Heavy Bombers Assail Plane Manufacturers

By GLADWIN HILL

LONDON, Feb. 29 (AP)-U.S. heavy bombers in their 19th operation for February today attacked targets at Brunswick, classified by the trmy as "one of Germany's major manufacturers of aircraft components and engines, an an important comnunications center."

A communique noted that Brunswick targets twice were atin last week's recordbreaking daylight offensive against Nazi aircraft component assembly and allied industries."

U. S. and British fighter planes protected the Flying Fortresses in today's assault,

The February total of 19 operations is seven more than that attained in any previous month. The 18th operation was an attack yesterday against the French rocket" coast in which six bombers were lost. Allied medium bombers and fighters struck at the same targets from dawn to noon today.

It was the fourth great daylight blow of the month against Brunswick, the big airplane manufacturing center 125 miles west of Berwhich turns out chiefly en gines and other parts for the twin-engine Messerschmitt 110

War Veterans May Get Chance At Gov't. Johs

By FRANCIS M. LE MAY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29 (4P) Speedy enactment of legislation giving war veterans first choice at federal jobs appeared certain today following President Roosevelt's recommendation that the government set an example for private employers.

Republicans and democrats alike voiced endorsement of the proposal, Chairman May (D-Ky) of the house military committee declared, "it will be done," and Senator Mead (D - NY), member of the senate civil service committee, said legislation embodying the president's proposals would be considered soon by the senate.

Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, house republican leader, said "we republicans believe that a man or woman who fights for his country is entitled to every possible consideration when he or she returns

Some 800,000 service men and women already-have been released from the armed forces since Pearl Harbor. How many of them have found civilian jobs with the government is not

The president recommended to Chairman Ramspeck (D-Ga) of the house civil service committee, immediate "sympathetic consideration" of a bill by Rep. Starnes (D-Ala) which he said would:

1. Grant the president authority during the war and five years afterward to restrict to veterans For 5 P. M. Today only such government positions as he may designate.

2. Where competition in civil for such positions.

Demands Made That Drafting Fathers Cease

By JACKSON S. ELLIOTT WASHINGTON, Feb. 29 (AP) Demands that the drafting of fathers be halted pending a review of 5,000,000 occupational deferments were renewed today by Senators who challenged a medical commission's report that present physical standards should not be lowered. With reports from nearly every state showing that draft quotas are not being met, Senators Johnson (D-Colo.) and Wheeler (D-Mont.) criticized both the physical standards and the continuing father draft.

"The armed forces," said John-"have their manpower sights too high.

"When I see 4-F's playing football and baseball and doing all the other things that require physical strength and endurance, can't be very much impressed with the standards under which they are exempted from service. Wheeler, noting that a review of 5,000,000 occupational deferments has been ordered, said: "The least they can do is stop drafting fathers now-as I asked them to do early last summer - until this review of deferments in industrial plants and other occupations is made. Meanwhile selective service directors throughout the country reported almost general failure meet quotas. At least nine states, an Associated Press compilation showed, have failed to meet goals by amounts ranging from 10 to 50 per cent. These include New York, Michigan, Kentucky, Nebraska, Florida, Iowa. Colorado, Georgia, and Utah.

Others said they had failed to meet their goals but did not disclose the margin. Four states-Oregon, Montana, South Carolina and Rhode Island - said quotas have been met.

Texans Figure Strongly In

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS ON AUSTRALIA (A)-Figures strongly support the fact that Texans have made a tremendous contribution to the war effort in Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Southwest Pacific theater in the second year of the war.

Texas furnished one of the outstanding heroes in the area, Col. Neel Kearby, San Antonio, a Congressional Medal of Honor win-ner. Of 72 fighter aces who rose to fame seven were Texans, three of them ranking among the first ten. The seven Texas aces shot down 72 planes between them for an average of better than 10 planes per man. More than 775 medals were awarded Texans in the year 1943. But Texas' story of the war in the southwest Pacific is principally one of the air and no story is complete without re-telling the exploits of Col. Kearby, the soft-spoken Thunderbolt bilot, who shot down six Zeroes in a single flight over Wewak, New Guines on Oct. 11. He won the Medal of Honor from the president of the United States who termed the act one of "conspicuous gallantry and intrepedity above and beyond the call of duty." No other pilot in this area has been able to duplicate the trick. Kearby tied with a Wisconsin flier, Captain Richard I. The Cleveland Negro's main concern is to regain the prestige he lost in his first encounter the lagoon anchorages the first day. On the second day, 10 re-mained. Five there were left on with the former protege of radio's Lemuel Q. Stoopnagie. Bivins won the decision but Munray received the applause of a capacity throng for subjecting Jimmy to the roughest treatment of his 14-bout winning streak.

The gangling easterner came close to a technical knockout triumph when a right uppercut opened a deep gash above Bivings left eye in the sixth round. The flow of blood from the wound virtually blinded the Clevelander of the fastest, hardest hitting warships affoat. in the ensuing rounds but Mur ray had broken his right hand and was unable to apply the finishing touches.

WASHINGTON Editorial - - -

Here's A "Different Deal"

Most West Texans, and particularly those in and around Big Spring, know Obie Bristow. He was over draft age but he went into the army with not for a commission. This is evidenced by his refusal to be content with a desk job, for only secently he passed his overseas physical and only ecently declared if he didn't get across he was going to "get a row boat" and take out on his own.

Maybe this is all besides the point, but to us gives you an idea about the kind of man who takes this statement urging his partner back home to "help the Red Cross."

"If people could see the real work they do on army fields alone," he wrote, "God knows they would not hesitate to help. Day after day I have watched them help a kid, whose mother was dying, on his way home.

"They send millions of boxes to prisoners of war. It is no sacrifice to buy a war bond. The people will come home and help pay back the war bonds with their share of taxes. That is as it should

"But the Red Cross is a different deal. That is a sacrifice well worth the money."

This wasn't meant to be a speech, but we think it's a pretty good one.

When you consider what he says along side the record of handling the blood plasma program for the army (and plasma has been even more miraculous than a secret weapon); of distributing gifts, needed items, little things to make the men over there know the folks back home haven't forgotten; of administering relief whenever and wherever it is possible; of remembering the men with boxes on Christmas; of literally going under fire with the kid who used to live next door; of rushing in to relieve human suffering here and abroad-when you consider all these and a legion of other services, you begin to get an idea of what your Red Cross dollars will do.

Tomorrow the roll call will be launched officially. The Howard and Glasscock counties chapter quota is $24,800, nearly twice the figure last Still, this is scarcely more than $1 per There are few indeed who couldn't afford to give this much, but there will be several thousand who will be thoughtless or selfish enough not to give anything.

The War Today

by DeWitt Mackenzie

Field Marshal Pietro Badoglio's insistence, as premier of the provisional Italian government, that his defeated country be made a member in good standing among the United Nations, presents the Allies with one of the extraordinary problems-of

The famous soldier told Richard G. Massock, Associated Press correspondent who visited the premier at Naples, that he is "ready"to do everything necessary" to gain the alliance for which he has asked. Badoglio intimated that his idea was to protect Italy's interests at the peace fable after helping to defeat Germany

If anyone but Badoglio had made such a proposition there likely would have been more adverse reaction than already has been registered - and there has been plenty. The French, for instance, don't easily forget that the treacherous Mussolini stabbed La Belle France in the back while she was struggling for her life with Hitler. The idea of making Italy one of the Allies now nauseates a lot

A good many people of other Allied countries also feel that there's no need to kill the fatted calf Hollywoodfor Italy, even though there's no general bitterness against the rank and file of the Italian people who probably were more sinned against by Mussolini than sinning. Then, too many of our troops, who have had to fight the Italians, and have By ROBBIN COONS seen comrades shot down by the Romans, have no desire to sit about the camp with the men who were so recently their enemies.

Still, few people deny Badoglio the right to try to get all he can for his stricken country. He good script at me, and then I te Davis. wouldn't be much of a premier if he didn't try it on. Also even Badoglio's severest critics remem<sup>2</sup> ber that he begged to be allowed to crush Mussolini when the latter made his march on Rome to demand the dictatorship. True, Badoglio later led Il Duce's armies, but he did so as a servant of the king who had handed the government over to Mus-

Correspondent Massock summed up the posttion of Badoglio's application for an alliance this way: "While Badoglio didn't say so himself, asso- treasure hunt for the rareties. ciates told me afterward that the American and British governments had given aim no encouragement to expect an alliance."

Italy, of course, already is recognized as a cobelligerent by the Allies. Whatever may be the decision regarding an alliance, there can be no doubt that Italy must pay dearly for her partnership with Hitler. Unless there is an amazing change of heart in the Allies camp, she will never get back the bulk of her empire. She will be reduced to one of the minor European powers, stripped of any striking-power with which to practice further ag-parliaments.

Roosevelt's refusal to reorganize

The president was elected for a third term in 1940 because the nation knew that it had to prepare for war and that very probably it would have to go to war. With this in mind, the War and Navy departments were placed in the hands of new men - Stimson and Knox, Patterson and Forrestal, McCloy and Bard, Lovett and Gates. For the mobilization of war industry, for lend-lease and shipping, though there was good deal of fumbling in the early days, the same rule applied: new men, chosen for their known ability and unconnected with Democratic or New Deal politics, were brought to Washington men like Nelson, Wilson, and Batt, men like Stettinius and Douglas, These men and others like them whose names will no doubt be included when the nation makes up its roll of honor have been the civilian organizers of victory. But for the so-called home front, though he has himself insisted repeatedly that it is inseparable from the fighting front, Mr. Roosevelt has clung to his appointees and old henchmen. That is the sufficient explanation why, while the mili-picayune. tary war is so well conducted, the civilian part of the war is so unsatisfactory.

Tax Collectors Here This Week

Information income tax payers hould take with them when seeking help in preparation of their 1943 income tax return was listed this morning by H. W. Axe. who with three other deputy collectors of internal revenue is spending this week in Big Spring. Assistance of the collectors may be obtained any time between 8:30 a. m. and 5 p. m. through Saturday and, in addition, until 10 p. m. Thursday. The office, room 17 of the federal building, will remain open late Thursday the office during the day. Collectors here are H. W. Axe. E. Baze and J. Guy Harris of Odessa and A. E. Berggren of Dallas. They aided a steady stream of persons Monday. Fewer persons visited the office this morning, possibly because of bad weather.

Axe said internal revenue em-
