of public interest." Their position is that if they sell radio time for controversial discussions, the people with money will hog the time, to the disadvantage of people with a good case but no money.

CIO BROADCASTS ENDED

Here is a typical reaction. Station WJW of Akron, operated by Miss Edythe Fern Melrose, has been selling time regularly for CIO broadcasts. Under terms of the code, she has told CIO that she won't any more.

"Tain't fair," says CIO, and announces plans to take the case to the federal communications commission. The protest of the labor group is that air time is sold to Akron's tire manufacturers and other industrialists over the country to build up public good will for their products and for industry. The labor group, however, must wait until radio awards it some free time on a "forum" where the industrialists share alike the right to hit back.

Miss Melrose of Akron's WJW says she is already giving away 10 free periods of 15 minutes each daily to such organizations as the American Legion, community chest, ministerial association, WPA and Federal Housing, and naturally won't have an unlimited amount of time to give away to "forums" on CIO issues.

CASE OF FATHER COUGHLIN

The case of Father Coughlin has not become nearly so heated out in the open but is seething underneath. Time on the air of more than 40 stations is bought for Father Coughlin's weekly speeches. Aircasters, Inc., handles the business. The National Association of Broadcasters find Coughlin is exactly a case in point. No one would deny he talks on controversial issues.

Nor is the argument all on one side. The Coughlin broadcast is a plump piece of business for stations sharing it. For instance, the 17 stations on the Colonial Network in New England get a sum estimated as high as $50,000 a year. Yet the network stations are members of the National Association whose code says "no."

On the other hand, the broadcasters recognize Father Coughlin as a subject of "public interest" and so entitled to free time on the air. How much? The board of directors of the association is discussing that now, along with other questions raised by Father Coughlin's agents.

Just to help tangle up the case the American Federation of Labor, in contrast to CIO, thinks the new radio code is excellent.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

HOLLYWOOD—She's almost 17...and she's been kissed. On the other hand, the broadcasters recognize Father Coughlin as a subject of "public interest" and so entitled to free time on the air.

Almost 17, the little girl who led Universal out of the wilderness of debt and confusion, just by singing and being herself. The kiss is accomplished. While it is safe to assume the stars rocked in their courses and the world shook quietly, a young actor named Bob Stack placed his lips in approved juxtaposition to the lips of Deanna Durbin and a big moment in "First Love"—and in Deanna's career—slipped into history.

"Any other way," says Deanna gravely, "it would have been terrible, but it was handled so nicely. We just kept talking—about Diesel engines—and then the kiss—and we keep on talking—about Diesel engines. It makes a nice scene, I think."

Because time will march, it seems superfluous to report that Deanna isn't the little girl she used to be. If she ever had an "awkward age," she's safely through it, and the growing-up Durbin is an attractive young woman. Arrived, in fact, at the engagement-denying stage.

The boy is Vaughn Paul, assistant director and son of a studio executive. Although the 17-year-old girl next door to you probably goes out with boys occasionally, you haven't heard a commotion about it around your neighborhood. With Deanna now, it's different. Deanna's having a date unchaperoned was a cataclysmic event in the local whirl. It got written about, which is nice for Deanna's picture but puts Deanna on a little spot.

"Some people," says Deanna, "seemed to think it was wrong. Why? Vaughn and I aren't engaged, but we enjoy being with each other—so we have dinner together sometimes, and dance sometimes. There's nothing wrong in that, is there?"

The fans don't think so, contributes Deanna's mother. Fans who didn't want Deanna kissed in her last picture, who objected to the original plan to costar Charles Boyer in "First Love" (on the grounds that Boyer is too old) have come out flatly in favor of a let-the-kids-alone policy as respects Deanna and Vaughn.

For all her new maturity, I caught Deanna red-handed on her old vice: fingernail biting. Her right index's nail was a stub.

She referred to her agreement with her director, binding him to forswear cigarettes if she gave up nail-chewing. Deanna doesn't bowl herself, but she sponsors a team.

Somehow Deanna's bicycle, on which she used to ride around the lot, came up for discussion. Deanna wanted to give it away, probably as being too childish a vehicle for her advanced years, but Mrs. Durbin thought she ought to keep it against the day bike-riding became the thing to do again.

I cite it because Deanna's reply proves that adolescents, in pictures or out, are still capable of firmness with their mothers.

"But mother," said Deanna a little severely, "if I have time for anything like that, I won't spend it bicycle-riding. I'll want to do the thing I want to do."

Tourists and botanists who today climb the slopes of Mount Pilatus in Switzerland have long forgotten that it was not till the 16th century that anyone approached it. Pilate's ghost was supposed to hover there.

Border Getting Sissy? Hombres Are Told To Leave Their Guns At Home

By OLEN W. CLEMENTS MATAMOROS, Mex., Nov. 9 (AP) Hombres south of the Rio Grande have quit wearing six-shooters.

Gen. Baltazar C. Chapa Ayala, comandante and practically the law in this corner of Mexico, ordered them to put up their guns.

So passed another custom. Life had been cheap and rollicking. Men lived the hard way.

Charros, vaqueros and business men acclaimed it as a step toward unstarred skies.

But there are good and bad hombres, down near the end of the famed nickel plated road to hell, who feel like sissies now that they are stripped of their guns.

Pistol totin' along the border was necessary. Gradually, as the gun-fighters eliminated each other, it became a custom—just like wearing a big sombrero.

Gun butt notches and hands that were quick "on the draw" were better than money in the bank or cattle out west.

Occasionally, even now, gun slingers meet in the border saloons. Usually one walks out.

Pulque, mescal and tequila, those blistering cactus juices, make bold, bad men out of timid souls. So do the flashing eyes and smiles of the señoritas.

There is an axiom along the border that "guns, whisky and women don't mix."

800,000 bales at 11.9 cents per pound at the beginning of war in 1914. The supply rose to more than 17 million bales and the price dropped to 7.4 cents in 1915. By 1917 the supply had dropped to 14,000,000 bales but the price had jumped only to 17.3. The first year the U. S. was in the war saw a short decline in supply and a 10-cent jump in price. Ultimately it went as high as 42 cents.

loved. "Never again will we be a nation that will supply 66 per cent of the world consumption."

This, he said, meant a change in agriculture. Hence the "AAA is to soften the shock pending readjustment in recognition of the changing agricultural situation."

Any move for a "sounder, stable, self-sufficient agriculture" is wrapped up the AAA, asserted Holmgreen. "It is not a year to year program, but one over a period of years."

To convince merchants and bankers as well as farmers on the "principle instead of just on the subsidy check," he suggested less defensive and more offensive education.

He enumerated several ways to carry on such educational programs. Cliff Day, formerly of Plainville, and more recently head of the Texas Agricultural association, spoke briefly offering his services as a member of the AAA state staff to interest business in the problems of the farmer and rancher.

Watson, speaking in reference to the December 9 cotton referendum, said that the government had appropriated $725,000,000 "to protect farmers and ranchers" and that the referendum was a test of whether agriculture would signify appreciation of the protection.

In every instance, he said, the refusal to accept marketing quotas and plant without restriction had resulted in market collapse. He cited 1938 in tobacco and 1937 in cotton as examples. The danger in the referendum was not the outcome of the vote, he said, but of failing to get those eligible to cast ballots out to vote.

Doak spoke briefly, announcing that applications for range payments might be expected "almost any day now."

Attending the meeting were county agents, home demonstration agents, county ACA committeemen, adjustment assistants and clerks. The sessions were held in the Settles ballroom.

Munich In Turmoil, Communications Cut Off

The proprietor said: There were screams. The air was filled with dust and an acrid smell. Bodies lay under the debris and there was a great struggle as the injured tried to get away and the uninjured tried to find a way out.

Munich was thrown into turmoil and cut off from telephone communication with the rest of the country for several hours, until the situation was fairly well in hand.

Police swiftly blocked off the area surrounding the hall, and the city, which has been blacked out each night since the war, suddenly was bright again as street lights were turned on to aid the police and guide ambulances.

Most of the inhabitants were puzzled by the illumination and some began a short-lived celebration in the belief a peace effort had begun.

But Hitler had declared that Britain wanted no peace and that Germany was "prepared never to capitulate."

The Berlin press reflected his determination. "Through battle to victory," said the Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung.

"War appeal to entire nation," was the Lokal Anzeiger's headline.

members of congress have argued that the transfer would be against the spirit of the neutrality law.

In the meantime, it became known that the maritime commission had approved since Sept. 1 the transfer to the Panama flag of 15 Standard Oil tankers.

A commission spokesman said the Standard Oil ships were old ones which were being replaced with American tonnage, and added that there was nothing unusual in the transfer, inasmuch as all tanker companies have large foreign flag fleets.

Officials of the Standard Oil company said the transferred tankers would be operated by the Panama Transport company, a Standard Oil subsidiary and that officers and crews were being replaced by non-Americans.

Open Bids Today On House At Lake

Bids were to be opened by the city commission at 5 p. m. Thursday, for construction of a caretaker's residence and concession house at the Moss Springs lake—last of the units in the city's waterworks expansion project.

No bids had been received at the city secretary's office during the morning, and it was believed local contractors would be the chief competitors. About $4,500 is involved in the WPA-aid project.

The structure, to be built just north of the Moss Springs dam, provides for an apartment, and for concession space and rest rooms.

The painting was done by Velma Neff, 16-year-old girl who resides on a farm 16 miles northwest of here and who developed her talent without lessons.

the construction and operation of a beacon at the point.

The doctor's most thrilling experience in the Arctic region came six years ago when an epidemic seized Point-Barrow. Dr. La Plant volunteered to push through a raging blizzard to Nome for serum. Instead, he became lost and for six days he wandered on the treacherous surface of a glacier.

When searching planes found him, he was down almost out of rations and 400 miles off his course. "Of course, they couldn't land," he said, "but they dropped supplies to me. Had I known that I was on a line for Fairbanks instead of Nome, I might have made it. I was down to the point that I had only a fish each day for my dogs, and it would have been only a question of time until I would have become food for them—hunger makes wolves out of them."

Dr. La Plant said he hoped to get a boat at New York over Hudson Bay where his son and daughter would meet him to carry him back by sled. In all the trip may require about two months, he said. He claimed to be a native Lapplander, having five small dots, centered with a tiny cross, on his forehead. The marks are a tribal custom, he said.

Will Not Ask Change In U.S. Debt Limit

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9 (AP)—Secretary Morgenthau said today that neither President Roosevelt nor he would ask congress to lift the federal debt limit.

The chief executive and treasury head had been expected to recommend raising the debt ceiling from $48,000,000,000 to probably $50,000,000,000 in order to clear the way for continued federal deficit spending.

"Congress makes the appropriations," Morgenthau said. "I am just the paymaster. If we get up to the debt limit, I won't draw checks for a penny more."

He declined to estimate when the debt, now $41,168,960,554, would reach the limit, but said he would not be worried about it for at least a few months—until congress meets again and has a chance to do something about the situation.

DIES IN N. ORLEANS FOR MARITIME PROBE

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 9 (AP)—Representative Martin Dies (D-Tex.), chairman of the house committee investigating un-American activities, said today he came here to "get at the truth" of charges that 85 per cent of the officers of the National Maritime Union were "communist or communist-controlled."

Dies said the charges were made before the committee in Washington more than a year ago and that "if these charges are true, this is a very grave menace to the safety of the United States at this particular time because, of course, we know the communist party is controlled by Stalin in Moscow."

company conspired with its employees and other individuals in an effort to defeat a municipal bond election for the Yorktown power plant with the intent of restraining free competition.

The Yorktown election occurred April 3, 1938, and resulted in a vote of 204 to 171 to issue bonds to set up the power plant, the petition said.

On or about Oct. 18, 1937, the petition added, the company proposed to Yorktown city council members that they forego building of the plant and in return the company would pay the city $10,000 and other valuable concessions.

On Dec. 29, 1937, the cash consideration was released to the city after it had withdrawn its application for a federal emergency administration grant and repealed certain resolutions in connection with the proposed plant.

Since Oct. 18, 1937, the petition declared, the contract, under which the utility company obtained the repeal of the resolution in connection with erection of the plant, has been in existence between the company and the city.

In addition, the state sought a lien upon the property of the power company to secure the payment of penalties and asked the defendant be enjoined and restrained from carrying out agreements, conspiracies, trusts and combinations with the state.

The average price of autos in 1937 was $2,131.

More Ideas For Program Received By Local C-C

More ideas came in and more doughnuts and coffee disappeared Thursday as the chamber of commerce "Decision Week" moved into its next to last day.

All through Friday "sinkers and jacks" will be served to those who will call at the chamber office and write down their ideas for a 1940 program for the chamber of commerce.

It was estimated Thursday noon that in the day and a half that the special event had been going on, more than 150 members of the organization had called. More than 150 suggestions had been left or mailed back.

J. H. Greene, manager, estimated that nearly half of the membership had been in the office by Thursday afternoon.

New suggestions, in addition to those received Wednesday, included:

a quick freezing plant, a junior college, cotton and wool mills, feed mixing plant, signs about the town, a boys and girls club building, and a program of "boosting and not knocking."

Many people have an instinctive dislike for bats. Yet these little mammals are useful to man, for they feed almost entirely on insects.

An Electric RECORD PLAYER Part of this Offer

For readers who have no recording instrument we have included in this music appreciation offer a handsome electric Record Player that plays records of all sizes right through your radio loudspeaker.

RULES and CONDITIONS

To obtain the 10 symphonies and symphonic masterpieces and the electric Record Player to be distributed in accordance with our Music Appreciation Plan proceed as follows:

First, fill in and mail the Reservation Form printed in the lower right corner of this page. The purpose of this form is not to obligate you in any way, but to enable us to estimate the quantity of records and Record Players to have on hand to meet the demand.

Each day during this music appreciation offer we will publish a reminder coupon setting forth the date on which each symphony will be ready. You can get your first symphony (Franz Schubert's No. 8 in B Minor) on or after November 4th. Subsequent symphonies will be released every two weeks thereafter. Watch the reminder coupon which will be published daily. It is not necessary for you to clip the coupons in order to get your records or Record Player.

You obtain each symphony, which consists of three or four double-faced 12-inch records, for a payment of $1.00. This payment is not for each record but for all THREE or FOUR records. Symphonies which consist of FIVE double-faced 12-inch records require a payment of $1.00 for the entire symphony of all FIVE records. The Cesar Franck Symphony in D Minor, on account of its great length, is divided into two units, each unit consisting of three double-faced 12-inch records, and the cost of each unit is $1.00, the same as for any other three-record group.

A quantity of de luxe records, known as Philharmonic Transcriptions, enclosed in beautiful record albums which have been designed individually for each particular symphony, are available at a slightly higher price.

After you have obtained all ten of the symphonies, you can secure the electric Record Player for a payment of only $2.00. If you want to get your Record Player earlier, you can do so—you can get it with your first group of records, your second, third, or any other group, merely by making a payment of $1.00. After you have obtained all of the 10 symphonies, $2.00 will be returned to you. Thus, whether you get your Record Player before or after you have obtained all of the symphonies, the cost to you is only $2.00.

For those who want a more elaborate Record Player, a double-faced 12-inch record, enclosed in a velvet case, is available at a higher price.

Fill in the Reservation Form to assist us in our distribution program. Please check whether or not you wish to receive the Record Player. We will acknowledge your reservation by mail. Filling in and mailing this reservation form is not an obligation whatever on your part.

Sulphur Springs, Waco And Lufkin In Title Grid Tests

THE SPORTS PARADE

BY HANK HART

Midland grid fans might well make the most of their high school football team this fall, according to stories originating in Midland, Coach Bud Taylor will have to get along without 17 players of this year's squad in 1940 and that number includes every regular player on the squad, some valuable reserves as well.

Jess Rodgers, Midland scribe, suggested recently that Taylor go ahead and start planning for 1941 instead of next season.

Coach Taylor must get along without his entire secondary—Jay Francis, District 3-AA's leading scorer, Temple Harris, Dell Truelove and J. M. Harris—along with his star guards, Bob Eidson and Paul Klatt, three year lettermen, both, and the other first string men, J. E. Wallace, Leland Foster, Windell Williams, Fred Coker and Preacher Roberts.

Others who depart along with the regulars are James Johnson, Coleman Collins, Odie Kelly, Carl Ward, Cletus Hines and David Bizzell.

The Bulldogs may steal a page from history and slip back into Class A ball as did the 1933 eleven. The school, for two years previously had competed with the larger schools. The Midland school, at the last student body estimate, was in reality eligible for Class A ball, came into A-A circles only by unanimous vote of the district officials.

What's there to this rumor that Dewey Mayhew, the Abilene mentor, approached the idea of cancelling the remainder of the district games for his pathetic Eagles?

The current edition of the Eagles are paying for Dewey's ruthlessness in dealing with teams in other years when he was equipped with his powerhouse elevens. Most of the Ward Birds' foes this year have pointed toward the Abilene game with the resolution in mind to crush the Eagles only as they had been crushed by the Abileneans in years past.

The Southern Methodist Mustangs, who meet Texas A. and M. in a feature Southwest conference grid clash this weekend at College Station, have exhibited a more potent ground attack than the Aggies, all reports to the contrary.

The Ponies, in five games have gained 841 yards through enemy lines, or an average of 168 per game. The Cadets have picked up 1,022 yards in seven games or an average of 146 per game.

The Farmers have been more successful in their aerial game, however, having advanced 656 yards with the overhead game to 338 yards for the Dallasites.

The Texas flier, Jack Crain, was unable to pace the Longhorns to victory in their recent test with S.M.U. but didn't do his personal records any harm. He's still the conference's leading ball carrier, having in 66 tries amassed total gains of 553 yards for an average gain of 7.62 yards.

Derace Moser, the Stephenville wonder at A. and M., ranks next to Crain as a ball totter with an average pickup of 4.93 yards while two S.M.U. players, Wally Bearden and Preston Johnston, with marks of 4.22 and 4.21 yards, respectively, are trailing in that order.

Seeking to improve distribution of its open bed springs a firm did them in silvery aluminum paint. Sales jumped 25 per cent.

Westbrook Is Favored Over Courtney

Eagles, However, Have Not Lost A Game This Season

Bill Pletcher's Westbrook Wolves will be slightly favored to defeat the Courtney Eagles when the two teams line up for their exhibition six-man grid battle Friday afternoon in Courtney.

The Eagles have not been defeated this season while the Wolves were decided by Forsan earlier in the season but Pletcher has brought his team along slowly and appears to have a better balanced club than does Nolan Robnett.

Pletcher will depend upon the high scoring backfield combination of Junior Olesby, Red Davenport and Buel Claxton to rout the Eagles.

Courtney's hopes are constructed around Bill Pinkston, ramming full-back.

In another District 12 game Forsan will invade Garden City. The Bisons finished in second place in the north half standings, having lost only two games this season.

Rural School Cage League Is Planned

Officials of all rural schools of Howard county are invited to attend a meeting Nov. 18 at the county superintendent's office at the court house in Big Spring when plans for an elementary rural school basketball league will be discussed.

The 42-year-old Chicago White Sox manager, in announcing the 1940 reserve list of 39 players for his club, disclosed he is remaining on the active list for next season, even though it is unlikely he will get into more than one or two

Garland Hannaford, Midway, will lead the discussions.

The meeting will get underway at 10 a. m.

MIDWAY LOSES TO ELBOW 5

MIDWAY, Nov. 9—The Midway junior boys' basketball quintet will invade Moore for a game with that school's junior team Friday night.

Other games have been scheduled at Elbow Wednesday, Nov. 15, and with Vincent at Midway Friday, Nov. 17.

The Midway team lost a hard fought game to Elbow, 16-13, Wednesday in a game played at Midway. Lujan, Elbow, who fouled out in the fourth period, was high point man with five field goals.

Yearlings Slightly Favored In Clash Today With Sweetwater

The Big Spring Junior High School Yearlings will be seeking their first triumph of the season this afternoon when they entertain the Sweetwater Colts in the Highland Park stadium.

The Yearlings in three assignments this semester have tied Colorado City, 19-19, and lost to Lubbock, 18-6, and to San Angelo, 12-7.

Boasting a more versatile offense the Yearlings will be slightly favored over the Colts who have lost three successive games to San Angelo by overwhelming scores.

The locals will probably be outweighed.

Junior Moore, a southpaw who has been especially effective in completing passes, is also Coach Howard Schwarzenbach's best running back. He is expected to do most of the maul carrying but may get some assistance from Lowell Matlock.

Sickness Routed, Girl Looks To Olympic Games

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 9 (AP)—A slim, sweet-faced girl who conquered paralysis to become a swimming champion looked ahead today toward the Olympics.

Courage and perseverance brought triumph of 17-year-old Nellie Kaskons over an affliction that crippled her since babyhood.

"I just made up my mind that my limp wasn't going to stop me from doing things," declared the miss.

Today she walks without a limp and has more than 50 swimming medals and trophies to her credit.

Not only that, Nellie is an honor student at South High school and a basketball and volley ball player as well.

Further more a Tulane victory could set up a claim as co-champions of the Southeastern conference, assuming Tulane later beats Louisiana State university, and Tennessee isn't tripped up by Kentucky.

Tulane has not defeated Alabama since 1921. Since 1936, when the series was renewed Alabama has won twice by field goals, another time in a walkaway.

The one-time star third baseman for the Philadelphia Athletics played in two or three games last summer.

While his legs no longer will stand the strain of constant play Dykes still can throw with the best of them, his great arm remaining one of baseball's mysteries.

Jeffrey Expected To Start In The Place Of Price; Mustangs Ready

By FELIX R. MCKNIGHT

DALLAS, Nov. 9 (AP)—On the fringe of a wilderness that has held them fast for a dozen years, a magnificent Texas Aggie football team Saturday makes its bid to step into daylight while a nation watches. Down on their own Kyle Field, where once they were almost unbeatable, they meet Southern Methodist in football's game of the day.

The creek forks and crossroads of Texas will empty their last fan for a game that has stopped the clock in this state. The little village of College Station, 90 miles from Houston, its nearest metropolis, is working feverishly to care for a throng that will swell its population six times.

Ticket sales led to the 25,000 mark and the chances were that the big gray concrete stadium would be holding a capacity of 33,000 in its lap. The same game in the Methodistists' Dallas fair probably would have pulled the state's largest crowd.

School officials hastily announced the two block-long cadet mess halls would be available to guests and improve accommodations for visitors shot up over the huge campus.

It's the day of days for Texas A. and M., whose football forces haven't created a sizeable ripple since 1927 when Joel Hunt led the Farmers to glory.

The unbeaten and untied record the Aggies boldly built up with crashing wins over Santa Clara, Villanova, Baylor, Arkansas, Texas Christian, Centenary and Oklahoma A. and M., will be laid out before a potential executioner.

Good Marks, Too
Southern Methodist, while not owning a perfect record, makes no excuses for slightly soiled spots that include a 7-7 tie with Oklahoma, the nation's sixth ranking team, and a 19-20 loss to Notre Dame, second ranking team.

Within the short space of six weeks S. M. U. now finds itself pitted against the Aggies—the country's third ranking eleven.

Injuries bothered both clubs. Quarterback Walemon Price of the Aggies, a crafty passer and off tackle runner, out of the Arkansas game, limbered up on a bad knee and was expected to be sound by game-time, but indications were that Marland Jeffrey, big Fort Arthur triple-threat, would start in Price's position.

Marion Pugh, second ranking passer in the conference, was healthy and ready for service.

Beardon Ready
The Methodist announced Full-back Wally Beardon, who tore Texas' guards to shreds with power running last week, definitely would start. A swollen knee had bothered him. Bob Belville, his alternating fullback, had both shoulders knocked down but will be used for kickoff and field goal service if needed.

Sophomore E. L. Keeton will start at end in place of Bob Beacus, whose torn shoulder is in a sling, while Jake Fawcett will get back into a guard position Ed Bianchi, won from him a few weeks back. Bianchi is out.

The Aggies worked until night-

Bovines Are Confident Of Victory

Preparing for their hardest struggle of the year, the traditional clash with the San Angelo Bobcats Saturday, the Big Spring Steers showed determination and enthusiasm in their Wednesday afternoon drive as Mentor Pat Murphy dispatched them through a long offensive drill.

The coach, who scouted the Angeliens last Friday night in their game with Odessa, had the varsity eleven snapping through its plays against the Shorthorns, using a fine assortment of both running and passing formations.

Indications were that the Bovines would shoot a versatile attack at the Cats with all members of the secondary alternating at carrying the ball.

Owen Brummett and D. R. Gartmann were busy in taking the peit. Brummett has been used mainly as a blocking back to date but showed surprising drive in scoring against Lamesa. He also tallied one of the touchdowns against Midland.

Murphy's charges may center their attack at the Bobcat ends. The Angeli forwards will weakened in the incessant assault of the Broncho backs. Too, they appeared slow and may be unable to cope with the Longhorns' speed.

From the Concho city came news that Mentor Harry Taylor was shuffling his lineup in preparing for the Bovines. J. W. Stewart and Len Cortese, ace Angelo backs, may gain help in the offensive department from Bowman and Ewald who have looked to advantage only on defense.

Local school officials have chartered five special busses to take the band and pep squad to the game. Those bodies will leave here early to participate in a mammoth American Legion parade which begins there at 11 a. m.

Only about 100 game tickets had been sold here at noon today but a rush for the ducats was expected Friday. Seven hundred tickets had been sent here by San Angelo officials. The pastebards, good for choice reserve seats, are selling for 75 cents each. Game time is 2 p. m.

Howard Payne-St. Edward's Game Is Feature Texas College Tilt

By the Associated Press

A full schedule faces Texas college teams—both conference and independent—but the week's fireworks as far as championship play is concerned will come from the nine-team Texas conference.

Howard Payne, perennial champion, clashes with St. Edward's in a game that might scramble the race until you wouldn't recognize it. Howard Payne is leading with three victories and a tie while St. Edward's is in a deadlock with Daniel Baker for second place, each with three wins and one loss.

There are no games of championship importance in the Lone Star conference unless last-place southwest Texas State were to upset second-place East Texas State. The Alamo conference has no title games.

Texas Mines, Border conference member, plays University of Arizona at El Paso. Texas Tech and Hardin-Simmons, the independents, have hard games, Tech meeting Centenary and Hardin-Simmons tangling with the pass-minded West Texas State Buffaloes.

The week's schedule:
Friday: St. Edward's vs. Howard Payne at Brownwood, Texas Wesleyan vs. Sam Houston at Houston, Texas A. and M. vs. Stephen F. Austin at Nacogdoches, Saturday: Southwest Texas State vs. East Texas State at Commerce, Trinity vs. St. Mary's (San Antonio) at Waxahachie, Abilene Christian vs. Daniel Baker at Brownwood, McMurry vs. Southwestern at Georgetown, Hardin-Simmons vs. West Texas State at Abilene, North Texas State vs. Austin college at Denton, Texas Mines vs. Arizona University at El Paso, Texas Tech vs. Centenary at Shreveport.

Star Netter Just Another Griddler

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 9 (AP)—A big, blonde kid who ranks among the world's best tennis amateurs, is just another muddy face when Navy's varsity eleven starts trampling the "B" squad.

Midshipman Joe Hunt, late of the 1939 Davis cup team and a pet of tennis galleries since he was 15, is taking it the hard way these days as a fourth-string "B" squad halfback.

He picked his thankless, anonymous spot himself, risks to his tennis future notwithstanding, and he's stuck to it.

Joe got in for two minutes against the Princeton sub-varsity, knocked down a pass on defense and missed another on offense. He played approximately 30 seconds against Pitt's "B" team.

Columns were written about him before the Davis cup matches. All he's gotten out of football so far is a lot of exercise and his last name in small type twice.

HARDER THINKS YANKS CAN BE TAKEN CARE OF

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 9 (AP)—You can't add Mel Harder, ace pitcher of the Cleveland American League baseball team, to the list of those who think the world champion New York Yankees ought to be liquidated.

Mel has his own remedy for the monopoly the Yanks have taken on the American League pennant.

"Time and the law of averages will take care of them," said he. Mel thinks the Indians might make it kind of tough on the Yanks next year. The Indians, he said, are on their way up. He doesn't predict any 1940 pennant for them, but—

"Anyway, we ought to end up in second place."

AN ANALYSIS OF THE WAR DEVELOPMENTS

The famous little ascetic is by far the most powerful figure in India and speaks with the authority of many millions of followers, who look to him not only for political but spiritual guidance.

This new development follows closely adoption of the dangerous weapon of passive resistance against the British government by All India National Congress party, which Gandhi controls.

London's undoubted concern must be increased by reports that Russia is planning to take advantage of the European crisis to try to bring India into the communist fold.

Incidentally, a charge that India is oppressed was made in the communist international's manifesto Monday.

Passive resistance, which means wholesale non-cooperation, can be terribly effective if properly handled, and it is an expedient with which the nationalists are quite familiar through past usage.

Gandhi in announcing the start of passive resistance, added: "I will resist civil disobedience (active resistance) unless I find the country prepared for that."

Such an intimation of possible active resistance, even coming from a noted peace advocate like Gandhi, has a disturbing sound.

Any sort of ferment set going in an empire of 350,000,000 oriental people—roughly a sixth of the world's total population—is something to watch.

G-MAN RESIGNS

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 9 (AP)—United States Department of Justice Agent Joe Lackey, one of the best known figures in the service, has resigned to enter the manufacturing business in Philadelphia.

Lackey's dramatic career reached its climax when he was severely wounded in the Kansas City Union station massacre, June 17, 1933. The gang that attempted to free Frank Nash, Oklahoma bank robber, was blamed for Lackey's injuries. In the battle at the Kansas City station a federal officer, a Kansas City detective, the chief of police of McAlester, Okla., and Nash were killed.

Lackey received three machine gun bullets in the back.

Creighton Star And Washington Nation's Top Ground Gainers

By GAIL FOWLER

SEATTLE, Nov. 9 (AP)—The American football statistical bureau, which weekly compiles individual and team performances of the nation's 12 leading colleges, this week nominates Johnny Knolla of Creighton as the nation's leading ground-gainer.

The bureau has been putting the yardstick on football performances for the last three years, and now is official statistician for the American College Publicity association.

Knolla emerged as the nation's number one offensive threat on the basis of the following statistics:

In six games he gained 887 yards via 75 rushing efforts and 82 pass attempts.

Kenny Washington, the U.C.L.A. negro flash, ranks second with 843 yards in six games. Last week's leader, Jim "Sweet" Lalanne of North Carolina, is third with 800 yards, followed by Iowa's Nile Kinnick, 769 yards, Ernie Lain of Rice, 762 yards; Tom Harmon, Michigan, 742 yards, and Banks McFadden, Clemson, 700.

Washington has gained more yards net by rushing than any other—500 in 93 tries. Harmon and Knolla are deadlocked with 549 yards each, followed by Jack Crain of Texas, whose five-game total is 449 yards. Of the top quartet, Crain's is the highest average per effort—9.14 yards—but Ken Washington's running mate at U.C.L.A., Jackie Robinson, has the best average among all ball carriers who have gained more than 250 yards. Robinson has netted almost 12 yards for each of the 21 times he has carried the pigskin.

Ernie Lain of Rice leads in forward pass completions, hitting his receivers 50 times in 122 attempts for 580 yards. Rusty Cowart, Texas Christian, has completed 49 of 89 for 612 yards, while the six-game record of Arkansas' Ray Eakin is 42 completions in 97 tries.

Paul Christman of Missouri has completed 41 of 85 while Beryl Clark of Oklahoma has the highest completion percentage in the nation, a .643-figure on the basis of 42 thrown and 27 bullseyes.

Earl Clark, Texas Christian half-back, and Ken Kavanaugh, Louisiana State end, pace the pass snatchers with 17 apiece. George Radman, North Carolina, caught 16 and Bill Jennings, Oklahoma, and Don Looney, T.C.U., 15 each.

Pitt To Omit Duquesne From Grid Schedule

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 9 (AP)—The steel city's "backyard" series which put the skids under some of Pitt's mightiest teams headed into the discard today as the Panther broke off football relations with undefeated Duquesne.

While Pitt and Carnegie Tech primed for the second of this year's round-robin Saturday, Coach Aldo (Buff) Donelli of Duquesne announced the long-heralded split.

Pitt Athletic Director Jimmy Hagan refused to comment, saying he would speak only "when our 1940 program is released."

"Naturally I am sorry that our series is being halted," declared Donelli.

Hagan gave no reason for stopping the series other than a statement that the Pitt athletic committee wanted to play some other teams and that they are reducing their schedule to eight games.

The depth bomb, terror of submariners, was invented in 1903 by W. T. Uge of Sweden.

TRIP TOWARD 'MARS' COSTS PILOT LICENSE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9 (AP)—Chester L. Eshelman of Carlisle, Pa., lost his pilot's certificate today for attempting a "flight to Mars."

Eshelman left Camden, N. J., June 5 and landed in the Atlantic ocean about 175 miles off Boston. He told rescuers he was on his way to Mars when trouble developed.

The Civil Aeronautics Authority, in revoking Eshelman's student pilot certificate, said his "recklessness and disregard" of civil air regulations "constitutes sufficient cause to justify" its action.

Six Offering To Sell An Eye To Get Money

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 (AP)—Five women and one man, in six different states, are each offering to sell an eye in order to keep a home together.

The six offers, each in a letter that sounds a little desperate, have reached the Associated Press New York office in the last three weeks.

The hope of selling an eye is based on the fact that a bit of the cornea, the clear window over the pupil, can be used in certain unusual cases to restore sight of the blind. A pitiful fact, unrealized by most persons, is that these blinded seldom possess any money.

The letters are from Minnesota, Michigan, Nebraska, Tennessee, Alabama and Texas.

One writes that she is a crippled mother, 43 years old, unable to walk for 13 years, and that now her husband is a broken man, destitute on account of the expense of caring for her. He is on WPA and she wants to sell an eye to get a farm.

Another mother says she wants to do something for her five children. Two have finished high school and she says:

"I want to send them further where they can find more training."

A third woman wants the money to pay the debts her husband left.

"I am 50, not old enough for a pension," she writes, "and too old to get any work."

A fourth woman wants the money to finish paying for her home. The man wishes to sell his eye in order to support his widowed mother.

Two of the women set a price of $500 for an eye. The man offers his for $250.

'BEAU BRUMMEL' IN BERLIN—The arm with which Germany's well-talored foreign minister, Joachim von Ribbentrop, created a sensation in London in February, 1937, when he gave a Nazi salute on being presented to King George VI, was still making history in 1939. This year found him busy signing documents, the most important being that of Aug. 24 when (wearing "civilian") he signed the Russo-German pact, voiding Germany's anti-comintern. His Oct. 25 Danzig speech predicted "war to the end," dealt gently with France, professed friendship for U. S.

Wire Service Gone, Bookies Busy Anyway

CHICAGO, Nov. 9 (AP)—As long as the horses are running the bookmakers will book them.

That appeared to be the general attitude today of nearly a thousand Chicago bookmakers as they faced loss of direct wire service for the first time in 40 years. The Illinois Bell Telephone company had arranged to cut off their service at noon in compliance with a request from United States District Attorney William J. Campbell, who is prosecuting M. L. Annenberg, owner of the Nation Wide News Service, for alleged income tax evasion. Nationwide serves the entire country with horse racing information. Chicago reputedly is the biggest betting center of the country, with an estimated $4,000,000 to $5,000,000 being wagered on the "gee-gees" daily.

The bookmakers plan to meet the new situation by taking wagers as usual, but will accept no bets later than two or three minutes before the scheduled post time of the race. Before they pay off, however, they will wait for the official "off-time" of the race, checking it with the time the wager was made so as to reduce the chances of any better "cheating" on them.

Nationwide News will continue to disseminate its racing information as usual by telegraph but it will not be relayed by private telephone hook-up to all betting establishments simultaneously. The handbook operators plan to station runners at the Nationwide headquarters to obtain race information as it comes in by telegraph and then telephone it to the books from public phones.

TEXAS COTTON YIELD ESTIMATES LOWERED

AUSTIN, Nov. 9 (AP)—A Texas cotton crop for 1939 of 2,890,000 bales was forecast by the crop reporting board of the U. S. department of agriculture today.

The estimate, slightly below that of Oct. 1, compares with final production of 3,086,000 bales last year and 4,077,000 bales average for the 10-year period beginning in 1928. Estimated lint yield was 160 pounds per acre, compared with 188 pounds in 1938 and 147 pounds for the 10-year average. The area for harvest was estimated at 8,666,000 acres.

Almost ideal harvesting conditions prevailed throughout October and picking and ginning progressed rapidly.

Ginnings in Texas prior to Nov. 1 were reported by the bureau of the census at 2,455,000 bales compared with 2,594,000 bales ginned to the same date last year and 3,662,000 to Nov. 1, 1937.

FINE IS ASSESSED AGAINST RAILROAD

FORT WORTH, Nov. 8 (AP)—A plea of guilty to charges of violating rate provisions of the interstate commerce act resulted in an $8,000 fine against the Fort Worth and Denver Railroad in federal court here.

Judge T. W. Davidson assessed the fine in the case which involved shipment of low grade cotton from West Texas points to St. Louis at a rate set for linters and regins.

A 6-month suspended sentence was assessed John B. Pruden, Lubbock shipper, who pleaded guilty in connection with the same indictment.

Six-month suspended sentences and fines of $250 were assessed three others in the same case. They were E. C. Kuykendall and B. E. Stroup, representatives of the railroad at Lubbock, and E. M. Vernon, Amarillo representative of the St. Louis and Southwestern Railway, all of whom pleaded guilty.
