Roosevelt Appeals To Clergymen For Advice

News Behind The News THE NATIONAL Whirligig

Written by a group of the best informed newspapermen of Washington and New York. Opinions expressed are those of the writers and should not be interpreted as reflecting the editorial policy of this newspaper.

WASHINGTON By RAY TUCKER

Plowman

A self-appointed inspection committee of business men stopped off at Topeka recently to look over Governor Alf Landon of Kansas—the 1935 model Coolidge who is touted as a GOP presidential candidate in 1936. They like him.

They exchanged confidences with Big Business buddies when they reached Washington—the directors' meeting of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce—and they reported as follows: Gov. Landon is a practical, hard-working man with no flourishes and ruffles. He has no flair or personality that would capture public interest or imagination. But he has done a tidy job of running the state's finances and squeezing a penny before he spends it, personally and officially.

He might be, they whispered, the ideal opposition for FDR next year—a plowman against a showman. They reached the conclusion so many practical politicians have come to. Namely, that, as in 1920, the Republicans' strongest nominee will be a colorless figure who can attract to his standard all of the true-and-grievance vote plus the rock-ribbed Republicans.

Bitter

There is no news in the fact that almost every private interest—the bankers, manufacturers, retailers and public utilities—will line up against President Roosevelt in 1936. But the scope of their anti-New Deal campaign already underway astonishes even the New Dealers.

The National Association of Manufacturers has established a new propaganda headquarters in New York City. While its Washington office distributes pamphlets assailing the New Deal, the New York managers will launch an attack with speakers, magazine articles and private meetings. The U. S. Chamber of Commerce will cover another sector with three great sectional conventions and almost daily denunciations by President Harper Sibley. Their song will be that the people should place their trust for a full dinner in business rather than in political leaders. Elias Strawn, Chicago attorney, pulls the levers.

With the troops talking to the trenches already, political experts anticipate the most bitter presidential campaign since the Bryan-McKinley brawl in 1896. The 1928 Hoover-Smith duel won't match the 1936 affair, according to the prophets. For next year's battle will be a pocketbook melee.

Joker

After two years of famine the Republicans anticipate a larger campaign fund than they had when Will Hays collected $3,000,000 to elect Warren G. Harding.

GOP collectors received word this week that a leading automobile maker once friendly to the President has offered to contribute $1,000,000 to the opposition. What's more, he has guaranteed that two friends—one a banker, the other a manufacturer—will come across with the same amount apiece. These, of course, are purely political contributions. They don't take into account the funds which the American Liberty League, the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and the National Association of Manufacturers will spend to defeat Mr. Roosevelt or—choice half-loaf—to elect an unsympathetic House of Representatives.

But the New Dealers have a trick up their sleeve that was never used before. They may require supposedly non-political organizations to file their contributions and expenditures with the clerk of the House of Representatives. That's a counter-thrust which free spenders must count on.

Appeal

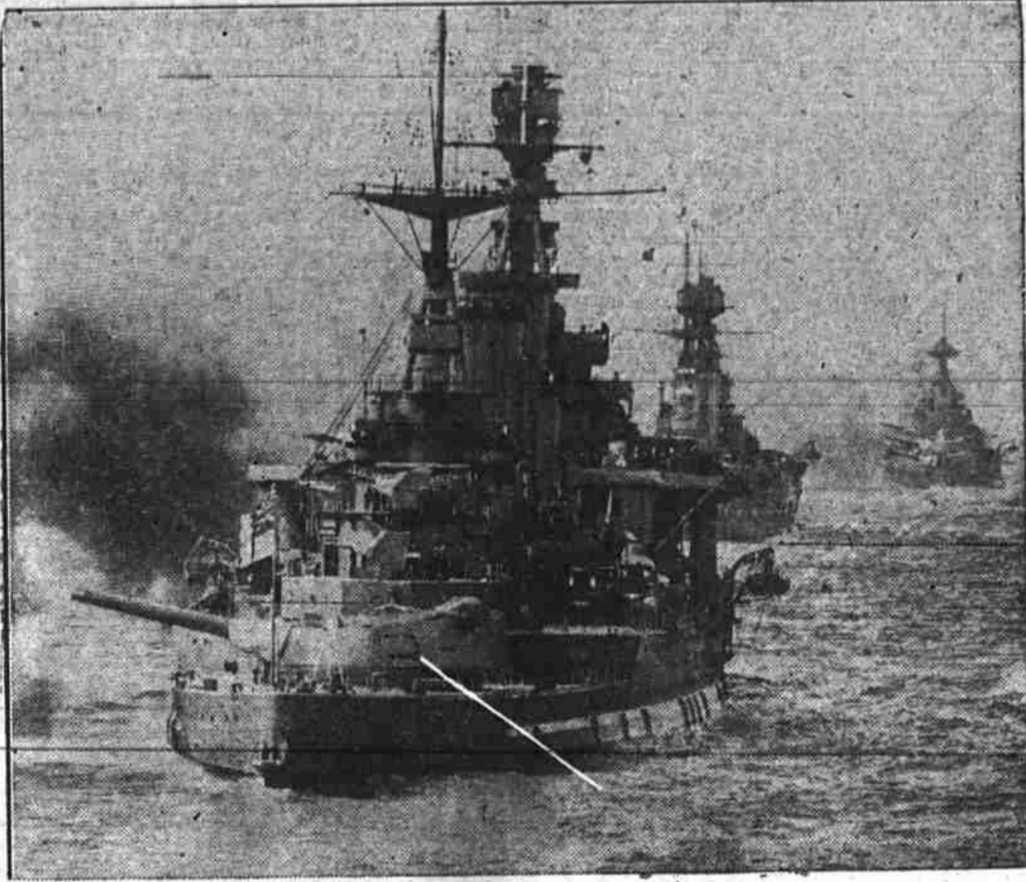

A certain philosophical, peace-inclined Cabinet member—you can guess who it is—may soon deliver the most sensational speech the world has heard on the eve of possible war. Whether to the nation addressed, or whether he begs American farmers to place peace ahead of profits may depend upon President Roosevelt.

If he follows his advisers' suggestions, he will urge the producers of wheat and cotton and hope to subscribe wholeheartedly to the crusade to keep the United States out of a possible world war. He will ask them to forego high prices which may result from foreign demands, especially as it appears that their products may not be placed on the embargo list. In short, he will suggest sacrifices which no growers have ever made before.

The speech has been outlined and not written. If delivered and advised.

BRITISH BATTLE FLEET MOVEMENTS ALARM ITALY

England has sent some of its greatest fighting ships to concentrate in the Mediterranean, causing anxiety in Italy. Authoritative sources in London said withdrawal of the British fleet from the strategic position was not expected in the near future. New Pessimism In League Of Nations Circle Over Grave Italo-Ethiopian Situation

NYA Program To Aid 8,547

School Pupils

District WPA Director McNew Says Aid Open To Children On Relief

AUSTIN—Lyndon B. Johnson, state director of the National Youth Administration of Texas, Sunday evening issued a warning to county superintendents of schools to allocate high school aid jobs to high school principals at once in order to prevent the possibility of other allotments being lost to them and transferred to other counties.

The National Youth Administration on Sept. 14 mailed to 246 county superintendents of the 254 counties in Texas, allotments of the students eligible in each county to participate in the $6 per month high school aid program.

The National Youth Administration has made preparations to give this assistance to 8,547 high school students in Texas. County superintendents of schools and principals of individual schools, working in cooperation with caseworkers of the Texas Relief Commission, make the final selection and assignments. However, if a county does not avail itself of the opportunity and place the full number of students in part-time jobs the allotment will be transferred to another county where the demand exceeds the supply.

"It is unfortunate that there are more applications than jobs available under the federal allotment of funds for Texas," Johnson said. "But we are eager to see that the allotment is used 100 per cent. Inasmuch as it is incumbent upon the school officials to initiate the movement and to see that it is put through, the need for immediate action is urgent. School has started already in many places and will start in others in the very near future. In order that there may be no waste whenever a county fails to avail of its funds, they will be transferred and given to other counties."

"It is doubtful that a county which fails to act this week and distribute its quota of funds to high school principals will have the opportunity to do so next week."

Rainy Season Near End, Situation Tense On Borders

Publication of Italy's observations including a charge that the League of Nations committee failed to consider the Italian case against Ethiopia, provoked a new pessimism in the league circle.

The council is expected to decide tomorrow whether new conciliation attempts were feasible.

Emperor Selassie requested the league to dispatch impartial observers to Ethiopia to investigate present and future allegations of aggression and provocative acts and fix responsibility in such cases.

With the rainy season's end near, the situation is tense on the border of Ethiopia, and Italian colonies.

Two Criminal Cases Before Judge Taylor

Judge W. M. Taylor, appointed special judge of the 70th district court, prepared to hear two criminal cases Wednesday afternoon as the court worked steadily toward a conclusion of the present term here Saturday.

He said that the jury commission would be convened Thursday morning to prepare jury lists for the next term of court.

Nothing but routine cases came before the court Tuesday and Wednesday morning.

Action Due On Local Federal Building Job

Design Committee Scheduled To Give Final Approval Friday

Beginning of construction on the Big Spring federal building by the first of the year was seen as probable Wednesday after a wire was received by the chamber of commerce from Lloyd Croslin, secretary to Congressman George Mahon.

Croslin said he would go before the committee on design for final approval Friday.

He estimated that complete period of work on plans and drawing of specifications, advertising and reception of bids should not require more than two and a half months.

"No doubt it will be that long before any action can be done there," said Croslin. He added that "I am informed that every effort is being made to expedite plans."

Mahon, here Wednesday, could not be reached immediately for a comment on the communication. He had previously declared he believed some definite action would be taken in the latter part of this year.

Work Order Anticipated For District Next Week

District WPA Director R. H. McNew said Wednesday that he had good reason to believe that first work orders for this district would be received here the first of next week.

The Big Spring city park project and a road job in Gaines county are due to be first to have work orders.

A. H. Davidson, works director, was to be in Stanton, Midland and Odessa to go over proposed projects Wednesday. He is to meet R. F. Boston, field representative, in Brownfield Thursday and go over a proposed park job which would include bath houses, a dam, artificial lake, park and playgrounds.

NEGRO ARRESTED

Clarence Williams, negro, was arrested here Tuesday as an escapee from Hobbs, New Mexico. Hobbs officers had no time in returning the fugitive early Wednesday morning.

Administration Is Defended In Senate Speech

AUSTIN (AP)—Debate started in the house Wednesday on the chain store tax bill and a fight launched to include public utilities selling appliances.

Sponsors expressed the fact that inclusion of utilities would void the proposed law because utilities now pay a gross receipt tax and a new levy might be considered double taxation.

The house adopted a resolution appointing a committee to investigate reports that state and local police harassed farmers hauling produce to market.

AUSTIN (AP)—Congressman Maury Maverick, San Antonio, addressed the senate Thursday and rapped democrats who took an apologetic position for the party.

He said, "It is your duty to take a militant stand." Maverick defended the national administration.

Senator John Reddit, Lufkin, introduced a bill appropriating approximately $100,000 to supplement salaries of eleemosynary institution employees.

Senate wet and dry bills prepared for a fight on the bill to prohibit sales by the drink.

The governor commended the legislature for its good progress on legislation.

Solon Says Commission Incompetent

Rep. Alsop Charges Hot Oil Being Run From East Texas To Shreveport

AUSTIN (AP)—Representative Lon Alsop, Carthage, charged that hundreds of truck loads of hot oil were being run from East Texas to Shreveport and truck operators were laughing at the railroad commission.

He said operators informed him that they bought oil at fifteen cents per barrel and sold it for seventy. Alsop said he believed the commission was incompetent to enforce the oil truck law.

Wildcat Test Due To Spud

The Texas & Pacific Duffey No. 1 Douthit, wildcat test east and south of production in the east Howard pool, is due to spud Monday. Equipment is already in Coahoma and will be moved to the location as soon as the ground dries. The test is about two miles east and south of nearest production.

Legion Asks Soviet Russia Recognition Be Withdrawn By US

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The American Legion convention voted Tuesday to ask the United States to withdraw recognition of the Soviet Russia.

AN EDITORIAL

Howard county, on the southern tip of the 30th senatorial district, has helped to elect a state senator from the northern end for the past quarter of a century.

Since there are only 24 counties in the entire district, it would appear that it is more than past time for Howard county to furnish a man for the job.

This is especially true in the light of the fact that Howard county is second in population, resources, and development to only one other county in the district.

Added to these factors is an appealing human element. This end of the district has a candidate who might well turn the trick in B. Reagan. With wisdom tempered by experience of years, with an honesty unquestioned by any, with a strong character inherently ingrained, B. Reagan would make the ideal servant for any district.

It could not be said that he would be a part-district senator. Reagan is bigger than one county or a small group of counties. His service over a period of 37 years proves his vital interest in all of West Texas.

Citizens should keep these facts in their minds when they go to vote Saturday. And above all, they should be sure and vote.

'CASEY AT THE BAT' STRIKES OUT

Geo. Mahon Inspects Scenic Park Project

With the date for abandonment of the local CCC camp unofficially set for November 15, local forces Wednesday were making plans to seek an extension if work cannot be completed before that date.

Congressman George Mahon set in on a conference Wednesday morning between W. T. Strange, chamber of commerce manager, and Joseph A. Dodge, park superintendent.

Mahon was making an inspection tour of the park project Wednesday afternoon.

Local leaders were unanimous in the opinion that the work on the park should not be discontinued until the caretaker's cottage has been completed and the roads put in good shape.

They stressed the importance of topping roads around the park in order to keep them passable at all times. It was authoritatively learned that an order for asphalt had been cancelled because it was felt that there was not enough time to complete a topping program.

Efforts are to be made to gain assurance of an extension of time if necessary projects are not finished by November 15. The camp was originally scheduled to go on October 1, but a two month extension was promised by D. E. Colp, chairman of the state park board.

NEW YORK (AP)—Joe Louis, who crushed Max Baer Monday night, agreed to plans for a foreign tour, including fights in South American and European capitals, under the promotion of Mike Jacobs. After that he will fight the best available opponent here the last of November.

FD Seeks To Learn Real Conditions

So He Can Find Out How Government Can Better Serve Its People

WASHINGTON (AP)—A nationwide appeal to clergymen for "counsel and advice" on how "our government can better serve its people" has been launched through letters by President Roosevelt.

The president announced he is trying to ascertain from non-government officials what conditions are. He said he had no plan to interview other professional groups.

The letters said the president felt "no group can give more accurate or unbiased views, and expressed the particular hope that the new social security law and works program will be carried out effectively.

At a press conference the president said he was ready to start to the Pacific Coast Thursday night. He expected to fish almost daily on the trip. He said responsibility for a future NRA depends upon the activity of chiselers in industry and what industry wants done about them.

Tax Roll For City Approved

Total Valuations Set At $5,906,105; Total Levy $76,779.36

Tax roll for the city of Big Spring was approved Tuesday evening by city commissioners with total valuations set at $5,906,105, and the total tax levy plugged at $76,779.36.

The levy was divided $17,718.31 for general fund purposes and $59,061.05 for interest and sinking fund. A petition presented by Marion Edwards and Clayton Stewart on behalf of stockmen urging the city to enforce an ordinance requiring meat inspection was taken under advisement by the commission. The petition urged enforcement of the ordinance in the interest of sanitation and to curb the practice of peddling stolen meat.

Formal offer for land to be used for right of way purposes was made to L. E. Coleman by the city commission on behalf of the county.

It was the first formal offer which has been advanced. An offer was made to L. J. Stewart for his interest in a service station on the property.

With Mrs. H. S. Faw as chairman, a committee of women branched the commissioners on the possibility of gaining exclusive use of the girl scout hut for the girls when the golf shop is moved to the new structure in conjunction with the swimming pool. The city manager was instructed to go into the matter and make a recommendation to the commission.

Only other item of business coming before the commission was a tax adjustment.

Members Meet At Home Of Mrs. R. F. Bluhm For Business Session Followed By Social Meeting

Mrs. L. L. Gulley was elected president of the American Legion Auxiliary at the meeting held Tuesday evening at Mrs. R. F. Bluhm's home. Mrs. Gulley was chosen to fill the vacancy created by Mrs. Stulting's resignation. This election brought about another vacancy, that of the office of sergeant-at-arms. Mrs. Bluhm was chosen to fill that.

Members discussed local welfare problems in which they are interested and also planned for the installation of officers. Installation services will be held at the next meeting which will be October 8th in the commodious home of Mrs. Gulley, president-elect. A special invitation has been extended to Mrs. Pillman Jones of Post, state president, to conduct installation services. If the plans of the members are carried out, there will be a buffet supper to which the members of the local Legion post, also the auxiliaries of Comanche and Colorado, will be asked. At the conclusion of the business session Mrs. C. C. Carter, outgoing president, was presented with a Bible by the members of the Auxiliary.

The meeting ended in a social session. Members played cards and were served a delicious sandwich plate by the hostess. Mrs. E. W. Anderson, district chairman, who had made plans to go to St. Louis, Mo. to attend the national Legion convention this week, had to cancel her plans at the last moment. She was present at the meeting. Others were: Meses. C. C. Carter, M. C. Stulting, Fontaine, Hair, L. A. Job, R. A. Eubank and L. L. Gulley.

H. D. C. News

The centennial farm and home demonstrators enrolled this week are Mrs. W. C. Langley of the Fairview community. Mrs. Langley plans to be yard demonstrator for home demonstration club also. A rose garden in a practical place where the wind cannot sweep the soil from the roots will be one feature of the yard. Well placed vines are already growing as are trees making a background for the house and shade from the hot west sun. Trees line the drive to the road.

Mrs. R. N. Adams of the South H. D. C. has completed her first year in yard improvement. The yard has been leveled and the grass lawn completed. Foundation plantings are growing nicely. Her perennial plants and sweet peas gave her so much pleasure that she plans to increase the varieties of colors of these and add other perennials. Her canna's have been quite thrifty.

Home demonstrators' work is showing various results. Mrs. G. C. Appleton of Vincent home demonstration club has an outstanding feature in her zinnias planted in her vegetable garden. Many of these have a diameter of five inches and colors are most brilliant. Her cuttings of buck bush, coral berry, wild fuchsia, jasmint humble and vitex are as large as two-year plants. She has winter for her garden.

Mrs. H. W. Harlen of the Elther club has over 80 Chinese lilies of two to three feet in height which she grew in her cutting bed. She plans to transplant these in November. She grew eight varieties of shrubs from cuttings this year.

AMATEUR RADIO ARTISTS ENTERTAIN ROTARY CLUB IN 'MAJOR BOWES' PROGRAM

CONDUCTS 'MAJOR BOWES' PROGRAM

That Big Spring has a wealth of local talent in the form of radio entertainers was proved Tuesday noon when the Rotary club heard a unique program rendered by amateur artists of the city, sponsored by the Carter Chevrolet company. A loud-speaking system, with microphone, was installed, over which the program was broadcast. Shine Philips, assisted by Miss Eloise Halsey, was in charge of the program. Those taking part were: Harold Purkayle, Sarah Jane Strange, Jean Hostetter, R. H. Miller, Kathleen Williams, Addie Lee Cotton, Mary Ruth Diltz, Homer Adams, Dr. E. O. Ellington and W. C. Ellington, who rendered a French harp solo and gave a dance number that brought down the house. He finally got "the gong." W. C. Blankenship sang "America," or rather part of the first verse before he was brought down by the "gong." The following appeared in the order named:

No. 1—R. H. Miller, singing "The Man On the Flying Trapeze," with own accompaniment.

MORNING STAR

— BY MARIAN SIMS —

Chapter 19 COLLAPSE

The sleepy clerk at a downtown hotel looked mildly astonished when Emily asked for a room. He hesitated a moment, then succumbed to the quiet elegance of her clothes and luggage.

"If anyone asks for me," said the young woman who had registered as Miss Felton, "I am not registered here."

The clerk's eyes widened, then narrowed. "Very well," he said at last.

It might have been the signifi-place for you." She spoke cheerily, as if this were the Ultima Thule of all the nice places in the world.

Last night, Emily could remember now that a great many people had been fussing over her, and that someone had made her drink something. At the memory of all that preceded last night her mouth quivered.

The nurse saw the quiver. "It's about time for you to drink this, I think," she gave Emily a glass with a straw in it.

The next time she awoke it was dark. She felt much stronger; able to smile at the crisp nurse and to cast look in the clerk's eyes, or if he drank some broth that was hot and might have been the reaction from strain. But as Emily turned to follow the uniformed back of the bell-boy she crumpled silently, like a puppet when the string is released, into a pitiful little heap upon the tiled floor.

There was a breeze that blew the immaculate curtains almost horizontal. There was a crack in the ceiling strongly suggestive of the Mississippi river and its tributaries. There was a pungent, clean smell of disinfectants.

And finally, there was a nurse whose uniform was as crisp and white as the blowing curtains. Emily addressed the nurse faintly. "What is this place?"

The nurse's voice was as crisp and immaculate as her uniform. "The Lookout Sanatorium."

"How did I get here?"

"You fainted at a hotel last night and the house physician there decided that this was just the very mouth and spread gradually to a lot of little wrinkles at the corners of his eyes.

Emily smiled back, secure in the knowledge that this doctor could probably do something about the horrible mess she was in. He looked like the sort of person who went through life getting people out of messes of different kinds.

The nurse slipped out and Dr. Warde sat down, quite sociably, in the most comfortable chair.

"You've been rather pushing Rip Van Winkle for his record," he said.

He hadn't spoken before that, and she thought that she had never heard such a nice voice. Low-pitched, he said, like Charlotte's, with a drawl that made you feel that there was no hurry about anything in the world. She asked:

"What happened to me?"

He grinned again, and she felt

LANDON AND WOODRING 'BUDDIES'

that whatever it was, it couldn't be very bad. "You've been going on your battery for some time and it ran down on you."

She knew what he meant; there had been nothing to recharge it. "When may I get up?"

"That depends," he said deliberately, "on what you're going to do when you get up."

Her face went white. What would she do? Dr. Warde's keen eyes never left her face.

"Suppose you tell me about it," he suggested. "Then we'll know just where we stand."

Emily hesitated, wondering where she could begin.

"I've gathered a little of it," he said, "I've gathered a little of it," he went on, very casually, as if he had that made you feel that there was no hurry about anything in the world. She asked:

"What happened to me?"

He grinned again, and she felt

"I can't see him!" she cried. "You don't have to," Dr. Warde assured her promptly. "But I didn't want to send him away until I knew more about it. Let's go back to the beginning."

It was amazingly easy to tell him about it; far easier than telling her mother would have been.

She began with the street carnival and went bravely through to the nightmare of two days ago. And when she had finished his mouth looked grim. He was consigning all the Frances Feltons to perdition.

"It's my fault," Emily said. "It's ridiculous for a person almost 25 years old to blame anyone but herself for a mess like this. But loving you people—your family, I mean—is like being caught in a web. Even if you break the web it still clings to your fingers."

"Suppose we leave them out of it," Dr. Warde suggested. "They'll manage to worry along. Let's talk about you and what you want to do next."

Edwin Barnes gets a jolt tomorrow.

St. Swithun, who died in 852, said he was not to be buried within the church, but outside in "a vile and unworthy place."

Mr. R. H. McNew, district WPA director who is also handling direction of NYA activities in the district, said that the program announced was by no means the extent of the entire program.

SPORT SLANTS

It will be either Eiden Auker or Tommy Bridges on the mound for Detroit when the Tigers enter the National League entry in the opening game of the World Series on Wednesday, Oct. 2. And behind them will be a steeper, stronger team than the band of excited ball players who tangled with the Gas House Gang from St. Louis in the classic fall. You can take Manager Mickey Cochrane's word for that.

The trimming the Tigers took from the Dean boys and company only serves to make the lads from Detroit harder to beat this year. Instead of beating the spirit out of the Detroiters as some were wont to insist, the drubbing taught them a valuable lesson. This season they fashioned their pennant winning drive on a more substantial foundation.

Schoolboy Got Lesson
 Schoolboy Rowe's record this year is not as sensational as that of the previous season, but he has pitched his share of great ball, and of late has been going better than ever. In addition he is a young veteran of World Series competition.

LAST-HOUR COAL CONFERENCE

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers (left) and James F. Dewey, commissioner of conciliation of the Department of Labor, held a last-hour conference at Appalachian producers and workers resumed negotiations in an effort to avert a coal strike which might affect many areas. Formal Dress Goes Metallic Say Stylists

Accessories are on a metal standard! At Rochas opening in Paris, gloves and belts were conspicuously decorated with metal trimmings. Mannequins in heavy tweeds and fur coats, wore the new Chanut gloves of glass kid, finished with huge cuffs of silvered metal. A dramatic touch to an otherwise conservative ensemble, although the same gloves are suggested by authorities as accessories for the more fragile cocktail costumes. In white or dark colors, these snug-fitting gloves enhance the daintiness of the hands by the contrasting lines of the flared, outstanding cuff which is finished with interlacings of the kid.

Belts have come to the fore as an important costume accessory. In many of the Paris showings, frocks depended largely on their belts to give that special note of chic. Leather belts, especially those which start out being quite narrow, tapering to very wide fronts and studded (the front only) with large metal decorations, plaques and nails, are the latest fashion whim.

Materials have gone rough in an unprecedented manner, combining in their intricate weaves all of the primary colors. While these pure, bright colors are sponsored for frocks and suits, accessory colors are much more subtle in their tones, with such ravishing fall tints as burnt brown, beetroot and a new green, taking the lead.

Worth is featuring Chanut's two piece gloves of suede for daytime wear, and glass kid of four and six button lengths, in light and dark tones, for more "dressy" occasions. There is a noted trend however, in the glove world this season, toward place kid, to accompany everything but sports clothes.

According to Rochas, cocktail and dinner dresses are smartest when fashioned of black materials. Dull black crepe or chiffon were the mediums chosen for many of the gowns of this type at the opening, decorated with large black velvet inserts on full sleeves and bodices.

Black velvet belts and the Chanut gloves with leather palms completed the charming picture. For formal evening wear however, the scene is brighter—the pastel gowns accepted with artificial flowers of velvet and Chanut velvet gloves in brilliant, contrasting shades.

Wallace Ford

Reminiscent of the dual character portrayed by Edward G. Robinson in "The Whole Town's Talking" is the role enacted by Wallace Ford in "Get That Man" now the current attraction at the Queen Theatre. Wally Ford is first seen in the picture as a taxi-driver who falls into the clutches of a blackmailing gang who discover this startling resemblance to a millionaire who has been murdered. They force him to take the place of the murdered man with many sinister and entertaining complications following.

And don't think that isn't going to help the Schoolboy when he faces the National League thumpers. For the past month Eiden Auker's underhand shots have been well nigh unbeatable. He ought to be just as tough for any club and particularly for a club that is facing his style of delivery for the first time. Hard luck still pursues Tommy Bridges. Injuries happened him but with all that he was the first of the Tiger mound staff to score 20 victories. The veteran "General" Crowder is still a pitcher to be reckoned with. Lawson is likely to prove right handy if one of the regular moundsmen shows signs of weakening.

Hank Greenberg has found himself and all season long has been the big gun of the Tiger offense. In addition to setting the pace in the American league home-run derby, Hank is some 50 runs ahead of his nearest rival in driving home the rallies. The added year of experience will serve to steady him. Gehringer hits around .330 and Fox is right on his heels. Rowe gives the team additional batting strength when he is working. He is a natural .300 hitter.

'Iron Mike' Is Vengeful
 Physically Manager Mickey is in far better shape to face the National League foe than he was 12 months ago. And so is Goose Goslin. The veteran has been up for a long, long time but he is second only to Greenberg among the Tigers in the matter of driving in runs.

"The Cards may have taken us by surprise because we coasted into the series last season," Cochrane admitted, "and they came in on the momentum of a terrific drive. No matter whom we are called on to face this year we'll be ready for them. We are steeper this year and I am convinced that we are stronger in several spots today."

If you know Mickey Cochrane even slightly you will appreciate that Iron Mike has been building for his moment of revenge from the time the curtain was rung down on the big series last October.

Building Permits Increase In August
 AUSTIN—A sharp increase in the volume of building permits occurred in Texas during August compared with a year ago, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. Reports received from 36 representative Texas cities show total permits of $2,978,579, an increase of 77 per cent over the corresponding year.

Cities showing increase during the two comparable periods were: Beaumont, Fort Worth, Houston, Marshall, Fort Arthur, San Antonio, and Sherman.

Tent Purchased By Midland Fair, Inc., To Stable Horses

MIDLAND—Purchase of a complete circus tent by officials of the Midland Fair, to be used to stable surplus race and rodeo horses by erecting it over corrals, or to be used as an exhibit building when needed, was consummated this week. The tent is 90 by 180 feet in size and will augment the building erected at the fair's new $40,000 plant. The fair opens, October 10.

Purses totalling $9,000 for the rodeo and race meet have been announced. World champion rodeo performers and those competing in the nation's biggest shows have signified intentions of entering. Shows will be both day and night. Early reservations for stable accommodations have indicated that probably 250 horses will compete for the liberal purses. Parimutuel will be used.

The new three-quarter mile track has been completed, a steel-fenced rodeo arena is ready for use and workmen are completing the steel grand stand which will seat 3,500 persons. Modern stables, agricultural exhibit building, show cattle barns and pens and a modern paddock are being completed this week.

Two thousand head of feeder calves and yearlings will be exhibited and will be sold at auction on the morning of October 21.

State Department Man Speaks To H. S. Pupils

Dr. Jeremiah Rhodes of the State Department of Education addressed high school students Wednesday morning.

"Public schools in Texas are organized so that it is impossible for a person to fail in life. He must succeed. The snail succeeds — so long as he runs as a snail — not a greyhound. Of course each one will have to choose his own field; each one must succeed in his own way. To do that he must develop his talent."

Dr. Rhodes climaxed his address by saying, "The thing to do is the thing that can't be done."

hered to it may have more effect than all the abortive peace pacts and courts and leagues. It might make new history.

Reason—

The administration has never proclaimed its anti-trust policy in so many words since the Supreme Court's abrogation of the N.R.A. At that time President Roosevelt painted the blackest possible picture, intimating that the lid would be clamped down on mergers, elimination of wastefully competing services and similar cooperative benefits.

That turns out to be a passing and momentary phase. In discussing changes in the Pittsburgh-plus system of basing steel prices John Dickinson has let the corporation slip out of his briefcase. The Assistant Attorney General explained in technical verbiage that the anti-trust statutes will be enforced only

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Colic—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning!

The liver should get out two pounds of bile every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just sits in the bowels. You know the result. You get constipated. You feel sour. You feel tired. You feel nervous. You feel old.

There is a simple, safe, and effective way to get your liver back to work. It is called "LIVER BILE" and it is made from the finest natural ingredients. It is the only liver bile that is guaranteed to work. It is the only liver bile that is guaranteed to be safe. It is the only liver bile that is guaranteed to be pure.

strong enough to force the ex-president's nomination—will quite probably suffice to turn the tide in favor of any candidate to whom they are switched.

This would give Mr. Hoover at least the satisfaction—since he can't be named himself—of virtually deciding who the nominee is to be. While he hasn't committed himself as to whom he will favor, Knox is rated the most likely beneficiary. Hoover never did have much use for senators (such as Dickinson or Vandenberg), he wants to be sure the candidate is safely conservative, and it's known he thinks Knox is "all right."

Determined—

New York right wingers are casting about for some new and effective solution to the problem of how to beat Roosevelt. Huey Long's death shot a big hole in their campaign plan that needs to be filled. They haven't much faith in Hearst's Jefferson Democrats or any other conservative third party as an instrument to alienate enough Democratic votes to assure a GOP victory. Nor do they relish the prospect of a straight two-party Republican-Roosevelt contest. There's always the chance that the mass of voters might not be as Constitution-minded as they would like.

One suggestion is being given a lot of consideration by backstage planners. It involves building up ex-Budget Director Lew Douglas as a serious opponent of FDR for the Democratic nomination. This would imply sidetracking the third party idea and concentrating all forces on capturing the regular Democratic convention. Even its sponsors admit this would be a desperate long shot effort—but they contend there's no more promising alternative in sight—and argue that such a fight would at least tear party harmony to shreds.

Of course there's the angle that Mr. Douglas has sincere political ambitions of his own and might not care to let his future be sacrificed on the altar of anti-Roosevelt strategy. It would be a major miracle if the plan were successful—and if it weren't he would have made a lot of enemies in his party. But big-time anti-New Deal leaders are determined not to leave the outcome of the '36 battle merely to chance and the Republican party—so watch for signs that the Douglas ground-swell is being manufactured.

Fruits—

Bankers with excellent European contacts get a new slant on the Anglo-Italian-Ethiopian crisis which makes the outlook for peace more promising than current headlines would indicate.

They hear that France—desperately anxious to prevent Anglo-Italian hostilities—has engineered a proposal with which Britain is in accord to be offered to Mussolini after he has avenged the Adowa defeat. It would involve large credits to Italy from both French and English sources to exploit Ethiopian concessions in exchange for Duce's toning down his Mediterranean ambitions.

The plan hasn't been broached publicly yet because both French and English statesmen are reconciled to Mussolini's attitude that he must have one great military victory to wipe the Adowa blot from Italy's escutcheon. But once he has that victory he can afford to accept concessions—especially if they are dressed up to look like the fruits of military triumph. His face would be saved and his African expedition justified. Duce hasn't committed himself—but France and England are privately hopeful. After all, large credits would ease his domestic problems a lot.

Test—

Secretary Morgenthau keeps Wall Street guessing—even when he's away on a vacation. The treasury was obviously supporting the government bond market in the early stages of the current—and final—Fourth Liberty bond conversion—and financial circles naturally expected that support to be maintained until the conversion was completed. But not so. Recent softening of prices indicates plainly that Uncle Sam's agencies have stepped out of the picture and are letting nature take its course.

New York observers can figure this out only on the basis that the treasury wants to test the natural price levels for its securities when the stimulus of government buying orders is withdrawn. If that was the idea the answer is reasonably satisfactory. Quotations haven't dropped nearly as far as anti-New Dealers predicted—though this may be partly due to the fact that big institutional holders—banks and insurance companies—have not been selling.

Candidate—

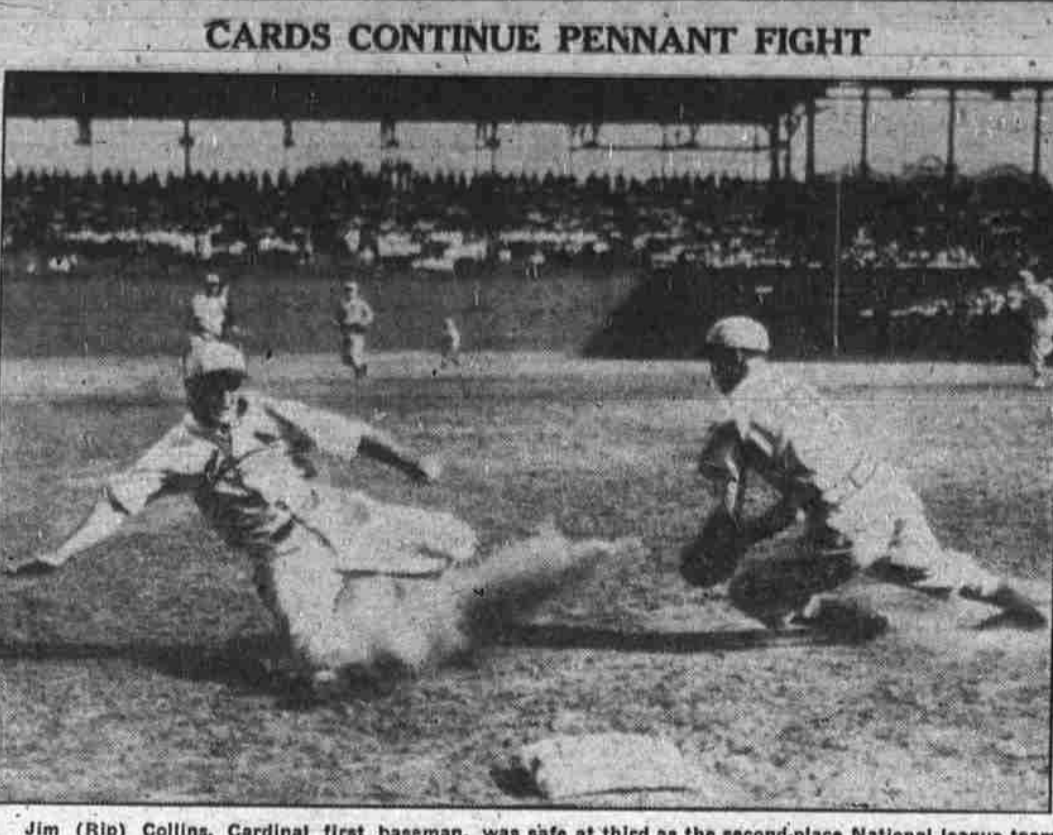

New York State Attorney General John J. Bennett is laying a solid foundation for his gubernatorial aspirations. Very quietly he has built a personal political machine in every county—ready to hum whenever he gives the word. Insiders prophesy that you will hear a lot about Mr. Bennett before 1940.

But not in 1936. It is on the cards for Governor Lehman to run again next year whether he wants to or not. Bennett is none too fond of Lehman, but he has no wish to run afoul of the Farley juggernaut. You hear it said in high democratic quarters that FDR will insist that Lehman stick by the ship—and that Roosevelt's chances of carrying the state would be materially weakened if Lehman were not the candidate.

Beneficiary—

Bystanders need not be surprised if Herbert Hoover comes out at the proper time—which would still be some months ahead—for Colonel Frank Knox. Well-posted sources figure that will be the logical outcome of his activity in trying to line up state delegations.

The more states the ex-president mops up in advance the fewer favorite sons will crop up at convention time to complicate matters. Moreover the bloc of Hoover delegates—while very unlikely to be

Silent Planes Seen In Future

LONDON (UP)—Silent aircraft, with even the hum of the wind through the bracing wires eliminated, will be possible in the near future, it is believed here.

Early next year the Bristol Aircraft Company will market a radical aero engine which is the quietest motor ever fitted to a flying machine. After 10 years of experiments, the firm's engineers have perfected, on a commercial scale, a sleeve-valve engine capable of operating at the high stresses necessary in an aero motor.

For several months a 500 horsepower unit, weighing only 750 pounds has been in operation with different type aircraft. It has been tried by the air ministry, whose experiments have subjected it to more stringent tests than usual.

Using the sleeve-valve system for aircraft means several advantages. The size of the engine is less, the heat generated in the exhaust pipes is lowered, petrol and oil consumption is smaller, and noise is considerably reduced.

The Bristol engineers believe that this type engine could, would effective silencers and expansion chambers, be made almost as noiseless as that of a luxury motor car.

Another plane noise—the whirring of the propeller—also is being overcome by air ministry experiments at Farnborough. They have

Colbert Acts Dramatic Role In 'Private Worlds' Picture With Great Skill And Feeling

In her first motion picture appearance since she won the Motion Picture Academy award for 1934, Claudette Colbert proves her right to that prize and again demonstrates her startling versatility in a role entirely different from her past ones. The picture is Walter Wanger's psychological love drama, "Private Worlds," which opened today at the Lyric Theatre.

Cast in the leading role of a daring and intelligent picture that sweeps aside all the old illusions about love to show the inhibitions, complexes and repressions that are the true villains of romance, Miss Colbert appears as a trimly efficient, cool and capable woman doctor; a woman seemingly without personal affections—but with a great love for the suffering.

Miss Colbert and Joel McCrea are carrying on important scientific work in their posts at a hospital for the insane when the appointment of a new doctor, Charles Boyer, as head of the hospital, disrupts their little world.

McCrea is attached to his quiet and dependent little wife, Joan

Bennett, but he is lured from her by Boyer's vampire sister. The antagonism between Miss Colbert and Boyer flares up. Changes in hospital routine causes riots in the danger ward and a serious situation.

Finally Joan Bennett, who has learned of her husband's infidelity, collapses and is faced with possible loss of her mind. In her desperate and successful efforts to unman the tangle of all their lives, Miss Colbert reveals herself in her true colors. She learns that she has taken refuge from love in the memory of a dead sweetheart and that her apparent hatred for Boyer actually conceals a growing love for him.

Phyllis Bottome's successful novel of the same name furnished the original for "Private Worlds," which was skillfully directed by Gregory LaCava.

Joel McCrea and Joan Bennett render particularly praiseworthy performances in roles that give them ample opportunity for real display of their talents. Sam Hinds, Jean Rouverol and Big Boy Williams stand out in minor roles.

The leaves of Turkish tobacco are strung one by one like beads (see how it is done in the picture). After the leaves are strung they are packed in bales (see picture)—sometimes as many as 80,000 leaves to the bale.

We have on hand at all times for CHESTERFIELD cigarettes upwards of 350,000 bales of Turkish tobacco...

The pleasing aroma and flavor of Turkish tobacco is almost necessary if you want a good cigarette.

Turkish tobacco is more costly when you take into account that you have to pay 35c a pound duty, but we have to have it to blend with our mild ripe home-grown tobaccos.

It helps make Chesterfields milder, it helps give them better taste. Just try them.
