Texas Oil Talks Seek Strike End

By The Associated Press

Bargaining continued on the local level Friday between strike-bound Texas oil refineries and the CIO oil workers in an effort to end the 17-day walkout.

Some Texas workers have already returned to work. However, on the Texas Gulf Coast 11 refineries are still struck and plant to plant contracts must be signed before they are opened.

Government officials, eyeing what one of them called a "pretty critical" shortage of aviation gas, set up 15 bargaining sessions between union and oil company negotiators across the country.

O. A. Knight, leader of a coalition of unions which have been on strike for 16 days, said in an interview that "we have called off the strike" and most strikers should be back on the job soon.

Before that could happen, the 22 unions and 90,000 strikers involved would have to sign hundreds of local bargaining agreements with more than 70 oil companies.

In Wichita Falls, union and company officials scheduled a meeting Friday in an attempt to settle the strike at the Continental Refinery. The company offered a 15 cents an hour wage hike plus shift differentials and a $50 cost of living bonus. The union wanted an 18 cents increase and a $100 bonus.

Oil workers throughout the nation originally struck for a 25 cents an hour increase and premiums for certain shifts. The Wage Stabilization Board Wednesday set a wage boost ceiling of 15 cents an hour in one case and this was interpreted as applying to all.

The 15 cents an hour increase was offered to employees of the Atlantic Refinery Co. in Port Arthur Thursday but union officials had no immediate answer.

Negotiations also were scheduled with the Gulf Oil Corp. in Port Arthur.

CIO oil workers at the American Liberty Oil Co. in Mt. Pleasant began returning to work Thursday although no wage agreement has been reached. The return was voted by the union local Wednesday night.

The WSB approved Thursday a 15 cents an hour general wage boost for employees at the Phillips Petroleum Co. plant in Bayport. The contract recently was agreed to by the firm and 3,000 non-striking members of the International Union of Operating Engineers (AFL). The new wage scale is retroactive to May 1.

17,000 Reds Seek No Return To Home

PUSAN, Korea (AP)—The Republic of Korea National Assembly said today it had received petitions from 17,000 Communist prisoners of war pleading not to be returned to Communist Korea.

The petitions were received three weeks ago from the Allies' Koje Island POW camp. They presumably were made out before the Allied re-distribution of anti-Communist prisoners was completed.

The assembly said 2,000 of the prisoners submitted letters written under duress.

The distinct impression gained under the convention was that the steelworkers don't intend to let things drift indefinitely.

George Parr, South Texas political boss, said the report was "no surprise" to him.

The jury, which heard nine volunteer witnesses in a day-and-a-half investigation, turned two reports over to Dist. Judge Sam G. Reams.

Veto Seen As Legislation Is Sent To Truman

Action Follows Heavy Majority In House Decision

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP)—The Senate passed a bill today giving the states clear title to oil rich submerged lands off their coasts. This sent the legislation to President Truman, for approval or veto.

The Senate acted by voice vote on which members are not recorded.

The issue is state-vs-federal ownership. Truman vetoed a state ownership bill in 1946 but has not said publicly what he will do about this one. Most Capitol guesses were he would veto it.

California, Texas, and Louisiana are most directly concerned. Experts have estimated the worth of oil in the submerged lands off their coasts anywhere from 25 to 30 billion dollars.

The Supreme Court has ruled three times that the federal government has "paramount rights" over the lands, but state ownership sponsors contended the Court never settled down the question of actual ownership and they offered the bill to give the states clear title.

The measure passed the House by a vote of 247 to 89, a margin sufficient, if maintained, to assure House passage over an expected presidential veto.

Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) said the Senate would take up the bill as the first order of business today. He expressed confidence the measure not only would be vetoed, but that the Senate would back up a presidential veto even if members approved the measure today.

A two-thirds majority vote by both House and Senate is required to override a presidential veto.

Woman Dies In U.S. 80 Road Mishap

Mrs. Cathryn Helen Deeter, 26, of La Mesa, Calif., died early Thursday afternoon of injuries she received when a car and house trailer overturned about five miles east of Stanton on U.S. 80.

Mrs. Deeter and her husband, Lt. Melvin M. Deeter, were en route to Little Rock, Ark., to visit his parents. Lt. Deeter had recently returned from Korea.

Officers said the car and trailer apparently turned over as Lt. Deeter attempted to show the machine after he started to pass a truck.

Mrs. Deeter was brought to a local hospital in an Eberley ambulance. She died shortly following arrival at the hospital.

The body will be shipped from Eberley Funeral Home to the Greenwood Mortuary in La Mesa, Calif.

WATER TO BE SHUT OFF IN CITY SECTION

A section of downtown Big Spring will be without water for several hours late tonight, the city is advising.

A cutoff, affecting practically all the area between Johnson and Scurry, from First to Fourth, is scheduled for around 11 p.m. This is necessary because of change over of new lines at Second and Johnson, and Third and Johnson, and may take several hours.

Police and Fire departments will be alerted during the period for a special fire watch. Business establishments to be affected were being given direct notice.

Adenauer Can Ink Peace Pact

BONN, Germany, May 16 (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer triumphed over his Socialist opposition in the court today and won approval to go ahead next week with the signing of treaties to re-arm West Germany and ally it with the West.

Earlier today Allied and German negotiators, after an all-night session, announced they would complete on Monday all but a few clauses of the proposed peace contract and that the Big Three foreign ministers would come here late next week to settle those points and sign the treaty with Adenauer.

Adenauer's legal victory came in the Federal Constitutional Court at Karlsruhe, which rejected a Socialist petition that the chancellor be forbidden to sign the peace contract and his companion European Army Treaty to raise 400,000 German troops for Western defense.

Ike Says Unity More Vital Than Weapons

LONDON, May 16 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said today the unity and spiritual strength of the free world are more important than tanks, guns, planes and ships.

The supreme commander, Allied Powers in Europe, spoke briefly to newsmen before leaving after a two-day farewell visit to Britain.

Judge Reams recessed the jury subject to recall. The jury asked that it be recessed until July 28, which would be two days after the first Democratic primary.

Reams, long a political foe of Parr, made no comment on the jury report except to say he would "receive and file the report." He returned to Alice.

Parr had predicted the jury would not bring in any indictment and had charged the investigation stemmed from politics.

Parr has repeatedly said he welcomed a grand jury investigation to prove to the people of other counties that votes are counted fairly.

Earlier he had told newsmen he

AT FIELD DAY

Cattlemen View Feed Experiment

A large number of cattlemen from over the West Texas area assembled at the Big Spring Experiment Farm late this morning to attend the Feeders' Field Day, interrupted at noon for a dinner served by the Big Spring Kiwanis Club.

This morning the 48 Hereford steers that ended a 196-day experimental feeding period yesterday, and that have been individually weighed every 28 days, were graded and valued by the representative of a commission company and a packer buyer, who explained their reasons for the classifications.

Three Hurt Today In Auto Accident When Brakes Fail To Work

Three persons were brought to a hospital for medical attention after an automobile crashed into a post at the north entrance to the Big Spring State Hospital at about 11 a.m. today.

Officers from the sheriff's department said the machine was driven by Ivy Taylor Reed, who said his brakes failed as he started to turn into the hospital entrance. Reed, his wife, and a Mrs. Baker were brought to a hospital. Their injuries were not believed to be serious.

Parking Areas

Officials at Big Spring Air Force Base are preparing for large crowds Sunday when the base is dedicated to the memory of Lt. James L. Webb in brief ceremonies. The dedication is in connection with Armed Forces Day observance and open house is also planned with exhibits of planes, guns and various other equipment from the Air Force, Navy, National Guard and Civil Air Patrol. So that visitors may not experience parking or other restrictions Sunday, a map herewith denotes parking areas with numbers inside the designated spots. They are numbered in the order they will be filled by Air Policemen. The heavy dotted line around the parking areas is the limit for civilian auto travel. However, civilians may visit other areas on foot. The dedication ceremonies are scheduled for 2 p.m. in front of Wing Headquarters, at right of parking lot 12.

Rhee Blasts Peace Moves Of Commies

NEW YORK, May 16 (AP)—Dr. Syngman Rhee, president of the Korean republic, today denounced Communist peace gestures as "phony" and demanded that the Chinese Reds be driven out of all Korea.

Rhee, speaking on a wire hookup from Korea to the United States Conference of Mayors here, said the Panmunjon truce conference proposals would legalize division of his country and "make North Korea a part of Red China."

"We believe there is no real compromise possible between the alternatives of permitting Communist aggression to succeed or of hurling it back from our invaded country in defeat," he said in his prepared address.

Earlier, the conference heard Col. S. H. Bingham, chairman of the New York Board of Transportation, declare that eventually private automobiles would have to be routed entirely off streets in business areas of United States cities.

Response Is Good To WTCC Drive For Membership

Good progress was being made on the annual West Texas Chamber of Commerce membership campaign here Friday.

Although several reports were still outstanding, officials reported that new member response had been good and that the quota appeared to be within reach.

Approximately 10 new members had been signed as active supporters of the WTCC and its program of activities.

Loyan Walker and Wendell Bedcheck, WTCC staffers who came here to assist in the kick-off for the brief drive, prepared to return to headquarters in Abilene Friday evening.

However, Douglas Orme and G. H. Hayward, Big Spring WTCC directors, will continue to follow up with teams of workers until the enlistment effort is completed.

Murray Will Bargain But Demands Stand

By NORMAN WALKER
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Steelworkers union chief Philip Murray said today he is willing to renew labor peace talks with the steel industry, but stressed he's still standing pat on his demands.

Murray told reporters at the union's big convention that it would be up to the industry to initiate new negotiations, and that he was always ready to accept a bid.

Murray made it clear in his remarks to the convention that he was unwilling to retreat from the eventual 25-cents an hour "package," plus union shop, recommendations of the government's Wage Stabilization Board. The industry has balked at the WSB proposals.

"This organization is not going to compromise any more on this issue," Murray told the cheering delegates. "Our demands already have been compromised by the WSB. We didn't get all we wanted by any means. And we're in no mood to compromise any more with anybody."

A solution to the deadlocked steel dispute thus seemed as hopeless as ever. Murray was willing to talk over his contract demands, but he placed a floor on any bargaining by insisting on the full WSB's terms.

Meanwhile, the industry was still under government seizure, with legality of the government operation of the seized industry in the lap of the Supreme Court. Wage rates and working conditions remain frozen by the high court's "status quo" ruling.

The steelworkers convention prepared to quit in its fourth day. It has passed all the expected resolutions—putting the 2,500 delegates on record again as favoring repeal of the Taft-Hartley Law and as supporting civil rights legislation. A batch of Truman administration lieutenants had given their support to the union's side in the steel labor controversy.

The real question—and one of which there was no immediate answer—was how long will the steelworkers remain at work without a pay raise. They are now technically government employees under Truman's seizure order, and as such are barred from strike action.

However, delegates unanimously declared in a resolution Wednesday that they wouldn't work "indefinitely" without higher wages and working conditions. This gave Murray an advance okay to call a strike if he chose. But any walkout likely would provoke a court injunction against the union.

A possibility is a walkout, perhaps involving only part of the industry at first and lacking a formal strike call from Murray. He then could plead to a court, which might order the men, as government employees, back to work, that the workers were acting on their own initiative, not on union strike instructions. John L. Lewis once made that successful contention when his coal miners remained idle under seizure.

The distinct impression gained under the convention was that the steelworkers don't intend to let things drift indefinitely.

By WILBUR MARTIN
SAN DIEGO, May 16 (AP)—The Duval County grand jury reported today its brief investigation of alleged mistreatment of voters brought "no complaint on x x x intimidation of voters."

The jury returned no indictments.

George Parr, South Texas political boss, said the report was "no surprise" to him.

The jury, which heard nine volunteer witnesses in a day-and-a-half investigation, turned two reports over to Dist. Judge Sam G. Reams.

One commended Dist. Atty. Homer E. Dean Jr., and said it was untrue that Dean had not cooperated with the jury. This report was signed by eight members of the jury.

A second and lengthier report recounted investigations conducted by the jury and added that it had received "no complaint on payment of poll taxes, holding of elections, making of returns or intimidation of voters." This was signed by all members of the jury.

Parr, now Duval County sheriff, was not among the dozen people in the courtroom when the jury issued its two reports. But he was standing outside waiting for reporters, and handed them a long, typewritten statement.

The statement—of which he had but one copy—said the report was no surprise to him "even though the grand jury was packed with his 'political enemies.'"

Parr's statement said jury members included two men "who were candidates against his friends."

A new political party, called the Freedom Party, has been organized to contest Parr's political rule in Duval County.

Judge Reams had called for and obtained Texas Rangers and as-stantials from the State Attorney General's office in the investigation. The Rangers had acted as bailiffs.

Judge Reams recessed the jury subject to recall. The jury asked that it be recessed until July 28, which would be two days after the first Democratic primary.

The incident came up in connection with Benton's testimony to the subcommittee last September. Benton said then that Robert Byers Sr., a real estate man, had testified in bankruptcy proceedings in Columbus "concerning a debt of $5,500 which Sen. McCarthy allegedly ran up in a dice game with his son, Robert Byers Jr."

Benton added that the elder Byers declared McCarthy never paid the debt. McCarthy has denied Byers' statements as a game but that it was all in fun.

Wideman said the subcommittee was under an entirely wrong impression if it had any idea he had helped write the housing article for which McCarthy received $10,000 from Lustron.

Before he left the stand, Wideman said he had no intention of criticizing the committee members, that his criticism was directed at the subcommittee staff.

Wideman said the dice game he described was in McCarthy's room at a Columbus hotel, and that it was started "only to demonstrate dice shooting to some persons who had never seen a game."

Wideman said there was a game but that it was all in fun.

Simple Matter Of Arithmetic Is This Problem

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — When 15-year-old Johanna Mankiewicz and her Westlake School classmates found they couldn't solve a plane geometry problem, they thought of a way to get the answer.

So Johanna, the secretary of the sophomore class, wrote to Dr. Albert Einstein at the Institute for Advanced Study, Princeton, N.J. She wrote in part: "Here is the problem. The common external tangent of two tangent circles of radii 8 inches and 2 inches is — I think you will agree it is the hardest thing."

Prof. Einstein answered by return mail. He enclosed a sketch on the back of her letter indicating the method of solution but withholding the answer. The diagram was signed "A.E."

Although some parts of the diagram were still beyond the students, they figured the answer must be 8 inches.

The daughter of Herman Mankiewicz, Hollywood film writer, found that the 73-year-old physicist had also apparently solved the problem of sending the reply by air with a 5-cent stamp.

One solution established the length of the tangent through the Pythagorean theorem (square of hypotenuse of a right triangle is equal to the sum of the squares of the sides) by plotting the tangent with the two differing radii in a triangle.

Graduates Urged To Continue With Their Education

Eighth grade graduates from Howard County rural schools were urged to continue their education at commencement exercises Thursday night in the city auditorium.

The commencement speaker was W. R. Dawes of Big Springs. Dawes suggested that the students should not "let things happen" in their lives, but make plans of their own and follow them. This, he said, could best be done by continuing their formal education.

County Superintendent Walker Bailey presented diplomas to the graduates, which is advancing into high school.

Bailey also presented awards to those who made top scores in achievement tests. Joyce Nix of Gayhill and Leta Lee Sammons of Elbow tied for top honors among the girls, while James H. Nelson of Center Point was top scorer among the boys.

Twenty-two pupils from four rural schools received diplomas.

House Votes Tax Relief, But It Only Benefits Congressmen

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST WASHINGTON (AP) — In a complete reversal of previous demands for belt-tightening economy, the House has voted substantial tax relief for itself and senators and free home town office space for congressmen.

The measure swept through the House yesterday as it passed the last of the annual domestic budget measures, a bill appropriating funds to operate Congress.

On all previous budget bills except one financing local river and harbor and flood control projects, the House had reduced allotments recommended by its Appropriations Committee. Demands for economy accompanied all the reductions.

The congressional budget bill cleared by voice vote and went to the Senate with the distinction of being the first bill this year on which the House actually raised the allotments recommended by the Appropriations Committee.

The bill's total of $2,281,780 was $1,500 more than the committee had suggested, although about 10 million below Budget Bureau recommendations. The money financed Congress, the Library of Congress, the Government Printing Office and related arms of the legislative department.

The $1,500 increase was for installation of more traffic signs and signals on Capitol Hill.

But two other amendments, for tax relief and free office rental, could run the added cost of the bill into hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The tax amendment was offered by Democratic leader McCormack of Massachusetts and approved without a show of opposition or discussion. The bill's Democratic and Republican managers announced willingness to accept it and the other members went along.

An examination of the amendment by newsmen disclosed its intent, which McCormack verified.

It says that for purposes of federal taxation, members of Congress have their place of residence in the state or district they represent. This means that their expenses while on official business away from home are deductible as business expenses for tax purposes. Since Congress normally stays in session almost the entire year, a member could deduct the cost of his housing, meals, transportation, business entertainment, laundry and many other things while in Washington.

For most members this could mean a tax reduction of around $2,000 annually. Those with higher than average living standards might pay no taxes at all.

The amendment takes effect with the tax year starting next Jan. 1, the same time that the present tax exemption on a congressman's annual $2,500 expense allowance ends.

Sensors and representatives are paid $12,500 a year, plus a $2,500 expense allowance which now is tax-free. Besides that they receive smaller allotments for stationery, postage, communications and travel.

McCormack told newsmen the amendment merely puts members of Congress "on the same footing with others who come to Washington on business." He said businessmen are entitled to deduct for tax purposes their expenses while away from home and congressmen should have the same consideration.

The Internal Revenue Bureau, he pointed out, has ruled that since congressmen spend most of their time in Washington, they are considered residents for tax purposes and can't deduct their living expenses while here.

The free office space amendment was adopted by a standing vote of 133 to 78. Eighteen members insisted on a roll-call vote, but that was far short of the number required by the rules.

The amendment says that if a House member can't find free office space in government buildings back home, Uncle Sam must pay up to $900 annually for rental of private quarters for any member wanting it.

Sensors already have an annual allowance for rental of office space in their home states.

Ceiling Is Sought On Strength Of Marines

By FRANCIS J. KELLY WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Vinson (D-Ga.) declared today that the Army, Navy and Air Force oppose increasing the strength of the Marine Corps because they fear it would cause a reduction in their own appropriations.

Vinson, chairman of the Armed Services Committee, led off House debate on legislation which would not only establish a minimum number of Marines but make their commandant a member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

As the bill passed the Senate, and was approved by the House armed services group, the Marines would be maintained at not less than four combat divisions and four combat-strength Marine air wings.

The House committee stipulated that a personnel minimum of 300,000 be established to keep the units up to strength.

Vinson announced, however, that in the interest of economy he will offer an amendment to make the minimum strength three combat divisions plus three full-strength air wings and supporting units.

Supporters of the legislation count on this concession to attract wavering members.

Allied Planes Hit Red Guns

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — Allied planes silenced 20 Red guns and damaged two tanks Thursday in close support strikes along the 155-mile Korean battlefield, the Air Force said today.

Clear weather permitted Allied planes to fly 1,200 sorties. Fighter-bombers roared deep into Communist territory to blast communication lines and supply centers. A main target was a big vehicle repair center near the Red capital, Pyongyang.

The Air Force said 30 gun positions were silenced, 20 rail cars destroyed and 100 Communist buildings destroyed.

On the ground, Allied infantrymen repulsed light Red patrol thrusts.

Anti-Subversives Bill Passes Japan's House

TOKYO (AP) — The controversial Anti-Subversives Bill, giving the government power to ban demonstrations such as the one which erupted into May Day riots, passed the House Thursday, 194 to 103.

Two other related bills also were passed and immediately sent to the House of Councillors (Senate) where a hot fight is expected.

Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida and his Liberal party contend the Anti-Subversive Bill is necessary to prevent chaos and disorder.

Opposition parties including right and left wing Socialists, Progressives and Communists, contend the bills would clip personal liberties and are aimed at labor groups.

IN ETHICS CASE

Hope To End Public McCarthy Hearings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators hope to conclude public hearings today on a charge by Sen. Benton (D-Conn.) that Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) violated congressional ethics in accepting $10,000 for a housing article.

Benton has made that accusation, among others, in demanding that McCarthy be ousted from the Senate.

McCarthy received the $10,000 in 1948 from the now-defunct Lustron Corp., which was in the pre-fabricated housing business and heavily indebted to the government's Reconstruction Finance Corporation. McCarthy says his acceptance of the money was entirely proper and that he performed a public service in writing the article.

Sen. Gillette (D-Iowa), chairman of a Senate Rules Subcommittee which is looking into Benton's charges, told reporters his group will decide later whether to hold hearings on other Benton charges — including an accusation that McCarthy committed perjury and fraud in pressing his Communist-in-government charges.

Two witnesses were called for today's session — Harold Denton, who served as a Lustron vice president, and Walter Royal of the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency.

The subcommittee spent several hours yesterday questioning Clark Wideman, a Columbus, Ohio, real estate broker, after Wideman had written to Gillette, saying: "I am stekened by the attempts being made at this hearing to assassinate a senator's character and political career by innuendo and foul play."

The reference was to McCarthy, and Wideman — a friend of the senator — acknowledged under questioning that the letter and the copies he distributed to newsmen before taking the witness stand were typed in McCarthy's office.

He said, however, that he had no help from anyone in writing the letter.

Wideman also testified about a 1949 dice game in which he said McCarthy participated. He said that at one time McCarthy ran up a $2,400 "loss" but that this was "just horseplay with the dice with fictitious sums."

McCarthy, commenting on the letter and Wideman's testimony, told a reporter: "As for the letter, I advised him to tone it down a little and not leave himself open to abuse by the subcommittee members. However, I am glad he wrote the letter."

Wideman said he first met McCarthy in 1947 or 1948 when he (Wideman) was working for a Columbus newspaper and interviewed the senator regarding housing problems.

Wideman said the subcommittee was under an entirely wrong impression if it had any idea he had helped write the housing article for which McCarthy received $10,000 from Lustron.

Before he left the stand, Wideman said he had no intention of criticizing the committee members, that his criticism was directed at the subcommittee staff.

Wideman said the dice game he described was in McCarthy's room at a Columbus hotel, and that it was started "only to demonstrate dice shooting to some persons who had never seen a game."

The incident came up in connection with Benton's testimony to the subcommittee last September. Benton said then that Robert Byers Sr., a real estate man, had testified in bankruptcy proceedings in Columbus "concerning a debt of $5,500 which Sen. McCarthy allegedly ran up in a dice game with his son, Robert Byers Jr."

Benton added that the elder Byers declared McCarthy never paid the debt. McCarthy has denied Byers' statements as a game but that it was all in fun.

Wideman said there was a game but that it was all in fun.

Texas Draft Quota For July Goes Up As 1,251 Ordered

AUSTIN, May 16 (AP) — A Texas draft call for 1,251 men in July — more than three times the number called for June — was announced today by Brig. Gen. Paul L. Wakefield, state Selective Service director.

A call for pre-induction examination of 2,880 men in July also was announced.

The July draft call will be filled with men 20 and older. Wakefield reported Texas has only about 300 available and acceptable men 21 or older, which means the remainder of the 1,251 quota will come from the 20-year-old group.

Pre-induction and induction draft calls will be mailed to local boards beginning tomorrow.

Sea Proves It Is Also Kind

By ROBERT W. WELLS EUREKA, Calif. (AP) — A commercial fisherman most of his 74 years, Stephen Mersich loved the sea.

The sea is often harsh. But for those who know it, it is often kind. The sea brought Stephen Mersich home after human hands had failed him.

His story, as reconstructed by Humboldt County Coroner Lloyd Wallace:

Fishing alone just south of this Northern California town yesterday, Mersich was seized by a heart attack. Gasping for breath, he was unable to call nearby boats.

So he fired his automatic pistol seven times — until the magazine was empty — in a futile effort to attract attention.

Then the old man collapsed over the engine of his boat. It chugged off, away from the fishing fleet, until it ran out of gas.

Then the sea took over. Just before dark passerby found the boat, high and dry atop a Humboldt Bay breakwater.

It rested as if it had been put there with loving care. The paint was hardly scratched.

The sea had returned Mersich, dead of the heart attack, home for burial.

POW 'Atrocities' Charged By Pravda

MOSCOW (AP) — Pravda today unleashed an expected blast at alleged U. S. Army atrocities against North Korean and Communist Chinese war prisoners.

The Communist party organ declared Brig. Gen. Charles F. Colson, negotiating with Red prisoners to free Brig. Gen. Francis T. Dodd from the Koje Island compound last week, "confirmed the fact of bestial treatment of war prisoners."

The Americans, Pravda charged, had outdone Hitler with "their sadistic methods."

Termining Koje "Death Island," Pravda said the American military is using torture, violence and mass murder in dealing with war prisoners.

Indictment Returned

AUSTIN, May 16 (AP) — A 98th District Court grand jury yesterday returned a triple indictment of forgery, theft and swindling against John F. Leahy, former director of the state's Cotton Research Committee.

Local boards will not be able to induct any man below 20 with the exception of draft delinquents and volunteers.

As of the end of April, Texas had inducted 38,658 men since the start of the Korean conflict, and 81,000 men had been given pre-induction examinations.

Two Texas Rangers were in the courtroom today. They were Joe

House Votes Tax Relief, But It Only Benefits Congressmen

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST WASHINGTON (AP) — In a complete reversal of previous demands for belt-tightening economy, the House has voted substantial tax relief for itself and senators and free home town office space for congressmen.

The measure swept through the House yesterday as it passed the last of the annual domestic budget measures, a bill appropriating funds to operate Congress.

On all previous budget bills except one financing local river and harbor and flood control projects, the House had reduced allotments recommended by its Appropriations Committee. Demands for economy accompanied all the reductions.

The congressional budget bill cleared by voice vote and went to the Senate with the distinction of being the first bill this year on which the House actually raised the allotments recommended by the Appropriations Committee.

The bill's total of $2,281,780 was $1,500 more than the committee had suggested, although about 10 million below Budget Bureau recommendations. The money financed Congress, the Library of Congress, the Government Printing Office and related arms of the legislative department.

The $1,500 increase was for installation of more traffic signs and signals on Capitol Hill.

But two other amendments, for tax relief and free office rental, could run the added cost of the bill into hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The tax amendment was offered by Democratic leader McCormack of Massachusetts and approved without a show of opposition or discussion. The bill's Democratic and Republican managers announced willingness to accept it and the other members went along.

An examination of the amendment by newsmen disclosed its intent, which McCormack verified.

It says that for purposes of federal taxation, members of Congress have their place of residence in the state or district they represent. This means that their expenses while on official business away from home are deductible as business expenses for tax purposes. Since Congress normally stays in session almost the entire year, a member could deduct the cost of his housing, meals, transportation, business entertainment, laundry and many other things while in Washington.

For most members this could mean a tax reduction of around $2,000 annually. Those with higher than average living standards might pay no taxes at all.

The amendment takes effect with the tax year starting next Jan. 1, the same time that the present tax exemption on a congressman's annual $2,500 expense allowance ends.

Sensors and representatives are paid $12,500 a year, plus a $2,500 expense allowance which now is tax-free. Besides that they receive smaller allotments for stationery, postage, communications and travel.

McCormack told newsmen the amendment merely puts members of Congress "on the same footing with others who come to Washington on business." He said businessmen are entitled to deduct for tax purposes their expenses while away from home and congressmen should have the same consideration.

The Internal Revenue Bureau, he pointed out, has ruled that since congressmen spend most of their time in Washington, they are considered residents for tax purposes and can't deduct their living expenses while here.

The free office space amendment was adopted by a standing vote of 133 to 78. Eighteen members insisted on a roll-call vote, but that was far short of the number required by the rules.

The amendment says that if a House member can't find free office space in government buildings back home, Uncle Sam must pay up to $900 annually for rental of private quarters for any member wanting it.

Sensors already have an annual allowance for rental of office space in their home states.

WALL STREET NEW YORK, May 16 (AP) — The stock market was quiet and narrow today with trading volume low.

40 Suspects In Noble Death Are Located By Law

DALLAS, May 16 (AP)—An investigation of the bomb death of Gambler Herbert Noble has produced "at least 40 suspects," Ranger Capt. Bob Crowder said today, but none of them has been definitely linked to the murder.

The Ranger captain said the investigation continued to center at Beaumont where many Dallas underworld characters have been questioned in connection with the blast that ended the life of Noble last Aug. 7 near his Grapevine home.

Captain Crowder denied saying officers believed they were near the solution of the case.

A 37-year-old carpenter is being held in the Dallas County Jail and a 30-year-old friend has been jailed in Jefferson County.

"They are just two of at least 40 suspects who have been investigated and questioned," Capt. Crowder said. "If we get information that definitely links them or any one else to the murder, we will file charges immediately."

More Points Okayed In Reich Peace Pact

By BRACK CURRY
BONN, Germany (AP)—Ignoring Communist threats, Allied and German officials said today the West German peace contract will be as ready as they can get it on Monday and the Big Three foreign ministers will come here late next week to settle final points and sign the document.

The Communists have charged the Western treaty is planned to touch off a bloody civil war and have called for East German counter measures, including a national army in the Soviet zone.

Today's announcement came at the end of an 18-hour meeting of the three Western high commissioners and German leaders—longest session in their eight months of negotiations.

During the all night session they pounded out agreements on 25 points, leaving only five to finish in their final meeting Monday.

Two or three further questions will be referred to the American, British and French foreign ministers when they meet with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer before the signing ceremony.

German Secretary of State Walter Hallstein said one major question discussed in the marathon session concerned "war production in strategically exposed areas."

He did not elaborate, but apparently the negotiators were trying to decide what types of arms West Germany will produce for the European army to which she will contribute some 400,000 troops.

U.S. Asst. Commissioner Samuel Reber said the negotiators will try Monday to crack the knotty financial question which has been the main snag blocking completion of the pact.

Both the Allied forces stationed in Germany and the Bonn government are claiming a lion's share of the 2 1/2 billion dollar new German defense budget. The Germans, who estimate the cost of rearming will cost them between 3 1/2 billion and 4 1/2 billion dollars in the first year, want to cut their money contribution to the Western forces to the bone.

Hallstein said this question also probably would have to be turned over to the foreign ministers.

They also will be asked to decide on the new German proposal to put the peace contract into effect before the parallel European army treaty is ratified by the six member nations. The Germans want the contract to become effective as soon as it is ratified by the Big Three and Bonn governments. The Western powers previously said the contract and the army treaty would go into effect at the same time.

The Germans say the army treaty's final approval probably won't come for several months after the contract is ratified.

The third consecutive reduction in Texas' permissive crude oil flow will be achieved by cutting statewide production to 19 days in the 30-day month of June compared with 21 during May. The East Texas Field will remain on 19 days.

The Pantex Field will continue on 14 producing days; Hawkins, 15; and Pickton, 6. The Millican Field was placed on 9 days, and 14 West Texas fields connected to the Phillips-Goldsmith plant were given 19, one less than they enjoy this month.

The commission acted immediately after receiving testimony at the statewide prorating hearing, despite pleas from several companies that action be delayed until the strike picture cleared.

Culbertson said the continuing cuts in allowable were being made "in an effort to bring about a better balance." Because of the present clouded situation, pending settlement of the oil strike, he said the commission is "having to guess a whole lot in the dark."

"If an emergency arises, the commission has authority to issue a 15-day order, even without notice," he noted, but said today's docket would be held open to consider changes in the oil situation in the near future if necessary.

DALLAS, May 16 (AP)—The income tax evasion trial of Tarrant County Sheriff J. M. (Sully) Montgomery went into its third day today.

Twenty-six government witnesses yesterday spelled out Montgomery's expenses for everything from utility bills to his buying of a $14,500 home and two automobiles from 1948 through 1950.

The government contends that Montgomery, now running for reelection, evaded full income tax payments in 1948-49-50.

The Figure Three had its beginning as a brand in Wise County about 1857 and was discontinued about 1865. It was owned by Strother D. Babbs.

It will be recalled that the Babbs were unusually prominent in Indian times in Wise County. One member of the family had three of his children stolen by the Indians in that country. After a long search of the Indian country, the children were recovered and restored to their parents. Dot Babbs, one of the abducted children, passed away in Amarillo a few years ago.

Cut Ordered In June Daily Oil Allowable

AUSTIN, May 16 (AP)—The Railroad Commission today set an allowable of 2,847,875 barrels per day for June, a cut of 113,444 from the present figure.

Because of uncertainties caused by the strike situation Commission Chairman Olin Culbertson said the production figure might be changed later if an emergency arises.

Lax Policy In Handling Former Reds Pays Off

By WILLIAM JORDEN
AN ANTI-COMMUNIST PRISON CAMP, Korea, May 16 (AP)—The United Nations Command is demonstrating almost unbelievable faith in Red prisoners of war who declare themselves anti-Communists.

This 25-day old POW camp near Pusan houses 10,400 of them. Unlike the Koje Island prison stockade, it has no guard towers. There are no machinegun positions, no tanks, no sandbags, no flame throwers.

The camp is merely surrounded by a two-foot high barbed wire fence. Any man in combat boots could walk over it with ease. All prisoners have combat boots.

Camp officers explain the basic philosophy behind the U.N. Command approach to the non-Reds: "These prisoners, former citizens and most of them soldiers under the North Korean Red regime, have said they oppose Communism enough, in fact, to die fighting it. Let's show them we trust them."

Everything has worked fine, camp officers say.

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP)—Rent Stabilization Director Tighe E. Woods today removed controls from primarily transient hotels in Hutchinson and Palo Pinto Counties, Texas.

DALLAS, May 16 (AP)—The Texas Legislature's crime investigating committee continued its hearing today to determine crime conditions in the area.

The committee, headed by Rep. Fred V. Meredith, opened a two-day hearing yesterday.

Dallas County Sheriff Bill Decker testified yesterday there was no noticeable influx of syndicated crime into the area.

PARIS, May 16 (AP)—U. S. Consul General John D. Jernegan of Tunis said his automobile was fired upon by unknown assailants in the Tunis suburbs early today.

Two bullets smashed into his car, which he was driving, but none of the occupants was hurt.

The incident occurred near the summer palace of the Tunisian sovereign, Bey Sidi Mohammed Al-Amin, which is on the site of ancient Carthage. Jernegan lives in the area.

Jernegan reported to American officials in Paris that at the time of the incident, about 1 a. m., there was no sign of life in the area, no signal of any sort for him to stop.

The French News Agency, in reporting the same incident earlier, said the car was fired upon when it accidentally passed a French road block.

The consul general said Gen. Jean de Hautecloque, French resident general in the French protectorate, had expressed his regrets at the incident.

The Tunisian capital had been under virtual state of siege, and French troops have been manning barricades as the result of renewed violence this week growing out of Nationalist demands for internal self-rule.

More Rejections In Korea Truce Parley

BY SAM SUMMERLIN
MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—For the ninth straight day Red truce negotiators blasted the Allies and again break off the armistice talks.

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, senior Allied delegate, spoke for only two minutes of the 30-minute session. He used his time to "reject finally and formally" the Red prisoner exchange proposal and suggest a recess until the Reds have something new to offer.

North Korean Gen. Nam Il replied: "Unless you formally declare the termination of these armistice negotiations, you have no reason to object to the normal holding of conferences."

Another session was scheduled at Panmunjom tomorrow at 11 a.m. (9 p.m. Friday EST).

Joy told the Reds "we again reject finally and formally" the Red proposal calling for exchange of 132,000 captured Reds for the 12,000 Allied captives in Communist hands.

Nam Il was equally firm in rejecting the Allied voluntarily repatriation plan. It would return only 70,000 prisoners to the Reds. The rest of the Red prisoners questioned refuse to return to Communist territory, the U.N. Command said.

The prisoner issue is blocking an armistice.

Nam Il said a letter written by Brig. Gen. Charles F. Colson, former commander of the Allies' Koje Island prison, "has disclosed to the whole world the utter bankruptcy of your position."

Colson wrote the note to obtain the release of Brig. Gen. Francis T. Dodd, who was seized by the POWs. The letter, since repudiated by the top Allied Command, admitted guards had killed prisoners (in Red riots) and promised "humane treatment."

Joy said he told the Reds "they were cloaking their fears of the truth and dodging our rescreening program. I told them the remainder of their remarks were unworthy of notice."

The Allies have offered to let the Communists see for themselves just which men don't want to return to communism.

Nam Il calls this absurd.

The Red general declared the "Geneva Convention stipulates the so-called screening of war prisoners cannot be permitted. You attempt to tear the Geneva Convention to pieces. We will not join you. Neither will any true impartial organization join you."

Joy told him "we are here to attempt to gain an armistice and not to engage in an exchange of propaganda and recrimination."

A motorist was fined $25 for failing to have an operator's license and $5 for speeding when the two charges were presented before City Judge W. E. Greenlee in Corporation Court this morning.

Otherwise the docket was a light one, with three cases of drunkenness, one of vagrancy and a number of traffic violations.

An oilfield worker who was arrested in the Flats last night was released this morning, and expressed his gratitude to the police when it was explained to him that he had been locked up for his own protection since he was carrying a large sum of money.

Police say that persons who neither live in the Flats or have urgent legitimate business in the Flats at night are being asked to leave that section whenever seen there. They point out that this is done for the protection of such persons.

Action Needed To Curb Dedication Of Gas Reserves For Exportation

William J. Murray Jr., member of the Texas Railroad Commission, spoke some words of wisdom this week that the people of Texas and their legislators should take to heart. Appearing as a witness in the suit of the gas pipeline people to void Texas' new natural gas gathering tax, Murray declared that the long-term dedication of Texas gas reserves for export is bad in principle. He admitted that the gas pipelines have furnished a market for Texas gas that might otherwise not be available, but told the court that he opposes the principle of tying up Texas gas reserves so that potential home industries might not be able to buy the fuel at any price.

What it can do slow down the siphoning off of our natural gas to the enrichment of other states without exacting an adequate tax return from this irreplaceable natural resource. In recent years there has been a wild scramble by promoters to build pipelines into every section of the country, including coal-producing states. A field "dedicated" to this purpose might still be warming the homes and turning the industrial wheels of an Eastern or Northern state long after the undedicated fields were exhausted, and Texas consumers would have to turn to lignite or firewood.

MacArthur Wields Meat-Axe At Ike On Military Disqualification

General Douglas MacArthur, who has in times past been a receptive candidate for the presidency, and even today is fondly looked upon as a GOP nominee by his followers, took a roundhouse swing at General Ike Eisenhower in a speech before a joint session of the Michigan Legislature in Lansing Tuesday.

To the Wall Street commuter New York may be a humdrum, blase town. To the taxi driver it may be jaded; to the salesman it may be dreary; to the subway straphanger, heartless. But to a group of youngsters who came to New York from Colorado and Kansas, from Florida and West Virginia to broadcast over the Voice of America last week, New York was the most glamorous, exciting city in the world.

Booker T. Washington of Planeview High School, Kansas, also got a thrill out of the Lincoln Memorial, but possibly he had more fun at a game between the New York Yankees and the Boston Red Sox. Back in Kansas, Booker's aged grandmother took a bus trip up from Muskogee, Okla., to see her grandson off on his pilgrimage to Washington, while his classmates gave him two sport shirts, and a friend of his mother's drove 15 miles to give him two dollars to buy soda pop in New York.

Congress Sets The Wrong Example As It Votes To Whack Own Income Taxes

This Day In Texas

On this day in 1583 the state completed purchase of one of the most hallowed spots in Texas, the ruins of the San Antonio de Valero mission, the Alamo. The legislature had voted $30,000 for the purchase on April 23.

There is historical precedent for this. In the days of chivalry the knight always rode off to battle carrying a token—usually a glove—from his lady fair. The trouble with a glove is that you can't tie it around your head. If you don't believe it, try tying your wife's glove around your head the next time you go into battle—trying to figure out your income tax.

Didn't Know They Sold TV Sets Back In Them Thar Old Days

Maybe things aren't so tough as we sometimes think. The wire services carried a story the other day about a big celebration in Hutchinson, Kansas, which featured 1902 prices at all retail stores in the city.

Of course the press reports of the event which trickled this far south might not have told the complete story. Perhaps the people of Hutchinson decided to live as people did in 1902 during the celebration. If that was the case, of course, the stores had no market for all of those modern goods while the event was in progress.

Doolittle Group Urges Tighter Port Controls

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP)—The Doolittle Commission said today that airports and airplanes can be made safer but not to such an extent as to make them less noisy.

The group, known as the President's Airport Commission, suggested tighter controls over aircraft even in the clearest weather, standing of airport approaches, standardization of runway lengths, use of government funds—literally dozens of possible improvements.

But one thing it significantly did not say was that big airports like the one at Newark, N. J., should be closed down because of airplane accidents like the series which struck Newark's neighbor city, Elizabeth.

"To promote the general welfare and to protect necessary systems of air transportation, it is essential that the major airports now engaged in interstate commerce, and in defense activities be continued in operation," the commission declared.

"Furthermore, these airports must not be allowed to deteriorate. They must be continually improved to the greatest possible degree."

Canada Okay On Newsprint Hike Is Due

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP)—Price Stabilizer Ellis Arnall said today the Canadian government has indicated it will approve a $10 per ton increase in the price of newsprint. The boost was requested by Canadian manufacturers.

Arnall said Canadian representatives informed him the increase would go into effect June 15, boosting the price of newsprint from Canada, delivered in New York, to $126 a ton.

He said he has objected to the Canadian government and has urged that the requested increase be denied.

About 90 per cent of the paper used by American publishers is imported from Canada.

Arnall said an increase would, of course, boost the cost of publishing newspapers and other publications in this country. The increase would be the second by Canadian manufacturers within a year.

Over the protest of Michael V. DiSalle, former Office of Price Stabilization director, the Canadian government authorized a $10 per ton boost for newsprint effective last July 1.

Arnall discussed the newsprint situation at a news conference.

IN MICHIGAN SPEECH

MacArthur Blasts Political Conniving

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur, in an address closely scanned by politicians, warned last night against "political conniving" which he said threatened America with a "military state."

Today Gen. MacArthur's motorcade rolled through nine Southeastern Michigan communities en route to a second and lesser address on the Detroit City Hall steps at noon.

He held a special joint convention of the Michigan Legislature last night.

"We now find some of the leaders of one party openly endorsing their own selection as the nominee of the opposition party . . . They encourage segments of their rank and file to infiltrate the opposition's ranks to influence the selection of its nominee for the presidency.

"This form of political conniving is destructive to the very essence of true representative government and sets the stage for the emergence upon the American scene of the ugly threat of a military state."

He made no specific reference to any political party or candidate. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is the only military man now a presidential candidate.

Gen. MacArthur paused for emphasis both before and after he spoke out against the "political conniving." An enthusiastic audience of legislators and guests, predominantly Republican, applauded these portions of his address most heavily.

The retired supreme Far Eastern commander warned, the history of the world shows that republics and democracies have generally lost their liberties by way of passing from civilian to a quasi-military status.

"It would be a tragic development," he continued, "if this generation was forced to look to the rigidity of military dominance and discipline to redeem it from the tragic failure of a civilian administration.

"It might well destroy our historic and wise concept which holds to the supremacy of the civil power."

MacArthur lashed the national administration.

"Our leaders," he said, "are unable to survey the world as a unit, but have become so infatuated with one area of Western Europe that they have largely ignored the Communist assault in many other sections of the globe.

"In one section of the world we oppose colonialism," MacArthur said. "In another, we support it. In one sector we bristle; in another we appease . . . Our European preoccupation is so great that we almost entirely ignore the enemy in other areas and even allow continental Asia to go by inertia and default. . . . In Korea, where victory was in our grasp, we go from bad to worse."

In what he called, "the very heart of our country's industrial strength," MacArthur said, "our county is now geared to an armed economy which was bred in an artificially-induced psychosis of war hysteria and nurtured upon the incessant propaganda of fear."

"Talk of imminent threat to our national security through the application of external force is pure nonsense," he continued. "Our threat is from the insidious forces working from within, which have already so drastically altered the character of our free institutions . . ."

Declaring "there is no politics in me, nor none intended in what I say," MacArthur asserted, "a reasonable limit must be placed upon the very exercise of the power to tax, easily the most abused and, as history has shown, the most dangerous of all sovereign powers. We must avoid confiscating income and draining resources to the point that the private ownership of property will practically disappear from our economic system."

Local FFA Youth Named As Officer In El Rancho Area

Representatives from seven FFA chapters in the El Rancho District met at Midland Thursday and elected district FFA officers for next school year.

Doug Cunningham, Odessa FFA, was elected district president. Other officers elected were John J. Phillips, Garden City, vice president; Maxie Davie, Clinton, secretary; and John Damron, Big Spring, reporter.

The FFA members chose Dora

Jane Schaffer of Garden City for district FFA sweetheart. Wilburn Bednar, Garden City FFA, was selected as district candidate for Area II FFA president. Dick Turner, Odessa FFA, was elected district nominee for state officer.

The Midland FFA string band was selected as official district entertainers. This group will represent the El Rancho district at the Area II FFA convention at Odessa June 2-4, said E. L. Tiner, area supervisor of vocational agriculture.

Police traffic reports list Mary Knapper, 1025 Stadium, driver of a 1950 Oldsmobile, and Irene Nolan Kounis, 404 E. 9th, driver of a 1951 Ford, as the motorists involved in a mishap at 9th and Main, early yesterday afternoon.

Another accident at 10th and Douglas at 5:12 p.m. yesterday involved a motorcycle ridden by Reed West, 404 Park, and a 1941 Ford driven by Manuel Villa, 203 N. E. 6th, according to the reports.

The Police Activities Book shows a number of leaking air conditions reported to police, all of which were investigated, and night officers also reported finding a number of windows and doors open at business places.

Police are also warning owners of the newer model cars to be careful where they are parked at night since owners are reporting the theft of hub caps, fender skirts and other parts from such cars, especially when they are found parked on dark streets.

Preliminary checks were made on nine applications for Lone Star Farmer degrees, highest FFA award by the Texas Association. Applications must also be passed by area and state advanced degree committees before awarded. Applicants for Lone Star Farmer degrees were: Donald Denton, John Damron, Jackie Fryar, and Warren Cooper, Big Spring FFA; James Laird, Dick Turner, and Doug Cunningham, Odessa FFA; and Wilbur Bednar and Bryant Harris, Garden City FFA. James Laird, outgoing district president, presided at the district meeting at Midland.

Steck Installed As Commander Of Local Legion

A new officer team, pledged to work for renewed membership interest and broader community service, took over the reins of the local American Legion post Thursday night.

Installation ceremonies were conducted by the Zone Commander Hylton Lambert of Snyder, and assuming office were Harold P. Steck, commander; H. W. Wright, first vice commander; Sidney Johnson, second vice commander; Leslie Steward, third vice commander; Truett Thomas, adjutant; Culin Grigsby, service officer; and Wendell Parks, chaplain. Going on the executive committee, along with Jack Pearson, retiring commander, are H. W. Whitney, Jack Irons, R. W. Whipkey and Al Dillon.

Steck called a meeting of the officer and executive group for next Thursday, to start immediate planning for wider Legion activity. One of the first projects will be the establishment of a new clubhouse, since the post lost its home in the reactivation of the Air Force Base.

In assuming office Steck called for more membership and more member interest. He said, however, that membership volume was secondary to sound Legion activity and said "more than anything, I want this post to be the biggest power in the community for community good."

Lambert's installation talk stressed the same service theme. "You are citizens, as well as veterans," he said, "and you have the opportunity to make your community proud of your Legion post."

The strength of the organization, he said, will be determined by the interest and effort of its individual members.

OREGON PRIMARY

Ike Is Favorite In First Western Test

By MORRIE LANDSBERG
PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Oregon voters stepped up today to tell their choice for President in a primary affording the first western test of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's popularity.

Election officials predicted a record 90 per cent turnout—better than 450,000 of the 770,000 voters. Sunny weather was forecast throughout the day. Polling hours are 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. (PDT)—and counting the extra-long ballot will be a slow job.

Eisenhower rates tops to carry off the Republican preferential vote. As the lone campaigner on his party's ticket, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee appeared certain to get the 12 Democratic delegates.

Whether Eisenhower wins 10 or all 18 Republican delegates depends on the vote for eight unpledged delegates widely accepted to favor Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio. Taft did not enter the primary. All other delegates signed a statement to support the high-polling presidential candidate.

Some Taft followers sponsored an appeal for write-ins for the Ohio senator. They have been careful, however, not to make too much of it. Even so, the gesture vote looked like the closest challenge to Gov. Earl Warren of California for second place.

Of the other GOP entries, ex-Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota waged only a brief campaign. Gen. Douglas MacArthur and Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon both made it plain that they do not consider themselves as candidates—in fact, Morse is running as an Eisenhower delegate. William R. Schneider, St. Louis attorney, does not figure at all.

When the tallies start rolling in tonight, they also will show the relative popularity of Sen. Kefauver in the Far West's first primary—as against two prominent Democrats who refused to campaign. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas and Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois were entered against their wishes.

The appearance of the eight unpledged GOP delegate-candidates under cover move for Taft. The eight candidates denied it but three signified that if elected they would support Taft. The others have refused to commit themselves.

The Eisenhower strategists set up their own slate of 10 at-large delegates to counter the possible split. But there is no way for the voter to tell on the ballot which of the candidates filed by petition—to avoid the customary pledge—or by the usual winner-take-all system: There are 50 at-large candidates on the GOP ticket.

Aside from this flurry, stand-ins for Eisenhower and Warren, Taft and Stassen devoted their appeal for votes to criticism of the present administration and expounding their respective views.

Kefauver did a lot of hand-shaking, once traded his coonkin cap for an Indian headdress and delivered a few pokes at the Truman regime. But he agreed generally with Democratic policies, provided the only clash of any consequence in the active but otherwise even-tempered campaign.

JESUS TOLD THE TEMPLE RULERS THAT THEY IGNORED THE SPIRIT OF THE COMMANDMENT TO KEEP THEIR TRADITION.

Scriptures—Exodus 20:12; Mark 7:9-13; Luke 2:41-52; John 8:25-27.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

"HONOR thy father and thy mother, that thy days may be long in the land which Jehovah thy God giveth thee."

That is the fifth commandment, and it is just as timely a reminder of our duty in this modern world as it was in those far-off days when the people to whom it was given were living in the land which their God had given to them.

Indeed, it is a theme that we need to ponder more and more in the complex world in which we find ourselves. Crime is rampant, broken homes are numerous, parents are separating, then marrying second mates, bringing step-parents into the picture, all causing confusion and sadness to the minds and hearts of the younger generation. What parents shall they honor?

In those far-off days, in the land of Palestine, there were those who tried to ignore the commandment. And, sad to say, there young people are apt to grow up not only to honor and to lovingly care for parents as the parents grow old, but to take their own places in the world as fine, upright citizens.

We have but one glimpse in our Bible of the childhood of Jesus between the time of His birth to his majority and the beginning of His mission. The one contained in our lesson is the familiar story of the Boy, now 12 years old and considered virtually a man, according to the Jewish law, taken by His parents to celebrate the passover in Jerusalem.

After the days of the feast were fulfilled, Mary and Joseph began the homeward journey with many others. They had gone from Jerusalem three days' traveling when they discovered that their Son was not with them. They had taken it for granted that He was with some other members of the company.

You can imagine with what frightened hearts they retraced

MEMORY VERSE

"Honor thy father and thy mother, that thy days may be long in the land which Jehovah thy God giveth thee."—Exodus 20:12.

were officials of the temple who encouraged them to do so.

Jesus brought the matter into the open, when, speaking to a group of Pharisees, he said to them: "Full well ye do reject the commandment of God, that ye may keep your tradition."

"For Moses said, Honor thy father and thy mother; and he that speaketh evil of father or mother, let him die the death."

"But ye say, if a man shall say to his father or his mother, that wherewith thou mightest have been profited by me is Corban, that is to say, given to God, ye no longer suffer him to do ought for his father or his mother, making void the word of God by your tradition, which ye have delivered; and many such like things ye do."

Once more, as in previous lessons, we find Jesus chiding the Pharisees for their insistence upon the minutest traditions and customs of the great basic laws of the Old Testament, but breaking the fundamental laws of God.

The relationships between parents and children are more emphasized today, in spite of the drawbacks of our age, than it has ever been before. Parents are striving to understand their children, to put themselves in the youngsters' places and to get close to them, so that there may be comradeship between them.

their steps to the city, and began their search for Him. The last place they looked was the temple, and there was the Lad, sitting with the learned doctors of the temple, asking questions, answering them, and astounding them with His understanding.

When questioned He seemed surprised that they should have been anxious, explaining that He was going about His master's business. However, returning with them to their home He grew in stature, in wisdom and "in favor with God and man." We can be sure that His life at home was filled with affection and good comradeship.

When the Lord was crucified, there were near the cross His mother, Mary, her sister also named Mary, but with "the wife of Clopas" added; Mary Magdalene, and John the beloved disciple. We are told that Jesus, in His agony, said to His mother, "Woman, behold thy son" and to John He said, "Behold thy mother!" When all was over, John took the mother of Jesus to his own home.

We are not told why Mary was thus forlorn; it is surmised that Joseph must have died; but she had other children, and her sister was at the Cross with her. John does not explain the why and wherefore, but simply states the case of Jesus' loving care for His mother.

FROM OUR OLD FAMILY ALBUM...

What nostalgic memories this picture brings. Every Sunday morning we used to drive to Church in Pop's old "flivver," picking up the Parson on the way. Today I live in a great city. I ride commuter's trains, and dictate letters, and spend endless hours "in conference." But I've never forgotten our Church in the field. It plowed deep furrows in my life, and planted the seeds of real happiness. Now I worship in the big "City Church." You might think it would be different; but it isn't. Folks are just as friendly. The Truth is just the same. And God is just as close. You see, in the country or in the city, Christians are good people trying to be better. And for folks like you and me who worship God, the Church—big or little—is home.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Gilbreth's New Book Follows Humorous Vein

Frank Gilbreth's latest book, "I'm A Lucky Guy," a humorous account of his college and wartime experiences, was reviewed by Mrs. Clyde Angel Thursday afternoon in fellowship hall of First Christian Church.

The review was the last in a series presented by the Thursday Review Club, sponsored by the Junior Woman's Forum.

Gilbreth, oldest son in the family first made famous in the book, "Cheaper By The Dozen," opens his story in 1929 on the eve of his departure for college.

His older sisters wanted him to be a Phi Beta Kappa, but his five younger brothers were convinced that he would be a football star. Frank had misgivings about this, since he was six feet and one inch tall, weighed only 142 pounds, and had never made above the third string in high school.

His first shock came when he met, aboard the train, Sally, a senior from New Jersey. He soon learned that all the town went into mourning when she left. He knew that to be a "big man about the campus" he'd have to "come out" for something, and when he realized that Sally would be at "The Daily" he went out for football.

His first sad experiences as an athlete ended abruptly, and he reported to "The Daily" for assignment. Here, a typographical error in a story concerning the dean almost ended his college career, and when he went to Detroit with Sally and another couple for an evening on the town to forget it all, an innocent incident led to a scrape with the police and he found himself confronted by "four policemen, two with machine guns and looking like their evening would be spoiled if they didn't get to use them."

Because of his many experiences, Frank soon became known as "The Fearless Freshman." While working for a New York newspaper after his graduation, he met Liz, from Charleston. He got a job on a newspaper there, where he married Liz and worked until the war started.

After telling Liz that he "wanted to get in the thick of things," and getting her consent, he put out feelers to both the Army and Navy. The Army, he soon found out, wanted only privates for the infantry and he didn't want to "get in that thick," so when the Navy offered him a commission as a public relations officer he took it.

Most of the story concerns his experiences aboard ship as an unknown Navy man who knew absolutely nothing about ships. His admiral, whom he describes as being "either a peppery old salt or a salty old pepper," gave him many troublesome times, but as he says, "I'm a lucky guy" and he came through without catastrophe.

Gilbreth is now associate editor of the Charleston, S. C., newspaper.

Trucks' No-Hitter Dazzles Senators

Hurlers Steal The Spotlight

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Virgil Trucks' fine no-hitter and the covey of major league shutouts raise some old questions. Are the pitchers that good or the hitters that weak?

The correct answer probably is somewhere between the two extremes. Certainly, there is no doubt that Trucks' brilliant no-hit, no-run game for Detroit against Washington yesterday was a superb effort. He walked only one man and struck out seven.

But the hitters in both leagues did little to earn their pay. They performed like trained seals leaping for a flounder. The combined batting average of both leagues for the day was a sick 167. But for the Philadelphia A's 10-hit burst against the St. Louis Browns, it would have been much worse.

It was shutout day in the majors, with four of the five games in that category. The Philadelphia A's was the only winner allowing a run. And he gave up only one while throwing a five-hitter.

Trucks, Ray Scarborough of Boston, Alex Kellner of the A's and Billy Loes Brooklyn's bonus baby, all blanked the enemy.

If Manager Red Wolfe had written the script, the Tigers couldn't have arranged for a more dramatic finish for Trucks' no-hitter. Tangled with Bob Porterfield in a scintillating struggle Detroit went down to the last out before winning the game, 1-0.

With two gone in the last of the ninth, newly wed Vic Wertz blasted a home run into the upper right field stands. Right fielder Jackie Jensen didn't even bother to run back. He just trotted off the field.

Porterfield mated Trucks in the early going, pitching no-hit ball for 5 2/3 innings. He gave up only four hits in all.

The no-hitter, second ever pitched by a Tiger hurler, was especially welcome to Trucks as his first win of the season. The 27-year-old righthander had a 0-2 record and had been roughed for 13 hits in 5 1/3 innings in his last previous start against Chicago.

After a fine comeback last year when he won his last six games, Trucks showed good form at training camp. He flopped badly when the season started. Yesterday the husky fellow who was unable to pitch in 1950 due to arm trouble depended on his control with an occasional fireball as an ace in the hole. Scarborough, a 22-year-oldster, blanked the Chicago White Sox, 1-0, as rookie Ted Lepcio's pay-off single won for Boston in the fourth. Faye Thronberry, another survivor of Manager Lou Boudreau's spring youth movement, set up the run when he walked, stole second and went to third on catcher Phil Masi's wild peg. Lepcio drove him home with one of the three Red Sox hits off loser Ken Holcombe, still a non-winner.

Lefty Alex Kellner shut out the Browns for the second time in eight days with four hits in Philadelphia's 6-0 victory.

The St. Louis and Chicago defeats enabled the idle New York Yankees to take over fourth place. The Yanks' final game at Cleveland was postponed because of cold weather.

Billy Loes took full advantage of his first starting chance for Brooklyn to whip Pittsburgh's feeble Pirates, 3-0. The 22-year-old sid, who got a $22,000 bonus for signing in 1948 out of a high school in neighboring New York borough of Queens, had won three in a row on relief before Manager Chuck Dressen gave him his big chance. The Pirates had six hits, three by Pete Castiglione whose double was the only extra baser.

Brooklyn got to Murry Dickson, a 20-game winner in 1951. Loes isn't exactly a rookie, signed in '48, he spent 1949 at Nashua, N. H., and Fort Worth. He remained with the Dodgers all through the 1950 season, appearing in 10 games, all on relief. Loes was in the Army in '51. Still on the national defense reserve list, he doesn't count in the Dodgers' 33-man player limit.

Roberts would have made it unanimous for the shutout pitchers if he hadn't dished up a home run ball to Jo Adcock of Cincinnati in the sixth inning. The 5-1 decision was Roberts' sixth straight since he lost the opener.

Rain and cold weather knocked out the scheduled Chicago at New York and St. Louis at Boston games.

ing honors with his three hitter. Aramis Arambica of Big Spring fashioned a five-hitter in taking the loss.

Odessa won the ball game in the fourth inning, scoring two runs after the Broncs had taken the lead in the top half of the inning. With one out, Barney Batson singled to right, Roberto Fabian followed with a single to left, putting men on first and second. Leo Eastman then popped out, but Manager Pepper Martin followed with a line drive double off the left field wall to score both runs. The hit by Martin gave him a perfect one for one for the evening.

He was walked twice. Big Spring's tally in the top half of the fourth came after Pat Stacey doubled home Al Costa.

The Olers added an insurance run in the fifth inning when Raul Dieppa was given life on an error and later scored on another miscue.

The VFW Robins, sponsored by the local post and with a lineup composed almost exclusively of Big Spring Air Base personnel, plays the Ackerly Eagles in a baseball exhibition at 2 p.m. Saturday in Ackerly.

Jackson is due to hurt for the Robins. His slants will be caught by Hillreck. The Ackerly battery will be Santos and Bone.

DALLAS, May 16 (U)—Jim Lansford, University of Texas tackle, and Bert Clark, Oklahoma University linebacker, signed contracts today with the Dallas Texans of the National Football League.

Lansford and Clark are Texans. Lansford is from Carrizo Springs and Clark is from Wichita Falls. Clark originally went to the University of Texas but was there only a spring semester.

Sue Dennis Wins Special Award

Players on the A and B and Junior High School girls' volleyball teams were given awards at a Thursday night banquet held for the clubs in the new High School Cafeteria.

Sue Dennis was announced as a winner of a trophy donated by Frances Weeg. Miss Dennis led the A team in scoring for the season, leading off Rosemary Rice by three points.

Coach Carl Coleman served as master of ceremonies and, as such, introduced the principal speaker, Dr. P. D. O'Brien, and other guests.

All players present were given free movie passes by J. Y. Robb, local theater owner.

Those attending were served barbecued chicken.

Abilene Slaughters Pampans, 28 To 12

Thursday night Abilene took its workout in Pampa and circled the basepaths enough to score a 28-12 runaway. It was Pampa's first loss in five games.

Gold Sox Tipped By Flynn And Yankees In Thriller

Pat Flynn pitched the Yankees to a thrilling 4-3 victory over the Gold Sox in a Little Baseball League game played here Thursday afternoon.

Flynn struck out 12 batters and had a big hand in the scoring. He doubled after Dale Stanaland had reached first on an error in the fourth and eventually scored on a misplay himself.

The Yanks scored what proved to be the winning run in the fifth when Duane Thompson singled, went to second on an error, to third on Roy Blair's hit and came home on Travis Anderson's fly to right.

Flynn did not walk a man and gave up only three hits.

The Gold Sox plated two in the first on a home run by Wayne Fields and picked up another in

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Big Spring has had its troubles in the Longhorn League ever since the number of class-men allowed each club was upped from three to five. Still another veteran is now permitted each contingent and the job apparently has become that much harder for Pat Stacey's club.

Big Spring is allowed as many vets as the rest, of course, but more rookies are being used in the starting nine here than in any other lineup within the league. Whether the frosh can straighten out and slug toe-toe with the other clubs before time runs out on them remains to be seen.

Big Spring's big need still seems to be at least one more power hitter, and perhaps two. Witty Quintana is beginning to blossom out as a blaster, but the over-all potential isn't there yet.

BAUMAN A THREAT TO BREAK HOME RUN RECORD
Can Joe Bauman shade the Longhorn League home run record? The mark is 44, set by Tom-Tom Jordan of Rowell a couple of years ago. Bauman, the huge Artesia first secker, hit ten round-trippers in the Drillers' first 21 games and apparently is only warming to the task.

Pat Lorenzo, who is now playing with Midland, opened the 1952 season with Natches of the Cotton State League.

If Big Spring's plight in the Longhorn League disturbs you, think of how Fort Lauderdale fans feel. That Florida International League club lost its first 20 games of the season.

FANS DESERVE NEWS OF PENALTIES
When Hal Sayles, president of the Longhorn League, fines a player, he's been prone to keep the news to himself. That is not the custom in baseball and I think Sayles is off base in doing it. The fans like to learn of such developments, whether it happens to be a player on their own club or one with the other clubs.

Lee Zamora, who used to be with Sweetwater, has been cast adrift with Albuquerque of the WT-NM League. Zamora always had trouble with his control when at Sweetwater.

Gerald Fahr, the ex-Vernon hurler now with Toronto of the International League, is being used in relief roles much of the time. He has won two and lost as many for the Maple Leafs.

Ben Hitt, the local high school trackster, was well acquainted with Boo Ferriss, the one-time Boston Red Sox mound star when Ben's pop was stationed at Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

Ferriss was a soldier there. Ferriss is a red-hot in Beaumont about the time Tex Hughson was going so well up there.

McClendon Quits Game Broadcasts

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
DALLAS, May 16 (U)—Gordon McClendon, the youthful Texan who built a fabulous radio empire by bucking the laws of baseball to bring major league broadcasts to the hinterlands, gave it up today—at least until "the courts grant me relief."

The man who first had to get his play-by-play reports of major league games by listening to a New York radio station, then send them to Dallas via teletype, announced that his Liberty Broadcasting System, which grew to 458 stations, was suspending operations.

He charged that the major and minor leagues entered a conspiracy to deprive him of his rights to broadcast and said the Justice Department "didn't have the guts" to fight baseball's violation of the law.

McClendon started his major league broadcasts in 1948 at the age of 27, doing the announcing himself and calling himself "The Old Scotchman." He bucked a baseball law—that which prohibited broadcasting games at any time of day or night within an area of 50 miles of a minor league club's home base without the owner's consent. The Justice Department eventually

All This And Baseball, Too

Max Patkin, the famed baseball clown, trying here to jinx a pitcher and draw a walk, will seek to help Big Spring's cause at Steer Park this evening. Patkin used to work for the Cleveland and St. Louis

Brown clubs and actually was such a sensation the teams were told to get rid of him so that the fans could turn their minds to baseball, again. He'll try to put the whammy on Odessa tonight.

AT STEER PARK

Baseball's Top Clown Max Patkin, Due Tonight

The unpredictable but always funny Max Patkin stops in Big Spring tonight to try and help the Bronces pull out of their tail-spin in the Longhorn League race.

Patkin may not do much to arrest the plunge of the Steeds but he will keep the fans contented and laughing. There's no doubt about that.

Patkin is a natural comic, mimic and contortionist. Billed as the funniest man in the game, he'll probably exceed his advance notices as he struts on the coaching lines and does his double-jointed routines.

Bill Veeck, often called the greatest showman in baseball, twice hired Patkin to work with him. Max was under contract to Bill at Cleveland and again after Veeck assumed charge of the St. Louis Browns' baseball team.

Patkin is 6-foot-3 and doesn't seem to have a bone in his body. Imitating pitchers, Max twists himself up like a Boy Scout's neckerchief, unwinds suddenly and out of a conglomeration of arms and legs something appears. It's Max, alright. Oftimes, it's a baseball but frequently it might be a glove or shoe. Never does he give away his secrets.

His priceless gift of imitation probably furnishes him his greatest tools. It may be the way a first baseman fields and throws, it may be his walk, the way a pitcher winds up or a batter's uneasy stance.

On occasions, he gives an all too accurate portrayal of an umpire's gesture which might find him getting the thumb, all to the delight of the howling fans.

Although he confines most of his efforts to pantomime, Max cannot resist an occasional retort. Should an umpire throw up his hands and shout "time!" Max is more apt to glance quickly at his wrist watch and reply, with equal volume, "about a quarter to nine."

In the past four seasons, Patkin has performed in 41 leagues and over 200 Organized baseball parks. His itinerary for 1952 will take him from coast to coast.

One day in Chicago last season, when the White Sox were entertaining the Browns, he was coaching at first base in a game being broadcast by Jack Brickhouse, the radio and TV star.

His pantomimic antics so entertained Brickhouse and everyone else in the park that Jack issued this order:

"Leave the cameras on this guy. I'll fill in the ball game for the people."

So, for 2½ innings, the TV audiences witnessed the mad-cap carings-on of the imitable Patkin.

Oh, yes. The opposition for the Bronces tonight will be provided by the league-leading Odessa Oilers, making their first trip here. The Steeds may need all the help they can get.

Southwest Race Ending Today

By The Associated Press

The Southwest Conference baseball campaign ends Friday with four teams still fighting for higher positions in the standings.

The only definite spots before Friday's games are the conference title, led away by Texas several days ago, and the cellar, occupied by Rice.

Texas downed Texas A&M 5-0 Thursday; Texas Christian took Southern Methodist 4-2, and Baylor won a doubleheader from Rice 3-1 and 6-0.

IN PREAKNESS

Eddie Arcaro Up On One Count

By JOHN CHANDLER

BALTIMORE (AP)—The names of the two "big" horses, Sub Fleet and Blue Man, are expected to be dropped into the entry box along with two others this morning, thus completing a lineup of 10 starters for the 78th running of the Preakness stakes at ancient Pimlico tomorrow.

The mile and three sixteenths gallop, carrying $75,000 in added money, drew 54 entries yesterday when the secretary's office opened the box for Preakness horses.

But Sub Fleet, the Dixiana Stable express which got second place behind Hill Gail in the Kentucky Derby two weeks ago, and A. W. Abbott's Blue Man, which rushed up to get third at Louisville, are yet to be named for the Maryland classic.

Trainers by aides dropped in the names yesterday of Sam E. Wilson's Gushing Oil, Mrs. Walter M. Jeffords' One Count, Gustave Smith's Handsome Teddy, Jack Amie's Count Flame, Armageddon from Harry F. Guggenheim's Cain Hoy Stable, and Primate from the Starmount Stable of E. B. Benjamin.

Unless something drops down out of the clouds, these 10 three-year-olds will make up the field, and if all face the starter at 4:15 p.m. (EST) Saturday the race will have a fat purse of $115,270.

All starters will carry equal weight, 126 pounds, same as in the Derby, and the package they must pack if they go after the third number in the triple crown—the $100,000 Belmont Stakes June 7.

There is no lack of argument about which horse will be the favorite, in spite of the fact Sub Fleet seems to be the logical choice in view of his second in the Derby to Hill Gail. The latter left the Preakness rather open when he developed an ankle injury and was declared out of the Pimlico classic.

Sub Fleet followers think they'll get around 2 to 1 if jockey Steve Brooks can win the race, to be televised and broadcast coast-to-coast (CBS TV & radio) starting at 4 p.m. EST.

On the other hand, the Blue Man admirers claim Abbott's colt suffered some poor racing luck in the Derby, and insist he's the logical choice, or at least should be a co-favorite with Sub Fleet at about 5 to 2.

The weatherman may have something to say about the result, for the Saturday forecast calls for increasing cloudiness, warmer with showers. Trainers of Sub Fleet, Blue Man, Gushing Oil and Primate say an "off" track won't bother their horses.

Eddie Arcaro, who won the Derby with Hill Gail for his fifth score in that race, seeks his fifth Preakness with One Count. He won the Preakness with Whirlaway, Citation, Hill Prince and Bold.

Longhorn Ex Will Do, Says Sewell

CINCINNATI, May 16 (AP)—"A better hitter than the figures show," Roy McMillan, from Bonham, Texas, inherits the Cincinnati Reds' full shortstop burdens now with Manager Luke Sewell's complete confidence.

McMillan possesses an anemic batting average of .137—13 hits in 82 trips—but "he'll do okay," Sewell predicts.

McMillan took over the No. 1 shortstopping duties without challenge yesterday and eluded his second home run of the season, Virgil Stallcup, his former competition for the Reds starting berth, was one from the Reds' fold.

Stallcup, a regular for the Reds since 1948, went to St. Louis' Cardinals Tuesday in a player deal.

Wildcats Card U Of C Again

ABILENE.—(Sp1)—Abilene Christian College's 1952 football schedule reveals six non-conference games, including another tiff with the strong University of Chattanooga Moccasins.

The Wildcats will play one more home game than they did last year—four. Home games are slated with East Texas State, McMurry, Texas A&I and Howard Payne in that order.

ACC will be seeking to even the score with Chattanooga. The inter-sectional series was started with a Moccasin victory in 1949. ACC won in '50 but was beaten by the Tennesseeans last fall.

West Texas State is on the Wildcat grid slate for the first time since 1948, and Fort Sam Houston, a service team, will be played for the first time. All but three of the 10 games—Texas A&I, Fort Sam Houston and Howard Payne—will be played at night. The four Texas Conference opponents are McMurry, Texas A&I (homecoming), Austin College and Howard Payne.

The schedule as announced by Coach Garvin Beauchamp is as follows:

- Sept. 13—SW Texas—San Marcos
- Sept. 19—East Texas—Abilene
- Sept. 26—Chattanooga—Chattanooga
- Oct. 4—Midwestern—Stanford

Staid Columbia Also Has Student Raiders

NEW YORK (U)—Male student spring raids on co-ed dormitories spread to Columbia University and the University of Miami early today.

At Columbia, police and special guards battled more than 1,500 students for two hours to stem invasion of several girls' dormitories of Barnard College on the university campus.

Some of the men got into two of the co-ed dwellings and made off with female underwear. Some co-eds tossed brassieres and panties from their dormitory windows. Other girls hurled bags of water at the male demonstrators.

Male student "pantie raids" have been staged recently at a number of other schools, including the Universities of Florida, Nebraska, Iowa, Purdue, Denver, and Otterbein College in Ohio.

At the University of Miami early today, about 3,000 men students raided the Dickinson Dormitories on the main campus. Police and firemen used fire hoses to quell the demonstrators during the two-hour melee.

In Cambridge, Mass., last night some 1,000 Harvard students got into the riot act but not over lingerie. A peaceful rally—a campaign to put a comic strip character in the White House—erupted into a fight when a rival group presented another comic strip character for the presidency.

Before that demonstration ended, 28 students were arrested and three policemen were injured.

Meanwhile, at Bloomington, Ind., male students at Indiana University were invited to dip into a barrel full of lingerie. Several hundred students were felled in an attempted raid on a women's dormitory there last Monday night.

Today, a college official said, a barrel loaded with discarded undergarments would be available—free to all takers.

At Yale University on Tuesday, some 1,500 students demonstrated over an argument involving rival ice cream vendors. Several arrests were made.

Top U.S. Ace Is Downed In Korean Fight

U.S. FIFTH AIR FORCE, Korea (U)—The Air Force announced today that Col. Walker M. Mahurin, one of America's greatest fighter pilots, was shot down over Korea Tuesday.

The 33-year-old Sabre jet pilot who downed more than 25 planes in two wars hasn't been heard from since he radioed:

"I've been hit by flak and I think I'm on fire."

The Air Force said it didn't know whether he parachuted.

Mahurin, from Fort Wayne, Ind., was pioneering the use of Sabre jet fighters in dive bombing. That was one of his jobs as a combat group commander of the Fourth Fighter Wing.

He was on his third mission of the day. He led Sabre dive bombing attacks on Communist airfields at Sinuiju across the Yalu River from Manchuria and on the rail network at Kunu, 85 miles to the southeast. He was hit over Kunu.

Mahurin shot down 21 planes in Europe and one in the Pacific in the Second World War. He was credited with 3 planes shot down in Korea, one probably destroyed and one damaged.

Mahurin came to Korea five months ago and was originally under command of his close friend and World War II rival, Col. Francis Gabreski, top American ace still flying in combat.

Mahurin's wife and their two children live at George Air Force Base in California. His mother, Mrs. Guy Mahurin, lives in Fort Wayne.

Bishop Moved To Fort Worth Office Of T&P

Paul H. Bishop, who has been stationed in Big Spring for more than three years as chief special agent for the Western Division of the T&P Railway, has returned to Fort Worth where he will be on duty with the company.

September 11, this year, will mark the 30th anniversary of Bishop's employment by the T&P as a special officer. He has 15 years more years ago before retirement, he said. Bishop said that while the Fort Worth duty cannot be considered a promotion he requested it because he would like to serve his last years with the railroad there. He owns his home in Fort Worth and being there will put him much nearer his six children and eight grandchildren.

Bishop is being succeeded here by A. G. Mitchell, former Big Spring chief of police, who has been a special officer with the T&P since soon after he resigned as chief here on April 8, 1947, after serving in the post more than two and one-half years.

Mitchell comes here from Monahans.

DEVER PICKED KEYNOTER
Rayburn Chairman Of Dem Convention

CHICAGO (U)—Democratic leaders started the ball rolling toward the party's National Convention yesterday with selection of the keynote speaker and permanent chairman.

Gov. P. A. Dever of Massachusetts, described as an outstanding orator, was named to deliver the keynote address. The speech will be the first round of oratory to start off the convention at which delegates will nominate candidates for President and vice president.

Also named by the Democratic convention arrangements committee as permanent chairman for the second consecutive national meeting was Rep. Sam Rayburn of Texas, speaker of the House.

Frank E. McKinney, the party's national committee chairman, said Dever and Rayburn "give us a perfect geographical balance."

McKinney said the committee had screened "the entire list of 23 Democratic governors" in considering a keynoter. He added that 49-year-old Dever, governor of Massachusetts since 1948, "was acceptable to all factions."

Dever, a former attorney general of Massachusetts, has been active in politics since his college years at Boston University. He made the nominating speech for former Postmaster General James A. Farley at the 1940 Democratic National Convention in Chicago.

Although no other speechmakers were selected by the party's planning group yesterday, two other key posts were filled.

Rep. John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, the House majority leader, was named chairman of the preliminary platform drafting committee. The 21 members were expected to begin work within three weeks on the job of outlining the convention platform.

McKinney said the aim of the committee "is a platform that will be acceptable to all segments of our party, so we can present a strong, unified front in the campaign."

He said the group named to do the spade work on the platform represented a complete cross section and was made up "without regard to candidates."

McKinney said the convention, which starts July 21 at the International Amphitheater, will open at 11:30 a.m. (EST). Two sessions a day for four days are planned.

They will be televised nationally for the first time.
The Republican National Convention also will be held at the amphitheater and will open on July 7.
