Thanksgiving To Bring Cessation Of Business

Business comes to a halt in Big Spring Thursday for the people to enter into the spirit of Thanksgiving, with song, praise and feasting.

Heralding the advent of the annual day when thanks are offered up for Providential goodness during the year, union services will be held at 7:30 p. m. today in the First Baptist church.

Thursday there will be special Thanksgiving services at the St. Thomas Catholic church, the Christian Science church, and the St. Mary's Episcopal church.

Stores and all public offices—the city, county, and postoffice—will remain closed during the day.

Schools will be closed Thursday and Friday, and many teachers are taking advantage of the holidays to attend the state teachers association meeting in Dallas.

Not a few families in Big Spring will have their tables graced with traditional turkey or juicy hen, while the cold wave meant that many farm families would have tinsy sausage, backbone and spare-ribs added to the menu.

In the union service tonight, the message of the evening will be brought by Rev. J. J. Strickland, district missionary for the Baptists.

Dr. D. F. McConnell, pastor of the ministerial association, will preside, and the Choral club, under direction of Mrs. G. C. Schurman, will offer "Thanks Be to God" (Dickson-Lucana).

Holy communion will be celebrated at 9:30 a. m. Thursday in the St. Mary's Episcopal church with the venerable J. W. Hayes, Colorado, as the celebrant.

At services starting at 10 a. m. See SERVICES, Page 4, Col. 5

LANSING, Kan., Nov. 23 (AP)—Twenty-one convict survivors of a penitentiary poison alcohol drinking party, which took the lives of three participants, were reported out of danger today by Warden Kirk Prather.

Ten of the prison inmates who Sunday imbibed two gallons of a pillowed compound containing methyl alcohol were able to return to their jobs in the penitentiary coal mine, Prather reported.

France, Germany In Peace Accord

Powers Agree To Renounce War Threats

Action Seen As Cornerstone To Future European Peace

PARIS, Nov. 23 (AP)—A French-German agreement to submit all future disputes to consultation, rather than to threaten each other with war, was announced officially here today.

Announcement of the "war renunciation" pact came a few hours before the scheduled arrival of British Prime Minister Chamberlain and Foreign Minister Viscount Halifax for talks from which a virtual French-British military alliance was expected.

The French-German understanding, a development European statesmen have been awaiting as a possible cornerstone on which to build European peace and collaboration, complements a British-German anti-war accord signed at Munich Sept. 30 by Chancellor Hitler and Chamberlain.

The new accord goes farther, however, by recognizing formally the present French-German frontier.

In other words, Hitler will promise again in writing that Germany lays no further claim to Alsace-Lorraine, provinces returned to France by Germany after the World War and over which the two countries have fought through their history.

The French office, making known the fact the agreement had been reached, hinted the signatures may be affixed to it when German Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop visits Paris, probably Dec. 1.

The accord amounts to a reaffirmation of "the spirit of Munich," and is labelled by its supporters as a determination to solve international differences by consultation rather than by warfare or threats of war.

French and German statesmen have been negotiating it since shortly after Premier Edouard Daladier returned from the Munich meeting, at which Chamberlain, Premier Mussolini

Nazis Levy On Jewish Fortunes To Collect $400,000,000 Fine

BERLIN, Nov. 23 (AP)—The German government ordered a levy of 20 percent of Jewish fortunes exceeding $2,000 to pay the $400,000,000 fine imposed for the assassination of Ernst Vom Rath, Paris embassy secretary, by a Jewish boy.

The decree stipulates: "A contribution of one billion reichsmarks ($400,000,000) will be collected from German Jews and those Jews without nationality in the form of a tax levy on their fortune."

"Foreign Jews are exempted from the levy."

"The levy will not be imposed if the entire fortune, after deduction of all liabilities, does not exceed 5,000 reichsmarks ($2,000)."

Payments are to be made to the state treasury. Payments by insurance companies to Jews for damage done their shops and synagogues during the Nov. 10 violence, after Vom Rath's death, are to be turned over to the government.

These amounts will be accepted as partial payment of the levy. If the insurance payments exceed the 20 percent levy, however, the entire amount will be confiscated by the government.

The entire 20 percent levy must be paid by August 15, 1939. Jews must make their payments without further notice and will be subject to further penalties if they fail to do so.

Their financial condition as of Nov. 12, 1938, when the levy was announced, will determine the size of their contributions.

Any Jew desiring to emigrate must pay his full 20 percent before he can leave.

250 ARE MISSING IN LANDSLIDES

CASTRIES, St. Lucia, British West Indies, Nov. 23 (AP)—Rescue workers today listed 250 persons as missing, many of them believed to be dead, after a series of landslides which crashed down this island's steep mountain sides following three weeks of torrential rains.

Fifty-six dead and 32 injured had been recovered, but officials said the exact toll probably never would be known since many were buried under tons of earth.

Over 500 refugees were being cared for by the British colonial government. Business men estimated property loss at $500,000.

MERCURY DIPS 10 SEASON'S LOW OF 22

Stoves were turned high and extra blankets were put to use in Big Spring today as the winter's severest cold wave sent the mercury skidding to a new low. Official thermometers had a minimum reading of 22 here this morning.

The frigid blast was driving southward across the state, pushing against a bank of warm clouds that kept freezing temperatures out of the coastal country overnight.

Ten degree weather already had moved across the South Plains around Lubbock, and, the forecast said, was expected to hold enough of its sting to bring freezing temperatures as far south as Houston, San Antonio and Austin tonight.

Continued cold weather was in prospect for this section with freezing temperatures forecast.

Frost and a slim chance for snow was likewise predicted in Central Texas although skies were clear over most of the Panhandle. Frost was evident this morning in Dallas, where temperatures hit 27, as they did in Fort Worth. The county agent in Fort Worth feared some damage to young wheat and oats.

Sample low temperatures: Amarillo 13, Wichita Falls and Abilene 21, Borger 17, Tyler and Corsicana 33, San Antonio 46, Brownsville 64.

ELECTION CANVASS DELAYED BY SLOW COUNTY REPORTS

AUSTIN, Nov. 23 (AP)—The state election board was unable to canvass returns from the November 8 general election today and recessed subject to call of Gov. James V. Allred when all counties have reported their returns.

Secretary Ed Clark said 39 counties had not reported.

They were Angelina, Bosque, Briscoe, Brooks, Coke, Collingsworth, Cooke, Dallam, Dickens, Edwards, Falls, Fannin, Garza, Hill, Hamford, Hardin, Haskell, Hockley, Irion, Jeff Davis, Kimble, Lamb, Lampasas, Loving, Morris, Ochiltree, Potter, Randall, Refugio, Roberts, San Augustine, San Saba, Scurry, Stonewall, Valverde, Van Zandt, Ward, Willacy and Zapata.

The notice set out the city's intention of constructing an earthen dam 47 feet high, 140 feet long, having a bottom width of 253 feet and a top width of 30 feet. Average width of the lake to be impounded would be 783 feet and the length of the lake at about 8,000 feet. Average depth of stored water was estimated at 17,225 feet, yielding a storage capacity of 2,477 acre feet.

Demands for city purposes would not exceed 600 acre feet per annum.

Hearing was set for 10 a. m. Dec. 1. See CITY LAKE, Page 4, Col. 5

Thousands To Attend Teacher Convention

DALLAS, Nov. 23 (AP)—An attendance of from 10,000 to 15,000 was forecast for the annual meeting of the Texas State Teachers association as executive board members prepared to wind up preparations for the opening of the convention tomorrow.

The board meets tonight. All proposed legislation is expected to be placed second to an effort to obtain enactment of a measure by which the state car match dollar for dollar the teachers' payment into the teachers' retirement fund. Scheduled to come before the social science section and probably the whole convention is the matter of permitting foreigners to teach in Texas schools.

The convention program opens at 10:30 a. m. with Dr. George W. Truett, pastor of the First Baptist church and president of the Baptist World Alliance, delivering a Thanksgiving sermon.

R. H. Brister of Waco is president of the association.

Water Rights Hearing Set For Dec. 19

Reservoir To The East First Step In Big Project

The City of Big Spring looked to the east today for a solution of its water supply problem.

That the city has decided on constructing a dam and impounding an artificial lake east of here was substantiated in a legal announcement of a hearing on water rights for Moss creek in Austin on December 19.

Plans Revealed Although it involved no final decision on the part of the city commission, the announcement was taken as good indication that the site under consideration below Moss Spring will be the first major step in a half million dollar city-PWA water development project.

At a meeting of the city commission Tuesday evening, City Manager E. V. Spence and engineers from the firm of Freese and Nichols unfolded a plan for construction of a dam, principal item for which the citizens of this city voted Sept. 27 in approving a $275,000 bond issue.

While details were not complete, it was hinted strongly that if land purchase does not require an unreasonable amount of money the city may be in a position to construct not only the Moss creek dam, but a second dam of almost equal proportions in the same general area.

It was estimated, unofficially that the two units would together furnish an average daily supply in excess of 2,000,000 gallons.

Stating that the city had filed claim for water rights on Moss creek on Nov. 2, the legal notice said that the dam under consideration would bear north and east some 5,150 feet from the southwest corner of section 15-31-18, T&P survey. It is about 8 1/2 miles east from the eastern city limits of Big Spring.

The notice set out the city's intention of constructing an earthen dam 47 feet high, 140 feet long, having a bottom width of 253 feet and a top width of 30 feet. Average width of the lake to be impounded would be 783 feet and the length of the lake at about 8,000 feet. Average depth of stored water was estimated at 17,225 feet, yielding a storage capacity of 2,477 acre feet.

22 Due To Die On Highways

Death Appears With Holidays, Averages Show

AUSTIN, Nov. 23 (AP)—The grisly prospect of 22 new graves and 242 hospital patients entered the Thanksgiving picture today.

State police predicted traffic accidents from Thursday until next Monday would take that toll of human life and limb.

Chief Fred Hickman of the highway patrol detailed 350 officers to strategic positions for double duty for that period explaining it usually is the most reckless of the year. Football games, hunting expeditions and holiday excursions put heavy traffic on highways and byways, he said.

Fifty patrolmen will police roads leading to Austin, site of the University of Texas-Texas A. and M. college football game, tomorrow. The same detail will switch to the Dallas-Fort Worth scene Saturday for the T.C.U.-S.M.U. game Saturday.

Hickman said 75 men assigned to driver's license bureau work would be detailed to road duty over the holiday period.

He added that many local police departments planned unprecedented campaigns against Thanksgiving traffic hazards.

FD'S RAP AT GEORGIA'S PWA POLICY IS CALLED POLITICS

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Nov. 23 (AP)—President Roosevelt's arraignment of Georgia for seeking federal aid for public works without setting up legal enabling machinery caused somewhat of a stir in state official and political circles today.

Coming from the chief executive's own "other home" in Georgia, at a press conference late yesterday, it overshadowed interest here in an announcement that Hugh R. Wilson, ambassador to Berlin, would arrive Sunday or Monday to report on German violence against Jews.

Some observers attempted to read politics in the presidential statement that Georgia was the only state in the union which had failed to cooperate with the federal government on public works and would not receive another red cent until it had set up enabling acts.

There was not the slightest hint of this in official circles, however. Moreover, there were reports that Senator Walter F. George, conservative democrat whom Mr. Roosevelt sought unsuccessfully to defeat, may come here for a chat during the president's two weeks stay.

Such a report went the rounds after the president told reporters yesterday he had made no appointments for conferences here except that for Ambassador Wilson, who is coming down from Washington after reporting at the state department.

He said he may also see Speaker Bankhead and Majority Leader Rayburn of the house while here, but no definite appointments had been made.

Holidays Bring Many Visitors To The City

Continual Stream Of Travelers Are Going In And Out Of The Town In Quest Of Thanksgiving Affairs

Today, a continual stream of travelers are going in and out of the city in quest of Thanksgiving holiday affairs. Everything is being made ready for the return of college students while many Big Spring people journey to various Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma points for visits with friends and relatives.

Only a few of the Texas Tech students are coming home because only one day is allowed for Thanksgiving. Several of the college students are remaining at school to attend football games but the majority of them are gathering around the home fireside.

Comings and goings of Big Spring people sounds something like this:

Judith Pickle, University of Texas student, is expected home for the holidays as is her brother, Jake Pickle who is area supervisor for N. Y. A. at Stephenville.

BRITAIN COAST GALES TARGET

LONDON, Nov. 23 (AP)—Wild November gales battered shipping today and smashed at the shores of Great Britain.

While lifeboats went to the aid of small craft, the liner Queen Mary, which left New York Nov. 18, was unable to land 200 passengers and 1,200 bags of mail at Plymouth and was forced to proceed to Southampton.

The gale caused postponement of the battleship Royal Oak's departure from Portsmouth for Norway to carry home the body of Queen Maud.

Three persons were killed by falling walls at Taunton and Stroud.

Hospital Notes

Big Spring Hospital
G. E. Smith of Sterling City route, Big Spring, was admitted to the hospital Tuesday afternoon for treatment of an eye infection.

Jim Nixon, 203 Gregg street, was admitted to the hospital for treatment Tuesday afternoon.

T. C. Thomas of the Alta Vista apartments underwent minor surgery at the hospital Wednesday morning.

J. F. Wolcott, county tax collector-assessor, who underwent a tonsillectomy at the hospital Tuesday morning, has returned to his home.

V. L. Roberts, residing on Gregg street, returned to his home Tuesday evening after being treated for an arm injury received in an automobile accident near Odessa Tuesday morning.

SEEK TO CLEAR WAY FOR CONSTRUCTION OF MANY ARMORIES

AUSTIN, Nov. 23 (AP)—The state supreme court indicated today it would make an early decision on a suit by the Texas National Guard Armory board seeking to clear the way for construction of approximately 70 armories in more than 50 cities.

The board's motion that the case be advanced was granted, and the court set it for hearing next Wednesday before all nine judges.

The board is seeking to compel the attorney general to approve a proposed revenue bond issue of $1,500,000. If the supreme court grants the mandamus, the bonds can be sold and a grant of $3,125,000 proceeds can be obtained from the federal PWA.

Position Of Hungarian Premier Is Unsteady

BUDAPEST, Nov. 23 (AP)—A motion sponsored by Premier Bela Imred's government was defeated 95 to 115 today in a test vote in the lower house of parliament.

Whether Imred would resign was not immediately apparent.

The lower house turned down a proposal relating to the routine acceptance of ten new deputies from the annexed upper Hungarian region who were known to be friendly to the premier.

The opposition insisted on considering Imred's Ruthenian and domestic policies first, charging he was trying to introduce an authoritarian regime.

Trial Progresses

HARRISON, Mich., Nov. 23 (AP)—The state called its first witnesses today in the case of Carl Jack Livingston, accused of murdering Isaiah Leebove, chairman of the board of the Mammoth Petroleum & Refining Co.

Meanwhile the defense gave notice of its intention to contend that Livingston "is not guilty by reason of insanity."

Livingston is a veteran of the Oklahoma, Texas and Michigan oil fields.

A Plain-Facts Talk On Red Cross Situation From Chapter Chairman

Silvia Philips, chapter chairman for the Red Cross, wants to talk to you—

"Folks, let's talk some plain facts. Our sister cities on both sides of us have completed their Red Cross quotas, and they are as large as the quotas assessed us, based on population."

"It may be that we haven't handled the affairs of the Red Cross to suit you, and you may want a new set-up, which would please me very much."

"It may be, too, that you kind of got used to human suffering and it doesn't interest you very much, just as long as you are well fed and have a warm place to live and nothing to worry about."

"It may be, too, that the fact that starvation really exists in several parts of this city with more than $4,000,000 in deposits in the two banks. You may be one of those who are brushing aside your skirts and saying, 'I'm not my brother's keeper.'"

"This morning we have some $1,700 and some 1,432 members out of a membership quota of 2,500."

"And this winter when you hear of someone who is sick and suffering, I just want you to ask yourself one question: 'What did I give the Red Cross?'"

"Fifty cents out of each Red Cross membership stays right here for this chapter to spend to relieve suffering."

"What are YOU doing about it?"

Homing Pigeon, Saved By Big Spring Woman, Released To Go On Its Way

Braving icy winds, a score of people gathered on top of the Petroleum building Wednesday morning to witness a strange spectacle.

Mrs. W. A. Kinnon, caretaker of the building, was releasing a homing pigeon she had saved from death five days ago. The bird, apparently one of the army's, fluttered back with the stiff northeast breeze momentarily, circled and then flew off to the west.

Beneath an identification band it carried a note telling of how Mrs. Kinnon found and saved the bird, and asked that acknowledgment be furnished when the bird returns to its headquarters.

It was on the evening of November 17 that Mrs. Kinnon, who had gone to the Petroleum building roof to check on the elevator, found the pigeon, apparently dead from cold and starvation.

She took it to her home, gave it a course of heat treatments, revived it and fed it a ration of grain and water until it was strong enough to fly. Word that she had the bird attracted considerable interest among some law enforcement officers and airport attaches, and they were on hand to witness the take-off Wednesday morning.

'NO CEILING'

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 23 (AP)—Possibility of snow for Thanksgiving was predicted today by Newark airport weather bureau as the metropolitan area was blanketed by fog so thick airport attendants reported "the birds are walking on it instead of flying."

A New Jersey railroad crossing crash, at last one traffic death and scores of auto accidents were attributed to the "peasouper" which caused cancellation of all flights at the airport since 7 p. m. last night and 6 a. m. today.

The weather bureau said the widespread fog "broke wide open" about dawn.

MARKETS Wall Street

NEW YORK, Nov. 23 (AP)—The Thanksgiving fare was spread thinly in the stock market today and provided only enough nourishment for a meagre rally.

The holiday tomorrow, while it tempted some closing out of speculative accounts on the bear side, seemed to be one of the influences making traders play safe on the spectators' benches.

There was barely enough business to keep stock tickers going much of the time, although a mid-day buying spurt was a help in raising transactions to about a million shares.

The slow-footed rally marked a change from the recent descent from the 1938 tops but brokers noted little difference in the essential characteristics of the market. In bonds and commodities, too, markets more or less were stalemated.

She planned to attend the state teachers' meeting, the Misses Bradley were to visit with their family in Dallas. Mrs. Sneed was to visit her parents in Coppel, and Miss Rhoton was to visit her sister, Dorothy, a student in TWC at Fort Worth and also attend the convention. On the return trip they were to be joined by Gladys Smith, who has been visiting in Greenview with friends and relatives.

City Lake

19 in the office of the board of water engineers at Austin. A. H. Dunlap, a member of the state board of water engineers, was here Monday and Tuesday to inspect the proposed site.

How soon the city would be ready to start work on the project depended in a large measure on how quickly funds for the lake could be secured. If settlements can be reached without necessity of legal action, responsible city officials estimated that engineers could be ready within a month or six weeks to call for bids on the job.

Controlling factors in influencing the city commission to favor the Moss creek site were the type of drainage area and the proximity of an auxiliary supply of almost equal amount through construction of a second dam. The possibility of two other smaller lakes along the pipe line routes was considered.

The fact that two dams are a possibility was received as good news, especially since the work might be accomplished on the same funds set aside originally for one lake. It also was pointed out that amount from the two lakes would yield a supply sufficient for virtually all the municipal needs, thus rehabilitating the suburban supplies south of town so that they could be pumped vigorously in dry years without harm or immediate danger of depletion.

In case the 20 per cent levy does not yield the full billion marks ($400,000,000) of the fine, the finance ministry reserves the right to raise the percentage to such higher figure as may be necessary.

Refugee Transfer Plan Unsatisfactory

LONDON, Nov. 23 (AP)—Jewish assistance organizations, insisting that speed is the prime necessity in transferring refugees from Germany, dislike the British proposals for emigration to colonies, their comment indicated today.

White's United Palestine Appeal organization in Washington described the colonial plan as a "mirage," the Rev. M. L. Perlewig, leader of the British section of the World Jewish Congress, said in London:

"Tens of thousands of Jews under arrest or in concentration camps cannot hope to survive while immigration schemes are maturing. We need possibilities of emigration today, not tomorrow."

A statement issued by an American Jewish delegation now in London said the British government plans for settlement in section of Africa and British Guiana, "inspired little hope of immediate relief."

Jews who would comment here almost unanimously held that Palestine was the most practical place for settlement.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Nostaline and family will spend the Thanksgiving holidays with relatives in San Antonio.

Why Make a Sunset of the Sunrise?

For some people the day is over just as soon as it begins—a tiresome twin of an empty yesterday.

There are others who meet the challenge of each new day with the hearty confidence of our pioneer forefathers, who believed—and proved—that success was never final and failure never fatal. Despite yesterday's success—or failure—they greet every new dawn as a dare. They have seen people in America rewarded more generously with comforts and conveniences than the peoples of other lands. They know that each sunrise in America ushers in new opportunities... to those who keep their chins up... who never lose that lusty courage and willingness that made ours the most envied nation on Earth.

wouldn't be scared to come around to your own garage on the next cold morning, while you prove how fast you can start after changing to his exclusive OIL-PLATING

LAST NIGHT when this car went to bed in its heatless garage, did all the oil drain down to the crankcase, leaving the working parts dry—and the morning start doubtful?

No, not with Conoco Germ Processed oil keeping the engine OIL-PLATED. Night and day, week in and week out, no engine parts drain dry of OIL-PLATING. For the Germ Process—patented—brings you the lubricant that bonds to metal as closely as any plating. You know that platings don't drain down and that includes OIL-PLATING.

So there's always OIL-PLATING to start with, because it never goes away! That's why every OIL-PLATED part in your engine is always safely sliding—easing the starter—before any winter oil that depends on free-flow alone could come climbing way up from the crankcase.

You can see where starting wear is out, along with starting delay. And you can see your Germ Processed oil staying close to the "Full" mark weeks longer. Your own experience will back up Your Mileage Merchant—the man to change to, today.

Many Big Spring fans, accustomed to their annual Thanksgiving grid menu (they've missed so many turkey dinners during the past few years that it has reached the point now where it doesn't matter), intend to go elsewhere to satisfy that urge and get one long last look at the good old game. Despite the fact that the local high school crew has closed its books for the season, the faithful, other than the fact that they may be bucking a bit of cold weather, will not have to go far to sit in an argument.

Sweetwater, of course, moves to Breckenridge, 180 miles distant, for a tilt that should be interesting but for those fans who have seen Sweetwater anywhere from two to four times this season, there's excellent goings on up Lubbock way where Lubbock's Westerners and Amarillo collide.

Then if that doesn't satisfy the fans, there is one even more attractive in Vernon where the Lions and Tom Jeffries' Coyotes of Wichita Falls come to lock horns.

All three of the aforementioned games will probably be played before sellout crowds.

To the west Odessa and Bowie of El Paso exchange greetings in a game at Odessa and, if you haven't seen Joe Coleman's smart little band of Broncos perform this season, it might be a good idea to sit in.

The West Texas Class B card, too, is interesting. Wink's Wildcats and Pecos meet in Wink, Midland and Monahan are to be enemies in an affair at Midland and Crane and Kermit get together at Kermit.

Experiencing a lull in the college lineup with the Texas-Texas A. and M. game outstanding at Austin. Officials of most other schools wisely passed over the holidays and gave the spotlight to the high schools which would have drawn the crowds anyway.

Picking out the high winners at this stage is quite difficult but, in the more important goes, it looks like (winners in capital letters):

SWEETWATER in a hard one with Breckenridge.

LUBBOCK should amble in over Amarillo, Walter Webster and his natives look better on paper than to Bill Thompson and others.

VERNON may edge Wichita Falls in a tossup affair. The Lions sold the advantage in playing at home, may score their seventh victory in 11 starts over the Coyotes.

TEENESSEE can dispose of Temple.

BOWIE may have trouble but 'an roll over Odessa. Coach Coleman is troubled with too many injuries.

GAINESVILLE should throw Sherman.

HIGHLAND PARK ranks top-heavy favorite over Sulphur Springs.

LUFKIN should rout Livingston.

TYLER will have no trouble with Marshall.

CORPUS CHRISTI, once ranked as the best eleven in Texas, can dispose of Robstown.

In the national college picture, where it's easier to pick a winner: TEXAS A&M can win but not so easily over Texas university.

ARKANSAS, despite injuries, should drop Tulsa.

USC may have trouble with UCLA but should win.

NEBRASKA may not get around Kansas State.

NORTH CAROLINA will defeat Virginia.

TENNESSEE should have no trouble with Kentucky.

We're riding with VANDERBILT to upset Alabama.

MISSOURI looks better than Kansas.

BROWN may surprise Columbia.

VILLANOVA should bowl over Manhattan.

AND CORNELL will have plenty of trouble with Pennsylvania.

Prospects For Girls' Cage Team Bright

Garner Has Veteran Team Back; Bonnie Smith Captain

GARNER, Nov. 23—Winners of 36 of 41 games last season, the Garner girls' basketball team had great prospects of bettering that record as they started drills for an extensive campaign.

H. P. Railback has succeeded Noel Burnett as mentor of the crew this fall and has announced plans to enter the girls in numerous tournaments. Garner will sponsor a girls' tournament December 9-10 and expects a large field to compete.

Reporting for practice last week were Hazel Harland, Evelyn Chapman, Bonnie Lyle Smith, Lucille Long, Irene Brown, Viola Petty, Elizabeth Brown, Barbara Bell, Evelyn Sample, Melva Lee Weed, Arlene Chapman and Elva Jo McGregor. Miss Smith has been elected captain.

Scribe Reports That Ace Parker Backing Duke Over Pitt

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (AP)—It begins to look very much as if Jimmy Braddock is thinking of fighting again—either exhibitions or regular bouts. . . . And all your pals wish you wouldn't, Jim. . . . Ace Parker, an old Duke Blue, is just about hocking the blue jays to back the Blue Devils against Pitt. . . . Fry Goes Into Scoring Lead

KINGSVILLE, Nov. 23 (AP)—Lesley Fry, a young man who mixes touchdowns with his educational pursuits, held the national collegiate football scoring lead today.

Playing with the Texas College of Arts and Industries against the University of Mexico at Harlingen last night, Fry scored 40 points to lead the Javelinas to a 53-7 victory.

Fry ran his total to 133 points, 36 more than Gaylon Smith of Southwestern (Tenn.), who was the national leader through last week's play.

Fry now has 20 touchdowns and 13 points after touchdowns.

Farm Income For Year Is Below That Of 1937

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23 (AP)—The agriculture department estimated today the national cash farm income for the first 10 months of 1938 as $6,198,000,000.

The income for the corresponding period last year was $7,963,000,000, or about 12 per cent more.

Included in the estimate were government benefit payments totaling $395,000,000, or about 11 per cent more than the $355,000,000 in federal aid paid out during the first 10 months of 1937.

The department estimated that the farm cash income for the 12 months of 1938 would be about $7,635,000,000 compared with $8,000,000,000 last year.

The October cash income was estimated at $839,000,000 compared with $912,000,000 in the same month last year.

Thomas Twins Open For Garner In Game Today

GARNER, Nov. 23—The Stanton Bulldogs came to town today to try and upset the new PSAA grid champions, Garner's Hill Billies, in a six-man grid classic.

The Buffs are rated as a real threat and may unseat the new titlists. Six weeks ago the Martin county six played a great battle with the Forsan Buffs only to lose out, 7-0.

Coach Floyd Burnett of the Billies announced that the Thomas twins, R. C. and R. V., would probably be inserted into the Garner lineup along with Marlin Brown, Marvin Daugherty, Sonny Chapman and John Bailey.

The Stantonites' ace threat is Priddy, a triple threat back, whose favorite weapon is his ability to slice through opposition lines. He will be assisted in the Stanton backfield by Stamps and Bond while Heaton, Crowe and Newman will probably open in the wall.

CRISLER WOULD LEAVE GRID RULES ALONE

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 23 (AP)—"Let football alone," Fritz Crisler, University of Michigan gridiron mentor, advised last night in an interview.

When asked about proposed changes in the rules, Crisler commented: "If we make three or four changes every year, what kind of a game will we have in 50 years? I think we have a good game now, evenly balanced."

Penn-Cornell: The spot for Cornell to clinch the Ivy league championship and the Big Red, featuring one of the nation's most powerful line, ought to make the grade safely, Cornell.

Tennessee-Kentucky: Tennessee's Volunteers should have no particular worries here even though history shows Kentucky teams have engineered some amazing upsets in the course of this rivalry, Tennessee.

Brown-Columbia: It's hard to believe that Columbia can have any more hard luck. The hunch here is on Columbia.

Southern California-U. C. L. A.: Possibly the toughest one on the slate to figure. Each has a major objective—Southern California to earn a share in the conference title; U. C. L. A. to bowl over a "hated" home-town rival. The coin says Southern California.

Alabama-Vanderbilt: Another enie-menie affair. We'll take Alabama power over Vanderbilt trickery.

Missouri-Kansas: Missouri.

North Carolina State-Carnegie: Carnegie.

Texas-Texas A. and M.: The Aggies.

Virginia-North Carolina: North Carolina.

Tulsa-Arkansas: Taking hard-luck Arkansas.

Breck Opposes Sweetwater On Own Gridiron

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

Associated Press Staff

A battleground of traditional football games, Thanksgiving Day is due to bring the crowning of eleven champions in Texas schoolboy ranks while two other districts defer their crucial struggles until the holiday activities are over.

Headline tilts are scheduled at Lubbock, Vernon, Breckenridge, Waco and Pharr-San Juan-Alamo where nothing is problematical and the results definitely mean district titles, but games that could, by starting upsets, turn the tide of interest.

The battle at Lubbock Thursday between Amarillo's Golden Sandies and the Lubbock Westerners will pit two of the outstanding backs of interscholastic league football against each other—Blazing Bill Thompson of the Sandies and Welter (Jumbo) Webster of the Westerners. It will settle the Panhandle championship.

Vernon and Wichita Falls, both undefeated in conference play, are set to battle before a sell-out crowd at Vernon.

Breckenridge entertains Sweetwater in the Oil Belt finale. These teams, neither unbeaten, won division titles.

Waco and Temple offer the classic of Central Texas; each with a good record, each unbeaten in conference play and Waco also undefeated and untied outside the district.

Welter Fight Has Experts Guessing

Both Armstrong And Garcia Are In Top Condition

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK, Nov. 23 (AP)—The little group of serious thinkers that gathers in Mike Jacobs' back parlor each afternoon to swap guesses on the outcome of Friday night's welterweight championship fight between Henry Armstrong and Cefero Garcia is making almost no progress.

The main difficulty seems to be that each is asking the other: "Who do you like?" and invariably is getting the same answer: "I dunno. Who do you like?" There's no variation in the conversation.

Communing with himself, the individual expert stares at the ceiling and mutters: "Wish I could pick the winner of this one. If I sniff many more the sport editor's habit of start asking questions."

The best guess is that Henry and Cefero will be in there firing both barrels or 15 rounds, or until one of them drops. Both are in the very peak of condition, on the words of their trainers, and they look it. Armstrong looks much better than he did before he incurred the back injury that forced postponement of the scrap from its original date of Nov. 2.

JOHN GARNER AND THE FUTURE

The abundant publicity given the 70th birthday Tuesday of Vice President John N. Garner — who seemed the least concerned of anybody — has been the signal for another outbreak of comment on the possibilities of the noted Texan's democratic nomination for the presidency in 1940. There has been much speculation on Garner's position in the Washington scene before and after the general election two years hence.

Well, Garner's position in Washington and in democratic party councils is not much of a matter of speculation. The truth is, his position is an extremely high one, and the insiders can tell you that in some quarters he exercises even more influence than does his "chief," Franklin D. Roosevelt. Cactus Jack, the silent Texan, hasn't made a public speech since he was elected to the vice presidency in 1932; he made few before then. His policy has been one of cloakroom, behind-the-scenes work, and he is a master at political maneuvering without benefit of fanfare. The Washington crowd and the party leaders know this, and Garner's ability will continue to command respect.

As to the matter of Garner's nomination, there is, of course, much material for debate. It is granted generally that his age would be the chief obstacle, that a man who has reached his Biblical three-score-and-ten is no advanced in years to assume the presidency. On the other hand, observers point out correctly that Garner is an extremely "young" man for his age, that he has safeguarded his health and is in prime physical condition, as mentally alert as a man many years his junior. The Uvalde man has been in public life more than 40 years now, and his political sagacity is admitted to be as potent if not more so, than it ever was.

Garner would be acceptable as a presidential nominee to many strong elements in the democratic party. Years ago, when the Texan went to congress, he was regarded somewhat as a liberal, but the changing trend in governmental affairs and the advent of the new deal have served to put Garner's views pretty much on the conservative side. The truth is, he holds government in a sane, business-like, and common-sense view; a view with which few could find fault. In his acceptance speech in 1932 he said:

"There are just two things to this government, as I see it. The first is to safeguard the lives and properties of our people. The second is to insure that each of us has a chance to work out his destiny according to his talents. This involves protecting him from being injured or oppressed by those of superior acquisitiveness and perhaps less conscience."

Which is a very acceptable theory. But the big issue, it would seem, is what Garner himself would do toward an offer of the presidential nomination. He is in need of no greater honor or wealth. He has done his service to his nation. Would Cactus Jack, who likes his pecan trees and his hunting and fishing more than he does his Washington office, be interested in the 1940 contest? His attitude will have to be determined before any more factories are debated. And Cactus Jack doesn't talk much.

On The Record

By Dorothy Thompson

(Miss Thompson's column is published as an informational and news feature. Her views are personal and are not to be construed as necessarily reflecting the editorial opinion of The Herald.—Editor's Note.)

NOTHING "SINGULAR" ABOUT IT

The German government, in re- calling the ambassador to Wash- ington, Dr. Dieckhoff, says that he is recalled in order to "inform Foreign Minister Joachim von Rib- bentrop in detail regarding public sentiment in the United States and the singular attitude toward do- mestic events in Germany mani- fested in various declarations by President Roose- velt and other important United States personalities."

It is to be hoped that Dr. Dieckhoff will inform Mr. Rib- bentrop that there is nothing at all "singular" in the attitude of President Roose- velt, but that on the contrary the president is acting in line with a tradition which has been con- sistent since the beginning of this republic.

John Quincy Adams said in 1791, "The Principle that a whole nation has the right to do whatever it pleases cannot in any sense what- ever be admitted as true. The eternal and immutable laws of jus- tice and of morality are paramount to all human legislation."

Daniel Webster said on Novem- ber 7, 1849, "There is something on earth greater than arbitrary or despotic power, and that is the aroused indignation of the civilized world."

In 1840 our minister to Turkey, David Porter, was instructed to make strong representations to the Turkish ruler in protest against atrocities against Jews in Damas- cus and Rhodes, upon the express direction of President Van Buren.

In 1878 the United States co-op- erated with the great powers at the Congress of Berlin to obtain full and equal rights for the Jews in the Balkans. In this they were supported by the president of the Congress, the great German states- man Bismarck, who declared that the clauses granting religious lib- erty and protecting minorities "have in view an advance in civiliza- tion against which doubtless no cabinet will have objections in principle. The assent of Germany is always given to every motion favorable to religious liberty."

In 1881 Secretary of State James G. Blaine instructed James Rus- sell Lowell, United States minister at London, to seek English co-op- eration in a joint diplomatic move on behalf of the Jews in Russia. In 1902 Secretary of State Hay protested to the Rumanian govern- ment at the express direction of President Theodore Roosevelt. The protest included these words: "The United States offers asylum to the persecuted of all lands. But its sym- pathy with them is no wise impaired by its acts of the oppressor in the light of their effects upon this country, and to judge accordingly."

In 1903, after the Kishineff mas- sacre in Russia, President Roose- velt forwarded to the Tsar of Rus- sia a petition of protest signed by a vast number of American citi- zens and accompanied it with the statement, "In any proper way which beneficial action may be taken, it will be taken, to show the sincerity of the historic Ameri- can position of treating each man on his merits without the least reference to his creed, his race, or his birthplace."

In 1911, President Taft abrogated the treaty of 1832 with Russia because of the Russian govern- ment's maltreatment of the Jews. The immediate cause was the re- fusal of the Russian government to recognize the passports of Ameri- can citizens who were Jews. In 1915, the United States gov- ernment officially interceded in behalf of the persecuted Christians in Armenia. Representations were made to the Turkish government by Secretaries of State Bryan and Lansing and Acting Secretary of State Polk. In this case, it was Russia who asked for American in- tervention, "to prevent the mas- sacre of non-combatant Armenians in Turkish territory."

One provision of the peace con- ference in 1919 that President Wil- son was instrumental in obtaining was the adoption of treaties guar- anteeing minority rights, including the protection of religious minori- ties. Most notable of these was the Polish minorities treaty, which pro- tected the civil, political and reli- gious rights of all minority groups in such newly created states as Poland.

It was declared in this treaty that infractions of the rights of racial, religious or linguistic minorities, "constitute obligations of international concern."

At the peace conference Ger- many gave an express pledge to the United States that she would guarantee protection of her own religious and racial minorities on the same basis as that established for the minorities of Poland. Hence the United States is not limited to general consideration of humanity and mere intercession in connec- tion with Germany's treatment of her racial, religious, or linguistic minorities.

And in 1923 Germany herself successfully invoked the jurisdic- tion of the world court to enforce these very articles against Poland for her infringement of the rights of Germans.

Man About Manhattan

by GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Notes on the big town, jotted down at a quick round-up:
 It isn't often that you see more than one or two mounted cops at a time in New York, and so when about 20 of them wheeled into West street and headed towards the North German Lloyd steamship docks we allowed our curiosity to get the better of us and followed after.

There were about 2,000 men, women and children lining the streets, hissing and jeering. The German steamship Bremen was easing out of her berth on the way to her home port, and the farewells party had arrived to voice its opinion of the way affairs are being conducted in the Fatherland. All of these opinions were unprintable. In addition to the moanings there were scores of foot police, clutching their nightsticks. No bombs were tossed, and therefore no skulls were cracked. But the cat-calls and the rude epithets were an education to the ear. All were addressed personally to Hitler.

George Lowther, actor, writer, bobs up with an interesting aside-light on the late John L. Sullivan's barroom philosophy. Mr. Lowther is planning a biography of the great John L. and in unearthing material he came across this incident:

It appears that John was in his Boston pub one night when a pal rushed up with the news that a mob of socialites were slumming in the district and had just entered a rival pub. "Let's run over there, John," screamed the bloke, "and punch a couple of them snobs in the nose."

"Let's walk there," replied John, removing his apron, "and punch them ALL in the nose."

Arthur Murray failed to name a single debutante in his annual list of "best dancers" in New York. He named eight society women and they are, Mrs. S. Sloan Colt, Mrs. Huntington Hartford, Mrs. Orson Munn, Mrs. John C. Hughes, Mrs. Allen J. McIntosh, Mrs. Edward McVain, Mrs. Henry Faber, and Mrs. Raymond Rubicam.

What makes good dancers? "Well," confessed Mr. Murray, "it isn't just the mastery of new steps or perfect technical execution. It's charm, flexibility, versatility, personality — in other words dance savoir faire, the sense of know-what-to-do. These women all have it — to spare."

Here's the little tragedy of a man who happens to look very much like a celebrity. He is Jim Cope of the A.M.A. and he is a dead ringer for Tom Dewey, our popular young district attorney who was defeated by Governor Lehman in the recent elections. Cope has the same eyes, same hair, same mustache, even hunches his shoulders in the Dewey manner. Cope was constantly mistaken

Sights And Sounds
—by ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — You can look for a mighty, if belated, exploita- tion campaign on the film "Ken- tucky." The picture was in the can before anybody at 20th-Century discovered it. Mr. D. Zanuck, among others, sat up with a start at its first private showing, which might seem strange when you con- sider that Mr. Z. knows what's going on around his lot.

"Kentucky"—shot in color to bolster the box-office that does not lie too heavily in Loretta Young and Richard Greene—is as good as they think it still will not be as weird a surprise as some other Holly- wood has known.

The champion movie dark horse is still "One Night of Love." Grace Moore's first for Columbia. So bad, the studio thought, that they practically abandoned it in mid- field. It was completed, grudgingly, on the good-money-after-bad theory and shown hesitantly, with apologies, in privacy of the studio projection room, to first one and then another. Bolstered by com- plements, the film was subjected to "sneak" preview—and made history.

Much-Ado-About-Something: Driven off location by continued rain when snow was needed, the "Stand Up and Fight" company produced a foot of snow—cold and wet—in three hours on a sunny Southern California day.

Into the maw of the snow ma- chine went 165 tons of ice. From a flexible tube at the other end it spewed—on scenery, trees, rocks—a genuine snowfall.

At 9 a. m. Robert Taylor entered the scene, crouched behind the wreckage of a covered wagon and with melting snow trickling from wagon top to his neck, he and his six-shooter resisted the ambush of Villain Charlie Bickford. All morning they shot, and Taylor got wet-ter and wetter. At noon the shots were finished. So was the snow.

But the honor of Metro was saved. Ordinary conflate and gypsum snow would not have matched the location stuff.

Much-Ado-About-Something—Maybe: The "Hotel Imperial" set, a muddy street in a Polish town just after the war, was a beehive — with only three or four bees.

It was fascinating. Two work- men in hip-boots stood in the mud- dy street, spading up mud, wading a third with a hose sprayed the mud to make it muddy. Occasionally a third spade stepped from the sidelines, joined the group, and spaded. They worked assiduously, with strict attention to duty.

At half an hour's end, the muddy street was still — muddy. It looked exactly as it had looked when work began. But the direc- tor, Robert Florey—a tall young man in bright blue coveralls with a pocket on the knee—seemed hap- pier. So did the men.

Sonja Henie's mamma would just as soon have Sonja quit pic- tures — because they're too hard work for her little girl — Fred Astaire's current film is probably his last for RKO — Sam Pokras, on quick order of Metro, Director Gregory Ratoff, composed "Dying From the Cup of Tomorrow" in 15 minutes. — With Walter Bullock's lyrics the song was sung and re- corded by Warner Baxter three hours later. — For "Wife, Husband & Friend," in which Cesar Romero says he plays the "A."

THE ARMY POST MURDERS

By Virginia Hanson

"I'll see you women down the stairs," Adam said wearily. "You're to wait in the library—together." They went with him docilely enough, but Mrs. Orlington turned back once to eye me coldly. "You're staying?" she asked in- nocently.

I made no answer, and she seemed to expect none. Adam joined me again at the head of the stairs. "I want your story, but not yet." He reached the door of her room and heaved his way. "You stay here," he said gently. "There's no need..."

He was in the girl's room a long time. As the minutes dragged by my last lingering hope died. I leaned against the wall and wished he would never come out. When he did his mouth was grim, his eyes compassionate. He spoke one word. "Stabbed."

My eyes clung to his and he started going father and farther away. "I failed you," I whispered. "I killed her..." The wall opposite began to lean toward me. Then the flashlight struck the floor and rolled over and over, making a crazy pattern of moving shadows.

Adam's firm hands had me by the shoulders. "Sit down—now put your head between your knees. All right? Then sit still and listen to me. What do you think you could have done? Screamed? You wouldn't have lived long enough. Heaven knows where my mind was when I left you up here alone with her. Somebody had to kill that girl. I'm glad you let yourself be killed away. I'm glad you were not in that room!"

"And now let me tell you some- thing else. I saw her. Her eyes were open. I think she was awake—I think she knew what was going to happen. And she made no out- cry."

"She was—willing," I said pain- fully. "The poor thing—something she saw made her willing. Is that what you think?" "That's what I think," said Adam. "Now tell me your story and try not to leave anything out."

The effort of remembering steadied me. I began with my recognition of the type of that pit- tless note and related, as well as I could remember, everything I had done until the moment Adam found me on the dark balcony. When I had finished we went back together to that empty guest room and went over it inch by inch for some betraying trace.

The evening wrap lay where I had flung it. Black velvet—volu- minous, ankle length I held it up and recognized it. "Mrs. Flower's?" I noticed it this evening. "It's just like her—see these long scarf ends that reach to the hem? It's one of those lush things. Made to order for the mur- derer—the scarf went round and round..."

There was no bulb in the light socket, a fact which explained why this room had been without light so long before the rest of the house. The missing bulb was across the room on the bed.

"Man Or Woman?" Adam said, "Here's your prosti- tute body," and chuckled grimly. "An army blanket rolled up and just not hidden by the bed. Quite a resourceful person, your murder-er... You're sure you can't tell whether it was a man or a woman?"

"How could I? I didn't even get my hands on the coverlet." "Think hard. Was there any per- fume—tobacco, halitosis? Where were your olfactory nerves?" "Violet," I murmured, remem- bering. "The wrap reeks of it—here, smell! So does Mrs. Flower." "That doesn't help any. She has an unshakable alibi for this one. She was with me."

"Where's her husband?" "I don't know. Han's sent him for hours. He's O.D.—went off to inspect, didn't come back. But he's harmless—just the type of man you mislay.... All right, now let's see, where were we? You saw nothing, felt nothing, smelled nothing, what's left?"

"Hearing. There was the heavy breathing outside the door. It sounded like a man, but it might have been a woman under great stress."

"And the stifled moan?" I had forgotten that. "I thought it was a woman. I re- member that distinctly. The— the murderer rather specializes in women victims—which may or may not mean anything.... Adam, that Orlington woman frightens me."

"By the way," said Adam. "Where did you leave your man- darin coat?" "It's not mine, it's Elizabeth's." I was beginning, when it regis- tered that the question had been a shade too careless. "In—in her room—the sick girl's. Why, Adam, why?"

I clutched his arm, obsessed by another of those premonitions of disaster. "Why?" Adam hesitated. "I suppose you may as well know now as later. You see, the murderer wore it."

6. Defeat would throw the race into a tie between Highland Park and the winner of the McKinney-Greenville game.

In District 10 Lufkin can take the title with a tie or victory over Livingston and it is the same in District 9 where unbeaten Tyler plays Marshall, a team unable to win a conference game this season.

However, even though Tyler lost the Lions would take the title unless Gladewater beat Longview.

In District 15 undefeated Corpus Christi plays Robstown and a win or tie would give the Bucs the title but a loss would throw them into a tie with the Laredo-Kingsville winner today.

The championship game of District 12 will be played Friday night with Austin at Kerrville. District 13 where three teams are tied for first place, starts the fireworks Friday while the decisive game of District 14 is scheduled Saturday with undefeated Port Arthur playing Galveston. The latter would have to win to earn a tie for the title.

RUSSIAN YOUTH LEADER REMOVED

MOSCOW, Nov. 23 (AP)—A drastic purge of the great Soviet Russian youth organization Komsomol was revealed today with the removal of its leader, Alexander Kosariyeff, and four other high officials.

They were accused of protecting morally corrupt, drunken and traitorous elements within Komsomol, from the ranks of which the communist party recruits new members.

Komsomol was purged some 14 months ago when five secretaries and eight other officials were ousted and Kosariyeff was sternly rebuked and warned to put his organization in order.

Convicted Poisoner Drives Life Term

EL RENO, Okla., Nov. 23 (AP)—A verdict of life imprisonment failed to disturb the calm today of Mrs. Homie Sullivan, convicted of murder in the poisoning of a 2-1-2 year old grandchild.

Throughout her two-day trial, Mrs. Sullivan remained composed as she denied she poisoned Clara Jean Hay, the only child of her daughter, Mrs. Richard Hay, a deaf mute.

A district court jury late yesterday returned a verdict of guilty and set her sentence at life imprisonment.

Mrs. Sullivan denied she secretly had taken out a $200 insurance policy on Clara Jean's life. She said the girl's parents and several neighbors knew of the policy.

Mrs. Sullivan came here last January from Monroe, La.

Farmers Wide Favorites In Texas Clash

Todd And Kimbrough Match Drives With Wallace Lawson

AUSTIN, Nov. 23 (AP)—Football teams of Texas university and Texas A. and M. went through their last drills today in preparation for their annual Thanksgiving Day clash in Memorial stadium, Austin.

The Longhorns were the decided underdogs, Coach Dana Bible has many times juggled his lineup just to have 11 able-bodied men on the field.

The Aggies will bring a team here that started the season as a potentially great eleven, but missed fire in combat. It finally hit the peak expected of it in the Rice game 12 days ago, smothering the Owls under a 27-0 count.

In addition to Dick Todd, the fleet Crowell Cyclone who will be winding up his college days against Texas, the Aggies have uncovered two mountainous sophomore backs in Jarrin Jim Kimbrough and Jim Thomsom who are poison on offensive blasts.

Capt. Owen (Slick) Rogers, a fair hand at side-stepping himself, and Walemon (Cotton) Price, passer and reverse runner, complete the most dangerous array of ground gainers the Aggies own.

In five conference games, the Aggies have powered across 938 yards on rushing plays; picked up 378 more yards on passing plays. Texas, without a real climax runner, has gained only 474 yards on runs and 316 on pass plays. The Aggies have accumulated 62 first downs and the Longhorns 39.

Big Wally Lawson, the workhorse of the Texas backfield, will lead a combination including Beefus Bryan, Wes Boyer and Bill Forney all veterans. Lawson, a fine kicker and better than average passer, has been the most consistent Texas performer.

Of the 44 games played, Texas has won 26, the Aggies 14 and four have been tied. Texas took its worst beating in 1925-28, while the Aggies were plastered, 26-0, back in 1930 for the worst modern defeat.

Ex-Great Of Boxing World Seriously Ill

DETROIT, Nov. 23 (AP)—Whimical Tommy Walsh, prominent figure of boxing's golden era and known from coast to coast in the fight game, lay perilously ill today from a gastrointestinal ailment.

The 60-year-old former manager of fighters and ballyhoo chief-in the old Jack Dempsey-Jack Kearns combination during boxing's million-dollar gate period fell seriously sick after having been ill several days.

St. Mary's Hospital, where he has been confined since Monday night, said his condition today was "fair—as good as could be expected," but it was reported physicians were unable to determine his exact ailment.

Garner To Dine On Wild Duck

UNVALDE, Nov. 23 (AP)—John Garner, vice president and prospective landlord, will substitute wild duck for venison on his Thanksgiving table tomorrow.

The vice president went after deer yesterday for the first time this season and found the bucks as wary of a gun as he is of political interviews. So he came home with a few wild ducks. He plans to try for deer again but wasn't sure about the date.

The vice president's new duties interfere with his hunting. He is having a dozen rent houses constructed and makes a foot inspection almost daily, conferring with carpenters on his rounds about town.

As usual Garner had no comment on politics, including the democratic meeting in Chicago next week.

HENDAYE, France (AT the Spanish Frontier) Nov. 23 (AP)—Insurgent forces declared today that government troops were forced to evacuate the villages Aytona and Sores under pressure of insurgent attacks on the right bank of the Segre river, northeastern front.

Military reports said a third village, Seros, was nearly encircled by the insurgents in their campaign to throw the government militiamen back to the left bank of the river.

Government advances had threatened to cut communications between the insurgent held towns of Fraga and Lerida.

CASE WELCOMED

AUSTIN, Nov. 23 (AP)—The Texas railroad commission welcomes a test of its policy of statewide oil production shutdowns. Chairman Ernest O. Thompson said today.

A hearing of a court attack on the shut-ins has been set for December 7 in District Judge Ralph W. Yarborough's court. The attack was brought by the United East and West Oil company, operating in East Texas.

Thompson said he long had hoped for a showdown on whether the rigs violated the marginal well law. Many attorneys contend they do not on the theory the marginal well statute is secondary to the general oil conservation law.
