Black America, Wake Up! We're at War!!!

by
NNPA

The most crucial civil rights battle in more than a decade has developed in Washington over extension of the Voting Rights Act, one of the most effective civil rights laws ever passed.

At stake is not only salvaging and extending the Voting Rights Act to 1992, including its application to the 1990 reapportionment process, but also holding on to the other civil rights programs, laws, and gains which resulted from the civil rights offensive during the 1960s.

The ultra-conservative forces, now aided and abetted by some white groups who were a part of the liberal white-labor-church-black coalition which supported the Civil Rights Movement 15 years ago, are aggressively attempting on all fronts in a concerted effort to dismantle and abolish civil rights programs and repeal rights laws that were born out of great pain, suffering, and supreme satisfaction of many.

It took years of lunch counter sit-ins by courageous black students, freedom rides in spite of burned buses and physical violence, marches to Jackson, Mississippi to Montgomery, to Selma, and other protest demonstrations before the conscience of white America was pricked. A sensitive President, Lyndon B. Johnson, responded by throwing all the power of the Federal Government behind "fulfilling the rights of that other separate but equal America — Black America."

Now, the racial and political climate in this country has changed drastically and adversely.

Black Americans can no longer look to an empathetic President for understanding and support. Black Americans can no longer expect strong and firm political leadership and help from a Hubert H. Humphrey - led Democratic-Republican coalition of liberal members of Congress. Bona fide liberals in Washington have become an endangered species. Black Americans have been told bluntly by President Reagan that "government is no longer the strong draft horse of minority progress...." Therefore, we, under the Reagan Administration, can no longer look to the Federal Government for what Vice President Humphrey described...

Black Americans can no longer rely upon the financial support of liberal white friends, both Jew and Gentile. And Black Americans can no longer depend upon the support of the rank-and-file membership of labor and the white church.

Middle-class Black Americans who have been busy enjoying the social and economic gains from the civil rights breakthroughs of the 1960s, please take note: Those gains are now in grave danger of being subverted.

Black leadership, which has, in some instances, become preoccupied with turf-protection, image-building, and ego-fulfilling devices, please wake up to the crisis now at hand.

Black America, we are now in a political war for our own survival.

The battle lines have been drawn. The poor, the oppressed, and blacks are on one side, and on the other are the vast resources of the Moral Majority, the John Birch society, the Ku Klux Klan, a majority of the U. S. Congress, and all of the Executive branches of the Federal Government.

The first major battle front is the Voting Rights Act.

President Reagan has misgivings about the Act, and has requested recommendations from his Attorney General by October 1. We can expect those recommendations to justify conclusions already reached by the White House.

On Capitol Hill, the chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee is the same southern politician who led the walkout of Dixiecrats at the 1948 Democratic Convention while a young, outspoken political novice, Hubert Humphrey, then Mayor of Minneapolis, spoke of the Democratic Party moving "out of the shadows of state rights into the sunshine of human rights." That politician was Strom Thurmond, who has declared his opposition to the Voting Rights Act, which must come before his committee for public hearing.

So, Black America, a war has been declared by the other side, the ultra-conservative forces which have taken over Washington, our Nation's capital. The time is now for black leadership to regroup, to unite, and take the offensive.

The time is now for black ministers, educators, businesspersons, unionists, sports and entertainment celebrities, community activists, and heads of social and civic organizations to communicate, cooperate, collaborate in preparation for political warfare.

The time is now for Black America to develop a new mobilization strategy.

In this spirit, and for these reasons, we, therefore, impose our leaders to convene a summit meeting to pool our resources, review our plight, the means of our enemies, our own goals, and develop a new political war plan.

Black America, the crisis is upon us, the political

by
Robbie Johnson

In the fall, Alderson Junior High School and Estacado High School students will see changes in their administrative heads. These changes in the administration came about after the Lubbock School Board approved the interchange of the heads of both schools last week.

The new changes have put Carroll Thomas, Alderson principal, at Estacado as principal and Curtis Gipson, Estacado principal, as Alderson principal. Thomas said he is pleased with his new position. It's a challenge.

He continued to say it gives him an opportunity to work with the young people he has worked with before.

"Estacado is a fine school," Thomas said. He said: "As far as changes being made at Estacado, first I have to find out if any changes need to be made. Right now, I'm visiting with the personnel."

Thomas said the parents have always been supportive and he hopes they continue to give their support and understanding.

He concluded by saying, "The faculty at Alderson are fortunate to have such a fine principal as Gipson taking over. Gipson is on vacation and could not be reached for comment on the subject.

Virgil Johnson, assistant principal at Alderson, has been promoted to vice principal at Estacado. While activities director, at Estacado, Jim Broome, has been advanced to assistant principal there.

Neither could be reached for comment.

Rose Aguilar, English department head at Alderson, has been placed at Estacado as the activities director.

Aguilar said she is very proud that she will be working at Estacado. She said: "Thomas will help Estacado progress."

Aguilar also said Alderson is a fine school and she is sure Gipson will do a good job there.

"The staff is a good one and Gipson should not have any difficulty working with them."

Estacado's vice principal, Joe Phea, and assistant principal, Joe Sanders, have not yet been reassigned.

Phea said the change is accepted.

Sanders said: "The decision to change the administration is for the benefit of the schools."

Ed Irons, superintendent of the Lubbock Public Schools, said: "The change is needed to create a better learning environment for the students."

Irons said they make changes every year and this is not unusual.

He said the staff at Estacado worked hard and they did as well as could be expected. "We (school board) have some standards we want to see developed," Irons said.

He said Thomas had been the assistant principal at Estacado and the school's operation is not new to him.

The administrations seem to think the new changes are for the best, but as Sanders put it: "Time will tell."

Community Reactions To Change

by
Robbie Johnson

The new change will affect the administration, the student, and the parents. The administration feels the changes are for the benefit of the students. But the opinions of the parents differed.

David Ritter, teacher of math and a coach at Alderson, thinks the change is a good deal.

Ritter said Gipson had not been the principal at Estacado long enough that it will make a difference at the junior high level.

He said the faculty at Alderson is strong enough to take any change.

"The change made at Estacado is a good, strong change," Ritter said.

Clydene Damron, homemaking at Estacado, said Thomas and Gipson operate a lot alike. She said she has worked with Thomas as activities director.

Damron said: "I don't anticipate any problems between the new administration and the teachers."

She feels they will have a good year at Estacado.

Keberca Henry, an ex-history teacher at Alderson, thinks Thomas will do a good job at Estacado.

"It is sad for Alderson to see him leave," Henry said.

One parent, Marie Johnson, said the change will leave a big scar on the kids because they were fond of Gipson.

"I don't think it's right. He (Gipson) is really nice," Johnson said.

She continued: "I really think he is understandable in every kind of way."

Betty Domingo, another parent, said she thinks Thomas will do a good job.

Domingo said they really need him up there (Estacado). Gipson was not strict enough.

Ros, Mary Colbert, a concerned citizen, commented that Gipson had not been there long enough to really get adjusted to the job.

Colbert said Gipson was qualified to do the job at Estacado.

"I believe he'll do a good job at Alderson," she said.

She thinks he might be what Alderson needs. She said: "Maybe he wasn't firm enough at Estacado."

Colbert said Thomas will have to get adjusted to his new position before he will be able to perform well there.

"They (school board) would have to feel Thomas is more qualified to do a better job at Estacado than Alderson since they are sending him there," Colbert said.

George Paul, father of a former student,

remarked, I was surprised, I didn't think they would change Gipson.

"I don't see how the change will make any difference because the problems at both schools are similar except for the two schools being at a different level (junior high and senior high)," Paul said.

Cynthia Harris, 1980

graduate, felt Gipson will accept his new responsibility because she said he is capable of handling changes.

Harris said whatever changes (academic) there are to be made will be up to the students.

NAACP Prexy Will Address Lubbock Bussing Issue Soon!

In a regular meeting of the Lubbock Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People last Saturday evening, Ms. Rose Wilson, local branch president, asked all officers to get busy working. "It is a must that we begin to work for what the NAACP is all about," she said.

She gave a report of the recent attended National Convention of the NAACP in Denver, Colorado.

She said the highlights of the national meeting were very inspiring. She presented the local branch with literature and articles pertaining to the convention. She also presented letters which were sent to President Ronald Reagan by Benjamin Hooks and Mrs. Margaret Wilson about several items, including budget cuts and the Voting Rights Act.

She told the group that the "biggest" highlight was the Lubbock's branch presentation of a Membership Achievement certificate from the National Membership Department. This certified the local branch's increase of 25% in membership for 1981.

Referring to the certificate, Ms. Wilson said: "It is called a Carat Diamond." The branches goal for 1981 is 1,000.

President Wilson is asking all officers to keep on working. "Let's make Lubbock the home of the largest branch in Texas. Together, we can do it."

She also asked that all vice presidents and executive committee persons to begin working on various committees.

It was learned that Ms. Wilson will be making a statement to the press before the next meeting about the school bussing issue in Lubbock.

Among those present last week were Harold M. Chatman and Rev. Roy Jones. Tom Burtis, who has been absent because of illness, was present. Ms. Wilson asked Mr.

Chatman to take a committee and get to work.

Youth who attended the National Convention were Stella Walton, Tonya Johnson and Lori Middleton.

The next meeting of the local branch will be held Saturday, August 8, at 7:30 p. m. at Mae Simmons Community Center.

Sheridan's Ride

by Jack Sheridan

There's been so much live action on the Civic Center stage these past weeks what with "Oklahoma" "110 in the Shade" and this past weekend's closer in the Summer Rep series, "The Robber Bridegroom," that for the time the new summer crop of movies has been bypassed. However, with most of the live plays and musicals out of the way for the remaining "dog days of summer" we'll be taking a look at some of the outstanding and successful entries in the long summer box office sweepstakes. So, hold on and we'll be filling you in as we go.

On the subject of movies, I do want to bring your attention to an outstanding one night only showing of a famous and very funny comedy set for the Texas Tech University Center (one of their summer long revivals weekly). It will be next Wednesday, July 22, at 7 p.m., admission $1.50 per person.

The film is "Ninotchka," a spoof of the Soviets set in Paris and stars the great one Greta Garbo, in one of her best, along with a charming Melvyn Douglas. It has always been a successful film right from the beginning and is rich in laughs, glamour and romance. It's a honey and I never miss a revival showing.

The third item in the Summer Rep musical series, "The Robber Bridegroom" finished the slate of three last weekend at the Civic Center. Adapted from a story by the South's great writer, Eudora Welty, it is set in Mississippi, on the Natchez Trace, around the turn of the century. It is billed as a "comic fairytale," with music woven into the story skein skilfully. It is more a kind of "experimental" production than the usual and against a rough-hewn background, the large cast from Tech played it as well as they could and that was pleasantly adequate. At the time the cast assumes the posturing of trees in the forest and other interpretive figures, while the principals tell the story of the gentleman bandit who conquers the landowners daughter, not without sometimes tedious difficulties. The work is and ensemble work and every member gave their best to Ronald Schulz direction, with a orchestra seated high in the set over the action. The chorus work, the choreography and the direction-staging were all expert, recalling an earlier Schulz successful staging of "Dark of the Moon."

"The Robber Bridegroom" had its moments, both good and uncomfortable; not so good, but, all in all, it came off as the curiosity item that it was. It's nice to have had the chance to make its acquaintance; I wouldn't want to see it again.

Immunization Clinic At Alderson

A special immunization clinic will be held at Alderson Junior High from 9:00 a. m. until 12:00 noon on Tuesday, July 21st. The school is located at 219 Walnut Avenue.

The special clinic was announced by Dr. J. D. Donaldson, Jr., acting City of Lubbock Health Officer.

Nurses will be on duty at Alderson Junior High during the 21st clinic session. The clinic is designed primarily for children. Inoculations will be available for infants as well as to meet the requirements for children entering school for the first time and to meet the requirements for young people entering high school. There will be no charge for inoculations.

If the clinic proves popular, special satellite immunization clinics will be arranged to schools and other parts of the city.

The regular immunization clinic is held at the City Health Department at the corner of North Avenue Q Drive and Jarvis Street from 1:00 p. m. to 4:00 p. m. on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays of each week. Beginning in August, an immunization clinic will also be held at the Health Department from 9:00 a. m. until 12:00 noon each Wednesday.

East 4th Street and Quirt Avenue. Veterinarians will be on duty from 8 a. m. until 1 p. m. on Saturday, July 25th to conduct the clinic.

Rabies shots and the required animal license will cost $6 during the special clinic. Regular fee for the required shots and license is $9.

The clinic is being conducted by the City of Lubbock Animal Shelter in hopes of getting more dogs and cats protected from rabies.

The license obtained after a rabies shot will be helpful to identify the dog if lost or picked up by Animal Control officers. The owner of any licensed dog picked up by the Animal Shelter will be notified according to the number on the license tag.

Lubbock Meals On Wheels goes 100% local control and Support August 1, 1981

In a healthier, more prosperous time, Lubbock's Harry would never have helped from anyone. Not any kind. No sir! But, living alone, his life is a stake. Now he needs a helping hand. That is why Lubbock Meals on Wheels was formed in 1971. It was neighbor helping neighbor — over 6,000 volunteer hours and $55,000.00 in contributions last year alone.

For them ... for Lubbock ... the time has come for a soul-searching decision. Do we yield local determination of need and control to governmental interests? Or, do we hold true to the original purpose set down in our charter: "home delivered noon meals provided for any person who because of advanced age or physical or mental infirmity cannot prepare his or her own meals and has no one in the home to cook for them?" Since 1976 our operational money has been generously supplemented by the Texas Department of Human Resources. Its help has been vital to the increasing number of needs we serve.

And so it happened ... the camel's nose under the tent ... the obligation to accept the government's version of how to do the job. At stake — local control and self-determination ... people coming to grips with a hometown need in a hometown way. The decision — less government in our daily lives. Lubbock Meals on Wheels returns to 100% local control and support August 1st, in pure faith in the continued good-hearted generosity of this community. We believe Lubbock will take care of its own. Neighbor helping neighbor.

Keep It - Circulate It At Home!!

by
Eddie P. Richardson

Systematically when whites spend a dollar in their community, it circulates at least seven times. When a dollar is spent in the Black community, if lucky, it circulates maybe one time. With this kind of turn over, one can easily see why the gap in communities are so wide.

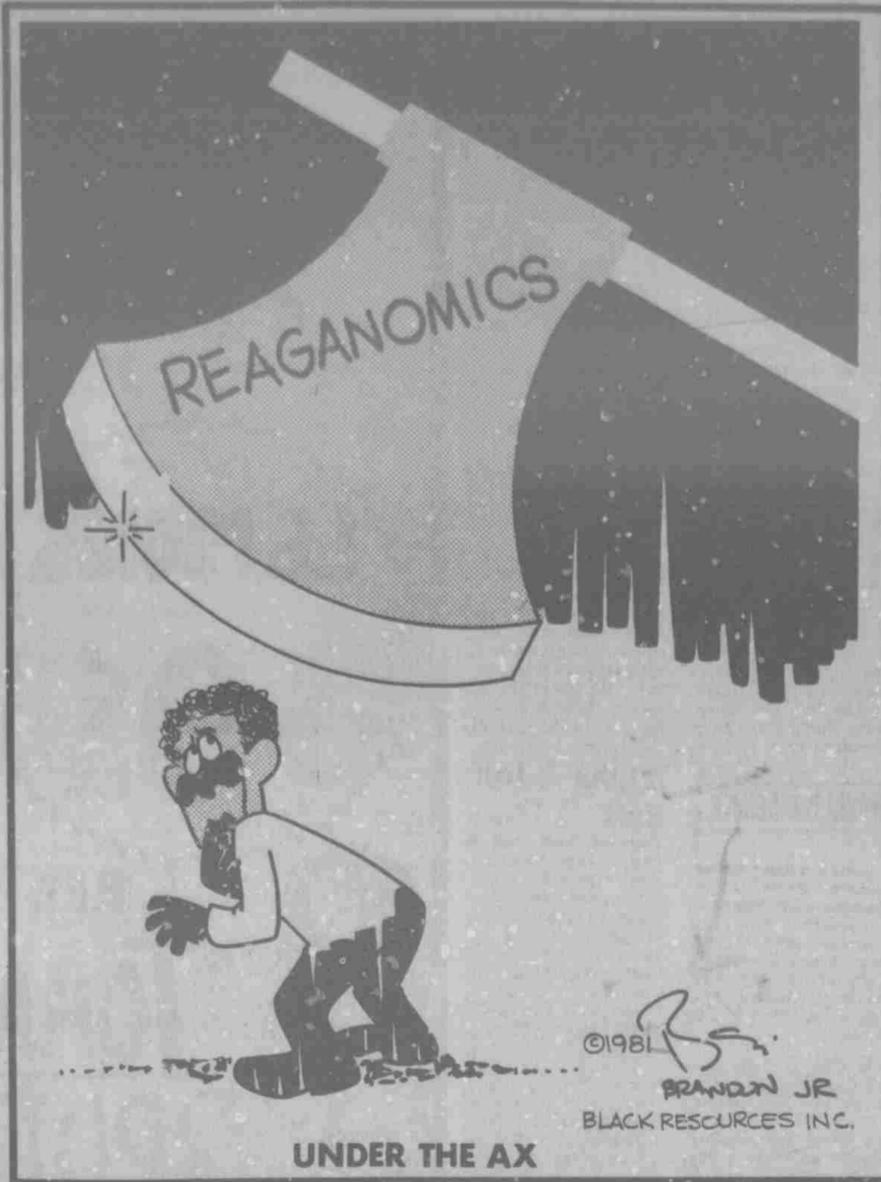

Over 90% of the dollars from the Black community exit the Black community to the white community — across town, via white merchants - door to door salespersons - white insurance agents for white insurance companies and peddlers, etc. The majority of the rest of the money is carried across town by Black themselves.

As far as a stable Black economy, we all lose. When you can, where you can, SUPPORT OURSELVES. We help ourselves by helping BLACK establishments grow and hire other blacks. This keeps more money turning in the Black community. For us to help ourselves, help strengthen, build and re-build our communities, we must keep our money at home. We must all as a people work with Blacks whose goods and services are as good as anyone in the community. This is a time of competition and we (Blacks) must update and upgrade these goods and services so we can be competitive with anyone.

In this day of high inflation, no one can afford to spend hard earned cash with someone because they are in the community and Black. This is why it is a must that we all work together with our brothers and sisters who do not have their act together. No matter how small or how few goods or services we have, we must be good and professional. We must have good and courteous attitudes and be willing to serve and be of service.

When all Blacks meet their goals, then there should be no reason for not supporting them. Remember when Black businesses and institutions grow, we all grow and our communities grow. We create more employment in our own communities for our own.

The way we are going now, our communities are going down and deteriorating. Let's give the above mentioned a chance. It can hurt. It will, believe it or not, help. This will be good for all of us. Nuf Sed!! WHY NOT??

A View from Capitol Hill: AN INDEPENDENT REPORTS ON WASHINGTON

By Gus Savage
Member of Congress

The Reagan Administration's tax plan, like its budget proposal, spells hard times for Americans who just don't happen to be wealthy or heads of major corporations. And, unfortunately, the Democratic Party's alternative plan offers little more in the way of relief.

A modified version of the Kemp-Roth proposal, the President's tax plan provides a 25 percent, three-year across-the-board tax cut for individuals and a 10-5-3 depreciation schedule for business.

The Democratic plan, being drafted by House Ways and Means Committee, calls for a total of $40 billion in tax cuts for individuals and $13.6 billion for business depreciation and rate cuts in calendar 1982. For business the Democratic plan offers speedy write-offs of the cost of assets; cuts in the corporate tax rates; tax relief for distressed industries; and tax credits for research and development.

There is no question in my mind that the Reagan Administration's plan favors big business and the rich. At the same time, the Democratic alternative plan also favors big business. In fact, it goes a step further than the President's program in liberalizing the depreciation write-offs business can take on the cost of new equipment and machinery. After a phase-in period, the Democratic bill would allow the entire cost to be written off in a single year.

The Hance-Conable Bill, H. R. 3849, and the Dole Bipartisan Tax Reduction Program (the Senate Finance Committee's bill) both represent the Administration's point of view. If the Democrats fail to adopt the alternative plan offered by the Ways and Means Committee, Hance-Conable will be offered as a substitute as was the Gramm-Latta budget proposal.

The country is suffering from high inflation and high unemployment. Any tax proposal which would serve the public welfare should be aimed at curing these evils. In my opinion, the Reagan proposal falls short on both counts.

Many economists, including some conservatives, believe the Administration's tax plan is itself inflationary. The Reagan tax proposal assumes that the individual savings realized will be either invested or saved, thus providing or freeing up money for business to make capital investments. This supposedly would fuel the economy and reduce unemployment. Nothing in the history of economics justifies this assumption. In essence, it is an article of faith.

George Bush, now our Vice President, called Reagan's tax proposal "voodoo economics" during the Republican Primary. He said that if enacted it could bring on an inflation rate of 30 percent or more. This is because many economists think that individuals would simply spend the money, thus driving up the inflation rate because more money would be chasing fewer goods.

Democratic liberals and moderates fear that a tax cut of the magnitude of the Administration's plan, coupled with the sharp rise in defense spending scheduled to take place over the next few years, will strongly contribute to inflationary pressures in the economy.

In my view, the Congressional Black Caucus' alternative budget plan contained tax provisions which do more to preserve the integrity of social programs, provide a tax break that is fair across-the-board, and generate a budget surplus.

The CRC plan contained these features: — a 10 percent tax credit for social security expenditures for employers as well as employees. — the elimination of tax straddles for speculators who use these devices for insulating their income from taxation at higher "speculative rates."

— a first year capital cost recovery system that is a better approach than the 10-5-3 depreciation schedule. The proposal has been endorsed by Fortune Magazine, The New York Times, and the Public Interest Tax Research Group.

— increases in the standard deduction for singles and married couples from $2300 to $2800 and from $3400 to $4300, respectively.

— indexing the earned income tax bracket to prevent creep, in which a person gets taxed at a higher rate simply because he gets an increase in pay to keep up with inflation.

Any tax cut that does not guarantee benefits to those with less money, does not produce more jobs for the unemployed, and does not reduce inflation is a tax plan I cannot endorse.

The world's attention will turn in a focused way upon the need for interval adjustments in line with the "one person, one vote" principle. This would give blacks the political control of the Republic of South Africa. The use of delaying tactics is the best apparent defense which South Africa has. It will probably be employed as long as possible in order to postpone the handing over of rule to the black majority into the most distant future that is possible.

LEGISLATIVE

BLACK NEIGHBORHOOD ASSOCIATIONS

The federal government has experimented from time to time with the encouragement of neighborhood block groups to initiate redevelopment plans. But these efforts — while demonstrative — have not been received large-scale federal endorsement. Provision should be made for all new redevelopment to be engaged in with local block groups as the agencies of primary responsibility, and with local housing authorities as the temporary coordinating bodies with no ultimate control as to the building or administration of new housing.

This kind of approach in urban or central city rebuilding is especially important to black Americans because only in this way blacks will not be displaced in residence and also have a definitive choice in the kind of neighborhood, block or area environment in which they may have to live. Block neighborhood associations must be seen in federal legislation as the agencies for federal focus in all urban rebuilding efforts.

You may write to your Congressman and Senators at: Congressional Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20515 or Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20510. Please encourage them for their important work and let them know where Black America stands on crucial issues.

BLACK EMPOWERMENT

By Dr. Nathaniel Wright, Jr.

SOUTH AFRICAN THORN

The Republic of South Africa has been a constant thorn in the flesh to blacks in the Third World. From the time of the founding of the United Nations just after the conclusion of World War II, the black nations of Africa—and later those of the Caribbean—have been insistent that South Africa be excluded from the councils of the family of nations. The current reluctance of South Africa to grant Namibia its independence is a symptom of a long range struggle in which South Africa has chosen to maximize its role of serving as a "thorn in the flesh" to its black neighbors and to the world. Despite its official isolation —which has been made more explicit by the United Nations charter on Human Rights and by the work of the UN agency against apartheid—the Republic of South Africa remains the richest, strongest, most influential and perhaps the only substantially developed nation on the continent of Africa. Because of its strength and resources, practically all of Africa is beholden in one way or another to South Africa. Zimbabwe—the leading black-controlled nation below the Sahara Desert—depends upon South Africa for its major rail routes to the sea. Only recently, South Africa downgraded these rail facilities in a manner which promises to work an economic hardship upon Zimbabwe. Zimbabwe must live with the consequences and must maintain at least officially friendly relations with South Africa, who holds at least one rope end of a potential economic knot.

The South African "thorn in the flesh" surfaces also in the dependence of a growing number of black African nations on the agricultural products grown in South Africa. The Republic of South Africa is said to be the breadbasket of much of black Africa, and it may remain that way for some years to come. Not only has South African agricultural know-how been the most advanced on the continent (along with its technical equipment), but some of its black African nations have suffered almost incalculable losses due to drought-produced famine and the dislocations due to recurrent wars.

Wars are an almost built-in phenomenon in black Africa. When the European nations colonized Africa, they showed little or no respect for tribal bounds. This was to their distinct advantage in that it fragmented the people in such a way that a united resistance to colonial control was for a time at least, virtually impossible. Once independence came to these former colonies, the same artificial separations of tribes prevailed, and the unity needed to build nationhood was lacking. What is referred to here is the fact that the present black African nations do not follow traditional tribal lines, and it is along the lines of tribal relations that the most basic or natural loyalties can be created. This tribal fragmentation may actually be the root of the single most difficult political and economic problem facing almost every black African nation today. It thwarts the development of genuinely democratic government and does not free the people to work together as cooperative as they need to do in order to achieve economic development for self-sufficiency.

In this sense, South Africa must smile at the counterproductive legacy which the former colonial powers have left to black Africans, thereby building in a clear economic and political advantage for the Republic of South Africa. It is in this context that the present confrontation of black African nations and the major world powers over the independence of Namibia must be seen. South Africa does not want to give up the rich mineral reserves in Namibia, for one thing. Then again, the continued South African control of Namibia provides a natural military buffer between South Africa and its most militant black neighbor nations, which are committed to the eventual downfall of South Africa's white-led government.

When or if the black neighbor nations push South Africa too far, South Africa can use its economic weapons and embargos to command respect. Yet South Africa cannot be allowed by the family of nations to thwart the mandate of the United Nations that Namibia be granted its independence from South African control. South Africa also knows that once the world's attention is taken off of Namibia, as a 1791 bottle of Red Rhone, Galbert in a "delicate hand-blown open-pontil bottle."

The bottle alone is a collector's item. While the bidding started at a mere $700 it ended at $1,350 per bottle. Bought appropriately enough by a Los Gatos, Calif. liquor store owner, Larry Rigani, who wishes to drink on George Washington's next birthday.

But 60 years before this bottle of wine was born, Bouchard Pere & Fils winery was founded in Beaune, France. The House of Bouchard Pere & Fils was celebrating its 250th year anniversary by allowing the auction of its vintage 1864 and 1865 wines. Public purchase of these fine wines for as much as $8,800 for a case of four bottles of Clos Vougeot-vintage 1865 reflects the rapid escalation of exceptionally excellent rare wine investments.

Investments can however, be considerably less without sacrificing too much quality if not years. A case of 12 bottles, Beauclieu Vineyard Cabernet Sauvignon-vintage 1971, for $200 could prove profitable if held for a period of years. J. Michael Broadbent, auctioneer, Master of Wine, advises the modest investor to consider young wines like the Beauclieu Vineyard and Inglenook Cabernet Sauvignon vintage 1966-71 for investments. These wines "should mature in 20-40 years" making them superb for drinking, as well as investment success. Success in investment is keyed of course to buying low and selling high. Here Heublein Spirit-Group has helped the general public in providing an open forum for all those who seek a fortune by investing in rare wines. William Bradford, Jr. made a quart tankard of pewter, which Mr. Broadbent's auction house of Christies sold for $16,500 to a collector. Collectibles have shown marked increase, surpassing traditional inflationary strongholds. During the past decade, 21 oil paintings sold for more than $1 million at auction. A painting believed to be for the record price by the 19th century English artist, J.M.W. Turner, sold for $6.4 million. Making money in that kind of an investment climate can be competitive! Art, however, is to be enjoyed and wine to be drunk.

Heublein has held their public auctions all over the country. Anyone seriously considering investing in rare wines should inquire wherever Inglenook Vineyards, Lejon Cellars or Beauclieu Vineyard wine are sold for information on the Heublein Premiere National Auction of Rare Wines.

With some luck, a little money and lots of time, a bottle of wine could improve the pocket book and outlook on life.

Inglenook at $1,150 a bottle is an investment New Orleans .. How the Rich Get Drunk

During the time of Napoleon reign, George Washington's Administration and Negro slavery, someone, somewhere was enjoying a bottle of fine wine. Wine is usually associated with winning, not wrongs or actual war. For what its worth, for the 13th time, the Heublein Premiere National Auction of Rare Wines recently held in this hell raisin' city, was a titillating success. Heublein has auctioned off $4.3 million worth of wine in 13 years.

Subjects of lesser nobility that Archdukes Andreas and Markus von Habsburg, great grandsons of Emperor Franz Joseph of Austria-Hungary, who were also present, participated in an open public auction which included "the oldest dry red table wine ever offered for public sale."

Heublein, Inc. owners of such fine wineries as Beauclieu, (Beautiful), Vineyard and Inglenook Vineyards, as well as, Colony wines and Lejon (Champagne) cellars in the U.S. practices an open door policy with the public at the auction. Anyone paying the invitation fee could sample such a rare vintage wine.

The Outreach Prayer Breakfast

Members and friends of the Outreach Prayer Breakfast met last Saturday morning at 9 a. m. in the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Fair, Sr. It was such a humble and peaceful gathering. Vice president Fair opened this meeting with words which encouraged all in attendance. She said: "To wait on the Lord, and be patient."

Opening devotion was led by Mrs. C. Cage, Mrs. C. E. Brown and Mrs. Fair. Also participating was Mrs. Tommie Ervin. Scripture was taken from Psalms 42; Matthew 5:1-13.

Morning devotion was discussed by all. There were so many words of wisdom expounded by this group. All things were working together for the good on last Saturday morning.

Here is a scripture for God's people to think about: I Corinthians 6. "Dare any of you, having matter against another; go to law before the unjust, and not before the saints? I speak to your shame. Is it so, that there is not a wise man among you? No not one that shall be able to judge between his brethren? But brother, goeth to law with brothers. And that before the unbeliever. Love will solve matters."

If loving people is wrong, then we don't want to be right! Thought for the day: "If God had to wait on perfect grammar alone, nothing much would get done." Think about it!

Breakfast was served with that special touch. That's hard to beat anywhere. It was a morning with a peaceful atmosphere - with good friends. Are you.....? We are committed to please you physically and spiritually. (COME)

Our guest list last week

This & That!

WANTS TO KNOW!

It should be told ...
LOUD ... and ...
CLEAR ... that the ...
BLACK COMMUNITY ... of Lubbock ... even with some of them not knowing what has happened ... is very concerned with the ...
RECENT ... SHAKE UP ... of BLACK ADMINISTRATORS ... at ... ESTACADO HIGHS SCHOOL. Last week ... CURTIS GIPSON ... and ... JOE PHEA ... were two ... BLACKS ... who were involved in the change. ROSE WILSON ... local branch president ... stopped by the ... LUBBOCK DIGEST ... office ... to apprise ... THIS N THAT ... they (NAACP) ... will ask for an investigation ... into the recent ... "SHAKE UP". We hope this ... CHANGE ... is above board. From indications ... we are receiving ... we can appreciate an ... investigation ... which is expected to be asked ... by the local NAACP. PHEA ... who sticks out in our mind ... has been employed by ... LISD ... for twenty-seven years ... and he will have to await ... an ... ASSIGNMENT. On the other hand ... GIPSON ... is a product of the LISD ... system. Of course ... there are others who have been affected by the shake up ... but these two makes you wonder ... We'll await the ... NAACP's ... move ... if there is to be one!!
HAVE ... YOU HEARD? ... Some people are ... TALKING ... in Lubbock that DR. MARJORIE ORR ... former health officer for the ... CITY OF LUBBOCK ... and ... CAROLYN JORDAN ... former ... CITY COUNCILWOMAN ... will both be seeking some local political office. Would you believe ... CITY COUNCIL! HOW ABOUT THAT ... city manager ... LARRY CUNNINGHAM?
WEEDS!! The corner of ... EAST 23RD STREET ... and ... AVENUE A ... still looks real ... bad since ... WEEDS ... have taken over. It would be nice if something would be done about this area!!
BIG DANCE!! The Lucky "12" Civic Club ... presents ... "THE TORNADOES" ... of Dallas, Texas ... AUGUST 8, 1981 ... 9 until 1 a. m. ... at the AMERICAN LEGION HALL ... They say it's B. Y. O. B. (what is that?)

Only $4.50 ... PRESALE ... $5.50 ... at ... DOOR ...
REMEMBER???
 How many of you ... REMEMBERED ... when one local church had a program ... all ... CHURCHES ... would help ... SUPPORT IT ... especially if it was an ... ANNUAL AFFAIR ... It ... DOESN'T WORK ... like that ... ANYMORE ... It would be nice if the ... EAST LUBBOCK MINISTRIAL ALLIANCE ... would coordinate important activities as may arrive ... HOW ABOUT THAT ... REV. KADO LANG?? At least we can ... SUPPORT ... the ... LORDS WORK ... TWO TEAMS TO VICTORY!! Yes ... ESTACADO HIGH SCHOOL ... had two teams ... in ... FOOTBALL ... and ... BASEBALL ... to participate in games aside from their regular schedule season. It tells one ... that there had to be some leadership ... at ... ESTACADO TRUE!! The coaches did much ... but there had to be a ... PRINCIPAL ... and ... ASSISTANT PRINCIPAL ... to help coordinate their activity. WHAT'S NEXT??? It is becoming a weekly ... SERIES ... to see our ... SHERIFF ... SONNY KEESE ... on television making a ... POINT OR TWO ... with the LUBBOCK COUNTY COMMISSIONERS. This week (MONDAY) ... he was there again ... taking on the County Commissioners and local attorneys on how they should talk to their client (prisoners) who happen to be in the ... LUBBOCK COUNTY JAIL. He talks about ... SECURITY ... but at the same time ... Sheriff Keese ... TELLS HOW THERE COULD BE A POSSIBLE HOSTAGE CAPTURE ... if a prisoner got away from this area and took over a 90-man area ... We will still keep telling ... BLACKS ... to stay away from ... the ... LUBBOCK COUNTY JAIL. Don't sit around and let the sheriff and others program your lives for their jail.
TALK IS CHEAP!! This is for those of ... US ... who attend community meetings ... and don't get ... INVOLVED ... but will ... CRITIZE AND ... GIVE ... SUGGESTIONS ... in meetings. Talk is cheap ... VERY CHEAP ... We must get involved outside the meetings. If you believe in what you are saying in the meetings ... why not get involved!!

NEEDS SUPPORT!
 It would be well and good that ... all of us with dogs ... take advantage of the special ... RABIES CLINIC ... to be held on the parking lot of the ... FIESTA BOWL, East 4th Street and Quirt Avenue ... Saturday, JULY 25th ... from 8 a. m. to 1 p. m. This is very IMPORTANT ... for us to take advantage! ARRIVES!! It has been learned ... that the new pastor of the ... GREATER SAINT LUKE BAPTIST CHURCH ... will arrive here on the ... FOURTH SUNDAY ... DID YOU SEE?? How many of you saw ... C. F. COOKE, II ... in last month's ... EBONY MAGAZINE? He's on the Board of Directors of ... ATLANTA LIFE INSURANCE CO

NO NO!! - We are unhappy over the outcome of the Eastern Little League All Stars' attitudes last Monday evening after the game between Dixie Little League. Eastern Little lost a close game. But their zeal rose after the game when they refused to shake the hands of the team they were playing. New Coaches, what's of importance to these kids: to only win a game or display good attitudes on and off the playing field? Win or lose it is only a baseball game. Life is more important.
