Archibald Is Defeated In Title Test

JOEY ARCHIBALD

BALTIMORE, May 21 (AP)—They were calling Harry Jeffa "the champ" around Baltimore again today.

The wiry, black-haired fighter won his second boxing title last night by outpunching, outmaneuvering and outsmarting game little Joey Archibald of Providence, R. I., in 15 rounds of give-and-take mauling.

The Maryland and New York boxing commissions recognized it as a bout for the world's featherweight championship, although the National Boxing association refused to sanction it. Peter Scalo of Pittsburgh is the N. B. A.'s champion.

There was no doubt as to who was the better fighter last night. Jeffa, the former bantamweight champion, had things under control all the way and came within an eyelash of knocking Archibald out with a series of wicked rights in the second round.

M'Fadden To Play With Dodgers

By EDDIE BRIETZ
NEW YORK, May 21 (AP)—Banks M'Fadden, Clemson's great football, basketball and track star, has changed his mind and will play pro football with the Brooklyn Dodgers. Connie Mack had to cough up an $8,000 bonus to get Porter Vaughan, Richmond University's sensational southpaw, on the line. Ford Smith has been selected as the first step in Lou Nova's comeback campaign, July 3.

A bunch of Brooklyn political barons were riding high, wide and handsome on Corydon, the 42-3 shot that trimmed Hunsblich and friends, Saturday. The Cubs have been sending out feelers for Shortstop Eddie Miller, but the Boston Bees won't listen. Bill Terry's salary as manager of the Giants is several grand higher than the president and secretary-treasurer of the club draw down.

Down in the Florida East coast league the other night the Palm Beach-Fort Lauderdale game was called on the stroke of midnight, in the 12th inning with the teams tied up 12-12. Between 'em they made 12 errors.

Ramsdell Wins 6th Game At Pampa, 8-7

BARONS PLAY HUBBERS ON RETURN WED.

PAMPA, May 21 (AP)—Called to the mound in the fourth round in the midst of a Pampa uprising, "Fireman Will" Ramsdell silenced the Oiler gunners through six innings of play and won his second game in two days and his sixth of the campaign when his mates put together two singles and a sacrifice in the tenth to win out, 8-7.

Ramsdell, taking over when both Leo Jones and Buck Schulze had failed in the fourth, fanned seven and allowed but six hits. Don Wolin accounted for the winning run in the tenth when he singled home Soapy Scopione from second base. Soapy had singled off Ben Parrish to begin the round and was moved to the keystone on a sacrifice bunt by Bill Garbe.

The Oilers broke the ice in the initial round with a run but the Barons romped for five tallies in the third heat.

After the Oilers had regained the lead in the third and added another at Ramsdell's expense in the sixth, the invaders opened up on Parrish in the seventh for two markers that tied the score.

The Pampans, with Dutch Prather's big hit featured, outbit the Big Springers, 14-10. Prather had three singles and drove in two runs. Bill Potter had a home run to help Parrish along.

The two teams return to action this evening with Rex Dibeck slated to work for the Pampans. Jones may go hillward again for Big Spring.

A left handed pitcher—Warren Kanagy of Salina, Kansas, arrived in Big Spring Monday and entered into workouts with three players awaiting the Wednesday return of the club.

Taking daily drills here are two pitchers—Lefty Speary and Bill Parmenter and Bill Denton, a first baseman. Parmenter will probably pitch the first game against Lubbock here Wednesday evening.

Bill Darnak, Visiting Here, May Seek Trial With Lamesa

Bill Darnak, former Baron hurler, is back in the village. Bill has been playing with a semi-pro crew in Fort Davis. His retirement was forced when the team broke up. He intends remaining here for several days, then moving to Lamesa and try out with Jodie Tate and company. Since Tate needs another rookie hurler, Darnak might fill the bill.

He's pitched some sterling ball the past month, beating Sam Angelo in Angelo, 3-0, then leading Fort Davis to a 6-4 victory over Crane.

Jackie Jordan, the infielder who played with Sammy Hale's Midland crew and who later went to Fort Davis, has moved on to El Paso for a tryout with Speck Williamson's Texans.

Amarillo's Emmett Fullenwider, expecting an heir in his family, was showered with gifts and money Saturday night before the Gold Sox Lubbock game at Amarillo, receiving more than $100 in cash and many presents from generous fans. More than 1,000 were on hand for the occasion.

Fullenwider, incidentally, has been dropped in the Gold Sox lineup by Manager Rubba Jonnard, sliding the cleanup spot to Dick Ratiff, the veteran back stop who is hitting better than usual.

Former Members Of Lubbock Hubbers Not Doing So Well

According to Collier Parrish, Lubbock scribe, Al Carr and Johnny Taylor, outfielder and third sacker of the 1939 Lubbock Hubbers, have dropped out of baseball. Carr, Parrish reveals, is farming in Oklahoma, has no intentions of returning to the game for the present.

Parrish laments the fact that other former Hubbers are not doing so well, writing "x x x the handful (of ex-Hubbers) that stuck together and moved to Waterloo, a baseball hotbed in its hot class B (Three-I) league, is breaking up and scattering. Waterloo lost its first nine games of the season and at the latest report hadn't won one." Boyd Watkins, Mat Zorko and some of the ex-Hubbers pitchers, Mel Kramer, Walter Gorski, Lee Harp and George Amthor, aren't doing so well in faster company.

"x x x Hack Miller, who caught and batted the Hubbers to two pennants and who was easily the most valuable member of the club, has been shipped by Shreveport to Meridan, Miss., where he's catching more or less regularly." Joe Gedalus, who has been playing regular second base for Oklahoma City until Friday, probably is out of the Texas league now, having been replaced by Don Kolloway, the White Sox rookie who couldn't quite make the grade in the big league this spring x x x.

"x x x Bob Mosel, the sensational first sacker, was supposed to have been shipped off from Longview to Lake Charles in the Evangeline league. We heard he refused to report and went home and we haven't noticed his name in the Lake Charles batting order."

The Anderson Devils, on recommendation by Ben Daniel, have resigned from the Major-City softball league, leaving a spot that has not yet been filled by H. F. Malone, city recreation director.

Daniel may be transferred to Colorado City soon by his employers.

JAMESON BACK ON GAME, MUST BE WATCHED AT FORT WORTH

By FELIX R. MCKNIGHT
FORT WORTH, May 21 (AP)—Two of women golf's most deliberate figures, both of whom used slow-poke games to win the national title, moved into match play of the women's Southern Golf association tournament today riding the upper and lower brackets.

Show motion perfection put Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page of Chapel Hill, S. C., and Miss Betty Jameson of San Antonio, in the drivers' seats.

Only a season ago when Betty, a 16-year-old hunkie with power and finesse, won the national title, she drew mixed praise and criticism for her solid game—but nerve-racking deliberation.

Back In Game
Yesterday she went out in the qualifying round of the Southern, the lamesha back in her game that critics once attacked. She split the fairways, sent iron shots streaming to the greens and putted flawlessly. She was around in 76—now over women's par on River Crest a 38-75 course.

Yesterday she stepped aside to watch Mrs. Page finish her fine round of 74, which won medalist honors. The woman who won the national title in 1937, Betty pointed out, played the same cautious, slow game. Mrs. Page, the woman who took up golf in 1932 "to relax" after finishing three years as a Phi Beta Kappa at University of North Carolina, gave a great exhibition of concentration on a great round. After sending the first nine in 36, two under par, with a brilliant eagle three on her card, she was so intent on her game she didn't know her score.

Defending Champion Marion Mikey needed 80 shots, while Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta, Ga., a tall girl with power in her swing, came back in 56 for a 77. Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite of Fort Worth, the 1938 champion, floundered badly and carded 82 on her home course.

The ancient Welsh and Irish played a musical instrument called a crwth. It resembled a viola and was played with a bow.

National Open Of '41 Boosts Texas Course

By ARNOLD DIBBLE
United Press Staff Correspondent
FORT WORTH, May 21. (UP)—

A former vegetable peddler, who spent large sums to prove that bent grass would grow in the cow country, today was the hero of Southwestern goldom.

Marvin Leonard, young, good-looking, tall, brought the Southwest its first National Open golf tournament that to be played in 1941.

The boy who watched a vegetable stand grow into this city's largest department store became interested in golf about six years ago. He joined one of the country clubs here and immediately started agitating for improvement of the fairways and greens.

He wanted to experiment. He wanted, especially, to experiment with bent grass greens.

Sun Blazes, Wind Scorches
Older—but not wiser, it was proved—heads than his debunked the idea of bent grass greens in the Southwest where the sun fries chickens on the run. The sand storms, the roaring, scorching winds from the plains of West Texas, they said, would ruin bent grass in less than a month regardless of gallons of water poured on it.

Leonard did not agree. He bought a large tract of land southwest of the city. He developed a residential addition, one of the most exclusive districts here, and

Miss Oppenheimer Reviews "Native Son" At Hotel Monday Afternoon

"This book is a bombshell" stated Miss Oppenheimer Monday afternoon before her review of "Native Son" by Richard Wright at the Settles hotel and the capacity crowd that listened to her review agreed as the story unfolded.

The novel is written by a negro about the negro race and tells the life of one Bigger Thomas who becomes a criminal by accident and due to the problem of racial prejudice.

The author tells of the life of Bigger from the beginning when he had ordinary boy's ambition to be a soldier or an aviator, and to earn an honest living. As he sees doors shut in his face not because of his lack of ability but due to his color, he resents the lack of opportunity. When he accidentally kills a white girl in the family for whom he has been working as a chauffeur, his soul grows warped and he commits further crimes.

He is caught by the mob and sent to court for trial and conviction. Miss Oppenheimer in telling the story recommended reading the last 100 pages of the book as containing social and psychological information that every literate adult should read.

Miss Oppenheimer, who gave her premiere review of the book presented by the Temple Israel Sisterhood. She was introduced by Mrs. B. Eckhaus, president of the Sisterhood.

Miss Oppenheimer in introducing the book stated that it was a case study of a negro criminal and the conditions that made him as he was when he discovered that "you don't have to be guilty, you just have to be black." It is the wall of a people who want not social equality but equality of opportunity.

The reviewer held her audience breathless as she forcefully told the story of social injustice in the United States.

Editorial

Too many labor unions today seem to be in the jungle stage wherein each seeks to get all it can for itself by hook or crook regardless of the welfare of the labor movement as a whole.

Despite the balance and splendid good citizenship of a great share of the labor world, the motto of the remainder apparently has developed into "all for one and one for me."

On the other hand, dual responsibility is implied in the co-operation. If all are for all in the most effective way, and just now that means in a new way.

During the past eight years the labor movement has shifted to something of a different footing. It has come into vast new powers through its encouragement by the new deal. This increased importance has been achieved principally through legislation and the influence of government.

In other words, labor's broader field of today rests less on labor's self-help than in the past, and more on the public will. Hence, labor has more reason today than ever before to consider what the public thinks of it.

Since a single excess, if widely published, may contribute to the damage of the whole labor movement, "one for all" means particularly today self-restraint in individual local unions in refraining from immoderate demands and from tactics of violence.

Washington Daybook

WASHINGTON—James F. Grady, a quiet-voiced fellow with wavy, pepper-and-salt hair, has started a revolution that's spreading to every government department.

What he's doing is showing the federal agencies how to streamline their correspondence: how to take out stuffed-shirt expressions, delete the 35 words, and turn out letters that sound like a pat on the back rather than the pompous high-handedness of some minor official who's so self-important he doesn't realize the taxpayer butters his bread.

SCARCELY A DAY

If you think this isn't important, ask your congressman. There are 2,300,000 pieces of government mail pouring out of Washington every day and it's estimated that 1,000,000 of these are personal letters.

Often, it isn't the employe's fault, as in the case of the home owner who went into hiding when told his loan was to be reamortized and nearly fainted from relief when he found he was to be given 20 years to repay instead of ten.

After three years of working with government agents, Grady finds that even before any instructions in letter-writing have been given, their letters stack up favorably with those of most private industries.

Yet, in one department alone, he found examples of letters that were contradictory, insulting, commanding, impertinent, weakly apologetic, arbitrary, offensive, insincere, grudging, critical, petulant and indifferent.

HOOPSKIRTS FIRST

One of the first things the letter writers learn is to get rid of the "hoopskirts." Your letter was duly received. . . . We beg to advise that . . . As of even date herewith . . . Your letter of the 15th instant, ultimo, proximo . . . I beg to hand you herewith . . . and so on and so on.

A by-product of Grady's program has been economy, but he doesn't emphasize that. In one agency a survey disclosed that letters cost 75 cents apiece to prepare and mail. If this average holds for the 1,000,000 a day that go out, that's $750,000 a day for Uncle Sam's Washington letters.

Grady became an expert on epistles by accident. An administrator in a California college, was asked to assist in organization of the Land Bank office at Berkeley when it mushroomed almost overnight from 50 to 1,400 employees.

Since then, the demand for Grady has been far in excess of the supply. He has worked in the field for the Land Bank, in Farm Security, in the census bureau, weather bureau, and now is launched on circuit of other agriculture department agencies, starting with the soil conservation division.

If you get a letter from the government that sounds as if it came from an official in a Victorian counting house, or makes you wonder why you have to pay taxes for salaries for smartleeks nincompoops, just be patient. The Grady revolution will get 'em yet.

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK Mr. Ogden Nash once wrote a poem about a taxi driver. He was the nicest taxi driver in New York. He always had change for a 20 bill. He always said "Ma'am" to ladies, and "Sir" to men.

I do not know Mr. Nash personally, but if I ever meet him I am going to introduce him to a party named Joe Bananas. Joe is a bellman at the Hotel New Yorker, which is a highbrow way of saying lullshop.

Sometimes Joe Bananas is the despair of his fellow bellmen because he refuses to take tips from nice old ladies. "Oh, that's all right, ma'am," says Joe. "I love to carry bags."

Joe sometimes refuses to take tips from honey-mooners, too. And he never takes tips on Holy days. Joe is Spanish and a good Catholic. His last name isn't really Bananas. People call him that because his last name is practically unpronounceable.

If you know New York you will remember this hotel is quite a little walk—if you are carrying heavy bags from the Pennsylvania Railroad station. This is sometimes a distressing business for the other bellmen, because Joe is still shy about accepting tip, even after this long haul.

But if this is at times just a wee bit trying on his conferees, it is a point that wins many friends for Joe among the customers. Through his long service as a bellman, he has worked up a "clientele" that runs into the thousands.

This is a fine thing for Joe. It means he seldom has to stand in rotation—that is, in line, and take his turn with the other bellmen. He always is being pulled out of line and sent up to some new arrival who remembers Joe from previous visits.

A by-product of Grady's program has been economy, but he doesn't emphasize that. In one agency a survey disclosed that letters cost 75 cents apiece to prepare and mail.

Grady became an expert on epistles by accident. An administrator in a California college, was asked to assist in organization of the Land Bank office at Berkeley when it mushroomed almost overnight from 50 to 1,400 employees.

Since then, the demand for Grady has been far in excess of the supply. He has worked in the field for the Land Bank, in Farm Security, in the census bureau, weather bureau, and now is launched on circuit of other agriculture department agencies.

If you know New York you will remember this hotel is quite a little walk—if you are carrying heavy bags from the Pennsylvania Railroad station. This is sometimes a distressing business for the other bellmen, because Joe is still shy about accepting tip, even after this long haul.

But if this is at times just a wee bit trying on his conferees, it is a point that wins many friends for Joe among the customers. Through his long service as a bellman, he has worked up a "clientele" that runs into the thousands.

This is a fine thing for Joe. It means he seldom has to stand in rotation—that is, in line, and take his turn with the other bellmen. He always is being pulled out of line and sent up to some new arrival who remembers Joe from previous visits.

Education To 'Cajun' Isle

HOUMA, La., May 21 (UP)—Uncle Victor Naquin, the 70-year-old patriarch of L'Isle de Jean Charles, welcomes the educational innovations finding their way to his semi-tropical island in Terrebonne Bay.

The Works Projects Administration and Terrebonne parish officials are teaching English to the approximately 150 descendants of Jean LaFitte's pirates and native Choctaw Indian women, vaccinating them, teaching them sanitation and to boil drinking water, and otherwise waging an educational program on L'Isle de Jean Charles.

Uncle Victor, who says the island was named for his grandfather, Jean Charles Naquin, is enthusiastic about the program.

"It is magnificent," Uncle Victor says. "The little one will now be able to go to Le Nouvelle (New) Orleans, to Houma, and all over La. Louisiana. They will be able to leave the island and perhaps make a fine living in the towns."

Fond of Two Sons "Yes, they may be able to do what only two other islanders have done before them--go to the outside world and become great cooks."

Those two "great cooks" are both sons of Uncle Victor who are chefs in hotels, one in the south, the other in the middle west.

Uncle Victor's constituents are interesting people. Their faces show the influences of the Choctaws and Germans, with high cheekbones and blue eyes. They speak Cajun French, however.

L'Isle de Jean Charles is a little civilization separate from the rest of the world. It is famous for the native cooking. Oysters, shrimp and other seafood cooked in huge iron pots hanging in the open fireplaces of the homes on the island are the principal foods. Once each week, everyone attends an all night dance.

Log Cabins Plentiful The inhabitants live in homes made of logs or salvaged lumber. Most of them are palmetto-thatched.

Uncle Victor likes to administer to his people when they are ill. He creates "brews" to reduce fevers and allay aches and pains -- because it is not easy to call a doctor or a nurse to L'Isle de Jean Charles. Uncle Victor says his grandfather Jean Charles was one of LaFitte's men. He says Jean Charles discovered the island, which was inhabited only by the Choctaws. After the exile of LaFitte, Jean Charles brought a number of his friends there to colonize, and they and their descendants now have lived there for more than 100 years.

JELLY USED TO HALT GAS FLOW

TULSA, May 21 (AP)—Oil men are using "jelly" to stop gas flow in old fields.

The jelly trick was demonstrated at the International Petroleum Exposition by Dana G. Heffley, research engineer. Many oil producing formations are similar to a two layer cake, Heffley explained. The top layer is the gas formation.

In some cases if the well is opened to produce oil, the gas also rushes out. "By careful measuring, the line of separation between the gas and oil formations is determined," Heffley explained. "Then the hole is bridged over up to that point to protect the oil sand."

"We pour in the liquid and it penetrates back into the porous gas formation. On the average, we use 1,000 and 1,500 gallons on a job. After the liquid sets, we pull out the bridge and the oil formation is undamaged, but the loss of gas reserves has been stopped."

Nazi Army May Be Using American Offense Plans

GAMP BEAUREGARD, La., May 21 (AP)—The general reported to be helping shape the German mechanized attack in France and Belgium may have gained many of his ideas on a visit to army posts in the United States three years ago.

A high army official, helping direct war game maneuvers here, said the German, General von Schell, visited all infantry and cavalry schools and various posts, including Fort Knox, Ky., and Fort Benning, Ga.

"The general, who was then a colonel on Hitler's general staff, came over here in search of ideas, and went back home and put them into execution," the American officer, who would not permit use of his name, said.

The German commander, while making his tour and study in this country, said at that time, the American officer related, that it would be "about three years before Germany would be organized and fortified for any emergency."

LANDLUBBER NOW—After nine years at sea, Sterling Hayden, 23, a native of Morristown, N. J., will try to live on land—particularly that around Hollywood where he was recently given a seven-year film contract. He entered the world on the schooner, "Yankee," and was skipper of the brigantine, "Florence C. Robinson," on a trip to Tahiti from Gloucester, Mass.

GOOD WILL—A 20,000-mile Pan-American good will trip is planned by Maj. Antonio Cardenas (above), Mexico's top-ranking aviator, who says he'll start from San Francisco and head for Cerro Loco, Mex. He's shown in cockpit of plane.

PLANE OVER ALCATRAZ—Longingly, inmates of Alcatraz (rear) might have eyed this high-altitude transport near San Francisco. It has wingspread of 107 feet, top speed of 240 m.p.h.

FIRE-WATER WINS—Through a wind-whipped Hudson river, Clayton Bishop (above), fire chief from Onset, Mass., drove his 9-foot outboard hydroplane from Albany to New York, to win this 132-mile classic and gather in these trophies. Averaging 23.569 m.p.h., the trip took 5 hrs. 30 mins. 18 secs., which was due to chopiness of water. This was his third victory.

MRS. W. W.—This is Mrs. Wendell Willkie, the one-time librarian whose husband is being mentioned as a possible Republican presidential nominee. They were married in 1918 when Willkie was on leave from an officers' training camp.

IN THE FRENCH ALPS—Outside a snow house that looks like an Eskimo igloo stands a French soldier on duty in the French Alps. Italy's recent order that her Alpine defenses be strengthened has pulled attention to this region.

INDICTED—Howard C. Hopson (above), former head of Associated Gas and Electric utilities system, was indicted by a federal grand jury in New York on charges of defrauding investors of more than $20,000,000 through mail fraud and conspiracy.

APPEAL TO BOMBERS—With this huge cross on the ground near a military hospital do the French appeal to enemy bombers, lest a rain of bombs bring death to already-injured men. Picture passed by the French censor.

LOVE'S NOT AN ACT—Though N. Y. critics didn't enthuse about the "Romeo and Juliet" played by Vivien Leigh and Laurence Olivier (above), they don't worry much. They'll wed as soon as their respective divorces become final.

WAR GARB—No feminine frills has this Duchess of Windsor, shown in Paris wearing her uniform as an ambulance driver. She has been active in French relief work.

SHE'S A HE, SEE!—The curls worn by Spanish-speaking Eugene Miera, 5, in Denver aren't the child's own idea—for "she" is a he with a taste for cigars. He's been smoking since he was three, has smoked five cigars in a day.

TEST OF PLANE TANK—Taking a hint from the European war, U. S. military experts now see the need of a fire-proof and leakage-proof gasoline tank for airplanes, and here's how a test was recently staged at the Glenn Martin plant in Baltimore. Above, a gunner fires .30 caliber tracer machine gun bullets at an old style gas tank. See it in the sandbagged dugout.

HOW FUEL IS LOST—Water streaming through bullet holes in this old style gasoline tank, pierced by .30 caliber machine gun bullets at a Baltimore test, shows how gasoline might be lost by a plane in flight. The test introduced a new gasoline tank for planes, in which a rubber-like exterior casing "seals up" or "clogs over" holes made by the bullet.

UP IN FLAMES—Riddled by machine gun bullets during a test at the Glenn Martin plant in Baltimore, this old style airplane fuel tank, which held 40 gallons of gas, burns merrily, illustrating the ever-present danger of plane explosions and fires. Engineers now seek a fuel tank in which the chances of leaks and explosions from bullets are minimized.

AFTER BULLET BARRAGE—Research Director R. B. Gray examines a new plane fuel tank, tested at Glenn Martin plant in Baltimore. The tank, which is inside a rubber-like casing, was peppered with .30 caliber machine gun bullets. Though the tank wall itself (in right hand) was torn by bullets, the casing had sealed the holes, to prevent fuel leakage.

SEEKS TO AID WAR PRISONERS

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP)—With thousands of British, French and Belgian prisoners-of-war being transported into Germany, Alexander C. Kirk, charge d'affaires of the American embassy in Berlin, has appealed to the state department for help supervising their treatment.

Kirk has formed a special organization in the embassy to handle such supervision at the request of the Allies. It consists of an American army officer who went recently to Berlin, an American public health officer attached to the embassy, and two foreign service officers.

This organization is proving insufficient, so Kirk has asked for additional officials. Berlin dispatches claimed the capture of 100,000 Allied soldiers during the week end, but no official word has arrived from the Berlin embassy.

In supervising the treatment of prisoners as a "protecting power," the United States is acting under a 1929 pact signed at Geneva by all the leading nations, including Germany and the Allies. The pact guarantees prisoners-of-war equitable treatment such as they never were guaranteed in any previous war, and gives to the protecting power the task seeing that the treatment corresponds with the provisions of the pact.

PURGE OF REDS ON WPA ROLLS SLATED SOON

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP)—Tales of "Trojan horse" activities in Europe were generally expected today to assure house approval of legislation to purge the WPA rolls of all communists.

Rep. Cannon (D-Mo), floor manager of the $975,000,000 WPA bill, told reporters he would support this provision. Rep. Ditter (R-Pa) recently served notice that such an amendment would be offered.

The drive to deny WPA jobs to communists was launched after Chairman Dies (D-Tex) of the committee on un-American activities told the house last week that communists and nazis had a "fifth column" plan for this country similar to that used in Norway.

Dies ordered committee hearings, starting today, which he said would show details of a communist espionage and sabotage plan.

The house vote on the communist amendment, however, probably will be taken before those hearings get into full swing.

NEW YORK, May 21 (AP)—Col. Charles P. Echols, 72, former professor of mathematics at the United States military academy, West Point, N. Y., died early today soon after he was found unconscious in the rear of the New York public library, apparently a robbery victim.

The retired army officer lay bleeding at the foot of a stone stairway leading from the library promenade into Bryant park, Sixth avenue and 42nd street. He died at Bellevue hospital of a fractured skull and internal injuries.

Colonel Echols' empty wallet had been robbed and pushed down the stairs.

and smuggling if there was any trouble along the Mexican border. But he did not comment on the possibility of difficulties. 'We are not issuing special Ranger commissions at this time,' he said, 'but are picking on for their ability to shoot quickly and straight, as well as for character and stamina. 'Texas is vastly rich in resources vital to any war machine and we do not intend to see them crippled or destroyed through a lack of foresight.' The safety department wants to cooperate fully with the department of justice and other federal agencies in handling any information of subversive activities, it was learned.

Richardson added that state police, who include the Rangers the highway patrol and others, would serve as "listening posts" to obtain information for investigating officials. Col. Garrison made substantially the same statement. 'We are not of the conviction that America will be thrown into a conflict,' Richardson said, 'but as a state police organization we feel responsible for keeping tabs on groups and individuals whose actions appear un-American.'

Eiffel Tower Visible From Nazi Lines, Says AP Correspondent

This is the second article by Louis P. Lochner, Associated Press correspondent invited by Hitler to inspect German front lines—Editor. WITH THE GERMAN WESTERN ARMIES, May 21.—The famous Eiffel Tower of Paris was clearly visible to the advance guards of Adolf Hitler's forward-dashing army this morning but it was by no means certain that the fuhrer would endeavor to capture the French capital in a hurry. He seemed more concerned with routing Belgian, French and English troops headed for the French coast of the English Channel. Yet even Von Reichenau was not too busy to offer a welcome to American correspondents visiting the German western armies as Hitler's personal guests. With Von Reichenau's army on the right wing apparently heading in the direction of the French and Belgian coastal points and with the left wing gradually moving southward, Hitler could afford to let the center take care of itself, as indicated in yesterday's high command communique.

Miss Jo Henson of Paris, Tex., a youngster with a solid game who has been playing beautifully, continued fine near-par golf to eliminate Mrs. Ed Dell Wortz of Fort Smith, Ark., 7 and 6. MARKETS Wall Street

NEW YORK, May 21 (AP)—War stocks today led the market in one of the widest breaks in two years as severe allied reverses brought visions to Wall Street of a German-fueled quick peace. Losses ran to 13 or more points for pivotal steels, aircrafts, electrical equipments, coppers, motors and chemicals. The ticker tapper frequently was behind. Transfers were around 4,000,000 shares, biggest turnover since September. The list stopped at the start, with a number of issues late in making their appearance due to the inability of specialists to coordinate bid and asked prices. Major commodities weakened. Bonds generally followed stocks. Utilities and rails were lesser sufferers than others, but they fell down at the finish.

BUILDING REMODELED FOR DRUG CONCERN

Work has been started on a remodeling program for the building at the corner of Main and 3rd streets where Collins Bros. plan to install a Walgreen system drug store. Construction work is in charge of Jack Hoesapple and contracts have been let locally with union labor specified. Plans are to convert the building space, 30x70, into one of the most modern stores in West Texas.

Mexican Follows Advice Of Clerk To Marry When Wedding License Issued

A delicate situation had been handled satisfactorily here Tuesday, the county clerk's office reported. Monday, when a Mexican applied for and was issued a marriage license, he asked Clerk Lee Porter if he could just take the license along on a trip his bride-to-be and he were planning to California. Then when they returned in September, the license would be used and returned. This, Porter carefully explained, was highly irregular and, moreover, it was slightly illegal. In fact, he advised that the license be used or the whole thing be forgotten. Tuesday, the license was returned, duly executed, and Porter surmised that everything was now all right.

Freight

American Freight "The fundamental readjustment we in the South must accomplish is to change our way of making a living from an almost complete reliance on production of raw materials... if we can process and finish a greater proportion of those raw materials and receive the greater compensation which those manufactured articles will bring to us, then our income will rise to a more satisfactory level. 'The value of products manufactured in the South is only 14 per cent of the total national value of production,' he said. Illustrating the "opportunity for industrial expansion in the South, although in 1937 the southeast produced 25 per cent of the wood pulp in the United States," Lillienthal asserted, "It furnished only 10 per cent of the paper." Lillienthal added that "new industry comes out of the laboratory. The deficiency in industrial research is not a result of law, but of the force of economic circumstances; it can be removed by public and private effort."

Eiffel Tower

Continued From Page 1 verge of paralyzing losses in Belgium and northern France. The Germans seemed confident they had bottled up the whole British expeditionary force. Acridly, these sources asserted the English were fleeing to the channel ports to embark for home "in the century-old conviction that the British Isles are invincible." The drive toward the coast was the spearpoint of a general German advance which widened the pocket in northern France and pushed forward the conquest of Belgium. On the southern boundary of the bulge, the high command said, German forces have overcome the last French resistance in Reibel, have captured Laon and pushed on to the Aisne-Oise canal over the Chemin Des Dames, famous World war battlefield. In Belgium, it said, the Germans attacked east of Ghent and farther south on the Scheldt river and blocked "enemy attempts to force a way out southward from Valenciennes." The German progress was so swift that the communique described naval forces as "crowding toward the channel coast all the French and Belgian armies still to be found north of the Somme." Abbeville is nearest to the coast, inland from a bay about midway between the French channel ports of Dieppe and Boulogne. The German advance from St. Quentin forked to Abbeville, about 63 miles west of St. Quentin and northwestward to Arras, about 38 miles beyond St. Quentin. The high command also reported heavy naval blows during air operations in which, it said, it lost only 15 planes to 47 lost by the allies.

Ample Electric Power...

THE KEY to Industrial Growth...

Big Spring, supplied with electricity from the power system of the Texas Electric Service Company, has an important aid to industrial growth. Any industry locating here will find plenty of electric power at low rates, one of the essentials for profitable manufacturing operations.

But Big Spring has more than ample electric service. It has dependable electric service. Three major sources of electricity assure plenty of power and continuous service, both for present needs and future growth of the city.
