District, County Criminal Cases

In District Court January 3, with Judge Kelly G. Moore presiding, Jackie Thomas Tarwater, in a plea bargain plea of true to burglary of a building, was ordered to spend 180 days in the county jail, or until space is available in the North Central Texas Community Corrections Facility in Wichita Falls, for a term not to exceed 24 months. There, he will perform up to 40 hours weekly in community service restitution work. He must also pay $320 restitution and $150 community supervision fees. He was represented by Attorney Bill Helwig.

In County Court January 5, presided by Judge Dallas Brewer, Roy D. Porter pled guilty to theft by check, $500 or more but less than $1500. He was sentenced to 165 days in jail, with credit for 165 days served, and must pay court costs of $214.

Domingo Ramos Jr. pled true to the state's motion to revoke community supervision from a prior assault causing bodiliy injury case. He was sentenced to 20 days in jail with credit for 20 days served, and must pay $92 fine and $40 supervision

Criminal District Attorney Richard Clark represented the state in all cases.

Lea County Electric makes good neighbor gesture

Last Thursday, on a cold day with strong winds making out of doors work difficult and very unpleasant, a large work force of Lea County Electric Cooperative linemen put in a long day of labor here, making an improvement for Lowe's Market and it's customers. The utility pole on the northeast corner of the store's front parking area has long been a hindrance and hazard for shoppers - more than one vehicle has either scraped or bumped it. Lowe's store manager John Kitto had occasion to bring up the subject of the pole in a conversation with Mike Dreyspring, the Cooperative General Manager.

A work survey team checked on the offending pole, did a cost estimate for it's removal, and the line crews decended on the site last week. Not a great deal unusual about this story, except Lea County Electric is not charging Lowe's for the expensive project. Dreyspring said, "We know Lowe's is a very strong supporter of community events in Plains, and we thought this would be a small gesture of our appreciation for what they do for our friends and customers in Plains."

Brownfield man dies in car crash here

Sometime between 6:30 and 7 P.M. Thursday, Gilbert Garcia, a resident of Brownfield and relative of a number of the Garcia family here, was killed in a crash between his 1989 Baretta auto and an oil field trailer on US 82 west.

DPS Sgt. Mike McClure and Trooper Ron Shugart investigated the accident. Interviewed

Friday evening while obtaining additional data at the crash site, Trooper Shugart said a firm from Midland, Pump Jacks, ETC, had been removing two old pumping units from a lease some seven miles west of Plains, just south of U.S. Highway 82. Shugart reported, "The driver of the truck and his helper were pulling off the lease road and onto 82, preparing to head back east. When the trailer, or float, crossed over a hill of sand it raised that side of the trailer enough for the kingpin to come free of the fifth wheel on the truck. The two pumping units were so top heavy, they turned the trailer

Mike Dreyspring To Serve On National Committee

Vice President and General Manager of Lea County Electric Cooperative, has recently been selected to serve on the Energy Co-opportunity (ECO) Fuel Cell Engineering Technical Committee. ECO is the national energy cooperative formed by the nation's rural electric cooperative industry for the purpose of developing new energy opportunities, products, and services for its members. Its latest endeavor involves a strategic partnership arrangement with H Power Corporation, a leader in the development and manufacturing of cutting edge fuel cell technologies. Together, ECO and H Power will work on the development of a fuel cell program that will allow member rural electric cooperatives to offer fuel cells to their customers. According to ECO chief executive officer John McSweeney, "The agreement puts electric co-ops in a strategic position with the leading fuel cell developer/manufacturer. It also gives us the opportunity to start work with our members to tailor these products to meet rural utility needs." Fuel cells have the ability to convert chemical energy to Mike Dreyspring, Executive electrical energy by combining hydrogen with oxygen. The resultant reaction produces water and electricity as well as minimum amount of by-products (depending on the fuel source for the hydrogen). Fuel cells have been used to provide electric power and pure drinking water aboard NASA's space shuttles. Now, due to the advancements in fuel cell technology, these units are entering the commercial world. "In the 21st century, fuel cells will provide power to your house, your car, and serve areas where power costs are high or where it doesn't make sense to string a power line," says H Power's CEO, H. Frank Gibbard.

The ECO Fuel Cell Engineering Technical Committee, to which Mike Dreyspring has been selected, will play a major role in developing the fuel cell program. Members have been divided into four sub committees which will focus on everything from fuel cell design to training and maintenance. The sub committee on which Dreyspring will serve will focus on safety aspects and the interconnection of the fuel cells to existing power distribution

48th Livestock Show runs this month

The 48th annual Yoakum County Junior Livestock Show is slated to kickoff January 27 and run through January 29. The big event will again be sponsored by the County Livestock Association. President Jim Brown said plans and details for the show and auction sale are being finalized, and the event program should be available in the next few days. Other Association officers are Chris Chambliss, Vice-President, and Tracy Moore, Treasurer.

Last year's show drew some 50 exhibitors representing 4-H and FFA programs in the Denver City and Plains School Districts. There were well over 200 swine, sheep, goats, rabbits and steers entered last year, and Brown expects exhibitor and animal numbers to be around the same this year.

Brown urged all 4-H and FFA exhibitors to turn entry cards in to their club advisors no later than January 14.

Cost-Share For Conservation Work Is Available Here

If increasing the efficiency of your water resources is in your plans for 2000, the Yoakum Soil and Water Conservation District (SWCD) may be able to help.

The local Yoakum District has received $11,400 from the State Soil and Water Conservation Board for Water Quality Planning within the county.

These funds are ear marked for conservation practices under the direction of the Yoakum SWCD Board of Directors, with technical assistance provided by the Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) and the Texas State Soil and Water Conservation Board.

Approved practices are eligible for a 50 percent cost share following certified completion of the conservation practice.

The amount of funds each producer may receive is based upon the total number of eligible producers who apply and

PISD Basketball Summary

Junior High:

7th girls - The youngest Lady Wranglers got off to a slow start versus Stanton, but came on strong to finish 32-28 winners. In the hard played game, Sandra Gandara had 9 points, Lela Coronado 8, Jesenia Suarez 7, Jamie Covarrubias 4, Kristian Morales 2, and Daniela Lazos, Prisma Ortiz 1 each.

8th Girls - The older found Stanton plenty tough, and went down 37-20, despite playing hard and shooting well. Moriah Traweek led scoring with 8 points, Marlie Diaz had 5, Kim Trent and Helen Neufeld 3 each, Sarah Martinez 1. 7th Boys - It was a low scoring game, but Plains Wranglers came out on top of Stanton 20-14. John Wagnon managed 6 points, Evan Cain 4, Cody Flores 3, Kelby Johnson, Scott Bruton, Brandon Hise 2 each, Daniel Parker 1.

JV Cowgirls - The younger Cowgirls continued to play well and downed Tahoka's Lady Bulldogs 53-40. Arasley Luna topped scoring with 14 points, Mackenzie Winn 12, Jessica Rodriguez 11. Chelsea Blount was noted for her hustle and 7 points, Keri Hansen for hustle and 1 point, and Jessica for defense and hustle.

Varsity Cowgirls - Cold shooting was a problem for the Cowgirls facing Tahoka last week. They managed only 16.7% from the field, and were defeated 42-33. Candace Bowers managed 15 points, Annaliesa O'Quinn had 6, Krystle Blundell, Jessica Flores and Kim Willis 3 each, Michaela Traweek 2, Kristen Gray 1. Candace pulled down 9 rebounds, and Krystle had 7 steals.

Student of the Week

This weeks student of the week is Ismari Guzman a freshman and the daughter of Rosa Guzman. She was nominated by Mrs. O'Quinn who said,"Ismari is a pleasure to have in class. Although she is quiet she is not shy about asking questions and working to understand new material. She is bubbly, positive, and a joy to be around."

A Web Site A Day Keeps The Doctor Away

An Internet health care page serves almost like a visiting nurse the many years of support she to thousands of people with chronic illnesses. Patients enter their vital signs onto a personal Web health care page, where a nurse on the Board of Director several Smitty reviews them. If there is a problem, the nurse alerts the patient and the doctor.

California based LifeMasters is one of several companies running health monitoring programs on the Internet. It contracts with health maintenance organizations from California to Massachusetts. The company sends free automated alerts when vital signs differ from national medical guidelines. For $200 a month, patients also get personal attention from a nurse.

YOAKUM COUNTY CONNECTION P.O. BOX 117 PLAINS, TEXAS 79355-0117

As the year 2000 is fast approaching, it is time for Yoakum County Connection Membership Renewals. The year 2000 offers even more opportunities for the Yoakum County Connection and the Board of Directors and we want you to be a part of the activities.

The newly remodeled Yoakum County Connection building located at 118 N. Main, Denver City, has been completed. The Connection furnished a canopy awning and the Denver City's Economic Development Board paid for the expenses of remodeling the building. We are very pleased with our building and encourage each of you to go by and see it.

The Yoakum County Connection Annual Meeting will be held this Thursday, January 13, 2000, at 7:00pm in the Connection Building (118 N. Main Denver City, Texas). Entertainment and door prizes will be provided for the meeting. The agenda for the meeting includes electing five board members. Board members that are up for reelection are Carolyn Culwell, David Brunson, Jeannette Head, Elva Lozano, and Bill Helwig. Also, we will discuss other programs for the upcoming year and the existing programs as the Watermelon Roundup and the Summer Youth Art Program

Due to growing concerns over the costs of membership dues, the Yoakum County Connection Board Members decided to change the by-laws. These changes include different classifications for individual and group memberships. The different classes and due amounts will present a greater opportunity to increase community involvement with an increase in members and funding for the existing and new programs. Following is an outline of the new membership dues:

Class 1: Annual dues $25. Individual or non-business families.

Class 2: Annual dues $50. Businesses, Farms, Ranches with less than 5 full-time employees, Clubs, and Organizations.

Class 3: Annual dues $100. Businesses, Farms, Ranches with more than 5 full-time

Members are allowed one vote per membership..

Memberships may increase to the next classification with payment of additional dues.
