Sen. Charles Potter (R-Mich.) who lost both legs in World War II, sets the pace for 7-year-old Leon Coleman of Brentwood, Md., as the two hurry to a waiting boat in Washington for the annual outing on the Potomac River of crippled and handicapped children of the Washington area. Potter, one of the members of the Senate Investigations subcommittee, took time off from the McCarthy-Army hearing to greet the children but did not accompany them on the boat ride. (AP Wirephoto).

Stevens Says Threats Used

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Army Stevens says today that Ben. McCarthy's aides threatened him if Pvt. G. David Schine failed to get favored treatment. They made "exceedingly serious" threats, Stevens told the Senate subcommittee investigating the McCarthy-Army row. And, Stevens declared, he had a distinct impression from McCarthy, as well as from the senator's aides, that the more the Army did for Schine the less "hammering" the Army would be subjected to from the McCarthy committee. Schine, a member of a wealthy

New York family, was an unpaid consultant to the McCarthy subcommittee until he was drafted last fall. The McCarthy-Army row revolves about Army contentions the senator and his aides made improper efforts to get preferential treatment for Schine and McCarthy's countercharges the Army tried to shut off the senator's investigations of Communists in the Army. McCarthy hammered questions at Stevens and the usually mild-mannered secretary, in his 12th day in the witness chair, snapped back with a sharpness not displayed before. Pressed by McCarthy to say whether Roy M. Cohn, the McCarthy subcommittee's chief counsel, and Francis P. Carr, its staff director, had ever "threatened" him, Stevens maintained they had. He said that because of the subcommittee's search for espionage at Ft. Monmouth, N.J., "taken in conjunction with the constant discussion of Schine, it was my feeling that they were threatening me."

H. C. Wolf, 89, Dies Thursday

Henry Clay Wolf, 89, resident of the Vincent and Coahoma communities for 34 years and who left 183 direct descendants, died in a hospital Thursday evening. Mr. Wolf had been ill for approximately four weeks. He is survived by two sons, John Wolf of Lamesa and Bill Wolf of Clovis, N. M.; six daughters, Mrs. Sallie Bell of Wood Lake, Calif., Mrs. A. W. Irby of Oregon, Mrs. Claude Keeter of Lockney, Mrs. W. J. Wade of Somerton, Ariz., Mrs. H. S. Foster of Dalhart and Mrs. S. F. Buchanan of Big Spring. Two sons and one daughter are deceased. Mr. Wolf also leaves 62 grandchildren, 107 great-grandchildren and six great-great-grandchildren. Funeral service has been set for 3:30 p.m. Saturday at the Eberly-River Chapel, with W. O. Batten, minister of the Coahoma Church of Christ officiating. Pallbearers will be Carl Griffith, Leroy Echols, Terrell Shafer, Jim Hodnett, Ed Carpenter and Dewitt Shive. Burial will be in the City Cemetery.

Air Force Puts Into Effect Policy Banning 'Sonic' Boom

By VERN HAUGLAND
FORT WORTH (AP)—The Air Force put into effect here today a new policy "outlawing" the sonic boom. A scheduled demonstration by three North American F86F jet fighters of the breaking of the sound barrier was cancelled at the last minute because of the newly-issued Pentagon order. An Air Force spokesman said all commands have been instructed that there will be no more sonic booms in populated areas. Pilots who plan to exceed the speed of sound—about 760 miles an hour at high altitudes—must do so hereafter in localities where the sharp explosive reports that result will not annoy or frighten anyone, or break any windows. The spokesman said the Air Force order was the result of complaints and threats of damage suits by angry citizens. He said some people have mistaken the ear-shaking blasts for bombings.

Japanese Firm To Buy Texas Cotton

OSAKA, Japan (AP)—A Japan cotton trading firm said today it would establish a raw cotton buying firm at Dallas, Tex. this summer. The Nishimen Jitsugyo Co. said the new firm would be known as the Japan Cotton Dallas Co., capitalized at $100,000. Hideo Toyoda, chief of the company's raw cotton section, said he would go to Dallas this month to organize the new company in time to buy Texas-raised raw cotton this fall.

Canadian-U.S. Joint Seaway Plans Approved

CHICAGO (AP)—Proponents of the St. Lawrence seaway today hailed victory in their 20-year fight for congressional enabling legislation but tempered their rejoicing in the realization that fullest benefits are many years away.

The House yesterday approved a bill to authorize a 27-foot-deep channel in the International Rapids section of the St. Lawrence River. Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan said the action "means that the major barrier to making Great Lakes cities inland seaports will be removed."

The measure returns to the Senate, which had previously approved it, for concurrence in minor House amendments. Then it will go to President Eisenhower for signature into law. The President had advocated the seaway as a defense measure and yesterday, after the House acted, said it would also "contribute materially to the economic well-being and security" of both the United States and Canada.

Seaway proponents from the upper Great Lakes region, however, already had set a new target—a supplementary all-U. S. project deepening channels into Lakes Huron, Michigan and Superior, where navigation is now restricted to 21 feet for upbound ships and 25 feet for downbound ships.

The measure authorizing the 27-foot channel into Lakes Ontario and Erie contemplates a joint project with Canada. It would enable ocean-going ships to move inland as far as Toledo. Navigation of the river where the seaway canal would be dug now is restricted to vessels of a draft of 14 feet or less.

The House's 241-158 vote for the seaway yesterday, however, evoked no official enthusiasm in Ottawa. Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent said Canada was prepared—and many believed he preferred—to go it alone. That would mean Canada would set and collect all the tolls.

St. Laurent's statement said the government has not changed its position from 1951, when Parliament authorized construction of the whole 205-million-dollar project, but he said he will discuss any "specific proposal" by the United States.

Congressional approval revived and intensified alarms of the seaway's long-time opponents—the Eastern and Southern seaports, railroads, coal producers and private power utilities.

The seaway was seen as a potential threat to Philadelphia, which ranks second only to New York as a seaport, and to the industrial expansion of the Delaware River Valley. Pennsylvania coal interests contend the seaway will handle foreign ore and oil, but not those U.S. products.

Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and Ohio, however, foresee great benefits to their economies.

Contract Let To Relocate Lines
Contract has been let to Seth G. Lacy for the relocation of electrical lines along an extension of Second Street in the east part of town.

Lacy offered to do the work for $78,80—the lowest bid received by the county commissioners court.

Relocation of the electrical line and other utilities will clear the way for opening Second Street from State eastward to Birdwell Lane.

DETROIT (AP)—A thief who broke into the Northeast Health Center in Detroit and ate four eggs and four doughnuts left this note: "I'm sorry for the way I messed up your kitchen. I was hungry and had no place to go. I hope you don't get mad at me. I am 9 years old."

U.S. Reports Rise In Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government reported today unemployment declined 200,000 in April, the first jobless drop since last October.

Employment increased by nearly half a million in the month. The encouraging job report was issued jointly by Secretary of Labor Mitchell and Secretary of Commerce Weeks in a new combined release of data available to both departments.

In their joint announcement the two cabinet officers said that not only did employment increase and unemployment decline in April, as measured during the week ended April 10, but "there was evidence that unemployment continued to decline as the month progressed."

Unemployment was reported at 3,465,000 or 200,000 less than the 3,725,000 jobless counted in March. Employment increased by 498,000 between March and April, rising from 60,100,000 to 60,598,000.

The jobless drop was largely attributed to the usual seasonal pickup of outdoor activities. Unemployment has declined between March and April in all but one of the past dozen years.

April's 3,465,000 jobless, while some improvement over March, is still the second largest jobless total for April since World War II. It compares with 3,515,000 unemployed in April of 1950, the postwar high for the month.

James Campbell Dies Thursday

James Campbell, 66, dean of the cleaning and pressing industry in Big Spring, died suddenly at his home at 603 E. 17th Thursday evening.

Funeral will be held at 3 p.m. Saturday at the Church of Christ, 14th and Main, where Mr. Campbell had held membership for the past 30 years. Lyle Price, minister, will officiate with Nalley Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Mr. Campbell came here 45 years ago from Jones County, where he had been born Oct. 5, 1887. He entered business here on June 1, 1911 and for more than three decades operated his shop in the W. O. W. Building. Later he moved it to the Read Building, where he was actively engaged at the time of his death.

He was married on July 23, 1915 to Miss May Castle in Big Spring. She passed away in 1937.

"Jim" Campbell was a quiet, unassuming man, yet he was known widely, particularly among the old timers. He was one of the old school whose word was his bond.

Surviving him are two sons, J. W. (Woody) Campbell, Tulsa, Okla., and Castle B. Campbell, Dallas; one daughter, Mrs. J. L. (Dorothy) Evans, Odessa. He leaves five grandchildren; a brother, Ike Campbell, Anson; a sister, Mrs. Rena Harvey, Lueders.

Pallbearers will be Robert Middleton, Bernie Freeman, Alfred Collins, Avery Falkner, Bob Cook, Vernon Whittington, Claude Jackson, Lawrence Robinson. All friends will be considered honorary pallbearers.

West Suggests Saturday Start On Peace Talks

By EDDY GILMORE
GENEVA (AP)—The Big Three Western Powers decided today to propose to the Communists that the Indochinese peace talks begin tomorrow afternoon.

The last apparent obstacle for the opening of the talks was removed when the French agreed to have the chairmanship rotate between British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov. This was understood to be satisfactory to the Communists.

The Western Powers agreed to have W. D. Allen, British undersecretary of state for foreign affairs, notify Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko that the West is ready to meet tomorrow. It had been arranged several days ago that the meeting would be convened whenever the Western delegations were ready.

News of the agreement on the chairmanship came as the East-West delegates returned to their deadlocked debate on Korea after a three-day recess. But the two-week-old try for unification of that war-torn peninsula appeared near its expected unproductive end.

Despite the Western belief the last hurdle had been cleared for the start of the Indochina talks, a potentially jarring note was injected by an official spokesman for Red China, Huang Hua.

He told newsmen his delegation at its opening session would demand admission of the Communist "governments" of Laos and Cambodia, as well as such other "interested states," including India, Indonesia and Burma.

The West considers the "Communist regimes" of Laos and Cambodia as virtually non-existent. A French spokesman said his government would refuse to sit at the same conference with representatives of "phantom" regimes which exist only in the imagination of the Vietminh.

Some Western observers viewed the prospective Chinese move as purely a propaganda maneuver. They felt the Chinese would not insist on additional invitations if it appeared such demands would wreck the talks.

In setting up the Indochina discussions, Russia and the Western Big Three agreed that nine delegations would be present at the opening. They are the Big Four, Red China, the three associate states of Indochina and the Communist Vietminh.

The Soviets earlier this week said they would propose India, Burma, Thailand and Indonesia join the talks. But Western sources did not expect the Russians to press this to the point of endangering the negotiations. The United States wants to restrict the Indochina conference to as few nations as possible.

France's delegation here drew encouragement from the vote of confidence given Premier Joseph Laniel's government by the National Assembly in Paris yesterday. The vote authorized Laniel's government to continue to negotiate here for an end to the seven-year Indochina war.

Woman Injured In Collision Thursday

Mrs. Edward Ward Franklin of Texas City was injured Thursday afternoon when the car in which she was travelling collided with a pickup on Highway 87 about eight miles south of Big Spring.

Mrs. Franklin received numerous bruises about the body, but was not seriously hurt. She was brought to Malone & Hogan Hospital in a Nalley ambulance.

The mishap occurred about 2:30 p.m., said Deputies Miller Harris and Floyd Moore who investigated. The car, driven by Edward Franklin, was travelling northward. It was in collision with a pickup operated by Jefferson P. Caves of Ackerly, the officers said. Caves was going south.

Front and right side of the pickup and the right side of the automobile were damaged.

Dulles Develops Asian Program

By JOHN M. NIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles has developed a two-stage program for organizing an anti-Communist coalition in Southeast Asia and hopes it will produce a provisional arrangement in a matter of weeks.

Dulles is due to hold a series of diplomatic discussions here shortly for the first stage of negotiations. Officials said today it seems certain to begin with a multinational military staff conference.

The military conference, and possibly additional diplomatic talks, would be designed to produce a provisional security arrangement to stand until later second-stage talks eventually resulted in a formal security treaty.

A minimum of five and a maximum of 10 or a dozen countries could be represented in the first conferences. Authorities said the British have agreed to cooperate, and they termed this a forward step. Previously the Churchill government had withheld joining in Dulles' proposed "united action" pending efforts for an Indochina peace settlement at Geneva.

Dulles will report to the nation by radio and television tonight on Indochina and on other subjects, notably the Korean peace deadlock, which he dealt at Geneva last week with Allied nations and the Communists.

Dulles conferred with President Eisenhower at the White House for more than an hour this morning. He told newsmen afterward that they had discussed tonight's speech.

The broadcast is scheduled for 8:30 p.m. EST. His 30-minute talk will be carried at the time of delivery by the ABC-TV network and by NBC, CBS and Mutual radio networks. CBS-TV at 11:15 p.m. by ABC radio at 11 and NBC-TV at 10:15.

Advance information was that he would emphasize his resolve — despite disappointments so far — to form a united front with friendly nations aimed at saving Southeast Asia from Communist conquest.

Then, aides said, he will talk in the next few days with diplomats of a number of countries which could be included in the alliance, particularly about the subject of military negotiations. Informants said it had not been settled just what countries would be included, and they emphasized that the conference is still only a proposal subject to revision.

Dulles is reported to have told a group of congressmen Wednesday night that the United States has little hope of taking any effective action, on a united front basis, in time to strengthen Viet Nam against Red pressure, if he

Isolated Post To South Still Is Holding Out

By The Associated Press
PARIS — Dien Bien Phu has fallen. Premier Joseph Laniel announced late today the northwest Indochina bastion "has been submerged."

A little fortress named Isabelle, site of the French Union garrison's main artillery, still was holding out three miles south of the bloodied, muddled bastion that had epitomized the Indochina war to the world for 57 days.

One of the last orders Gen. Christian de Castries, the lanky commander in chief, sent to Isabelle was to fire on his own command post when the Communist-led rebel riflemen finally cut through.

There was no immediate word as to the fate of Gen. de Castries, commander of the fallen garrison, nor that of Genevieve de Galard Terraube, a French nurse and the only woman in the besieged fort. She had been decorated for gallantry twice within the week.

Premier Laniel told the National Assembly counterattacks had been launched in a vain effort to block the rebels from making a juncture in attacks from the northeast and the southwest, but the defense efforts failed.

The government has just learned that Dien Bien Phu has been submerged after 20 hours of uninterrupted combat, Laniel said.

Laniel said "the French reaction will be the reaction of the virility of a great nation."

He added that France will carry out its instructions in its dealings at Geneva without admitting that the fall of Dien Bien Phu can change anything.

"France will recall to its Allies that during seven years it has never quit defending alone a great region of Asia," Laniel told the Assembly.

All the deputies in the Assembly stood while Laniel announced the fall of Dien Bien Phu—except the Communists. They remained seated.

Gen. Ho Nguyen Gap's rebel siege forces, bidding for victory before the Geneva conference started negotiations for an end to the 7-year-old war, outnumbered De Castries' garrison by 4-to-1 or more.

De Castries was estimated on the eve of the showdown battle to have 14,000 men, including wounded, at his command. There were 15,000 men, Foreign Legionnaires, Vietnamese and North Africans.

Eisenhower Says Fortress To Remain Freedom Symbol

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today the resistance of French Union forces at the now fallen fortress of Dien Bien Phu "will forever stand as a symbol of the free world's determination to resist dictatorial aggression."

The President issued a formal statement, closely following up calls from congressional leaders for united action by free world nations to stem the Communist tide in Asia.

Eisenhower said France has suffered "temporary defeats" in the past, "but always she has triumphed in the end to continue as one of the world's leaders in all things that tend to bring greater richness to the lives of men."

"It is time for our Allies and so-called Allies to stand up and be counted and stop quibbling," Sen. Bridges (R-NH) said.

House Speaker Martin (R-Mass) described the bastion's fall as a "cause of deep concern" and added in an interview: "Unless the nations who believe in freedom wake quickly in support of the Dulles security plan, all Asia is threatened with Communist domination."

Marlin's reference was to Secretary of State Dulles' proposal for a coalition to take "united action" against the Communists in Southeast Asia.

Republican Leader Knowland (Calif) told newsmen the "terrible defense of Dien Bien Phu may awaken the free world to the danger and menace of international communism and inspire the need for a more adequate free world defense."

Knowland, describing the defense of fortress as "one of the greatest epochs in history," said its capture by the Vietminh was "obviously a setback, though it has been very costly to the Communist forces."

FFA Boys Hold Father And Son Event Thursday

More than 60 members of the Big Spring High School Chapter of the Future Farmers of America entertained more than 80 guests with a buffet and beef barbecue, prepared by Nath Allen, at the City Park Thursday evening.

The event was the annual father-and-son get-together, but some of the fathers were unable to attend. It was also the last regular meeting of the Chapter before the summer vacation. The regular chapter officers presided at the meeting which preceded the serving of the barbecue and at which it was decided, by a vote of the boys after considerable discussion, that the chapter will take its annual fishing trip to Cedar Point on Buchanan Lake, June 2-6.

The boys will go there in pickups and cars and will camp out during their stay. Rules and regulations covering the trip, including swimming and fishing, have been drawn up, were read to the boys at the meeting and unanimously approved by them.

Annual chapter awards were presented by W. C. Blankenship, superintendent of Big Spring schools.

The chapter's Star Farmer degree went to James Suggs. The special award in public speaking was presented Jim Damron; the soil and water management award was won by Jesse McCormick; the farm safety award was won jointly by two brothers, Earl Rawlings and Ed Rawlings, and the dairy farming special chapter award went to Carl Thurmon.

Certificates of merit in parliamentary procedure went to the chapter officers including Jim Damron, president; Melvin Daniels, vice president; Billy McElvain, secretary; James Suggs, treasurer; Wiley Wise, reporter; Tomas Lynn, sentinel; Johnny Burns, member, and Harvey Brown, member.

Junior farm quiz certificates were presented Bobby Grant, Donald Lovelady and Edgar Phillips. Certificates of merit in dairy judging were won by Melvin Daniels, Thomas Lynn and Wiley Wise, and certificates for outstanding achievement in livestock judging went to Billy McElvain, Jim Damron and James Suggs.

July and August meeting dates were set.

Trust Vines and R. E. Baumhardt, vocational agriculture instructors at the high school, will accompany the boys on their fishing trip.

ROSE THIEVES WASTED TIME

Rose thieves who stripped bushes at the home of Mrs. Zora Harrison, 202 State, needn't have gone to all the trouble Thursday night.

"If they wanted flowers for Mother's Day, I would gladly have given them all they wanted," she said. "As a matter of fact, when the buds that are left make roses, I'll gladly clip them off for anyone who might want them."

Maneuvers Have Two Casualties From Accidents

FORT HOOD (AP)—The First Armored Division's "attacking" force moved seriously into the fifth morning of Exercise Spearhead today, mindful that even simulated warfare of this type has its dangers.

The First Armored suffered its first two actual casualties of the 10-day operation yesterday, in separate accidents which left one man dead and a second seriously injured.

The dead man was a private, killed when one of the troop carriers being tested ran over him as he was standing guard duty.

A lieutenant was in serious condition at the base hospital from an abdominal wound sustained from the wadding in a round of blank ammunition.

Names of both men were withheld pending notification of next of kin.

In today's action, the presence of a semi-real minefield served as sobering evidence of the need for safety. Although the anti-tank, anti-personnel and chemical mines are loaded only with firecrackers, they are rated capable of burning a man seriously if improperly handled.

The field which was the First Armored's main objective in today's battle contained approximately 9,000 of the devices, burned over a period of a month by Aggressor forces.

Tank, armored infantry and combat engineer battalions were assigned the cooperative task of providing a passage without being ruled dead, injured and broken up by the mines.

Simulated heavy fire from artillery, tanks and automatic and semi-automatic weapons also took heavy toll from the United States forces.

Nicaragua Reports Russian-Made Arms Found Near Beach

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP)—President Anastasio Somoza says a large cache of Russian-made arms has been found on Nicaragua's Pacific coast, and he believes they were landed by submarine.

The President displayed the arms—rifles, machineguns, hand grenades, pistols and ammunition, all in weatherproof packing—to foreign diplomats yesterday.

He told a press conference a mysterious submarine had made several visits to the isolated beach where the arms were found, between Montalmar and El Tamalindo. The spot was marked by a buoy, and the hiding place was about 300 feet inland.

Somoza termed it all "very serious business." He added he did not know whether some international organization wanted to make Nicaragua a "second Korea" or whether the cache was intended to revolutionists who staged an abortive coup early last month.

Scout Leaders In Session Thursday

Scouters had a variety of activities at the monthly 4-1 meeting held Thursday evening.

Twenty-four Boy Scout leaders took in a cooking demonstration by Garrett Patton, Scoutmaster of troop No. 4 and Boyce Patton. They showed several types of cooking, including use of foil, baking bread on a stick, stew. Patrol methods for cooking were discussed.

Explorers' meeting with Frank Sabbath at Howard County Junior College, talked about Armed Forces Day participation and a disaster aid team. Eighteen took part. Some 12 Cub leaders also discussed taking Cubs to the Armed Forces Day program.

Two Americans Die In Plane Explosion Over Dien Bien Phu

SAIGON, Indochina (AP)—A Flying Boxcar exploded yesterday while on a supply mission over embattled Dien Bien Phu, killing its two American civilian pilots.

The pilots were identified as Wallace Abbott Buford, 28, of Ogden, Utah, and Earle (Earl) McConico (McGovern), well-known Far Eastern Airline pilot.

An official French command statement said the cause of the explosion which destroyed the plane was not known.

It was entirely possible, however, that it was shot down by Vietminh antiaircraft fire.

The plane also carried a French crew chief whose job it was to push supplies out of the plane to the beleaguered garrison below.

Gigantic Cool Front Moves Into State

A gigantic cool front that extended through North Texas from Upper Michigan and Arkansas brought clouds and scattered showers to Texas Friday.

Thunderstorms that damped Children and Midland, Tex., and Tulsa, Okla., during the night appeared in Childress, Abilene, Waco and Huntsville during the morning. Other spotty showers were in prospect back from the front, the Weather Bureau indicated.

Meanwhile, temperatures continued mild, ranging from 51 at Dalhart and Amarillo to 70 at Corpus Christi just before dawn.

East Texas skies were heavily overcast as the day began with West Texas, mostly untouched by the front, clear to partly cloudy.

Elevators Out Of Order At Courthouse

Both elevators in the courthouse were out of order temporarily this morning.

Doors to the main elevator apparently were forced open last night while the cage was in operation and not at floor level, maintenance workers said. The elevator to the jail stopped operating this morning.

George Choate, district clerk, was trapped in the jail elevator briefly. He had decided to use the jail elevator after learning the other lift was out of order.

The jail elevator stopped between two floors with Choate aboard, but officers in the sheriff's department opened the doors from the outside and helped the clerk through the narrow opening near the top of the cage.

Both elevators were back in service before noon.

Young People Told About C-C's Work

Speakers have carried the Chamber of Commerce message to young people.

As a part of the observance of Texas Chamber of Commerce Week, Roy Reeder spoke to students of Howard County Junior College on Thursday. Mrs. Hayes Stripling was the speaker Friday morning at Senior High School. Reeder stressed the idea that "this is your Chamber of Commerce; it is no better than your support of it." Mrs. Stripling pointed out to the young people that soon they would have obligations of community service and that there is no better avenue of cooperative effort than the Chamber of Commerce.

Demos Seek Action From Administration

By D. HAROLD OLIVER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrats have put up a cry for the administration to be done with "circus luxuries" and "TV spectacles" and come up with action to prevent a cold war from blowing hot.

The Republican campaign slogan of 1952, "Clean Up the Mess in Washington," was thrown back at the party in power last night at a Jefferson-Jackson Democratic dinner that brought out an estimated 1,500 diners at $100 a head—$150,000 for the drive to elect a Democratic Congress this fall.

Speakers told the cheering throng that Republicans have created "messes of their own" in the McCarthy-Pentagon row and have suffered serious reversals on the Indochina question.

Unlike many previous 100-a-

Ft. Stockton Radio Station Going On Air

Radio station KFST in Fort Stockton will go on the air at 7 a. m. Saturday.

The station, owned by Clyde E. Thomas Sr. of Big Spring, has been under construction for several months. It was installed at a cost in excess of $30,000.

Thomas said Friday that Jim Taylor, formerly of Big Spring, had been engaged as manager for the station. He already has lined up a number of sustaining contracts for the new station.

Operations currently will be on a day time basis, starting at 7 a. m. and signing off at 7:30 p. m. As quickly as is justified, plans are to expand the schedule to include night service.

KFST is to broadcast on a frequency of 860 kilocycles.

Delbert Davidson Elected To Head County 4-H Unit

Delbert Davidson was elected president of the Howard County 4-H Club at the organization's meeting last night.

He will succeed Sonny Choate, who has headed the club for the past year.

Other officers named at the county-wide meeting were Robert Lomax, vice president; Jane Blissard, secretary; Sue White, treasurer; Barbara Lewler, reporter; Travis Fryer, parliamentarian; and Claudette Moore, song leader. The positions of song leader and parliamentarian are new, having been authorized earlier in the meeting.

Club sponsors chosen were Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Boatler. Named to the adult club committee were Boatler, Lloyd Robinson, Donald Lay, Doris Blissard and Floyd White.

In other action last night the club named officers and directors for the annual 4-H Rodeo. Chosen were James Shorter, president; Sonny Choate, vice president; Sue White, secretary-treasurer; and Benjie Joe Blissard, Lorin McDowell III and Donald Denton, directors.

The officers of the rodeo organization will set date and name committees for the 9th annual show. Club girls discussed project records during their section of the meeting. Lessons learned at the district extension service contests in Lubbock last week should be applied, leaders said.

Martin County Case Judgment Affirmed

STANTON (SC) — The Court of Civil Appeals in El Paso has affirmed the judgment of 118th District Judge Charlie Sullivan in favor of the defendant in the suit brought by Harry Billington and others against R. C. Vest Jr., d/b/a Farm Equipment Supply Company.

Plaintiffs asked that purchase of a cotton picking machine from the equipment company be rescinded. They alleged that fraudulent representations concerning the machine were made orally prior to the purchase.

The court ruled against the plaintiffs on the basis of a manufacturer's warranty, signed at the time of the purchase and limiting the guarantee on the machine.

The appeals court affirmed the judgment Wednesday.

Second Deputy Quits In Clerk's Office

Resignation of Gail Brooks, deputy in the county clerk's office, was announced today.

It was the second resignation in the office in two days. Adelle Carter, chief deputy, announced her resignation Thursday.

Mrs. Brooks is to remain on the staff until June 1. Pauline Pety, county clerk, said she has received several applications from persons desiring positions in the office.

Wooten To Resign Post With Chamber

Lloyd Wooten, who has been project supervisor of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce for the past two years, announced today that he will resign his position May 15.

At that time he will assume duties with Tidwell Chevrolet Company, where he will be associated with the sales department.

Wooten is a past president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and was vice president of the Texas Junior Chamber. He was elected outstanding young man of Big Spring and Howard County in 1947.

He has been vice president and superintendent of the Howard County Fair Association and is now a member of the county parole board.

He and his wife reside at 407 West 8th Street.

Thrift Of Gasoline Is Reported Here

Police were told Thursday that someone has been draining gasoline from the tanks of four trucks during the past few nights at Gandy's Milk Company here. The report was made by Raymond Smith.

Theft of two hub caps from a 1952 Cadillac was also reported to officers. Ray Moran, 910 West 3rd, said the items were stolen last night.

Provers were seen in the 800 block of Lancaster, but they had disappeared when officers arrived.

Kermit Votes Raise In Pay For Teachers

KERMIT (AP)—Kermit school teachers, whose salaries usually set the scale for other West Texas towns, had a $150 increase in pay today.

The raise was announced yesterday by Kermit superintendent of schools G. E. Thompson. Official action on the raises was taken by the Kermit board of education earlier in the week.

Beginning salaries for teachers with a bachelor's degree were upped to $3,600, and a $3,900 scale has been set for new teachers with a master's degree.

HEARING

At the meeting with the senator's two aides, he said, "there was plenty of what was going to happen now."

McCarthy: "You say they told you I was unhappy?"

Stevens: "That's correct."

McCarthy: "And they told you the investigations would continue?"

Stevens: "They certainly did."

When McCarthy asked how that was an attempt to win preferential treatment for Schine, Stevens retorted it was "all part of a pattern, in my opinion."

A point of possible explosion as the hearings moved into this 12th day was an assertion by Sen. McCarthy that "I don't intend to" keep secret purported FBI data on security risks at Ft. Monmouth, N. J., unless FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover adds his veto to that of Atty. Gen. Brownell.

McCarthy, letting fly an impassioned reply at yesterday's session of the televised hearings, said the disputed material had been viewed by Army "loyalty board members with Communist records," and he added: "I think maybe that I have no duty to keep this material secret, and I don't intend to."

Elaborating to newsmen in advance of today's renewal of the hearings, McCarthy said he will press Brownell's appearance before the committee, either in public or secret session, to elaborate on his refusal to allow publication of the data.

McCarthy predicted that Brownell will ultimately reverse his ruling, but he also said:

"I feel I have no duty, even remotely, to keep secret any information about Communists in the government and those who protect and cover them up, regardless of where I get the information."

The senator also said, in reply to questions, that "I would never make public anything that J. Edgar Hoover personally thought should not be made public for security reasons."

He said that if Hoover joins Brownell in saying no, he still would disagree but that he has "too much respect" for Hoover to "go against his wishes in such a matter."

A reporter who sought Hoover's reaction at the Justice Department did not get to see the FBI chief, but Hoover said word he had no comment.

Brownell said in his letter to the Senate Investigations subcommittee that he had consulted with the FBI about the data, but he did not link the agency specifically to his declaration that publication "would be contrary to the public interest."

Stevens was excused from the witness chair late yesterday while McCarthy and Cohn questioned

Adams about a "Mr. X," whose name was never brought out. McCarthy described "Mr. X" as one of several persons having "Communist connections" who, he said, have served on a top loyalty screening board at the Pentagon.

Adams said that some information about "X" came to light about a month after Stevens took office and that while he remained as a technical member of the screening board, he was assigned to no cases. Then last fall the man was dropped as a member when the board was reconstructed, Adams said.

He also testified that "Mr. X's" security clearance had been "lifted" after the McCarthy subcommittee questioned him, but was restored a month later after an investigation on security charges.

Exploration of this case also produced testimony about a "Mr. Y," a "Mr. Z" and a "Mrs. B," with Adams under orders to use code initials instead of names.

McCarthy said it was vital to his case to show that "men with long Communist records" sat at the Pentagon passing judgment on the loyalty of others suspected of Communist leanings. He said he intends to show that someone at the Pentagon is covering up.

It was with a similar avowed purpose that McCarthy originally brought up, on Tuesday, what he described as a "letter" from Hoover, the FBI chief, to Army intelligence. McCarthy said it warned the Army of certain suspects among its employees, and that nothing was done.

Brownell's official memo yesterday said publication of the full 15-page FBI document would reveal confidential sources of information. Also, he said, the original contained unevaluated data concerning 24 persons, and that some of them have no derogatory information against them.

As for McCarthy's purported summary, Brownell said that it contained a listing of the 24 names and, after each one, the notation "derogatory" or "no derogatory." These notations, Brownell said, "were not contained in the original memorandum." The FBI does not evaluate the data it gathers.

"There is nothing contained in the document to show who made such evaluation," Brownell continued. "In view of these facts and because the document constitutes an unauthorized use of information which is classified as confidential... it is my opinion that it should not be made public."

McCarthy said Brownell himself had made public FBI material in the midst of the public furor last winter over the attorney general's speech denouncing the late Harry Dexter White as a spy for Russia.

Because the mass of the earth is much greater than the density of the surface rocks would indicate, scientists believe it has a central core of heavy metal, probably iron.

Riding The GRUB LINE

With Franklin Reynolds

Three head of cattle to the acre and all of them as fat as butter balls is the picture the visitor will see at the N. E. Glendenning place, southwest of Tarzan in Martin County.

The cattle, approximately 100 head of cows and calves, are grazing 30 acres of clover that's still belly-deep on them, and that was planted last year by Glendenning.

This year he has seeded another 42 acres of clover and it is up to a good stand. He grows his clover with oats as a nurse crop.

Cotton land in the irrigated section of the Tarzan Community has been 100 per cent planted once. Some farmers had to do some replanting. Sixty per cent of the cotton is up to a good stand and prospects are bright.

Only one farmer failed to get any sort of a good stand at all. His seed failed to germinate and the cause has been blamed on the fact that the seed was killed in the delinting process. This farmer has gotten some more seed, however, and will produce a crop.

Bill Orson, manager of the Tarzan Marketing Association, estimates that the TMA has sold at least 2,400 bags, probably more, of grain sorghum seed to be planted on land otherwise idled by the cotton acreage allotment program.

"That's a lot of seed," he says. "We bought 2,600 bags and now it's nearly all gone."

Martin County farmers and ranchers are making the swing to Blue Panic Grass.

Dr. Y. D. McMurray of Midland, is planting 200 acres of Blue Panic for grazing on his ranch northeast of Stanton.

Dr. McMurray is planting in a stubble of volunteer wheat.

Robert Evans, who operates the J. P. Hilger farm, five miles west of Stanton, is planting some of the Blue Panic seed bought by the supervisors of the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District for seed production.

The SCD is furnishing this seed to farmers who will plant it on irrigated land in 40-inch rows under an agreement to harvest the seed. They can then either use this seed themselves for the growing of more Blue Panic on their own places or they can market it to other farmers and ranchers in the SCD. Evans is going to use flood irrigation. The supervisors are also supplying, on the same terms and for the same purpose, seed for a new variety of Sideoats Gramma better adapted to this West Texas area. This Sideoats was developed near Uvalde and is known as Uvalde Sideoats Gramma.

The Stanton Lions Club has presented a plaque to Sam F. Buchanan of Howard County, who was selected by the supervisors of the Martin-Howard SCD as the outstanding conservation farmer in the district.

The presentation was made by Doris Blissard, a member of the board of supervisors at the regular weekly meeting of the Stanton Lions.

At this same meeting colored slides picturing conservation programs were shown and explained by Marion Everhart of Big Spring.

Elmer Dyer, who lives about two miles south of the King's Grocery corner, is planting 10 acres of dry-land Blue Panic.

Blue Panic is also being planted on the Hill Brothers Ranch south of Dyer. This ranch is also drilling Sand Lovegrass on shinnery rangeland.

A new world's record price of $100,000 for a Hereford bull in an auction ring was established at Chester, West Va., Monday at the dispersion sale of Hillcrest Farms, and naturally it was a Texan who paid the price.

Dallas, San Antonio Report Polio Cases

By The Associated Press

Polio cases were reported Thursday in Dallas and San Antonio. Discovery of the disease in San Antonio forced postponement of the Salk polio vaccine tests at the south side school nearest the home of the victim, a 3-year-old girl. The tests, part of a state-wide test of the new serum, were scheduled to begin Friday.

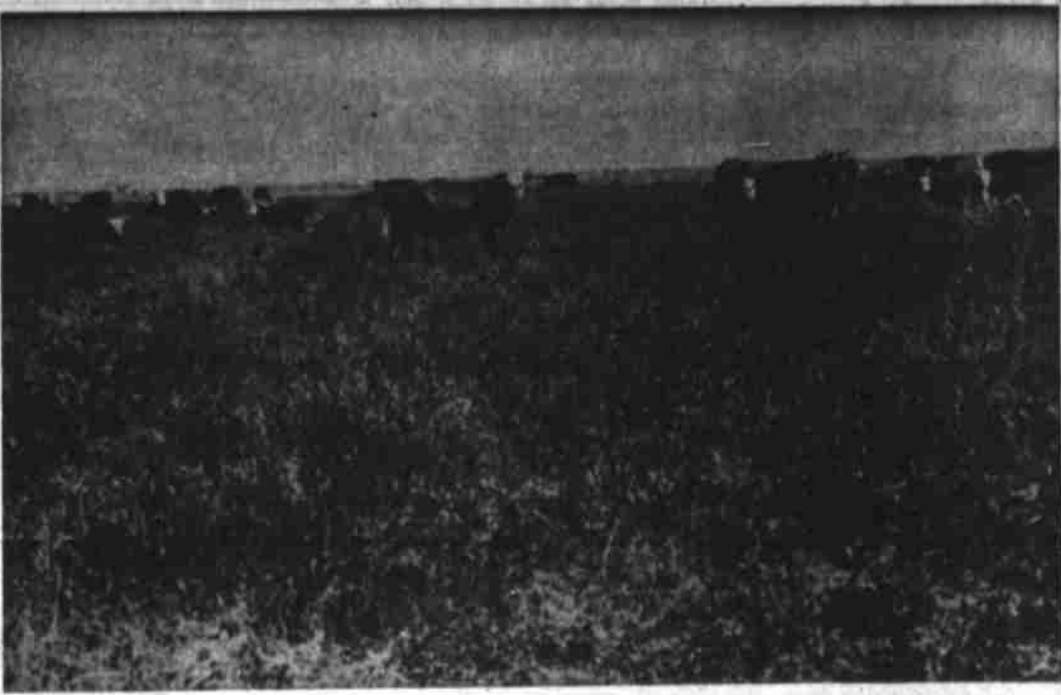

In Dallas, four cases were reported, but they came too late to halt the Salk tests which began Wednesday.

Admitted to Dallas' city-county hospital were three children and a 21-year-old man. Two of the children are members of the same family.

Senate Has Proposal For Dust Storm Work

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate today had a House-passed bill, a compromise measure, which would appropriate $506,218,741 including 15 millions to combat dust storms in the Southwest and other areas. Both the House and the Senate previously have passed the bill in different forms.

Besides the drought aid, it provides additional funds for a number of agencies for the remainder of the fiscal year ending June 30.

You Can't Even Tell It Has Been Grazed

This scene on the Glendenning place southwest of Tarzan is striking evidence of the amount of beef that can be produced from a few acres of improved pasture. Approximately 100 cows and calves, all in excellent condition, are grazing this 30 acres of clover that is belly-deep on them and you can't even tell it has been grazed. This stockman-farmer has planted and gotten up to a good stand another 42 acres of this clover in a nurse crop of oats.

at Boerne, wrote the check for Hillcrest Larry 25, son of HC Larry Domino 12. The 25th was champion bull at the 1950 Eastern National Show and reserve champion at the 1950 American Royal. He reached the ranks of the Register of Merit on his first crop of calves. His junior get-of-sire was undefeated in 1952.

Half interest in HC Larry Domino 12 was purchased by E. M. McCormick of McCormick Farms at Medina, Ohio, for $52,000. Last year McCormick purchased his first half interest in the bull for a record private sale of $165,000.

McCormick also bought Hillcrest Larry R. 77, son of the 25th, for $39,000. The 77th was champion Hereford bull at the 1953 American Royal and the 1953 International.

Thus, the two top bulls together, sold for more than the farm itself. The 1,700 acre breeding establishment with the home and all improvements brought $130,000.

Bernard Houston of Stanton, who pioneered in modern grazing in north Glasscock County when he whittled a 100-acre oasis out of a mesquite thicket is still looking, and going, ahead with the program.

He drilled a well near an old faithful windmill, got a limited amount of water, bought a sprinkler irrigation system on wheels, and with the help of his foreman, Henry Self, cleared out 100 acres of the mesquite.

For two years now he has had just about the best grazing in this part of West Texas, and likely no other range improvement program has attracted so much attention from such a wide part of this section of the state.

Houston now has part of this 100 acres planted to Blue Panic and part to Buffel grass. He is watering this grass by moving the self-powered sprinkler line forward every hour.

On the irrigated tract he plans to disc under 15 acres of oats and rye, now about 18 or 20 inches tall, and to plant this 15 acres to SCD-approved Uvalde Sideoats Gramma, in the mulech, in the 40-inch rows according to the SCD specifications.

He says that even though he is planting this Sideoats Gramma for seed production, he will not have any seed for sale because he plans to use all the seed he can harvest in extending this grazing program on the ranch.

His cattle, grazing this oasis, are in the best condition of any to be seen in West Texas, and he has found his program to be a very profitable one.

Martin Vavra of the Stanton SCS unit, says that now is the time for farmers and ranchers who plan native grass plantings in 1955 to get something on the land that will provide the essential stubble and much in which to seed such grasses.

He is recommending cane or sorghums that will provide plenty of stalk.

Rescuers Part Way To Plane

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP)—Crewmen and a doctor from a Navy helicopter fought through some of the hemisphere's roughest terrain today toward a crashed, fire-ravaged flying boat.

The big Navy craft, a PBM carrying ten men, was found yesterday still burning on the side of a 2,000 to 3,000-foot hill 90 miles inside Mexico. It had been missing since Wednesday night.

The Navy helicopter landed near the crash scene late yesterday but crewmen waited until this morning to attempt to reach the smoldering wreckage. The terrain in that portion of northeastern Mexico is among the roughest in the Western Hemisphere.

Radioed reports last night said there was no sign of crew members near the wreckage site but said there were some Mexicans milling around the burning plane.

A medical team from Ellington Air Force Base near Houston had been scheduled to parachute to the hill before dark, and a ground rescue team from Harlingen Air Force Base was en route to the scene. The nearest town, Crullas, is 12 miles from the site and only rough mountain roads are nearby.

More than 30 aircraft joined in the search for the two-engined bomber before the wreckage was sighted about noon yesterday. The 10 men aboard the craft included the pilot, co-pilot, three student officers and five enlisted crewmen.

Lt. Jim W. Martin, 33, was the co-pilot. His mother is Mrs. Winfred Martin, Velasco, Tex. His wife, Lillian, resides in Corpus Christi.

Other crew members included: Quentin R. Killion, aviation electronicsman third class, 21, Amarillo, Tex.

Ray Lee Walker, aviation ordnanceman-airman, son of Roy Walker, Texas City, Tex.

Board Chairman Gordon Gray, a former secretary of the Army who now is president of the University of North Carolina, said yesterday the 10-day recess was needed so the panel could "review the record" of testimony developed in 4½ weeks of secret hearings.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The special security board in the case of Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer is taking 10 days out to review its testimony of the past month.

The three-man Atomic Energy Commission panel is looking into various security allegations against the famed atomic scientist which he is contesting. Pending the outcome, a presidential order of last December has barred Oppenheimer from government atomic secrets.

Yarborough, Shivers Trade Charges In Governor's Race

By CLAYTON HICKERSON
By The Associated Press

Politicians aimed blunt, barbed-knuckled swings at the opposition and indicated Friday the summer campaign would be a free-swinging, super-heated drive for votes.

Gov. Allan Shivers and his opponent for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, Ralph Yarborough, traded bitter verbal punches in Austin.

The Texans who lead the Democratic forces in the Senate and House—Senator Lyndon B. Johnson and Rep. Sam Rayburn—directed enough steam at Republican policies to virtually end any last semblance of the Eisenhower "honeymoon" and bi-partisan foreign policy.

Shivers said he felt there was some "tie-in" between Yarborough's announcement as candidate for governor and the announcement in South Texas that political boss George Parr was a candidate for district judge. He did not elaborate.

The governor said he expected to be attacked during the campaign by "Communist sympathizers, George Parr sympathizers and by Ralph Yarborough sympathizers and by Yarborough personally."

Yarborough struck back with the assertion that Shivers was "widely slinging buckets of mud in all directions."

"Anybody who can manufacture that much mud in one sitting ought to go to work and do something about the drought," Yarborough added.

In Washington, Johnson delivered a smashing blow at the Eisenhower administration for its Indochina policy. He said the country had been placed "in clear danger of being left naked and alone in a hostile world."

Johnson and Rayburn spoke to a $100-a-plate Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner, the first held in Washington since the 1932 presidential race sent the Democrats down in defeat.

Rayburn said practically the only change Republicans had made in the Truman-Acheson foreign policy was "to administer it in sorry fashion."

The Bonham congressional veteran also hit at the current McCarthy-Army hearings. If McCarthy and Army Secretary Stevens were Democrats, he said, the Republicans and some newspapers would be saying:

"This is the biggest mess that Washington has ever witnessed."

Johnson said Democrats in Congress have opposed the Republicans to save important parts of President Eisenhower's program. They were happy to do so, he added, "because the good features came straight out of the Democratic book."

"We become confused and a little downhearted when we hear President Eisenhower say that what he needs is a Republican Congress to put that program across," the senator said.

Gov. Shivers compared the political popularity of the water issue now to the old age pension in other years. He predicted every office seeker would line up for water conservation this summer.

Shivers also predicted the next session of the Legislature would solve the state's water problems. Four years of drought and the summer political campaign were the reasons, he said.

Meanwhile, it seemed Texas would get along without an official

Democratic National Committee man until Sept. 14 when the next state Democratic convention is scheduled.

Commenting on the refusal Wednesday of National Democratic Chairman Stephen Mitchell to seat Wright Morrow as the Texas committeeman, Shivers said:

"That's a matter for the state executive committee and convention. I would like to see it settled. I see no reason why there could not be an understanding and some harmony if people are willing."

Shivers, himself, is not in best standing with the national committee. He, like Morrow, supported the Republicans in 1952 but says he is still a Democrat.

The feuding young Democrats were echoing companion factions in the senior segment of the party. Members of the state executive committee friendly to Shivers made plans in Austin for a grass roots fight for party control. At the same time, the opposition "Loyalist" faction prepared for its second annual state convention in San Antonio this weekend. Governor's Candidate Yarborough was to be the principal speaker.

Stanton Set For Hospital Party Tonight

STANTON (SC) — All plans have been completed for the Martin County Hospital Charity Ball to be held at the American Legion Club House here Friday evening, Mrs. Sam Wilkinson, general chairman said this morning.

Mrs. Pauline McDonald, program chairman, said there will be entertainment from 8:30 until 9:30, when an auction will be held to sell an imported Arabian rug. Door prizes, provided by Stanton merchants, will also be awarded during this period. There will be music played by the 500th Air Force Band from Webb Air Force Base at Big Spring.

The entertainment will include vocal and instrumental solos and exhibitions of square dancing and interpretative dancing.

Don Luttrell, announcer at Station KJBC at Midland will be master of ceremonies.

The admission charge will be $1.50 per person and all proceeds will go to the Martin County Memorial Hospital, which was acquired by the county a few months ago from the association composed of memberships which built and operated it, until Martin County voters approved a bond issue to pay the indebtedness against it.

This is the first hospital charity ball ever held west of Fort Worth, according to Mrs. Hilla Weathers, manager of the Martin County Chamber of Commerce.

The public is invited to attend the ball and Mrs. Wilkinson said she and the members of her committee are highly gratified at the enthusiasm with which the event is being anticipated by people from all parts of the county, and communities in adjoining counties.

Tonight's ball is going to be the biggest event of its kind ever held in Martin County," Mrs. Wilkinson commented, "and I don't think we have had anything in this county before in which so many people have shown such a great interest. The plan is certainly receiving fine support, and it is for a worthy cause."

Supporters in all parts of the county and in neighboring cities have been engaged in selling tickets, she said.

The American Legion Club House, in which the ball will be held, has been attractively decorated. It is located in the east part of Stanton on St. Anna Street, just west of where this street forms a "Y" or intersection with the Big Spring Highway, St. Anna being the first street north of Highway 90.

Eisenhower T-H Revision Bill Up For Senate Voting

By ROWLAND EVANS JR.
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's labor law revision bill was up for a 40-or-die Senate vote today with Democratic opponents confident they can push the administration plan aside.

A move toward the Taft-Hartley Act revision measure back to the Labor Committee, to be made by Sen. Hill (D-Ala.) or Sen. Murray (D-Mont), was scheduled for an early afternoon vote under a debate limitation agreed to by the Senate.

If the Democratic motion wins, it would all but kill any chance of changing the long-disputed 1947 labor law this year.

Both Southern and Northern Democrats appeared optimistic their lines would hold firm. They outnumber Republicans 48-47, with the other seat held by Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore). Democrats were counting on Morse's vote on this issue.

Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.), Labor Committee chairman, said "we're not licked yet." But he refused to predict the outcome.

Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass.) said he is "confident" of a Democratic victory.

Northern and Southern Democrats gave widely differing reasons for wanting to send the bill back to committee.

Northerners said they were unsatisfied with the committee bill, which substantially carries out Eisenhower's recommendations, because it fails to correct what they call anti-labor sections in the present law.

Southern Democrats said the bill as now written does not contain enough restrictions on labor union conduct nor give the states enough control over strikes, boycotts and picketing. They expressed concern too over an antidiscrimination amendment which Sen. Lehman (D-Lib-NY) has promised to call up if he has a chance.

The Senate has agreed to limit debate on Lehman's amendment and all others, including the motion to recommit, to 90 minutes for each, divided between proponents and opponents.

This debate limitation was described by Southerners as one reason they planned to give substantial support to the recommitment motion. It would prevent any filibuster on Lehman's amendment, designed to forbid discrimination by an employer or a union because of race, creed or color.

Ordinance Group Told Of Waste Of Lumber

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Americans could have built more than nine million homes with the lumber "wasted" on crates and shipping boxes during World War II, the American Ordnance Assn. was told yesterday.

Col. James N. Sammons, chief materials packaging and handling for the Air Research and Development Command, quoted a report that 50 per cent of the nation's lumber production in World War II was consumed in packaging, packing and shipping activities.

Missouri Students May End Walkout

ROLLA, Mo. (AP) — Rolla High School students will decide today whether to return to classes in their two-day protest of the dismissal of two teachers and resignations of two others.

School Board President Dr. Harold Fuller and Supt. Don Matthews urged them to return to classes at a public meeting last night. He promised their dispute would be brought before the next board meeting Monday night.

The board gave no reason for the dismissals.

Easy Way to Break Bad Habit of Constipation

Many people become intensely worried and frightened if they do not have at least one bowel movement a day. They expect dire consequences and ascribe numerous unrelated symptoms to their constipation.

They complain of such symptoms as: bloatedness, coated tongue, bad taste in mouth, flatulence, nausea, abdominal distention, headache, dizziness, moderate rise of temperature.

Medical books warn that irritating cathartics generally are to be condemned. Doctors prescribe a new tablet guaranteed to break the laxative habit. Many Happy Returns of the Day!

This is the best anniversary our U. S. Savings Bonds ever had

Born in days of trouble, in May 1941, and out of our faith in America, Savings Bonds have become today the greatest nation-wide savings program in history. They did their vital share for defense and for victory and for stabilizing our economy. But they have done another great thing for us.

For, consider: Through all these troubles, they did and continue to do something more than promote our country's economic well-being. They were buying for us, as individuals, things we needed for our own security, our own happiness, our own betterment.

- On the roads, new cars bought by Bonds.
- On the hills and in the valleys of America, new homes.
- On the farms, new equipment for better crops.
- In colleges, sons and daughters getting extra education.
- And all over America, new independent businessmen, thanks to the start given by Bonds.

And now the happiest fact of all—after doing all these things for ourselves and our Country, we still own more U. S. Savings Bonds today than ever before—seventy-seven billion dollars worth!

Last year we bought 22% more Bonds than the year before, setting a seven year sales record!

At year's end, three-fourths of all matured E Bonds were still being held at interest by their original owners.

So, this is truly a happy anniversary for America's happiest habit—the Bond-buying habit. It means more and more secure homes for America. And that means a stronger, more secure America. Let's make the next anniversary an even better one!

Let Bonds work for you, too—try the easy Payroll Savings Plan

You may save any sum you wish—a couple of dollars a payday or as much as you can spare. You never miss the money because it's saved for you—before you even get your check. And when enough has accumulated, it's automatically invested in a U. S. Savings E Bond, in your name, and the Bond is turned over to you. Then your savings really go to work—earning you an average 3% interest, compounded semiannually, when the Bonds are held to maturity! Building greater security every day!

Eight million workers everywhere save by buying Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan, with the help of 45,000 employers. If you do not have the Plan in your plant or office, ask your employer to write for details to:

EDGAR PHILLIPS

OUR C-C Farmer Cites The Values Of Organization

Although not personally a member of the Chamber of Commerce, Edgar Phillips, local farmer, believes the organization has perhaps done more good for this area than any other institution. He cites the Howard County Junior College, the Veterans Administration Hospital, and the large number of local roads as reasons for his statement.

It is Phillips' opinion that the Chamber of Commerce was directly responsible for the college and hospital. "Chamber members had a great deal to do with the preliminary work leading to the adequate road system we have here," he said.

Phillips hopes to see the Chamber cooperate more closely with the farmers of the county in the future. Programs which he particularly favors are fertilization and deep plowing.

The goodwill dinners formerly sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce to get rural residents and merchants together should be continued, Phillips believes. The "first sale of cotton" prize is also a stimulant to good relations, he believes.

Phillips says the Chambers' greatest work to date was sponsoring the junior college. Most high school graduates, in his opinion, are too young to go away from home to college and many are not financially able. The junior college gives these youngsters a chance to receive more education and in a ready for the business world, he thinks.

The six-million-dollar, 250 bed Veterans Hospital is Phillips' second place choice of Chamber works. He points out that it adds to the area economy as well as being a medical center for administering to war veterans.

Phillips, who is 38, has been farming for 25 years. As might be suspected from his support of education, he is on the board of trustees for the Howard County Junior College.

Fugitive To Fight Extradition Move

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Christopher Columbus Hair, 59, who walked away from a Texas prison farm 18 years ago, has asked Gov. Frank J. Lausche not to send him back to Texas.

Hair has lived in Toledo as Columbus H. Bennett since his escape. He reared a family and had no trouble with the law until he was picked up recently on a minor charge which he said resulted from a misunderstanding. It was then that his true identity was learned.

Texas authorities have asked that Hair be sent back. It is up to Lausche to decide whether to grant extradition. Yesterday, a hearing was conducted by Lausche's clemency secretary, Joseph J. Scanlon. Scanlon gave no indication when the governor might act on Hair's request.

Twenty Brazilian Firemen Missing

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—Twenty firemen were reported missing and presumed dead today after explosions and fire wiped out powder and petroleum storage facilities on a small island in nearby Guanabara Bay.

Eight other firemen were seriously injured in the disaster on the island of Ilha do Forte, about eight miles from the city. The depot belonged to the Rio port administration. Damage was estimated at $165,000.

Workmen on the island reported about midnight that a fire had broken out and fled. Firemen from a port fireboat began to play water on the flames. A powder magazine blew up with a tremendous blast. Several lesser explosions occurred later among tanks of gasoline and oil.

Snyder Man Fined $200 For Dead Deer

AUSTIN (AP)—Night hunters and persons killing migratory wildfowl or other game out of season paid heavy fines last month, the State Game Commission reported today. A Snyder man paid $200 and costs for killing a deer out of season, the report showed. A Falgout man paid $150 and costs for killing a wild turkey.

There is 28 arrests for night hunting and several for out of season duck shooters.

Texans Say They Oppose Entering Indochina War

By TEX EASLEY
WASHINGTON (AP)—Texans writing their congressmen on the subject are overwhelmingly against the sending of American troops to fight in Indochina.

Spurred by Vice President Nixon's recent statement that United States force might have to be sent into battle there if the French pull out, increasing numbers of Texans are making their views known to the lawmakers. Sen. Price Daniel reports he is getting about 15 letters a day on the subject. Aides of Sen. Lyndon Johnson say he is receiving about the same volume.

The 22 Texas representatives individually aren't getting as many, but their mail is increasing.

Of all the mail from Texas on the subject, only three letters expressed outright support of sending U.S. forces into battle. One came from Dallas, one from a small Texas town and one from Abilene. Names of the authors were withheld.

Typical of letters in opposition was one from H. J. Hamby of Laredo. In a letter to Daniel he said:

"I want to know what business we have in Indochina backing into another 'police action.' What do I owe the French to dig up tax money to pay for their war? I am not aware we owe anything over there."

Two Tyler women jointly signed a letter to the senators in which they said:

"If you men have any say in sending our boys to Indochina, for heaven's sake remember they are very precious to us. x x x

"You send them over there to be mistreated by those heathens, when you can't kill them all and war is not going to stop Communism and you know that."

Race Horse Sale To Satisfy Note Of Richardson's

FORT WORTH (AP)—A note for $46,740.68, held by oilman Sid Richardson, will be satisfied by public sale of a string of race horses belonging to the late Fred Browning.

Judge Robert B. Young, 48th District Court, yesterday gave Richardson judgment for the debt and ordered foreclosure of a chattel mortgage Richardson holds on the horses.

Young ruled out foreclosure of a lien against Top O' Hill Terrace, onetime widely known gambling spot near Arlington, on grounds it is the homestead of Browning's widow.

The ruling however gave Richardson a note superior claim over three other notes, one of them a $75,000 note to Benny Binion, former Dallas and Nevada gambler now serving a federal term for income tax evasion.

Husband, 82, Gets Marriage Annulled

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"She had no love for me," 82-year-old Abraham James testified. "She would push me away and would say that my face felt like a cold fish against hers."

The retired blacksmith got an annulment. He told the court yesterday that his 42-year-old wife once took three days to cook a chicken and the result was unappetizing.

Mrs. Amelia James testified: "I am a good cook. He just took two days to get around to eating the chicken."

She said she was willing to show him wifely affection but he was seldom in the mood.

Exploding Star Is Seen In Sky

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—An exploding star or supernova has been seen in the constellation of Virgo with the 18-inch Schmidt telescope at the Palomar Observatory.

California Institute of Technology, announcing this yesterday, said: "A rough preliminary estimate indicates that it was about as bright as previous supernovas, which have been about 100 million times brighter than our sun."

A supernova is an exceptionally bright star appearing in the sky where none has been observed before. It is believed to result from a colossal stellar explosion in which the star brightens greatly and then fades out.

West Rejects Red Bid To Enter Pact

LONDON (AP)—The United States, Britain and France sent notes to Moscow today rejecting Russia's offer to join the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Diplomatic officials reported the Western notes argued broadly that the security proposals put forward by the Russians on March 31 could in no way replace the free partnership of like-minded states at this time.

Controls Fail On Bao Dai's Airplane

NICE, France (AP)—The controls quit working on the plane of Bao Dai, chief of state of Viet Nam, 30 minutes after he took off today from the Nice airport — but the pilot landed safely. Bao Dai returned to his villa near Cannes but planned to go on to Paris later today, a member of his staff said.

Army Reports No Decision On Trial For Cpl. Batchelor

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—If Cpl. Claude Batchelor is tried on charges of collaborating with the enemy his case will be heard at Fort Sam Houston here, the Army announced yesterday.

But the information section of the Fourth Army said that no decision has been reached on whether to try the Kermit, Tex., soldier. The Army has been investigating Batchelor's case in an effort

Sooner Democrats Ask Tour Of Sites

WASHINGTON (AP)—The seven Democratic members of the Oklahoma congressional delegation have asked Air Force Secretary Talbot to direct that the Air Force academy site board return to Oklahoma for inspection of three additional sites.

During a recent inspection tour, they wrote Talbot, the board's only stop in Oklahoma was at Enid and no inspection was made of proposed sites at Shawnee, Claremore and Okmulgee.

to determine whether he should be tried.

Batchelor was captured by the Communists in Korea and, at first, refused to leave them. Later, he changed his mind. He returned to the U.N. side last New Year's Day.

The 22-year-old corporal is held here while his case is being investigated. He left a Japanese wife in Tokyo.

The judge advocate of the Fourth Army command said it was his "educated guess" that a decision on whether to try Batchelor may come in July.

Horse Seems On Way Out Except For Pleasure And Entertainment

In recent travels covering some 2,750 miles by motor car a staffer saw only one horse-drawn vehicle on the road. In the Deep South he saw few tractors, but plenty of mules pulling walking plows and planters, as in days of yore. On a trip into Oklahoma there were a few horses and mules, but many tractors—two or three of them at many farmsteads. Except for riding and show purposes, the horse is definitely on his way out in America. As a work animal his days are numbered, except possibly in the South where farms are small and power machinery is impractical or uneconomical.

There are plenty of horses, and good ones, around, as the rodeos and horse shows, the racetracks, the sheriff's posse and the riding clubs testify. But perhaps we are raising about the last generation of American kids who are crazy about horses, as their forefathers were. Comparatively few city people can afford to keep their own saddle horses, and if the horse-for-hire people are driven out of business, as those around Tucson have been, by the damage suit industry, we can see the end of the horse in America (and no pun intended). The era of the horse was a long one, full of color and gallantry and perfect sympathy and understanding between man and mount. Wherever man the conqueror went up and down in the earth, the horse went with him. He was with the Crusaders at the gates of Jerusalem, with Sennacherib in Babylon, with Alexander and the Euphrates, with Pizarro in Peru and Cortes in Mexico. It has been a long and honorable association, and we watch its gradual disintegration with melancholy helplessness.

Complacency Leads To Division And Ultimately To Real Danger

Major General William F. Dean, whose 28 months as a prisoner of the Reds in Korea certainly qualified him as an expert on Communist cruelty, persistence and fanaticism, told a gathering in Peoria, Ill., this week that he sees "complacency everywhere" in America. A great many people, he said, are becoming complacent because the West has the atomic bomb and the H-bomb. (They might also remember that Russia has both.)

Communist rank and file, we have discord, disunity, disputations, factional strife, the paralyzing effect of a growing complacency. The airwaves and headlines are so filled with concern over a comparative handful of Communists in this country that our attention is distracted from the ineluctable fact that almost a billion people in the world are now dominated by Communist governments in one degree or another.

"Complacency is the Communist's comrade," said General Dean. The Communists still are counting "on our moral disintegration, disunity among ourselves, any factionalism, any racialism and a capitalist depression every 10 years." Thirty-eight months of close contact with communism and Communists left no room in the General's make-up for complacency regarding their nature and determination to conquer all.

The Communists will make any sacrifice, commit any crime, tell any lie to further their cause. We gripe at the cost of maintaining even a minimum military posture, pursue political feuds come what may, deride and denigrate our natural allies, and brush off such warnings as men like General Dean sound almost constantly as of small moment. Our national divisions are frightening. The deterioration of our relations with our allies is disheartening (and if you think all the fault is on their side, you're crazy), and the complacency which General Dean refers to is palpable. Not so good, eh?

These Days—George Sokolsky

Reds Have Fellow Travelers Of Their Own Behind Iron Curtain

Apparently the Russians have their troubles too. Comrades P. Plotnikov and A. Lipatov wrote in "Pravda": "Comrade Stalin teaches that it is necessary: 'To remember and never forget that as long as there is capitalist encirclement there will be saboteurs, wreckers, spies and terrorists sent to the Soviet Union's home front by intelligence agencies of foreign states, to remember this and to wage a struggle against comrades who underestimate the importance of the fact of capitalist encirclement, who underestimate the forces and significance of sabotage.'" farmer, member of the intelligentsia — considers it his duty, if he sees an enemy, to help the workers of state security to catch that enemy. Thanks to the vigilance of Soviet patriots in the years of the great patriotic war and in the post-war period, many spies, saboteurs and murderers who made their way into our country were exposed and disarmed." It appears that G. L. Zaslavsky, assistant chief of the Geology Ministry's Department of Records of Reserves, which is a big name for stockpiling, took home a wad of records and permitted them to pass through his hands. No apparatus is named similar to the Fuchs-Rosenberg operation at Los Alamos or the Rosenberg operation at Fort Monmouth, but the nation is warned about security risks.

"With these aims, the imperialists expend tremendous sums on intensifying subversive activity in the U. S. S. R. and the People's Democracies. As is known, the American government officially allocated $100,000,000 in 1951 to finance the operations of spies, saboteurs and wreckers in the U. S. S. R. and the People's Democracies . . ."

Look at what they say about the scientists: "Some comrades who are engaged in scientific research are thoughtless in utilizing secret information and try to show off with it in their writings, thereby harming the cause of preservation of state secrets. That is what N. G. Kazhlayev, formerly assistant chief of a chief administration of the ministry of the oil industry, did. He used secret data without the knowledge of the ministry officials and published them in his dissertation."

The Russians do not have Congressional Committees and there is nobody like Joe McCarthy, around to arouse the workers and peasants, but the Russians do arouse the populace to spy on the spies. This is not a new approach to the subject because even in old Czarist days, many people spied on their neighbors and were well rewarded and in the early Bolshevik days, children were encouraged to spy on the bourgeois or kulak parents. But this passage of Plotnikov and Lipatov does sound almost like something that one of us of the anti-Communist movement might have written:

"It must be borne in mind that the enemy may use the slightest loophole, any bit of carelessness, to cause harm and to do his dirty work. Talkativeness, criminal carelessness in safeguarding secret documents, tolerance of instances of moral corruption—the infuriated and cunning enemy tries to utilize everything." This might be a suggestion to Senator McCarthy, when he resumes his investigations. Are they subversive or just showing off? That is altogether a novel explanation—a scientist likes to write dissertations as a columnist likes to write columns. It is a way of telling the world that he is also among the living. Is showing off a criminal offense? Instead of pleading the Fifth Amendment, a scientist might say: "When I gave away the secrets of the hydrogen bomb, I wasn't subversive; I was only showing off."

Following Much Talk For Many Years, St. Lawrence River Will Be Seaway

WASHINGTON (AP)—The St. Lawrence River, which for much of its length separates the United States and Canada, will now be turned into a seaway for ships to travel between the Great Lakes and the Atlantic Ocean. Until this year Congress always blocked the idea although every President since World War I, including President Eisenhower, was for it. The Senate approved it in January and the House yesterday. That does it, except for some minor differences between House and Senate versions expected to be worked out without controversy.

The work which can begin now will take six years and cost the United States about 105 million dollars. It will cost Canada more. But it will be a joint task undertaken by the two countries. It's expected to pay for itself in 50 years through tolls collected from the ships passing through. What has to be done: deepening the river in some places and building some canals and locks.

The good expected from it: cutting 1,000 miles off the open sea route to Western Europe; giving the United States just that much more transportation in case of war. The Great Lakes shipyard could build ocean-going ships, at least up to the size of destroyers. And the Middle West will have a direct water route to the sea, meaning cheaper freight rates. The problem can be described this way: From Duluth, Minn. — through the Great Lakes and their connecting canals and down the St. Lawrence River to the Gulf of St. Lawrence, which opens into the ocean—there is a 2,300-mile waterway. But because in some places the river is not deep enough — only 14 feet — there is a 114-mile bottleneck in the river above Montreal.

This Day In Texas

By CURTIS BISHOP

"Born on this day in 1832 in Missouri was Jeremiah V. Cockrell, farmer turned lawyer and Texas judge. Before his twentieth birthday Cockrell made an overland trip to California, probably lured there by the gold rush. He spent two years mining and merchandising in the Golden State before returning to Missouri and the life of a farmer. Leaving the farm to serve as a colonel in the Confederate Army, Cockrell in 1864 received such severe wounds that he could no longer continue in active military service. This misfortune led to his moving his family to Dallas, where they lived until the war ended. Then he moved to Grayson County to farm. Studying law "on the side", Cockrell was admitted to the bar in 1874. A delegate to the Democratic State Conventions in 1878 and 1880, Cockrell served for eight years as district judge of the 39th District. He left the judgeship in 1893 to go to Congress, where he served two terms. Cockrell spent the last years of his life farming and ranching in Jones County. He died in Abilene in 1915.

Book Reports Lowdown On Experts In All Fields

NEW YORK (AP)—There is a flip saying in this country that "it ain't what you know that counts—it's who you know." This remark isn't as pertinent as it used to be. Civilization has become so complicated that people with specialized knowledge in any field are becoming more important. The rest of us need them as guides. There is so much to know in the world today that the guy with the know-it-all complex is as out of touch with reality as a fossil. This is the age of the expert. But how can the average man, seeking information about a topic, tell an expert from a bragging bum? Well, the publishers of "Who's Who in America" have solved this problem. They came out today with a big volume called "Who Knows—and What."

Mexican Union Asks That U. S. Farmers Pay Bracero Travel

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Mexico's second largest trade union has suggested that United States farmers who use illegal migrant labor be forced to pay the cost of returning the migrant to his home here. This was one of three points in a program drafted yesterday by the Regional Confederation of Mexican Workers (CROM), which has some 60,000 members. The proposals were sent to various government departments dealing with migrant harvest laborers. Jose Figueroa of the CROM said the penalty of paying the return fares would make U.S. farmers loath to hire illegal migrants. In turn, he said, this would insure that only legal migrants could find jobs and would cut down the flow of wetbacks to the U.S. Last year some 250,000 illegal migrants and over a million illegal ones found work in the U.S. The CROM also suggested that the legal laborer be paid only 50 per cent of his wages in the United States. The rest would be retained and paid to him after he returned home. On the other hand "Who Knows—and What" names 2 specialists on turtles, 2 on porcupines, 9 on horses, and 11 on rabbits. It also names 8 authorities on communism — and doesn't include Sen. McCarthy, although it does mention his former aide, J.B. Matthews. Only a baker's dozen are identified as authorities on sex, and Dr. Kinsey isn't slighted. But some of their approaches to sex don't make for very racy reading. Dr. Bernard Simeon Greenberg, to cite only one, has written on "some effects of testosterone on the sexual pigmentation and other sex characteristics of the cricket frog." And of course we all remember his heady study titled, "Some Relations between Territory, Social Hierarchy, and Leadership in the Green Sunfish."

A Simple Change In Reading Habits Can Cause Complication

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald—Editor's Note.

"How do you ever expect to get the paper read that way?" asked Filbert Flatiron after watching his wife, Fantella, flip through the evening newspaper with nothing more than a hasty glance at each page. "I'm trying a new system," Fantella explained. "You've heard about people forming habits in their newspaper reading—some reading the front page first, others turning to the sports page and others the comics. Well, I heard of a new system. This guy that was telling about it said he goes through the paper and looks down at the bottom of each column the first thing. He reads those little paragraphs the papers use to make the columns come out even—fillers I believe the newspaper people call them. Anyway, this guy claims some of the newest news can be found there, and I'm just looking to find out." "Well, what do you find?" Filbert asked. "There's one that says the human ear can detect approximately a third of a million different tones, and here's another one that says fleas often have many of the physical characteristics of the animals they attach themselves to. For example, it says fleas found on bats are usually blind." "What good does it do you to know that?" Filbert inquired. "Well, I hadn't thought about it doing any good, but I suppose it could serve some purpose. Knowledge is supposed to be useful, you know. Come to think of it, we might profit by this information about the fleas. If we ever found some blind ones around it might indicate that bats have invaded our attic." "And just how do you think you're going to find out if a flea is blind when you see one in the house, if you ever do?" Filbert wanted to know. "There must be ways to find out," Fantella persisted. "Whoever wrote this paragraph in the paper found out, and if he could do it, why can't we?" "Yes, but he probably had some expensive laboratory equipment," Filbert countered. "Well, we might write him and find out," Fantella suggested. "Who would you write to?" Filbert wanted to know. "The guy that wrote it," Fantella answered. "I don't see anybody's name on it, and besides those little items are sent out by the dozen and they might have been written by somebody a hundred years ago. It might cost us a lot of money just to trace it down," Filbert argued. "Well, I should think we could spend a little money if it means saving our home," Fantella continued from a new angle. "Whaddya mean, save our home?" Filbert challenged. "Didn't we already agree that it might save it from bats if we happened to see some blind fleas?" Fantella reminded. "Who agreed?" Filbert demurred. "We've been living in this house nine years and there haven't been any fleas yet." "Well, there's always a first time and it wouldn't hurt us to get prepared," Fantella said. "I've got a suggestion to make," said you go back to your old reading habit of scanning the ads and let me analyze the news." "Well, okay," Fantella agreed. "But it's still gonna cost you some money." —WACIL McNAIR

Cold Statistics At Pittsburgh Show That Men Go For Liberace

PITTSBURGH, Pa. — I hate to get chivvied into the Battle of the Sexes because it is well-known on whose side I have enlisted for the duration and six months. Nonetheless, fairness forces me to speak up for my sex today; the ladies have been libeled in the matter of Liberace. And, surprisingly enough, Pittsburgh has given me some facts and figures to prove it. For some time men have been complaining loudly and bitterly that ladies, flipping their lids over Liberace, are responsible for the continued presence of his curis, his toothsome smile, his dimples and his candelabra—not to mention piano—on television. The Wonderful Sex has scornfully implied that this scourge would be lifted from teevee if only women had the sense God gave geese. In short, that Liberace is a feminine weakness, like spike heels and gelatin salads. Well, that ain't necessarily so! In this muscular community where men are men, and make steel to prove it, the dimpled piano stuffer has a tremendous masculine following. I made this great sociological discovery during a bit of light chit-chat with a vice president of the People's First National Bank and Trust Company, a Pittsburgh institution which currently sponsors Liberace's teevee appearance in this area. The bank explained, in recent months has offered to give free of charge a Liberace record ("Lullaby" on one side, "Dark Eyes" on "tother") to any new depositor who opens an account of $25 or more. The institution also made the same offer to old depositors who care to sweeten the kitty with a fresh deposit of $25. To date, the bank has taken in "Lib-erace deposits" in excess of $3,000,000 and that ain't candle! Furthermore, the deposits are still going strong and the records like money. But what really confuses him, said the bank weep, who pleaded anonymity, is the fact that at least 35 per cent of the new and old depositors who came through with the $25 for a Liberace record are men, men, MEN! And this is a community that boasts it is the "Gateway to the West!" A bit of long division soon establishes the fact that with $25 as an entrance fee to the Liberace Lodge, about 120,000 Pittsburghers so far have ponied up the money to swell the total to $3,000,000 plus. Now 35 per cent of 120,000 customers equals 42,000 persons, or the minimum number of men who have forked over $25 for a free recording of Liberace. Lieber Gott! To confirm the weep's figures, a stranger in town like myself has only to turn to the Letters-to-the-Editor column in the Pittsburgh newspapers. An angry gent has just written a long screed to the papers, denouncing Liberace's traducers and nominating the marcelled marvel as the only legitimate successor to Paderewski. It is obvious in this region that Liberace "sends" his own sex. Could this be because Pittsburgh has a large foreign-born population that dearly loves music? Or is it merely because Pittsburgh is the first community in which statistics are available to reveal the horrid fact that Liberace has a large masculine following and is, therefore, not a phenomenon for which women are solely responsible? Anyway, ladies, all hail to Pittsburgh! In the matter of Liberace, it has gotten you off the hook at least 35 per cent of the way.

In Saving, As Everything Else, You Must Pay For What You Get

Try telling a savings banker that you have your savings in a savings and loan association. He'll look at you with fatherly understanding: Son, you've made a mistake. You still have time to correct it. He's apt to ask: "Have you ever stopped to think what could happen if you wanted your money quick?" Then try telling a savings and loan man you're putting your money in a savings bank. He'll look at you with pity and say: "Why take 2 per cent or 2 1/2 per cent on your money when a savings and loan'll get you more—maybe as much as 3 1/2 per cent?" Each makes you feel that whatever you did, you did wrong. But did you? To answer that question, you must know what you want. You must realize that savings banks and savings and loan associations don't do the same jobs. If you think you'll want your money immediately when you want it, then an S & L isn't your dish. If you're interested in a high return, with a good chance of getting your money when you want it, then it is. When you put money in a savings bank you're a creditor. You can usually get your money on demand. The bank may require 15 to 60 days' notice, depending on its rules, but that's rare. And after the waiting period expires, the bank must pay or it's in default. If it can't pay, and it's a member of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., as most banks are, the FDIC takes over—and sees that you get your savings. When you put your money in a savings and loan, you're not a creditor. You're a shareholder—an owner. Most times, you'll get your money when you want it. But, since over 80 per cent of the assets of an S & L are tied up in long-term mortgages, you can't be certain. In contrast, mutual savings banks have only 47 per cent of their assets in long-term mortgage loans. S & L money is working at a higher return than savings bank money. Therefore, you can't expect it to be as readily available. Most savings and loan association charters provide for a 30-day notice before withdrawal. Usually the association will waive notice and pay you on request. However, after 30 days, unlike a savings bank, the S & L doesn't have to pay in full. It is not in default if it doesn't. The rules are specific. If at any time an association can't pay all withdrawal requests at once, then your request is numbered. Payments are made as cash becomes available. At such times, the maximum payment is $1,000. When you collect $1,000, your request is renumbered and put at the end of the list. When your turn comes again, you can draw out another $1,000. If you have five or ten thousand dollars in an S & L, you might have to wait months under this procedure. Except in a grave crisis, this procedure probably would not be invoked. To raise funds to pay shareholders, S & Ls that are members of the Federal Home Loan Bank system can borrow up to 50 per cent of the value of their shares outstanding from Home Loan Banks. Also they can sell mortgages in the open market. The significant point is this: S & Ls can take their time, though they're not likely to except in unusual circumstances. And if they don't pay, you cannot automatically appeal to the Federal Savings & Loan Insurance Corp. for your money.

Mrs. Knox Urges OWC To Take Up Gardening

Encouraging members of the Officers' Wives' Club to participate in gardening and flower arranging, Mrs. John Knox suggested several things that could be done in a short time to promote beautification of yards.

Mrs. Knox, president of the Big Spring Garden Club, was guest speaker at a luncheon meeting of the OWC Thursday at the Officers' Club.

She discussed soil feeding and watering and suggested a number of flowers and plants that would grow in this climate in a short time.

A portion of her talk concerned flower arranging, which she illustrated with a number of different types of floral designs. She explained the requirements of a good flower arrangement.

The possibility of a garden center in Big Spring, a new trend in gardening, which would give assistance to anyone with gardening problems, was described by Mrs. Knox.

Mrs. Norman Read, who furnished roses for the arrangements, assisted Mrs. Knox in a question and answer session.

Dr. John F. Johnson of Webb Air Force Base gave a brief talk listing the seven danger signals of cancer. He and Mrs. Knox were introduced by Mrs. Jack M. Aikman.

It was announced that Mrs. Raymond Morris had been appointed to fill the position of assistant secretary, which will be vacated by Mrs. Boyd C. Mestek, who is moving.

Guest-of-the-Month was Mrs. Dorance Guy, Mrs. William J. Akrill will be guest-of-the-Month for June. Gifts were won by Mrs. Harold Hanson, Mrs. Joseph L. Wiggins, Mrs. Jack C. Owens, Mrs. Virginia Frazier, Mrs. Leo G. Bradford, Mrs. William R. Weaver, Mrs. Larson C. Andrus.

Following a May flower and Maypole theme the main table was decorated with large bouquet of painted daisies with narrow pastel satin streamers. The luncheon tables featured a variety of flower arrangements in baskets and on driftwood. Small Maypoles were also used on these tables. Places were marked with tiny sprays of flowers.

Hostess chairman was Mrs. Jack Taylor, assisted by Mrs. James E. Watson III, Mrs. John C. Wilhite Jr., Mrs. Truman Parker, Mrs. Guy, Mrs. John F. Johnson.

Four Give Party Preceding Luncheon

Preceding the Officers' Wives' luncheon Thursday a sherry party was given by Mrs. Walter C. Turner, Mrs. Darrell Stan, Mrs. William H. Jennings and Mrs. Willis W. Pearson.

Over a hundred officers' wives, guests and newcomers were entertained in the lounge of the Officers' Club.

The refreshment table was covered with a white linen embroidered cloth imported from China. The centerpiece was of lavender and yellow gladioli, flanked with yellow tapers. Appointments were crystal and silver.

Reapers Class Meets At Baptist Temple

The Reapers Class of Baptist Temple met Thursday night at the church. Mrs. J. E. Terry, teacher, gave the opening prayer and Mrs. George Phillips presided.

Secret pals were revealed. The class song was led by Mrs. Terry with accompaniment by Mrs. Phillips. Mrs. Roy O'Brien gave the closing prayer. Refreshments were served to 14. The next meeting will be the first Thursday in June.

Servicemen's Center

Hostesses for the past week at the Servicemen's Center have included Mrs. Huey J. Rogers and Mrs. O. B. Warren. Mrs. R. S. Peterson and Mrs. Austin Aulda. The 1948 Hypertion Club served recently when the first square dance of the season was held.

Meet The Major

Major Maria Dolores Hernandez is the attractive dark-haired chief of nursing service at Webb Air Force Base Hospital. She has about 13 years duty as a service nurse and counts Japan and Alaska as former duty stations.

Aleutian Isle Lonely? Not To Lady Major

To most people the lonely little island of Shemya, next to last of the islands in the Aleutian chain, would be the coldest, unhealthiest place in the world. But not to Major Maria Dolores Hernandez. She has just returned from a leave with her parents there and says she's still amazed at herself because she bought a new home during the leave. She isn't planning to give up her Air Force nursing career, however. The home is an investment.

Major Hernandez is the epitome of the young girl who says "I want to be a nurse when I grow up." She said it and she did it. Her early training was received at Orange County General Hospital in Southern California and she took graduate work in Los Angeles and San Francisco. She was employed as a supervisor of communicable diseases when she was called into the service in 1940 as a Red Cross reserve nurse.

She has her application in for flight training because she wants to better understand the problems and duties of flight nurses which she may be administrator for in the future.

When her tour of duty is up at Webb, the major hopes to get a European assignment — maybe Spain. So far in her career she has missed that continent.

For young nurses interested in becoming Air Force careerists, the major offered this advice: "Be sure you like to travel and move around for we never know where we might be assigned from one duty base to another."

She invites young, prospective Air Force nurses to get in touch with her at Webb Air Force Base for a chat about Air Force nursing.

But there was a pleasant side to Japan for Major Hernandez. She toured its islands and was especially impressed by the hairy Ainu race, found on the northern Japanese island of Hokkaido. This large framed race of people are the aborigines of Japan and are not at all like the small slant eyed people found elsewhere in Japan. They have light skin and non-slanting eyes.

She became interested in seeing these people after having audited a class under Dr. Kawai, a Japanese instructor at UCLA. Fullerton, Calif., is the hometown of this Air Force career nurse.

Fall Flower Show To Be November 4

November 4 was announced as the date for the Fall Flower Show to be given by the Spadara Garden Club at a meeting of the club Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Darel Highley. All local garden clubs will be invited to participate.

Mrs. Glenn White was introduced as a new member. Copies of the constitution and by-laws were given to members, and Mrs. O. J. Forbes was appointed Hospitality chairman. A general discussion on problems of beginner gardeners was held, and specific insecticides for various pests were recommended.

For the next meeting on May 19, the club has planned a tour of the following yards and gardens: Mrs. Dale Smith, Mrs. Raymond Moon, Mrs. V. A. Whittington, Mrs. Allen Orr, Mrs. D. W. Caldwell and Mrs. Forbes. The members will then go to the home of Mrs. Tommy Hubbard for a business meeting.

Methodist WSCS Closes Study

STANTON — The Latin American study, "Within Our Borders," was concluded when 20 members of the WSCS of the First Methodist Church met for a Mexican dinner at the Hernandez Cafe recently.

After dinner they assembled in the church basement for the final study led by Mrs. James Jones. Mrs. Edmund Morrow brought the devotion on "Brotherhood," which was followed by prayer.

At the close of the session, an hour of recreation was held. A worship center and examples of Mexican handiwork, assembled by Mrs. Hugh Hunt, were displayed for the members.

Turtle Club Meets

The Turtle Club met Thursday at St. Thomas Church Hall with Marybeth Jenkins presiding. A thank-you note was read from Mr. and Mrs. Clancy Crestall. Mrs. L. D. Jenkins won the special prize. Pool and singing made up the entertainment. Jim Dinoff and Les Hancock served refreshments to 12 members.

Miss Rogers Feted With Tea, Shower

The tea-table was laid with a white floor-length organza cloth, bound with white satin ribbon for the tea and shower given recently for Rebecca Rogers, bride-elect of Lt. C. T. Hudson of Lancaster, in the home of Mrs. Gilbert Gibbs.

Two rings, tied together with net and placed in an arrangement of lilies of the valley, formed the centerpiece, with all appointments in crystal. Mrs. Tommy Hubbard presided at the punch bowl.

Mrs. Gibbs greeted guests and presented Mrs. J. C. Rogers, mother of the bride-elect, and the honoree. Sisters of Miss Rogers, who also made up the house-party, were Mrs. Bruce Frazier, Mrs. H. G. Cagle and Pat Rogers.

Assisting with the serving and entertaining were the other hostesses, Mrs. L. N. Brooks Jr., Mrs. Louis Thompson, Mrs. Alice Porter, Mrs. D. S. Riley, Mrs. Buel Fox, Mrs. C. A. Flynn, Mrs. Carl South, Mrs. Lyle Price and Mrs. Dan Conley. Mrs. Fox presided at the guest book, where about 30 registered.

Rushes Hear History Of ESA Sorority

At the model meeting of Alpha Chi chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority Thursday, president Barbara Ann Eya recounted the history of the sorority for rushes.

She told them that the leader is E. Robert Palmer and that international headquarters are in Loveland, Colo. Chapters are all over the United States and in Hawaii and Japan, she explained. The local chapter was chartered in 1948.

C. W. Guthrie was guest speaker telling of his trip to Europe.

Each officer and committee chairman gave a summary of her duties.

The group met in the home of Mrs. Dean Forrest with Mrs. Martin Hayworth as co-hostess.

Rushes present were Mrs. Dennis Turner, Bonnie Lindley, Dale Spencer, Mrs. O. E. Durham, Mrs. Tolford Durham Marie Brand, Frances Bartlett, Joy Woodard and Mrs. Charles K. Vaughn.

A social hour followed the meeting. The refreshment table was covered with a brown cotton cloth and coral napkins were used. The centerpiece was an arrangement of vari-colored roses in a crystal holder.

Other appointments were crystal and silver.

Beckham Pupils Will Give Recital

The public is invited to attend the piano recital of the students presented by Mrs. Fred Beckham this evening at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of Howard County Junior College. Certificates and pins which were won in the Piano Audition, will be presented to nine pupils, and practice prizes will be given.

The following pupils will appear: Beth Mead, Patricia Haney, Freddie Coleman, Gloria Ann Elrod, Jennine Hodgett, Kay Thornton, Beverly Alexander, Billy Gage, Lynette McLaurin, Kathleen Soldan, Letress Ann Hall, Ann Willis, Anne Ulmer, Lynn McMahan and Amelia Duke.

South Ward P-TA Has Honor Guests

Guests of honor at South Ward P-TA meeting Thursday night were Mrs. R. D. Bell, state P-TA vice president; Mrs. W. N. Norred, district president and Mrs. Alton Underwood city council president.

Mrs. Underwood was the guest speaker. Mrs. Willard Hendrick gave the devotion. Music was furnished by the South Paw Barber-shop Quartet.

Reports on the spring conference were given by Mrs. Doyle Thomas and Mrs. Cecil Hyden. Mrs. Burt Sammons presided.

Rev. Hoyer Speaks For Ladies Aid

When the Concordia Ladies Aid Society of the Lutheran Church met for a regular business meeting at the church Wednesday evening, the Rev. A. H. Hoyer gave the devotion from Psalm 139, using as his subject, "Youth and Marriage."

Plans were made to attend the zone meeting of the LWMS to be held in Sparsberg on May 12. Mrs. Harold Walkhouse was elected delegate to the State Convention of LWMS to be held in Waco on May 15. Mrs. A. H. Hoyer was elected as alternate. Mrs. John Foster served refreshments to 13 members.

Bake Sale Saturday

A bake sale will be held by the VFW Auxiliary Saturday at Piggy Wiggly beginning at 9 a.m.

NCO Wives Dance

NCO Wives are sponsoring a dance to be given at the NCO Club on May 15, Armed Forces Day, beginning at 8 p.m. to which the public is invited. It is to be a Hobo Dance, and various prizes will be awarded. Music will be by a local band. The nursery will be open during the dance.

Mrs. Sybert Named Queen Mother At Lamesa Tea

LAMESA — Mrs. J. L. Sybert reigned as Queen Mother recently at the Delphin Mother-Daughter Twilight Tea. Mrs. Valeria Sharp Pratt presented Mrs. Sybert with a corsage of carnations at the opening hour of the tea and designated her as Queen Mother in view of the many years that Mrs. Sybert has held the position as the oldest mother attending the annual Delphin event.

Mrs. Sybert's daughter and granddaughter, Mrs. Gordon McGuire Jr. and Mrs. Charles Simmons attended the tea with her. Sharing honors with Mrs. Sybert as the oldest mother for the second tea hour was Mrs. R. G. Ragan. Mrs. Ragan was also recognized during the second hour as the mother with the most daughters present. Her daughters are Mrs. Clarence Parks and Mrs. J. C. Bayless. Mrs. T. A. Kellam presented Mrs. Ragan with a carnation corsage.

Others receiving corsages during the first hour were Mrs. Jack Temple, youngest mother; Mrs. J. D. Burleson, most daughters present; Mrs. Jessie Davis and Mrs. Opal Brookerson who tied for the mother with the most generations present. Each was represented by three generations.

Receiving flowers during the second hour were Mrs. L. R. Crowell, youngest mother, and Mrs. Ernest Jones, mother with the most generations present. Three generations represented Mrs. Jones.

Two hundred guests attended the tea during the hours of 7 p.m. and 8 p.m. The Club House was decorated with spring floral arrangements. Arrangements of roses intermingled with larkspur were used on the piano and throughout the house. The serving table was centered with a bouquet of yellow and white snapdragons. Blue candles in crystal holders completed the setting. Mrs. W. P. Aviret presided at the serving table during the first tea hour and Mrs. M. C. Lindsey served during the second hour.

4-H Girls Win District Ribbons

LAMESA — Three local 4-H Club Girls carried home prize winning ribbons from the District II 4-H Club meet in Lubbock recently.

Nell Hoger from the Lamesa Club placed second in Public Speaking. She will be the alternate for the state meet in College Station, June 10. Her subject was "Democracy versus Dictatorship."

Mary Lou Lewis from the Ackerly Club and Mary Johnson from the Klondike Club won a third place in the Electric Team demonstration. For their demonstration, they assembled a lamp.

BPDOes Convention

Mrs. W. C. Ragsdale will attend the national convention of BPDOes at San Antonio beginning this weekend. Mrs. Ragsdale is president of the local Doos.

'How To Be Happy' Discussed For Church Of God LMS

"How to be Happy" was the subject discussed by Mrs. J. D. Jenkins as a devotion for the Ladies Missionary Society of the First Church of God at a meeting Thursday morning. Her text was James 5.

The group met in the home of Mrs. J. E. Parker. Mrs. John E. Kolar and Mrs. A. L. Holly led in prayer.

The society sent an offering to Athens, Greece, to be used for a church building. Two quilt tops were donated to the mission field. Plans were made for the society to entertain the Cheerio Club next week.

Mrs. Ethel Hickson was appointed secretary and Mrs. Kolar was made publicity chairman. Mrs. Truett Thomas presided and gave the closing prayer.

Ten members were present. Visitors were Mrs. D. D. DeArman of Juneau, Alaska, and Mrs. Al Weaver of Anaconda, Mont.

Runs Mile In Less Than Four Minutes

Roger Bannister, former Oxford ace, breaks the tape as he achieves the goal of all trackmen—a mile run in less than four minutes. He was timed in at 3:59.4 in his memorable performance. It was his first race of the year. (AP Wirephoto via radio from London).

Athletic World Applauds Miler

By MILT MARMOR OXFORD, England (AP)—Roger Bannister, the master miler who crashed the four-minute barrier, drew back into his shell of shyness today while the athletic world acclaimed his feat of the century.

Sweetwater Is 4-0 Winner

By The Associated Press Roswell held a one-game Longhorn League lead Friday after a shattering 16-9 triumph over the Big Spring Broncs that kept them a step ahead of the rampant Artesia Drillers.

Artesia blanked defending champion Carlsbad 8-0. Sweetwater's rejuvenated Spudders shut out San Angelo 4-0, and Midland nudged Odessa 2-1 in 10 innings in the other Thursday night games.

Boros Holds Upper Hand At Ardmore

ARDMORE, Okla. (AP)—Former National Open champion Julius Boros of Mid Pines, N. C., held the upper hand today as a select field of 166 golfers teed off in the rich Ardmore Open Golf Tournament.

FIELD BUNCHED IN STATE MEET

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF AUSTIN (AP)—The ponderous Texas Schoolboy Track and Field Meet, bringing 675 athletes into slambang competition, moved out today with tight fights due for the championships in all three divisions.

Sunset (Dallas) sought a repeat title in Class AA and Sugar Land aimed at the third championship in a row in Class B but there will be a new Class A champion, Bresham, which won the title in 1933, doesn't have a single man back.

At least three overall records and 10 divisional marks are due to be established and some of them could be hung up in preliminaries and eight finals to be run off today.

The record most certain to be cracked is the mile relay before the blistering quarter-milers of Baytown, who last week ripped off a 3:18.2, which tumbled the National Scholastic record of 3:21.2, set by Lyons Township High School of La Grange, Ill., in 1933.

Class A may produce the third overall record. Vern McGrew of Lamar (Houston) high jumped 6 feet 5 inches in 1934 and that record hasn't been seriously endangered since.

Cougars May Win Tennis Crown

HOUSTON (AP)—Oklahoma A&M was expected to retain its Missouri Valley Conference golf championship here today but pass its tennis crown to the University of Houston.

The Aggies, paced by Ben Dickson and Gene Walser, held a 12-point team lead over Houston as the final round of the 54-hole golf meet began.

Houston, however, needed to win only two of the five semifinal matches for which it qualified to replace the Aggies as the conference tennis champion.

After Houston's No. 2 player, John Bean, upset C. J. Hixson, the defending singles titlist from A&M in a 6-2, 6-3 quarterfinal match, the Cougars continued on to qualify three singles players and two doubles teams for the semifinals.

After finishing the first 18-hole round in a three-way tie at 69, Dickson carded an afternoon one-under-par 71 to lead the field of 28 golfers at 140 after 36 holes.

take the 100 and 200-yard dashes, possibly setting a record in the first, and to either win or place high in the broad jump. Morrow has run 9.6 in the 100 this year and the state record in Class AA is 9.7.

Bobby Moehart of Abilene and Mike Stewart of Baytown might trim down the 800-yard record of 1:59.1 and Kelly could erase the high jump record of 6 feet 2 1/2 inches. He has leaped 6-3 1/4 this year.

Joe Sullivan of Fort Stockton is a good bet for a record in the Class A 200-yard low hurdles. The record is 1:24 and he has made that time this season.

In Class B Willie Cox of New Deal might eclipse both hurdle records. He has run 14.6 in the high and 19.6 in the low and the records are 14.8 and 19.4 respectively.

Finals in the Class AA broad jump and discus throw and the pole vault, discus throw and the broad jump and Class B pole vault, discus and broad jump are being held today along with preliminaries in the other events. All other finals will be run off tomorrow afternoon starting at 1 o'clock.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

When Umpire Jim Tongate limped off the field in a recent baseball game here, it was an old battle wound and not a hurt he suffered on the field that put him out of action.

Tongate, one of the real veterans in the arduous game, has been carrying around a memento of war for a long while now. He got in the way of an enemy machine gun burst in the Battle of Argonne Forest in 1918 and spent a year in the hospital.

Jim gets around surprisingly well for a man who almost had his legs cut from under him. Only occasionally do the wounds bother him.

Tongate has been at this game of umpiring for something like 29 years now. Before that, he was a promising pitcher who hurried for Seattle in the Pacific Coast League.

He's called balls and strikes in the Texas League (he was on that league's payroll when the directors decided to quit in 1942 because of the war), the Southern Association and the Big State League, among others.

A native of Seattle, Wash., Jim now resides in Waco, Tex.

He's one of two Purple Heart veterans officiating in the Longhorn League. The other is Al Sample, who suffered a similar wound in World War II. He got in the way of some exploding shrapnel. He's lucky to be here, too.

In a note to this window, Pat Gerald, football coach at Sweetwater High School, says "We seem to lose all our lettermen every year."

Gerald's Mustangs will be equipped to do business as usual next fall, which means they'll prove a big order for any team.

Bill Frank, an astute observer of baseball who remains a true friend of the game despite the disastrous season he experienced as general manager of the club here last year, is in Pepper Martin's corner.

Bill says it looks now like Martin may overcome the obstacles that lay in his path and get home free. He says the sun is shining through because Pep has his team winning at home, something Bill's 1933 team couldn't do with any degree of consistency.

Pepper's team ripped off six straight home wins this year and didn't have a single one weathered out.

The 1933 club, a real toughie on foreign field through most of the season, finally achieved their sixth home victory last year in their 17th home booking, which came on June 5. During that time, the elements had stopped them from playing on four occasions and the opposition out-scored them in 17 other games, all in view of unsympathetic local crowds.

The situation got so bad so soon last year that Hack Miller yielded the managerial reins to Joe Neidson after the 16th home reversal.

Even the weather threw a curve on Frank. His team had Midland beat one night in early June but a storm blew in at a time the Broncs had the winning run in scoring position and ended the proceedings.

When he beat Wichita Falls recently for his first mound win of the season, crafty Aramis Arenchiba probably was working harder than usual. One of the fans said before the game he was trying to make up his mind what to give the Arenchiba family for the recent addition to the family and it might be a five-dollar bill, if he won.

JOHNNY TEMPLE SPARKS CINCINNATI REDLEGS

By BEN PHLEGAR AP Sports Writer

Tobacco-chewing Johnny Temple, who aims for first base instead of the fences, is proving the sparkplug of the Cincinnati Redlegs' fight for first division.

Sandwiched into a lineup which breathes power at almost every position, this 24-year-old North Carolinian has parlayed his hump-back liners over the infield into a .378 batting average, tops on the club.

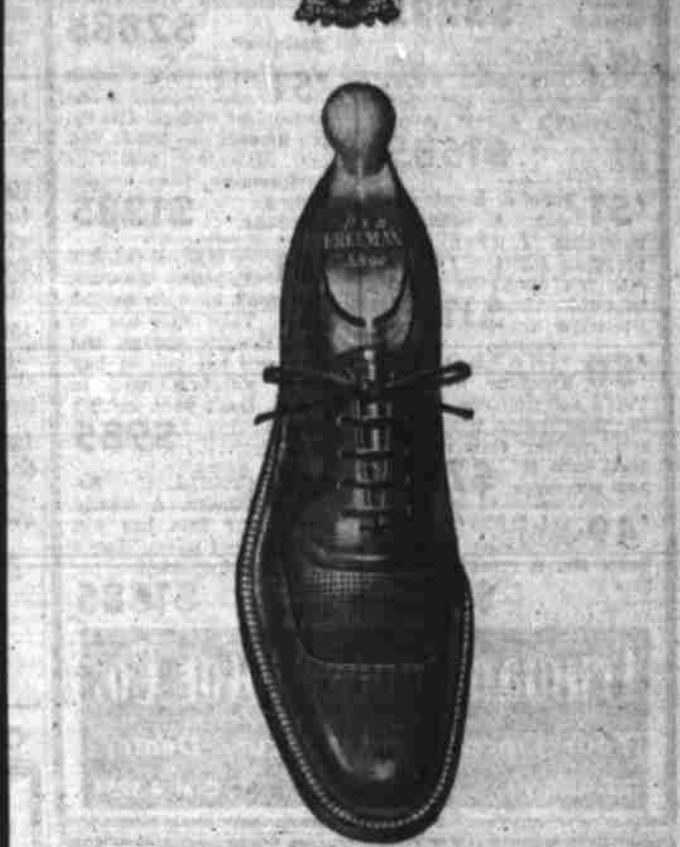

He has been personally responsible for the winning run in exactly 25 per cent of the Reds' victories this spring.

He drove in the deciding tally again yesterday as Cincinnati shaded the New York Giants, 5-4, and moved into second place in the National League with a 12-6 record. The Reds trail the first-place Philadelphia Phillies by half a game.

The Brooklyn Dodgers fell before the Chicago Cubs, 8-7, in 11 innings and Milwaukee beat Pittsburgh, 3-0. The Phillies were rained out at St. Louis.

In the American League the Chicago White Sox stretched their lead

Doctors Warned To Use Drugs Carefully

Since all drugs are potentially harmful, the physician has a tremendous responsibility in their use, area doctors were told Thursday in a lecture at the Veterans Administration Hospital. Dr. Arthur Grollman, professor of experimental medicine at Southwestern Medical School, delivered the lecture, which was attended by approximately 30 from local hospitals. His subject was "Use and Abuse of Drug Therapy." No drug should be used unless its harmful effects on the patient are considered, Dr. Grollman said. He also emphasized that the doctor must know how to use a drug, when to use, and the correct dosage to use. The doctor's first consideration is the nature of the disease and the fundamental condition of the patient which must be altered, he explained. "With the potent drugs of today, we have to carry out diagnosis to the ultimate degree." After definite indications are noted concerning a disease, the best drug must be selected. Then, he said, prompt and efficient concentration of the drug should follow, with changes being made in drug treatment if the desired effect is not obtained. Dr. Grollman pointed out that the proper effect of treatment will be missed unless the doctor knows the response required of the drug. He explained that every detail of the drug should be known or it should not be used. For proper treatment, the doctor must find the specific agent he needs, Grollman stated. "Shotgun mixtures" never contain enough of the proper drug to do any good, he said, pointing out that such mixtures are a common abuse in the treatment of anemias. To select the proper drug the physician must know the organism infecting the patient, it was pointed out. The routine use of certain drugs for a particular symptom has caused promiscuous use of drugs, Dr. Grollman said. "There are occasions when we do more harm with drugs than good," he stated, explaining that certain drugs can be potential causes of death. Dr. Grollman cautioned against the overuse of particular drugs when others would be more effective. He mentioned, among others, penicillin and streptomycin. The importance of dosage should not be minimized, he said. About two-thirds of the people require what is known as an "average" dose, but some require less and others more. The doctor must know the susceptibility of the patient and keep his eye under observation for results. Drug therapy in the treating of malignancy has grown in the past few years, and he stated, that it is no longer considered correct that surgery and radiology are the only treatments. The specialist should know every detail and trick common to medicine as long as it affects his specialty," Dr. Grollman said. "It has been a tendency of late for the specialist to use his own specialties while neglecting other practices." The specialist in experimental medicine also pointed out that the development of drugs during the past 30 years has made the practice of medicine more difficult for the physician. The remarkable improvement of drugs along with other medical improvements of recent years has changed the management of disease and aided in prolonging life, he said. Dr. Grollman's lecture at the hospital was one in a series originated by Dr. Jackson H. Friedlander, director of the hospital's professional services. His appearance here was arranged with the department of postgraduate education at the Southwestern Medical School. Dr. Grollman has been an extremely popular lecturer here, having appeared several times. His talks are always well attended.

Booties Bring Luck

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—For luck, cab driver Joseph Mutserallo has a pair of baby booties dangling from the rear-view mirror of his cab. The booties brought luck to Mrs. Marie Schance of Brooklyn, who left her purse in the taxi. The purse contained a bankbook, $56 in cash and her airline return ticket to New York. While telling police of her loss she remembered the booties. A check of downtown cab stands located Mutserallo's taxi. The purse was on the floor.

Costly Substitute

CLEVELAND (AP)—The young woman handed the man 31 capsules containing a white powder and accepted $62 in return. Then the man, a federal narcotics agent, arrested her on charges of selling dope. But Federal Judge Charles J. McNamee Wednesday dismissed the charges against Miss Josephine Evans, 24. Laboratory tests showed the capsules she sold contained only milk sugar. Miss Evans went free, and the agent is out $62.

Death Sentences Meted Out In San Francisco Kidnaping Case

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Two former private detectives condemned to death for a kidnaping in which the victim was rescued and no ransom was paid faced the San Quentin gas chamber with radically different attitudes today.

Dapper, 52-year-old Harold Jackson and mild Joseph Lear, 43, were convicted late yesterday under California's Little Lindbergh Law of kidnaping Leonard Moskowitz, 38, a real estate broker, Jan. 16. They demanded $500,000 ransom; later $300,000.

The jury of six men and six women found that Moskowitz had suffered bodily harm in being chained and threatened with a knife before he was rescued by police after 61 hours in captivity. The jurors automatically condemned the two to death by not recommending leniency.

The verdict didn't seem to bother Jackson, a onetime sailor and an all-time adventurer who operated a wartime private guard agency on the San Francisco waterfront.

Brought into court in handcuffs to hear the verdict late in the 33rd trial day, the convicted mastermind of the Moskowitz kidnaping cracked to his lawyer:

"Cheer up, pal, the worst is yet to come. Here's where we get that old rocking chair."

As the verdict was read, pointedly omitting any leniency recommendation which could have resulted in life imprisonment, Jackson grinned and circled his right forefinger and thumb in a symbol of triumph.

"Well, well, old rocking chair's got me," he said.

Then he laughed aloud at Lear, whose face was strained and taut. When an identical guilty verdict was read for Lear, Lear broke into tears.

His pretty 23-year-old wife Betty, who sat in the first row with his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. James Lear of Havre, Mont., stared for a moment, then plunged her face into her hands. Both women sobbed.

Superior Judge Twain Michelson said he would hear arguments Tuesday for a new trial before pronouncing sentence.

If a new trial is denied, defense attorneys said they would appeal. California law provides for an automatic review by the State Supreme Court of all death sentences.

Moskowitz disappeared Jan. 16 on the way to a business appointment. He testified that Jackson, on pretext of wanting to buy a home, had lured him to a rented house, where he was overpowered and imprisoned.

On Jan. 19, alert police noticed a man making a telephone call for ransom, it turned out—from a sidewalk booth. The telephone was Lear, who led police to the kidnap house, where Moskowitz was freed.

Lear testified he was hired by Jackson as a private detective; that when he learned he was involved in a kidnaping he was afraid to break away because he feared for his life and family's.

Jackson pleaded in court that it was all a hoax; that Moskowitz wanted to extract money from his father.

Said Moskowitz of the death verdict:

"It was perfectly just. . . They are getting what they deserve."

NEW THEORY

Maybe People Go Insane Due To Body Chemical

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Maybe people go insane because their bodies start making a queer insanity chemical, a psychiatrist said today.

This chemical might be something made out of adrenaline, the potent hormone which jizzes up our bodies for fight or flight.

Some people may be born with a chemical machinery predisposed to make this chemical. Or it might appear when the body chemistry goes haywire from repeated stresses and strains.

This chemical theory for insanity and new evidence for it were described to the American Psychiatric Assn. in a report by Doctors Max Rinkel, Robert W. Hyde and Harry C. Solomon of the Boston Psychopathic Hospital.

It offers the possibility of pinpointing what the insanity chemical is, and then to counteract it to prevent and treat "mankind's greatest plague, insanity," Dr. Rinkel said.

The theory is based partly upon intensive studies with a drug which gives normal people the feelings and other signs of schizophrenia, one of the worst insanities.

The drug is LSD, meaning D-Lysergic acid diethylamide, discovered in Switzerland by Sandoz Chemical Laboratories.

It's a derivative of a fungus, ergot. Ergot was blamed for causing the fits and "madness from bread" containing ergot which struck the French town of Pont St. Esprit in 1951.

LSD has no taste, no color. Just a trace of it in a glass of water was tested by more than 100 volunteers, including Dr. Rinkel.

The idea was to learn what it feels like to be in the shoes of a mental patient.

The drinks containing LSD gave normal humans many of the mental signs of schizophrenia, including inability to think clearly, mood changes, even hallucinations sometimes.

Still other drugs which produce results resembling mental illness create similar kinds of physical and chemical changes.

This is the main reason for theorizing that insanity has a chemical cause, stemming from some interference with the normal chemistry of the body.

The guilty chemical might be adrenoxine, formed when adrenaline is broken down or changes within the body, Dr. Rinkel said. This is a guess, and further studies are under way to find what the insanity chemical is, if there is one, might be.

LSD and other drugs which work like it may be interfering with the body's chemical factories so that the insanity chemical starts to be made, Dr. Rinkel said.

Young Vet Ruled Guilty In Slaying Of Neighbor Girl

DOYLESTOWN, Pa. (AP)—George L. Capps, a 22-year-old Army veteran, was convicted of first-degree murder—with a death penalty recommendation—last night in the slaying of a teen-age neighbor girl.

A jury of nine men and three women deliberated less than two hours before returning the verdict. Capps had admitted shooting 15-year-old Maria Gibbons through the head but maintained he was intoxicated and temporarily insane.

The girl's frozen and partially clad body was found by the edge of a lake several miles from her home in the new community of Levittown last Jan. 25.

Capps testified he and the girl had been intimate in the rear of his automobile, with her consent. He said they later argued and he shot her. The state contended he acted in fear she would tell his wife, who was expecting a baby at the time.

Mother, Daughter Die At Same Time

BLUEFIELD, W. Va. (AP)—Mrs. Helen Swaggerty, 23, of Lashmeet and her 43-year-old mother died yesterday at exactly the same time—5:30 a.m.

Death came to Mrs. Swaggerty, who underwent an operation for cancer last December, at her parents' home in Lashmeet. Her mother, Mrs. Alma Milles, died in a hospital here of a heart ailment.

Japan To Stop Tests Of Tuna For Export

TOKYO (AP)—Japan will stop radioactive testing of canned and frozen tuna May 10, Agriculture Minister Shigetaru Hori announced today.

All tuna for export has been tested under government order since Japanese fishing boats began unloading radioactive tuna after the March 1 hydrogen bomb test at Bikini.

Hori said latest tests of 6,000 tons of frozen tuna and 70,000 cases of canned tuna showed no radioactivity.

Steel Union To Seek Guarantee On Wages

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A guaranteed annual wage—long one of labor's principal aims—and an unspecified pay increase keynote 1954 contract objectives of the powerful CIO United Steelworkers.

The union outlined its program for negotiations with the basic steel industry, due to start later this month, as the 170-member USW wage policy committee opened a two-day conference yesterday to draft final bargaining plans.

A four-point program embodying demands for the guaranteed annual wage and a pay boost was adopted by the union's 50-man executive board and presented to the policy committee. Final approval is seen only as a formality.

Rounding out the program are demands for improved insurance and pension plans and better contract terms on such items as seniority, holidays, vacations, overtime, severance pay and local working conditions.

David J. McDonald, USW president, said the policy committee took up the wage and pension-insurance points at the first day's session.

He declined to state what wage hike the union wants for its 600,000 members in basic steel now earning an average of $2.14 to $2.24 an hour.

On the guaranteed annual wage, McDonald said the proposal to be presented at the bargaining table will "likely follow the general trend of a plan which the union has been discussing."

He said the plan calls for formation of a supplemental benefit income to be paid to unemployed workers out of a trust fund. He didn't go into details.

The USW will begin contract negotiations with U.S. Steel Corp. on May 15. U. S. Steel, No. 1 steel producer in the country, generally sets the contract pattern for the industry.

Talks are expected to be scheduled soon with other basic producers such as Bethlehem Steel Corp., Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. and Republic Steel Corp. Contracts expire June 30.

Agreements worked out with the basic producers probably will form the basis for negotiations later this year with the fabricating and allied industries which employ an additional 600,000 USW members.

Gale Sweeps 14 Off Jap Ship's Lifeboat

MOJIK, Japan (AP)—Fourteen men, half the crew of the storm-wrecked Japanese freighter Aikawa Maru, were swept away by gale-whipped seas that engulfed their lifeboat, survivors reported today.

Japanese Think Fourth H-Bomb Tested Recently

TOKYO (AP)—Two Japanese scientists said today the United States apparently exploded a fourth hydrogen bomb at Bikini between April 25 and 27.

They said their estimate was based on Geiger counter tests of rain which fell this week on widely separated areas of Japan.

Prof. Yasushi Nishiwaki of Osaka Medical University said rain which fell in Osaka, about 300 miles southwest of Tokyo, yesterday was many times more radioactive than rain tested Monday.

Nishiwaki said there was a similar sharp increase in the radioactivity of rain 12 days after the second H-bomb test March 26 and 12 days after the third test April 6. Dr. Hironobu Watanabe of Ni-igata University said rain which fell in Niigata, about 100 miles north of Tokyo, Monday and Tuesday showed a sharp increase in radioactivity.

Watanabe's theory is that it takes about a week for atomic particles to reach Niigata, roughly 2,500 miles northwest of Bikini.

"Therefore the new radioactivity is believed to have been caused by a fourth H-bomb test that took place in Bikini on April 26 or 27," he said.

The scientists said the rain was not dangerously radioactive.

Collision Might Have Brought On Collusion

CRYSTAL LAKE, Ill. (AP)—State policemen Wilbert Hecht and Jack Meyers, investigating an automobile collision, found that the motorists involved were William Hecht and Henry Meyers.

William Hecht was a brother of Wilbert. Henry Meyers was not related to Jack Meyers.

No one was hurt.

Elijah Challenges Baal Worship

JEHOVAH'S PROPHET DEALS PAGANISM A MORTAL BLOW.

Scripture—1 Kings 17:1-18:28.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
ELIJAH, THE TISHBITE, is the hero of one of the most thrilling episodes of the Old Testament. The lesson is long, so we will have room only to mention briefly the things that occurred before the great drama took place on the mountaintop.
 King Ahab had succeeded his father, Omri, as king of Israel, and he proved one of the worst kings of all Israel's rulers. He had a wicked wife, named Jezebel, whose name even today implies that a woman to whom it is applied is evil.
 Elijah faced the king and told him, "As the Lord God of Israel liveth, before whom I stand, there shall not be dew nor rain these years, but according to my word." And so it was, the earth dried, the brooks were empty of water and not even dew fell to moisten plants. There was a great famine in the land.
 However, God told Elijah to hide himself by the brook Cherith and He would send ravens to feed him. Elijah obeyed and the ravens did feed him, bringing meat and bread, and he drank from the brook until it dried up. Then God told him to go to the town of Zarephath and a widow would give him food.

 When Elijah appeared at the widow's home and asked for a drink of water and some bread, she said she had only a handful of meal and a little oil to feed her son, and herself, and then they would die, but Elijah told her that if she would make a little cake for him, the Lord had said that the meal "shall not waste, neither shall the cruse of oil fail, until the day that the Lord sendeth rain upon the earth."
 So Elijah lived with the widow and her son and they were fed, but the son was taken ill and "there was no breath left in him." His mother upbraided Elijah, accusing him of being the cause of the boy's death. Elijah took the child to his own room, laid him upon the bed, stretched himself upon the child three times and prayed that he might live, and the boy recovered.
 After three years of drought the Lord told Elijah to show himself to Ahab. Now Obadiah was governor of the king's house, and a devout man, and the king had told him to go into the land and see if there was any water left in any fountain or brook so that the horses and mules might be saved.
 Obadiah had hidden in caves 100 of the Lord's prophets who would have been killed by Jezebel. Meeting the prophet Elijah, Obadiah was terrified when the prophet told him that he must see the king. He thought Ahab would kill him because the king had sent everywhere to find and slay Elijah but had not found him.

a like altar on the peak of Mt. Carmel, built a trench about it, laid wood upon it, the bullock upon the wood, poured water over the meat and the wood three times, filling the trench also with water.
 Elijah then prayed most earnestly to the God of Abraham, Isaac and Israel, saying: "Hear me, O Lord, hear me, that this people may know that Thou art the Lord God, and that Thou hast turned their heart back again."
 Then the fire of the Lord fell, and consumed the burnt sacrifice, and the wood, and licked up the water that was in the trench.
 When the people saw this they fell on their faces and said, "The Lord, He is the God; the Lord, He is the God!"
 Then Elijah called upon the people to kill all the prophets of Baal, which they did. "Elijah said to Ahab, get thee up, eat and drink, for there is a sound of abundance of rain."
 When Jezebel, the queen, was told she was so furious she vowed she would have Elijah killed, so again he fled into the wilderness, sat down under a juniper tree and pleaded, "O Lord, take away my life; for I am not better than my fathers."
 However, he did not die then. An angel of the Lord fed him for the Lord had other missions for him to fulfill.
 Pictures of idols that have been worshiped in various times would interest children in this lesson. Are there any idol worshippers in our own communities? What about those who make money for their god? or those who make a fetish of power seeking? These, too, might be called idol worship.

MOTHER vs. INFECTION

Maybe most of those cuts and scratches would heal without any medicine. But who can tell when a simple scratch is going to develop into a serious infection?

Mother is alert to every possibility of danger for her children. Guarding them against infection is part of her daily responsibility.

Incidentally, that accounts for Mother's constant concern for her children's religious training. She knows that there are "infections" which destroy our moral and spiritual well-being.

Every Sunday, with her husband and her children, you'll find Mother in Church. For the Church is one of the few things that Mother considers even more essential to the well-being of her family than that bottle of antiseptic in the medicine closet.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship, strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

CIVIL DEFENSE PLEA MISFIRES

CINCINNATI (AP)—Civil defense officials sent airplanes over Cincinnati yesterday dropping leaflets which proclaimed: "This might have been a bomb."
 If they'd been bombs they might have hit Cincinnati.
 Since they were leaflets, a brisk wind carried them all out of town before they hit the ground.

Honduras Charges Guatemalan Consuls With Strike Action

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP)—The Honduran government has lifted the diplomatic status of two Guatemalan consuls. It accused them of practicing "contrary to the democratic form of government."
 The action was linked with a strike of some 20,000 banana workers employed by the U. S.-owned United Fruit Co. The Honduran press has declared the wage strike was inspired by agents from Communist-tinged Guatemala, where thousands of acres of fruit company land has been expropriated.
 A Foreign Ministry communique said the two Guatemalan officials were involved in practices outside normal consular tasks "detrimental to the public order menaced by the strike." They were identified as Jose Maria Aguilar Muniz, consul at Puerto Cortes, and Raul Perez, consul general at San Pedro Sula.

Piggy Bank Indicator May Show Trends In Economy

By FRANK O'BRIEN
WASHINGTON (AP)—Records of the U. S. Mint suggest economists on the search for new and more sensitive pointers to whether business is getting better or worse may have been overlooking something good—the piggy bank economic indicator.

Records of the nation's three mints kept here as records of "The Mint," indicate that the public begins pinching its pennies, and other small coin, before the big, impressive pointers to economic trends like industrial production show clearly that a downturn has set in.

And, the piggy bank indicator indicates, the public doesn't loosen up with its single money until after business has definitely turned up again.

It's too early to say definitely yet, but latest word from the piggy bank indicator suggests that as of early April business may have taken a turn for the better.

How the public gets so wise, and just why economic trends should be so sensitively traced in coin usage, are mysteries the mint has not unraveled. But it keeps month-by-month records of its deliveries of coins to the nation's banks, which put change into circulation. And the records of coin deliveries foreshadow and parallel the major economic turns. Through April 23, coin deliveries totaled only about 20 million pieces, compared with nearly 85 million pieces in the full month of April 1953.

But maybe the piggy bank indicator is indicating a new turn. In the week ended April 2, inventories of coins at federal reserve banks showed a decrease for the first time since the end of 1953. That

A frail young woman visits an art gallery

Nearly a hundred years ago... a frail young woman of 22 sat in an art gallery in Germany. Too delicate to attend school regularly in her native England, Frances Ridley Havergal's father had sent her to visit friends in Düsseldorf. Exhausted from sightseeing, Miss Havergal sat, by chance, to rest in front of a painting of Christ on the cross. Over the wreath of thorns she noticed the words: "This have I done for thee; What hast thou done for me?"

In England she showed the lines to her father, the Rev. W. K. Havergal, a hymn writer and composer in his own right. He encouraged her to add more verses. Thus began one of the most brilliant careers in the writing of Christian songs since the days of Isaac Watts.

Always frail in health, Frances Havergal died at the age of 43. When the physician told her the end was near she said, "Splendid! To be so near the gates of Heaven!"

Her hymns are still in use around the world, and foremost among them is the one that would have been destroyed in the flames but for a chance gust of air.

I gave my life for thee,
My precious blood I shed,
That thou might'st be reconciled to,
And quickened from the dead;
I gave my life for thee,
What hast thou given for Me?

I suffered much for thee,
More than thy tongue can tell
Of bitter agony,
To ransom thee from hell;
I bore it all for thee,
What hast thou borne for Me?

My Father's house of light,
My glory circled throne,
I left, for earthly night,
For wanderings sad and lone;
I left it all for thee,

THANKS TO TAX CUT Survey Indicates Corporation Profits Are Holding Steady

By WAYNE OLIVER
NEW YORK (AP)—Profits of 616 leading American corporations for the first quarter of this year ran about even with a year ago, an Associated Press compilation showed today.

Their aggregate net income was $1,984,221,000 compared with $1,978,528,000 in the first three months of 1953—actually a gain of a little less than three-tenths of 1 per cent.

Elimination of the excess profits tax last Dec. 31 played a major part in sustaining earnings and enabled some companies to show substantial gains.

The giant General Motors Corp., with a tax bill 144 million dollars lower than a year ago, gained nearly 28 million dollars in profits. E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. had 48 million dollars less in taxes and 17 million more in earnings.

But industries and companies did not share alike. Fifty-seven railroads showed a 50 per cent decline in profits, 19 textile companies were down 54 per cent, 37 steel companies were off nearly 23 per cent, and 19 nonferrous metals companies down 16 per cent. Eight airlines reporting had an aggregate loss of more than three million dollars compared with 4 1/2 million profits a year ago.

On the other hand, seven aircraft manufacturers were 48 per cent ahead of a year ago due in large part to heavy output of military planes.

Thirty-one oil companies, receiving tax benefits under depletion allowances, turned in profits nearly 17 per cent higher than in the first three months of 1953. Fifteen pulp and paper companies gained 20 per cent and 67 electric and gas utilities companies were up 7 per cent.

A gain of 9 per cent was shown by 24 food and nonalcoholic beverage companies, and eight firms making liquor or beer were down 2 per cent. Besides General Motors and Du Pont, there were some other big gainers. General Electric Co. made 14 million dollars more than a year ago. The Bell Telephone System, consisting of American Telephone & Telegraph Co. and its 21 principal telephone subsidiaries, was up 15 million but on increased investment so that its rate of profit remained about the same.

Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey) was 20 million dollars ahead of last year, Standard of California up 16 million, Westinghouse Electric Corp. up 9 1/2 million and the Texas Co. 8 million. Those eight corporations alone had an aggregate gain of 129 1/2 million dollars in profits over a year ago.

General Motors ran counter to the trend in the automotive field among companies making financial reports. The giant Ford Motor Co., not having publicly owned stock outstanding, is not required to file reports, so its results are not known.

However, Chrysler Corp. skidded from $24,428,740 in the first quarter of 1953 to $7,661,000 in the latest quarter, and Nash, Studebaker and Packard showed sharp declines.

The latest compilation, bolstered by reports from most of the big money-makers of industry, compared more favorably with last year than an earlier AP tabulation two weeks ago. It covered the first 130 corporations to report, and they showed a decline of nearly 12 per cent in profits from 1953.

CHICAGO (AP)—Rodney Dee Brodie, the 32-month-old Siamese twin who survived a history-making operation, is visiting his family at Ferris, Ill.

Rodney's home thus far, except for a brief Christmas holiday at Ferris, has been the University of Illinois Medical Center, where he and his twin Roger were separated in 1952. The operation cost Roger his life.

A medical center spokesman said the visit, of two or three weeks, is part of the center's program for Rodney's continued emotional and social development. "Rodney talks constantly and well," the spokesman said, "and now is learning to walk."

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) has made the first known public disclosure that American scientists are trying to harness the power of the H-bomb for peaceful purposes.

Heretofore, scientists have admitted the possibility of controlling thermonuclear power, but have generally assumed it could only be used destructively.

Hickenlooper, vice chairman of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy, did not elaborate on his statement made in a speech yesterday before the World Affairs Council of Philadelphia.

"There is a possibility of direct production of power through controlled thermonuclear reaction," he said.

Confidence Game Costly Knowledge

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—It cost an elderly Boise woman $2,000 yesterday to learn how to play a well-known confidence game.

The woman, who asked her name not be used, told police she was stopped on the street by another lady, who explained she had a lot of money and wanted to know a safe place to put it.

Just then, another woman passed by. She said she had just found a wad of currency, and she promised that each of the other two could have $1,000 of it if they would only loan her some cash for a few hours.

The victim, who is 71, drew $2,000 from her bank and turned it over. That was the last she's seen of the other two.

Seven Injured In Escape Attempt

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (AP)—Seven inmates of the Maryland State Reformatory for Males nursed bullet wounds today while officials probed their attempted escape from the institution, where two riots occurred last fall.

The seven were among 10 young prisoners who scaled a 20-foot steel wire fence surrounding a recreation yard last night only to be stopped by a spray of buckshot from seven guards.

Supt. Clement J. Ferling said these hit suffered minor flesh wounds. Three others escaped injury.

Beef Roasts Are Featured Market Buys Over Nation

By The Associated Press
Beef, chickens and turkeys will be the big favorites for weekend features in the meat departments of most of the nation's food stores this weekend.

Among beef cuts, stores are giving prominence to rib roast and chuck roast. Rib roast will be down four to eight cents a pound from a week ago in a number of markets, and chuck beef will be a few cents to as much as 12 cents a pound cheaper.

Sirloin steak, on the other hand, will be higher in some areas.

Pork chop prices will be lower in scattered cities.

Eggs will be up a few cents a dozen in some areas and down a little in others. Butter shows little change.

Prices of frozen orange concentrate have been creeping upward this week.

The best buys in vegetables are potatoes, onions, spinach, celery, radishes, asparagus, squash, peas and cucumbers.

Strawberries remain the best buy in fruit.

Tot Enjoys Rescue By Fire Department

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Little Richard Roberts, 2, got his feet caught in the hollow of concrete blocks under a redwood picket fence behind his home yesterday. When the firemen arrived and used hammer and chisel to free him, he didn't cry—he just kept his eyes glued to the fire apparatus. His mother, Mrs. David Roberts, said: "What some kids won't do to see a fire engine!"

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

Portion of a modern bevatron.

According to a national magazine, many persons in the United States have written to public officers in Washington about atomic bombs. These letters have asked congressmen and others to "do something" to guard against the danger of an H-bomb war.

Such letters it seems to me, work in the right direction. Too often we hear people speaking about what "the rulers" of the world are going to do. In democratic countries, at least, they can influence their governments to some extent. We are free to write letters to public officers, giving our viewpoints. Children are people, and a letter from a boy or girl, as well as from an adult, may carry weight.

Until there is world control of atom bombs, we can expect the building of bigger and better bombs

(or bigger and worse bombs) to go on in the United States, Russia and Great Britain — perhaps elsewhere.

At the close of the second World War, Canada adopted a policy which has found favor. Instead of providing money to produce A-bombs, the government supplied funds for an atomic energy project.

The Canadian project was started about nine years ago, when a "nuclear reactor" was completed. This was set to work at a spot in the Chalk River area, about 125 miles west of Ottawa.

Much more equipment has been added since then. Canadian universities and hospitals (as well as some abroad) have been supplied with isotopes produced in the project. One isotope is a form of cobalt which sends out rays; this cobalt is valuable in cancer research.

France, Norway, Sweden and Holland also are spending millions of dollars for peaceful programs. Much has been done for medicine by their projects. Steps have been taken toward the day when factories and ocean liners will be run by atomic power.

Let us hope that the world will give up the madness known as war. If we use our atoms in the right way, we shall provide a better world for all people.

It's Time To Line Up Job For Summer

By BEVERLY BRANDOW

Calling all teens! If you're planning to slash away a nest egg for next fall's dating expenses, now's the time to think about landing that summer job.

Department stores, and business offices are lining up their summer replacements now. Better get your applications in before the end of school, so that when you're available you'll have a position waiting and won't hear that typical middle-of-June answer of "Sorry no vacancy; all filled" that goes to late pavement-pounders.

There's much to be said in favor of working. Aside from gaining spending money, the responsibility will give you a feeling of importance, and rightly so. While some of your friends are twiddling their thumbs and wondering what to do to stave off summer boredom, you'll be making new friends. Because your off hours will be limited you won't be running out of ideas for packing them chuck full of summer fun.

Then, too, one of these days you'll be a graduate hunting in earnest for a permanent job. How nice, then to have had a little experience. The girl or boy who has gained a certain amount of experience and efficiency during a summer job, has a better chance of landing a good position immediately after graduation.

What about pre-sixteeners? Personally I think that's the time to "really have a ball" during vacations. The time will come, soon enough when you'll need to be thinking about earning a living or getting job experience. Now is the time to create those carefree memories that you'll cherish the rest of your life. I guess you might call it your last fling at childhood. Enjoy it; you can't come back for it later.

If you're determined, may you become a part of the workaday world? Yes. During the three month's school vacation you are allowed by the State Labor Board, to work reasonable hours as long as you are not employed by anyone engaged in interstate commerce. That means that although you can't work for a railroad or a trucking company, you may work for a local grocery, ice cream parlor or the like.

If you work, take it seriously; if you play, have fun.

Eddie Fisher Says He Asked No Favor

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Singer Eddie Fisher, one of several entertainment and sports figures whose Army careers are being investigated by a House subcommittee, said he sought no special favors or assignments during his two years in service.

"I did everything in camp that every other guy in basic did," said Eddie at an alumni function at a Philadelphia high school which he once attended.

The House Armed Services subcommittee is looking into charges that some athletes and entertainers were coddled while in the Army. Fisher said he handled singing chores and entertained troops here and in Korea and Germany while in uniform. "I was ordered to," he added.

Japan Hopes To Get Four U. S. Destroyers

TOKYO (AP)—Japan expects to get four destroyers from the United States under a proposed lend-lease agreement being negotiated under the recently approved mutual security pact.

National Safety Director Tokutaro Kimura told a Diet committee Japan wants 17 warships from the United States and hopes to get agreement on the four destroyers and a small minesweeper by the end of next week.

Chihuahua Puppy Is Object Of Suit

LOS ANGELES (U)—Concert violinist Elliott Fisher's wife has countered him for divorce, declaring he has no community interest in Ricky, a 5-month-old Chihuahua puppy.

Mrs. Lisette Fisher, 22, alleged Ricky was a gift to her from her husband before their estrangement.

Fisher's divorce suit, filed earlier, listed the dog as community property along with $1,500 worth of jewelry and $800 worth of household effects.

De Castries, Of French Nobility, Has Demonstrated Valor Before

By JOHN RODERICK

SAIGON (U)—A gallant French army officer sits in a rain-soaked bunker on the plain of Dien Bien Phu, seeking the key to victory in the darkest hour of his career.

Brig. Gen. Count Christian Marie Fernand de la Croix de Castries, commander of the little pot-shaped valley position, is surrounded by tens of thousands of Communist-Vietminh troops. They are trying to strangle his isolated fortress. The grip has been tightening for days.

Against them stand about 14,000 French, North African, Foreign Legion and Vietnamese troops, crowded into a circle less than a mile in diameter.

In the hands of the six-foot De Castries, a champion horseman who wears a red African cavalry cap instead of a steel helmet, is the decision whether they—and he—will leave the position alive.

"He was meant to be a medieval knight, a cavalier in mail and armor," said one of his intimates recently. "Falling that, he did the next best thing—he became a cavalryman."

Jaqueline, his tall blonde second-wife, lives in Hanoi—187 miles from the battle—and talks to him by radio-telephone every day at noon. It was she who told reporters that her husband was threatening to resign if he weren't promoted immediately from year-old colonelcy in the midst of the battle.

The French government denied he had made any such threat, and attributed her statement to overstrain. Nevertheless, the promotion came through within hours after the denial, despite a French tradition against promotions during a battle.

"You know," she says now, "the general has never doubted even for a moment the possibility of holding Dien Bien Phu. If it falls it will be because the defenders have died to the last man, destroying with them most of the Vietminh."

Dien Bien Phu was designed as a trap to lure the Vietminh into open battle. Now the French themselves are trapped, defending a position that experts say no longer has any value—except as a powerful symbol of the free world's stand against communism in Asia.

De Castries' only lifeline is through the sky. Everything he uses is parachuted from U. S.-supplied Dakotas and Flying Boxcars. The situation must remind De Castries of his experience in the battle of France. Tank and dive-bombers supported the 2,000 Germans who surrounded him and his 60 men in 1940. After three days of fighting he tried a breakout, was wounded and taken prisoner. He made three unsuccessful attempts to escape, succeeded on the fourth try, and two years later was fighting on the Garigliano in Italy. De Castries was born in Paris Aug. 11, 1902, to a family of the old French nobility—and to the cavalry. One of his ancestors was the Marquis Charles de Castrie who fought under Louis XV, became minister of the navy, and went into exile with Louis XVIII. His son Armand served under Lafayette in the American Revolution and died a lieutenant general.

Instead of going to St. Cyr, the French West Point, young De Castries chose the cavalry school at Saumur. One day he saw a beautiful horse galloping in the pastures of a cousin's estate. The animal suddenly made a prodigious leap, clearing a hedge more than six feet high. De Castries had to have that horse. In 1933 he took the unknown jumper—named Vol au Vent—over the barrier to a world record jump of 2.38 meters (7 feet 10 inches).

When he dismounted the crowd hoisted him on its shoulders and paraded him around the track of the Grand Palais in Paris. De Castries has carried over three habits from his jumping days. One is to brandish a riding crop wherever he goes. The second is to bounce back fast from a fall, or any other blow, no matter how badly he is hurt. The third is to chew gum. He chews while riding in battle and he chews when the going is toughest.

In his younger days, he valiantly upheld the cavalry tradition of a charm. Well built, handsome in a rugged way, his soft brown eyes peering from under big black eyebrows, he was surrounded by the Paris beauties of his time.

His gentle manners, his impeccable dress, his love of expensive cars and his position in the best French society made him particularly sought after. He married first outside the circle and the marriage ended in divorce. His second wife comes from a noble family.

Not content with horses as a means of transport, he became interested in aviation and won his pilot's wings in 1931.

In World War II, when his division was approaching Siena, his superior gave him orders to camp 10 miles outside the hilltop city. Later the commanding general appeared on the scene, looking for him. He was nowhere to be found. The general went on his way until he reached the city. There he found De Castries' troops.

Coming back down the hill, the general met De Castries' commanding officer. "Where's De Castries?" asked the general.

"Why, he's here, mon general," replied the bewildered colonel. "That's what you think," the general retorted.

De Castries' tactics were responsible for taking Karlsruhe and Freudenstadt, the key to the Black Forest. He captured the German crown prince.

He went to Indochina in 1946 and stayed for 2½ years to command the Spahis, an African light cavalry unit whose cap he still likes to wear. It was with the Spahis that he was wounded for the third time and received his 18th citation for valor. He returned to Indochina for a second tour of duty after a year in France.

Josephine Baker, Negro Songstress, Plans Soviet Trip

TOKYO (U)—Josephine Baker, St. Louis-born Negro singer, issued a statement yesterday saying she plans a trip to Russia, "where many races live in harmony . . ."

Miss Baker's statement was released through the Elizabeth Saunders Orphans Home, where she adopted two tiny Japanese boys while on a concert tour of Japan. She and the babies left for Paris yesterday.

She said she hoped the boys "may one day follow in the footsteps" of Paul Robeson, left-wing American Negro singer and actor whom Miss Baker described as "a great man who has fought the battles for racial justice and world peace . . ."

She has renounced her American citizenship and is a citizen of France.

Radcliffe Tells Girls To Be More Modest

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (U)—Radcliffe College, just across the square from Harvard University, is drawing the shades on the girls. Bare midriffs, extra-short shorts and bare shoulders were banned in a directive last night. In addition, the girls' sunbathing was restricted to roofs of three college buildings.
