"Parents Upset Over Child's Death"

LAKE SIX CLAIMS 9 YEAR OLD VICTIM

"There should be 24-hour patrolling of the Canyon Lake by security guards," said an angry Arthur L. Lofton. His daughter, Teresa Brown, age 9, drowned last Friday afternoon after falling from a walk over bridge near Mae Simmons Community Center.

Her drowning was the second in less than two years. Another occurred the last day of school last May, 1979. Both drownings happened in this same Canyon Lake.

"Now you tell me, why did the young fellow who was coming to where my daughter was went back to the center to call the police. They (police) took about twenty minutes before coming there. No one knows how we feel about the death of our daughter, but we can advise other parents to do something to prevent these kinds of accidents to continue to happen," he said.

"What has happen to our little girl has already happened. That lake area is nothing but a hazard, and kids should be kept from that area," he continued.

"Sure, it's impossible to be your kids always. A fence would help keep the kids out of the area, but that would be pretty expensive. A patrol of the area 24-hours a day would certainly help save the lives of some other boys and girls. Something just has to be done about future incidents in this area," continued the father.

According to the police, the girl fell off the bridge at one of the Canyon Lakes about 2 p.m. last Friday afternoon while fishing with 30 to 40 other children of the same age group.

The Lubbock Digest learned from Mr. Lofton that the young girl was playing with a stick in the water, and "not fishing."

"It was possible for my daughter to have been pushed in the water, because she was afraid of the water," said Mr. Lofton.

"She was afraid of water, and I know that for a fact," he said.

Police reported that one of the children ran toward the center and told Gregory White, 2326 Ivory Avenue, that the little girl had fallen in the lake.

White, according to police, ran down to the lake where he saw the little girl's hand going under the dark water. At this point, the report says, he notified police.

When police officers Eldon Fuqua and Tim Smith arrived on the scene, White was swimming in the lake in an attempt to find the child. The officers, along with EMS ambulance attendants Jeff Young and Phil Klein, dived into the water and began searching for Brown.

Young found the girl about two minutes later lying on the bottom of the lake in about 12 feet of water. According to Bill Morgan, information officer, the girl had been in the water approximately 20 minutes.

She was rushed at this point, to General Hospital, but lifesaving efforts there proved futile.

She was fourth grade student at Parkway Elementary School, and a member of St. Matthews Baptist Church, Rev. R. S. Stanley, pastor.

Services were held Wednesday (yesterday) at St. Matthews Baptist Church with Rev. Stanley officiating.

She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Lofton of 2212 Redbud Avenue, Apt. A; two sisters, Bernard Kaye, age 13, and Karen Denise, age 11; a brother, Stanley, age 12, all of the home; grandmothers, Mrs. Lear Mackey and Mrs. Frankie Lofton, both of Lubbock; other relatives and friends.

"My child was a very likeable person and the kids loved playing with her," concluded Mr. Lofton.

EDITORIAL "Safety Is A Must"

With the hot weather with us these days, we must be extremely careful around water. This is especially true when there are young people involved. We should talk to our youngsters, supervise them, explain the dangers of water, and tell them all the facts about water. If necessary, we need to put some leather on their bottoms to get across the message about the danger of water.

First of all, when youngsters go around bodies of water, they should be accompanied by parents, guardians or other responsible adults. After they have been truly trained in water safety, we still need to be careful about where they go.

We have lost two precious youngsters from our community in the past year and at the same spot in the Canyon Lakes area (Lake 6), near the Mae Simmons Community Center - off the walk over bridge. Let's all become concerned about water safety for our youngsters. Water is beautiful, recreational, relaxing, but also deadly. Let's respect it as such and always practice safety around water.

For God's sake, let's never let our small children play around bodies of water, including backyard swimming pools, unaccompanied by at least one adult. If our young people go swimming or around water for any reason, make sure some competent adult or adults are with them.

Patterson Named To TEC Board

T. J. Patterson, editor of the Lubbock Digest, has been appointed to the Texas Employment Commission's (TEC) advisory council, as a member of the Chairman's committee.

Nolan Ward, chairman of the committee, told the Digest, "This is a working kind of an appointment in that one or two days per quarter that the Council meets is flooded with information and statistics and there is an opportunity provided for each Council member to greatly impact on the Texas business and working communities."

"It is a pleasure to have Patterson join this Council," said Ward.

The Texas Employment Commission is mandated by federal statutes to maintain an Advisory Council. This Council consists of person in the business and political spectrum. The Council meets quarterly, usually for one day in Austin, and is charged with the responsibility to advise the Commission on matters relating to unemployment compensation and the employment service, general conditions of the economy and the state and suggest as to how the Agency may better serve the public.

In the opinion of the Lubbock Digest, since we have lost two young people over a year at the same spot, something must be done immediately. For example, more parent restraint, regular patrol frequently, keep small unaccompanied children out of water areas, and fine parents whose small children are caught unaccompanied by an adult.

"We realize we can't fence in all bridges and water areas, but we can do a much better job as parents getting messages to them. We have had two drownings in the same area in a year's time, local officials should look at that spot and see what can be done. Our prayer is that through the grace and blessings of All Mighty God, since we have lost more than these two - approximately eight over the past years - we can't afford to lose anymore, regardless of their age, race, creed, religion or national origin.

Remember "Safety is a must!!!" This extends beyond water areas. No. 1 that school is out for a few more weeks and even when it is going on, one can hardly drive down the streets for the kids playing and running in the streets. These are kids are of all sizes and they have no regard for a motor vehicle. Parents, please keep your kids out of the streets. Remember that cars, trucks and vans will kill. For your information, in 1978 there were 38 fatalities involving citizens and vehicles; 1979, there were 23; and through June, 1980, there are 38 so far.

We all need to practice safety all the time, and train our youngsters Remember by practicing and teaching youngsters about safety, the life you save may be your own child's.

We have had too many drownings and citizens hit by vehicles. We must concentrate on safety. Remember accidents don't happen, they are caused. Let's utilize preventive safety first above all!

Goes Against Koryo Artist Yong Oh Ho of Korea

Kenty Makes First Defense August 2

Detroit, Mich. - Hilmer Kenty makes his first defense of his World Lightweight Championship (WBA) against the top-contender, power-punching Yong Oh Ho of Korea, on August 2, at the Joe Louis Arena in Detroit. The fight will be a feature on the Pipino Cuevas-Thomas Hearn supercard.

Kenty, who shocked the world when he knocked out the reigning champion, Ernesto Espana in the ninth round, surprisingly dominated Espana in a lopsided fight. He took charge at the opening bell and pounded Espana in every round until the fight was stopped.

The championship encounter revealed a new Hilmer Kenty, whose punches were shorter and sharper. His body was more set and he got more leverage with his punches. Veteran fight observers predicted Espana would maul Kenty. Kenty, stronger and more powerful than at any other time in his boxing career, surprised them all.

Now, in his first title defense he is matched against another awesome puncher, Yong Oh Ho. Again there is talk of Ho's brutal strength and predictions that he will knock Kenty out. Ho, though he is relatively unknown in America, is one of the most feared punchers who can take a good wallop. He is a Roberto Duran type fighter who unleashes torrents of powerful blows with venom and fury. He is one of the biggest crowd pleasers in the Orient and packs power in either hand.

"I've heard about his power," Kenty said. "I heard the same things about Espoda and the world saw what I did to him. Ho is a puncher but I'll beat him. He will be tough but I will win." Ho, smarting because he feels he should have had a title shot before Kenty because of his top rating, was overcome with joy when notified of the little shot back home in Korea. "This is my chance," he blurted out. "I've been waiting for this. I can knock him out. I'll bring the title back to Korea."

A national hero in a boxing potent country. He has waited over a year for a shot at the lightweight crown. He has raised his voice to the world boxing organizations and now he finally has his opportunity. Some in boxing question Kenty making his first defense against a power-puncher like Ho. Not Emanuel Stewart, the astute tutor of both Kenty and Thomas Hearn. "I've got a champion and we'll fight anybody in his division. We'll take Ho and we'll beat Ho. Then we'll take the next top contender. Hilmer can hold his own against anyone in the world."

Kenty and Hearn are training at Muhammad Ali's farm in Brien Springs, Michigan.

Labor President Warns Of Major Challenges

Washington, D. C. - National Alliance of Postal and Federal Employees President Robert L. White warned this week that postal and federal workers will face major challenges in this decade and cautioned that the severest tests may well lie ahead for minority workers in the postal service and federal government.

The labor leader's warning came as he announced plans for the Union's 34th Biennial National Convention which will be held at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in downtown Chicago from August 4 to August 8.

Citing such issues as the merger proposal for the federal retirement system, pay reform, performance appraisal, the role of the U. S. Postal service in electronic communications; federal contracting-out-of-services; cost-of-living adjustments; absenteeism control in the postal service; the reduction of the mail-handler craft; and the November elections; White said, "The delegates attending the upcoming convention have their work cut out for them if NAPFE is to have any real impact on the outcome of these crucial matters."

Over 1,000 delegates and visitors are expected to attend the 67 year old labor organization's convention. The convention theme is "1980's - A Decade For Success?"

Chicago Tribune correspondent Vernon Jarrett will deliver the keynote address at the Convention Public

Lubbock Marine Corps Reserve On Summer Camp

Out of the frying pan into the fire. On August 2, after surviving a month of the hottest weather in Texas history, the Lubbock Marine Reserve Unit, Detachment 2, Truck Company, 4th Force Service Support Group is going for its annual two week summer training. This year, at all places, to California's Mojave Desert and the Marine desert warfare training facility at 29 Palms. During their period of training, billed CX8-80, the Lubbock reservists will be one of three truck detachments tasked with the responsibility of supporting the 25th Marine Regiment in its various infantry maneuvers. Life at 29 Palms will be reminiscent of old film clips of African desert campaigns of World War II. The Marines will live in tents without the luxury of either floors or air conditioning. Bathing facilities will be a bit sparse, but care will be taken to ensure there is an adequate supply of water for drinking and hygiene. In keeping with Marine tradition, good meals will be served three times per day, and buses have been chartered to take the reservists on a two day liberty excursion to San Diego, Los Angeles, Las Vegas or Palm Springs. These two weeks of active duty are always a motivating experience. As General Bill Breyton said on his Marines on Okinawa during World War II, "Under such adversity, my, how they perform."

"When I first came into the NBA, I thought everyone was Superman. I was shaky. Now, I realize that the players are good, but I belong here," explains Michael Richardson, reacting to his first season in the Big Time. Hampered by a nagging ankle injury, "Sugar" didn't exactly set the league aflame as a rookie, but he certainly made an impressive mark around the league. His uncanny sense of anticipation and quick hands on defense promoted numerous steals and clogged passing lanes throughout the year. "Mike's really beginning to mature," adds Coach Holzman of the second year catalyst from the University of Montana. "He's a guy who creates situations and has a knack for making things happen."

Playing time was certainly the only factor keeping him absent from the league leaders in thefts and assists last season. Not bashful in heavy traffic, Mike's aggressive boardwork made him one of the top rebounding guards in the pros—grabbing one for every five minutes of action. In fact, with only six NBA contests under his belt, Richardson paced New York by snatching 13 caroms against New Orleans. Two nights later, the 6-5 swingman helped lift the Knicks to victory over Indiana by connecting on six of eight second half shots en route to 19 points.

The all-time leading scorer at Montana played extensively at guard and forward in college. A First Team All-Big Sky Conference for three years, Mike established a UM Fieldhouse record with 40 points in the final game of the 1975-76 campaign against rival Montana State. The former Grizzly has the distinction of being the first player in recent history to drop from the Big Sky into the National Basketball League. He gained that recognition by averaging 20.6 points per game over the course of his final three terms of college ball.

Richardson's tough defense and outstanding play-making led Manual High School to victory in all but one game during two seasons.

Media Reviews:

BLACK WOMEN DOMESTIC WORKERS

(For those interested in a neglected group of female "household words")

A review of A Stranger in the House, by Robert Hamburger and Susan Fowler-Galagher. Collier Books, New York, 168 pages, Paperback, $7.95.

A Stranger in the House is a collection of interviews made by a young white man from New York, who was first introduced to black life through his participation in the civil rights struggle in the South during the 1960's. Finding himself a stranger in the house of the black family with whom he stayed, Robert Hamburger began to reflect upon the black women servants who were strangers that he had known in the suburban and other affluent white households of Greater New York.

In this particular volume, the author and photographer team to present an engaging and challenging picture of the plight of these marginal figures, who are not dealt with generally as the honest-to-god, down human beings whom they really are. Excluded from the National Labor Relations Act of 1935 and its subsequent amendments, black and other minority women domestic workers are among the least protected of America's workers.

Robert Hamburger's interviews reveal that these women are seldom understood as whole persons who are also most often wives and mothers. What the book essentially portrays as a mere accident is the impersonality and exploitativeness of middle class white America—a dangerous state of affairs for our society as a whole.

TELL IT LIKE IT IS

T. J. Patterson, Sr.

"niggers you got to be kidding"

Well, it's time to really tell it like it is about what we as black folk are doing in Lubbock. It's time to really look at ourselves and see which way we are really going! We sit back and just complain about everything, and, really, don't do a darn thing to better our cause. We love to see one black brother or sister fall and stand around to make fun. We had better quit that kind of a thing.

We raised hell a few weeks ago about the city council not renaming Quirt Avenue after the late Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. (a man who did much for all black people) and overlooked the fact that white merchants in that same area won't even support your communit, less known your various organizations with their financial support. Oh yes, there are several merchants (and thank God for them, i. e., Brooks Super Market, United Super Markets, K's Thrift, Newburns and Rich's Chicken in east Lubbock) who will take a financial role in seeing that they give their fair share and appreciate you spending your hard earned dollars with their establishments in east Lubbock.

There are others who could care less about supporting you with your effort, but, at the same time, are continuing to grow economically with the dollars you gladly give them. You don't even consult them about those high prices you pay them for their goods and services. You do all of this and still raise hell about the city council not renaming the street after Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Now, you tell me, what kind of sense is that? If we take care of these kinds of economic things, there will be no problem in seeing that the naming of streets, parks, etc becoming a reality.

Yes, we complain constantly about small things which, really, we don't have no control about because of our political involvement in the city of Lubbock. We don't vote, and could care less about exercising our freedom by going to the polls. It's like pulling an eye tooth to even get most of us registered. We don't really care about the political process, at least, this is what our records show. And, yet, you get upset because an all white conservative city council refuse to name this street after the late Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Niggers, you got to be kidding. They could care less!

Even in our churches, we don't discuss important issues which God wants us to do for ourselves. We are afraid that we will lose that job or slave we have in the white community. Let me tell you, brothers and sisters, if you don't start getting involved and standing up for what is right in the political and economic arenas, many other bad things will happen to us. There will be other issues which will come our way. There will be other issues which will come our way which will make the Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. issue look like a popsize.

It's time for our black ministers, collectively, to stand up for what is right for God's children. It is time for black ministers in Lubbock to let all of us know that for black ministers in Lubbock to let all of us know that we have been traveling with undertermined maps, but with a little direction, we can change this course. We've just been walking and hoping for something to happen. It just doesn't work like that!

Now, all of these little splinter groups of black folks who think they have all the answers have got to get together and work as a team. These groups have got to put aside all those little petty differences and grudges we carried so long and work for the betterment of all.

All of us who proclaim to be professionals must realize that we've made some positive steps in the right direction, but we can't forget where we've come from. We must remember that we are still a nigger as far as the white community is concerned. Regardless of where you live or what position you hold in Lubbock, you are still a nigger, maybe an intelligent nigger.

It's time for the local branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) to start blending its forces and seeing that issues are addressed here. This local branch has to quit pleasing those powers that be when we know what is going on is not right for human beings.

Not only do we find blacks in this situation in Lubbock, but the Mexican-Americans and poor whites are in the same bag. Not all of them will admit it, but they are. They, too, are like us black folk who have put on their rose colored glasses and look the other way hoping for a better view of the local situation. Brothers and sisters, it just doesn't work like that! We've got to be real and we've got to realize that! We've got to get together and help ourselves so we can help each other in these dangerous times.

Another thing, which is worth mentioning, as black people we've got to start setting some examples for ©1980 BLACK RESOURCES INC. BRANDON JR.

NOT OUT OF THE WOODS YET

WHY ARGUE? THE FACTS ARE HERE!

these young innocent black boys and girls who don't know what is going on. We've got to get involved in the local school system so they will have better opportunities in educational arena. We have got to be better parents for these kids. We are not doing as we should. Sure, there are a few who really care about this, but they can't do it themselves. So you see, the Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. issue is not the real issue in Lubbock. We've just been fooling ourselves and not paying attention to what the real issues are.

Wake up niggers!! It's getting late.

Business in the Black
By Charles E. Belle
$87.3 million to make him move
Fighting the Black Farmer

Being a messenger or teen-age typist in New York might ease the earnings burden for some Black American youth this summer. Still that can hardly be enough to attack year more Black American young people who constantly flee the farm. In 1920, there were nearly one million Black American farmers in the United States. A dated U. S. Department of Agriculture report places the figure at 45,594 in 1974. Back then one farmer in every 50 was Black American.

However, nearly two-thirds of all Black American farmers sell less than $2,500 worth of farm goods a year, inspite of the fact that nearly nine out of ten of them owned part or all of the farm they operated. No wonder between 1970-75 the number of Black Americans on farms decreased by 40 percent while the white rate of loss was only 11 percent. The plight of the Black American farmer is frequently multiplied by those of low paid migratory workers employed by larger white land owners.

The best action the Carter administration could conceive of to help the Black farmers was to appoint a Black American to be the director of the office of Farmworker Programs. This places him in the position to direct the Labor Department's $87.3 million effort that propors to promote, assist, improve and administer employment and training programs to serve migrants and other seasonally employed agricultural workers.

In other words, work to help out the guys to help out the big guys. Which is particularly disturbing considering the concentration of votes given to Carter from the Southern states. Subtract the Black vote from any Southern state and you would have sent Gerald Ford to the White House last time! There were 401,000 Black Americans on farms in 1975, almost a third of these being hired farm laborers and their families. Nearly all of them (95 percent) lived in the South. Sharecropping is suspected as the stumbling block for most Black Americans in farming over the years. Sharecroppers borrowed the supplies they needed for a year from a landowner or a merchant and then paid for it when the crop was sold. Most Black Americans in the farm population, as with whites, live on either cash-grain farms or livestock farms. If a farm gets most of its income from growing wheat, corn, grain, sorghum or soybeans, it is a cash-grain farm. Livestock farms can be either cattle farms, hog farms, or both. After livestock and cash-grain farms, Black American farmers are most likely to be found on tobacco or cotton farms. Corruption is not in the crops, but with the creditors. Often the poor sharecropper never got out of debt because of high rates of interest, overpriced goods, illiteracy and slick practices of the plantation owner.

Any peanut farmer who got to be President, would know all of the above problems a shortage of capital causes any farmer regardless of his color. Even a city boy from Chicago can see the need for additional government assistance to small farmers not to large land owners.

Commandering a Black American with 35 years of agricultural experience to expedite competitive work against struggling Black American farmers does not seem to be Plain Georgia stupidity, but rather part of a master's plan.

The Black Church and Politics: More than 30,000 persons, including 1,500 delegates and 18 bishops, from the United States, Canada, the Caribbean and West and South Africa, recently attended the 41st Quadrennial Conference of the African Methodist Episcopal Church in New Orleans.

The Council of Bishops in a statement said: "We are unhappy that the two primary parties in America see fit to ignore the most continuing and pressing problem on the American scene: institutionalized racism. We are deeply disappointed with the candidates and their stand, or non-stand. On the issues, but we do not intend to have our vote taken for granted ever again. We shall seek alternative. Our vote will go to those who go for us..."

"Using means best known to the American public, we will continue our massive voter registration and education crusade in our church districts throughout this country. We will prepare a Black Agenda for discussion with all Presidential candidates. America needs an urgent reminder that the volatile conditions which lead to the explosion in Miami are present in every major city in America."

"Therefore our church is setting before the nation the demand for 1,000,000 (one million) jobs for minority youth this summer, knowing that America has the capacity to fulfill this requirement, if it has the will. We further petition aid in the form of educational assistance to our beleaguered Black colleges, the breeding grounds for the genius that has historically inspired Black survival in America... We shall convene a national meeting of major Black religious denominations to forge a new linkage of Black leadership that will solidify our political power base."

The 1980 Conference of the National Urban League will be held in New York City, August 3-6 in observance of its 70th Anniversary. Major spokesmen for both the Republican and Democratic parties will appear at a forum: "The Black Voter and the Two Party System" will be held on August 5, 1980. Information may be obtained by contacting: National Urban League, 590 East 62nd Street, New York, New York 10021. Co-headquarters will be the New York Hilton Hotel and the Sheraton Centre Hotel.

FLASH!! Ex U. S. Senator Edward Brooke, until recently the only Black Republican in Congress, is reported weighing overtures to become independent White House hopeful John Anderson's vice presidential running mate. Sources report that one of Anderson's leading New York fundraisers is J. Richardson Dilworth, manager of the Rockefeller family assets. Anderson seems to be recognizing that an exodus of Lodge, Rockefeller and Eisenhower may be the framework for something more than one election.

Our sources report that the NAACP has announced the presentation of $381,682 grant to conduct an intensive grass-roots project to reduce police shootings of minority citizens. A principal element of the project will be the publication and distribution of a citizens guide to the overall issue of police use of deadly force.

The National Association of Colored Women's Club will hold its 1980 Annual Convention in Washington, D. C. - July 27 through August 1, 1980, according to an attractive announcement in the beautiful Community Center in Boley, Oklahoma. Airlines are making special offers it is reported.

Sources report that the Republican Party has best opportunity in years, to gain new Black voters, if proper strategy is used. More later.

Economic Brief

President Carter has concluded that the goals contained in the Humphrey-Hawkins Act—4 percent unemployment and 3 percent inflation—are no longer reachable by 1983. Instead, he has extended the timetable for achieving the employment goal to 1985, and that for reaching the inflation target to 1988.

The Outreach Prayer Breakfast

Members and friends of the Outreach Prayer Breakfast met last Saturday morning in the home of Mrs. A. W. Washington. "Oh, what a wonderful time we had, and you should have been there," said Mrs. Corine Fair, vice president.

Mrs. Fair was in charge of the opening devotions and was assisted by Mrs. L. Dugles, Mrs. E. Dyer, Mrs. W. M. Washington, and Mrs. Clara Cage. The morning scripture was taken from Isaiah 41:1-6.

The morning lesson was taught by Mrs. Louina Childers. The scripture was taken from Romans 9 chapter.

It read, "God's sovereignty is absolute, but man's will is free. Our limit minds impossible to harmonize God's absolute sovereignty, and man's freedom."

She continued: "We must expect them if we want to understand God's purpose, and God's activity in history."

Since salvation is conditioned on faith, the unbelieving person is responsible for his lost condition.

She continued: "Since salvation is a condition, Christ is for those that reject him, the Rock of destruction, but for those that accept him, he is the Rock of Eternal Salvation."

This was a powerful lesson and should start one to thinking. Thanks for being a part of this group.

Thought for the day: "There is a Living God who shapes the course of history, and acts as will." Think about it. Breakfast was served. You have a choice. This your freedom. You can eat the spiritual meal and reject the physical. Or vice-versa. Or eat both in any case, we have plenty so come by. We love people!!

Our guest included Mrs. Lenora Dugles and Mrs. Ruby Hollis. We were happy to have Mrs. Wilk Moore back. Also Mrs. A. W. Washington who has been unable to meet due to illness. We were able to carry the breakfast to her. This is our aim to carry sunshine wherever we go, and each of you light up our lives. Come again!

Our sick list includes Mr. and Mrs. Blivins, Mr. M. E. Collins, a patient at Saint Mary's Hospital, room 335; and Mr. A. J. Moore who is doing nicely at home. Remember that God knows just how much you can bear.

Prayer request was made. Come share yours with us, and let's pray about it.

Morning prayer was offered by Mrs. Lenora Dugles.

Can any good come out of Nazareth?? Won't you come and see."

For more information, call 762-3347.

Our next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Clara Cage, 2420 East 8th Street. See you there!"

WORDS OF LIFE Biblical Inspiration For The Week

"Forgive"—Luke 6:37

1. Self-acceptance. Forgiveness involves, first of all, self-acceptance. We acknowledge our own limitations in the light of which we see the need for us to be understanding of others. Hence Jesus, in teaching us to pray, has us say, "Forgive us our trespasses as we forgive..."

When we once see our own weakness and need for forgiveness, it is then that we can forgive others."

2. God-acceptance. In forgiveness we recognize that we are not judges. Those who are God's servants (and not our servants) are for God, not us, to judge. Hence when we forgive others, it is a way of saying that to hold something against them, to judge them, is not our privilege to do. Forgiveness always involves the acceptance of God in terms of His claim over the lives of others.

3. Reality acceptance. There are many circumstances in life which are beyond our understanding. Indeed, most things are much farther beyond our comprehension than we would like to admit. Even in our own lives, mysteries abound. So with the lives of others. What we cannot understand, cannot be judged. We must forgive.

Crucial Heavyweight Confrontation

New York - Undeclared Randy "Tex" Cobb puts his undefeated record (16-0, 15 KO's) on the line when he faces the rugged, hard hitting Earnie Shavers in a crucial heavyweight slugfest on the Cuevas-Hearn's "supercard" Aug. 2.

The fight will be part of the spectacular closed circuit card which highlights Jose "Pipino" Cuevas and Thomas "Hitman" Hearn's in their Welterweight Championship fight from Detroit's Joe Louis Arena. Hilmer Kenty will defend his World Lightweight title on the same card against Korea's number one ranked Yong Oh Ho and Puerto Rico's Sammy Serrano puts his World Jr. lightweight title on the line against Japanese Uehara of Japan.

Cobb, fresh from his nationally televised demolition of Jaws McNichols, who he blasted out in one round, is a big and rugged heavyweight with lethal punching power in both hands. He will get his stiffest test yet from the punishing fists of the ever dangerous Earnie Shavers. An ex-defensive lineman at

Three World Title Fights

Seta Monica Pipino Cuevas defends his welterweight title against Thomas "Hit Man" Hearn's at the Joe Louis Arena in Detroit on Saturday, August 2nd. The Motor City Slugfest evoked World War II in the aftermath of Leonard-Duran brawl in Montreal, promises to reach the same epic proportions and to be equally as exciting a fight.

The Cuevas-Hearn's battle will headline a gala three championship fight card from Joe Louis Arena Detroit's Hilmer Kenty defends his lightweight title against power punching Yong Oh Ho of Korea. Puerto Rico's Sammy Serrano defends his junior lightweight title against Japanese brawler, Yatsutsune Uehara in the other title bout.

Undeclared Randy "Tex" Cobb takes his toughest test in his sensational career when he meets the hard punching Earnie Shavers in a crucial heavyweight confrontation. The Cobb-Shavers bout will be shown via national and international closed-circuit television along with the three big title fights from Detroit.

The boxing spectacular is being promoted by Muhammad Ali Professional Sports, the emerging power in boxing promotions.

"This is one of the most ambitious undertakings in boxing history," says Sammie Marshall, promoter for Muhammad Ali Professional Sports. "This gigantic show features three world title fights, and one of the most crucial heavyweight fights of the year. It is truly an international card featuring fighters from the United States, Mexico, Puerto Rico, Korea, and Japan."

There will be no home television or pay television for the fight. It will be seen in an estimated 200 closed-circuit locations in America and Canada. The fight is expected to be seen in some thirty foreign countries.

"We are pleased to bring this great fight to Detroit, the city that gave the world both Joe Louis and Sugar Ray Robinson," Marshall commented. "We are featuring two young men in Hearn's and Kenty, who are the brightest young prospects to come out of Detroit since the days of Louis and Robinson."

In fact, old timers in Detroit are overwhelmed by the similarities between Robinson and Hearn's. Both are tall, lean power punchers," concluded Marshall.

RUBY JAY'S CORNER

It was good to have the brief rain we had several days ago. This is especially refreshing since we have had some pretty hot days in Lubbock and the South Plains of Texas.

The sisters of the New Hope Baptist Church prepared dinner for the brothers last Saturday evening at 7:30 p.m. Boy, did those brothers eat. Well, the food was great, and everyone had a wonderful time.

At this fellowship, the church honored Rev. and Mrs. S. S. Scott. Rev. Scott is past 103 years young. A beautiful birthday cake was prepared for them. They received money and lovely gifts.

The first appreciation services are going on this week for Rev. and Mrs. Stephen Pierson, pastor and wife of the Bethel A. M. E. Church, and family. Last Sunday morning, members of Lyons Chapel Baptist Church were special guests with Dr. Floyd Perry, Jr., pastor, delivering the morning message.

The members of Community Baptist Church will be special guest on Sunday afternoon, August 3rd, at 3 p.m. Rev. Tony Williams, pastor, will deliver the message of the hour.

Let us continue to pray for and visit our sick and shut in members of the community. Mr. C. Long is at his home, 1822 East 25th Street; Sister Mannie Black entered St. Mary's Hospital last Tuesday for eye surgery.

Rev. Jack Robinson, minister of Bethel A. M. E. Church, was taken back to St. Mary's Hospital and passed in CCU.

Mrs. Sana Cunningham Robinson is reported to be doing nicely at her home. She returned home last week.

Mrs. Willie M. Nelson spent a pleasant weekend with her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Nelson, in Snyder, Texas. She reported a splendid visit.

The Zenith Center Senior Citizens enjoyed a lovely visit to Palo Duro Canyon, Texas last Tuesday. Mrs. G. H. Davis also traveled with the group.

Ricky Burrell and company from Texas City, Texas enjoyed a week's visit in the "Hub City" visiting his aunt, Mrs. Ethel Blake.

Mrs. Louise West is enjoying two of her sons who are visiting her this week. They are Sammie Sims of Nebraska and Michael Sims of Denton, Texas.

Linda Hardway of San Mateo, California is visiting Betty Hardway and her grandmother, Lula Wiley.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cork visited relatives in Midland, Texas last Sunday. Her mother accompanied them. They had a lovely visit.

Your Social Security "Social Security Continues To Change"

by Monuela Barton Claims Representative

As social security plans to celebrate its 45th birthday in August, it is a time for both reflecting on the past and looking ahead. How has the program changed and improved over the years? And can it be counted on to continue to help people meet their basic economic needs in the future?

To gain some perspective of how social security has served succeeding generations, let's consider someone - we'll call him Jim - who is now 45 and members of his family. Jim was born in 1935 when the Social Security Act became law and might be considered part of the "social security generation."

Jim entered the world in the midst of a severe depression. Millions were out of work, and there was almost no income security. There was little public aid when a worker became old, disabled, or died. Much of the responsibility for care fell on families, friends, and private organizations with limited resources.

The Act changed all that. It set up an old-age program that grew into what we now know as "social security," as well as public assistance and unemployment insurance.

The first monthly benefits were paid in 1940 when Jim was in kindergarten. By then the Act had been amended to also pay certain dependents and survivors. The top payment then was only $41.20 for a worker and $82.40 monthly for a family, but it was a start.

Disability protection was added in the late 1950's - about the time Jim started working and married. He had two children, and while they were growing up, the family had the assurance that benefit would be paid if Jim became severely disabled or died. Fortunately, neither event happened.

Medicare was enacted when Jim reached 30. It now helps pay medical bills for most older people as well as disabled people who have been getting cash benefits at least 2 years.

Still another major improvement in social security took place in 1975 when Jim was 40. The first automatic benefit increase went into effect as a hedge against inflation. There have been yearly increases since, including a 14.3 percent hike in June 1980. And those payments are tax-free.

At 45 in 1980, Jim has reached a milestone of sorts. Both children are grown and no longer dependent. They have joined some 114 million other working Americans who regularly pay into social security. Their tax money helps pay for benefits now going to more than 35 million people of all ages. Payments to a family may reach as high as $1,000 a month - a far cry from the $82.40 maximum in 1940.

Jim's parents just retired and joined those beneficiaries. And a grandparent who earned entitled in 1950 is still getting checks. For the first time, Jim begins to think ahead to his own retirement at 65. Until recently, the year 65 seemed ages away. Now

THE PRESIDENT STICKS TO HIS GUNS WITH HARRY BYRD

Injustice, inequities and discriminations against blacks have been removed from the legal paper in the United States. However, these characteristics still exist in a subtle way in just about every facet of American life. It still seems that the only hope for blacks lies in the Federal courts. It is more important than ever to get unjust issues resolved at the Federal District Court level, since the majority of the present United States Supreme Court Judges appear somewhat insensitive to many unjust practices mitigated against minorities. All of this makes the 152 additional judgeship positions created by President Carter, coupled with the original 142 Federal judgeship vacancy appointments, of the utmost importance to blacks.

In previous years, the appointment of district federal judge was just about wholly within the hands of the state senators. Under Senator Eastland who was Chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee for approximately thirty years, the senator enjoyed a field day with their choices. If they objected to a presidential judge appointment, all they had to do was fail to return the blue slip and Senator Eastland would disregard the appointment.

This woman, who was born in 1752, might be considered the forerunner of women who organized consciousness raising groups over 200 years later. She was the author of the book, "By A Lady Of Boston," and organized a group called the Women's Lodge which was dedicated to "improving the mind; that by strength and wisdom, we might beautifully adorn the female character." Who was that lady? - Hannah Mathew Crocker.

Senator Kennedy, the present chairman, has changed that process. Appointments are brought up, witnesses are heard and the entire committee acts on them.

President Carter, in asking the senators to set up commissioners which will provide a list of names, made it quite clear that he wanted women and minorities included among the candidates.

In most states that have sizable minority populations, this has been done. Nevertheless, Mr. Carter has been confronted with racism in some cases. This process he has appointed thirty-five black judges. Among them is a Fifth District Circuit Court Federal Judge from Texas. Some of these candidates have already been confirmed by the senate, while others are expected to be taken up by the Judiciary in the next one or two months.

Even though the President had been striving hard to work out a fair and just decision with Senator Harry Byrd of Virginia over the one black appointment, James Sheffield (who is highly qualified) and with the three whites, he had not been able to do so. The President failed to yield to Byrd's opposition, so Sheffield has been appointed.

In support of this appointment, 26 interracial members from a cross-spectrum statewide of Virginians, under the leadership of Representative Herb Harris, met in Washington, made their intentions known to the press, divided into groups and met with each member or his administrative assistant of the Senate Judiciary Committee and with both Virginia senators to push for Sheffield's confirmation.

"You see that man over there? He thinks in terms of millions."

"He doesn't look like a business tycoon."

"He isn't. He's a bacteriologist."

Senator Harris had expressed the feeling that he believed James Sheffield would be confirmed as Virginia's first black to ever have even been considered for a federal judgeship.

Springtime is partytime with this festive duo

The exotic flavors of Leroux Liqueurs combine to create the unusual taste of this "Springtime Ribbon Loaf." In tasteful and tasty contrast is "Vodka Punch," featuring Leroux Triple Sec and Nikolai Vodka.

- LIQUEUR RIBBON LOAF
- 2 unbleached loaves of bread
  - 3 packs (8 ounces each) cream cheese
  - 2-3 tablespoons Leroux

- Crems de Cacao
- 1/2 cup raisins
  - 1/2 cup chopped walnuts
  - 1/2 cup Leroux Fraise de Bois
  - 1/2 pint fresh strawberries, hulled and sliced
  - 1-2 tablespoons Leroux Green Creme de Menthe
  - 1 bunch watercrress, washed and well dried
- Cut crusts off bread and slice the loaves lengthwise into four layers.

Place bottom layers end-to-end on a serving platter. Beat one package cream cheese with enough Leroux Crems de Cacao to make it soft and spreadable. Stir in raisins and nuts. Spread on bottom bread layer. Add next layer of bread and press down lightly. Beat three packages cream cheese with Leroux Fraise de Bois.

Spread bread layer with 1/2 cup of the mixture. Arrange sliced strawberries on top, reserving a few for garnish. Top with another 1/2 cup cream cheese mixture and another layer of bread. Reserve remaining cheese mixture for frosting loaf. Beat remaining package cream cheese with Leroux Creme de Menthe. Remove coarse stems from watercrress (reserving a few sprigs for garnish), chop and fold into cheese/Creme de Menthe mixture. Spread over bread layer. Top with remaining bread slices and frost top and sides of loaf with reserved cheese/Fraise de Bois mixture. Decorate with reserved strawberries and watercrress. Makes 24 slices.

IF YOU'RE PLANNING A PARTY, a festive combo of "Springtime Ribbon Loaf" and "Vodka Punch" is ideal. The keynote spirits? Leroux Liqueurs and Nikolai Vodka.

- VODKARITA PUNCH
- 1 bottle (1.750ML) Nikolai Vodka
  - 2 cups Leroux Triple Sec
  - 2 cups fresh lime juice
  - 3 bottles (28 ounces each) club soda
  - Lime slices
  - Coarse salt
- Combine Nikolai Vodka, Leroux Triple Sec and lime juice and chill well. Just before serving, pour over ice in a punch bowl and add club soda. Garnish with lime slices. Ladle into punch glasses rimmed with salt. Makes 34 servings, 4 ounces each. To rim glasses with salt, pour a little lime juice into a saucer; spread coarse salt 1/4-inch deep in a second saucer. Dip glass edge in lime juice, then in salt.

The KITCHEN BEAT

In today's black American home, cooking is no longer the responsibility of one person. Because of busy and varied schedules, usually every member of the family at some time or another has to prepare personal meals or meals for other members of the family. The Kitchen Beat is designed to meet some needs of the various cooks in the modern black family.

One of the very best recipes to come along lately is Chocolate Cherry Cake—moist chocolate cake layers, filled with canned cherry pie filling and thawed Birds Eye Cool Whip non-dairy whipped topping. The top of the cake is covered with cherries and the remaining whipped topping arranged as a border around the sides. Not only is it an attractive dessert, but it's ever so delicious. It will be easy for a teenager to prepare this delectable cake, because our modern conveniences products make it a cinch.

the whipped topping. Add second cake layer and top with remaining cherry mixture. Spread remaining whipped topping over sides of cake and on outer edge of top layer. Note: Cake is best when made and served the same day; store any leftover cake in refrigerator.

IT'S CHERRY TIME AGAIN

Just about anytime is party time, and it is always nicer when there is a real reason to celebrate.

A school holiday is a good reason, and for most youngsters, Washington's Birthday is a school holiday.

Through the years there's been a lot said about the first President of our land, but one thing we somehow always associate with him is the famous hatchet and the cherry tree. Whether he cut the tree down or not does not really matter. What does matter, however, is the popularity the story brought to the ripe red cherry.

Children are bound to remember how good this luscious fruit is and want to make it a part of their Washington's Birthday party menu.

- Combine cherry pie filling and almond extract. Spread half of cherry mixture over 1 cake layer; top with 1 cup of

Summer Collars With Jamaica Flavor

For many, the flavor of coconut is certainly associated with a Jamaica holiday. For those who have not been to Jamaica, these cool drinks will give you a sample of what you have missed. Try them and then try Jamaica. You'll love both.

(Our recipes are through the courtesy of Holland House Brands Co. Brands are suggested by The Kitchen Beat.)

- Pina Colada
- 2 oz. Coco Casa Cream of Coconut
  - 4 oz. Dole pineapple juice
  - 3 oz. Jamaican rum
  - 1 cup ice cubes

- 4 ozs. plain yogurt
- 1/2 cup Coco Casa Cream of Coconut
- 8 oz. Canada Dry club soda
- Ice cubes

Place juice, yogurt, and cream of coconut in blender. Blend at medium speed for 30 seconds. Remove, add club soda, ice cubes and serve. Serves 2 to 3.

- Lime Coconut Fizz
- 1/2 cup Coco Casa Cream of Coconut
  - 1/2 cup Sealtest lemon sherbet
  - 1 cup Canada Dry lemon-lime soda, chilled
  - Ice cubes

In a glass, mix cream of coconut and sherbet. Slowly stir in soda. Add ice cubes and serve at once. Variations: Use orange sherbet with orange soda. Use raspberry sherbet with raspberry soda. Serves 1 to 2.

To Stock or Not to Stock

A real problem single people face is keeping the refrigerator stocked with some variety of fresh vegetables, yet being able to use them before they spoil.

My schedule is erratic and I don't like to plan meals, yet frequent trips to the supermarket are not my ideal way to spend free time.

CRISPER MATS... easy living for vegetables. And then... (do you hear violins?) Rubbermaid invented.

crisper mats (drum roll, please). These nifty, low-cost plastic mats let air circulate beneath fruit and vegetables so they don't stand in moisture at the bottom of the drawer.

They keep vegetables fresh longer, and there's no more soggy mess in my refrigerator drawers... I'm sold!

Dessert, moon and? A friend in New York knows how to wind up a great dinner with true European flair. He serves a selection of fruits and cheeses as an after-dinner treat... perfect! (And easy!)

And while you're enjoying whatever it is you create for a stunning repast, why not treat yourself to candlelight, music (off with the TV!) and replace the paper towel with a true cloth napkin. These tricks to chic!

It's only the end of the next decade.

Right now Jim may have mixed feelings about social security. On one hand, he can see how the monthly checks and Medicare for his parents, grandparents, and other older relatives have given them a sense of independence and dignity. And without those benefits, it would be up to Jim and his brothers and sisters to provide some or all needed support. Instead, the social security taxes Jim and his children and other working relatives now pay help supply this support more indirectly.

But Jim also sees the rising cost of paying for social security. And then there are the scare stories in the news about the program going broke. He begins to wonder whether he can depend on benefits later.

With regard to program stability, social security is constantly and carefully examined by experts in and out of the Government. The conclusion is always the same: Social security is something you can count on... today and into the next century.

These experts do state that changes in program financing and other aspects of social security will be needed to keep it on a steady course. This is the way it's always been with social security. The program has changed many times since 1935 in response to evolving patterns of work, family relationships, and economic conditions. And it will continue to do so in future years.

Like Jim, social security is at a crossroad. And the big question is not whether benefits will be paid to Jim in 2000, or to his children a quarter century later. The key question is how can we improve and strengthen social security?

QUESTION:

"I'm 20 and single and have over 10 years until retirement (if I live that long). I just can't see where I'll get that much benefit from the social security taxes I pay."

ANSWER:

Keep in mind that social security is much more than a retirement program. It can pay you monthly disability checks if you become severely disabled and can't work for a year or more anytime before 65. Should you marry and have children, your dependents also could get payments if you died or became disabled.

There's another point to remember: The social security taxes you pay help finance benefits now going to many of your older relatives. Without social security, you might someday have to help support them.

QUESTION:

"Social security taxes are much higher now than when the program started and are still going up. Why is the program so expensive?"

ANSWER:

When social security began, it provided only for retirement benefits. Today it also pays checks to disabled people and to many dependents and survivors. And there also is Medicare. In addition, there have been other improvements, such as automatic increases in benefits. All these changes are costly.

Drive with your doors locked and be ready to roll windows up at a moment's notice. If your car breaks down on the road, have someone stay with it. An unoccupied car can be stripped in an incredibly short time.

Travel Precautions

Thieves and robbers are always with us, eager to relieve us of our possessions, and there's nothing so demoralizing as to be ripped off when you're traveling far from home. Failing to take precautions against the light-fingered gentry has ruined many a vacation.

Avoid carrying large amounts of cash — credit cards and traveler's checks are much safer. But if you have to carry cash, deposit it in the safe as soon as you check into the hotel or motel. And don't flash a roll in public.

Also check valuables, such as jewelry or cameras, in the hotel safe whenever you can. Above all, don't hide them in your room. Thieves know all the favorite places — in piles of dirty clothes or behind pictures.

When you check into a room, lock the door and demand identification before you admit anyone, especially if you're a woman alone. Be sure and lock the door when you leave the room, and never leave your luggage in the hall, even for a minute.

Professional thieves can circumvent just about any anti-theft device on a car, but many auto thefts are by amateurs. Don't make it easy for them by leaving your keys in the ignition, even for a minute. Don't hide extra keys in the car. Lock any valuables in the trunk. Don't carry your name, address or license number on your key chain.

When you leave your car at a parking lot, don't tell the attendant how long you'll be gone — you may return to find your engine or tires changed. And save the ignition key with the attendant.

BLACK EMPOWERMENT

WHO IS RESPONSIBLE?

When President Carter at long last visited the riot-torn Miami area, the sense of deep bitterness and hopelessness was said to have deepened further.

The President had come apparently with the demeanor of an outsider. He spoke to those who had been most immediately touched by the conflagration in what were felt as the inherently patronizing terms of "meeting them half way."

What was involved from a federal point of view in the Miami, Florida disturbances was essentially the same issue which has surfaced in the Niagara Falls Love Canal disputes. The question at the heart of things is "who is ultimately responsible?" To many of the angry and edgy minds of the black and white citizens of Florida, a problem transcending that of any one region of our country is involved.

Ours is not a country in which isolated rioting occurs. Ours rather is a nation as a whole of strife where the upheavals occur in specific local communities. The Miami uprising, in this sense, was a national event of largely local manifestation.

It is clear that the local rebellion by blacks was aggravated in large measure because of the presence of—and, in many ways, the preferential treatment accorded to—the large numbers of Cuban refugees in Miami. The refugee problem was a national situation for which the federal government specifically had a primary responsibility.

That same problem was intensified by the gross disparity in treatment accorded the primarily white Cuban refugees as against the Haitian refugees in Miami who were black. Federal injustice, at least in local minds, had aroused a sense of revulsion and disposition toward rebellion.

Further, it was apparent to local blacks that in every criminal justice situation where there may be even the suspicion of a conspiracy for the denial of human rights the Federal Bureau of Investigation has a right to enter the case. This was the perhaps dubious ground on which the FBI entered the racially controversial Vernon Jordan shooting case. But the FBI chose discreetly to absent itself from the Miami, Florida case in which the U.S. Attorney General admitted that the Justice Department felt that some possible conspiracy may have occurred.

According to existing laws, then, the federal government has had a more than sufficient mandate to enter and investigate—and possibly also to eventually prosecute—in a wide range of black complaints of injustice in the criminal justice system. Indeed, whenever police or prison guard brutality occurs, it is almost invariably done with or through conspiracy either in the action itself or in the cover-up which follows. Even juries conspire to deny black civil rights; and perhaps some precedent-shattering case or cases should be entered—even if technically futile—in this regard.

We suggest that on many grounds the localized racial disturbances throughout our country are primarily national concern and responsibility.
