

Huge Junior College Expansion Stage Set

Trustees set the stage for a $600,000 junior college expansion program Wednesday by supplying architects with a list of proposed buildings.

W. A. French, of the architectural firm of Puckett & French, was requested to complete preliminary drawings as quickly as possible for the board's consideration.

Dr. W. A. Hunt, Howard County Junior College president, said he understood a group of citizens already is preparing petitions for a bond election to finance the expansion. He said the petitions probably will be in circulation by Monday.

Dr. Hunt and French, who already have done considerable preliminary planning, estimated the proposed expansion can be accomplished for $600,000. The engineer said the initial sketches, including floor plans, can be completed in the next few days.

Structures which the architects were instructed to start work on include a library, music building, vocational arts building, a science wing (in addition to the present administration building), enlargement of the gymnasium, and a bus garage. French said the preliminary plans for the gymnasium enlargement are ready.

Expansion of the gym is planned on the north side with dressing rooms to be located under a tier of permanent stands. The existing dressing rooms would be converted for use of girls' physical education classes.

Trustees said they felt the work should be pushed forward with all possible speed if a bond issue is to be called, so that some of the facilities might be ready for use next year. Dr. Hunt stressed the need for the expansion, in order to keep pace with growing enrollment.

The board also voted to offer new contracts to 16 instructors and four other staff members, including the president.

Dr. Hunt accepted a new three-year contract, which provided a $2,000 annual raise. The president's salary was hiked from $10,000 to $12,000 per year.

Raises also were provided in all other contracts. Salary for Dean Ben F. Johnson Jr. was increased from $6,440 to $7,000; that of Registrar B. M. Keese was hiked from $6,440 to $6,640; and the salary of Earl Bryant Jr., business manager, was upped to $5,800 from $5,600.

The salaries of all instructors were increased by $200. George A. McAllister also is to receive $300 additional for coaching track. All are on a nine-month basis with the exception of Athletic Director Harold Davis who works 10 months per year.

Instructors to whom the new contracts were extended are Davis, McAllister, Gerald S. Brenholtz, John T. Clements Jr., Sarah Cluffard, Elizabeth Daniel, James B. Frazier, Jack Hendrix, Bill M. Holbert, Orland Johnson, Ina Mae McCollum, John P. Vagt, Harold W. Vall, Elizabeth A. Walker, Ella H. White and Angie Carnahan. Miss Carnahan will be new on the staff. She now is a student at Denton, but has agreed to teach in the business administration department at HCCJG next year, Dr. Hunt said.

Dr. Hunt accepted his contract immediately, declaring that he has not considered going to any other post. "I'm interested in this school and I want to stay here," he declared.

Lopez Out Again, Bond Is Questioned

District Attorney Guilford Jones was scratching his head today, trying to determine who, if anyone, is responsible for Ysabel Lopez' appearance in district court when his case again is called for trial.

Lopez is the Big Spring woman whose $1,000 bond was ordered forfeited last week when he failed to appear for trial.

However, he surrendered to sheriff's officers early Wednesday, explaining that he had been trying to come here "for four or five days" from Colorado. He said he started to Big Spring as soon as he learned that his assault case had been set for trial.

District Judge Charlie Sullivan entered an order releasing the securities on Lopez' bond.

But in the meantime, Lopez had been released again on a new bond. Since this happened Wednesday afternoon, before the old bondsmen were released, the district attorney said there is some question as to which of the bonds would be effective. Since one of the bonds had been dissolved, no one may be responsible, Jones said.

He said Lopez was released Wednesday without his knowledge or approval and that "as far as I'm concerned, the sheriff can get in the saddle and pick him up again."

Sheriff Jess Slaughter also expressed surprise this morning that Lopez had been released. A deputy approved the new bond Wednesday and freed the prisoner.

300 Pet Birds Killed By Smoke In Garage Fire

Approximately 300 caged birds were killed in a garage fire at the Orbin Daily home, 1606 Gregg, during pre-dawn hours today.

Firemen said that the birds, mostly parakeets, died of suffocation from smoke. The garage was not badly damaged, one window and a wall being all that burned.

The fire was reported at 3:20 a.m., and Fire Chief H. V. Crocker said it started as a result of a wiring "short." Garage lighting was hooked up to the house, he said.

It is estimated that the birds were valued at about $1,000. Bob Daily raised them for sale, and they were housed in the garage.

Another house fire was reported about 6:20 p.m. last evening at 301 NW 8th. Firemen said that a vacant house which was already partially burned caught fire again.

The house belongs to Otis Wise, fireman said, and it has caught fire three times. All that remained of the structure before last night's fire was the hull. The foundation and some wall portions are still standing.

Cause of the fire was unknown, but residents of the area said some children were seen by the house just before the blaze.

A car belonging to M. W. Scott, 631 Caylor Dr., burned Wednesday morning, and firemen said that the inside of the passenger compartment was gutted. The fire was at 10:25 a.m.

$135 Taken In Courts Burglary

The second tourist court burglary in less than a week was reported to police here Wednesday afternoon.

I. F. Wilhelm, oil field worker from Breckenridge, told officers that someone took $135 from his room at Big Spring Courts while he was sleeping.

The money, mostly in $20 bills, was in a billfold in his pants pocket, he said. The burglary and theft occurred between noon and 1 p.m. Apparently entry to the room was made through the back door, police said. No trace of the burglar had been uncovered this morning.

The other tourist court burglary came last Thursday night, when Joe Hardin, transient from Clinton, Okla., said that $218 in cash and a $75 watch was taken from his room at the Mayo Ranch Motel while he slept.

Coahoma Extends Filing Deadline For School Board

COAHOMA — Time for filing for trustee of the Coahoma Independent School District has been extended by the board.

Additional candidates may obtain names on the ballot by filing a petition, signed by five qualified voters of the district, with the board secretary, Mrs. A. W. Rowe, not later than Sunday.

Three incumbents whose terms expire have filed requests for places on the ballot. They are a W. R. Robinson, J. D. Spears and Charles Read.

Absentee voting may be accomplished by leaving sealed ballots and poll tax receipts or exemption certificates with Mrs. Rowe not later than Tuesday.

With more than 500 scholastics, the district now falls in a bracket in which the board orders and makes provision for the election. H. T. Tanner is to be the election judge and voting will be in the City Hall at Coahoma from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. on April 2.

Houston Man Treated For Neck Wound

Jimmy J. Chandler, Houston, was being treated at Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital this morning for gunshot wounds in the neck.

Police said they did not know where, when or how Chandler was shot. It is believed he was wounded while somewhere between Houston and Big Spring.

Chandler and a companion left Houston for Big Spring Tuesday evening. They arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. I. D. Chandler, his parents, who live at 411 NW 9th, Wednesday.

The younger Chandler was wounded when he arrived here. His father took him to the VA Hospital and reported to police. His companion was arrested.

Officers said bullets apparently were fired at Chandler's car. Two slug holes are on the upper right door frame of the vehicle, they said.

The possibility of a slug's veering from the door into Chandler's neck was voiced by Capt. M. L. Kirby, one of the investigating officers.

Both Chandler and his companion said they pulled into a service station about 200 miles from Big Spring and that the attendant came out firing a pistol. Officers were checking into other possibilities today, and the companion was booked for "investigation."

Must Be Love Blossoms Due

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — M. T. Tloutson, 65, told the desk sergeant he wanted a ticket for jaywalking. Then he went out, jaywalked and came back and got his ticket. He explained that a lady friend had been cited for jaywalking and was afraid to attend the traffic violators school alone.

TOKYO (AP) — Japan's famed cherry blossoms are expected to start popping out Tuesday-five days ahead of normal in the Tokyo area.

WATCH THOSE SIGNS

Tomorrow is one-way traffic day in Big Spring.

Starting at 6 a.m., Third and Fourth streets will be opened for one-way traffic. Westbound traffic will be routed on Third, and eastbound traffic will be routed on Fourth.

One-way traffic signs, which have been in place but covered for several weeks, will be plainly visible Friday morning. One-way signal lights also will be functioning.

Everything will be ready for motorists by dawn Friday, said City Manager H. W. Whitney.

Police will be on duty to direct

One-Way Traffic System To Open On Two Big Spring Streets Friday

change would be effective Friday from the State Highway Department. Third and Fourth are Highway 80 arteries through the city.

Plans call for hoods to be taken from the one-way signs at Third and Fourth Street intersections during pre-dawn hours Friday, said Sam McComb, local maintenance supervisor of the Highway Department.

City Electrician Roy Rogan has a full night's work in front of him tonight. He must completely install signal lights for the one-way system on both Third and Fourth.

The change cannot come before normal traffic has subsided today, so most of the work will be scheduled between 10 p.m. and dawn Friday.

Major cables are already in place for the lights, and the old four-way facings must be changed to three-way facings. Facings for eastbound traffic will not be necessary on Third, and facings for westbound traffic will not be necessary on Fourth.

The Fourth and Third Street arteries will have lanes painted on them after the one-way traffic system is initiated, it was announced.

McNUTT DIES

NEW YORK (AP) — Paul V. McNutt, 64, former governor of Indiana and ex-envoy to the Philippines, died here today.

McNutt, ill about six months, was flown home from Manila about two weeks ago, interrupting a world cruise with Mrs. McNutt.

Both his wife and his daughter, Louise, were with him when he died at his Fifth Avenue apartment about 8:30 a.m.

McNutt had not been active in public affairs in recent years but maintained his interest in Democratic party affairs.

His business interests were mainly in the insurance field and he was counsel to several international insurance agencies.

WEST TEXAS — Some 200 booted West Texans listened to arguments about whether they can irrigate their lands from water pumps run by their own gas at a committee hearing last night.

Delegates from seven drought-stricken Panhandle counties supported legislation which would allow them to take natural gas to run their water wells.

Two bills by Rep. Guy Hazlett of Borger were considered by the House Oil and Gas Committee, then sent to a subcommittee for a week of study.

Opponents claimed the bills would wreck Texas' oil and gas conservation system.

Those favoring the bills said it was a question of what is more important: Farming water and crops, or gas and legal contracts.

One of Hazlett's bills would require producers of natural gas to sell some of that gas to farmers if wells are located on farm lands.

The other bill specifies that where a farmer owns 1/4 of the royalties of a gas well, he could take his share out in gas rather than money.

The farmers say they must have gas to run their water pumps because butane and electricity are too expensive to make irrigation profitable.

Rep. W. R. Chambers of May, an author of much of Texas' conservation law, spoke for the measures. He told of arid farm lands of the dust bowl days of the early thirties, and said much good land would be ruined if effects of the extended drought are not arrested by irrigation.

E. H. Forster of Amarillo, an attorney for the Phillips Petroleum Co., talked of legal contracts and economic feasibility.

Passage of the Hazlett bills would require gas companies to break dedicated gas supply contracts in order to supply the farmers with gas for irrigation, he said.

He said the bills would undo gas and oil conservation laws and "take one man's property and make it available to another."

Forster said that, because of dedicated contracts, Phillips might not have enough gas available to operate its refinery, synthetic rubber and fertilizer plants if the farmers were allowed to use the gas.

W. R. Rutherford of Dumas charged the committee with the responsibility of "deciding in favor of human beings or contracts."

"You must protect the people of the area as well as the gas companies," he said.

He said Mr. Q. Beauchamp of Dumas has gas wells and two water wells on his land but can't get enough gas to run the water wells.

Carroll Boyd of Dumas, vice president of the National Wheat Growers Assn., favored the bills.

Counties affected are Dallam, Sherman, Moore, Hartley, Hans-

Car Inspection Law Enforcement Starts April 16

Highway Patrolmen Jimmy Parks and Amon Jones said today they have been instructed to start rigid enforcement of the state auto inspection statute on April 16.

That's the day after the deadline for 1955 motor vehicle inspections. And about half of the cars and trucks in Howard County still are unapproved.

The officers hesitated to say that as many as half of the county's vehicles have been inspected. They called attention to the fact that the last inspection survey, conducted about three weeks ago, showed only 37 per cent of Howard vehicles wearing inspection approval stickers.

A big rush to inspection stations is expected in the next three weeks, however, and the officers said they hope most of the county's vehicles can be inspected prior to April 16.

Enforcement of the motor vehicle inspection law has been lax most of the time since it went into effect in 1952, due to an early dispute as to its value. The law has been amended and considerably relaxed since that time, with brakes, lights and windshield wipers now the principal items checked.

Unscheduled But Safe Landing

Warrant Officer Affan Sedeg of the Turkish Air Force walked away unscathed from the T33 jet training plane he rode to a forced landing 3 1/2 miles north of Webb AFB Thursday morning. The craft sustained a flame out on take off and W-O Sedeg, nosed the craft down for a belly landing in the northwest corner of a plowed field on the Walter Pike cause. This added a new furrow all its own but inflicted only minor damage to the plane. The Turkish pilot was waiting patiently at the roadside when crash trucks arrived. (Photo Glenn Coates).

Congressman Tells Of Fees Received In Vet Land Deals

AUSTIN (AP) — U.S. Rep. John Bell of Cuero testified under oath before Senate investigators today that he received attorneys fees totaling by the state auditor at $28,112 in a series of veterans land program transactions now under investigation.

"Was every fee you ever received in these transactions an attorney's fee?" asked Committee Chairman Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo.

"That is my conception of them," Bell, a former state senator, replied.

Bell testified that in general his legal work included being "ready to render any kind of legal service necessary," looking over applications and keeping up with them.

He said in some cases he may have told the Veterans Land Board of the clients he was representing.

"The main thing I was interested in was to see that the applications of my clients didn't get slowed down," he testified.

He also testified he made loans totaling $6,900 to T. J. McLarty, formerly of Cuero, now under indictment in alleged irregularities in veterans land sales under the state program.

"These loans were not secured," he testified. "There were no notes. I made a good many loans on which I took no notes."

He said McLarty still owes him $3,650.

"To the best of my knowledge the clients I represented who sold land to veterans through the Veterans Land Board were Ralph G. Slocum, Chesley Bates, T. J. McLarty, G. O. Daugherty, the Rio Grande Corp. and O. F. Raines," Bell testified.

The congressman was invited several weeks ago to come before both Senate and House committees probing irregularities in the veterans land program. The House committee had turned up bank records showing payments made to Bell by McLarty.

Bell told the committee he regretted not being able to appear earlier but could not do so because of other duties and the distance from Washington.

He was expected to appear also before the House Committee, which was to resume its sessions later today.

"In pursuit of my profession as an attorney I have appeared before many agencies of our state government representing clients

Sen. Phillips Rails Against Spending Bill

AUSTIN (AP) — Filibustering champ Sen. Jimmy Phillips of Angleton resumed debate today against the state's 1 1/2 billion dollar spending bill he stalled yesterday with a five-hour argument.

In a low voice hoarse from yesterday, Phillips took the floor at 10:40 a.m. to press his plea again for a million dollars a year more money for charity hospital beds at John Sealy Hospital at Galveston.

Some senators complained they couldn't hear Phillips' voice which customarily booms and thunders in such debate. But his voice strengthened as he warmed up.

The filibuster was unique in that it was recessed for lunch and again for a dinner and an overnight break.

The filibuster was unique in that it was recessed for lunch and again for a dinner and an overnight break.

While Phillips yesterday alternately wheedled, needed and stormed at his fellow senators for five hours, House committees worked late on important bills.

A measure to slap a 20 per cent gross receipts tax on trading stamps given free with merchandise in many establishments went to subcommittee for a week's study after public hearing before the House Committee on Revenue and Taxation. Housewives and some others appeared against the bill, claiming the stamps helped small business compete with big business. Proponents estimated it would give the state from 2 to 4 million dollars a year new revenue.

The House Committee on Oil and Gas bogged down in parliamentary difficulties after a long hearing over a controversial measure to give the Railroad Commission power to set the price of natural gas by an "economic waste" yardstick. The committee first voted 10-9 that it had recommended passage, then backed up and finally voted 10-10 that it could not agree. The House itself will probably have to decide what to do about this unusual situation.

Phillips holds a modern talkathon record in the Senate. He set it by arguing for 17 hours 55 minutes in 1951 against a bill to abolish the State Hospital Board.

Waving a big red and white banner yesterday, he shouted it was Texas' shame that there were now 700 empty beds in the 1,500 bed charity hospital that was donated the state.

"I speak for the little children whose parents do not have enough money to have their limbs straightened," Phillips cried.

"This amendment is fought by those who are misled, miserly, misinformed, penurious and parsimonious.

"Do not think, members of the Senate, that this is so far removed from you. The path of life is not always the primrose path and you may some day have need for this haven of mercy."

Sen. Crawford Martin of Hillsboro told the lawmakers that the spending bill — biggest in the state's history — provides good increases for such services as highways, education and care of the wards of the state in hospitals and special schools.

Virtually all state services would get more money under the bill that calls for spending 115 million dollars more in the next two fiscal years than is now allocated. It was voted out of the 21-member Senate Finance Committee over Phillips protest then.

Tower Atomic Blast Delayed

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — There was no nuclear shot today. Testers said that a big, 500-foot tower blast which has been delayed by weather conditions since March 14, will not be attempted until tomorrow, at the earliest. Yesterday's underground blast was the 38th in the series.

The underground explosion, set off by an atomic demolition device, produced a dirty cloudy of brownish color. The device was one of the tiniest nuclear explosives yet devised and the miniature mushroom rose to only 11,000 feet, a relatively short distance for an atomic blast.

Yesterday's test on Yuca Flat was a special one for the Army's Corps of Engineers.

This was the first underground blast at the Nevada site since 1951 and was viewed by 200 military observers from a distance of five miles.

The Atomic Energy Commission said there was no report of any radioactive fallout outside the test site.

Defense Begins In Attack Trial

DALLAS (AP) — Defense testimony began today in the Billy Houston rape trial.

Houston, 28, was identified by a Dallas oil firm official's wife yesterday as the man who entered her home Jan. 27, robbed her of $5 and then forced her into a bedroom where he attacked her.

Patrolman W. H. Hilliard said Houston was the man he engaged in a gun duel in front of the victim's home.

The victim, 54, said her attacker wore a mask made of a woman's silk stocking across his nose.

Dist. Atty. Henry Wade indicated they will ask the death penalty for the former paratrooper who has pleaded innocent.

The woman said after she gave the intruder at her front door $5 that she was ordered into a bedroom where her clothes were jerked off and a gag was stuffed in her mouth.

Eyebrows Go Up At Bill To Expand Vets Land Program

AUSTIN (AP)—One House committee gave sympathetic attention to five veterans land program reform bills last night, but another committee raised the eyebrows at a proposal to enlarge the program 100 million dollars.

The bills, aimed at eliminating loopholes which allowed alleged fraud in the veterans land program, won general endorsement of Land Commissioner Earl Rudder.

Rep. T. W. Lane, author of one of the reform measures, also wrote the proposal to amend the Constitution so the program could be expanded to 200 million dollars.

Members of the Committee on Constitutional Amendments thought Lane's idea might prove rather unpopular at the moment in the light of scandals which have developed under past operation of the program.

"Until we extricate ourselves from the present mess, I don't think people would vote for your amendment," Rep. Cecil Storey of Longview told Lane.

"People don't believe that because there are a few rotten apples in the barrel, the whole barrel is rotten," Lane replied.

American Legion support for the spirit of the corrective measures was vouched by Texas Department Adjutant Ward Moody. He suggested the good features of each should be packaged in a single bill for consideration by the full Legislature.

No one opposed the measures. The House State Affairs Committee, after listening to authors explain the bills an hour and a half, handed the reform bills to a five-member subcommittee for one week's polishing.

Rudder said he wanted to work with the subcommittee on the wording of some of the bills "so they can be easily administered."

The proposals would:

- Back down on procedure for appraising land being offered veterans.
- Allow purchase of land even if no mineral rights could be acquired by the veteran.
- Require hearings on "block" deals where four or more vets were buying from one seller.
- Make veterans apply half the money from leases or conditional sales to retirement of the state loan.
- Change membership of the veterans land board so the governor and attorney general would no longer be ex officio members.
- A sixth bill, heard by a different committee, would indirectly affect the veterans land program. It would require that on all land sales handled by the general land office, the successful bidder would pay a fee of 1 per cent of his bid.

That fee would be deposited to the state's general revenue fund but collection of such money is designed indirectly to place the Land Office on a self-sustaining basis.

Rudder told the Revenue and Taxation Committee his "first desire" when he became land commissioner in January "was to put the land office on a self-sustaining basis. The money bill went to subcommittee for a week's study.

Before the State Affairs Committee, Rudder said the "main thing is to get at the appraisals."

Investigation of the veterans land scandal has produced numerous charges that appraisals in many of the "block" deals were excessive.

Rep. Dolph Briscoe, who wrote three reform bills, explained how he would safeguard appraisals. He would require state appraisals to be "reasonably qualified" and to have had at least three years' experience in determining land values in Texas.

Briscoe's bill would make appraisals subject to approval or disapproval by a committee of the county judge, tax-assessor-collector, and sheriff of the county where the land is situated.

The person selling to the state for resale to veterans would have to file a sworn statement detailing the date he purchased the land, how much he paid for it, whether he is making the down payment on behalf of the veteran, whether there is a lease-back agreement between the seller and veteran, and whether there is an agreement of any kind to transfer, sell or convey at any time in the future between the seller and the veteran.

All those requirements would hit at abuses complained of in the program's past operation.

New Distribution Headquarters

Every new customer—and several thousand have been added in recent years—has reflected itself directly on the distribution system of Texas Electric Service Company. To accommodate the greatly expanded department, TESCO has erected a new plant on the Andrews Highway for distribution facilities in the Big Spring District.

TESCO Distribution Crew Has Spacious New Headquarters

Put back that rocking chair; Sis won't be using it for a spell. He's going to be too busy enjoying the new distribution headquarters for the Big Spring District of Texas Electric Service Company.

No one knows A. B. Sisson up and down the Texas Electric system by any title other than Sis. For years and years he has been head of distribution for TESCO in this district, and since the war he has watched his department get larger and more congested by the day.

Now he doesn't have to worry about that anymore. With 23 men and one woman in his department, he has moved out to the new plant on the Andrews Highway. The big corrugated iron building puts 3,600 square feet under roof, not counting 1,440 square feet of shed area for vehicles. Approximately six acres are under heavy wire fence to protect the pole yard, transformers, arms, large cable, etc.

The wonder of it all, now that the distribution department is comfortably situated in the new quarters, is where everyone managed to stay and where material was stored before the change was made. Sis says that the answer lay in storage at four different points, but that still doesn't lessen the amazement.

In all, more than two score persons work out of the department in this district, for the local distribution units at Lamesa and O'Donnell are assigned to it. The district embraces Howard, Dawson and Glasscock counties.

Engineering division of the department has a big room on the front or north side of the building. Here the three basic circuits for all of Big Spring are charted on a huge map. From this it is possible for areas to be isolated and switching changes made hurriedly to provide power in all other sectors while the trouble spot is repaired. Engineers also have their files and drawing boards. The two-way radio equipment is handy.

Off to one side Sis has his office. On the other side of the main room is the linemen's room where they may rest or play games while awaiting assignments or take in lectures or see safety film.

In the back is a big tile shower with five nozzles. The restroom area also has several lavatories as well as lockers for every man. Another room contains the meter repair facilities with extra meters hooked neatly to grillwork of expanded steel.

Behind this—and overhead for that matter, is the big storeroom, besides an office for the storekeeper, there is a series of work or job bins. During the day when the schedule is more leisurely, the storekeeper piles material into a certain bin for a certain job. He locks the door from the inside.

Next morning the crew leader unlocks the bin door from the outside and gets his materials and moves on quickly. At the end of the day he will return unused materials to the bin, and the storekeeper will check it back into the stock the following day.

The pole yard is adjacent to rail siding. Most of the yard area is paved and trucks may move freely to any point. All transformers are mounted on concrete slab. Everything is handy yet arranged for control. It's probably what Sis used to dream about when his department was crowded and his forces scattered.

New Norther Moves South

By The Associated Press

A new norther that dropped temperatures below freezing in the Panhandle and South Plains was meandering southward across Texas Thursday.

The front moved through the Dallas area early in the day, turned back northward in the face of southerly breezes and then did another about-face.

The Weather Bureau said the front probably would continue its slow march southward during the day.

The Bureau said the freezing zone may spread to the upper Red River Valley area around Wichita Falls and as far south as Odessa and Abilene Thursday night. It is expected to keep temperatures below normal in the regions behind it, with the colder air reaching the upper Texas Coast early Friday.

Overnight temperatures ranged from lows of 21 degrees at Daltart in the Panhandle to 61 at Galveston, on the Gulf.

Other minimums included Amarillo 27, Lubbock 30, Wichita Falls 39, San Antonio 45, Fort Worth 46, El Paso and Texarkana 47, Del Rio, Lufkin and San Angelo 48, Austin, Dallas, Houston and Waco 50, Beaumont 51 and Brownsville 53.

Gradually rising temperatures were expected by Friday.

GUY V. CASKEY

Evangelist Holds Services Here

A man recently returned from South Africa will speak on "Preaching the Gospel in Africa" at an early morning service here Saturday. He is Guy V. Caskey, Sweetwater, who is the speaker for the spring meeting now in progress at the East Fourth and Benton Church of Christ. Caskey spent five years in Africa as a preacher and he plans to return at the opportune moment. He has spoken at many points over the nation since returning and most recently at the Abilene Christian College lectureship. His Saturday morning message will be at 7 a. m. with the service terminating 45 minutes later. He will speak daily through next Tuesday at 7:30 p. m., except on Sunday when he will speak at 10:40 a. m. and 7 p. m. Friday evening he will speak on "What Sin Is?" Saturday on "Call of Abraham," Sunday on "The Lord's Supper" and "God's Gift to Humanity."

Gossips Face Stiff Penalties

CHICAGO (AP)—Here's a little earful for folks along party lines. Gossips who refuse to give up such telephone circuits in an emergency can get into trouble in an increasing number of states. They can be fined or jailed for yacking on and on when somebody wants to use the wire to call the police, firemen or a doctor. A survey by The Associated Press showed today that statutes of that sort have been put on the law books of six states. Similar proposed laws have been introduced in the legislatures of nine other states. A law enacted in New York last year makes it a misdemeanor, punishable by a $50 fine or 30 days in jail, to refuse "willfully" to give up a party line when informed it is needed for an emergency call. Similar laws were enacted last year in Michigan and this year in Massachusetts, Indiana, Arizona and Tennessee. Bills have been offered in legislatures in Colorado, Maryland, New Hampshire, Kansas, Pennsylvania, Oklahoma, Vermont, Rhode Island and Ohio.

Burros Good At Addition

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Rabbits may be good at multiplying, but William Cissell is going to learn that burros are pretty good at addition. Cissell asked a friend for two and got 22. It all started three years ago when Cissell got the idea a burro might make a nice pet. He wrote to Phillip Voss, a friend in Albuquerque, N.M., and asked him to line up a couple. The job wasn't as easy as it sounded. Fact is, Voss made expeditions into the Jemez Mountains for more than two years before capturing a pair of burros. By that time, word had gotten around of Voss' interest and Mexicans and cowhands began flooding him with animals. Pretty soon Voss found himself with 22, more than he could handle and still attend to his business affairs. So the other day, he loaded them into trailers and brought them all here. Cissell is in Florida. A neighbor is keeping four of the animals for the time being and the others are being sheltered at the state fairgrounds until Cissell returns.

Peron, Church Agree To End Long Battle

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—President Peron's government and the Roman Catholic Church reportedly have agreed to end their four-month running battle. High church sources said last night a truce was reached in long conferences this week between Peron and Santiago Luis Cardinal Copello, Argentine primate. The informants said the agreement will lead to settlement of all causes of tension. During the feud, at least 13 priests were jailed for terms ranging up to 90 days.

Bodies Removed

HONOLULU (AP)—The last of 66 bodies were removed last night from the wreckage of a Navy plane which crashed Tuesday, killing all aboard. Two Air Force identification experts arrived from Wright-Patterson Field, Dayton, Ohio, to try to identify the remains.

State Gives Up Quiz On Call-Girl Witness

NEW YORK (AP)—The prosecution in the Minot F. (Mickey) Jelke trial has given up attempts to pry information from a stubborn former call girl who proved a hostile witness. The witness, Barbara Harmon, was called to the stand to back up testimony by Pat Ward, another ex-call girl, that Jelke recruited her for safe society prostitution. Miss Harmon yesterday answered key questions of Asst. Dist. Atty. Anthony J. Liebler by saying she couldn't remember. Called a "hostile witness" by both Liebler and Judge Francis L. Valente, she was excused after cross-examination by the defense. Under grilling by Liebler, she agreed that Jelke asked her to go on dates for Miss Ward, but she declared, "I can't remember specifically" when asked whether she actually arranged any dates. "I remember introducing her to people, I don't know what she did," said the 33-year-old witness, a divorcee and mother of two. Specific answers that Miss Harmon gave at Jelke's first trial two years ago were read to her by Liebler. But she said they did not jog her memory. Miss Ward has testified that Jelke turned her over to Miss Harmon to be tutored in prostitution. The prosecution had better success with Richard Short, a talkative procurer whose testimony continues today. He was so loquacious that the judge cautioned him not to volunteer information that was not wanted. Short, who had testified briefly Tuesday, said yesterday he asked Jelke in 1952 if he could use his alleged list of potential customers for call girls to aid Short's wife, call girl Pat Thompson. Jelke, the witness testified, gave him some names and telephone numbers and instructed him to have his wife use Miss Ward's name. Short also testified that there was a meeting among himself, Jelke, Miss Thompson and Marguerite Cordova, 26. Jelke, 25-year-old oleomargarine heir, is charged with inducing Miss Ward into vice and with attempting to do the same with Miss Cordova. Both Miss Ward, 21, and Miss Cordova have testified for the prosecution.

Cotton Men Wail Going Of Long Johns

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Men, the National Cotton Council says it, is watching your underwear and doesn't like everything it sees. The council says a recent survey shows that union suits are on the way out and knit briefs—which use only a bare minimum of cotton fiber—are rapidly gaining favor. One suit of "long handles" consumes enough cotton to make two or more complete sets of briefs and undershirts, the council says. The council ended its tongue-in-cheek news release yesterday with the observation that "with the growth of population canceling out the trend toward skimpiness, the over-all consumption of cotton in men's underwear remained fairly constant in the past five years."

U. S. Jet Crashes

Rubber Plant Sale Okayed

WASHINGTON (AP)—A measure allowing the Rubber Disposal Commission to reopen bids on the government-owned Baytown, Tex., synthetic rubber plant was passed yesterday by the Senate and sent to the House. It would give private industry 60 days to bid for the copolymer plant. During the regular bidding period, which ended last summer, no acceptable price was offered. Recently a new concern, the Baytown Rubber and Chemical Corp., formed by Baytown citizens, told the Senate Banking Committee it plans to bid for the plant. The Senate late yesterday voted down 56-31 a resolution which would have vetoed the proposed sale.

Cattlemen Turn Thumbs Down On State Water Bills

DALLAS (AP)—Texas cattlemen have turned thumbs down on water control bills before the State Legislature. But they gave their backing to the controversial Trinity River Authority Bill. Winding up their annual convention yesterday, delegates to the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Assn. reelected principal officers and selected Fort Worth for the 1956 meeting. Top officers include Roy Parks, Midland, president; John Biggs, Vernon, first vice president; Edgar Hudgins, Hungerford, second vice president; M. A. Fuller, Fort Worth, treasurer, and Henry Bell,

Fort Worth, secretary-manager. The resolution opposing bills that would finance water control by ad valorem taxes put the association on record as opposing "any laws that interfere with the rights of landowners to use the water that is on their land or that falls on their land for any reasonable and utilitarian purpose." In supporting House Bill 20 to create a Trinity River Authority, the cattlemen declared the measure would enable an important segment of the state to carry out a program which would be of economic value to all livestock and farming people in the areas.

Place Poinsettias In Pots Outside Now

By ANNE LAFEVER
Those Christmas poinsettias may now be set in a cool place to prepare them for going outdoors as soon as danger of frost is past. When that is certain, place them, pot and all, in a fairly well-shaded place in the garden.

They may be watered and fed along with the other plants. If the branches begin to grow tall and spindly, cut them off and plant them in pots containing a good amount of sand mixed with some garden soil.

Fertilizer and water should be used generously in the garden and on lawns at this time. Plants will benefit from applications of peat moss mixed into the soil, although it doesn't contribute to the food value. It absorbs and holds the much-needed moisture and prevents evaporation by the strong winds of the season.

An important thing to remember in watering plants and shrubs is to avoid light sprinkling. This barely moistens the top soil and forces the roots to come to the surface. A more effective way of watering is to let water run slowly from a hose placed on the ground. This way it will sink down to the root system, and there is not so much danger of water remaining on the foliage. This will sometimes cause mildew on the leaves.

Because tomatoes like the same amount of plant food and water that roses like it is a good idea to put a few tomato plants in the rose bed.

Keep Your Individuality
Margaret Hayes who divides her time between television and the movies tells Lydia Lane that maintaining your individuality is the true secret of glamour.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY The Secret Of Glamor Is To Be Just Yourself

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD—Margaret Hayes came to Hollywood via the TV route but after making two pictures in a row she hurried back to New York to be with her husband and children.

"I couldn't accept the term contract," she said. "Margaret told me regretfully when I visited her in her studio dressing room. 'It would have meant being away from my family too much. I don't think it makes for a healthy marriage when a husband and wife are separated by several thousand miles, so I live in New York and come out to Hollywood only when there's a picture lined up for me.'"

Margaret is currently making "Blackboard Jungle" for MGM. "I've been in Hollywood before," she admitted. "I was younger then and very much in awe of all that Hollywood stands for. I thought the experts here knew more about everything than I did so I let them bleach my hair, pluck my eyebrows—do me over completely, without a murmur. I soon realized what a mistake I'd made. I lost my individuality. I looked in my mirror one day and discovered I looked just like every other starlet around the studio."

"Going against your nature is all wrong—I don't care who advises it," Margaret continued. "By all means listen to what others have to say. You may learn something, but let the final decision be yours. You know yourself better than anyone else. When you are completely yourself, you've learned an important glamour secret."

"When you get off the track as far as I did, nothing good can come of it. Not until I let my hair go back to its natural color and reverted to my old make-up and dressing habits did my career pick up."

"During this period of adjustment," Margaret explained, "I went back east and worked as an assistant fashion editor on a national magazine. For the first time I came in close contact with merchandising and I learned that you don't need to pay a fortune for your clothes in order to look smart. I admired the good-looking suit Margaret was wearing and wanted to know if this came from New York."

"Yes, but it only cost $35," she said.

It was reported that $58 was made on the dinner given by the Does last week. Family night was scheduled for March 31. Mrs. A. J. Prager won the attendance prize. An area meeting was announced for April 14-15 in Lubbock.

Anyone Can Have Coat-Of-Arms

By JANE EADS
WASHINGTON—It's an old European custom dating back to about the time of Emperor Henry the Fowler in the 9th century, but you too can have a coat-of-arms, even if you can't track down some medieval ancestor to latch it on to.

Dorothy Gatchell, artist, and former chief heraldic specialist for the Air Force, says you can design your own coat-of-arms, and tells you how to go about it in an illustrated 34-page booklet "Heraldry, Designed for You."

Organization of a morning group, the Edith Martin Circle, was announced. A report was given on the district WSCS conference. The society will serve at the Servicemen's Center on Sunday afternoon.

Rosebud Club Hears Mrs. Dyer, Mrs. Neal
"Spring Gardening" was discussed by Mrs. D. D. Dyer for members of the Rosebud Garden Club at a meeting in the home of Mrs. Ike Robb Tuesday morning. Mrs. James Duncas was co-hostess.

Mrs. Bill Neal gave information on "Insect Control" telling members ways in which various types of insects can be controlled. Twelve members were present.

Instead of the fleur de lis and lion rampant symbols of the Middle Ages, the coat-of-arms of the 20th century American should use symbols depicting our inventions and progress, our hobbies, family history, and personal characteristics.

Miss Gatchell designed the Air Force flag, many of its service emblems and shoulder patches, is now with the Air Force Graphic Arts Branch. She has designed coats-of-arms for hundreds of people over the past 25 years. She's been "amazed at the interest" and says Americans are just as crazy for a coat-of-arms as the British. She gets more requests than she can handle.

Before you set about designing a coat-of-arms, though, Miss Gatchell suggests you bone up on some of the basic laws and usages of the symbols.

You have to take care. For instance, a certain kind of triangle in the upper left corner meant "booster." A certain patch in the lower left meant "drunkard," and two other kinds of patches at the bottom meant "coward," and "kills his prisoner."

Recently Miss Gatchell received an invitation beautifully engraved with a family coat-of-arms, proclaiming the entire family to be illegitimately founded.

"I didn't mention this to my hosts, however," Miss Gatchell explained.

Folding Wall Desk Saves On Room
If you need a desk but haven't the room, a folding wall desk might fill the bill. The box-like cabinet attaches easily to the wall, and a mahogany formica-topped surface folds down for writing.

When folded, the outer side can be decorated to match other furnishings.

Knife Avoids Waste Of Frozen Foods
A special saw-edged knife now on the market helps you cook just the amount of frozen food you need, avoid waste. It cuts easily through solidly frozen foods and bones without thawing or removing the wrapper.

Gullets in the 10-inch stainless steel blade prevent shredding, and the blade never needs resharpening.

Now Orchids Are For Everybody

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. (U)—Science and competition have brought the orchid out of the mink coat and caviar class and into big business.

Dr. O. Wesley Davidson, director of orchid research at Rutgers University's College of Agriculture, says the exotic tropical flower has displaced the rose as the top seller in New Jersey.

Before World War II, Davidson says, the state produced more than half of all the orchids in the United States. Now the state grows even more, but its proportion of the national market is only 33 per cent.

The reason: competition from California and New York state.

Feeling this competitive pinch, New Jersey orchidmen asked Davidson to set up an orchid research program. As a professor of ornamental horticulture, he heads up research of many flowers, such as roses, carnations, geraniums and gladioli. He added orchids to the list in 1945.

Anyone Can Have Coat-Of-Arms

By JANE EADS
WASHINGTON—It's an old European custom dating back to about the time of Emperor Henry the Fowler in the 9th century, but you too can have a coat-of-arms, even if you can't track down some medieval ancestor to latch it on to.

Dorothy Gatchell, artist, and former chief heraldic specialist for the Air Force, says you can design your own coat-of-arms, and tells you how to go about it in an illustrated 34-page booklet "Heraldry, Designed for You."

Knowland Will Talk About Yalta Despite Ike Comment

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) said today he is going to talk about the Yalta conference "whenever it is pertinent" despite President Eisenhower's statement such discussions gain nothing.

"President Eisenhower was expressing his personal opinion on this matter and I don't agree with him," said Knowland, the GOP leader. "I intend to continue to discuss Yalta whenever I believe it is pertinent."

The President told his news conference yesterday he saw no advantage in going back 10 years and showing, in the light of after events, that somebody may have been wrong or right.

Squirrels Find A Friend

Sen. Richard Neuberger (D-Ore) feeds a squirrel on the Capitol grounds in Washington after making a speech in the Senate in which he offered to donate $25 to start a "Save the White House Squirrels" fund. Neuberger said he was inspired by reports squirrels are being captured on the White House grounds and removed to suburban woodlands because they damage President Eisenhower's putting green. The senator suggested a fence be installed around the green to protect it. (AP Wirephoto).

Coalman Urges Pushing Of Oil Anti-Trust Suits

WASHINGTON (AP)—A coal industry spokesman demanded today a congressional investigation of "what has happened to delay trial" of a civil antitrust case against five major American oil companies.

Joseph Moody, president of the Southern Coal Producers Assn., said the five firms are part of an international oil cartel, and were named in the antitrust suit filed April 21, 1953.

He said some of the group are dumping Venezuelan residual oil at East Coast ports in "a contrived and carefully controlled program" to capture coal's industrial fuel markets.

Moody was before a Senate labor subcommittee studying unemployment problems. He contended the increase in residual oil imports is a major reason why many coal miners are out of work.

Residual oil, used principally for fuel, is the part remaining after gasoline and other high grade products have been refined out of the crude petroleum.

Moody named the companies as Standard Oil of New Jersey, Socony-Vacuum, the Texas Co., Gulf of California and the Gulf Oil Corp. He said the Federal Trade Commission in a 1952 report to Congress accused these firms, with two foreign firms, of dominating world oil markets.

George Calls For Efforts At Unity For Big 4 Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. George (D-Ga.) called today for new efforts to achieve free world unity as a prelude to a possible Big Four meeting this year on world peace.

He said he feels President Eisenhower's news conference comments yesterday indicate the President is willing to meet with the chiefs of other governments "if there is a reasonable hope of getting something done."

Agreeing such unity is needed, Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) said in a separate interview it might be well to hold a preliminary "Big Three" conference to iron out policy differences before any full-dress talks with Russia.

To Seek Divorce
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Movie actress Ruth Roman says she intends to divorce radio executive Mortimer Hall, alleging cruelty. Hall is president and general manager of Los Angeles radio station KLAC.

George, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, has advocated a top-level meeting of the United States, Russia, Britain and France as soon as the West European defense setup is ratified.

Gas Spokesman Hits Federal Control Idea

WASHINGTON (AP)—A spokesman for natural gas producers said today Congress had no intention of putting such producers under federal regulation when it passed the Natural Gas Act in 1938.

The Supreme Court ruled 5-3 last June that Congress did so intend, and it said the Federal Power Commission should regulate the wellhead price for gas sold to interstate pipelines. The FPC previously had contended it did not have this power under the 1938 act.

David Searls of Houston urged the House Commerce Committee to approve a bill to remove the producers from the FPC's jurisdiction.

"Only Congress can say authoritatively that the Supreme Court misinterpreted its intention," Searls said. "The act expressly excluded 'production or gathering' of natural gas from federal regulation but contained a phrase giving the FPC jurisdiction over sales of gas 'in interstate commerce for resale.'"

"Considered in its widest application that term may be broad enough to encompass the sale by a producer to a pipeline company which thereafter transports the gas to a distributor.

Blizzards Still Hit Northwest

Most of the storm-battered areas in the eastern half of the nation got a relief from wet and cold weather today but blizzards still whipped Montana eastward along the border to Minnesota.

Snow, with winds of 30 to 40 m.p.h., measured nearly a foot in Montana. The drifting snow blocked many country roads. Some schools in northwestern Montana were closed. It was one of the worst postwinter blizzards in three years. Snowfalls in northern Minnesota were around 2 to 3 inches.

The snow and below-zero readings extended across the northern border from northwestern Minnesota to the Rockies in Montana. Coldest spot early today was Cut Bank, Mont., with 8 below zero.

Cold air moved southward into the Texas Panhandle, central Missouri and central Illinois. Most of the rest of the country reported dry weather.

Distribution Skills Developed By Students While On The Job

In an over-simplification of economics, even adults sometime get the idea that there are only the producers, the processors or craftsmen and the consumers.

Actually one of the largest groups in the economic society and certainly one of the most vital is that made up of people who distribute goods or perform services.

This is where the Distributive Education program fits into the vocational phase of the Big Spring school system.

Not until they are juniors and seniors in high school are young people eligible to participate. Then, if they believe that they want to go into distributive work as a life's calling, they consult with Mary Sears Herring about this season of the year.

Miss Herring, as co-ordinator, then seeks a training station. It may be a department store, a grocery, a hardware store, office supply house, jewelry store, or any of a number of establishments which engage in retail sales or supply special services.

Then, next autumn, the student will spend the morning in school, completing required courses for a high school diploma and in studying courses related directly to the field in which they are training.

During afternoons they go to work on the job. They not only put to practice what they may learn in class, but employers are constantly instructing in the practical techniques of sales and service. By the time they graduate, many are ready to continue right on with a regular job where they are working, or to step into another situation as an experienced employe.

Evangelist Converts 317

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP)—Another 317 Scots made their "decision for Christ" last night as Billy Graham's great revival crusade wound up its third day.

"The record for decisions has passed 1,000 in three days," said Jerry Beavan, the American evangelist's executive secretary. "We never have had such success so early in a crusade."

A capacity 15,000 jammed Glasgow's great Kelvin Hall for the third straight night. Later Graham spoke to the 317 privately.

District Governor Of Optimists Here To Help Form Club

Charles T. Boyle, Richardson, governor of District No. 7 of Optimist International, was guest speaker at the club's meeting Tuesday at the Wagon Wheel.

He has been here for several days assisting a local group in organizing. Both individuals and community can benefit from an active Optimist Club, he stressed, especially the former through a sense of having helped some boy become established on the right road.

Other guests at the meeting included Carl Cahen, San Angelo, public relations director for the West Texas Boys' Ranch, and Art Sitas, San Angelo insurance man. The San Angelo club is sponsoring the Big Spring unit. Local guests included Gil Jones, R. H. Weaver, Loyd Woolen, Paul Gibson, Maj. Leo Bradford. Newest member of the Optimists was Earl Culpepper.

Clyde E. Thomas Sr. projected colored slides which he made on his tours through Mexico, Central America and the West Indies. Dr. James E. Whitney, acting president, reminded that there were still a limited number of charter memberships open to men interested in associating with a national service club which has as its primary object helping of young boys. Local projects will be developed as soon as possible, he said.

Texaco Dealers, Other Personnel Due Here Today

More than 70 dealers and other selling personnel connected with Texaco are due here for an annual area meeting this evening.

Representatives are expected from Big Spring, Seagraves, Andrews, Lamesa, Seminole, Colorado City and Snyder for the dinner affair starting at 7 p.m. in the Skyline Supper Club.

J. H. Payne, Amarillo, state manager for Texaco products, will outline the company's sales promotion and advertising plans for 1955.

A highlight of the meeting will be the presentation of appreciation awards to men who have been Texaco dealers for 10 or more years.

At the sales meeting, Payne will point up the part that dealers and sales representatives play in serving the motorists and supplying his ever-increasing demand for petroleum products.

Three full color films will be projected. First of these prepared especially for Texaco dealers is a musical film, "Take It from Here," featuring Jimmy Durante and Donald O'Connor and uniquely summing up sales promotion plans. Another is "Petro-Miracle of Petroleum," a short product film about the company's premium gasoline supercharged with Petrox. The third film is "Speaking of Competition," the feature film produced in Hollywood with a strong professional cast and designed to help dealers in management of stations on even more businesslike basis.

Bosses Guests At Annual DE Banquet This Evening

Bosses get the royal treatment this evening when Distributive Education students have them as their guests for dinner.

The occasion will be the annual employer-employee banquet of DE students set for 7:30 p.m. in the high school cafeteria. More than two score students and employers will be present along with a dozen or more guests. Gil Jones is to be speaker of the evening.

Mary Walker, accompanied by Sharon McRee, will sing and Al Harkrider will lead in the DE Creed. Presiding over the affair will be Don Gregory, president of the DE Club. Virginia Carpenter will extend the welcome and Sam Burns, manager of the Men's Store and once a distributive student under the DE program when it included services as well as trades, will respond. Invocation will be by Kenneth Hammack.

He Daches All Over The Town

WASHINGTON (AP)—There's a red dachshund in northwest Washington that likes to wander. Sure, most dogs do. But the difference is that this particular pooch often comes home by taxi, collect.

His name is Noodle and he belongs to 12-year-old Elizabeth Sher. He has his favorite spots, over a wide area, and has become so well known that many people who see him don't even have to read his dog tag to know where to send him. Once a park policeman routed him home. Many times he shows up at WMAL radio-TV station and gets home by taxi or the Sher family car. The Bureau of Standards is almost always good for a taxi ride home. Arrangements for a photograph were a bit difficult. "He isn't here," the voice at the Sher residence said. "May I tell him who called?"

Yankees Still Carry Old Trademark, Big Inning

Eight Run 8th Slays Senators

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Them Yankees, sub, are at it again. They still carry that old trademark—the big inning.

The New Yorkers, who got some extraordinary chutzpah from Washington pitchers, romped through an eight-run eighth inning to knock off the Senators 10-4 yesterday.

Maury McDermott, who finished only 11 of the 26 games he started for Washington last season, tried to go all the way for the first time this spring. Until he ran afoul in the eighth, he was doing a good job.

He had the Yanks nibbling through the first seven innings, setting them down on four singles. The Yanks got a pair of runs, one of which was unearned, but trailed 4-3 after seven. Then Washington's stringbean lefty walked three of the four men he faced in the eighth, giving up a single to the other, Mickey Mantle.

A youngster named Bob Ross, up from Chattanooga and also a southpaw, came on then and forced in a run by hitting Bill Skowron. He pushed another home by walking Bob Cerv.

The Yanks took over in their old style. Gil McDougald cleared the bases with a triple and Billy Hunter singled before a double play was accomplished by the Nats. Joe Collins closed the sniping with his first spring home run.

The first serious injury of the exhibition season showed up when Boston shortstop Milt Bolling suffered a chipped bone in his left elbow in a second-base collision with St. Louis catcher Dick Rank. Bolling, whom Manager Pinky Higgins had installed as the Red Sox No. 1 man at short, will be out from six to eight weeks.

Owen Friend replaced Bolling and committed three errors that gave the Cardinals three unearned runs in their 5-4 victory.

Murry Dickson and rookie Jim Owens handcuffed the Milwaukee Braves on two hits for a 3-1 victory by the Phillies. It was 1-1 until the ninth when Del Ennis drove in the tie-breaker with a triple and scored himself on an error.

Detroit also got good pitching. Ned Garver, George Zuverink and Bob Schultz gave Cincinnati just six singles to win 5-1.

Brooklyn clobbered the Kansas City Athletics 15-4. Don Newcombe looked good pitching five strong innings for the Brooks while Carl Furillo, Pee Wee Reese and Roy Campanella contributed heavily to a 17-hit support. Furillo got four hits. Reese drove in four runs with two safeties and Campanella hit a pair of doubles and a single.

Pittsburgh got over a three-run hump in the ninth to beat the Chicago White Sox 7-4. Preston Ward drove in the crucial three runs with a homer.

Out West, the New York Giants evened their spring series with the Cleveland Indians at 5-all, smacking Bob Lemon for six runs in the second and third innings for a 9-4 decision.

Defolt also got good pitching. Ned Garver, George Zuverink and Bob Schultz gave Cincinnati just six singles to win 5-1.

Lippy's Sure He Can Win

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Travelers recently in from Arizona, who now have had a chance to look over the National League clubs training in Florida, express amazement at what they term the complacency of Manager Leo Durocher of the Giants this spring.

"I never before saw a man as absolutely convinced he has everything he needs to win again as Leo is," said one of the Western agents. "You ask him what he needs and he says nothing. He says let the others see if they can catch him."

"After looking over the Milwaukee and Brooklyn clubs—especially Milwaukee—I suspect Leo is going to have a rude awakening. Among other things, I think he might find he needs a new left fielder. Monty Irvin was 36, on the record, his last birthday, and he'll never again be the ballplayer he was before he broke that ankle three springs ago."

In contrast to their gloomy forebodings about the Giants, the tourists from the West, who could be prejudiced, profess to believe the Cleveland Indians are a cinch to win in the American League by an even greater margin than their eight games over the Yankees last season.

This is strange talk about an outfit which folded in the World Series the way the Indians did, but our expert seems to think you can write that one off. He has convinced the Tribe simply was worn out from setting its record of 111 victories when it should have been resting up in bed.

Back From Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Coleman and family have returned from a fishing trip at Lake Travis, where they caught 15 black bass. The largest catch was four pounds, the average catch about two pounds.

Kate Morrison humbled East Ward, 10-9, in a Ward School Softball League game played Tuesday. Ishmael Valdez and Joe Martinez hit home runs for the Maroons.

BOB BAKER REPORTED IN LINE FOR ROCKY

By The Associated Press

Matchmaker Billy Brown of the International Boxing Club has hinted that Bob Baker, the veteran Pittsburgh heavyweight, may get a shot at Rocky Marciano's title. Baker has a previous engagement with Julio Mederos in Madison Square Garden tomorrow which must be attended to before he begins thinking seriously of a championship fight.

Odessa Bound

A regular on the North Texas State College mile relay and sprint relay teams is Paul Patterson (above) who, with his teammates, goes to Odessa this weekend for the annual West Texas Relays. The show gets under way Friday and continues through Saturday.

RELAY STRENGTH HELPS EAGLES IN TITLE BID

DENTON, (SC) — North Texas State will be counting on help from strong relay teams in its efforts to unseat defending champion Abilene Christian in the West Texas Relays at Odessa Saturday.

It will be the second meeting of the year between the two squads. NTSC edged the Wildcats two weeks ago in the Border Olympics by rolling up 56 2-3 points to ACC's 48.

North Texas Coach Winton (Pop) Noah says that his Eagles will have to win at least two relays in the eight-event program to stay in the running against ACC.

He says the mile relay and the sprint medley are the most promising of an NTSC victory. The Eagles set a Border Olympics mile relay record of 3:22.3 this spring, and stepped the distance in 3:22.2 in winning the Southwestern Recreational Meet last week.

Jimmy Weaver, Jimmie Huffman, Mike Hagler and Paul Patterson will form the quartet at Odessa.

The Eagles' sprint medley group is untried this season, but includes three of the four runners that last year won both the Kansas and Drake Relays crowns.

Hagler is the newcomer, joining Patterson, Boyd Dollar and Dean Renfro in the foursome.

Weaver, Huffman, Dollar and Renfro make up the 440 relay team, and last week posted a record 42.8 clocking in the Southwestern Recreational. Their best time of the season however, came in the Border Olympics as they ran a 42.2 to finish second to ACC. The Wildcats, with freshman Bobby Morrow showing the way, set a new mark of 41.9.

North Texas will enter the same runners in the 880 relay.

And Dollar, Renfro, Ben Boehnke and Sonny Sullivan will go in the 100.

Ken Kelley will be the lone NTC entry in the high jump, high hurdles, and broad jump. He's done 6'3 1/2 in the high jump, and has a 14.8 clocking in the hurdles this spring.

Odessa Topples Midland, 15-5

MIDLAND, (SC)—Odessa toppled Midland, 15-5, in another schoolboy exhibition baseball game here Wednesday.

The Bronchos got away to a four-lead in the second inning and were never headed.

Billy Bell and Johnny Cutbirth divided time on the hill for the winners, with the former getting credit for the win.

In all, Odessa collected 16 base hits, compared to 11 for Midland.

Gary Hines paced the Odessa attack with three hits.

Santa Anna Coach To Get Interview

COAHOMA (SC)—D. H. Behrens, coach at Santa Anna High School, is to confer with Coahoma school trustees Thursday afternoon concerning the vacancy at Coahoma.

Trustees are reported ready to offer the place vacated by Charles (Pitt) Brandon to Behrens.

The Santa Anna man has been there for three years and has had good success. Prior to that he has coached at Crosbyton and at Llano. He is a graduate of ACC.

SMU Scores Sweep

DALLAS (AP)—Southern Methodist won every match in walloping Hardin-Simmons, 8-0 yesterday in preparation for opening of South-West Conference tennis play. SMU opens conference play against TCU at Fort Worth Saturday.

"Baker is a real good fighter," said Brown today. "He can box, punch and now seems to be taking training seriously. I also like him because he's willing to fight anybody and I wouldn't be surprised if he gets a crack at Marciano in September."

Bobby Gleason, Ning Valdes' manager, is back in New York after ironing out details for his tiger's 15-rounder against Archie Moore in Las Vegas.

"It's all set for May 3," Gleason said. "They're guaranteeing each fighter $50,000 or the privilege of 25 per cent. Boy, they think nothing of money out there. They have a $30 top, but they'll be giving tickets away just for the publicity."

"And when Valdes beats Moore I'm going to claim the world's heavyweight title."

He didn't say how.

Bluhm Leads Way Off Odessa Tee

Bobby Bluhm of Big Spring will be among the first high school threesome to tee off in the West Texas Relays golf champions at the Odessa Country Club Friday.

Bluhm will play in company with Cruz Sanchez, Midland; and Doyl Hill, Sweetwater. The three get away at 12:40 p.m.

Stormy Edwards of Big Spring will leave the first tee at 1:25 p.m., along with Jodie Barker, Kermit; and Bob Hankins, Lamesa.

Charles Long of Big Spring starts play at 2:15 p.m., along with Stanley Binion, Abilene; and Abel Nieves, Jefferson.

Bobby McCarty will be the last Big Spring player to leave the tee. He goes with Robert Epley of McCamey at 2:59 p.m.

The players will fire 36 holes in a medal play.

Hebert Wins Top Money In Pro-Am

MIAMI BEACH (AP)—Touring pro tee off today in first round play of the $12,500 Miami Beach Golf Tournament.

Lionel Hebert, Erie, Pa., pro, pulled his way to victory in the pro-am tournament yesterday with a 65 to lead a field of 55 pros and grab $500 first prize.

He had a one-stroke lead over Peter Thomson and Fred Hawkins of El Paso.

Another stroke back at 67 were Jay Hebert, Al Bessellink, Al Brosch and Dave Douglas.

Bunched at 68 were Bo Winger, Sam Sneed, Ed Furgol, Paul Maguire, Mike Krak and Walter Burkemo.

At 69 were Julius Boros; George Bayer, Al Mengert, Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex.; Wally Rich, and Mike Souchak.

Those carding 70 were Shelley Mayfield, Gene Littler, Tommy Bolt of Houston, Cary Middlecoff and John Barnum.

San Angelo Wins

SAN ANGELO, (SC)—San Angelo High School shaded Abilene in a baseball exhibition here Tuesday afternoon, 8-4. Ed Tusha set the Eagles down with five hits and got two of Angelo's ten safeties.

Working on the theory that they has to spend money to make money, Pepper Martin of the Big Spring Cops made a $300 investment Wednesday.

Martin paid that much for the outright purchase of young Albert Kossie Hill, a hurler who was with last year's Big Spring Team.

Martin bought Hill's contract from Tyler of the Big State League and it could turn out to be one of the shrewdest purchases he ever made.

The stylish Hill won only four games last season, compared to four losses, but it was the manner in which he went about his work that impressed Martin.

Hill, a native of Tyler, got in 17 games. He started 12 and finished five. In the 90 innings he worked, he gave up 77 runs and 124 hits. He issued 29 walks, struck out 53 and had an earned run average of 6.32.

Another factor that influenced the purchase was Hill's popularity with his team-mates.

Hill has been in training with Tyler for about ten days. He is supposed to have ballooned up to about 180 pounds during the winter and may have to work hard to get down to his playing weight, which is about 165.

In other developments Wednesday, Martin announced that James Hollis, a local boy who signed on as a catcher last year, had decided to quit baseball.

Martin stated Hollis, who got in 23 games with the club and hit .262 last season, is contemplating matrimony.

More players are due to check in today for the start of spring training, which gets under way at Steer Park at 10 a.m. Friday.

At that time, only pitchers and catchers are due to fall out for workouts. Infielders and outfielders are not scheduled to answer the call until Monday.

Martin said a catcher, as well as a shortstop and center fielder, would report here on option from Austin of the Big State League sometime this weekend.

The catcher will get a chance to spell Huck Doe behind the plate for the Cops.

The Cops have less than ten days to work before their first exhibition game. They are scheduled to meet the Hobbs Sports here Sunday, April 3.

Curnan Is Named Lubbock Pilot

LUBBOCK (AP)—Former Texas Leaguer Ronald R. (Mike) Curnan will be playing manager of Lubbock of the Class B West Texas-New Mexico League this year.

Curnan was catcher for Beaumont last year, hit .215 for the Exporters and was one of the Texas League fielding leaders.

Kid Pitching Counts Heavily In Sox Plans

By JACK HANCOCK

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—The youth-minded Boston Red Sox count heavily on kid pitching to help carry the load in the American League race as they await the expected return of Ted Williams.

Everytime the phone rings in the clubhouse, the boys expect to hear the news that Ted is on the way. Almost to a man they think their top slugger will be back, once he has straightened out his personal affairs.

While he awaits the call, Manager Mike (Pinky) Higgins keeps a parade of youngsters into Williams' old left field spot—just in case. Faye Throneberry, a left-handed hitting led of 25, just back from military service, and big Karl Olson (.260) are the top candidates.

Frank Sullivan (15-12), a 6-6 righthander, took over as ace of the staff in his first full season in '54 when Mel Parnell (3-7) was sidelined for months with a broken forearm. Although Sullivan didn't get a starting chance until May 21, he wound up the top winner on the ball club. Tom Brewer, another young righthander, finished with a fine 10-9 rookie year. Willard Nixon (11-12), a four-time winner over the New York Yankees, is the other definite starter in Higgins' plans.

Dick Brodowski, just back from service, may take over a starting job. He impressed by pitching some brilliant ball in '52 before he left for military service. Ike Delock (17-10) for Higgins at (Lansville) and Russ Kemmerer (5-3) probably will make it.

Bob Smith (13-5 at Shreveport) might grab the left-handed job behind Parnell because Leo Kieley (5-8) is underweight and Bill Henry (3-7) has had arm trouble.

Old reliable Ellis Kinder (8-8) is still around at 40 to handle the bullpen with help from Tom Hurd (.20), Hershell Freeman (7-5 at Louisville) and Sid Hudson (3-4).

While the Sox' farm system has been popping up with young pitchers who can throw hard, it has not been producing muscle men who can catfoot that left field wall at Fenway Park. Jackie Jensen (.276) was the only consistent long ball hitter last year, except Williams, of course. Jackie finished fourth in the league with 25 homers and third with 117 runs batted in. He also topped the league with 22 stolen bases.

If Williams, 36, returns, he'll be in left. The Splinter hit .345 last year but lacked 44 at bats of being eligible for the batting crown. He was second with 29 homers although he broke his collar bone in spring training and also missed about a month due to pneumonia in August.

Higgins has decided to stick with Jim Piersall (.285), his acrobatic fly catcher, as the full time center fielder. Last year Boudreau switched Jensen and Piersall. In addition to Throneberry and Olson, also available are Sam Mele (.268) and Gene Stephens (.286), a lanky young left-handed hitter who can't be optioned again.

43 Teams To Run In WT Relays

ODESSA, Tex. (AP)—Forty-three high schools are entered in the schoolboy division of the sixth annual West Texas Relays this weekend. There are eight college entries and six in the university division.

Preliminaries in the high school division tomorrow will be an opportunity for Abilene to prove its favorite role. Amarillo, Fort Stockton, Andrews and Midland may give Abilene some competition.

Both Texas and Houston will be aiming for a world record in the 400-yard relay in the university class. Houston's Doyle Jones, Jerry Beck, Danny Boone and Larry McBride have equalled the world mark of 40.5 once this season and with good weather might lower the mark. Texas' has done 40.7 this year.

US Stays Far In Front In Pan-American Games

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Action-packed finals in six events kept the Pan-American swimming and diving scene humming today.

The United States was far in front in points and continuing its domination in these 1955 "Little Olympics."

Mexico's superb Joaquin Capilla was favored to capture the 10-meter platform diving crown to go with his three-meter title, and Patricia McCormick of the United States was expected to duplicate the feat in the women's diving.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Paul Ingie, who starred for Connors State of Oklahoma in that losing effort against HCJC of Big Spring in the Region V Basketball Tournament at Amarillo recently, was named to the third Junior College All-America team.

The wire services didn't carry a complete first team. Here it is: Richard Banton, Compton, Calif.; Richard Bohannon, Pensacola, Fla.; Russell Boone, Tyler, Texas; Dan Dotson, Hannibal-LaGrange, Mo.; and Hal Jensen, Snow, W. Va.

I understand HCJC's Jim Knotts made the All-Region team (selected from players in the Oklahoma-West Texas-New Mexico area) but that hasn't been confirmed.

The National Junior College Association does the selecting for the various teams.

Personable Johnny Johnson, the local high school basketball mentor, is a younger brother to Dewey Johnson, head football mentor at Roswell, N. M. High School.

Dewey is ten years Johnny's elder, was a senior in high school at Abernathy when Johnny was admitted to the first grade. At the time, the boys' father was on the Abernathy school board.

Before going to Roswell, which he was hesitant to do, Dewey had coaching tenures at Midland, Tahoka, Abernathy, McKinney and Waco.

Dewey now reasons his move to Roswell was the best he ever made.

While coaching at Abernathy, Dewey developed a team that lost to Stratford, the eventual state champion in the Regional finals, by two points. Both of those points came as the result of free shots after the regulation game had ended.

Johnny, who has hopes of rekindling basketball interest here the way it was 25 years ago, plans to conduct a spring workout here after football workouts are concluded in mid-May. He'll spend the summer here and will seek employment of some kind during the summer.

The Howard County Junior College track and field team didn't make the trip to the Southwestern Exposition Meet in Fort Worth last weekend because the school bus went on a sitdown strike. Developed engine trouble, or something.

Too, John Curtis and Cleonne Russell, counted on to score heavily for the Hawks, haven't yet begun to hit top form.

Tom Costello and Art DiCesare, the rookies who will bid for spots in the Big Spring Cops' lineup, are already on the scene but they probably would have arrived several days later, had not they figured in an auto wreck in Ohio.

If that sounds strange, read on. After their car went on the fritz, the two—along with Tom's brother, Carl—hopped a plane and rode to Dallas, then took the bus out here. The plane ride, of course, speeded up their schedule.

Both are big boys and Costello gives the appearance of being jet-propelled, which he is. The two look like ball players are supposed to look, broad shouldered and strong. They could help a lot here.

A 220-yard straight-away is to be added to the Snyder High School cinder track, according to scribe Dale Walton.

It's part of a refurbishing plan going on at Snyder. Included in the construction will be the addition of 2,000 seats to the Snyder football field.

In 1946, boxing receipts in this fair land of ours totaled $14,000,000. Last year, the aggregate take amounted to only $4,284,670.

Longhorns, Snyder Square Off Today

Roy Baird's Big Spring High School Steers will try to do something about the Snyder jinx in a practice tilt this afternoon at Steer Park.

In four games, the Steers have dropped three decisions to the Bengals.

The local team won the first one easily enough, 20-7, but since that time have yielded three straight decisions. Snyder won the games by scores of 4-3, 4-3 and 4-0.

In seven games this season, the Steers have won three times. In addition to the Snyder win, the locals beat Andrews on two occasions.

Willie Pastrano, 19, made his first appearance on the national network last night at Chicago Stadium and proved quite a Fancy Dan as he gracefully prouctured to a unanimous 10-round victory over Al Andrews.

Felminaries in the high school division tomorrow will be an opportunity for Abilene to prove its favorite role. Amarillo, Fort Stockton, Andrews and Midland may give Abilene some competition.

Both Texas and Houston will be aiming for a world record in the 400-yard relay in the university class. Houston's Doyle Jones, Jerry Beck, Danny Boone and Larry McBride have equalled the world mark of 40.5 once this season and with good weather might lower the mark. Texas' has done 40.7 this year.

THE SPRINGBOARD

News From Webb Air Force Base
By BILL SEILER

DERBY ENTRANT SPONSORED
Members of the Field Maintenance Sq. Armament shops have decided to sponsor Ronnie Holmes, son of T-Sgt. James Holmes, in the annual Soap Box Derby on July 4 in City Park. Members of the shops have already donated the $14 entry fee.

Several young boys were sponsored in the race last year by various units at Webb. The sponsorship of Ronnie Holmes is the first to be announced at the Base so far.

SIGNS OF SPRING

With the arrival of warmer weather, schedules for familiarization firing of the carbine have been sent out by the Wing Operations and Training section, and each Base unit will have adequate time to complete its share of the firing.

Wing Hq. Sq. will open the training program on April 4-5, and it will be closed by the Field Maint. Sq. May 8 through 13. Three shifts a day will fire on the range, Monday through Friday.

The familiarization firing will be supervised by S-Sgt. Melvin A. Robertson, range supervisor assigned to the Air Police Sq., assisted by two instructors from his organization assigned to the range.

Motorists are urged to be especially careful when driving on Avenue D between Sixth and Eighth streets, in the vicinity of the range. The red warning flag will be flown at all times when firing is in progress.

OFFICERS GET MEDALS

Two more Webb officers have been added to the list of those entitled to wear the Armed Forces Reserve Medal. Latest to receive the award are Capt. Kenneth A. Aber and 1st Lt. Darrel A. Clark, both of the Flying Safety office.

The medals are awarded at the direction of the President of the United States and are in recognition of completion of 10 years of honorable and satisfactory service in the Armed Forces Reserve of the United States.

'OASIS' PROJECT CONTINUES
Operation "Oasis," originated by Brig. Gen. Fred Dean while he was commander at Webb, will be continued, declared Col. Charles M. Young, wing commander, in a statement late last week.

"It is the responsibility of all officers and airmen at Webb," he said, "to see that we have a more pleasant place in which to live and work, and this can be accomplished only by the voluntary efforts of us all."

Operation "Oasis" is a volunteer project to improve the appearance and facilities at Webb. Since sufficient funds cannot be obligated for this purpose, the project has to depend upon volunteer work.

"Getting and keeping our base green is a major task," Col. Young added, "and I hope that every man assigned to Webb will contribute his efforts willingly toward that end whenever the opportunity arises."

CHANGE DINING HALLS

Effective with breakfast Friday, April 1, all student and permanent party officers will begin eating at Dining Hall C, popularly known as the "Cadet Mess," instead of the Officers' Club.

Aviation cadets will continue to eat in the same dining hall. It will not be until sometime in June that the dining hall can be converted over to solely serving officers.

TWO AIRMEN COMMENDED

Two Spanish-speaking airmen of the 3560th (Flt Line) Maint. Sq. last Saturday received letters of commendation for their outstanding efforts while serving as interpreters for members of the Spanish Air Force undergoing training as instrument trainer and electrical systems repairmen at Chanute AFB, Ill.

Last October A-1C Felix J. Diaz and A-2C Benito C. Aponte were selected to go on temporary duty to the Air Force's technical school at Rantoul, Ill., as interpreters. While there, they spent many off-duty hours translating course materials that can be used by subsequent classes of Spanish-speaking students.

Said Col. C. M. Young, Wing Commander, in his indorsement to the commendation, "It is a distinct pleasure to receive correspondence... which lauds the performance of duty of men in my command... You have set an outstanding example..."

Their work at Webb has not gone unnoticed. Col. Newton D. Hagins, M&S Gp. commander, not only thanked them for the excellence of their work at Chanute AFB, but also for the fine work on their daily jobs here.

TWENTY NCO'S GRADUATE

What instructors termed as "one of the finest classes" yet to go through Webb's NCO Academy finished the program last Saturday morning and heard a graduation talk by Col. Newton D. Hagins on the subject of leadership.

On hand at the graduation ceremonies to offer his personal congratulations was Col. Charles M. Young, Wing commander, and Capt. James S. Robertson, school commandant. Honor graduate was

The directors will hear the report of the nominating committee for new officers for the coming year. Members of the committee are Mrs. Alton Underwood, chairman; Mrs. Everett Lomax, and Jewell Barton.

The other cases filed this morning were for traffic violations. One man was charged with operating a motor vehicle without a valid registration license. Two truck drivers, a bus driver, and a passenger car driver were charged with speeding.

The Highway Patrol filed three cases in Justice Court, Place 2. One case charged a man with speeding, another for an illegal left-hand turn, and the other case charged a man with operating a vehicle without an operator's license.

Underground Water Adds Fuel To Farm Problems

AUSTIN — There's no argument that underground water supplies are important in Texas and growing more so as more semi-arid land goes under irrigation. There's no argument that "someday something must be done" about underground water laws as use of underground water increases.

But, the field of underground water legislation is a "new" one. (The present law was enacted only six years ago.) It's a complicated subject and one that's quick to set off disputes.

The High-Plains Underground

Leaders of the High Plains district say the bill is one to correct some shortcomings of the underground water law passed in 1948. The bill, applicable only in districts, does not give the power to prorate water use other than the present law provides, Berry said, but it does empower the local board to set up spacing rules and pass on the size of pumps. Permits to drill would be required. That would stop a well before it is drilled, if it is in violation.

Water District in the Lubbock area is promoting H. B. 404 by Rep. George Berry.

Leaders of the High Plains district in do a lot of explaining and talking, but Tuesday afternoon, sub-committee of the House Conservation and Reclamation Committee put its stamp of approval on the Berry bill. Now it goes back to the whole committee and then, if approved, to the floor of the House.

Van Fleet Seeks POW Information

SEOUL (AP)—Gen. James A. Van Fleet, who lost his only son in the Korean War, returned today in civilian clothes seeking information about missing or captured men who served under him in Korea.

"I feel it is a sacred duty that mothers of those captured men should know the truth," the retired general said.

Although he has never said so, friends say the 61-year-old Van Fleet never has given up hope that his own son may still turn up alive.

Lt. James A. Van Fleet Jr., a B26 pilot, was reported missing after his first flight over North Korea in April, 1952.

The general led the 8th Army from April 1951 to February 1953. Officially 10,634 men are listed as missing and captured.

Suffers Stroke

Charles Vines Sr., veteran Texas & Pacific locomotive engineer, is resting satisfactorily at the Big Spring Hospital. He was placed under treatment Wednesday after he sustained a stroke.

Train Mishap Probe Begins

GREEN, S.C. (AP)—Police today sought to fix responsibility for a thrown switch which yesterday sent a freight train plunging off a coal chute here, killing two crewmen.

Capt. Jack Fowler of the Spartanburg County sheriff's office said the Piedmont and Northern train rumbled through the switch and onto a little-used siding, then dropped 20 feet down an embankment.

The dead were Charles Heard, Greenwood, engineer, and D. M. Campbell, Spartanburg, conductor.

A tank car toppled onto the diesel engine, crushing the cab and killing the crewmen.

Fowler said the switch definitely was not supposed to have been thrown. There is a possibility of criminal prosecutions, he said.

Greer Fire Chief R. B. Colvin said Campbell lived 45 minutes in the wreckage, pinned in the cab by twisted heavy-gauge steel.

Hard Times

BURBANK, Calif. (AP)—Arthur Murphy told the "customer" that business at his liquor store was lousy. He proved it after the man pulled a gun and demanded money—there was only a smattering of cash in the register. The man put his gun away, sympathized with Murphy and left.

Easter Pilgrims Are Balanced By Moslem Trek To Jerusalem

JERUSALEM, Jordan (AP)—Christian pilgrims in Jerusalem for Easter find that Moslem pilgrims outnumber them. On Maundy Thursday, for example, Christians from all over the world hold a quiet service at the foot of the Mount of Olives. Looking across the valley of Kedron toward the wall of Jerusalem, they see swarms of brilliantly-dressed Moslems from surrounding villages visiting the tombs of their ancestors.

The festival of Nebi Musa (Prophet Moses) reaches a climax on Good Friday, the date being fixed by the Christian calendar. The rites are relatively new among religious ceremonies in Jerusalem. The dates were fixed by Turkish sultans, worried about the increasing number of foreign Christians who crowded Jerusalem at Easter. Remembering the Crusades, and fearing these Christians might try to take over the city, they made the dates correspond to Holy week. This attracted Moslem reinforcements to counterbalance the Christian influx.

The Bible says that Moses' tomb was east of the Jordan, but a Jerusalem guide can show you his tomb, safe inside the Promised Land. It was marked out, just off the Jericho road in the Jordan Valley, by the Moslems about the 13th century.

Although the tomb is in the valley, the bulk of Nebi Musa ceremonies center in Jerusalem. They were formerly among the most colorful to Jerusalem, with peasants wearing their brilliant village costumes doing local dances in the streets. Since the Palestine War of 1948 the villagers have been reduced to such poverty that there has been only half-hearted observance. The festival still attracts enough Moslems to maintain a fair balance, of power, however.

Another method the Moslem rulers worked out to control the Christians was to put the keys to the Holy Sepulcher in the hands of Moslem custodians. Since the time of the Sultan Saladin, one family has kept the keys and another family has had the right to lock and unlock the door.

One reason for this is to keep the peace between Roman Catholics, Orthodox Christians, Copts, Ethiopians, Syrians and Armenians, all of whom have rights in the church and jealously watch over their interests.

Moslems say another reason was that when they first took over the church from the Crusaders, they feared the Christians would smuggle soldiers into the church disguised as Christians. By keeping the keys, they could supervise Christian movements. Although there is little danger of Christians turning the church into a military base today, the custom continues. Christian leaders say that in spite of old suspicions and occasional friction, Christian shrines and traditions have fared well during 13 centuries of Moslem rule. When Christian visitors leave the Holy Sepulcher they look across the courtyard at a mosque which shows that a Moslem caliph once saved the church from being taken over by Moslems.

Minaret of the Mosque of Omar with a small cross in the courtyard of the Church of the Holy Sepulcher framed against it.

church and it was suggested he pray there. He chose, instead, to pray in the courtyard for fear his followers would claim the spot where he prayed. As he expected, a mosque was built where he prayed. If he had prayed inside the church, the Holy Sepulcher might today be the Mosque of Omar. Instead, the mosque stands at the edge of the church yard.

Big Air Conditioning Units Put Heavy Strain On Wiring System

Care not to overload electrical circuits will be a primary concern of individuals installing large air conditioning equipment this year.

For the newer air conditioning units, especially the refrigerative type, pull heavily on electrical power.

Most of the larger units operate off 220 volts, said Homer Ward, city electrical inspector. However, some of the smaller ones still operate off 110.

It is with the larger units that extreme care must be taken, Ward pointed out. The small units, such as the plug-in type for homes, give little difficulty.

It is easy to overload electrical circuits with the larger units, Ward explained. This seldom happens, however, as installation is usually by professionals.

All large units must be inspected by Ward before they can be placed in operation, and he assures that installation is in accordance with the city electric code.

An overloaded circuit can easily create a fire hazard. The wires get "hot" when overloaded and, if not properly fused, can break insulation. A free wire can cause a fire by igniting the wall or paper.

Fire Chief H. V. Crocker states that a good many fires have been caused in Big Spring as a result of overloaded circuits and defective fuse box connections.

According to Ward, it takes at least a number 12 wire to accommodate one of the new refrigerative air conditioners. Most homes and some stores have size 14 wires.

Most store managers, when they find they have to do some re-wiring for air conditioners, go ahead and have their entire setup fixed properly, he said.

People installing large electrical units have no choice but to have proper wiring. Ward in his capacity as inspector can have electric service disconnected until defects are remedied.

The city electrical code says that the inspector has the power to cause arrest of any individual not complying with the regulations. Actually no building used for commercial purposes in Big Spring is supposed to have a conductor of a size smaller than number 12, the size necessary for the big air conditioners.

Sees 5 Per Cent Rise In Oil Need

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A five per cent increase in the demand for crude oil and other petroleum products during 1955 is predicted by President Henderson Suplee Jr., of the Atlantic Refining Co.

"This would indicate some relief from conditions of restricted production and excessive refining capacity under which we operated last year," Suplee informed stockholders yesterday.

Suplee said the company's net income declined from 1953's $9 million dollars to 41 million last year principally because of the "greater restriction placed on our domestic crude production by state regulatory authorities."

Thinkers Home Plan Puzzles Canada Village

By RAE CORELLI
Canadian Press Staff Writer
PUGWASH, N.S. (AP)—Old-timer Charlie Teed, 88, knows Cyrus Eaton about as well as anyone else in Pugwash but the Cleveland millionaire's plan to open a "home for thinkers" here has him puzzled.

Other folks in this village share Charlie's puzzlement. The 500-odd villagers devote much of their time to loading lumber on foreign vessels or lobster fishing.

Eaton plans to turn his 15-room summer home here into a thinking haven for Canadian, American and British scholars.

The first guests, to be nominated by universities, are scheduled to move in this summer. The first year will be experimental.

Teed remembers "Cy" Eaton as a boy when Joe Eaton's family was struggling to make a living at Pugwash Junction, six miles from here. Joe ran a general store and farmed.

"Cy used to be a quiet sort; didn't seem to go out much," Teed said. "But I remember his pa sayin' there was nobody as trustworthy as Cy."

On the question of the "home for thinkers," Charlie just fingered his bushy white mustache and looked bemused.

Joe O'Connor, a 38-year-old lumber inspector, and Mrs. Edgar Gayton, who helps operate a tea room, agreed that Eaton's plan would be a success if it makes Pugwash a bigger spot on the map.

Paperhanger Angus Jamieson is a mite skeptic. He gazed at the knot of men sharing the warmth of the barber shop's coal stove and commented: "Looks to me as if Pugwash has enough thinkers already."

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

A white-necked pheasant in flight.

Pheasants rank high among birds with pretty feathers. They have long tails, and spend their time mainly on the ground. Their nests consist chiefly of leaves and grass.

Q. Are pheasants the same as ruffed grouse?

A. In some southern parts of the United States, it is common to speak of a ruffed grouse as a pheasant. True pheasants, however, differ from grouse.

Q. Are true pheasants natives of the New World?

A. No, they were brought to North America from abroad. Their ancestors lived in Asia.

According to an old legend, the Argonauts obtained pheasants for Greece during a journey to the Black Sea. Whether or not the legend has truth, these birds were known in Europe during ancient times. One type, with a very long tail, is the Argus pheasant.

Q. Who first imported true pheasants to North America?

A. So far as is known, the first of these birds were imported by Richard Bachs. He was the husband of the only daughter of Benjamin Franklin. The pheasants were set free on his estate in New Jersey. They soon disappeared and traces of them were lost.

Other pheasants were brought across the Atlantic and were allowed to go free in New Jersey during the 25 years which followed. All of these vanished.

In later years English ring-necked pheasants were set free in the Great Lakes area, near the border between the United States and Canada. Other pheasants were placed in the wilds of the state of Oregon.

Q. What is a ring-necked pheasant like?

A. It has a collar of white feathers on its neck. It weighs only about two and a half pounds, but has a length of about 33 inches, counting the good-sized tail.

Farmer's Life In Red China Nothing Much

HONG KONG (AP)—The wife of a Chinese cook has come back to Hong Kong from a visit to her family village in Red China 30 miles upriver from the Fukien coast.

This is her account of farm life in Red China.

The small farmer and laborer gets half an ounce of cooking oil a month against normal consumption of eight ounces. He gets one catty (1 1/3 pounds) of rice a day against normal consumption of 1 1/2. He's allowed eight ounces of meat if he can find it. When hogs are butchered, soldiers and government workers are first served.

Farmers cannot use their own rice or hogs as they please. They must sell to the government monopoly and buy back as they need. There is a supply of fish about one third of the time. Soldiers and government workers always get theirs first.

Cotton padding is almost nonexistent. This is important, for poor Chinese cope with cold weather by padding their clothing and blankets. The cook's wife took her own padded cotton blanket to Fukien from Hong Kong. On the return trip it was confiscated at Canton because the "people's government does not permit the export of padded bed clothing."

Are people hungry? Everybody is a little bit hungry all the time, she said. One doesn't starve but he never gets enough.

Is there open discontent? More than you would think. Small villagers complain to each other but they are careful. Law and order is rigid and there is no stealing. A man caught stealing is made to stand on public display in the village center for a day or two.

Phone Hour In 16th Year

NEW YORK (AP)—A radio program that has withstood television competition better than most, the Telephone Hour, begins its 16th year next month with no signs of weakening.

TV has cut into the audience of the Monday night NBC show as it has for all night network radio. But surveys indicate the Telephone Hour has held a larger share of its audience than any other major radio program.

What's the answer? A growing public demand for good music, says Donald Voorhees, orchestra conductor on the Telephone Hour since its first broadcast in April 1940.

"As nearly as I can gather from all sources, serious music is gaining very rapidly," says the rugged, white-haired veteran of the music world.

Voorhees credits radio with stimulating a nationwide growth in the appreciation of good music and thinks it's directly responsible for booming sales of classical phonograph records.

Development of a new television picture tube said to have three to four times the brightness of those in current sets was reported today to the Institute of Radio Engineers. Engineers for the Rauland Corp. said the new tube had been built in two sizes—19-inch round and 24-inch rectangular.

Big league baseball returns to radio and TV in a little more than two weeks. Besides local broadcasts in each city, Mutual again will have its Game of the Day radio broadcasts and CBS will have a Game of the Week on television each Saturday. Both will be restricted so as not to conflict in any city with home games. The season opens April 11.

Cowpuncher Not Same As Cowboy

DALLAS (AP)—Know the difference between a cowboy and a cowpuncher?

Brand Inspector C. F. Barry of Kansas City, who has been both, explains it this way:

"In the days when men riding the train with cattle carried a lantern and a prod, they punched the cattle back to their feet with the prod when the stock lay down or fell."

Consequently, the men who rode the cattle cars became known as cowpunchers. A cowboy, then and now, herded cattle on the range.

Barry, a native of Gaines County, is attending the convention of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Assn.

Canned Mushrooms Add Interest To Dishes

Culinary memories sometimes need jogging. Cooks are likely to forget the different ways a simple pantry shelf food can be used to give meals a lift.

Take a can of mushrooms. Here are 12 reminders of how they can add interest to everyday dishes.

1. Add mushrooms to a cheese sauce to enliven vegetables. Or serve the mushroom-cheese sauce over eggs that have been hard-cooked and sliced, scrambled or made into an omelet.
2. Use mushrooms with their liquid to make a broth for a first course. Throw in some fresh spinach leaves and a minced clove of garlic and you'll have a Chinese-type soup that will be a delightful surprise to your family and guests.
3. Add mushrooms to old-fashioned creamed finnan haddock or smoked cod. Serve over crisp buttered toast for Sunday brunch or supper.
4. Stir mushrooms into plain buttered cooked egg noodles or elbow macaroni as a contrast to the pasta's bland flavor. Reheat with butter and lots of freshly-ground pepper.
5. Ever stuff canned mushrooms? All you have to do is to crush some crisp round rich crackers and mix with plenty of melted butter, then mound the crumbs into the cavities of the mushroom caps. A sprinkling of paprika and under the broiler or into the oven they go to get deliciously hot. Guests always ask for this recipe—and can never believe it's so simple.
6. You probably remember that mushrooms always make green peas and snap beans glamorous. But have you ever added them to crockets of celery that have been cooked in a small amount of salted water just until tender-crisp? Or tossed them into stewed tomatoes? Or teamed them with corn?
7. Tomato sauce for spaghetti isn't lonesome for meat when you add mushrooms to it.
8. Cheese souffles rise to even greater heights than usual when they are served with a mushroom sauce.
9. Does your family like pizza—either the real kind or the English-muffin version? You'll find mushrooms taste good with a tomato-and-anchovy pizza topping.
10. Mushrooms make delightful snack food when they are used as a filling for toasted rolls. Just add the chopped mushrooms to a thick well-seasoned cream sauce and spread over slices of bread that have been trimmed of crusts. Roll each slice and brush the outside of the rolls with melted butter and toast in a hot oven.
11. Make canned cream of mushroom soup double-rich by adding some of the sliced canned mushrooms. Or garnish each bowl of soup with a few mushroom crowns.
12. Mushrooms may be used in casserole dishes. Add them to shrimps and rice or to a baked fondue.

Use Creamed Soup For Easy Souffle

One of the simplest ways to make a vegetable souffle is with canned creamed soups, of all types. Here is an example.

TOMATO CHEESE SOUFFLE

2 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup condensed tomato soup
1 1/2 cups grated cheese
1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
4 eggs, separated

Melt the butter, add flour and cook until frothy. Then add the milk, heated, and cook thoroughly until thickened. Stir in the condensed tomato soup and the grated cheese and heat until the cheese is melted. Remove from the fire and add the mustard and egg yolks, adding 1 egg yolk at a time and beating thoroughly after the addition of each egg yolk. Beat the egg whites until stiff, but not dry and fold them into the mixture. Pour into a well greased casserole and set the casserole in a pan of water. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 50 to 60 minutes or until firm in the center. Serves 5 to 6.

Apples With Pork

Rosy apples make a delicious dessert to serve after a pork roast. Cut peeled and cored apples into thirds and simmer in a sugar syrup tinted pink with red food coloring. Serve warm or chilled with whipped cream topped with toasted nuts.

Pancakes Not Limited To Breakfast, Suit Any Meal

There is more to the pancake than meets the ordinary breakfast eye. They can suit any menu at any time of the day. Some of the pancake variations call for prepared mixes, but a basic recipe can easily be substituted.

STATE OF MAINE PANCAKES

2 cups pancake mix
3 tablespoons sugar
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup blueberries
2 cups milk

Combine pancake mix, sugar and cinnamon. Add blueberries; stir until berries are well coated. Add milk slowly. Bake on hot greased griddle until done. Makes enough for 6 servings.

COFFEE PANCAKES

2 cups pancake mix
1 cup strong cold coffee
1 cup cream

Measure pancake mix into mixing bowl. Combine coffee and cream; add to mix and mix lightly. Bake on hot greased griddle.

Makes enough for 6 servings.

FRESH CORN PANCAKES

1 cup sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 egg
1 1/4 cups milk
1 cup whole kernel corn
2 tablespoons melted shortening

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Beat egg. Add milk, corn and shortening. Add to flour mixture and mix well. Cook on slightly greased hot griddle. Makes about 12 5-inch pancakes.

RICE AND HAM PANCAKES

1 cup sifted flour
5 teaspoons baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 eggs
1 cup cooked rice
1 cup milk
1 cup diced, cooked ham
3 tablespoons melted butter or margarine

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Beat eggs and add rice, milk, ham, and butter or margarine. Mix well. Add this liquid mixture to the dry ingredients and beat until well blended. Spoon onto hot greased griddle or skillet to form cakes of desired size. Cook on one side until a number of bubbles appear. Turn over.

Tips For Cooking Brains, Sweetbreads

Tender and delicate, brains and sweetbreads should be used soon after they are purchased, as they do not keep very well. If this is not possible, they should be pre-cooked. Wash them in cold water, then simmer for 15 minutes in water to which 1 teaspoon of salt and 1 tablespoon of lemon juice or vinegar has been added for each quart of water. The acid helps to keep the meat white and makes the texture more firm. If they are not to be served right away, drain them and drop into cold water; then drain again and store in the refrigerator.

The brains and sweetbreads may be served in cream sauce or tomato sauce, dipped in egg and crumbs and fried in a small amount of fat, made into croquettes, used in salads, or dipped in melted butter and broiled.

BROILED BRAINS AND BACON

Allow about 20 minutes for broiling the brains. Dip the pre-cooked brains in melted drippings and place on the rack of the broiling pan, about 3 inches from the heat. Broil until brown on one side, season and turn. At this time, add the bacon slices. They will also need to be turned once. When the bacon is browned on both sides, the brains will be done.

Family That 'Hates Fish' Likes This Salad

Mrs. Cliff Fisher's family, who attend St. Thomas Catholic Church, "hate fish," but don't consider shrimp fish.

So a favorite Lenten dish at their house is a shrimp macaroni salad, one of several of her mother's recipes that Mrs. Fisher brought to Texas from her home state of New Jersey.

The family has been in Texas since 1946 and came to Big Spring two and a half years ago from Fort Worth. He is manager of the Telephone Co. and they have two daughters, Kitty 5 and Patty 8. Mrs. Fisher is active in the Washington Place P-TA. In fact, she was just elected president. She also likes to putter in the garden, although she claims she's not good enough to consider gardening a hobby!

She considers her shrimp salad a year-round recipe and prefers to serve it with a hot vegetable and hot rolls. Tuna and onion may be used in place of the shrimp, she says.

SHRIMP MACARONI SALAD

Ingredients:
1 pound cooked, cleaned and cut shrimp
1/2 cup cut celery
Small package elbow macaroni
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
Salt and pepper to taste
Paprika

Method:
Cook macaroni and rinse it. Let cool to room temperature. Add remaining ingredients and mix gently. Sprinkle lightly with paprika. Chill before serving.

Trace Cake Design With Toothpick

Before applying cake decorations, it is usually easier to trace the design on the frosted cake with a toothpick. Rulers, compass, tape measure, and paper patterns are helpful in spacing the designs evenly.

For an easy way to space the designs on sides of a round cake, first use a tape measure to measure around the pan in which the cake was baked. Then determine the number and width of designs. For instance, a cake which measured 28 inches could have 7 designs that are 4 inches wide (7x4 equal 28) or it could have 8 designs 3 1/2 inches wide (8x3 1/2 equal 28).

Use a compass or paper pattern as a pattern for marking where the designs begin and end.

Noted Doctor Includes Enriched Macaroni In Reducing Diet

Afraid to eat macaroni because you think it will put on pounds? Dr. Franklin C. Ring, noted food consultant, has found that vitamin-enriched macaroni can be used with success in reducing diets. He says dishes made with vitamin-enriched macaroni are high in nutritional value and average portions have a safe calorie count.

Skinner Vitamin Enriched Macaroni is the perfect macaroni for you if you are watching your diet.

No Appendage For Twin Cities

"An Open Letter to the Legislature from the People of the Trinity Valley" is the title of a full page ad in Tuesday's Dallas Morning News assailing the attitude of various West Texas communities which are opposing creation of the Trinity Waterway by the Texas Legislature.

The ad is sponsored by the Trinity Improvement Association and Mid-Trinity Association, and purportedly signed by "The People of the Trinity Valley, residing in the following counties." The names of 17 counties in the area then follow.

"The only real opposition to House Bill 20 comes from the railroad interests," the ad says at one point. It seeks to show that creation of a large line on the Trinity would lower freight rates to West Texas points, and in support of this thesis it says the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, "which first endorsed the proposed Trinity Canal to Fort Worth as far back as 1937," and quotes from a statement made by WTCC before the Board of Water Engineers for Rivers and Harbors, in Washington on June 15, 1941.

The attitude of WTCC toward H. B. 20, which is entirely different from any previous approach to the Trinity development plan, would be of more interest and applicability. Our last report was that WTCC would "study" the plan when it received a copy of the legislation.

Any benefit in the form of lower freight rates West Texas might receive as a result of water-based rates into Dallas and Fort Worth would be small in comparison to the benefits to communities in the Trinity area. Offsetting this nebulous and uncertain benefit would be the damage done to West Texas in maintaining and developing its industrial and commercial interests in competition with Fort Worth and Dallas. They already enjoy many advantages, and water-based freight rates into the Trinity area would multiply and enhance those advantages enormously.

West Texas would become more than ever an appendage of Fort Worth and Dallas commerce and industry, and if anybody thinks that would be healthy for West Texas he should have his head examined.

Revising The Election Code

Among many bits and pieces of legislation approved by the House at Austin this week were revisions of the state election laws introduced by Rep. B. H. Dewey Jr. of Bryan.

These basic changes, backed by the Texas League of Women Voters, would move up the time of the primaries by two months. If the legislation is finally approved and becomes law, the first primary will hereafter be held the fourth Saturday in May instead of July, and the second or runoff primary will be held the fourth Saturday in June instead of August. The bill's sponsors argued that by advancing the primary dates the hottest part of the year would be avoided, and campaigning could be concentrated into a few weeks, instead of several months as is now the case.

Among other provisions, polls could be kept open an hour later, allow polltaxis to be paid by mail without notifying; raise the pay of clerks in special elections, reinstate the "scratch" method of voting instead of making a check mark, and permit candidates to file one loyalty oath for the entire year.

Reinstating the "scratch" method of ballot-marking carries out a thought that many have often stressed; there is a great deal more satisfaction in scratching out the name of a candidate you dislike than in putting a mere check mark ahead of the name of a candidate you do like.

The law also gets rid of a silly provision in the old law—that requiring persons of 60, who do not have to pay a poll tax, to get a renewal of their exemption certificate every year, applicable only to residents of towns of more than 10,000 population. If this bill becomes law, all persons over 60 regardless of place of residence will get a permanent exemption certificate. We do not know the origin of the annual-renewal requirement for persons over 60 in towns of more than 10,000; possibly somebody thought fewer of these potential pensioners would take the trouble of renewing every year, and therefore not be privileged to vote.

On the whole, the revised election code seems to be in the direction of greater convenience and efficiency, and the ladies of the League can take a deep bow.

Growing Pressure For Parley With Russia

WASHINGTON — Whether American policy-makers want it or not, the pressure for a high-level conference with Soviet Russia has become irresistible. Internal political demands in Great Britain, France and Germany make agreement to hold such a conference essential to the future of the Western Alliance.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles would greatly prefer not to see such a conference held since he has no reason to believe that the Russians are any more ready to negotiate realistically on such long-stalled issues as the Austrian peace treaty than they were a year ago. But he cannot, publicly at least, say so.

While the split in the British Labor party has greatly enhanced the chances of a Conservative victory in an election to be held this year rather than next, the Conservatives must satisfy the British public of their willingness to meet for a discussion of the tensions that threaten war. The growing conviction is that Winston Churchill shall step down prior to a general election, to be held some believe as early as June and certainly by October, in favor of Anthony Eden. Prior to going before his country, Eden as Prime Minister will want to be able to give an assurance that the West has agreed to a conference.

A somewhat similar situation exists in France. The government of Premier Edgar Faure has pledged a meeting with the Communists at the very first opportunity after the Western European agreement is finally ratified. The shaky Faure government must produce something tangible in the way of a proposal, and perhaps even a specific date if it is to remain in power.

Barney's Hearing Aid Symbol Of Probe

WASHINGTON — Bernard Baruch's hearing aid symbolized the closing days of the Senate inquiry into stock market prices. He had trouble catching what went on.

There were plenty of distractions in the three-week inquiry and by the time Baruch testified yesterday, the inquiry had been dwindling away by itself.

Senators Fulbright (D-Ark) and Capehart (R-Ind) had a running fight for days. Witnesses disagreed. The stock market took a 10-billion-dollar dip and has now started up.

Fulbright started the inquiry. He's chairman of the Senate Banking Committee, which made it. He said before it started its purpose was to "determine whether the public interest is being safely and wisely served."

So did the inquiry do any good? If it did, time will have to show it. Fulbright said it did. Capehart, a committee member, said it was useless if not harmful.

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey dealt Fulbright a blow. He said the investigation might be undermining public confidence in the economy.

Other witnesses included top men in stock exchanges, Wall Street, corporations and the government. They disagreed even on such a basic question as this: Are stock market prices too high? A couple of witnesses said they were dangerously high. Others, including Baruch, said they didn't know and doubted anyone else did either.

John K. Galbraith, Harvard professor, suggested buyers be forced to pay cash in full for stocks they bought. Present government regulations permit them to put down as little as 60 per cent cash and to borrow the rest.

This idea was squelched by William McC. Martin Jr., chairman of the Federal Reserve Board. The market began to dive after Galbraith's suggestion. Capehart got mad at Galbraith.

He announced the professor had written something in 1949 which spoke favorably of communism. Galbraith, denying it, said Capehart had quoted him out of context.

It's uncertain whether the committee will hold any more hearings. For some time the committee staff will try to digest what was said in the past three weeks. This could not be called one of Washington's most impressive investigations.

If You're Raedanphonbe, Don't Read This

NEW YORK — Do flutes frighten you? Are you afraid of harbouring tapeworms? Does snow fill you with panic?

If not, why not? Perhaps you are letting your life get cluttered up with the same old dull, boring fears that have worried mankind for ages. Why not pep up your existence by getting a new and interesting fear nobody in your social set knows about?

There is a long list to choose from. I have a medical dictionary which indexes more than 300 phobias, all available to anyone who is seriously looking for something to worry about that will make him stand out from the common herd.

Some of these phobias are highly useful. And they all have wonderful names.

For example, people might be tempted to laugh at you if you confessed that you were terrified by flutes, snowflakes and the possibility that you might be invaded by a prowling tapeworm.

But imagine the awed respect in their eyes if you merely remarked offhand:

"My doctor says I've got a triple case of autophobia, chionophobia, and taenophobia. But he thinks with a little luck he'll pull me through."

Suppose your wife bawls you out because your income is low.

"Don't pick on a sick man, honey," you can tell her. "Most people suffer from chrematophobia, or love of money. I've simply been struck down by an even rarer disease—chrematophobia, or fear of money. If only you could catch it, too, then we'd both be happy."

Incidentally, if your wife is hammering at you to buy her a mink coat, you might try to infect her with arafobia, the fear of touching animal fur. It's hard to do, but it's worth trying.

The teenage boy seeking to wheedle the use of the family car might gain some parental sympathy by throwing in this clincher, "Dad, I didn't want to tell you, but I'm a victim of basiphobia."

Actually, basiphobia is very widespread among teen-agers today. It is the fear of walking. Many also suffer from stasiphobia, or the fear of standing upright. But few seem stricken with kathisophobia, the fear of sitting down.

Perhaps it is against public policy for me to do anything to encourage bachelors. However, if a young man wants to escape a snare set for him by a girl he knows might make him miserable, he might break off the romance by saying:

"Baby, you're too healthy to be married to a guy with all my ailments. I hate to admit it but I've got gamophobia, gynephobia, micrometallophobia, hypogynophobia, amyphobia, m e r i n t h o p h o b i a, domatophobia and toxiphobia."

Naturally the young lady won't want a husband with all those strange-sounding maladies. She won't know that they are chronic complaints with practically every rascally, freedom-loving bachelor.

All they mean is that the guy has a fear of marriage, a fear of women, a fear of touching small metal objects (such as wedding rings), a fear of responsibility, a fear of being clawed, a fear of being tied down, a fear of living in a house with another human being, and a fear of being poisoned—as, for instance, by a girl who doesn't know how to cook.

How about a man who boasts he is without fear? Well, the truth is there really is no such fellow. He has a secret fear all right. It is called phobophobia—the fear of being afraid.

Mr. Breger

"No, no, you didn't disturb me at all—I had to get up to answer the phone anyway..."

Forecasts Foul The Weather Up

Sometimes I deplore weather bureaus and modern communications.

Not that the weatherman is to get the blame for the freeze that floored the 1955 fruit crop this week. Nor is the radio announcer, who bleated the forecast loud enough to scare even a mesquite back into its winter attire.

But between them, the Weather Bureau and radio people have taken all the fun out of the weather.

Like last week, for instance, when the atmosphere was foggy and you felt sure it was going to rain. Then along came the radoman screaming the prediction of scattered showers, and what did it do? It cleared up, just like always.

That isn't the worst thing the weather predictors and radio announcers team up to do, however. What they do is take the joy out of speculating about the weather.

Back in the days before the evil of radio was too widespread and when we country people were separated from the weather station by at least a day's time (due to the necessity of waiting for today's mail to bring yesterday's paper), there was a lot of genuine pleasure in watching the clouds and wondering whether it would be a rain or a duster.

Heavy cloudbanks would build up on the northwestern horizon, late on a spring day, back then. The farmer would be torn between his hope that they'd "come up" to unloose a big rain and his fear that they represented nothing more beneficial than a sandstorm.

These were the evenings the entire farm family would gather on the porch to watch the thunderheads for some sign that they bore the nearly-always-needed moisture. One of the things you watched for was a change in the direction of the wind. If it was blowing toward the clouds, that was supposed to be an indication that a good rainstorm might be brewing. But if the wind came out of the cloudbank when it was still a long way off, you were supposed to expect nothing more than gusty winds and a lot of blowing dirt.

Another thing to look for was lightning. If it streaked and flashed across the face of the cloud and you could see little tufts holling and working, chances were that you were in for quite a storm — rain with a good shot for some hail.

But if the observer could see light from the dying sunset between the horizon and the clouds, there wasn't much chance of anything happening. Those kind of weather threats usually dissipated as soon as darkness set in.

It was with a good deal of anticipation that those spring rain warnings were watched. The farmer didn't know what was going to happen, so he had hope.

N nowadays, with weather bureaus and broadcasting stations scattered every few miles, the farmers and ranchers (along with some of us who starved off the farms) are cynical, seeing no hope in today's clouds. Let it get cloudy, sprinkle a few drops and what happens? The announcer says "scattered showers for Big Spring and vicinity." The clouds promptly go away.

In fact, the cloudbanks don't even form in the evenings anymore. The only time we get a good rain is late at night or early in the morning — out of clouds that sneak in under cover of darkness and dump their contents while the meddlers sleep. —WAYLAND YATES

The Policy Of 'Keeping Them Guessing'

HONG KONG — With President Eisenhower's full authority, the British have already rounded the Chinese Communist on a cease-fire deal in the Formosa Strait.

Peking's answer, thus far, has been a flat, indignant refusal even to consider relinquishing their intention "to liberate Taiwan" in exchange for the offshore islands now occupied by the Chinese Nationalists.

As previously reported in this space, the pattern of Communist preparation to attack the offshore islands is now complete. All competent authorities here, British as well as American, agree that an attack impends this spring, probably some time after Chou En-lai has made propaganda hay at the Bandung conference.

Judging by every sign that has been given, the Peking leaders still think that the Eisenhower administration will either duck the defense of the offshore islands at the last minute; or, worse still, that the American defense effort will be so gingerly and "limited" that another shattering victory for the Communist cause can be achieved after American prestige has been thoroughly committed.

One cannot blame the Peking leaders, either, for suspecting a bluff in the big talk in Washington. They remember the extraordinary American vacillations and tergiversations that preceded the Asian Munich at Geneva. They recall the Administration's haste to make the weak truce in Korea which is the root of all the present troubles in Asia.

They have followed, no doubt with delighted interest, the vacillations and tergiversations which have also marked the Administration's handling of the problem of Quemoy and the Matsus. And in Peking, furthermore, they are fully aware of the grave weaknesses in the American position.

There are three of these weaknesses. First, American power in the Pacific at present is grossly inadequate to insure a successful defense of the offshore islands without using nuclear weapons.

Second, this fact has apparently been recognized at last in Washington, judging by the public statements of President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles that tactical atomic bombs are now "precision" weapons, which would normally be used in any military operation. But world public opinion and especially Asian opinion does not recognize the fine distinction between different types of atomic bombs.

The use of any kind of atomic bombs to defend Quemoy and the Matsus will, in the present circumstances, raise a storm in Asia surpassing anything yet seen. One of Chou En-lai's primary objectives at Bandung will be to insure that such a storm is raised if need be.

Finally, and much the most important, the Western Alliance is split wide open on the issue of the offshore islands. And this split can be fatally dangerous, if atomic bombs are used, as they may well have to be used, to beat off an attack on Quemoy and the Matsus.

But if a serious war starts over Quemoy and the Matsus, the United States cannot now count on the support of Britain, where the vital forward bases of the Strategic Air Command are situated. There is even some doubt about the support of Canada, which is the vital key to what passes for the American air defense system. And for these reasons, no one can be quite sure that the Chinese and Soviets do not want a big war on this divisive issue.

In these genuinely appalling circumstances, there is no visible excuse for the policy of "keeping them guessing," except perhaps that it leaves the Eisenhower administration an opening for a last minute retreat such as the retreat that ended at Geneva. If retreat is seriously intended, however, the best thing to do is to prepare the Generalissimo for the worst, which is only fair; and to cut our losses, which will be staggering enough anyway.

If retreat is not intended, on the other hand, then it is essential to convince the Peking leaders that the big talk about the islands is not a bluff like the big talk at the time of Dien Bien Phu. If the enemy can be dissuaded from attacking, this is the best and probably the only way to dissuade them.

And if the enemy is not dissuaded, it is also desperately necessary to heal the breach in the Western Alliance insofar as this may be possible. Both aims can be attained at once, moreover, by a single simple action. Let the President state American intentions publicly and clearly.

Dragnet To Cornet—Webb Changes Characters

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — After four years as the laconic cop of Dragnet, Jack Webb is making the jump into an entirely new character, a rugged cornet player of the Roaring '20s.

He will star in and direct "Pete Kelly's Blues," a big-screen movie for theaters. He is also producing, but he won't take the credit on the screen. He thinks the multiple credits are too ostentatious.

I caught up with the fast-moving Webb on a music stage at Warners, where he was recording one of the 38 numbers in the film. Peggy Lee was singing a dramatic song in which she breaks down. Webb was all over the place, giving directions until he got the record just as he wanted it.

Later I asked him about Pete Kelly. Who is he—Joe Friday with a cornet? "No, not at all," he said. "It will be a complete actor. I'm not the world's greatest actor. I'm not even one of the 1,000 greatest actors. But I think the characterization will come out differently. I play naturally. But that doesn't mean Jack Webb is Pete Kelly, any more than I'm Joe Friday. I've always tried to leave the character behind when I walk out of the studio at night.

"I think Kelly will be different emotionally from Friday. Because of his job, Joe isn't allowed to show much emotion. But we'll show Kelly first as a confused individual wallowing in the era of the '20s. He gets in a jam and wavers through fear, but he ends up on the right side of the law.

"There'll be some violence, because you can't attempt to picture that era without violence. But I've always been careful with the amount of violence I have shown, because of the young following that Dragnet has. I'm not going to endanger that."

WASHINGTON — Sen. George, the Democratic big wheel on foreign policy, wants Ike to call a Big Three conference. Democrats want a top-level secret conference in '55 — to run against in '56.

Democratic Chairman Butler charges the Republicans will campaign next year with a "personality" instead of "principle." Democrats prefer to stand on principle. And why not? They're not going anywhere.

Stanton Youth Wins Scholarship

COLLEGE STATION — Bobby Carlile, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Carlile, Star Route, Stanton, is one of six 4-H cotton growers in Texas to win a college scholarship for outstanding achievement in 1954. The list of winners was released today by Floyd Lynch, state 4-H club leader.

Each will receive a $200 scholarship from the Anderson, Clayton Company of Houston provided he studies agriculture in college. The cotton program is sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and is handled locally by the county agent.

Bobby has completed seven years of 4-H club work and is now a senior in Stanton High School. In addition to field crops, he has completed demonstrations with swine, poultry, gardens, beef cattle, tractor maintenance and electricity. He is a Gold Star boy, State Fair Honor Award winner and for two years was a member of the county grass judging team which placed high in district and fourth and eighth in state contests.

He has served as president of his local club three times and twice as chairman of the county 4-H council and delegate on district council. In school he has served as president of his FFA chapter; is a letterman in all major sports and last year was an all-district end in football. He is an active junior 4-H leader and participates in community and county affairs.

His 1954 cotton demonstration consisted of 20 acres. He has planted Georgia Hybrid for the past two years and likes it. The seed were delinted and chemically treated before planting. He delinted the land on the contour in December and used a knife sled to control weeds prior to planting. Dry weather ruled out the growing of a legume crop. His cotton was planted in April. A hard rain made replanting necessary. He used cultural practices aimed at conserving moisture and his final yield showed their value. He harvested 3,520 pounds of lint cotton and 5,432 pounds of seed. The average for his section, because of the drought, ranged from two-tenths of a bale an acre to complete failure.

The dry weather kept the cotton insects under control and no poisoning was necessary. Bobby did check the plants throughout the growing season for insects but at no time was control needed.

"During the past two years," he says, "my father has worked away from the farm because of the drought and I have done most of the farming. By using the improved methods learned in my 4-H training, I have been able to do the job with more success than I could have done without the knowledge gained through my 4-H demonstrations." His labor income from the 20 acres of cotton was approximately $1,200.

His demonstration was supervised by Martin County Agent Ralph Jones while his local adult leader James Elland, his former county agent, gave him advice and assistance.

Says He Never Okayed Peress For Discharge

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt. Gen. Walter L. Weible swore today he never recommended an honorable discharge for Maj. Irving Peress, but that he "overlooked" taking a step that might have blocked it.

He said he would have recommended a court-martial if he had known things about Peress which Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) told him were true.

An Army report released last January named Weible, a deputy chief of staff, and Army counselor John G. Adams as the men who made the decision to give Peress an honorable discharge despite demands from McCarthy that the Army dentist be court-martialed as a security risk.

Weible told the Senate Investigations subcommittee, at a public hearing, that he informed Adams on Feb. 1, 1954, the night before Peress got the discharge, that McCarthy's letter demanding a court-martial for Peress was not sufficient basis for ordering one. He said he did not, however, know all the facts then.

The Senate Investigations subcommittee is looking into McCarthy's accusations that some Communist "mastermind" at the Pentagon pulled strings in the Peress case. The Army blamed "administrative errors," red tape, and a law for dealing with security risks it says was too rigid.

Peress, a New York dentist, was advanced to major and honorably discharged despite his refusal to answer questions about communism.

FDR Termed 'Strong Man' At Yalta Talk

CHICAGO (AP)—Vice-Admiral Ross T. McIntire, personal physician to the late President Roosevelt, asserted today that FDR was the "strong man" of the Big Three conference at Yalta in 1945.

McIntire denied in an interview reports that President Roosevelt was sick both mentally and physically during the meeting and therefore a pawn in the hands of the late Premier Stalin of Russia.

In Chicago to take over as the new executive director of the International College of Surgeons, McIntire said: "President Roosevelt was completely responsible for his acts at Yalta. He was physically tired but as mentally alert as I had ever seen him."

The physician said FDR's wan appearance in the last year of his life was due to loss of weight following an attack of influenza and bronchitis.

He said nothing was found in an examination of the President prior to his leaving for Warm Springs, Ga., to forewarn physicians of his death on April 12, 1945.

Gary Airmen To Start Wearing Ties

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Airmen from Gary Air Force Base at San Marcos are going to be real formal in the future when they visit San Antonio, so as not to hurt the sensibilities of air police.

That promise came from Lt. George Reale, publicity officer of the base. He said Gary airmen visiting San Antonio had been embarrassed by local air policemen because the (Gary people) were not wearing ties.
