Await Witnesses In Dead Wells Hearing

AUSTIN, Oct. 28 (AP)—The Railroad Commission today awaited the arrival of witnesses with "first-hand information" on why 62 wells in the Cree-Sykes Fields, Runnels County, were found dead shortly after operators reported them at full production.

Emergency hearing on the situation began yesterday but was delayed until this afternoon because the commission was not satisfied with hearing only attorneys for the companies involved.

Pipe line connections on the leases of G. B. Cree, Saxon Exploration Co., Skiles Oil Corp., Southern California Petroleum Corp. and Union Sulphur and Oil Corp. in the Cree-Sykes (Lower Gardner), Cree-Sykes (Upper Gardner), and East Cree - Sykes (upper Gardner) were ordered severed Oct. 21.

The hearing was called to allow operators to explain what the commission called "irregularities" and to show cause why their properties should not remain closed in.

Commission Chairman Olin Culbertson and Commissioner William

J. (Bill) Murray hammered at the question yesterday of whether wells capable of producing in excess of their allowable have been doing so to make up for ones that couldn't.

An attorney for the company, Hamilton McRae, Midland, said he thought this had been the case but said he had no first-hand knowledge.

Testimony of Commission Engineer Mac L. Coker indicated considerably more wells off production than he investigated from Oct. 7 through Oct. 19 than had been reflected in sworn company reports for September.

Culbertson said he didn't see how 62 wells could suddenly go dead in just 10 days after they had been reported at full production.

Because many of the wells in the Cree-Sykes fields are dual-completions, said Culbertson, the commission is checking possible abuse of the fact such wells get separate allowables on each of the reservoirs from which they produce.

Forest Fires Rage Over Many States

By The Associated Press

Half of the states of the rain-starved nation fought forest and brush fires Tuesday in what otherwise might be called pleasant Indian summer.

Popping in the tinder-dry woodlands like firecrackers, the thousands of blazes ravaged hundreds of square miles of wilderness and occasionally scorched farmlands throughout New England, the Midwest, East, Southwest and South. A pall of smoke over much of these regions warned of the peril.

An assistant forest superintendent in Missouri said it was "the worst situation in 18 years."

There were similar comments from forest officials in New Hampshire and Massachusetts, which closed their woodlands to the public; from Kentucky, where 16-year-old boys were excused from school to help fight the flames; from Pennsylvania, where suspension of the hunting season is being considered, and from Arkansas where state Forester Fred Lang warned residents:

"The forest fire situation is out of control. Your homes, your towns and even your lives are in danger."

Only in Wisconsin was the situation better today. Snow flurries had reduced the fire hazard by 20 per cent.

An uglier facet of the situation was possible incendiarism. An angry assistant forester in Arkansas, T. S. Martin, said, "We believe somebody—or several somebody—are running up and down those back roads, setting fires right and left."

A Boonville, Ind., sheriff reported Sunday that three young men admitted setting fires "for excitement."

Boy Scouts helped save El Dorado, Ark., from being overrun by flames Monday. It was one of three towns threatened by some of the 62 fires out of control after burning through 11,000 acres in South and Northwest Arkansas.

A smoke blanket 9,000 feet deep in places lay over West Virginia where foresters, hampered by a rising 20-mile wind, fought 450 fires which have blackened 150,000 acres.

More than a score of fires burned hundreds of acres in East Texas pine lands. A grass fire at Corsicana in Central Texas destroyed a railroad bridge and damaged another.

HANOI, Indochina, Oct. 28 (AP)—The Communist-led Vietminh was estimated today to have lost 4,000 killed and wounded in the offensive towards the Black River in northwestern Indochina.

French military sources said it is impossible to have an exact estimate, but before shoving most of their positions to within 15 miles of the Black River, the Vietminh suffered heavy casualties in taking bitterly defended French posts.

French casualties were estimated at 600 killed, wounded or missing.

Fighting between French and Vietminh forces along the northern bank of the Black River appeared to have tapered off today.

Stevenson Reportedly Sought By Rioting Illinois Prisoners

By TOM MADDOX

CHESTER, Ill. (AP)—Three hundred rebellious prisoners, threatening seven hostages with death, held out early today inside Illinois' trouble-plagued Menard Prison and were reported calling for Gov. Adlai Stevenson.

The prison was the scene of a 24-hour uprising five weeks ago. That one was quelled by a two-hour tear gas barrage.

Warden Jerome E. Munie stationed armed guards and state police at strategic points around the prison and ordered them to "shoot to kill if anyone makes a move."

But he abandoned plans to storm the cell block when convicts threatened to hurl the seven hostages from a 50-foot high balcony fronting the top tier of cells. The guards were marched to the balcony when the rioting began about 5 p.m. (CST) Monday.

Some inmates were quoted by officers as calling out, "we want to see the governor." Other shouts of "we want to see the big boss" were reported. Munie said he thought they wanted to see him, not the governor.

Gov. Stevenson, campaigning for President on the Democratic ticket, is in New York.

When told that some inmates were quoted as saying, "He flew out there and he can fly back."

The latest violence at the Southern Illinois prison along the Mississippi River set the city of Chester abuzz with false rumors of a mass break. The prison has 1,850 inmates.

With guns ringing the walls and at vantage points atop prison buildings, the insurgent inmates would have to risk a blood bath in a break for freedom. If they moved out the east cell house, they still would be only in the prison yard. On call were 70 armed guards and 45 state policemen.

Prison officials speculated whether the rebellion was the start of a plot for a general breakout or whether it was spontaneous.

Unknown prisoner - spokesmen said before midnight, "we don't intend to do anything before morning."

The inmates blacked out their 1,000-cell house. The prison cut off all water. A silence — strangely contrasting to the raucous riot five weeks ago—settled over the east house most of the night.

The rebellion started at the east cell house inmates returned from supper Monday. One guard with the keys was seized and six other officers were held from escaping.

An eighth officer, Leo H. Gosnell of Herrin, was permitted to leave after he fainted because of a heart condition.

Before midnight, inmates yelled, "If you want to feed the officers we'll see that they get the food."

Mexican Plan To Finance Pan-Am Highway End OK'd

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 28 (AP)—A Mexican plan to finance the rapid conclusion of the Pan-American Highway has been approved by the finance commission of the extraordinary Pan-American Highway Congress.

The plan, elaborated yesterday by Manuel Palavicini, president of Mexico's National Banking Commission, calls for long term bond issues in each country where highway construction is incomplete. The bonds, guaranteed by tax receipts, would be taken over by the International Bank for Reconstruction and Finance. This World Bank would in turn float its own bonds for the total construction cost.

The plan now goes before a plenary session of the congress where its approval is expected.

It was pointed out that the Mexican plan not only would permit quick conclusion of unfinished stretches in Guatemala, Costa Rica and Panama, but also offers a solution for financing prolongation of the highway in South America.

At the proposal of Paraguay, the finance commission gave priority of discussion to plans for an East-West highway to link the capitals of Paraguay, Brazil and Bolivia with the Pan-American Highway.

Agustin Garcia Lopez, Mexican secretary of communications and public works, told delegates Sunday night during an informal chat, that "less than 10 per cent of the entire Pan-American Highway remains to be built."

'They never had it so good'

The order is, "Forward march"—and off they go, feet sucking against the Korean mud, every bone crying, "I'm tired!"

The order is flop and eat—and they flop and try to eat, no matter how little they like the food.

The order is, "Take hill number 63!"—and they fight forward, not ready for death, but expecting it with every splatter of bullets.

Then, in the quiet moments, one soldier will turn to another and half grin and say, "You never had it so good."

A joke—a classic Army joke—but these days it has a real bitter note to it. Because at the same time everyone is wondering and saying:

"Did it have to come to this?"

"Couldn't the shooting have been stopped before it began?"

"What's the matter with our foreign policy?"

"Why didn't the Administration see this coming?"

"Must we keep paying for their mistakes?"

"WHAT? We've never had it so good? COME INTO MY FOXHOLE AND SAY THAT!"

All right—the damage is done—and we all know what has been badly begun must be well ended.

BUT—shall we forget or forgive those who blundered? Will you? Do you dare? Will you trust America's future foreign policy to those responsible for Korea? Is this official fumbling what you want for America? You know it isn't!

Not if you value the lives of your sons. Not if you value your own life and welfare and that of your family. Not if you value the peace and prosperity of America.

No—you will want to clean house. You will want to sweep out of power and into the ash can the Administration that brought your country to this. You will run, not walk, to the polls. You will vote eagerly, glad that you can make a change. You will

Kansan Says Ike To Expand Farm Program

DENTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—Rep. Clifford Hope (R-Kan.) told North Texans yesterday that the Republicans had as much to do with the government's farm program as the Democrats did.

Dwight Eisenhower will see that the program is expanded if he is elected President, Hope added. He spoke on the Courthouse steps at Sherman, then came here in his effort to boost Eisenhower's campaign among farm groups.

Hope is the leading Republican on the House Agriculture Committee.

The Republicans would set up a commission to get farm opinion on what farm policy should include, Hope said. The commission would be bipartisan, he said.

The government's farm program has played a tremendous part in American agricultural production, Hope said, adding it "has been a nonpartisan program."

"Republican and Democratic members of Congress have worked side by side to perfect the legislation," he said.

His speech in Sherman was in the home territory of House Speaker Sam Rayburn, who has stressed benefits of the farm program in campaigning for Democratic nominee Adlai Stevenson.

The Kansas congressman said it's Eisenhower's view that the program must be enlarged to give better protection to the producer of perishable commodities.

Production Of Crude Reaches High Average

TULSA, Oct. 28 (AP)—The nation's steadily rising crude oil and condensate production reached another all-time daily average high of 6,539,725 barrel during the week ended Oct. 25, the Oil and Gas Journal reported today.

The week's total represented a daily average increase over the previous week of 13,925 barrels, bringing the Journal's figures on cumulative production for the year to 1,846,684,725 barrels. At this time a year ago it was 1,833,604,600 barrels.

Four states—Kansas, Michigan, Illinois and North Dakota—more than accounted for the net gain with Kansas topping the week's increases, up 8,100 barrels.

Colorado and California were the biggest losers, the former dropping 1,700 barrels to 87,100 and the latter falling 1,200 to 981,400.

Increases of 500 barrels each were registered in Arkansas, Kentucky and Wyoming.

Other gainers included New Mexico, up 200 to 172,550.

First Aid Course Will Be Given To Webb Fire Fighters

A first aid class for Webb Air Force Base fire-fighting personnel will begin here Nov. 3. Leslie Snow, chairman of Howard-Glasscock Red Cross first aid, stated that 86 men have signed up for the course.

Otto Peters, a veteran instructor who worked at Cosden will teach the first class. It will meet twice a week at night and will contain 22 hours of instruction.

The course will concern treatment for burns, fracture, heat, exhaustion, atomic injury, and minor injuries. There will be about 23 civilians and 63 military men in the course.

However, only 30 men will be in the first class. The others will be taught later, Snow said.

Peter J. Perring, WAFB fire chief, requested that the training be given his personnel. Snow said he was glad the Red Cross was called on for the instruction, and that the local chapter could offer the training.

Political Fight Heats Up; Texans Belt Each Other

By CLAYTON HICKERSON

Associated Press Staff
Nixon and McCraw, Kerr and Shivers, Nolte and Daniel, Rayburn and Dies, Gilmer and Sewell, Connally and Porter.

The furor was terrific and the noise was deafening.

Texas was rolling like a juggernaut toward Nov. 4 and General Election Day, a scant week away.

The battle lines, drawn at Amarillo, San Antonio and Chicago Democratic and Republican conventions, swayed and buckled in the do-or-die fight for Texas' 24 blue chip electoral votes.

On the outcome probably hung the presidential election, the destiny of a nation for at least four years. A party, in power 20 years in a deadly combat with a party fighting back from five straight defeats.

It was Richard Nixon, GOP vice presidential candidate, touring Texas by plane and speaking in seven strategic population centers. It was Allan Shivers at Breckenridge. And it was Bill McCraw in Dallas and Senator Robert Kerr in Wichita Falls. It was Mike Nolte at San Antonio and wily Sam Rayburn in Dallas.

Today it would be Atty. Gen. Price Daniel at Austin in another state-wide broadcast to tell Texans that "Pendegast methods" are being used "to threaten Texans into voting for four more years of Trumanism."

And it will be fighting old Sen. Tom Connally, singing his political swan song this year, speaking over a state-wide network Tuesday night for his beloved Democrats, the party that kept him in office for 36 years. He speaks at 8 p.m. over the Texas State Network.

Nixon, police estimates said, spoke to 39,000 Texans in his seven stops from Texarkana to El Paso Monday. The crowds ranged, the estimates said, from 1,500 at El Paso to 12,000 at the Gregg County Airport.

The young vice-presidential candidate told his audiences that a "vote for Stevenson is a vote for Truman and Dean Acheson."

At Midland, introduced by Robert Stripling, former investigator for the House Committee on Un-American Activities, Nixon said:

"Bob can tell you it was the Communists working in the government who made it possible for Russia to develop the A-bomb five years before they could have otherwise. That's the record and they can't change it. Adlai Stevenson and his jokers can't change it. Dean Acheson and his foreign policy can't change it. And Truman and his lies can't change it. It is in the record."

And Nixon hit at the tidelands issue, too, with, "Texans do not like the steal of the Texas tidelands, and I don't blame you."

Nixon stopped at Texarkana, Gregg County Airport, Beaumont, Corpus Christi, Midland, Abilene and El Paso.

Sen. Robert Kerr told an enthusiastic audience at Wichita Falls that Eisenhower "perpetrated a fraud on the American people" by saying he would go to Korea in an effort to settle the war.

"Eisenhower knows better than anyone else that if he were sincere and honest about it he would have to say he would go see Stalin," Kerr said. "Stalin holds the power. Eisenhower knows that in Korea he would find only slaves and underlings."

The crowd of about 1,500 gave the Oklahoma senator several standing ovations.

"Eisenhower started his campaign making more speeches as a moral crusader than Carrie Nations," Kerr said. "Then one day along came a little whirlwind and ripped open the folds of his pure white robe."

"Someone tapped him on the shoulder and said: 'Ike, be careful. Your Nixon is showing!'"

At Breckenridge, Gov. Shivers said Texans want a President who "knows he isn't going to retain Dean Acheson as secretary of state."

"Acheson is the architect of Korean policy that is one of the blackest marks against this administration," the governor said. He told his audience the Democratic nominee won't say what he is going to do about Acheson if he is elected.

"Is all this a smoke screen to cover up Stevenson's intention?" Shivers asked.

William McCraw, robust former attorney general of Texas, had words of criticism in Dallas for Price Daniel, present attorney general and nominee of Republicans and Democrats for U. S. Senator.

He accused the attorney general of misrepresentation in talks on the tidelands controversy, and in a speech over the Texas Quality Network quoted Daniel as recently saying:

"Those who are now saying that Texas mixed its case up with other states in the Supreme Court are uttering a falsehood. My briefs are available for all to see."

Then McCraw asked:

"Mr. Daniel, who is telling the falsehood?"

McCraw said that in Daniel's brief before the Supreme Court in the California case that Daniel said "in addition to the same claim as California and other coastal states to the submerged coastal lands to the three-mile limit, Texas has title out to its original boundary three marine leagues in the Gulf of Mexico."

And Daniel was ready to fire back Tuesday night.

His subject in state-wide broadcast, set for 9 to 9:30 p.m. will be "will Texas disapprove or approve of Trumanism Nov. 4."

Daniel said he would answer what he called threats of political reprisals made by National Democratic Committee Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell.

"I will show how Mitchell has adopted Pendegast methods in trying to threaten Texans into voting for four more years of Trumanism," he said.

Daniel also said he would show in his broadcast that a vote for Adlai Stevenson will be "considered in Washington as a vote of approval of the Truman administration."

Eugene (Mike) Nolte, San Antonio club owner and catering service operator, said he considers Gen. MacArthur the "only Republican" on the Nov. 4 ballot, MacArthur's name appears on the Texas ballot as nominee of the Constitution Party.

Be Bold When Selecting Your Jewelry

When selecting costume jewelry, don't be timid.

This is the advice of Michael Paul, designer for Marvella, who has contributed some of the season's splashiest designs. Says he: "Don't be afraid to be bold when you're adding a pin, necklace or earrings to your costume. Costume jewelry should do something for you—add color and excitement to your outfit, flatter your face and your complexion."

"Don't buy costume jewelry carelessly. You should spend as much time selecting this accessory as you do in picking out a dress or hat. Try it on, consider the effect you want, select colors and designs that are becoming."

Paul is responsible for many of the bold, headlight effects in current jewelry designs, is credited with introducing the chunky look in jewelry design.

This season he favors multiple strand bib necklaces to fill in a neckline, big, brilliant "spray" earrings and pins, big, bold pendant brooches and the "ancestral" necklace with detachable brooch. He says: "Develop your own style in costume jewelry and stick to it."

Pardons, Parole Board Feud Is Now In The Open

By DAVE CHEAVENS
AUSTIN, Oct. 28 (AP)—A long simmering rift between members of the State Board of Pardons and Paroles was out in the open today—part of the way, at least.

The rift was obvious but what caused it was still the secret of the three board members who wouldn't tell reporters what it was all about.

There had been signs of dissension for months.

Yesterday it broke into the open when board member R. A. (Smoot) Schmidt, Dallas, refused to attend an open hearing on a plea to save Booker T. Reed from the electric chair.

The Reed hearing apparently had no connection with the ruckus Chairman Lyle C. Harris said the board had not met as a unit for about three weeks.

It has been deciding on cases individually.

Harris and member Tom White attended the Reed hearing.

Schmidt rejected Harris' request to come in.

"Smoot does not attend these hearings any more," Harris told G. C. Edwards, representing Reed. The attorney made his plea to Harris and White, who told him they would take no action. Then Edwards went separately to Schmidt, who told him the same thing.

"You know one man can't make a recommendation over here," Schmidt commented.

Reporters asked Schmidt what the rumpus was all about.

"Harris is board chairman. Ask him," he said.

Harris said it had been about three weeks since the board had heard any cases as a unit.

"Let Smoot make his own explanation," Harris said, referring reporters back to Schmidt and to White.

"I've never refused to attend a hearing," White said. "You can draw your own conclusion from this. I'm just a freshman member of the board. Up to the time I came here, Smoot was chairman. Now he's just a member."

The next meeting of the advisory board has been set for Nov. 15.

McCarthy Won't Call Adlai A Red, But Says He Gave Aid To 'Cause'

CHICAGO (AP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy charged last night that Gov. Adlai Stevenson, Democratic candidate for President, has given "aid to the Communist cause."

McCarthy, speaking on a nationwide television and radio hookup financed by a privately sponsored $50-a-plate dinner, said the issue in the current presidential contest is: "Will communism win or will America win?"

"I do not state that Stevenson was a Communist or pro-Communist," McCarthy said, "but I must believe something was wrong somewhere."

The Wisconsin Republican senator was lustily cheered by his audience of 1,150 diners in a Loop hotel ballroom at various points in his speech. Once booted halted him briefly when a heckler shouted, "The heckler was quickly spirited out by policemen."

McCarthy made these charges against the Illinois governor:

1. That Stevenson is surrounded by some left-wing advisers.

2. That the Democratic nominee "would continue the suicidal Kremlin-dictated policies of this nation."

3. That Stevenson, assigned the task of formulating post war U. S. policy in Italy, prescribed a plan for "foisting communism" on the Italians.

4. That Stevenson is "part and parcel" of the "Acheson-Hiss-Lattimore group."

McCarthy had not concluded his speech when his broadcast time of 30 minutes ended. After he went off the air, he charged that Stevenson had the endorsement, in effect, of the Communist newspaper Daily Worker.

A spokesman for the Daily Worker in New York, however, said the paper is supporting Vincent Hallinan, the Progressive Party candidate, and the entire Progressive Ticket.

The speech, which McCarthy prefaced with a description as "the facts as the evidence in the case of Stevenson versus Stevenson," made an immediate splash of controversy in the fast-climaxing presidential campaign.

An immediate claim of "distortions, exaggerations and inaccuracies" by McCarthy was made in connection with references in the speech to the Institute of Pacific Relations. William Holland, secretary-general of the institute, said in Berkeley, Calif., McCarthy erred in stating that the McCarran committee ever charged the IPR was Communist-controlled, and in referring to "missing" documents of the institute, which, Holland said, had been thoroughly examined by FBI agents several months before McCarthy's agents "found" them.

Hours before McCarthy spoke, Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, the Republican presidential candidate, campaigning in Pennsylvania, emphasized that subversives must be cleared out of government, but in showed the writer "thought Communists should be allowed to teach your children" and was against religion.

Schlesinger, in New York, said he has fought communism longer than McCarthy and had not ridiculed religion.

Also attacked as an assistant of Stevenson was Bernard DeVoto, an author who, McCarthy said, once criticized the FBI in an article published in Harper's magazine and "sought a permit for a meeting for the wife of Gerhardt Eisler, the Communist who disappeared behind the Iron Curtain and who, as of tonight, is heading up the Communist group in East Berlin."

Others mentioned were James Wechsler, editor of the New York Post, described by McCarthy as one of Stevenson's "ghost writers."

Wechsler and his wife both admit having been members in the Young Communist League," McCarthy said. He also said Wechsler had condemned McCarthy's "exposure of Communists as 'low comedy'."

Wechsler commented in New York that McCarthy's "real targets" were "free Americans who happen to disagree with McCarthy."

Archibald MacLish, poet and librarian of Congress, was listed by McCarthy as having "the longest record of affiliation with Communist fronts of any man that I have ever named in Washington."

In Boston, MacLish denied that

McCarthy "has ever mentioned my name, nor, so far as I am informed, has the Committee on Un-American Activities ever mentioned it."

He pointed out that he had begun a country-wide appeal a few days ago for funds "to fight McCarthyism."

McCarthy told his audience that a book by Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, former ambassador to Russia, said Stevenson, while on a mission to Italy during World War I, had urged that the Italian Communist leader Togliatti be brought back from Moscow.

The senator then said that while Stevenson was a special assistant to Secretary of the Navy Knox, he intervened against the firing of some Navy Department employees with Communist records.

"Another part of the jigsaw puzzle of Stevenson's history," McCarthy said, "is his membership over many years on the Central Committee of the World Citizens Association."

As a member of the group's Central Committee, McCarthy said, Stevenson helped to draw up an international government plank which advocated "that a world organization, such as the United Nations, could veto any state or federal law, any part of our Constitution."

McCarthy brought the Institute of Pacific Relations into his discourse to show that a document found in files of the organization indicated that Alger Hiss, convicted of perjury in connection with his denials that he had ever given State Department documents to a Russian agent, and a man named Frank Coe, had recommended Stevenson for assignment to a conference called for discussing post-war U. S. policy in Asia.

McCarthy attacked Stevenson for having made a character deposition for Alger Hiss during the first trial of Hiss, but said, "I have not considered this fact, standing alone as overly important in the Stevenson record."

"Now, what does impress me," he continued, "is the deadly fear that Gov. Stevenson displays when additional links tying him to Alger Hiss are brought forth."

McCarthy said an affidavit by Hiss' lawyer stated that "testimony of Gov. Stevenson would be of great importance to Alger Hiss."

Private Conference

Lewis and Harry Moses, bituminous coal operators' association head (right), stop for a private talk outside the White House in Washington following a conference called by President Truman. # ON VISITS TO AMERICA Easier Entry For Scientists Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spokesmen for several score professional societies and a government agency have urged that Congress make it easier for foreign scientists and scholars to attend conferences in this country.

Probably 50 per cent of those seeking to come here for short visits run into difficulties or delays, said Alan T. Waterman, director of the National Science Foundation.

Howard A. Meyerhoff, administrative secretary of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, said that as a result American science is threatened with "becoming atrophied to the point where the national welfare and national security will suffer."

Meyerhoff and Waterman, appearing before the President's Commission on Immigration and Naturalization yesterday, proposed several revisions of the new McCarran-Walter Immigration Act to let down some of the bars which stirred a recent protest from a group of atomic scientists.

The new law, which becomes effective Dec. 24, was denounced by opponents in Congress as an anti-alien "exclusion" measure.

One suggestion advanced at yesterday's hearing was that scholarly visitors be exempted from extensive security checks, questionnaires and other administrative procedures to which immigrants are subjected.

Prof. Sidney Painter of Johns Hopkins University, speaking for the American Council of Learned Societies, proposed that American passport and immigration officials accept statements from foreign universities and research institutions vouching for scientists and scholars.

Waterman estimated that the number of scientific visitors to this country each year is probably less than 3,000.

"But the scientists who do come here are important to our scientific strength out of all proportion to their number, for they consist, generally speaking, of the best scientific minds of the free world outside this country," he said.

"Radars, the atomic bomb, jet aircraft and penicillin were perfected in the United States on the basis of discoveries and research in foreign countries to which we were given ready access."

Dollar interests, Sawyer refused and appealed the contempt charge to the Supreme Court.

The high court never got around to a ruling. The agreement between Sawyer and the Dollar interests last June to sell the government-held stock made a Supreme Court ruling unnecessary.

The sale agreement provided:

1. The stock would be sold through competitive sealed bidding.
2. If no bid reached 14 million dollars the government and the Dollar interests would split the stock 50-50.
3. The government and the Dollar interests will split the proceeds of any successful bid 50-50, the government share to go to the U. S. Treasury.
4. The Dollar interests may enter a bid, or join in a bid.

R. Stanley Dollar, San Francisco shipping executive who headed the Dollar Line, has said his group wants to bid for the President Lines. Another West Coast firm, headed by the Blair Holdings Corp., has also announced it would bid. Other shipping firms, such as the Grace Lines and the American-Hawaiian Lines, may also bid.

HEED LEWIS Most Miners Back In The Coal Pits

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Most of the nation's 350,000 soft coal diggers, heeding the order of United Mine Workers President John L. Lewis, trooped back to work today after a week-long strike over a wage dispute with the government.

Special membership meetings were called throughout the coal fields within hours after Lewis wired local UMW officials yesterday to get their men back on the job. The almost unanimous reaction of miners: "Let's go to work."

A few scattered pits—in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Illinois and other top coal-producing states—managed to get production under way last night. But resumption of operations at most mines was delayed by the meetings and safety inspections.

Virtually all locals in District 4 in Western Pennsylvania, representing about 23,000 members, agreed to begin work on the morning shift.

Some of Illinois' 15,000 workers returned to the pits yesterday but most operators' spokesmen said most mines will not be fully manned until today.

The nation-wide walkout began a week ago yesterday after the Wage Stabilization Board lopped 40 cents off the $1.90 daily pay boost Lewis obtained recently in negotiations with the industry. Miners, whose expected $18.25 basic minimum wage for a day's work was cut to $17.85, took the strike to the government.

Soon after Lewis bitterly assailed the WSB and told his men to stick it out until they got the full $1.90.

However, President Truman met with the UMW chieftain and Harry M. Moses, chief industry negotiator, at the White House over the week end and personally appealed for an end to the strike.

Lewis then fired off telegrams, telling miners they should resume production in the best interests of the public and themselves pending a final decision on their pay increase.

Both the union and the Bituminous Coal Operators Association headed by Moses had appealed the WSB ruling. They took their case to economic Stabilizer Roger Putnam, who has the power to overrule the board.

Union officials at Washington indicated they expect a decision within a few days. Putnam, however, indicated the ruling may not come for more than a week.

In the coal fields, UMW district officials and miners appeared confident they'll get a favorable decision.

Although only a trickle of coal was produced the past week, the general public and coal-dependent industries suffered no real hardship. An estimated 80 million tons of coal, second largest supply in the nation's history, was stockpiled at the beginning of the walkout. The estimated strike loss was about 10 million tons.

Prowlers Are Active Again

Prowlers and thieves were active again Monday.

Two houses were reported broken into, but police listed only one of the addresses. Nothing apparently was taken from a home at 608 N. W. 4th. An unidentified subject reported only food stolen from the other residence. A similar raid occurred last Monday, the party said.

Theft of a 22-caliber automatic rifle from a car parked in the 300 block of Runnels was reported about 4 a. m. Jack O'Brien, 500 E. 12th reported the theft.

Prowler alarms also came from the Vaughn's Village sector of West Third Street.

Bill Kuykendall, of the Firestone Stores, reported theft of a tire, wheel, jack and lug wrench from an automobile. The theft occurred sometime during the past week, he said.

Could They Beat Franklin Roosevelt?

SEATTLE (AP)—Mrs. Agatha Hamilton, 105, filled out her Nov. 4 general election absentee ballot yesterday with the help of her son Arthur 65, who guided her trembling fingers.

When the frail bedridden woman came to a presidential choice, her son explained that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was the Republican candidate and Gov. Adlai Stevenson the Democratic.

"They don't think they can beat Franklin D. Roosevelt, do they?" she cut in.

Which one she finally selected, of course, was secret.

Horses On The Loose

Somebody's horses were loose again Monday night.

The animals were reported in the 1500 block on E. 17th about 7 a. m. today. One yard was said to have been "ruined" by the horses.

Officer Kills Self To Give Wife Money From Insurance

FORT WORTH, Oct. 28 (AP)—Capt. Arthur C. Nelson, 31, Carswell Air Force Base officer, shot himself to death today. His wife, who has a rare nerve disease, said Nelson often had told her she would be better off with his insurance money "if I killed myself."

Peace Justice Whit Boyd returned a verdict of suicide.

Carswell officials said the amount of Nelson's insurance was not known immediately, however, he had a $10,000 service policy.

Police found Nelson's nude body slumped in the bathroom of his three-room apartment about 2:45 a. m. today. He was shot once through the left chest.

A 22-caliber pistol, wrapped in a bathmat, lay at his feet.

Mrs. Nelson said her husband had been "dependent for the past several weeks."

Nelson was a veteran of both the Pacific and European Theaters of World War II with 34 bombing combat missions over Germany.

He was a graduate of Robert E. Lee High School in Baytown and attended the University of Texas for two and a half years.

Third Camera Is Smashed By Houston Witness

HOUSTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—A grand jury witness who attacked a Chronicle photographer yesterday afternoon was floored by the photographer's camera.

The camera was smashed when photographer Lou Witt banged the man with it and the pair wound up on the floor of the grand jury room in a flurry of arms and legs.

Fifteen minutes earlier the same witness, Earl Stewart Suggs, charged with murder-by-abortion in Dallas—called here to testify in the grand jury investigation of Constable J. W. Lambert's activities—had attacked another photographer, Bill Cooksey of the Houston Press.

Cooksey's camera was also smashed.

It was the third press camera that has been broken by unruly witnesses during the current grand jury investigation. Another man attacked Post photographer Dan Hardy last Wednesday and smashed his camera.

Witt was preparing to take a picture of Suggs as Suggs emerged from the grand jury room.

The slight, dapper witness lunged at him.

"He came at me and I hit him across the shoulder with my camera," Witt recounted.

"We both went down. He kicked at me and I kicked him back. My camera was broken in the melee."

Deputy sheriffs separated the pair and led Suggs away.

A moment later, as he was being taken into the sheriff's office, Suggs made still a third try at a press photographer—this time at Post photographer Keith Hawkins.

Officers grabbed him and held him firmly, however.

Change To The Wife's Side Can Be Very Embarrassing

DALLAS, Oct. 28 (AP)—"It's been very embarrassing," Banks Upshaw said reflectively today, "but these things kind of develop slowly, you know."

Upshaw, a text book publisher, was hunting words to explain why he and when he decided to vote for Dwight Eisenhower, as his wife is going to do.

The current issue of the Ladies Home Journal devotes a good deal of space to explaining why he's going to vote for Democrat Adlai Stevenson.

The magazine's "How America Lives" feature also makes a big point of the fact that Mrs. Upshaw is for Ike.

After the story appeared, Mrs. Upshaw's lady friends started calling the Associated Press. "That article's all wrong," they said. "Banks has changed his mind."

Well, it's like this. Upshaw is a life-long Democrat. He'd have liked to stick with Adlai.

"I admire his courage," Upshaw said. "He certainly had guts to come down here and slap us in the teeth." Upshaw was thinking of Stevenson's Dallas campaign speech in which he argued for federal ownership of the tidelands.

"I really changed my mind after the Democratic Convention at Amarillo," he said. That's when the state party urged all Texas Democrats to vote for Eisenhower.

"And when Stevenson came down here he didn't satisfy me at all. He begged the question, certainly, on the tidelands."

But didn't Mrs. Upshaw influence his decision to switch to Eisenhower? After all, the Journal's motto is "Never underestimate the power of a woman."

"Aw, I wouldn't say she had much to do with it," Upshaw said. He chuckled. "She at least didn't nag me about it."

No, sir, it was just a "rather long and slow mental process" that finally caused the "Glady with Adlai" sticker to disappear from Upshaw's car windshield.

TRUMAN

Democratic rally at Gary, Ind., that if Eisenhower is elected, he will be surrounded by a Republican "murderers' row" of "character assassins."

And Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, not Eisenhower, "will be President" in fact, Truman added.

In a vigorous effort to win Minnesota for Stevenson as he did for himself in 1948, Truman campaigned in Winona, Red Wing, Hastings, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth en route to a major address at 9 p. m. (EST) at Hibbing in the Iron range.

In a statement released just as his train entered Gary for the speaking, Truman declared that the GOP nominee himself was responsible for the withdrawal of U. S. occupation troops from Korea in 1949.

It was a retort to Eisenhower's recent Detroit speech asserting the decision was made by the State Department and that the withdrawal was part of a "terrible record" which led to the Red invasion of Korea.

Truman contended that at the time the recommendation was made "The Republican candidate was chief of staff of the Army."

"As a member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, he was responsible for this recommendation," Truman said. And he added:

"I say, too, that his effort to shift responsibility to the Department of State for a recommendation which was his originally is thoroughly dishonest."

Eisenhower aides, asked in Pittsburgh to comment on the President's statement, said the general had answered it in a speech in San Francisco on Oct. 8.

In that speech, Eisenhower said the administration announced two years ago that the Asian "defense perimeter" did not touch Korea. He added:

"The basic fact is that his decision was political in nature—a matter of high national policy. The making of such a decision in our American scheme of government rests exclusively with our civilian officials. The military may be called upon to advise, to give counsel, to support the strategy. But so long as we have been a nation the military has never decided questions of foreign policy. And if we are to continue to be free the military never will."

The 4,500-seat Gary Memorial Auditorium was packed to overflowing and hundreds of others listened outside as Truman asserted:

"Does the Republican candidate really think he can tell Bob Taft what to do? I guess I know Bob Taft a lot better than you does. I've been fighting with Taft for seven years as president and for a good many years before that in the Senate. The candidate fought with Taft for only a month or two before the convention—and since the convention he has not even straggled."

"Then look who would be standing behind Taft in a Republican Congress. Gov. Stevenson called them 'murderers' row' and that's a good name for them. Reactionaries and character assassins and isolationists like McCarthy, Jenner, Bricker, Capehart and Kem would control the Senate. Reactionaries and isolationists like Martin, Allen, Halleck, Taber and Hoffman would control the House of Representatives."

Shouts of "Give 'em hell, Harry!" "Four it on!" and "Atta boy!" punctuated Truman's talk in one of the most enthusiastic receptions of the campaign.

Police Chief John Foley said the crowd in and around the auditorium totaled 7,000 persons while he said the crowds on the streets ran around 15,000 persons.

Eisenhower, Truman said, is making "pretty promises" while asking that Taft be put "in control of Congress."

"And Taft will be standing there just like Horatius at the bridge ready to mow down any progressive legislative proposals," he said. "If you elect Eisenhower, Taft will be President—don't you worry about that."

Truman said GOP vice presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon is a reactionary foe of labor and would succeed to the White House if fate should remove the general from office.

In his statement, Truman said Eisenhower's Detroit speech "contained so many misquotations or quotations out of context that it was clearly an attempt to deceive the American people."

SEEK TO OUST ACHESON AS A VOTE TARGET

BALTIMORE, Oct. 28 (AP)—The Baltimore Sun said today a messenger is being dispatched from the Stevenson campaign train to ask Secretary of State Dean Acheson to issue a statement he will not accept reappointment if the Democrats win the election.

The Sun story was from Howard Norton, its staff writer with the Democratic presidential candidate's campaign entourage in Connecticut.

Norton said a high ranking member of the Democratic National Committee is taking the plea directly to Acheson, bypassing President Truman.

Aides of Gov. Stevenson said he has no comment on the story.

The Sun said it learned of the development on good authority and added persons close to Gov. Stevenson said the purpose is to eliminate Acheson as a campaign target.

Truman Scored For Denying Aid To La. Farmers

BATON ROUGE, Oct. 28 (AP)—Agriculture Commissioner Dave L. Pearce says President Truman's denial of emergency relief for 21 Louisiana parishes (counties) "is only an attempt to punish Louisiana and whip her back into line."

Gov. Robert Kennon, actively supporting Republican candidate Dwight D. Eisenhower, requested federal drought relief for the 21 parishes Sept. 26 and followed it up with another request Oct. 14.

Under the law, federal funds are used in designated drought areas to equalize the cost of livestock feed.

Pearce said "Louisiana is in just as bad shape from the standpoint of needing livestock feed as Oklahoma or any of the other states which are now receiving this assistance."

Stolen Auto Found At Colorado City

An automobile stolen in Odessa, bearing license plates stolen from a Big Spring man's car, was recovered in Colorado City this morning.

Mitchell County officers found the vehicle abandoned. It had been stolen from Tillery & Parks Company of Odessa.

License plates on the machine were some stolen from a car owned by J. L. Taylor, Big Spring. Taylor said the plates were taken from his car sometime during the week end.

Oklahomans Are 3rd In AP Football Poll

Kansas Is 9th, Longhorns 14th

By RIP WATSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Mighty Michigan State, with three complete backfields and a 35-points-a-game offense, continues to roll along as the No. 1 team in the land.

For the third straight week, Coach Biggie Munn's monsters have been voted best in the land by 121 sportswriters and broadcasters in the Associated Press poll. Except for the second week of the poll when Wisconsin held sway briefly, Michigan State has dominated the poll ever since the pre-season voting.

Saturday's 34-7 thumping of previously undefeated Penn State brought the Spartans 38 first-place votes and a total of 1,042 points on a basis of 10 for first, nine for second and so on down the line.

Despite Michigan State's impressive game, second-place Maryland crept a little closer to the strength of its 34-6 win over Louisiana State. The Terrapins, who trailed Michigan State by 50 votes last week, cut the margin to 26 as they piled up 32 first-place votes and 1,016 points.

Oklahoma, even more potent offensively than Michigan State with an average of 42 points a game, also closed second ground but stayed in third place with 20 first place votes and 850 points.

Behind the Big Three were Georgia Tech, Southern California, Duke and UCLA, all closely bunched, with three newcomers to the top 10 filling the last three places—Purdue, Kansas and Villanova.

Georgia Tech moved up one place after bopping Vanderbilt, 30-0, while USC jumped two places thanks to the 10-0 upset of California last week's No. 4 team. The defeat knocked California down to 11th.

The leaders (first-place votes in parentheses):

1. Michigan State (38) .....1,042

S'West Attendance Is About The Same

DALLAS, Oct. 28 (AP)—Southwest Conference football attendance is almost the same as last year.

To date 21 home games have been played this season with attendance of 725,141. Last year for the same period 20 games had been played that drew 693,260.

The average per game this year has been 34,530. Last year it was 34,663, meaning only 133 fewer per game for 1952.

Arkansas has shown an increase of 13,000 for four games in each period. Baylor is up, showing an average of 24,615 per game this year compared to 18,828 in 1951. Rice is averaging 50,000 compared to 41,000 last year and Texas is averaging 61,831 this year compared to 50,878 last season.

Southern Methodist, Texas Christian and Texas A&M are under 1951.

Tornadoes Rated Tenth, Bovines 45th In Poll

Though defeated by Lamesa last week end, the Big Spring Steers gained a notch in football ratings of the Williamson Features Syndicate, Inc.

The Steers advanced from 46th to 45th in Class AAA. Lamesa's two-touchdown win over the Longhorns must not have been too convincing to Williamson, for the Tornadoes dropped from ninth to tenth in the poll.

The Tornadoes, however, led all 1-AAA clubs. Sweetwater was ranked 13th, Vernon 20th, Snyder 42nd and Plainview 48th.

Temple is the top-rated club in AAA according to the Williamson system, followed by Breckenridge, Brownwood, Gladewater, Edison of San Antonio, Lufkin, Texarkana, Palestine, Denison and Lamesa.

In AAAA, Lubbock captured the top spot, followed by Wichita Falls, Ray of Corpus Christi, Baytown, Pampa, Highland Park, Lamar of Houston, Waco, Midland and Port Arthur, in that order.

Odesa was ranked 11th, Abilene 13th, Borger 16th, Amarillo 21st, Austin of El Paso 28th, El Paso High 40th, Ysleta 41st, Bowie of El Paso 46th and Jefferson of El Paso 47th.

In AA, it's Quanah, Phillips Huntville, Terrell, Seminole, Uvalde, Stephenville, Killeen, Brenham and Gonzales in the top ten.

Stamford is ranked 11th, Pecos 17th, Littlefield 20th, Floydada 21st, Anson 24th, Brownfield 27th, Monahans 33rd, Ballinger 34th, Leveland 41st, Shamrock 43rd, Olney 44th and Kermit 45th.

In Class A, Crowell is the top-rated club, followed by Wink, Grand Saline, Smithville, Abertown, Denver City, Van, Hearne, Benavides and Alpine.

Dublin is pegged at No. 11, Haskell 12th and Albany 45th.

Bowl Pickings Will Be Lean

By WILL GRIMSLEY
NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—Don't envy the sponsors of the football bowls this year. Their pickings are the slimmest in years, perhaps ever.

With new conference restrictions, the Jan. 1 operatives will have to scrape the bottom of the barrel for talent.

Of the top 10 teams in the latest Associated Press poll, only two—Georgia Tech, No. 4, and Villanova, No. 10—are open to invitations and Tech is halfway committed to the Southeastern Conference.

The other teams either have banned bowl consideration or are bound by the Big Ten-Pacific Coast agreement involving the Rose Bowl, The Southern Conference and Big Seven have anti-bowl laws.

The Big Ten and Pacific Coast can put only one team each in the Rose Bowl. Others must sit on the sidelines.

Here's the bowl availability of the top 20 teams in the AP poll:

1. Michigan State, No.
2. Maryland, No.
3. Oklahoma, No.
4. Georgia Tech, Yes.
5. Southern California, Maybe.
6. Duke, No.
7. UCLA, Maybe.
8. Kansas, No.
9. Villanova, Yes.
10. California, Maybe.
11. Tennessee, Yes.
12. Notre Dame, No.
13. Texas, Yes.
14. Wisconsin, Maybe.
15. Virginia, Yes.
16. Penn., No.
17. Wisconsin, Maybe.
18. Alabama, Yes.
19. Florida, Yes.
20. Iowa, No.

(The "maybe" above refer to Big Ten and PCC teams which still have a Rose Bowl chance, but only two can make it.)

HSU Plays Santa Clara At Lodi

ABILENE — The Hardin-Simmons University Cowboys, who met the University of Arizona at Tucson Saturday night, will continue westward this week with Lodi, Calif., slated as the next stop.

The Cowboys will meet the University of Santa Clara. It will be the first meeting of the two schools on the gridiron, but it will be the Cowboys' second showing in Lodi.

HSU and College of the Pacific battled in an all-time collegiate high tie game, 35-35, in the Grape Bowl in 1948.

This will be the 19th meeting of Hardin-Simmons with schools on the Pacific coast. The Cowboys, who have been playing football since 1897, have posted two victories over Fresno State. They have won three and lost four against Loyola, won one, tied one and lost one with San Jose State and San Francisco, and won one over San Diego State.

That's a record of eight wins, seven defeats and three ties.

The Cowboys hold a spread of 316 points to 231 points for their opponents.

Tentative plans call for the Cowboys to leave Abilene Thursday by chartered planes for Lodi.

RICE PLAYS BADGERS

Texas-SMU Tilt Features Activity In Southwest

By CLAYTON HICKERSON
Associated Press Staff

Six Southwest Conference events met in championship games this week end with only Rice Institute meeting a non-conference opponent.

The Owls play Wisconsin at Rice Stadium Saturday and have turned to early scrimmage sessions in an effort to stop the Big Ten team.

Coach Jess Neely's bayou charges are expected to be in the best condition of the year for the Badgers. The return of Bob Garbrecht to the Owl lineup was the biggest note of encouragement for the Owls.

Texas and Southern Methodist, set for an important conference contest, took to the scrimmage route Tuesday after Texas took it easy Monday and SMU spent the day counting up injuries.

The Longhorns were due to spend most of the week on pass defense in trying to avert a Pony upset win. But the Mustangs claimed their chances received a severe jolt with five players on the injured list.

Duane Nutt, classy soph back from Corsicans, will be out of the SMU lineup for the rest of the season with a knee injury sustained in the loss to Kansas last week and four other top-notch players are sidelined for the week end, at least.

The Longhorns are expected to be at top shape.

Coach Otis Douglas opened the week with a hard, long scrimmage session as his Arkansas Razorbacks prepared for their College Station set with the Texas A&M Cadets.

Shy Al Kraemer Is 'Iron Man' Of Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 28 (AP)—What does a college football coach do if he needs a 60-minute iron man? Pick out the player with the most experience? The toughest guy on the squad? Last year's star?

Not Lowell Red Dawson of the University of Pittsburgh. His "iron man" is shy Eldred Al Kraemer, a giant 215-pound tackle who never played a game of football in high school.

But so far this season, the 23-year-old sophomore has played the whole game against Iowa, Notre Dame, Army and West Virginia and 34 minutes against Oklahoma. In these days of platoon football, this is unusual but Kraemer loves every minute of it.

"I wanted to play football in high school but we didn't have a team," said Kraemer. "In fact I only saw one game—a high school contest—until I entered the service."

"I was always big (that's no exaggeration—he's got hands like hams and a 6-2 frame) and when I got the chance to play in the Navy—well that did it."

Kraemer, native of Clearlake, Minn., started cleats for the first time in 1949-50 with the Navy's San Diego Submarine eleven coached by Commander Slade Cutler, ex-Navy tackle.

Cutler recommended Kraemer to Pitt after he finished his two-year hitch.

And Kraemer hasn't let Cutler down. He was a regular in his freshman year and picked right up where he left off last season. In addition to his plugging ability, Kraemer is a top-flight heavy-weight wrestler.

Dawson's eleven has a 3-2 record to date, including upsets over Notre Dame and Army and a 16-0 shellacking by an underdog West Virginia team.

Tickets Available For Saturday Go

LUBBOCK. — Plenty of tickets are available for Saturday afternoon's homecoming game between Texas Tech and University of Houston, according to Jimmie Wilson, Tech business manager of athletics.

More than 2,000 reserved tickets and about 3,000 general admission seats remain.

Local Driver Wins

Claude Majors, Big Spring, won the feature event of the stock car races at Odessa Sunday afternoon. A wreck involving two Odessa cars marred the 25-lap race.

the past two weeks, the Porkers will try to bounce back at the expense of the in-and-out Aggies.

Despite the injured right hip of kicking specialist Darrow Hooper, the Cadets probably will be in better shape for the Hogs than they were for the Baylor Bears last week when they lost, 21-20.

Hooper's injury kept him out of the Baylor game and may have him benched again this week end. But otherwise the Cadet injury list improved. Tackle Bobby Dixon and Guards Ray Bassett and Louis Capt are expected to be ready for the Porkers.

Baylor's Bears, getting set for Dutch Meyer's defending champion Texas Christian Horned Frogs, watched movies of their 1951 game with the Frogs and listened to scout reports Monday.

Earlier in the day, Co-Capt. Cosimo Bracato, Catholic point-kicking specialist for the Baptists, had a tooth pulled.

The Frogs, with an open date last week, were almost free of injuries as the week began and Gil Bartosh, 1950 tailback sensation, worked out Monday with the starting backfield unit and looked good.

The TCU practice temp was to be increased today after Monday's fast start.

PLAINVIEW SEEKS FIRST WIN IN STEER CONTEST

Things can't get much worse for the lower but the winning eleven is bound to benefit in the Plainview-Big Spring football game, which is scheduled to be played in Plainview Friday night.

Between them, the teams have won one decision in 11 starts. Plainview has yet to rack up a win, in fact, has scored only 19 points in five outings.

Big Spring has beaten only San Angelo in six starts.

Defenses of the two clubs have been porous. Plainview has yielded 187 points, Big Spring 126.

Big Spring's attack has been getting better each time out, however. The locals have been held scoreless twice this season but, in their last three outings, they have averaged a little better than two touchdowns a game.

Don Sutterfield is Plainview's top threat on a young ball club. It was Sutterfield who powered over the Bulldogs' only score in that game with Sweetwater last week. He has help from such boys as Lester Ramsey, Lonnie Holland and Ben Smith in the backfield.

Big Spring, doped to lose by several touchdowns, upset the Bulldogs, 21-20, last year. Plainview would like nothing better than to even the score this time.

Plainview was held to 48 yards on the ground and 110 through the air by Sweetwater last week. The Bulldogs may ride the air lines almost exclusively in the Steer game.

Double TKO Ruled In Jersey Fight

TRENTON, N.J., Oct. 28 (AP)—Two fighters stepped into the ring here last night, each hoping to win the New Jersey lightweight championship.

As it turned out, neither one did. The referee declared a double technical knockout in the fourth round after the two—Gene Takach and Charlie Slaughter—bumped heads, resulting in facial cuts.

Jaycees Favor Lawn About Court House

Jaycees Monday voted to support retention of adequate lawn around the Court House square when the new building is completed. A resolution to that effect will be presented to Howard County Commissioners.

The only parking proposal thus far presented to the club was rejected in view of the need for an eight-foot retaining wall and resultant inconveniences. Also, the dangers inherent in such a wall were noted along with the dodging of cars coming in and out of parking spaces within the square.

The club further noted that control of parking was impossible and that early arrivals could park for an entire day, thus negating any effect additional parking space might have for shoppers and others who desire to park for a short time.

The club meeting in its weekly luncheon session, also heard a report from Bill Cox, chairman of the club's "Get-Out-The-Vote" drive.

Cox revealed plans for the downtown business section to be divided into ten square blocks. Jaycees were then assigned to cover each block, checking business establishments and seeing that employees have the opportunity to vote. Later in the afternoon and business places will be checked again to see if employees have voted.

Arrangements are also being made to take voters to the polls and return them home. A sound truck will also appeal to voters to cast their ballots.

Jaycees are cooperating in this drive with the radio stations and Boy Scouts.

R. L. Heith was named chairman of a party committee and will report on plans for one at the next meeting.

Ray Rhodes, president, presided.

Dry Norther Is Heading South; Fires Fanned

By The Associated Press

Texas—drought-ridden for nearly three years—had even drier weather Tuesday as a bone-dry norther headed toward the Gulf of Mexico and lowered humidity on its way.

The norther hit the Panhandle late Monday and, in the words of the Weather Bureau, "brought a little wind, a little cooler air and a little drier air." Humidity fell with the norther's advance.

The winds, what there were of them, fanned burning forest fires in the piney woods of East Texas, dried out a bit more the already tinder-dry timberlands and went on south.

A murky fog-smoke mixture, smog, hovered over the upper Texas coast but was being dispersed Tuesday morning by the mounting breeze from the north.

Most of the smoke came from at least 22 fires that were eating their way through thousands of acres of East Texas pine. They were another outgrowth of the devastating drought.

Tuesday was the 12th day that not a drop of rain had fallen in Texas. None was expected Wednesday.

Warnings went out to careless hunters and picnickers in East Texas and Dist. Forester Arthur E. Green, Beaumont, warned arsonists that plans were afoot for drastic, strict enforcement of state fire laws.

In Corsicana, in East Central Texas, a stubborn grass fire halted north-south railway traffic through the city after destroying one railroad bridge and damaging another.

Railroad officials had hoped to resume traffic on the damaged Southern Pacific bridge Monday night. A Fort Worth & Denver bridge today, railroad men hoped.

Meanwhile, water-short Dallas took new measures to make its critically low water supply last a little longer. The city ordered contractors to haul water for softening or compacting the sub-grade in paving projects. However, city water still could be used in mixing concrete and mortar.

Dallas levied its first fine for violation of its stringent water-use ordinance. The first pay-off came from a 64-year-old yardman who

Nixon Believes GOP Chances In Texas Good

EL PASO, Oct. 28 (AP)—Sen. Richard Nixon, the Republican vice presidential candidate, hurried into California today after yesterday's seven-stop tour of Texas, where he said the GOP had "a very good chance of winning."

Nixon blasted President Truman and the Democratic Presidential Candidate Adlai Stevenson as he spoke at Texarkana, Gregg County Airport, Beaumont, Corpus Christi, Abilene, Midland and El Paso with an estimated 39,000 Texans making up the seven crowds.

Separate crowds ranged from police estimates of 12,000 at the Gregg County Airport, near Longview, Kilgore and Gladewater, to similar estimates of 1,500 at El Paso.

Today he had stops scheduled in California.

Nixon hit hard at "Communists-in-government" and in Midland was introduced by Robert Sipling, former investigator for the House Un-American Activities Committee.

"Bob can tell you it was the Communists working in the government who made it possible for Russia to develop the A-bomb five years before they would have otherwise," Nixon said. "That's the record and they can't change it. Dean Acheson and his foreign policy can't change it. Adlai Stevenson and his jokes can't change it. And Truman and his lies can't change it. It is in the record."

Nixon repeated the same theme at each of his stops and at Corpus Christi added:

"We're not going to do much about taxes and prices until we deal with Communism."

Appealing for the 24 Texas electoral votes, which may be the difference between defeat and victory for Nixon and his party, the candidate asked Texans, traditionally Democratic, to "put loyalty to country above loyalty to party."

At Jefferson County Airport near Beaumont, where police estimated the crowd at about 4,500, Nixon was interrupted by applause 16 times during his 20-minute speech. A sheriff's posse, riding spirited horses, galloped out to meet his taxing plane at Midland.

Martin Bond Issue Sold

STANTON, (SC)—Martin County's recently authorized 250,000 bond issue for highway improvement has been sold on a two-broker joint bid of 3.07 per cent interest. It has been announced by county Judge James McMorris.

The buyers are Dewar, Robertson and Pancost of San Antonio and McClung and Knickerbocker of Houston.

The money from the sale of the bonds will be used primarily to purchase of right of way for widening U. S. Highway 80 and making it a four-lane highway through Martin County, while the balance of the fund will go to the improvement of county roads and farm-to-market roads, a project which will also include the purchase of some additional right-of-way for these roads.

He couldn't read. He got off the minimum $50 fine after pleading illiteracy.

Write-In Opposition Given To Parr; Lives Are Being Risked

ALICE, Oct. 28 (AP)—The domination of the George Parr family in Duval County and South Texas politics faced more opposition here today with a write-in campaign gaining headway for the Nov. 4 election.

Manuel P. Sanchez, president of the Freedom Party in Duval County, told the Alice Echo today that the organization had decided to back openly a write-in campaign for Ben R. Foster, rancher-oilman from Freer, for Duval County sheriff.

Yesterday, 43 Alice women took sample ballots to show voters in their neighborhoods how to scratch out local candidates and write in others.

The women were told that persons doing the same thing in neighboring Duval County were doing it at the risk of their lives.

E. W. Carpenter, Alice grocer heretofore inactive in politics, presided at the meeting and said Freedom Party members were working day and night but were being intimidated.

"Men who supported the Freedom Party in the July primaries are being practically put out of business," Carpenter said. "The men who are fighting this battle in Duval County are doing so at the risk of their lives."

Sanchez, in his talk with the Alice Echo today, said Foster will run against Archer Parr, a nephew of George Parr who was named sheriff of Duval County by the commissioners' court when George Parr resigned as sheriff.

The Freedom Party was organized last spring with the expressed purpose to "rid Duval County of one-man domination."

Sanchez said the party will assist actively in efforts to write in Sam

G. Reams for district judge and Mark Heath for district attorney. Both men were defeated in the primaries by men backed by Parr.

George Parr won the July primary for sheriff, but resigned later. His nephew, Archer, was appointed for the unexpired term of his uncle. Campbell King, chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee in Duval County, said that Archer's name would be on the ballot next Tuesday.

Foster, 45, was an unsuccessful candidate for Duval County commissioner from Freer in the July primary. At that time he was backed by the Freedom Party. He is a veteran of World War II, is married and has three children.

Sanchez told the Echo that they would carry their campaign throughout Duval County by radio and newspaper. He said he personally would speak in behalf of Reams, Heath and Foster over a Corpus Christi radio station Wednesday.

The women came to the Alice meeting at the request of a dozen mothers who said Saturday they were planning the Reams and Heath write-in campaign so their children "can grow up without fear of political assassination."

Sample ballots were given to the women to take to the voters in their neighborhood. They were told to instruct the voters how to write in the names of Reams and Heath "if they care to" and also how to split the national party ticket in order that Democrats might vote for the Republican nominee, Dwight Eisenhower, "if they care to."

County Clerk C. H. Holmgreen was present to answer any questions.

Pravda Scores Ike And Adlai

MOSCOW (AP)—Pravda gave Russian readers a half-page summary today of the U. S. presidential campaign, calling both Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Gov. Adlai Stevenson "true servants of American monopolies." The Communist party organ said both the Republican and Democratic candidates are "leaders in the aggressive policy of the imperialist warmongers." "Inspirers of anti-Communist hysteria." "Preachers of reaction and aggression." Pravda's article—the most extensive commentary to date on the American election—condemned both candidates with what appeared to be complete impartiality. It said the two have restricted the campaign to second-class, unimportant issues and both are afraid to propose any real solution for the Korean War. Each, said Pravda, fears to propose an expansion or intensification of the war since it is so unpopular. On the other hand, said the paper, each fears to propose a peaceful solution in Korea since this would arouse dissatisfaction among "industrial and financial magnates." Pravda said the presidential campaign has not succeeded in arousing the interest of the American electorate, which it added is showing great indifference and apathy.

Phillumists Lose Their Best Member

LONDON (AP)—The British Society of Phillumists has lost its most famous member and all because of a trifling $2.15. Phillumists collect matchbox labels. Their most famous member was Egypt's ex-King Farouk and the $2.15 was the annual subscription fee. The society's secretary, Charlie Crampton, reported with regret at the group's annual meeting last night that Farouk hadn't paid up for 1952. But he said there might be an excuse—that Farouk probably had something else on his mind at the time. The monarch abdicated three days after the fee was due.

English City Out Of Bounds For Airmen

WARREINGTON, Eng., Oct. 28 (AP)—The U. S. Air Force has put the entire city of Manchester out of bounds for American airmen because of two recent gang attacks on U. S. service personnel. Manchester has been the scene of frequent Communist Party demonstrations against the stationing of American airmen in this country. Two weeks ago two Air Force MPs, armed only with billy clubs, were attacked by a gang of toughs with knives and razors and were badly beaten and cut. Friday, two more MPs were similarly attacked.

SITUATION IS DOUBTFUL

Texas One Of Six Big States That May Decide '52 Election

By DAVE CHEAVENS (Editor's note: There are six big states which have, among them, more than one-third of all the electoral votes in the country. In a series of daily stories, The Associated Press is presenting the picture in these states, as seen by experienced AP political writers on the scene.) AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Two and a half million Texas voters may hold the key to the White House door for either Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower or Gov. Adlai Stevenson.

Texas' 24 electoral votes—sixth biggest block in the nation—are in doubt for the first time since 1928 and the second time this century. A Democratic rebellion that splintered off segments of the once-solid Texas party in 1948 split it wide open this year. For the first time in history, a Democratic governor of Texas has joined the Republicans in backing their presidential candidate, Gov. Allan Shivers' simmering displeasure with New Deal and Fair Deal policies boiled over when Stevenson said he could not agree with Texas claims to submerged offshore lands and their potential—and disputed—oil wealth.

Welker Says Harry, Adlai Destroy Any Future Policy Unity

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Herman Welker, Idaho Republican, today said President Truman and Gov. Adlai Stevenson are "destroying hopes for future unity on foreign policy." In a statement distributed by the Republican National Committee, Welker said Truman and Stevenson, the Democratic nominee for President, are "mouthing the same identical malarkey and selling the same untruths." The big question today is whose side the rank and file voters will join, especially the large number still apparently undecided. Texas' potential vote is 2 1/2 million and best estimates are the turn out will be another record-breaking 1 1/2 million to 1,800,000. The voters may stay hitched with Democratic tradition, backed by appeals to their distrust of Republicans generally, fear of depression and prosperity arguments. Or they may line up with Shivers, who says the issue is "good government or bad, Trumanism, corruption, creeping socialism" and especially the question of who controls offshore submerged lands claimed by Texas since it was a republic. Texas has not given its electoral vote to a Republican since Herbert Hoover squeezed out a narrow victory over Al Smith in 1928. Conservative Texas Democrats began breaking away from the New Deal in 1940. The revolt—still with in the party—grew in 1944 and 1948. It led to development of two feuding factions: the conservative headed by a succession of anti-New Deal governors; the liberals, with leaders like Rayburn and Johnson. Conservative Democratic governors have won every race over New Deal opponents in recent years, but they stayed reluctantly in the national party.

Reds Make Charge

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—The Communists charged at a meeting with U. N. liaison officers today that the Allies dropped propaganda leaflets inside the Panmunjom neutral zone Saturday. Aga Khan was given his weight in gold when he completed 50 years as "leader of my people." On his 60th anniversary he was given his weight in diamonds. On his 70th anniversary "which may be in 1954 or 1955, I expect I shall be given my weight in platinum." Asked how so many of his people owned diamonds to give him, Aga Khan laughed as he sat in his special canvas and wooden chair. "The diamonds were not given to me. They were hired from several companies," he said. "After I was weighed with them, the diamonds were returned to the companies which own them. The people then pay an equal amount of money instead of giving the diamonds." Is it true he gives the money to charity? "Not exactly," he replied. "I give the money to various societies that lend money to the people very cheaply." With the platinum donations, Aga Khan hopes to erect several educational institutions and set up a number of scholarships in India. He already has built a university at Aligarh, India, and a large hospital in Nairobi, Kenya. "You know, I've led quite an interesting and varied life," he said, smiling. Aga Khan Wants To Earn Money Writing

VENICE, Oct. 28. (AP)—The Aga Khan, who expects to be given his weight in platinum "in 1954 or 1955," hopes to earn some money by writing this winter. The fabulously wealthy religious leader would rather discuss his literary aspirations than the recent estrangement between his first-born son, Aly Khan, and movie star Rita Hayworth. "I never try to direct the lives of my sons," said the white-haired leader of more than eight million small Moslems. "I didn't want my mother to direct my life and as a father I don't want to direct theirs." The Aga Khan said he "will write a lot of articles about Pakistan."

Ike And Adlai Flying A Lot

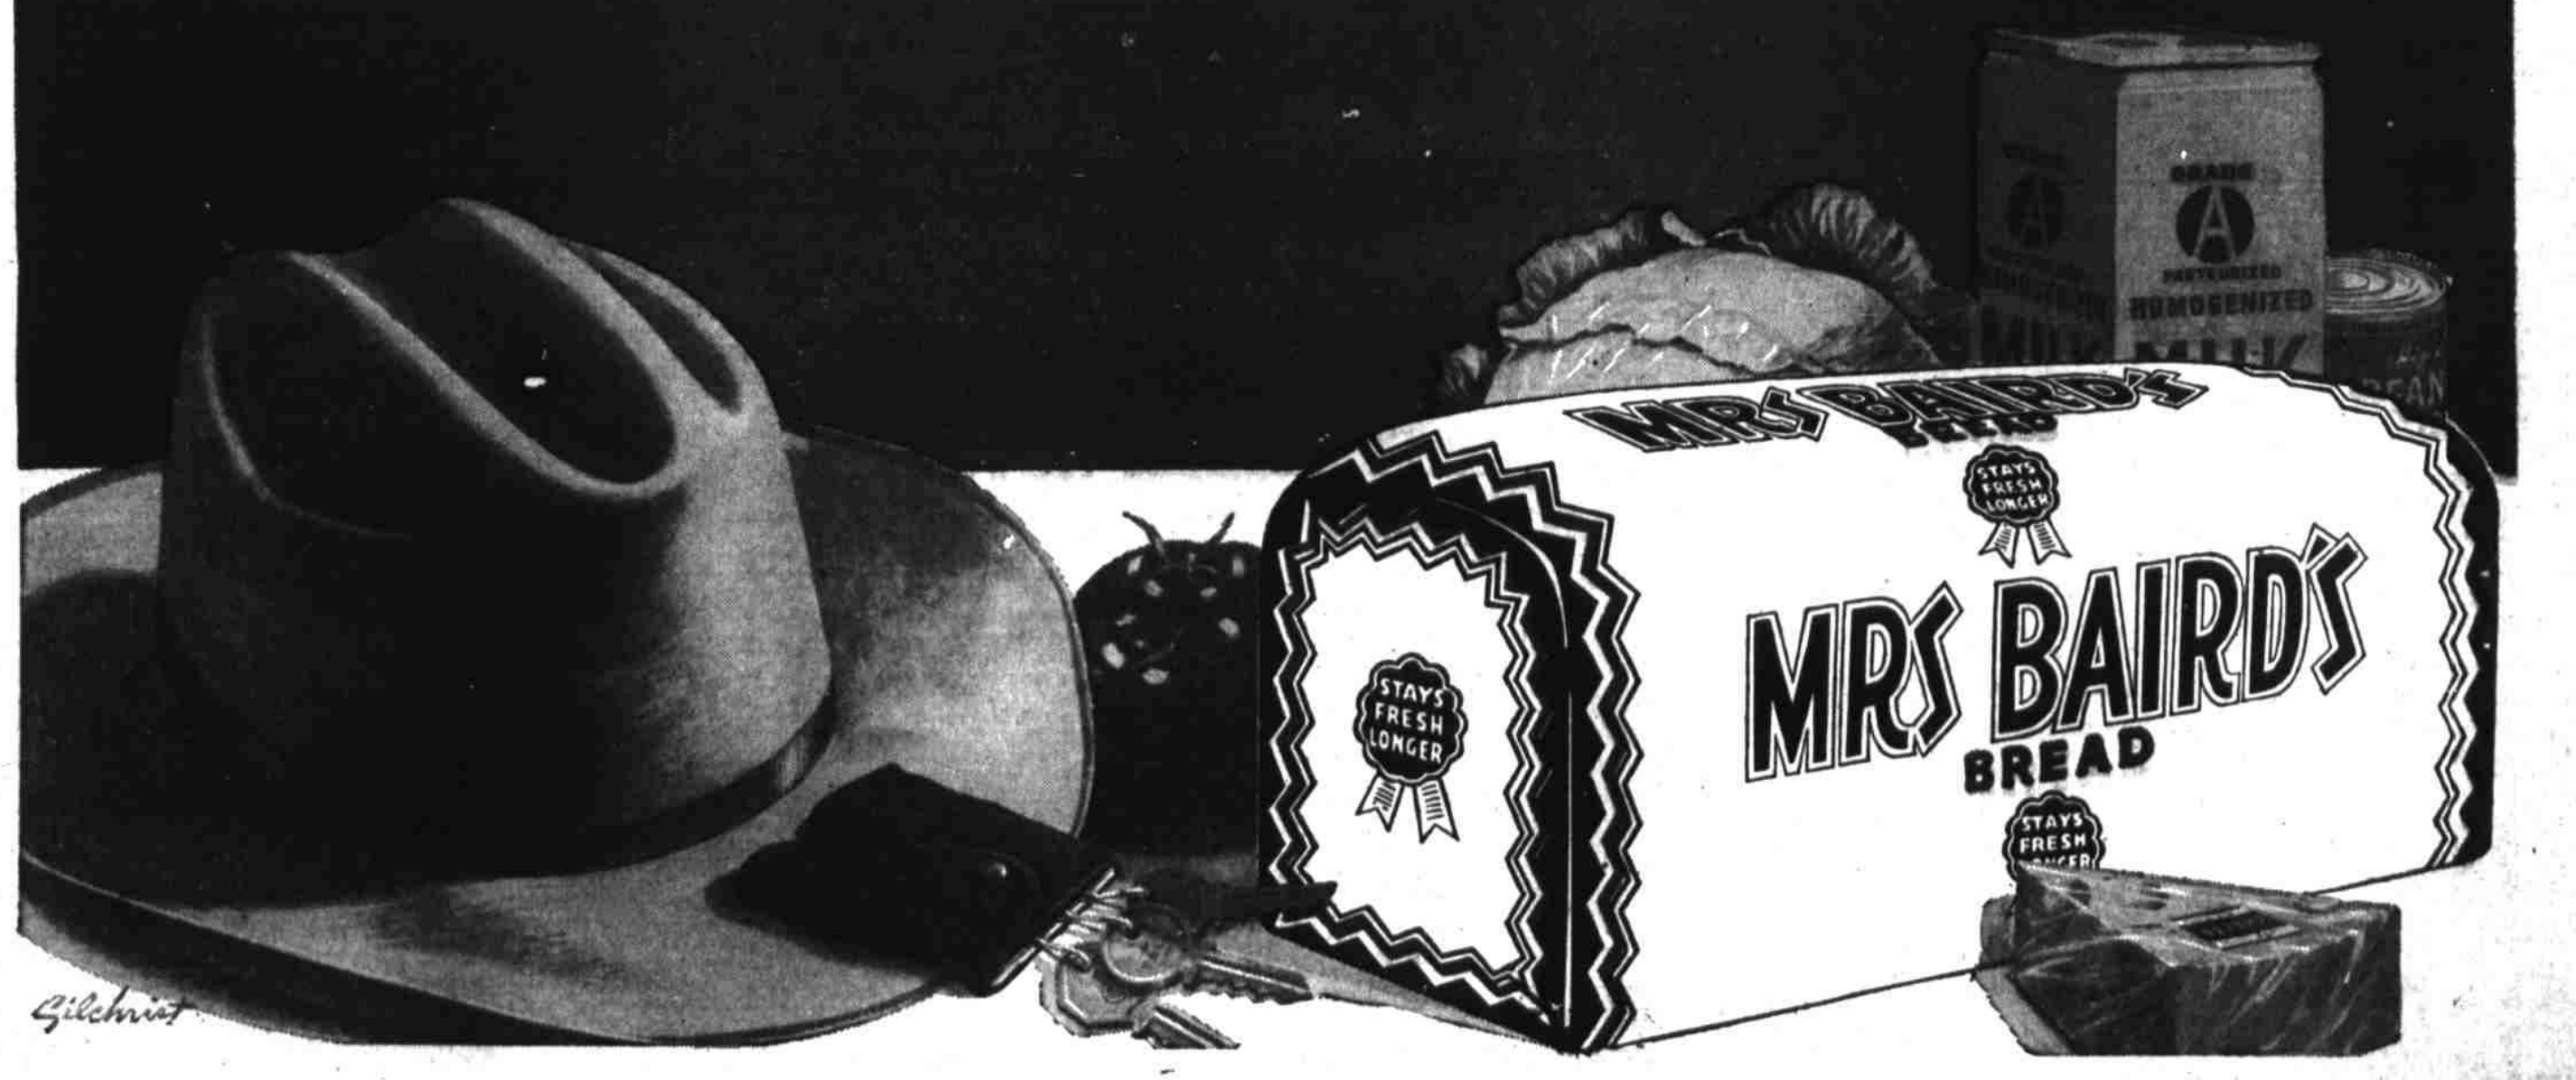

By VERN HAUGLAND WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Transport Association presented statistics today to show that air travel has been used far more extensively in the 1952 presidential campaign than in any other. By election day, the ATA estimates the candidates for President and vice president and the leading senatorial speakers supporting them will have flown more than 200,000 miles. About half of this total is being clocked on regularly scheduled airline flights and the other half in airplanes chartered from association members. ATA represents the scheduled airlines. The association's summary indicated the rival leading candidates are using air transport in about equal amounts. The two presidential nominees, it said, already have accounted for almost 45,000 miles, with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower having flown only about 1,000 miles more than Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson.

Deep in the Hearts of Texans

Ignorant probing of the subconscious has been used by adepts to rob and enslave humanity. It is a dangerous process. "There shall not be found among you any wizard." — Deut. 18:10, 11.

Only Hope In Korean Tragedy Is Change In Administration

Do you have a son, a brother, a husband or a nephew in Korea? Do you have neighbor boys in the combat zone? Have you seen and talked with the families who have had loved ones returned in coffins? If your answer is yes, then the Korean war is very close to you, and you are miserable to the very bottom of your heart about the futility of world affairs which permits this bloodshed to continue. American casualties in Korea last week had mounted to 122,117. These may be statistics to you, but they are very real figures if a casualty has touched you closely. Right now we are losing up to 1,000 American boys every week. Is there a stopping place? Consider that at the end of World War II in 1945, America was the most powerful nation in history. But within seven years of policy-by-impulse as represented by the Fair Deal, we have lost our power. We have permitted the Reds to rule over 18 free nations; to enslave 600 million people; and to over-run half the earth. The "bear-trap" continues. Millions more young men face the draft. Next year, 19-year-olds will be taken. What is there in the Truman-Stevenson proposals to bring any cessation of this condition? None that has honestly and positively be put forward. On the contrary, these two campaigners have even gone on the defensive to cry the lie that Eisenhower had an outright solution for Korea and ought to produce it. Of course, Eisenhower has never held forth any such thing. Some people say a General shouldn't be in the White House. But in all honesty we ought to consider the tremendous administrative job that Eisenhower did in welding the diverse forces that defeated Hitler. He brought all nations, all interests together. His administrative ability accomplished a similar task in the building of NATO. His proven experience as an executive and a leader ought to prompt confidence that he can accomplish some results with the United Nations, which the Truman administration has not been able to do. Eisenhower understands the world situation sufficiently to establish a governmental policy that can at least bring hope where now there is no hope. There is no hope today. There is no hope. The American people will have to act. American blood in Korea demands it.

Burglaries Due To Increase So Be Careful About Your Valuables

A news item the other day pointed it out—if you had not already gained the impression—that burglaries appear to be on the increase. A veteran peace officer, who has been watching the scene and conditions for many years, told us not long ago that he believed this would be one of the worst autumns and winters in years so far as stealing is concerned. The reason is basically economic, the moral outlook of chronic thieves having failed of transformation. Since 1940, those inclined to an "easy buck" have for the most part found it not too difficult to get reasonably good jobs which did not require too much effort. Perhaps they never stopped stealing, but the compulsion for steady activity was lacking. Too, with money relatively easy, they found it not hard to pick up their share of the surplus through borderline activity. Now, in the wake of slowed oil exploration and development which followed the steel strike, plus what is perhaps the worst drought on record, activity had declined in many realms. While business in general may be holding up well, the easy surplus isn't there. The chronic thief, though he may have been in a 10-year hibernation, now crawls out of his shell. It is reasonable to expect he will be increasingly active. That should suggest one thing to every business operator and householder—that is be doubly careful about leaving things of considerable value where burglars might get them.

The Trivial Things Seem To Be Making Most Headlines Today

I see by the papers that Frank Sinatra and his wife have had a fight. . . Can you imagine that! One hundred and twenty-two thousand American casualties in Korea; 21,000 dead; the truce talks a failure! Our majority in the United Nations is cut. But Frankie and Ava have had a fight! Let the sun stop in its course! Frankie and Ava have fought and so has Lana Turner. Nearly 375,000 coal miners are on strike. The labor members of the War Stabilization Board accuse the public member of violating the law. Reports are afloat that Dr. John R. Steelman in the White House engineered the miner's rise of $1.90 a day so that John L. Lewis would support Adlai Stevenson. Who knows what the politicians can do? The coal strike is already producing lay-offs on the railroads. If it lasts long, steel may have to shut down. But do not worry, my friends, Frank Sinatra has had a fight with his wife, Ava. That is important. Ask your youngsters for Frank Sinatra's biography and then ask them about Benjamin Franklin. Times change, say the youngsters. The 1952 campaign has hit a low spot in vituperation. Whoever is elected, Eisenhower or Stevenson, he will wonder at the things said in the 1952 campaign and he will hope that no one keeps a file of speeches. He will, I hope, apologize to his adversary. But stay! Do not worry your mind with such small matters. The issue before the American people is: Will Frankie make up with Ava or is this the final blow that ends this publicized marriage? Discuss that on the hustings. Argue it on radio and television. Stalin announces that he is restoring the united front and that he will engage in civil war in every country in the world. When the united front exists, every man is suspicious of his neighbor and his brother. Most of the investigations before the House Committee on un-American activities have to do with united front actions. Most of the Hollywood actors, writers, directors who are in trouble were never Communists; they were in united front movements. If you want to know how that works, read Eddie Robinson's very important article in the October issue of the "American Legion Magazine." That is important literature. Why bother? Frankie and Ava have parted. They got into a hassle over Ava lending Lana her house or was it the other way around? And if so, why? And you said and I said and all God's children say things about each other. So let's say things about Frank Sinatra, who, if his pictures are not composite, wears a mustache and resembles Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., who has gone British by association. Is that guilt by association? I could not help, my dear readers, writing for you about this utter lack of proportion, when I witnessed all the excitement about the fight between Frank Sinatra and Ava Gardner, motion picture actors, whose private lives are really none of my business or yours. When you have a fight with your wife, you try to keep it hidden, particularly from your relatives, who might lend a hand to either side. You don't call in reporters and have your pictures taken. The question does arise in my plebian mind why the private lives of obscure persons engaged in mummy excite our citizens so much. What difference does it all really make in our lives? For instance, here it is close to November and soon we shall have to be totting up our income tax. We should be tax-conscious, waste-conscious, depreciated money-conscious, high cost of living conscious. But we escape from our problems and excite ourselves over the trivia of the private lives of strangers. Maybe it is sometimes good to escape from ourselves, but we have been doing it too long and too much until fun has become our principal preoccupation and even our children are more concerned with fun than with advancement. It is something to think about when we complain. I heard the other day of a proposition to give a citizen a full day off to vote and to pay him for his time for doing his duty? Why not portal-to-portal, from home to the polling place and back? Why not include a sandwich and a beer? Anything goes these days.

Engines No Bother

BILLINGS, Mont. (AP)—The roar of airplane engines is music to the ears of 40 deer. The herd roams the runways of the local airport in search of grass. A truck tries to scatter them before a deer-hopping plane lands. Residents of the surrounding game preserve want to lift hunting bans until there are 40 less deer blocking traffic.

Over-Production Causes Some Fear As Demand Is More Than Satisfied

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (AP)—The law of supply and demand—taking over from government controls in many industries—is causing sharp disputes between consumers and producers. Shutdowns of high-cost lead and zinc mines—with attendant unemployment—is feared in many mining areas. The reason: Sharp drop in the price of the metals, led by weakness in the London futures market. And oil production capacity has now outstripped current demand to the point where many domestic oil producers are clamoring again against the increasing flow of foreign oil to these shores. Government proposals for further expansion of facilities for certain types of steelmaking are meeting with resistance from some steel producers who fear over-expansion in lines unprofitable after the defense program ceases. The return of the coal miners to the pits today assures abundant supplies of fuel—with increasing competition among coal, oil and gas. Fears of over-production of ethyl alcohol—the New York Journal of Commerce reports today—is causing Du Pont to close its plant at Deepwater, N. J. A plant to make synthetic ethyl alcohol is being built at Tuscola, Ill., by the National Petro-Chemicals Corp., to make this and other hydro-carbons out of natural gas. Du Pont is reported as believing the synthetic plant will be able to fill all the nation's needs for ethyl alcohol by mid-1953. Ethyl alcohol is used in making anti-freeze, beverages, drugs, dyes, smokeless powder and flavoring extracts. In the petroleum industry, the government's goal of a million-barrel-a-day excess productive capacity has now been attained, according to John Surman, New Jersey Standard Oil vice president. The government asked the industry to bring capacity above normal domestic demand as a reserve quickly available if the nation were attacked. The industry also has been importing petroleum from Venezuela and the middle East at an increased rate—more than 10 percent of U. S. crude oil output. Members of the Independent Petroleum Assn. have protested that so great a flow of foreign oil is no longer needed, when domestic capacity is above domestic needs.

'Long-Term' Borrowers Is Name For Book Thieves

NEW YORK (AP)—The most common criminal in America today is neither the burglar, the bandit nor the shady opium salesman. No law really protects the public against him. He operates with a smooth tongue instead of a gun, he rarely is strung from a gallows as some think he deserves and yet every year he walks away scot-free with millions. Who is this bold rascal? Well, it probably you—the ordinary book thief. "But I'm not a book thief," you protest. "Why, I never stole a book in my life." Oh, yes you did. If you go inspect your books right now, the chances are that you'll find it a book that says "Stolen from the library of . . ." And the name written there won't be your own. "But I didn't really steal it—I only borrowed it!" you say, and add virtuously: "And I certainly intend to return it." Maybe. But you probably have had it for years. The real owner wanted it back long ago—and if that isn't thievery, what is it? But among book lovers there is a tolerant recognition of human frailty and a general live-and-let-live policy. And of course each knows the other fellow may break down sometime and buy a book worth borrowing himself. The true professional book thief is a scoundrel who steals precious

This Day In Texas

By CURTIS BISHOP
Death came on this day in 1875 to William Menefee, credited by some historians as being largely responsible for the selection of Austin as the capital of Texas. Born in Tennessee, Menefee first came to Texas in 1830. He was a member of the Consultation and also of the convention which set up a Texas government separate from Mexico. He served several terms as congressman from Colorado County and was that county's first chief justice. When Congress authorized the appointment of five commissioners to choose a capital site President Lamar appointed Menefee, along with Albert C. Horton, Louis P. Cooke, Isaac W. Burton and Isaac Campbell. This committee did not have a completely free hand in their choice; the act specified a location between the Trinity and Colorado Rivers and above the old San Antonio Road. Menefee, great and good friend of Lamar, persuaded the group to look first at the valley where Jacob Harrell had built his cabin, the spot over which Lamar had exclaimed, "How beautiful! How glorious! This should be the seat of a future empire!" Some historians claim that this committee did not have the other location. At any rate, when time for the final choice came, they yielded to Menefee's persuasions and accepted the President's choice.

Few Thoughts On The Campaign Are Put Down By The Writer

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald.—Editor's Note.

SOME THOUGHTS while listening. I WENT TO THE pig show. The champion barrow was there. His owner had bathed him, anointed his hide and hair with oil and brushed him down. The champion barrow was bedded deep in hay. His belly was full. He had been well fed. Of course his liberty was restricted by the pen, but he didn't care. A perfect example of social security and swine prosperity, he had never had it so good. "Don't let them take it away," he grunted. "I've never had it so good. I don't want a change." THE MAN WHO VOTES for Stevenson is going to vote the same ticket as the American Communists. Both Stalin and the official Russian newspaper, Pravda, have denounced and derided Ike. It is plain that the Soviets fear the election of Eisenhower and his ability to organize the democratic world against Communism. It is equally as plain that Moscow is going to instruct American Communists how to vote, and it is equally as clear that these American Communists will be instructed to cast their votes for Stevenson. Stalin has made puppets of the Truman-Acheson crowd. He has played them right into his hands. They are his highest cards in the game of international deception and intrigue.

THOSE WHO SUGGEST THAT Washington can be cleaned up by inserting Stevenson into the job being mismanaged by Truman, should read the Scriptures—Luke 5:37-38: "No man putteth new wine into old bottles; else the new wine will burst the bottles, and be spilled, and the bottles shall perish. But new wine must be put into new bottles; and both are preserved." WHEN THE NATIONAL CONGRESS of American Indians meets in Denver, November 12, a strongly committee-endorsed resolution will be introduced "to strip President Truman of all Indian honors because of undignified and disgraceful conduct in office." Truman has been made an honorary member of the Sioux and has received gifts and tributes from the Seminomes, Utes, Blackfeet and other tribes. "Those honors should be withdrawn because of his disgraceful conduct," says Dan Madrano, a leader of the Caddos. "Never before in American history has the Presidential office been so besmirched and degraded by one man. Never before has a President lowered himself and his office to hatchet-wielding and character assassination such as Mr. Truman has done. He has indulged in smear tactics, falsification of truth and vicious, underhanded propaganda to create racial and religious hatred." A LITTLE BULLY of a boy seized his smaller sister's doll and crashed it down against the sidewalk smashing the head into a thousand pieces. Turning to his mother he asked, "And now what do you suggest?" A little bully of a man takes upon himself the dreadful responsibility of sending thousands of American boys to death in Korea, and now he asks of a much wiser and greater man, "And now what do you suggest?" "YOU'RE A LIAR!" exclaimed Ananias when a friend related a bit of news, and then Adlai Stevenson came to Texas and warned Texas against carpetbaggers. ONCE THERE WERE TWO partners in a business. One was resident and managed the business. The other was non-resident and had done nothing more than put up all the money for the business. The banker knew things weren't going right and so he visited the manager-partner and wisely suggested that the books should be audited. When the auditor arrived a fire had gutted the business and the records had been destroyed. Never before in the history of the United States has a President fought so hard to keep a certain honest man from taking over the records of the government. JUST BEFORE THE convention at Chicago, Stevenson he was "not fit mentally, physically or temperamentally" for the Presidency. Now he recommends himself very highly. Maybe he's been taking Hladacol! —FRANKLIN REYNOLDS

Today And Tomorrow—Walter Lippman

Soviet Changes Tactics, Trying To Impose Isolationism On Us

The present phase of Soviet policy is marked by an increasing contrast between the way it deals with the United States and the way it deals with all our allies. At the level of propaganda America and everything American are the object of concentrated enmity which is truly remarkable in its intensity and its virulence. Nothing comparable with this propaganda is being directed against Great Britain, France, or any other non-Communist power. This contrast is being sharpened by confidential and clandestine activity in Western Europe and elsewhere, all of it designed to spread the conviction that the Soviet Union is not considering a military aggression, that its military policy is to avoid provocation, and that the danger of war lies in being too closely associated with the United States. At the diplomatic level—that is to say the relations of government with government—it seems most likely that the Soviet intent now is to avoid and to prevent successful negotiations with the United States—in order later on to negotiate separately with some of our allies. There is not, I think, much doubt that the Soviet government's conception of how to deal with the United States has changed importantly in the past five years. Back in 1947, before the Marshall Plan and the Atlantic Pact and Western rearmament, the basic idea was not to provoke and arouse the United States to a point where it would help Western Europe effectively and soon enough. When the Cominform was organized, the Communist parties were told that the Soviet government would never, as one Western Communist leader put it at the time, "provide the United States with another Pearl Harbor." What this meant was that the Soviet government had decided to avoid provoking the United States too much, relying upon our remoteness from Europe and our natural isolationism to keep us from intervening before it was too late. In 1950, however, very possibly because of a miscalculation, the invasion of South Korea did "provide another Pearl Harbor." That is to say, the Korean war provoked the massive rearmament of the United States, a very considerable rearmament of Western Europe, and brought about the decision to rearm Western Germany and Japan. This meant a radical change in the world situation: the United States, which had reverted to something very like military isolation, suddenly emerged as the organizer of a world-wide military coalition. The new Soviet tactics reflect this change. Whereas formerly they counted on our isolationism, providing we were not provoked too much, now the Soviet government sees that its problem is how to impose the isolationism upon us. Almost certainly they are assuming that we have been provoked to a point where we cannot now be appeased. The obvious line for the Soviets then is to appease our allies by being unprovocative with them, and thus to isolate us from them. If this is the new line, then it would seem to follow that they will not allow any negotiations to succeed in which the United States is the principal negotiator. For that would destroy the argument they are making to our allies—that American leadership is incompatible with world peace. A successful negotiation of any kind would greatly strengthen our leadership and our alliances. The animosity of the Communist propaganda and the logic of the Soviet policy leaves little ground for expecting that they will settle anything with the United States. They will, we must expect, settle nothing with us and they will be unprovocative and conciliatory with our allies. They will be waiting to see how we deal with the problem of the solvency and economic self-sufficiency of our coalition. This is a strong position for them, in that they do not have to take any positive action of their own and they have only to refrain from being too provocative—whereas we are confronted with complex problems which call for complex policies and measures.

Plebs Won Some Rome Power

When modern voters go to the polls, they vote for men or women known as "candidates." There may be half a dozen candidates, but often there are only two or three. In local elections, it happens at times that only one man is listed for a certain office; in that case, he ought to win! An interesting history exists for the word "candidate." It grew out of the old Latin word "candidatus," meaning "clothed in white." In ancient Rome, when a man wanted to obtain an office, there was a rule that he must wear a white toga. He could expect to receive votes only if he was clothed in white when he appeared in public. For hundreds of years, after they ended the rule of Tarquin kings, the ancient Romans had a republic. Let it be said, however, that their republic was far from being democratic during its early history. In place of a king, the Romans chose two consuls. The consuls were elected each year, but there was a rule that they must be chosen from among the patricians, or noblemen. The plebs, who were free-born Romans outside of noble families, could vote, but the only candidates were patricians. Besides the consuls, there were senators in Rome. These, also, were chosen from the patrician class. The plebs (also called plebeians) entered on a long struggle for power. Some declared that they would fight for Rome only if they could elect public officers from their own number. Slowly the Roman plebs won their way. They were given the right to choose tribunes, and these officers could veto proposed public laws. Later it was agreed that one of the two consuls would be a pleb. Julius Caesar became a dictator. He ruled Rome with little regard for senators, consuls or tribunes. After Caesar, there came a long line of Roman emperors, and the republic was lost. Despite the fact that it came to an end, the Roman Republic showed the world that a large country could be governed with popular rule. The memory of that republic carried through the centuries. # Haley Is At Home In Saddle As Well As His Office Chair

By FRANKLIN REYNOLDS
Those who make it a point to be at the Book Stall in the Crawford Hotel tomorrow morning, after 10, to meet Evetts Haley, cowboy historian, will be permitted to shake a hand as familiar with catch rope, bridle reins, branding iron and a can of screw worm dope, as with typewriter keys, manuscript paper, pen and the pages of books.

He's a most unusual character with seats of his pants as much at home in a saddle as in a desk chair. He writes about gun-fighters and other frontiersmen—and when some outlaws invaded his ranch up on the Canadian River a few years ago, Haley didn't yell to Heaven for the sheriff, he just very simply and matter-of-factly took his own 38 Special in hand, put one of the rascals in the hospital and the other two in jail. Just like that!

Just about this time, too, he pioneered the idea of a revolt of Texas Democrats against Truman's Fair Dealism by becoming a candidate for Congress on the opposition ticket in the Panhandle, although he had been a life-long Democrat. He didn't wait for the "Midlands steel," as he would brand it, he saw the principle of the thing coming and favored locking the stable door before the horse turned up missing.

A cautious, careful, devout student of the history of the United States and the debates in the Constitutional Convention that culminated in the penning of this fundamental document, there are few men better prepared to defend it, and the principles it enunciates, than this cowboy who has written a number of volumes on the history of the Southwest, with emphasis on the history of West Texas.

With his background it was almost inevitable that what the Madigan Foundation established The Institute of Americanism at Texas Technological College at Lubbock, Evetts Haley, with his Master's degree from the University of Texas, would be called upon to head it. Studying the cardinal principles of the Constitution and believing in them with all one's heart and soul, is Americanism; openly fighting cattle thieves is Americanism; treating a cow for screw worms is Americanism; taking a degree from the University of Texas is Americanism; love and reverence for the majesty and traditions of West Texas is Americanism, and so, pray tell, where could a fitter man have been found to occupy the chairman of Americanism at Texas Tech than Evetts Haley?

And that's just the way the college board saw it. It was a job for a true American, an out-and-out American, who believed in, and was willing to do all within his power to preserve, the democracy for which his forefathers had fought and died—and for which he was equally willing to fight and die.

The Institute, he is apt to explain, has been established to teach and defend basic American principles of government from anti-American theories, fads and corruption. When he went to Tech, this fall, to assume this academic post, something wholly new to

He'll Be Here Tomorrow Morning

Carl Hertzog (right), El Paso book designer and printer, watches as Evetts Haley, writer and historian from Canyon, who will be in Big Spring tomorrow morning, autographs the first copy of the limited edition of Haley's new book, "Fort Concho And The Texas Frontier." This autograph party was held in the Fort Concho Museum at San Angelo, which was formerly the headquarters Building of the old military post. Haley used a desk which was in the stage station since swept away by a flood. Over the desk is a portrait of Mrs. W. W. Carson, the founder and president of the Fort Concho Museum. The book is illustrated with drawings by Harold Bugbee, Texas artist, who lives at Clearendon, and was published by the San Angelo Standard-Times. Haley will be at the Book Stall in the Crawford Hotel at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

him, he pointed out that there was vital need for such a course in Americanism. He described the tendencies of "departure" from basic American principles and urged a "return to the study of the Constitution as a guarantee of individual liberty. The Constitution and the Bill of Rights," he said, "are the background for an appreciation of the American heritage."

Then with his love for West Texas making itself manifest in his every thought, he explained: "This is the most promising section of the nation in which to launch a campaign for the return to such principles." He pointed out that the area was "less touched by subversive influences" and that there was a strong belief in West Texas in such principles as the right to work and the right to property. He asserted he still believed it was right to teach the principles of Christian Americanism. Haley has gained national recognition as fighting proponent of "old line Democracy" and a government of delegated and limited powers as set down in the Constitution and given powerful expression by Thomas Jefferson.

The purpose of Haley's visit to Big Spring tomorrow morning will be to meet visitors to the Book Stall and to autograph copies of his books, especially his just-released "Fort Concho And The Texas Frontier" published by the San Angelo Standard-Times and actually printed by Carl Hertzog of El Paso.

He will be accompanied here by Dr. William C. Holden, director of graduate studies at Tech, and Houston Harte of San Angelo, publisher of the Standard-Times, who has sponsored the late volume which covers the frontier period of all West Texas. The Big Spring for which this city was named is referred to in "Fort Concho And The Texas Frontier" several times. This volume represents many years of planning by Harte and more than seven years of special research by Haley which involved thousands of miles of travel, countless letters and interviews, and many hours of research in old records in Washington and Austin, as well as elsewhere. It is Haley's broadest work in West Texas history and embraces not only the material gathered especially for it, but all that other material he had gathered in other years in writing his other books such as the biography of Charles Goodnight, cowboy; Jeff Milton, a good man with a gun; George W. Littlefield, Texan; Charles Schriener, frontier merchant, and then those other histories—the one of the XIT Ranch and early days on the High Plains, and his "Heraldry Of The Range," a study of the old ranches and brands.

Almost simultaneously with the publishing of "Fort Concho And The Texas Frontier" by Hertzog, the University of Texas Press at Austin released "Life On The Texas Range," a collection of 80 outstanding early-day ranch pictures by Erwin Smith, cowboy-photographer, for which Haley has written the text and the lines under the pictures.

The public is invited to meet Haley at the Book Stall tomorrow morning at 10. Most of his books are on the shelves at the Book Stall.

Riding The GRUB LINE

By Franklin Reynolds

Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation from 1931 through 1947, has announced that he is supporting General Eisenhower for President.

In his announcement, O'Neal charged that the Truman administration is threatening the present farm program of the country. O'Neal, who lives in Florence, Alabama, during the time he was president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, was one of the chief promoters of farm legislation enacted by Congress which today comprises the backbone of the country's farm program. His statement in support of Eisenhower was contained in "an open letter to American farmers," a copy of which was sent to all state farm bureau presidents.

Recalling that he has been a "life-long Democrat," O'Neal asserted he has decided to support Eisenhower for two main reasons. He lists these as (1) the desperate need for a change in administration, and (2) the great qualifications of Eisenhower, the leader and the man.

In the letter, O'Neal said the present farm program was "developed jointly by the farm leadership and the congressional delegations of the South and other agricultural areas of the country without regard to party affiliation."

"It is a cold and indisputable fact that the present administration is the first to threaten this program which means so much to American agriculture and the nation," he said. "It was the Truman administration which sponsored the infamous Brannan plan as a substitute for our present basic program."

Henry Bliznak of Sterling City; Fritz Smith of Big Spring, and Charles Griffin of Colorado City, were among a group of range animal husbandry students at the Rosa College in Alpine, who made an interesting survey of that city of 5,500 population.

According to these students, and others who worked with them, each citizen of Alpine consumes 171 eggs annually. San Angelo, Marfa and Waco provide over half the 80,000 dozen eggs and 10,000 fryers sold each year by Alpine merchants. The report compiled by these students shows that the poultry industry is taking large sums from the beef-producing community of Alpine, in that approximately 10 per cent of all meats bought at the local stores are fryers and hens; one per cent mutton and lamb; nine per cent pork and 80 per cent beef.

Other students taking part in making the survey were John Hatley of Uvalde; Sonny Hillin of El Paso; Don Head of Snyder; Terry Simms of Midland; Bill Hubbs of Pecos; Floyd Ford of Iran; Billy Burney of Odessa; Sam Whitton of Eldorado; Karl Vassen of Fort Worth; Tommy Price of Artesia; Bob Powell of Artesia; Tommy Keener of Whiteface; Dickie Turner of Odessa; Joyce Copeland of Crane and Andy Mudd of Dilley.

Cattle transportation has come a long ways since the days of the trail drives, and so have the prices of cattle.

Saturday, Prince Sunbeam 249th, an Aberdeen-Angus bull, one-half interest in "whom" was recently sold for $100,000 by Dr. Armand Hammer, owner of Shadow Isle Farm, Red Bank, New Jersey, was flown to his new winter home, the Murchison and Jungdahl Ranch at Burnet, Texas, where he will remain six months out of each year and then be flown back for a six-months stay at Shadow Isle.

Transportation was in a DC-3 the interior of which has been constructed to resemble the especially built barn the bull has occupied at the Red Bank farm. Lloyd's of London insured the bull for the trip. He is the world's record price bull and the first International Grand Champion Aberdeen Angus bull to ever put a foot on Texas soil—or did they walk him out on a red carpet?

In Midland County the entire growth of Sudan on the San Preston farm, south of Midland, will be left on the field and will not be grazed. He is sacrificing the possible grazing in an effort to prevent blowing and to build up the land. He has also planted perennial grasses on a part of his land. Meiniv Wimberly has planted 18 acres of Blue Panic grass on his farm northeast of Midland and it has headed out at a height of from four to five feet. The grass was planted after the middle of July rain and has made a heavy stand in 40-inch rows.

W. N. Lockair, farming south of Midland, has seeded 10 acres of alfalfa. He planted rye with the alfalfa as a nurse crop and used 100 pounds of 13-39-0 to the acre. The planting was done with the grain-fertilizer drill made available by the supervisors of the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District.

F. B. Elkin, has signed a conservation agreement with the SCD on 190 acres operated by his father, F. F. Elkin, in conjunction with his stock farm northeast of Midland.

91 Per Cent Vote Is Seen In California

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—An unprecedented 91 per cent vote in California next Tuesday was predicted today by Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan. That would mean a turnout of nearly 5,400,000 for the presidential election.

Jordan based his record-breaking figure chiefly on the fact that more people than ever before—6,998,500—are registered for the election.

The include 3,312,668 Democrats and 2,455,713 Republicans, continuing the 3 to 2 Democratic edge of recent years.

FOR LAW OFFICERS

Bootleggers Have Own Expressions

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one of a series of stories leading up to the State House Crime Investigating Committee's decision to hold public hearings on charges of Texas bootlegging activities in Amarillo Nov. 6-7.

By BOB BRAY

Amarillo Globe-Times Reporter (Written for The Associated Press) AMARILLO, Oct. 28 (AP)—Texas bootleggers describe honest or disreputable officers in terms of diet—the straight men eat cornbread; the others dine on cake.

Regardless of whether they choose "cake or cornbread," State Liquor Control Board agents often are termed "pistolheads." Most of the agents' names for bootleggers are uncomplimentary, too.

One purpose of the bootleg liquor probe slated by the State House Crime Investigating Committee in Amarillo Nov. 6-7 will be to determine how many officers, if any, are "cake fed" as a result of the illicit whisky business.

Both the Potter and Lubbock County grand juries which asked the crime committee to make the investigation, have reported situations where they said bribes were obviously being given.

The April, 1951, Lubbock jury said bootleggers there were supplied with whisky by a major syndicate. It also reported that the syndicate furnished bootleggers with descriptions and information on State Liquor Control Board undercover agents assigned to the area.

The Potter County jury noted existence of the liquor syndicate and alleged it existed through payoffs to officers, with some officers even attempting to bribe their fellow officers in behalf of bootleggers.

Coke Stevenson Jr., administrator for the liquor board, has denied the charges and announced he will welcome a complete investigation into the matter by the committee. Stevenson was a witness before the committee during its recent closed-door preliminary hearing in Austin.

Following his testimony, members of the committee said a "bad situation" had existed among employees of the liquor board. But, they added, the trouble had been cleared up.

The committee declined to explain what the "bad situation" was, or exactly how it was cleared up. No cases of bribery or offers to bribe are known to have been filed against liquor agents during the last three years.

The matter is expected to be gone into publicly during the Amarillo hearings, which Stevenson has been requested to attend.

While the Potter County jury charged that the whisky syndicate existed through bribes, it directed blame in the matter toward the State Liquor Control Act. The jury declared that "features of the act have provided a hotbed in which corruption has been germinated."

It asked the crime committee to ask for changes in parts of the liquor act which "permit, and even encourage corruption of low-salaried officials placed in authority over the multi-million dollar business."

After its preliminary hearing in Austin, the committee gave no indication whether it expected to uncover information which would lead to bribery or offer to bribe indictments.

However, Rep. Waggoner, Carr, Lubbock, said the inquiry "quite possibly" might lead to indictments.

The coal mines of Alabama produced 13 1/2 million tons of coal last year.

AF Commander Says He Believes Soviets, Germans Fly MIGs

TOKYO (AP)—The commander of the U. S. Fifth Air Force said yesterday he agreed with the recently expressed belief of Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg, Air Force chief of staff, that German and Russian pilots are flying Communist MIG15 jets in Korea.

Lt. Gen. Glenn O. Barcus added, however, in an interview to the Army newspaper Stars and Stripes that he had "nothing concrete" on which to support his views.

H. W. Wright Takes Over As Local Legion's Commander

H. W. (Hack) Wright has assumed the command of the Howard County American Legion Post, stepping up from first vice commander to succeed Harold P. Steck.

Steck has announced plans to move to Midland. Although the date is indefinite, he said he felt the post would fare better if change in commanders is effected now.

Wright, a Navy veteran of World War II, is a former City Commissioner and currently is a member of the local Selective Service Board.

He said he hoped to stimulate new Legion activities, and the first items would be to carry on the 1953 membership campaign now opening, and to line up a regular meeting place for the Legion and Auxiliary. The organizations have been without a clubhouse since yielding quarters for the opening of Webb Air Force Base.

Other vice commanders have been moved up, Sidney Johnston became first vice, and Leslie Steward second vice. The third vice commander is to be selected, as is a new finance officer to replace Chester Cathey, who has moved to Midland. Other officers include Truett Thomas, adjutant; Wendell Parks, chaplain; and Douglas Beams, sergeant-at-arms. Executive committee members include H. W. Whitney, Al Dillon, Bob Whipkey and Jack Irons.

Oops, Moscow Has One More Scandal To Tell

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
MOSCOW—The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia explained today how Vasily Kutryumov—a marrying playboy of the Kuznetak Basin—could pay out half his salary in alimony and still live mighty well indeed.

"Embezzlement and theft" did it, said Izvestia, recommending as a remedy "U. K."—the initials of the Russian words for criminal code.

The Izvestia disclosures were the latest in a series of exposes of scandalous behavior that have been appearing in the Moscow press since high Communist officials ordered a cleanup of officials found using their positions to better themselves or their friends or relatives.

Izvestia's story about Kutryumov said he had been found short weighing and overcharging citizens who ate at his restaurant but the only result was a serious warning. The paper recommended criminal prosecution.

According to the newspaper's account: Kutryumov worked as head of the municipal finance department of the city of Topki in Kuzbass, Central Siberia, but spent most of his time in the marriage registration office.

In 1938 he wed Shura. In 1940 he divorced her, and married Marusya, lived with her five months and left her. He returned to Shura, lived with her four months and then left her.

He fell in love with Citizeness "Y" but soon became disappointed with her and walked out. He then married Citizeness "P" but divorced her when she refused to bring home money from the bank in which she worked as a cashier. Finally he settled on Vera. But having become a public scandal, he lost his job and left town without a forwarding address in hopes of avoiding alimony payments.

Kutryumov did not fare well outside of Topki, however, so he returned to become director of the restaurant. And although he pays about one half of his salary for the support of numerous children, he dresses well, has built a home, has bought himself a cow and "in general needs no money."

Watch Electoral Vote Of 'Big Five' States

WASHINGTON—Watch the "Big Five" electoral vote states Nov. 4. The politicians will.

These states are New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois and California, with a total of 161 electoral votes. There are 531 electoral votes in all, with a 266 majority required to elect a president.

All the big five were in the Democratic bag in 1938 and 1940. In 1944 Ohio went Republican, and

	1932	1936	1940	1944	1948
New York	D. 2,500	3,300x	3,200x	3,300y	2,800z

Illinois	R. 1,500	1,700	1,900	1,800	1,900

	R. 800	800	1,400	1,500	1,890

x—Includes American Labor vote.
 y—Includes American Labor and Liberal vote.
 z—Includes Liberal vote.

California actually has been one of the big five only since the 1944 election. Before that Texas had 23 electoral votes and California only 22. The change came with reapportionment arising from the 1940 census. The electoral vote changes among the big five this year on account of the 1950 census, but the states remain the same. Here is how electoral votes have changed since the 1932 election:

	1932-36-40	1944-48	1952
New York	47	47	45
Pennsylvania	36	35	32
Ohio	26	25	25
Illinois	29	28	27
California	22	25	32
Texas	23	23	24

Texas was never the political question mark that the others have been, of course, since it is one of the Deep South states, as a rule Democratic.

It is very possible that President Truman lost New York in 1948 because of the candidacy of Henry A. Wallace. Wallace was the national Progressive Party ticket. The A.L.P. for three elections past had supported the Democratic candidate, Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Wallace won 510,000 votes in

	Dem.	Rep.	Prog.
New York City	1,400	1,100	423 (A.L.P.)
Buffalo	143	103	6
Philadelphia	433	426	21
Pittsburgh	161	161	11
Cleveland	258	215	18
Chicago	1,007	762	—
Los Angeles	414	365	—

In Buffalo and Pittsburgh Truman won by margins greater than those by which Roosevelt won in 1944, but not enough to carry New York state and Pennsylvania. Note, however, that the A.L.P. vote in New York City alone would have been enough to give him the

Flynn Loses New Battle On Alimony

LOS ANGELES—Errol Flynn has lost another court alimony battle with his former wife, actress Lili Damita—to the extent of $105,712.90.

The latest decision in the long dispute, handed down yesterday by Superior Judge Clarence L. Kincaid, paralleled one by Superior Judge Elmer D. Doyle in 1950. The latter one is on appeal. The actor's attorneys said the Kincaid decision also will be appealed.

Miss Damita's lawyers obtained the award after they claimed Flynn has paid nothing on $1,500-a-month alimony since the appeal of the 1950 decision. Judge Doyle held that a property settlement Flynn made with Miss Damita was not part of the divorce decree and thus could not be charged. It provided Flynn was to pay the alimony and the income tax on it.

Judge Kincaid ruled Flynn owes $61,160 in income taxes on the payments and is in arrears $40,500 in his alimony.

He awarded Miss Damita's attorney $5,000 in fees and the actress 7 per cent interest from the date each alimony payment became due.

Manslaughter Is Charged In Fatal Automobile Mishap

FT. PIERCE, Fla. (AP)—Manslaughter charges were filed yesterday against John Henry Jones, 29, driver of an automobile which the Florida Highway Patrol said collided with another machine during a game of "chicken" at the St. Lucie Airport.

The car driven by Jones collided head-on Sunday with one driven by Henry Hayward Peterson, 24, who was killed in the crash.

The two men, each with a young woman companion, were playing a game in which drivers race their cars toward each other to see which will be the first to turn aside.

Jones and both young women were injured. The cars were demolished.

Biggest U. S. Copper Mine Is Now Being Sunk

TUCSON, Ariz., Oct. 25 (AP)—The biggest underground copper mine in the U. S. is being sunk into the desert slopes overlooking San Pedro Valley, 50 miles northeast of here.

Only Anaconda's underground workings at Chiquicamata, Chile, will be greater anywhere in the world.

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation has granted the San Manuel Copper Corp. the biggest business loan the government agency has ever made—$4 million dollars.

The money, along with private capital raising the total to 114 million dollars, will be used to bring an estimated 500 million tons of ore valued at two billion dollars to the surface.

The ore is expected to boost the nation's defense-needed copper output by 8 per cent and increase production of molybdenum by 16 per cent.

It will take the new San Manuel Mine four to five years to get into full production. During that time 1,800 houses will go up for the men who will build the mine. A new town that will eventually have a population of 7,500 will appear on the barren desert.

A crushing mill will be constructed to concentrate about 30,000 tons of ore a day, with each ton containing about 16 pounds of copper. A smelter will go up to reduce the concentrate to almost pure copper and molybdenum.

Old Elm On Court House Square Due To Be Decorated

This will be the last Christmas, but arrangements have been completed, according to Postmaster Nat Shick, to decorate the old Chinese elm at the northeast corner of the Courthouse Square with 1,700 colored bulbs in observance of the Yuletide.

The tree was first decorated about 20 years ago by Shick and has been continuously decorated since with the exception of two war years. As the tree has grown the number of decorative bulbs have been increased. Because of the building of the new Courthouse and the consequent change in plans for the yard, this will be the last year the tree will be available for service as the community Christmas tree.

"The tree will be ready in plenty of time for the opening of the season," Shick said this morning. "and the tree lights will be turned on at the same time the other Christmas lights are started burning."

East Germany's Economy Is Hit Again By Soviet

By RICHARD KASISCHKE
 BONN, Germany (AP)—Where are the diapers?
 "What happened to the fish supply?"
 "All out of margarine again!"
 "Not even any wrapping paper in the stores!"
 A wave of criticism against the supply and quality of consumer goods is whipping through Communist-ruled East Germany.
 A survey of the Soviet zone's controlled press shows that this criticism is widespread. It hits so sharply at the state-controlled production and distribution systems that new purges of the planners may be impending.
 Unlike booming West Germany, the Russian zone still has food rationing and shortages in many fields. Its economy is integrated with that of the Soviet bloc. Much of its output goes to the Soviet Union. The Russians drain it off in reparations or in "trade" at rates fixed arbitrarily by Moscow.
 Now this economy is further strained by the Communist government's strenuous efforts to expand and equip its new national army.
 The public criticism makes no mention of Russia's exploitation of the East German economy. But it hits hard at the planners, the producers and especially the state-owned stores which control most of the distribution.
 Communist party papers in Halle and Zwickau demand that "the quality of consumer goods be immediately improved by strict application of our new production methods" and insist on improvement of supply and service in the state-owned food stores to "give our people the better break which they deserve for their hard work."
 In Schwerin, the Norddeutsche Zeitung complains angrily about the quality of sausage sold in the state-owned stores: "In a purchase of 100 grams we got 35 grams of skin."
 Schwerin's Der Demokrat complains: "Again—no fish. Not even in the state stores. Where are they?"
 A newspaper in Halle said there wasn't a shop in the city that had paper bags or wrapping paper for purchases.

Dallas Negro Dies In The Electric Chair

HUNTSVILLE, Oct. 28 (AP)—Booker T. Reed, Dallas Negro convicted in the axe slaying of Boyt Adrian Lovelace, 42-year-old Irving cabinet maker, went to his death in the electric chair this morning with a prayer on his lips.
 The husky Negro refused to make a final statement but asked permission to pray. Given the permission just before the hood was fastened on his head, he repeated the "Lord's Prayer" while chewing gum furiously.
 When the prayer was completed, he removed the gum from his mouth and threw it to the floor.
 Reed entered the death chamber at 12:02 a. m., received the first shock at 12:05 a. m. and was pronounced dead at 12:07 a. m.
 His execution ended a long fight to save his life. Nine times his death was delayed.
 Reed's tenth last-minute plea to escape the death chair failed yesterday afternoon. The State Board of Pardons and Paroles in Austin rejected a plea for Reed that the Negro had been "rushed or railroaded to conviction."
 Actually the board took no formal action, but each individual member said he would have no recommendation to make to the governor.
 Chairman Lyle C. Harris said the "no action" position of the board meant that Reed would go to the chair unless some new matter was brought to the board's attention before the execution.
 Attorney George Clifton Edwards of Dallas made one plea before

62 Fires Out Of Control In Arkansas Areas

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Sixty-two fires raged out of control through Arkansas timberland late last night, and State Forester Fred Lang said weary fire fighters might not be able to cope with the spreading flames.
 Lang warned Arkansans that "the forest fire situation is out of control" and "your lives are in danger."
 "Our men are at the point of exhaustion and our equipment is rapidly breaking down," he said. "There are no areas of our state which are not in a tinder-dry condition."
 Asst. Forester T. S. Martin reported 43 fires were out of control in the rich forests of South Arkansas, where 8,000 to 10,000 acres were burning.
 Another 19 fires raged over 860 acres in mountainous Northwest Arkansas.
 Three towns felt the wrath of the flames. Fire crept into the northwest outskirts of El Dorado, but the blaze was confined with the help of a detachment of Boy Scouts before any homes were damaged.
 Yellville in the Northwest also got a scare, but 400 townspeople aided by State Highway Department workers and foresters stopped a fire that threatened the city's northern limits.
 In extreme Southern Arkansas, Martin said one fire threatened the hamlet of Vick. He added that no buildings or lives were in danger "at the moment."
 Martin said that a majority of the fires apparently were set intentionally.
 "We believe somebody—or several somebody—are running up and down those back roads setting fires right and left," he said.
