Service Only True Test Of Meaning Of Life, 100 Service Club Members Told In Address Of Dr. G. W. Truett

Not selfish individualism but co-operative altruism builds communities, states, nations, declared Dr. George W. Truett, pastor of the First Baptist church, Dallas, in an address before 97 members of Big Spring service clubs gathered in a joint luncheon session at the Settles hotel Tuesday noon.

The meeting was arranged on invitation of President M. H. Bennett of the Rotary club that all clubs, including the Kiwanis and Lions, might hear Dr. Truett while he is in the city conducting a revival meeting at the First Baptist church under direction of several local Baptist congregations.

Dr. Bennett presided. The invocation was offered by George Gentry of the Kiwanis club. President B. T. Cardwell of the Lions club led the singing of "The Little Brown Church in the Vale."

AUSTIN (AP) — James Shaw, banking commissioner, Tuesday issued a proclamation extending the financial moratorium in this state to and including Thursday, March 9.

Under Shaw's original edict, the Texas moratorium would have ended Tuesday evening.

In Tuesday's proclamation Shaw adopted rules promulgated by the federal government to apply to all state banks, embracing Secretary Woodin's stipulation covering payment of money for food, medicine, salaries and other necessities.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Woodin in regulations issued Tuesday ruled that any national or state bank may exercise the usual banking functions to an extent absolutely necessary to meet needs of its community for food, medicine and other necessities of life, for relief of distress, and for payment of usual salaries and wages or for necessary expenditures for maintaining employment and other essential purposes.

President Roosevelt Lashes Out At "Unscrupulous Money Changers"

'They Have Fled From Their High Seats In Temple Of Our Civilization. We May Now Restore That Temple To Ancient Truths'

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Another Roosevelt stepped into the presidency undaunted by a national banking crisis that synchronized with his inauguration, to lash "the unscrupulous money changers" with unsparring tongue.

"They have fled from their high seats in the temple of our civilization," he said, lifting his eyes to glance boldly over a hundred thousand faces staring whitely up at him from the wide spread of the Capitol Plaza. "We may now restore that temple to the ancient truths."

A stir ran through the throng, the very cornerstone of scientific belief. If you can actually prove that life has come to the earth from outer space, you have good grounds for suggesting that that was the way all the life on earth originated.

And yet solving this ancient puzzle really would leave us as much in the dark as ever. Suppose the drifting star dust did bring the first life; what then? In what far-off celestial workshop did that life originate? How and when did it come to birth? How did it happen to drift our way?

These stupendous questions follow in the train of Prof. Lipman's discovery. We never can answer them. It is useless to try. And yet it would be a sluggish imagination that failed to be stirred by them.

The Roosevelt Cabinet Lineup

HOMER CUMMINGS

Homer Cummings of Stamford, Conn., began his political career as a Republican, but years ago he switched over to the Democratic party. He was national committee man from Connecticut at the time Al Smith and McAdoo staged their fight and Davis was nominated for the presidency. Through the death of the chairman of the national committee, Cummings became chairman, and severed until Davis was nominated after which Davis appointed another. He was named Attorney General in the Cabinet of President Roosevelt the day before his inauguration to fill a vacancy caused by the death of Senator Thomas J. Walsh. Cummings will serve a few weeks and then go to Manila to become governor-general of the Philippines.

Steers Prepare For Tournament At Austin To Select Championship Basketball Club Of State League

This is the field against which the Big Spring Steers will be pitted Friday in Austin when the state high school basketball tournament gets under way: Lamesa, Crockett, Athens, Dallas Tech, Pavalis, Temple, El Paso, Jeff Davis of Houston, Thomas Jefferson of San Antonio, Bryan, Beeville, Gilmer, Brownwood, Roy Henderson, interscholastic league directors, may draw for the first round Monday, and again they may wait until Friday and let those compete in their own drawing. Two byes will be given in the first round and should the Steers be lucky enough to draw one of those, it would be a great help.

The Steers had rather play Lamesa in the first round, no doubt, in an effort to get revenge for a defeat at the hands of the Tornados early in the season. On the other hand, the Athens Hornets are buzzing with excitement in hopes they will be given a chance to even scores with the Big Spring entry.

Crowell, a bi-district winner, is coached by none other than Greedy raves, rangy snaphaw who used to spend his summers here playing first base on the old T & P baseball team. He spends his winters coaching and teaching and seems to have met with fair success.

Dallas Tech goes into the state meet heralded as one of the outstanding favorites by virtue of its splendid record during the season. Many critics are conceding it first place. Followers of Athens swear the Hornets are in the running, and there is no Temple fan but who believes his team will repeat as champions. Red Forian, Temple coach, won a state title last year in his first appearance as a high school coach.

Big Spring, entering as a less popular team, has a good chance to wreck hopes of other teams and do something besides. Unless the Steers are extremely unlucky in the drawing, they should make themselves known at the meet.

Coach George Brown said ten members of the squad which beat Breckenridge in the two straight games for the bi-district championship will likely leave here Wednesday afternoon for the capital city and the tournament. Number of local fans will follow the Steers.

Ector County May Get As Many As Ten Drilling Wildcats Soon

Announcements, Deals And Rumors Indicate Much Activity For That Section

Announcements of new operations, deals reported underway and rumors of several others gave rise to the possibility, as the week closed, that Ector county, now the most active wildcat sector in the West Texas Permian Basin, might have at least 10 drilling tests for oil within the next 30 to 60 days.

There are now three active wildcats in the county, negotiations are underway for two, a location, has been staked for one and rumors says that five others may be announced soon.

The active tests include Stanolind Oil and Gas Co.'s No. 1 Elliott Cowden, section 28, block 42, township 2 south, T&P Ry. Co. survey, north offset to L. C. Harrison's No. 1-Addis estate, pool opener west of Odessa No. 1 Cowden in a start drilling a cement plug at 3,220 feet starting at 4 o'clock this afternoon. It cemented back from total depth of 3,847 feet after unsuccessfully fishing for a lost rock bit and lubricator for more than a week. It had made excellent drilling time up until the bit was lost.

Thomas Edwards Fishing Ten miles south of this test, Ector's second drilling wildcat, D. D. Thomas and others' No. 1 Edwards, section 38, block 43, township 3 south, had drilled a cement plug at 1,978 feet for the second time and made 27 feet of new hole before losing a haller. Total depth is now 3,227 feet in anhydrite.

The county's third active wildcat is A. W. Cherry and others' No. 1 Johnson, 1,320 feet from the south line and 990 feet from the east line of section 41, block 43, township 1 south, which spudded at midweek.

L. C. Harrison and others' are to drill a second test in section 25, block 43 township 2 south, the same section in which the discovery well was drilled, according to reports. Negotiations are underway for another test, about a mile and a half southeast of the discovery well also.

Moran Drilling Co. has located its No. 1 South 990 feet from the north and west lines of section 12, block 43, township 1 south, about 2 3/4 miles southeast of Stanolind's producing wells on the Dick Cowden place.

Summers Are Thick According to rumor, Buoy York of Midland and associates plan to take a location near the one in section 18, block 43, township 2 south, which was abandoned by J. M. Cooper and others.

Another report said Broderick & Calvert, Fort Worth operators, are about to make a location in section 17, block 43 township 1 north, about a mile and a half north of the Stanolind Dick Cowden producers.

It was reported that the Landreth Production Co. and Llano Oil & Development Co. planned to drill in the north half of section 20, block A, public school land. This is about a mile southeast of Landreth Production Co.'s No. 1 Holt, most recent completed wildcat which opened a new pool northeast of the Cowden wells in section 15. Another report said Llano also was figuring with a major company for drilling in the north half of section 18, block 43, township 1 north.

And we also petition and urge the members of the legislature of Texas to oppose any repeal or lessening of the force of our existing state prohibition laws.

We appeal to you, our Legislators, not to let the liquor advocates lead you to believe that those who voted the Democratic ticket voted for repeal or bear. This vote, certainly from the South, was a call for a change, for bread and meat and not for whisky or beer.

Do not be misled, Texas is dry. We are in favor of bettering the health and happiness of our children for intoxicating drinks. We will not exchange the blood of our children for gold, even to balance a National budget.

You must this day choose whom you will serve—the home and children of Texas or the conscienceless liquor interests who would debase and damn humanity to satisfy their insatiable greed for gold. O, men, hear the cry of the little children forsooth later it may be the cry of your own child.

To the Legislators of Texas: We, the organized Christian mothers whom you represent, have a right to appeal to you and do appeal to you, to now, by your vote defend our State prohibition laws. You would misrepresent, humiliate and bring sorrow to the majority of the law-abiding citizens of the State that has honored you, to do otherwise.

Your actions are being watched.

with the deepest interest by the mothers of a State that, has always been, and God being our helper, shall continue to be predominantly dry. We are in constant prayer for your guidance.

Respectfully,
Signed by each member of the Executive Committee,
(Submitted by local Chapter of W.C.T.U.)

Next Move In Denison Case Is Undecided

Allred Studies Whether To Test In Supreme Or District Court

AUSTIN—James V. Allred, attorney general, was uncertain Monday whether to take his test suit challenging right of F. L. Denison of Temple to state highway commissioner to the supreme court district or institute proceedings in a district court.

Allred and Cecil Speer, attorney for Denison, held a conference with justices of the state's highest civil appellate court, but did not reach any agreement about Allred's proposal to make application for leave to file quo warranto proceedings in that court.

There was some disagreement over the facts and the court believed that W. R. Ely, D. K. Martin and Cone Johnson, members of the commission should be made parties to the suit. Allred said he would amend his petition accordingly.

Denison was appointed a member of the commission to succeed Johnson, whose term expired on February 15, and Governor Miriam A. Ferguson, in appointing him to the commission, designated him to be chairman under provisions of a law giving the chief executive that privilege whenever a vacancy occurs. The senate did not give Denison a two-third majority confirmation vote, but the governor claimed he needed only a simple majority.

Speers claimed Denison had received a majority vote, but Allred would not go behind the Journal and the senate's letter notifying Mrs. Ferguson her appointee had been rejected.

Allred announced that if he and attorneys for Denison could not agree on the facts, he would go in to district court with his test suit.

Crowell, First Foe Of Steers In State Cage Tournament Friday At Austin, Boasts Impressive Record

Pairings Announced By Roy Henderson; Lamesa Draws Temple, Defending Champion; El Paso To Meet Athens

"Just too much Crowell power," said Ted Jefferies of Wichita Falls Friday when the Crowell Wildcats beat his Coyotes in two straight games for the bi-district championship.

And that is the team that will confront Big Spring, for pairings listed by Roy Henderson, interscholastic league secretary places the Steers against the Wildcats in the first round Friday in Austin. Signs of relief at not drawing Athens or Dallas Tech in the first round turn into distressful grunts when one reads of the Wildcats 23-7 triumph over Wichita Falls Friday. Moreover, Crowell has registered the impressive record of thirty-two consecutive victories this season.

East Texan's Redistricting Bill Passed In Senate Without Debate; House Expected To Pass Substitute

AUSTIN—A bill to affect congressional redistricting, to provide for the three additional congressmen to which Texas is entitled, was passed Monday by the Texas senate, 22 to 4.

The bill would give new districts to Bexar county, to the South Plains section of West Texas, and to the oil area of East Texas. It was drafted by Senator Julian F. Greer of Elkhart.

There was little debate since it was regarded certain the house would substitute its bill for the senate proposal and throw congressional redistricting into free conference. The house bill would give Bexar county a new district, would allot the second to Central West Texas and the third to the Panhandle Plains.

Three At-Large Texas now is represented in congress by three congressmen-at-large because of the failure of the 42nd legislature to redistrict the state, after reapportionment, based on the 1930 census gave the state three additional representatives.

Consideration of a bill to establish an elective highway commission of five members was sidetracked in the house. It was the first bill on the suspension calendar, but Representative John W. Laird of Lufkin, author of the proposal, yielded his place, because he said he wanted the house to be in a quiet attitude when the bill was presented. The house has been in uproar the past few days because of a bitter debate over the bill to meet the banking situation.

Funeral Of Martyr Planned For Chicago Mayor, Assassin's Victim

Body To Lie In State At City Hall With Services Friday In Massive Chicago Stadium

CHICAGO — A saddened city planned a martyr's funeral for Anton Joseph Cermak as mourning civic leaders worried over selecting a new helmsman for Chicago's government.

In the massive Chicago stadium, crepe draped, 30,000 will attend Friday the last rites for Mayor Cermak.

Six months ago the man whose life was ended by an assassin's bullet intended for President Roosevelt came home from an European vacation necessitated by a nervous breakdown.

Ticker tape and confetti showered down upon him as he rode at the head of a parade through the downtown district. Thousands lined the streets and yelled "Welcome home, Tony."

Wednesday morning there will be a different homecoming. Led by city officials and councilmen hundreds will march part of the way from the railroad station to the home where Cermak's wife died five years ago. There will be another procession when the body is taken Thursday morning to lie in state in the rotunda of the city hall for 24 hours.

Clerics of three faiths—a Methodist minister, a priest, and a rabbi—will participate Friday morning in the funeral services in the stadium. A few hours after the casket is carried away to rest in the Cermak mausoleum of the Bohemian national cemetery, a six-day bicycle race starts in the stadium.

When the last race started, Mayor Cermak was present. He fired the pistol that began the race.

ZANGARA INDICTED

MIAMI, Fla.—A bullet intended for President Roosevelt brought death to Mayor Anton J. Cermak of Chicago in a hospital here Monday and about 10 hours later Giuseppe Zangara, the assassin, was indicted for first degree murder.

The mayor died at 6:57 a. m. after 19 days of suffering with the wound and many complications it caused. Almost immediately the Dade county grand jury met and began hearing testimony on which is based the murder indictment returned about 5 p. m.

Circuit Judge Thompson announced Zangara, a naturalized Italian, will be arraigned at noon. Conviction carries the death penalty by electrocution.

The assassin, already under 80 years' prison sentence for firing on Roosevelt while wounding the senator, was not brought into the court room nor did the grand jury question him.

The indictment contained two counts. One charged that "from a premeditated design to effect the death of Franklin D. Roosevelt, he did kill and murder Anton J. Cermak by shooting him with a pistol." The other count alleges that with "premeditated design to effect the death of Anton J. Cermak, he did kill and murder him."

An autopsy fixed the cause of Cermak's death as a gunshot wound of the right lung, which was punctured by the bullet, causing a collapse. This induced pneumonia and lung abscess which ended in dry gangrene. This condition caused a falling of the heart, bringing death," the post mortem report said.

Woman Critical Zangara still is in the Dade county jail, 22 floors above the street, where he had been held pending outcome of injuries to Cermak and Mrs. Joe H. Gill, Miami society woman, who is in a critical condition from his bullets.

Although jailors would not confirm whether Zangara had been informed of Cermak's death, it was learned from a reliable source the assassin had been told and showed no concern. He was quoted as saying: "No care. It was fault of that woman beside me." Zangara has said a woman struck his arm causing him to miss his aim at Mr. Roosevelt.

Cermak died peacefully, his family tearfully gathered at his bedside. Mrs. Floyd Kenley, a daughter, held one of her father's hands. The other was clasped by Vivian Graham, a granddaughter. Cermak was in a coma for many hours before death.

Nation Honors Thomas J. Walsh

WASHINGTON (UP)—The nation honored Thomas J. Walsh Monday at impressive funeral services in the chamber where the late senator from Montana advanced from comparative obscurity to a place of distinguished leadership.

In the presence of his widow, the President of the United States and the highest officials of the land, the burial services of the Catholic church was read by Archbishop Curley of Baltimore.

The silver and bronze coffin rested in the well of the senate. Flowers banked in profusion on the long desk before it.

Near the casket were the family of the late senator, including his bride of a week in whose presence he died while en route to Washington from Florida last Thursday.

President Roosevelt, who had selected Senator Walsh to be Attorney General in his cabinet, sat before the bier with his cabinet. Secretary of Treasury Woodin was the only absent cabinet member.

Behind these distinguished groups were the members of the senate and the house, foreign diplomats and other high officials.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, the president's wife, sat in the gallery. Senate Chaplain Phillips led the procession of priests, altar boys and choir into the chamber. He introduced Archbishop Curley, whose resplendent robes of high ecclesiastical office, together with the brilliant vestments of the priests, formed a splash of color in contrast to the somber clothing of those before them.

The Lord's prayer was repeated, holy water was sprinkled on the flower-covered casket and Archbishop Curley spoke briefly in praise of the late senator. His text was "I have fought the good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith."

President Roosevelt, his son James beside him, sat quietly during the services, his hands folded in his lap, gazing at the casket before him.

"He loved and served his God," said the Archbishop. "He loved and served his fellow man."

"National fame did not spoil him. Pride did not grip him. Humility grounded in self knowledge saved him from the ruin

Noted Surgeon Is Found Dead

Coroner Finds Dr. W. E. Sistrunk Died Of Poisoning

NEW ORLEANS — Dr. Walter Ellis Sistrunk, 48, of Dallas, Texas, internationally noted surgeon, was found dead in his hotel room here early Monday. He was a former resident of New Orleans.

The coroner's autopsy report stated Dr. Sistrunk died of poisoning. The autopsy was performed by Dr. George F. Roeling, coroner and his assistant coroner, Dr. George H. Hauser, in the presence of Dr. Rudolph Matas, New Orleans surgeon.

They announced that contents of the stomach would be sent to the city chemist for analysis.

It was understood here that Dr. Sistrunk was en route to Atlanta Ga., and was traveling alone. Among the effects found in his room were two railroad tickets from Fort Worth, Tex., to Washington, D. C. and another from New Orleans to Atlanta, Ga.

wrought in the heart and character by foolish egotism." A chant by the choir, the benediction, and the service was ended.
