COMBINE INTERESTING TO VISITORS.... One of the more interesting aspects of the Bamert Seed Farm tour Friday by a group of seed course students from eight countries, was the combine. Bamert and Gene Payne explaines that the combine picked up the cured grass, thrashed the seed into a bin, then dropped the straw behind the combine. At far left, one of the students closely checks the tiny seed in the straw.

City Manager, Dave Marr, explained that the motor had been removed for repair and the swimming pool would not be re-opened until repairs were completed.

While on routine patrol Wednesday night, Mule-City Patrolman, Monte Phipps, noticed a vehicle in a 'suspicious' location.

Checking the vehicle, the officer found two young men and a young woman attempting to open the coin box of a newspaper rack, identified as a rack from the Muleshoe and Bailey County Journals.

Officer Phipps and Officer Julian Dominguez covered the paper rack and arrested the three young people.

James Simpson of Three Way will be among 62 athletes participating in the third annual Texas Six-Man Coaches Association Clinic and All Star games at Tarleton State University, July 13-19.

Simpson will be playing in the All Star football game at 8 p.m. on July 19 in Tarleton's Memorial Stadium. He was an All-District at Three Way. ****

Tanksley Given National Honor

Spencer Tanksley, who has served as county Extension agent in Bailey County for the past eight years, has been named to receive the Distinguished Service Award, the highest recognition given by the National Association of Agricultural

The award is presented annually to county agents throughout the nation who have made outstanding contributions to agriculture and rural living for 10 years or more, according to Potter County Extension Agent Gaines Franks, president of the Texas County Agricultural Agents Association.

Tanksley is one of seven county agents with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A & M University System, to rebe recognized at the state association annual meeting in San Antonio, Aug. 3-6. Actual presentation of awards will be at the national association meeting in Oklahoma City, Aug. 10-15. The agricultural economy of Bailey County has made substantial gains due to Tanksley's efforts. He has molded an outstanding result demonstration program in cotton, corn, small grain, sorghum and vegetable production.

For the past three years he has conducted several demonstrations keyed to irrigation efficiency due to increasing pressures of high energy costs. These demonstrations placed particular emphasis on irrigation timing and comparisons of sprinkler and furrow irrigation. The 4-H program in Bailey County has also made outstanding strides under Tanksley's leadership. Enrollment in 4-H has jumped and new clubs and projects are abounding. 4-H youth from Bailey County have until January, 1981, and much study, and planning as well as public hearings will be necessary before any final decision is made. "Congressman Hance showed good leadership by presenting this program here," commented the local judge. "If people in Nevada-Utah had heard programs before the first location was released there, I feel they would have different feelings about where the system would be located."

"Unless you hear the program, and see what will be happening, it is far beyond what anyone can compre-

Judge Williams also spoke of the proposed population growth and the economic impact which would accompany the location of the alternate site in New Mexico - Texas.

"Right now, it would appear to be very doubtful that we will get any part of the system," commented Judge Williams. "If the system is retained as one system, and not divided, it will apparently all be located in Nevada and Utah."

Also, according to the judge's information, very few people would be displaced, and once completed farm operations and normal living would go on, right above where the systems will be located underground. The systems would be shifted, without notice, from one location to another, all underground, to keep foreign countries from knowing the exact location of any part of the

On June 9 and 10, the temperature was a low, low 79 degrees in Muleshoe, and again on June 12, a very pleasant 85 degrees was recorded. And that was the last time the temperature was below 90 degrees and just preceding a relentless heat wave still clinging to the entire state of Texas.

Records continue to fall as more than 20 days of 100 degree, plus, temperature continues to dominate the weather picture, not only in Muleshoe and Bailey County, but across Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Kansas and Arkansas.

According to the National Weather Service, no relief is in sight, not only for the relentless heat, but for the drought conditions which have accompanied the continuing heat wave.

cated north of Muleshoe, is becoming well known throughout the world. This year, for the second consecutive year, a group of foreign agriculturists, accompanied by Hunter Andrews of Mississippi State University, arrived in Muleshoe Friday morning for the tour.

Carl Bamert, owner of the seed operation, met the bus at his office, and after formally greeting the touring visitors, accompanied the group on the bus tour.

He and his manager, Gene Payne, and assistant manager, Joe Lopez, explained the various aspects of the seed farm operation, and Bamert explained to the group what grasses were native, and what grasses had been imported to adapt to this part of the country. Also making the tour was Carolyn Harris, secretarybookkeeper for the seed farm.

Periodically, the bus driver would stop and the passengers would get out to check swathers, grasses and cotton and combines. All of the students, from eight countries, took copious notes and asked many questions about the adaptibility of the grasses grown by Bamert and his workmen at his 2,200 acre seed farm.

They also showed much interest in the pivot irrigation systems and the method used by Bamert to put fertilizer directly into the irrigation water from the irrigation pump. He told the group the small fertilizer tank has an injector pump which releases the correct amount of fertilizer into the water before it goes to the irrigation towers. Bamert also explained how much land is covered by an irrigation system and where the water comes from.

The group arrived in Washington, D.C. on May 20, on the first leg of their journey in the 1980 Seed Course, co-sponsored by the U.S. Department of groom, read the double ring vows.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Guy Belt, Jr. of Muleshoe, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Crawford of Austin and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Patrick Baxter, Sr. of Scottsdale, Arizona.

The church was decorated with white summer flowers. Given in marriage by her father, Jim Crawford, the bride chose a traditional antique satin dress with appliqued bridal lace beaded with pearls and crystal beads.

Her veil was of white illusion, trimmed with pearl beads, connected to a Juliet cap, appliqued with lace. She carried a bouquet of white roses and white stephanoles with white baby's breath and accented with white satin streamers.

The bride also carried her great grandmother's prayer book, as something old. She wore a pearl necklace, of her grandmother's, for something borrowed.

Something blue was a garter, that the groom caught in another wedding. She also wore a six pence in her white satin slipper.

Miss Holly Blount of Albuquerque served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Tricia Baxter and Miss Tina Baxter, both sisters of the groom, of Scottsdale, Arizona. Also Miss Carole Crawford, and Miss Kim Crawford, sisters of the bride of Austin.

The matron of honor and bridesmaids were attired in identical floor length nectarine dresses, featuring empire waist, with high collared pleated capes to match. They carried a bouquet of falisman roses, stephanotes, baby's breath and streamers to match the dresses and roses.

Robert Patrick Baxter, Sr., father of the groom of Scottsdale, served as best man. Groomsmen were Robert Patrick Baxter, Jr., brother of the groom of Dallas, Scott Baxter of Scottsdale, also brother of the groom, Kyle Stallings of Midland and Rick Young of College Station.

Candlelighters were John Harper and Dan Gardiner both of Scottsdale. Ushers were John Harper and Dan Gardiner, Scottsdale, Scott Line of Dallas, Larry Hussey of Ft. Worth, Chris Crawford, brother of the bride of Waco and Kirk Crawford, brother of the bride of Lubbock.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Belt chose a printed chiffon formal length dress. It was accented by an orchid corsage. Mr. and Mrs. W.D. Light, Sr., grandparents of the bride, hosted a reception in the fellowship hall of the church. The bridesmaids' bouquets surrounded the wedding cake on the bride's table. A silver candelabra with a white floral arrangement also accented the table. The three tiered wedding cake featured white and peach roses.

Mixed nuts and bell and rose shaped mints in peach were also served.

The groom's table was decorated with greenery and featured a double layered chocolate cake decorated with marzipan fruit and chocolate mints.

Mrs. R.P. Baxter, Jr. registered the guests. Other members of the houseparty were; Margo Tadlock, Renee Lovell, Tracie Line, Jane Petruska, Mrs. Chris

measure to cope with the Reduce Energy Demands Of Lawns Without Lowering Benefits

Energy-conscious homeowners can take steps to reduce the energy demands of lawn care without lowering lawn benefits.

"While lawns offer many aesthetic and recreational benefits, these may be offset by energy requirements of lawn care," says Dr. Richard Duble, turfgrass specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service: Texas A & M

University System. "Mowing, watering, fertilizing, pest control and leaf clipping disposal are all energy-consuming requirements of lawn care. During spring and summer months lawn watering and collection and disposal of grass clippings place a heavy burden on cities for these services. Grass clippings may account for more than 30 percent of total trash collections in cities during the spring," notes Duble. He offers several suggestions to help homeowners reduce these energy demands. Reducing fertilizer

tenance levels--two to three pounds of nitrogen per

1,000 square feet of lawn per year---will go a long way toward reducing energy demands. This will also reduce mowing requirements, water use, insect and disease problems, and grass clippings.

"Excessive fertilization is the single most important factor contributing to high enery demands of lawn care," contends Duble.

Other lawn care practices to reduce energy demands include returning or composting grass clippings. Using a mulching mower can be beneficial if grass clippings are not removed, says the specialist. Also, adopting proper watering practices to reduce water use can save energy. Reducing pesticide use to only essential applications to prevent loss of turf is another energy - saving

Duble advises new homeowners to select and plant adapted low - maintenance turfgrasses to reduce energy demands. Centipedegrass is ideally suited to East Texas while buffalograss is adapted to much of

Miss Sherri Reese, Wilkerson Repeat Double Ring Vows

United in marriage in an evening candlelight ceremony on Saturday, June 21, were Miss Sherri Sue Reese and Randy Lee Wilderson. The couple were married at the Trinity Baptist Church in Muleshoe. Officiating at the double ring ceremony was an uncle of the bride, Larry Murphree, of Plains, Texas. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Reese of Muleshoe and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jr. Wilkerson of Friona.

The candlelight ceremony was performed before a pair of seventeen branch tree candelabras with yellow taper candles. Placed to each side of the large candelabras were two pair of nine branch tree candelabras with yellow taper candles, each candelabra was decorated with garlands of leather leaf, English ivy, and tree fern intertwined with yellow and white daisies. Just to the right of the wedding party was a white frosted unity candle with two yellow taper candles, nestled in mixed greenery with yellow and white daisies a top a white pedestal. Each taper was lit by the mothers of the couple from a votive candle. From these tapers, the couple lit their unity candle.

Garlands of fresh greenery with yellow and white daisies were placed on the alter railings. Crystal votive candles placed in each window of the sanctuary completed the candlelight set-

Women's commune offered shelter to battered wives

COLLEGE STATION — Many pioneer women who helped settle Texas wanted independence, not from Mexico, but from their husbands, says a Texas A&M University English scholar who has been researching a 19th century women's commune in central Texas.

The commune, known as the Santification Sisters of Belton, was founded by Martha McWhirter, who "got a different kind of religion" and turned away from her old church and husband in the 1870s, said Dr. Harriette Andreadis.

"She offered a haven for women who had been battered by their husbands or who had had so many children that they couldn't cope any longer," Andreadis said.

However, these women were not following current trends of abandoning husbands and children. They took their children to the commune, Andreadis said, adding that at its highest population there were about 50 women and children in residence.

CAR-SENSE

Ed Edmiston

Does it amaze you that there are so many colors and color combinations of new cars? Many people consider the color of their automobile one of the most important parts of buying a new car. I will have to agree with them, if not all at least in part. We consider our new colors "happy" colors and this they should be. Your car is part of your happiness as it takes you where you want to go. In the early days of the automobile there were but few colors offered. In those days usually mother and daddy were the car buyers-now, of course, mother, daddy and the children have a part in buying if they themselves (children) are not the buyers. Can you see a teenager in a black, drab automobile without any chrome? I can't! Take time and buy the color you want when you buy a new car.

PARENTS' RESPONSIBILITY "Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old, he will not depart from it." Proverbs 22:6 Ask anyone what his most precious possession is, and he will almost invariably say, "My children." The desire for the welfare of our children enables us to "move mountains". We will do anything, give them anything, if we think it will help them. The one most important thing we can do for them, however, is to instill in them a love of God, and a desire to obey him. The church can help you in this endeavor, inspire and strengthen you. We invite you to take your family to church this week. It may make a great difference in the life direction taken by your children. man and of His demand for man to respon from a selfish point of view, one should suppor every person should uphold and participate in
