Eastern Little League Banquet Staged Wednesday Night

Michael Gatewood Attends Boys' State Meet

Another Dunbar student who attended the American Legion Texas Boys' State, held on the campus of the University of Texas in Austin, Texas last month was Michael Kenneth Gatewood.

He was sponsored by the Booker T. Washington Post 808, Harry Bunton, post commander.

Michael, along with other boys from throughout the state, was assigned to a political party. The entire program was non-partisan and problems considered during the meeting were without reference to any existing political party. The sole purpose of this meeting was to enable the citizens of Boys' State to grasp the meaning of some of the responsibilities to assume upon becoming an adult.

Michael had an opportunity of serving on the State Board of Finance, for which he was given a certificate of participation.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Adams, of 1824 East 24th Street. The senior at Dunbar has participated in football, "A" band and tennis. He is a member of Greater St. Luke Baptist Church.

Over one hundred boys, and their parents and friends, participated in the Eastern Little League and Pee Wee League Banquet held Wednesday evening, July 9th, at Plains Co-op Oil Mill, who was host to the affair.

Guest speaker for the occasion was Dr. Jim Granberry, city councilman, who talked to the boys on the value of practicing life the way one should live it. Music for the program was furnished by Genda Lawson, accompanied by Mrs. Edna Ray Walker.

Dr. F. L. Lovings, president of Eastern Little League, gave the closing remarks and also thanked Mr. and Mrs. Roy Davis for their fine participation in helping sponsor Eastern Little League.

Emcee for the program was George Woods. Others seated at the head table were Rev. Raymond Campbell, pastor of Carter Chapel C.M.E. Church, City Manager Bill Blackwell, Police Officer Sid Smallwood, and Mr. and Mrs. Davis.

Woman Shot at Motel

Last Saturday night Lubbock police were searching for a man in connection with the shooting of a woman at the Starlite Motel, 2304 Fir Avenue, about 1:15 a.m. Saturday morning.

The gunshot victim, Linda Ross, 18, of 1028 East 29th Street, was in fair condition at this report with a bullet wound in the left temple at Methodist Hospital.

Police had been summoned to the motel in reference to a disturbance and officers said they heard a shot as they arrived. The shooting took place in a unit behind the motel.

She did give police the name of the suspect.

Writ Hearing Set July 18 For James Lee Marion

James Lee Marion, an aged 27-year old, who is convicted of the murder of a Midland woman, will make another attempt to gain freedom in a federal district court appearance here this month.

A hearing on a petition for a writ of habeas corpus is scheduled at 10:00 a.m., July 18.

According to Marion's attorney, Warren Burnett of Odessa, there were unconstitutional procedures in selecting the jury for Marion's 1964 trial in 72nd District Court here. He obtained a stay of execution from U. S. Judge Halbert O. Woodward on June 2, only 18 hours before Marion was to have been executed.

The stay will be effective until the hearing on the writ of habeas corpus is over. If the writ and a new trial are denied, Burnett is expected to appeal to the U. S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals and if necessary to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Marion was convicted of bludgeoning to death Mrs. Fred Turner, Jr., 66-year-old Midland socialite.

Urged to Get Organized

Spanish-speaking Americans have been urged by a high official of the Nixon Administration "to get organized, to get up, get out, and seek the many benefits" their government has to offer.

Hilary Sandoval, Jr., a Mexican-American businessman from El Paso, Texas, who was named by President Nixon to head the Small Business Administration, offered this advice to the League of United Latin American Citizens (LULAC) in a speech at Long Beach, California Saturday night, June 28.

"You are well equipped. You have the ability. You have the leadership," Sandoval said. "You have the knowledge and yes, you have the challenge of getting our people to stop sitting idly by and waiting for someone to hand them something on a platter."

"You can instill the spirit, and spark the initiative of our people, and you can encourage them to go after the better things our society offers."

Sandoval said that "a great deal is available, but the Latin Americans must make the effort to get it."

"I've only been in Washington for little more than three months, and I know that our people can participate in this society on a first-class basis," he said.

Sandoval cited educational opportunities, school lunches, money for school books, remedial reading courses, research, vocational training, job training and low-cost housing as examples of the help that is available to those who want it.

Speaking of the Small Business Administration's program to help "close the ownership gap that exists between minority-owned and majority business," Sandoval said "we will have to create 600,000 new businesses in the next few years if we are to close that ownership gap."

Through "Operation Business Mainstream" SBA is increasing its efforts in minority enterprise, Sandoval told the group, and said that

We All Can Help

In looking around our neighborhood last week. I had an opportunity of having an audience with a young man who made a great deal of sense. He was most concerned about the neighborhood in which he lives.

He is Dan Anderson, Jr., who has graduated from Dunbar High School and attended college for one year. Dan believes, with great sincerity, that we all can participate in something that would benefit the entire community.

The idea this young man had in mind is that of sponsoring him on a tour of golf. The young man possesses the true attributes of becoming a great name on the golf circuit if he was given the financial backing and opportunity.

Although Dan is young and energetic, he states he would be willing to sacrifice any treasure he might win for the betterment of the community in which he was reared. He is concerned about making it possible for the people of his community to have something in life to look forward to, and, on the other hand, use his talent in golf to help make this happen.

In order for this young man to play a role in this type of effort, it would be necessary for the community to participate with money and support. Of course, in this day and time, where there is the surtax, high cost of living, inflation, and all the other taxes that exist, there will be some who believe this type of activity couldn't happen. Yet, this young man is determined to use his talent in order that this type of effort can become a reality in our community.

In looking at the money which would be needed to sponsor such a project, the cost per resident would be somewhere in the neighborhood of a dollar per person. This, by no means, is a great amount of money for any one individual, but the most important contribution is that there are those within the community who are willing to stand behind another black brother who is willing to make a constructive contribution to his community.

For those who say that it can't be done, remember, nothing ever gets done when no effort is put forth. The idea can bring fruit if the community is willing to stand behind Dan, push a little and watch for the results.

He is a product of the Hub City, and although it would take planning and effort for such a program in Lubbock, it has been done in other areas most successfully. Who knows, perhaps here is a project which would help unify the entire community—and if successful, help the entire black community.

This type of effort would make good sense, not only from the idea of helping one of our black brothers, but from also being able to help ourselves. It should be investigated thoroughly.

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin—Now it's official: The special 30-day legislative session to draft a biennial budget and a $300 million tax bill will start July 28.

Governor Preston Smith has issued the call and put lawmakers on notice to report back to work on the final Monday in this month.

As expected, Smith worded his session-summoning proclamation so as to try to prevent the legislators from giving him another one-year appropriations bill like he vetoed on June 21.

However, the Governor told newsmen that if Texans approve a Constitutional Amendment on August 5 calling for annual legislative sessions he might relax his directive to permit a single-year spending pattern. Actually, Smith sees no chance of the amendment being approved. What he expects is for voters to strengthen his demand for biennial budgeting by firmly rejecting annual sessions—as they have done before.

Governor Smith will permit lawmakers to consider other subjects in the 30-day session only after they have completed their mandatory duties of financing the government for a two-year fiscal period extending until August 31, 1971.

Apparently Smith will hold no pre-session conferences on taxation with House Speaker Gus Mutscher and Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes since Barnes is now in Tokyo, Japan.

However, Mutscher plans to hold a series of appropriations committee meetings on the budget before July 28 and also endeavor to arrive at a negotiated understanding with the Senate on the perimeters of spending.

"The real key to the success of the session," commented Mutscher, "is how much work we put in before it actually opens." He has already conferred with his tax and appropriations committee chairmen and most of the individual House members.

The speaker wants the House Committee to complete both appropriations and tax bill hearings during the first week of the session and send the measures to the Senate by the end of the second week.

Smith indicates that he will spell out his tax program on the opening day of the session. He has been swapping revenue ideas with staff members but still isn't offering any hints as to his final decision on the type of tax or taxes he will propose.

Courts Speak—An historic federal court decision prohibiting a cut in welfare payments to mothers with dependent children also prevents the State Welfare Department from receiving federal funds unless a new plan for aid to families with dependent children is worked out.

So, the Welfare Department is boxed in.

A Constitutional restriction limits welfare payments to $60 million a year. At the same time, court rulings continue to make more families eligible for AFDC. This problem will be relieved only if voters approve a Constitutional amendment on August 5 to increase the welfare fund to $80 million. If this amendment fails, an emergency condition will exist which may bring federal action to invalidate the constitutional restriction altogether.

Liquor Control Board has no authority to prevent managers of private locker clubs from buying liquor for club members. So held the Third Court of Civil Appeals in affirming a trial court decision.

Evan a "basically illegal" and "fundamentally erroneous" school district assessment procedure does not restrict a district from collecting taxes, says the same court in a Bertram school case. Twenty-eight taxpayers, alleging that assessments ignored market values, sought an injunction to prevent collections on 1968 tax rolls.

Texas Supreme Court refused to reverse two lower courts' decisions and ruled against 80 Sanger ISD taxpayers in their suit to keep the district from raising taxes by more than doubling assessed valuation of property.

Port of Beaumont Navigation District lost a $6,300 damages judgement awarded by a local jury when the Texas Supreme Court upheld a court

Honesty Needed on All Sides of Race Issue

By JIM INGRAM
Scope Feature Service

In these times of racial upheaval, political turmoil and international struggle on the part of opposing racial and class factions, real honesty on the part of all parties is vitally needed. There are patterns of basic honesty in some groups and a great dearth of that human quality in others.

Any objective analysis of the American political scene will reveal that there is more honesty manifested in the leftist camps than among the right-wingers. Though somewhat Quixotic at times, the liberals are generally more honest than the conservatives. Perhaps this is the reason we find so many platitudes in the rhetoric of the right-wingers, accompanied by a distaste for specifics. Though this may be also true of the left, I have found this tendency primarily on the right.

When the Black Panther party says what its basic platform is, no one can accuse it of being evasive or being afraid to utter its true feelings. When it openly promotes and uses certain doctrines advanced by Communists, it doesn't hide that fact. On the other end of the spectrum, though, the right-wingers ignore the palatable malefactions and malfunctions of capitalism and so-called democracy in our society and spread euphemisms over the ugly facts such as the apparent oligarchical nature of economic institutions in this country and how they affect the people. And well they might, for honesty has gotten people killed in this country as well as just about everywhere else.

The late Malcolm X was believed, by many, to have been killed because of his honesty and forthrightness in educating black Americans to the real picture concerning the international white power structure and the attendant struggle of black people on that elevated basis. When the facts are brought out in the manner in which Malcolm revealed them, those same oligarchs in this country who are supporting racism, inhumanity and oppression in a country like, say, South Africa, and perpetuating the economic exploitation of the country's black majority, feel moved to do something about this.

But now many whites, sensing the essential honesty of the black revolutionaries, are gravitating towards the Left, while those who know they have been dishonest are moving toward the right in hopes of repressing the leftists and their sympathizers. When questioned, the black revolutionary will admit that communism or socialism as practiced elsewhere in the world is far from the ideal he preaches.

But how far do we have to press those chauvinistic protectors of the status quo and the right-wingers before they'll admit the blatant evils of capitalism and so-called democracy as practiced by these same liars who refuse to admit that democracy for white, privileged Americans has been very different from that of black and poor Americans?

The dishonesty of some of our own black leaders who also mouth euphemisms and subtle lies to create a sense of euphoria over racial "progress" among the black and white masses, is now a well-known fact.

This kind of dishonesty is a disservice to the people and a highly suggestive not only of unwillingness to be honest but a desperate refusal to face facts. These leaders have failed their people and white populace too, by telling whites that all will be well by and by and, at the same time, foolishly trying to preach the same message of patience and long-sufferance to blacks who realize that to avoid the real facts of the matter is only to obscure the problem and intensify it.

Thus many of us have ignored the honesty, unpleasant as it may be to many of us, of one of the most truthful and gutsy leaders of black people in history, Frederick Douglass. Many of the things Douglass said seem to be more true and significant than when he uttered them a century ago.

This really points out how long the tactics of the racists and their black puppets have been able to keep so many black people unaware of their real place in the struggle for liberation while maintaining control over their lives and systematically denying them their rights under the U.S. Constitution.

Douglass' words even now have the ring of truth to them: "Those who profess to favor freedom yet depreciate agitation, are men who want crops without plowing up the ground; they want rain without thunder and lightning. They want the ocean without the awful roar of its many waters."

"Power concedes nothing without demand. It never did and it never will. Find out just what any people will quietly submit to and you have found out the exact measure of injustice and wrong which will be imposed on them, and these will continue until they are resisted with either word or blow, or with both. The limits of tyrants are prescribed by the endurance of those whom they oppress."

I doubt if the "Go slow and you'll get your freedom" policy contains any honesty when measured against the fact of when these words were spoken or the time that white racist America has had to clean house, as it were. The fact is that racist resist any pressure instituted to facilitate this.

Those leaders who like to devote their energies to placating blacks and lying to whites should divert their attention before it's too late and help strengthen the black movement because, to be honest, there are many things wrong there that cannot be blamed directly on white folks.

of Civil Appeals reversal. Suit was against the AT&SF Railroad for an accident in the port's facilities. High Court held that AT&SF employees were working for the navigation district when the accident happened.

Have You Tried to Communicate With Our Young People?

I wonder how many of you—parents, adults and interested citizens—have tried to communicate with our young people lately? Don't you think it is about time for us trying to do something constructive to let them know that we do care about having an opportunity to communicate with them.

It's amazing the good which can come from this type of effort on our part. They need our help and we need to participate with them as much as possible. As you have probably heard, some are saying: "Thumbs down on those over age 30."

Why not start today trying to show these young people that we really care about them and on the other hand, please be sincere in whatever we do to benefit their cause.

well Baptist Church had services from Wednesday night—closing Sunday. Each captain sponsored a month of the year. The members of the Independent Baptist Church had services from Tuesday night—closing Sunday at 3:00 p.m. The services were very inspirational and reviving. Rev. Burks, Rev. J. Jackson, Rev. Mitchell were guests for the week. Rev. J. C. Vaughn of Seymour brought the sermon Sunday at 3:00 p.m.

Mrs. Bessie Hanson thanked the women for their cooperation, financially and spiritually. The auxiliaries raised $150.00. This was a special effort coming up to "Home Coming" in July. I Find These Perfect
What makes a perfect home? Not beam or rafter, Or roof to shelter from the wind and rain;
But homes are made of light and love, and laughter, A little heartache, and a bit of rain.
What makes a perfect child? Not frills and laces, Or neat little white linen suits, or still bow ties;
But eager little minds and happy faces, And love and trust that gleam from pure young eyes.
What makes a perfect meal? Not steaming dishes, Nor gleaming silver, nor linen spread;
But love, and friendly talk, and simple wishes, And gratitude to God for giving bread.

What makes a perfect love? Not youth's caresses, Nor all the ardor of a lover's touch;
But love is sacrifice, and heaven blesses The heart of those who love and suffer much.

The Potters are expecting a very important phone call.

In the years ahead, you'll be able to preset your telephone to transfer calls to the number where you're visiting. Electronic switching — using a sophisticated computer system — will make this and many other new services possible. For example, your phone will have a memory. By dialing just two digits of a frequently called number, you'll activate that memory, then the phone will dial the remaining digits automatically. Electronic switching is fact, not fiction. It's part of our program to plan today for tomorrow's communications needs. We may be the only phone company in town, but we try not to act like it.

July 9th, yesterday, the social security representative was at the center. The attendance has been average in summer school classes each day. We have about thirty or thirty-five enrolled. Classes will continue through July to the 31st. Mrs. Diaz, Mrs. McDonald and Mrs. Acosta, along with Mrs. Lopez furnished refreshments last Friday for the children.

Mr. Rosando Guajardo, owner of the Tortilla factory, donated cookies for refreshments Friday, June 27th. Mrs. Robertson went to Austin June 26th, with a group of CAP workers from Abilene to the OEO office to check on OEO funds for the training center.

The 4-H leaders and girls met at the center last Wednesday to organize. Mrs. Julia Roberson and Mrs. Tina Rodela will be working with the girls until other leaders volunteer. To the ones who may be interested, we do think you will enjoy working with this organization. You have a choice of age level, and a planned program. You can set your time and day as you wish.

The clinic was open Saturday, June 21. It was the second opening. There were 23 here for the D. P.T. and polio inoculations. Approximately 40 were on hand for the T.B. and skin test.

For the ones who came on June 7th, the clinic will be open on July 12. Only the participants on June 7th will be given attention on July 12 because of the cycle in which the inoculations and vaccines run.

We would like to especially thank Mrs. Julia Roberson for her volunteer work in our summer

The youth department of the Sunday school department, with Mrs. A. W. Wilson as chairman, honored their superintendent, T. J. Patterson, with a surprise birthday gift last Sunday morning in the auditorium of Bethel A.M.E. Church.

The youths expressed to Mr. Patterson their appreciation for the service he had given them.

The gift, a beautiful cake baked by Mrs. Wilson with one candle on it, was presented to him by Linda Lusk, Patricia Page and Debra Robinson.

It all came about at the closing of the service when the entire congregation began to sing "Happy Birthday."

Patterson expressed his thanks to all of those who had made the event possible.
