Doesn't Know If He Can Beat Taft

ABILENE, Kan., June 5 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said today the paramount issue of the political campaign is "real peace and security in the world."

The five star general, a candidate for the Republican nomination, said in a press conference this morning he hopes the country can get out from under "the umbrella of fear and doubt and hysteria," he said now covers the country.

Declaring that he intends to "speak out as frankly as I know how" on the issues of the day, Eisenhower added:

1. He hasn't "the slightest idea" whether he can defeat Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio for the GOP nomination.

2. He would consult Gen. Douglas MacArthur on Asiatic policies if he became President.

3. There is no political connection between him and the Truman Administration which would prevent him from attacking the Democratic record.

4. He believes the states primarily should handle the question of creating Fair Employment Practices Commission (FEPC).

5. He will support the Republican presidential nominee—if he doesn't get the prize himself—on the assumption that the GOP platform will be satisfactory.

6. The states can handle education problems better than the Federal government.

The five-star general, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, told a news conference here he is for "fairness and equality" for all types of Americans.

The issue of a compulsory Fair Employment Practices Commission (FEPC) is one of the most explosive in the political campaign.

Eisenhower said that the Federal government should do everything in its power to bring about equality.

But he said the specific issue of FEPC should be handled by the states. This is the view taken by many Democrats in the South, where friends have contended Eisenhower would run strongly if he wins the nomination.

Eisenhower said he is against centralizing power in the Federal government because he said that would lead to Socialism and dictatorship.

Declaring he is against "socialization of medicine," Eisenhower said he favors private aid for medical education.

OF REPUBLICANS

Ike In Accord With Policy Statement

WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)—General Eisenhower said today he is in general accord with the principles of the Republican policy statement of Feb. 6, 1950, but that certain specific details were a little different from what he would say.

The statement was adopted by the Republican members of the House and Senate and was concurred in by members of the party's national committee. Here, in brief, is what it says the party stands for:

Consultation between the President and leaders of both parties in developing a "united American foreign policy."

General reduction of taxes and Strict enforcement of laws against monopoly.

A non-partisan commission study to bring about a redistribution of governmental functions and sources of revenue between federal, state and local entities.

Fair prices for farmers aided by a system of price supports. Opposes Brannan plan.

Continuation of the Taft-Hartley Act with improvements shown to be needed.

Legislation to protect the rights of minorities.

Federal aid to states for subsistence, shelter and medical care for those in need, avoiding "socialization" of the medical profession or of any other activity.

GOP Confused On Precinct Meetings

By MARTHA COLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

Texas Republicans have put their lawyers to work on a mighty important question—when can they hold their July precinct conventions?

Some say July 19—that's a week before the July 28 Democratic primary. Some say they must be July 26, same day as the primary.

It's a problem of interpreting Texas' new election laws.

They're the ones Orville Bullington of Wichita Falls, state GOP executive chairman, says "only God in his infinite wisdom can understand."

If the Republican precinct meetings are held on July 26, the day of the Democratic primary, that means that a poll tax holder can't vote in the primary and then go to a Republican precinct convention on the same day. For the law says flatly here that that's illegal.

The Republican precinct conventions in July serve the same purpose as the Democratic primary—they both lead to nomination of the party candidates for elective offices in Texas.

But the national picture is mixed up in them this year.

Supporters of Sen. Robert Taft for President figure that Republican precinct conventions and the Democratic primary on the same day will see many of what they call the overnight Republicans fall by the wayside.

They have charged that the supporters of Sen. Eisenhower are really Democrats and figure that they'll choose a Democratic primary over a Republican party precinct meeting.

The Eisenhower people retort that they're just as good Republicans as anybody else. And their leaders are drumming up business to get the people out to precinct meetings to prove it.

If the GOP precinct conventions are held a week before the Democratic primary, there's nothing in the state law to prevent a voter from participating in both. The law merely says it's illegal to do both on the same day. But, there's the matter of party loyalty and party pledge that would keep a voter from doing it.

The Taft supporters generally have aligned themselves with Henry Zweifel of Fort Worth, national GOP committeeman from Texas.

The Eisenhower backers generally have aligned themselves with Jack Porter of Houston, a candidate for Zweifel's post. They charge that Zweifel and his followers are the old guard Republicans in Texas and strive to keep the party small in order to horde patronage. They figure that the only way to oust Zweifel is to get control of the state party machinery.

Some of the Dallas County Eisenhower fans still ringing telephones on a hot July day will admit anonymously that it's only to "get Zweifel."

AWAIT OFFICIAL COUNT

Taft Clings To 511 Vote Lead In S. D.

By HAROLD S. MILNER

SIOUX FALLS, S.D. (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio today held D. Eisenhower in South Dakota's bitterly contested Republican primary, with only 16 precincts missing.

Although Taft supporters claimed victory, former Governor George T. Mickelson, who headed the Eisenhower slate of delegates, refused to concede pending the official count of ballots Saturday by the county canvassing boards. Fourteen delegates are at stake. The returns with only 16 precincts missing gave:

Taft 64,700.
Eisenhower 64,109.

Results in at least five of the missing precincts will not be known until the official county canvass Saturday. The election judges sealed the duplicate polling books of four precincts in Perkins County. There the two candidates were running neck-and-neck. Another poll book was sealed with the ballots in a Brookings County precinct—a county which registered heavily for Taft.

Taft supporters early Wednesday claimed a victory after their candidate had doggedly maintained a shaky lead since 10:45 p.m. Tuesday night.

Mickelson contended the narrow

Taft margin still left the Taft win in doubt, and because of the closeness of the race that it was an Eisenhower victory in a Taft stronghold, even if the Ohlean did poll four to five hundred more votes.

Mickelson refused to say whether he would ask for a recount or contest the bitterly fought primary. He has 10 days in which to demand a recount by petitioning the secretary of state.

The race was the tightest in South Dakota since 1936 when former Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas won the presidential primary over Sen. William E. Borah of Idaho by 257 votes.

Taft supporters said the showing Taft made proved his strength among farmers. His best showing was made in farm districts where there were no large cities or towns. He spent five days campaigning in the state. In his talks he plunked for parity for farm products and favored farm price supports.

Eisenhower's vote getting power in the sparsely settled ranch areas in the "short-grass" country west of the Missouri River surprised those predicting the election returns. He also made big gains in the cities, especially in Aberdeen and Sioux Falls, where he had daily newspaper endorsement.

Arrest Two Men In Surplus Rope Deals

WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)—The FBI today arrested two men—one a federal official—and charged them with diversion of surplus government rope.

The two men were named as: Capt. Manuel Gonzalez, 42, assistant chief of the division of ship repair and maintenance for the U. S. Maritime Administration, arrested in the Commerce Department Building in Washington.

Emile Schmidt, 65, used rope buyer, was taken into custody by FBI agents in New Orleans.

FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover said Gonzalez was charged with embezzling and selling without authority some 170,000 pounds of rope valued at about $8,500.

Schmidt, he said, was charged with receiving a portion of the goods, which had been in storage aboard the reserve fleet of the Maritime Administration at Beaumont, Tex.

Capt. Gonzalez, a former Navy commander, was in charge of that fleet when the rope was disposed of between January, 1951, and March, 1952, Hoover said.

Gonzales was promoted in March of this year to his present position in the Maritime Administration. He resides in suburban Hyattsville, Md.

The FBI said today's arrests make a total of eight persons who have been taken into custody in recent weeks in an investigation involving embezzlements from the Beaumont reserve fleet supplies.

The Maritime Administration has been disposing of supplies at Beaumont because it considers them a fire hazard to the 135 ocean-going vessels now in mothballs at Beaumont's Neches River Basin.

Hoover said Schmidt previously arranged for what he called the legitimate purchase of more than one million pounds of used rope stored aboard fleet vessels in Beaumont.

An FBI spokesman said the four-star rank of captain—equivalent to colonel in the Army—goes with the job of assistant chief of ship repair.

Korean War Action Light Along Front

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Allied and Communist patrols skirmished Wednesday through one of the lightest action days of the stale-mated, 23-month-old Korean War.

The biggest Communist units met by United Nations patrols, on the Central Front, numbered about 30 or 40 men. The infantrymen traded brief volleys.

Allied divisions on the Western Front, usually the most active, reported no significant contact.

Artillery inflicted about 58 casualties on about 155 Reds located in the Mundung and Setae valleys and near the Punchbowl on the Eastern Front.

An Eighth Army staff officer said the Reds fired their lowest number of artillery shells in nearly a month, fewer than 2,000.

An air strike northeast of the Panmunjom truce talk site killed an estimated eight Chinese. Artillery also fired on Red vehicles in the same Western Front area early Thursday.

Fighter-bomber and Sabre jet pilots flew north today on their usual rail cutting and bombing runs. During the night, B-26 attack bombers destroyed 68 vehicles carrying supplies to the front. Wednesday's rail cuts totaled 100.

Jack Smith Named To District 2-T-2 Lions Club Post

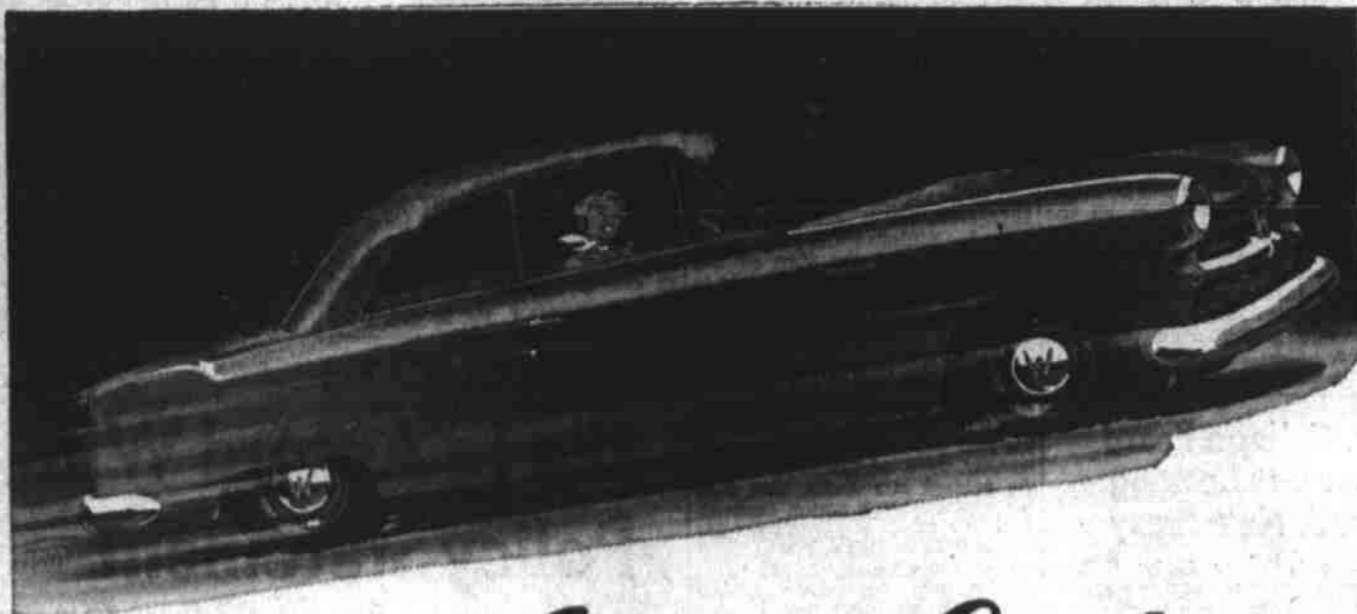

Jack Y. Smith, long time member of the Big Spring Lions Club and active in district 2-T-2 affairs, has been named a district deputy governor.

George Spence, Yaleta, governor elect, announced the appointment and Smith's acceptance at the club meeting here Wednesday. Among the clubs with which Smith will work directly in region No. 3 (which includes zones No. 5 and No. 6) are Odessa, Midland, Terminal, Seminole, Andrews, Seagraves, Stanton, Big Spring, Colorado City, Lorraine and Snyder.

Smith's official connection with the district dates back to the tenure of Schley Riley, Big Spring, as district governor. He was secretary in Riley's cabinet. Spence said that his cabinet would hold the first of four meetings slated for the year early in July. He said he was impressed by Smith when he changed the Yaleta club slogan "Let George Do It" to "Let's Help George Do It."

Les Kornfeld accepted appointment as the Lions Club representative on the U.S.O. council.

Lloyd Wooten, assistant manager of the Chamber of Commerce, appealed to Lions to assist in the placing of tickets for Big Spring's party for servicemen and their families on June 26.

RHEE TELLS TRUMAN

Korean Politics Is Exaggerated

By STAN CARTER
 PUSAN, Korea (U) — President Truman today told President Rhee that the South Korean political situation had been exaggerated and that he would dissolve the National Assembly only as a last resort, a reliable source said.

Mr. Truman had written Rhee that he was "shocked" at the turn of political events in this provisional South Korean capital. He cautioned Rhee not to take any "irreversible steps," such as dissolving the Assembly.

Britain and Australia also sent similar messages to the aging Korean political leader.

The source said Rhee told Truman the situation here was not as serious as the U.S. Chief Executive thought.

Truman gets his reports from the State Department, which gets them from the U.S. Embassy in Pusan.

The head of the Embassy, U.S. Ambassador John J. Muccio, reached Tokyo today enroute back to Pusan from a shortened vacation in the U.S.

He told newsmen he believed opposing factions in the South Korean government "will get together and straighten this thing out."

These recent developments, in a flareup of the long feud involving Rhee and his supporters on one hand and a majority of Assemblymen, have aroused the concern of South Korea's Allies:

1. Rhee's declaration of martial law in three southern provinces, including Pusan.
2. His refusal to lift army rule even though requested by United Nations representatives in Korea and the Assembly.
3. Arrest of 12 Assemblymen, one on a murder charge, and 11 for questioning in connection with reported Communist bribes.

4. A collapse of the Assembly for a lack of a quorum.

5. Reports that Rhee was planning to dissolve the Assembly.

Rhee has softened his attitude toward political foes in the past two days.

A reliable source said it was not because of Mr. Truman's notes, however.

The source said Rhee had agreed Tuesday to try settling the political difficulties through compromise—before he read Mr. Truman's notes.

The compromise would give Rhee his demand for direct popular election of the President and a two-house legislature. The one house Assembly now elects the President. An election is due soon. The Assembly would control cabinet appointments.

Five Still At Large After Escapes From State Boys School

GATESVILLE, June 5 (U)—Officials at the State School for Boys kept a sharp lookout today and hoped a seige of escapees from the school was at an end.

Within the past week there have been a total of 17 runaways from the school. Late last night five of the youths were still at large.

Four school vehicles have been stolen in recent escape attempts.

In the latest escape two boys—Prentice Benton, 17, Dallas, and Willie Upshaw, 16, Houston Negro—got away yesterday in a school pickup truck.

Ike Too Busy Shaking Hands To Take Drink

By LARRY HALL
 ABILENE, Kan. (U) — A retired general, transformed into a candidate for presidential nomination, turned on his charm at a typical Midwestern social affair last night—a crowded cocktail party.

The only strange thing about it was that Dwight D. Eisenhower, greeting old and new friends, neglected to have a cocktail. He got busy shaking hands and talking and even forgot to finish his cup of coffee.

He was the number one attraction at an informal party given at the home of Otis B. Landes, Abilene farm implement man, and Dane Hansen, Logan, Kan., contractor. Hansen said everyone who liked Ike was welcome.

He couldn't estimate the crowd. It must have been in the neighborhood of 300 or 400.

Eisenhower, relaxed and smiling in a seersucker suit, met them all in a reception line where he was introduced by Sen. Frank Carlson (R-Kan.), one of the general's chief backers for the Republican Presidential nomination.

A little girl came along the line. "Hi," she said bashfully as she asked for an autograph. She got the autograph and a big grin, too.

Political complications popped up.

Along came Harry Craig, introduced as the Arkansas national convention delegate who has been chosen for a place on the important credentials committee.

"A V.I.P." (very important person) someone suggested.

"Not only that, he's a V.I.P.I., Eisenhower quipped. "Very important person indeed."

And so it went. Eisenhower had something special to say to almost all of the visitors. They loved it.

He was there for a busy, smiling hour. He was home attending a neighborhood party.

Mamie Stays Close, But Ike Spotlited

By ED L. CAMPBELL
 ABILENE, Kan. (U) — Mamie watched her Ike come home and got a wonderful kick out of it—in a quiet sort of way.

Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, wife of the man a lot of Republicans want to make their party's candidate for President against the Democrats next fall, kept close to her famous husband every step of the way. From the time he arrived in this rain-drenched Central Kansas town yesterday until they retired last night to their hotel suite she was with him.

If she had a single word to say, no one heard it except the person to whom it was addressed.

Mamie, with her cute inward curled bangs, stayed just a half-pace or more behind Gen. Eisenhower all the way. After all, it isn't her hometown. Like only an understanding wife would, she let the spotlight bear down on husband Ike.

The big homecoming schedule took no account of women's needs. It was strictly a man-made thing and Mamie hardly had time to powder her nose between public appearances.

Because of that, she wore the same costume all the way: a steel blue grey silk shantung dress, semi-full skirted, with a wide-softly draped collar. Atop those world-famous bangs perched a chic white pillbox straw with a soft veil. She stepped gracefully over the mud puddles in a pair of white linen shoes.

Her only adornments were pearl drop earrings and a corsage of two white orchids.

During Ike's appearance at Eisenhower Park where he delivered the speech that launched him full tilt into the political wars, Mamie wore a red gabardine rain-resistant top coat.

39 Local Postal Employees Facing Money-Less Pay Day

Thirty-nine employees of the Big Spring post office are concerned to the tune of $7,000 by the "stop the pay" order that was received last Saturday, according to Assistant Postmaster Elmer C. Boaler.

They are a part of the 400,000 postal workers throughout the United States who faced a money-less pay day when the Department discovered it had run out of money and ordered checks held up for all work done after May 15.

The difficulty stems from the fact that Congress not so long ago gave postal workers a cost-of-living wage increase, but didn't appropriate any money to pay it. This increase has been paid, however, from funds budgeted for the regular payroll, which would otherwise have been sufficient to cover salaries through June 30.

The House has tried emergency legislation to provide sufficient funds from one angle, and the Senate has tried from another angle.

Since the House and Senate aren't in absolute agreement and haven't passed identical bills, a compromise must be worked out, and as soon as it is and the President signs it, the ghost will be walking again.

"It isn't worrying us so much," one of the Big Spring postal workers said, "but our creditors may be considerably concerned. However, we'll get to them as soon as Uncle Sam gets to us."

Gen. Grow Due To Be Tried By Court Martial

WASHINGTON, June 5 (U)—Maj. Gen. Robert W. Grow, whose diary was stolen by Russian agents while he was visiting in Germany, will be tried by court martial, the Army announced today.

Grow was a military attaché at the American embassy at Moscow. The announcement said that the Army had completed the investigation of the charges preferred against Grow and that trial by court martial is warranted.

The Russians made propaganda use of the diary, publishing excerpts in which Grow was depicted as advocating war now against Russia.

The trial will be held at Fort Meade, Md., with the sessions closed to the public. The date for the trial was not announced.

On April 28 the Army announced that it was investigating charges against Grow which included:

1. Improperly reporting classified military information in private records.
2. Failing properly to safeguard classified military information.

In March of 1951 Grow was in Frankfurt, Germany, for a medical checkup. The Army has said that someone believed to be a Soviet spy slipped into his room there and photographed portions of the diary.

The published excerpts attributed such quotations to Grow as: "War! As soon as possible now!" "Our attack should be directed at enemy weakness. Although the military services are primarily concerned with military weapons and methods, we must understand that this war is total war and is fought with all weapons."

"We must learn that in this war it is fair to hit below the belt."

Since the Grow incident, the Army has forbidden all of its personnel overseas to keep diaries or personal records involving military matters.

Taft Supporters Don't Think Much Of Eisenhower's Speech

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
WASHINGTON (AP)—Politicians who cheered or jeered Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's springboard speech into the Republican presidential race searched today for clues as to just how he stands on such issues as steel seizure, civil rights and farm price supports.

Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio had nothing to say of the address in which his chief rival for the GOP nomination finally kicked off a campaign for the presidency at homecoming ceremonies in Abilene, Kan. last night.

Taft has agreed to answer questions at a luncheon speaking date today in Buckingham, W.Va. He may take this opportunity to comment on what Eisenhower had to say.

Eisenhower said the four big threats on the home front are disunity, excessive taxation, inflation and bureaucracy—the concentration of power in the federal government. He hit at mystery in foreign policy, the menace of Communism abroad and the length of time the Democratic party has been in power.

Pro-Taft Republicans agreed with the general's analysis that: "Political health is endangered if one party, by whatever means becomes permanently or too-long entrenched in power. The all-too-inevitable consequence is graft and incompetence in remote and even in prominent places of government."

Howard County's fifth case of polio for 1952 was diagnosed Wednesday.

Sen. Wiley of Wisconsin was "glad to note the general agrees with all good Republicans as to what is needed." He interpreted the address as a "good omen of better times to come and of victory, particularly."

Sen. Ferguson of Michigan was "glad that he recognizes there should be a cleaning up."

Sen. Ives of New York, an Eisenhower supporter, regarded the address as an analytical presentation, along general lines, of critical present-day problems.

Another Eisenhower man, Rep. Hugh D. Scott Jr. of Pennsylvania, praised what he called "a fighting, middle of the road speech that is evidence that the people will not have to guess where he stands."

Sen. Ferguson of Michigan was "glad that he recognizes there should be a cleaning up."

Sen. Ives of New York, an Eisenhower supporter, regarded the address as an analytical presentation, along general lines, of critical present-day problems.

BETTER STICK TO THE FIRES

LONG BEACH, Calif., June 5 (AP)—Fireman Robert P. Perkins, 40, has come through a lot of dangerous experiences unscathed. But he's in the hospital today.

Seems his doubles partner, Fireman James Gimpee, was a little too energetic in a between-alarms game of ping pong at the firehouse.

Gimpee missed a backhand smash, and connected with Perkins' head. The fire department ambulance took Perkins to the hospital, for two stitches.

Four Cicero Aides Convicted Under Civil Rights Statute

CHICAGO (AP)—The police chief, the village attorney and two policemen and the village attorney were returned in connection with the rioting which occurred when a Negro attempted to move his family into a 20-apartment building in the community of 70,000.

The officials were tried before a Federal Civil Rights Statute. The indictments were returned in connection with the rioting which occurred when a Negro attempted to move his family into a 20-apartment building in the community of 70,000.

The two policemen, Sgt. Roland Bram and Frank A. Lange, were convicted of violating the statute. They face a possible maximum punishment of one year in prison and $1,000 fine each.

New Officers Of Legion Take Over At Meet Tonight

Big Spring Legionnaires begin a new year tonight.

The first regular business meeting since new officers were installed by Post No. 355 has been scheduled for 8 p. m. in Room No. 1 of the Settles Hotel.

Three days of rioting, with crowds of enraged citizens ended on July 12 when five companies of National Guardsmen were sent to the scene.

Nearly a score of persons were hurt and more than 100 others were arrested during the disturbances. The Negro's apartment was set afire and some of his furniture destroyed.

The defendants had been accused of depriving Harvey E. Clark Jr., 29-year-old Negro bus driver, of his civil rights by failing to keep crowds from interfering with his efforts to move into the apartment he had rented.

A third policeman, Frank Janacek, was acquitted on a charge of violating the Civil Rights Statute. Two Cicero town officials, President Henry J. Sandusky and Fire

Fifth Polio Case Is Noted; Care Urged

Howard County's fifth case of polio for 1952 was diagnosed Wednesday.

Latest person to contract the disease is Avelle Wrighsil, 4, daughter of Mrs. Geraldine Wrighsil, 1105 N.W. 8th. With paralysis in the lower extremities and facial paralysis, the youngster is receiving treatment in a local hospital.

The county's newest case of polio apparently was contracted within two blocks of an infection which developed two weeks ago, officials of the Big Spring-Howard County Health Unit said.

Wednesday diagnosis was appeals from health officials for extra sanitation measures.

Dr. Charles A. Pigford, new unit director who made his first visit to Big Spring Wednesday afternoon, advised a continuing program for improving sanitation.

"Authorities are all agreed that the fight against polio must include a continuous campaign to improve sanitary conditions," he pointed out.

Sentence Affirmed In Case Of Cunningham

A five-year sentence for burglary assessed in 118th District Court here against Leonard Lee Cunningham was affirmed Wednesday by the Court of Criminal Appeals in Austin.

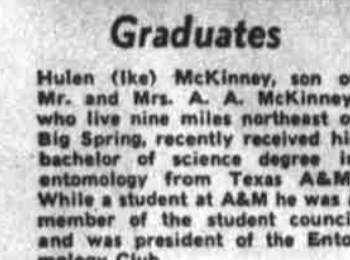

Cunningham was sentenced following a plea of guilty, but later decided to appeal his case. He pleaded guilty to the burglary of Byron's Transfer and Storage warehouse, which occurred Nov. 22, 1951.

Cunningham had two other cases up on appeal from Midland County. One of these was affirmed while the other was reversed and prosecution ordered dismissed.

Record Attendance At Well-Child Meet

The Big Spring-Howard County Health Unit had record attendance at its semi-monthly Well-Child Conference conducted Wednesday.

Twenty-two mothers and their children participated in the conference, part of a program designed to "keep well children well," Nurse Jewel Barton reported.

Graduates

Hulen (Ike) McKinney, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. McKinney, who live nine miles northeast of Big Spring, recently received his bachelor of science degree in entomology from Texas A&M.

Assisting Miss Barton with the clinic was Dr. M. W. Talbot, local pediatrician, and Dr. Charles A. Pigford, unit director. The conferences are held each first and third Wednesday at 1 p. m.

Indict Corpus Mayor On Bribery Charges

CORPUS CHRISTI, June 5 (AP)—The mayor of Corpus Christi was under $10,000 bond today on charges of accepting bribes to permit gambling and rig a city oil and gas lease.

Leslie Wasserman was indicted yesterday by a Nueces County Grand Jury which has been in session for seven weeks.

Four other men were charged with bribing Mayor Wasserman and a fifth was charged with trying to do so.

They are: L. K. Mason and Morris Liedeker, businessmen, charged with giving the mayor a $10,000 gambling payoff.

Barney Cott, former councilman now of Hye, N. Y., accused of giving a $10,000 gambling bribe.

A. W. Gregg, Houston, who holds an oil and gas lease on city lands near Mathis.

Sam Sasser, Corpus Christi, who is charged with trying to bribe the mayor to use his influence in behalf of Gregg.

Gregg was accused of signing a $20,000 promissory note for the mayor and with paying a $10,000 debt the mayor owed to one E. G. Lyon.

The grand jury also accused B. T. Parr and Buford Nicholson, businessmen, with threatening architect Richard Coll with loss of a city contract and inducing him to pay them 2 per cent, or $24,000, from fees paid him by the city.

Sasser, Parr and Nicholson each posted $10,000 bonds, the same as those set for Cott, Gregg and Mason.

District Judge Cullen W. Briggs, who last week signed permission for Cott to return to his New York home, ordered him to return without delay. The judge quoted Cott's attorney, B. D. Tarleton, as saying he would "get him back here in-

Few Meat Costs Down This Week As Eggs Go Up

By The Associated Press
Retail prices for chicken, beef rib roasts, chuck pot roasts and stewing beef were a little lower in many stores this week.

Legs of lamb advanced irregularly but the uptrend generally did not affect other lamb cuts. Most pork and veal items were unchanged. Large eggs rose 2 to 6 cents a dozen in scattered sections where production began to taper off seasonally, but this uptrend was not yet widespread.

Several fresh fruits and vegetables were offered in a wide range of quality, condition and price, affected by erratic weather in growing areas. Tomatoes, lettuce, corn, asparagus, strawberries and mushrooms were in this category. Lower in most places were artichokes, snap beans, beets, carrots, cauliflower, parsley, cherries and grapefruit.

Potatoes were still hard to find in volume shipments from the Carolinas were reported beginning and small supplies from California and a few other sections trickled steadily into city markets. The situation should ease considerably within the next three weeks, Agriculture Department reports said.

The Agriculture Department stressed canned and frozen orange and grapefruit products and strawberries as most plentiful foods for thrifty buying this week. Week-end specials of some of the larger store chains and independent markets included beef rib roasts and chuck roasts, broiler and fryer chickens, smoke hams, cold cuts, several varieties of fresh or frozen fish, eggs, cheddar cheese, fresh corn, lettuce, beets, carrots, tomatoes and oranges.

Grain Trial Verdict Due At Lubbock

LUBBOCK, June 5 (AP)—A jury verdict in the grain shortage trial of O. L. Shannon, 48, of Sudan is expected to be delivered today.

Testimony in the case, in which Shannon is charged by the government with conversion of government-stored grain for his own use, ended yesterday with the grain man's attorney describing his client as "an old farm boy who got caught with a lot of rotten grain on his hands."

James O. Cade, the attorney, said the defendant did not have any willful intent to steal grain and could not be judged guilty unless intent was proved.

"Whether it was his grain or not, he thought it was," the attorney said. "You cannot find him guilty just because he was short or converted the grain," he told a U. S. District Court jury.

The government charges that Shannon's feed and grain company was 30 million pounds short when an audit was taken last August. Shannon had testified he shipped some grain to the Commodity Credit Corporation, but it was rejected as unfit. He then sold the consignment, the grain man said.

"He was stealing the grain and taking the money and putting it in his pocket," U. S. District Attorney Cavett Binion said in his closing arguments yesterday.

Vietminh Stepping Up Terror Drive Against Priests

HANOI, Indochina (AP)—The Communist-led Vietminh seems to be stepping up a campaign of terror against Catholic priests in villages of the French-held Red River Delta and in territory the Reds themselves occupy.

Open fighting has been reported between the Rebels and Catholics backing their priests in the Vietminh-held town of Thanh Hoa, 90 miles south of Hanoi.

In the region of French-held Phat Diem, 74 miles southeast of Hanoi on the Gulf of Tonkin, Vietminh regular troops, regional battalions and guerrilla units constantly are harassing French-Vietnamese posts. Phat Diem is a bishopric with 600,000 Catholics.

In many sections of the western and southern zones of the Red River Delta, Vietminh detachments frequently raid villages and carry off community leaders and priests, seizing rice supplies and leaving behind dead and wounded.

Verified reports to French army headquarters in Hanoi show the Vietminh kidnaped 14 village chiefs or leaders and three priests between May 4 and May 26.

Dismiss Charges On Man Who Confessed From Church Pulpit

HOLTON, Kans. (AP)—Bank robbery charges have been dismissed against Albert Johnson, 23, who stood in the pulpit of a Topeka, Kan., church May 4 and confessed participation in a holdup.

The $835 robbery of the bank at Hoyt, Kan., occurred four years ago. District Judge Robert H. Kaul dismissed the charges against Johnson under a Kansas law requiring prosecution within two years of an offense.

At the time of his public confession, Johnson said he had been directed by God to give himself up so he could "warn younger kids to avoid the fate that befell me." He expressed a desire to become a minister.

Harry Springs Surprise; To Visit McGrath's Farm

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman's surprise acceptance of an invitation to weekend in New England with J. Howard McGrath, the attorney general he ousted two months ago, stirred political speculation today.

So did his agreement to talk over the party outlook this afternoon with Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, a leading contender for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The President's weekly news conference offered reporters an opportunity to try to draw him out on both developments.

McGrath got the ax April 3, less than four hours after he summarily fired Newbold Morris as government corruption investigator.

McGrath has seen Truman a number of times since. Still reporters got a jolt late yesterday when the White House announced the President would spend the June 14-15 weekend at McGrath's farm at Narragansett, R.I.

It indicated that both men were willing to let bygones be bygones. McGrath was at the White House earlier in the day, talking to members of the President's staff apparently completing arrangements for the trip.

The White House said Truman will be accompanied to the farm only by members of his staff. And McGrath said there was no political significance whatever to a weekend get-together of old friends.

Truman's acceptance of the invitation, however, recalled the swift developments of April 3. McGrath dismissed Morris after differences over a Morris questionnaire calling upon McGrath and other government officials to disclose confidential financial affairs.

Oppose Lubbock Plan To Drill For Water In Bailey County

PORTALES, N. M., June 5 (AP)—Residents of Muleshoe, Tex., want the Roosevelt County Chamber of Commerce to join them in opposing a plan by Lubbock, Tex., to drill 125 water wells in Bailey County, Tex.

Muleshoe representatives met with chamber officials Tuesday night.

The Muleshoe delegation said the Lubbock plans would injure underground water supplies for both Portales and Muleshoe. They said Lubbock proposes to drill one water well per section on 80,000 acres in Bailey County, with a draw of 645,000 gallons daily.

Then Truman announced McGrath's departure from the Cabinet.

McGrath called his sudden replacement by James P. McGranery a "penalty" he gladly accepted for standing up for a principle.

The Boston Globe said in a Washington dispatch that the President "has commented to friends he has felt badly about the abrupt treatment given McGrath" and wrote a letter in longhand to express his feelings. Announcement of Truman's acceptance of the week-end invitation, the dispatch said, means the President "wants all the world to know that he has never ceased to be friends with McGrath."

McGrath has told friends there never was a break in the Truman-McGrath personal friendship. And he has said that his departure from the Cabinet was inevitable as the result of the controversy with Morris, whom he brought to Washington, and congressional investigations into government scandals.

Truman will leave Washington by train the night of June 13 for New London, Conn. He will speak there Saturday, June 14, at keel-laying ceremonies for the first atomic-powered submarine, the Nautilus. Afterwards, he will go by train to Kingston, R.I., and motor from there to McGrath's farm. Truman will leave Sunday night for Washington.

Meanwhile, Kefauver, fresh from new victories in the Democratic presidential primaries in California and South Dakota, disclosed—and the White House confirmed—that he will call on the President this afternoon at his own request.

Kefauver said he wants to tell Truman what he has learned in his campaign travels around the country.

The President will fly to Springfield, Mo., Friday to attend the annual reunion of the 35th Division, with which he served in World War I. He will climax his Missouri visit with a speech Saturday in the Shrine Mosque at Springfield and fly back to Washington Saturday afternoon.

Congress Finds Itself On Hook In The Place Of Harry S. Truman

The Supreme Court decision took Harry Truman out of the hook and firmly impaled in his place the Congress of the United States. Some congressmen, with a re-election campaign on their hands, woke up to that fact as soon as the decision was announced. They had been denouncing the steel plant seizure as illegal and dictatorial, and they should be happy that the Supreme Court has upheld their views; but their happiness is now dampened by the thought that the monkey is squarely on Congress' back.

Truman And Governor Dever Map Plans For Demo Keynote Speech

WASHINGTON. — The extent to which President Truman is directing back-stage operations for the Democratic National Convention can be gathered from a recent Sunday-morning conference with Gov. Paul Dever of Massachusetts and Frank McKinney, chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

Governor Dever is to be Democratic keynote speaker, and the three men discussed the contents of his speech at some length, almost down to the commas and the semicolons. At one point the President even asked Dever whether he planned to read his speech.

"No, Mr. President," replied the Massachusetts governor, "I just can't read a speech. I fumble and stumble too much. I'll have a few notes, but I'll know what I want to say."

There was agreement that the speech must include a strong position on civil rights, and should review Democratic achievements during the last 20 years with a warm tribute to the Truman-Acheson foreign policy.

His political enemies will probably make something of the fact that the first political speech Dwight Eisenhower ever made in his life was at Abilene, Kans., in 1909 as a Democrat, and the second political speech of his life was also at Abilene in 1952 as a Republican.

World Today-James Marlow

Ike Was Kind Of Mild In His Cracks About The Long Years Of Dem Rule

WASHINGTON. — Gen. Eisenhower in his first political speech did exactly what a Republican candidate for President could be expected to do: he took some cracks at the Democrats.

Opposition and the fewer enemies should be eliminated. 3. Bureaucracy. He promised economy in the government itself and warned against too much government interference in local affairs.

4. Disunity. He was particularly vague in this field, saying, among other things, that "we must, as a people, hold fast to our faith and ideals, which are fundamental to the free system."

Nobody, Democrat or Republican, can get mad at him for those four themes.

This Day In Texas

By CURTIS BISHOP. Hundreds of Texans and out-of-staters gathered at Galveston on this day in 1948 to celebrate the 75th anniversary of the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe Railroad.

At a banquet marking the occasion Dr. Chauncey Leake, dean of the University of Texas Medical Branch, made the statement that the railroad was born "with Galveston as the mother and yellow fever as the father."

"A leader of a political party who is a clean and fearless fighter," concluded young Eisenhower, "and possesses a winning manner is undoubtedly the means of attracting a large number of votes. The young man sees that the more honest and fearless leaders have become disgusted with the actions of the leaders and the party proper. He admires these men greatly but he cannot help but think and remark that they are fighting for many of the same principles which the Democratic party advocated."

Bartender Doesn't Want Dog To Be A Child Star

NEW YORK, June 5. — How much real democracy is there among dog lovers? Quite a bit, according to bartender Bill O'Brien, who forked over $50 to a customer for a puppy that looked like a four-legged gray mop and has turned out to be a blue ribbon show dog.

O'Brien is night maestro at Moriarty's Midtown Bar and Grill, an establishment two doors from Toot Shor's that has become a rendezvous for newspapermen, dancers, singers, actors, and musicians.

One of his customers was Pat Hanrahan, an NBC electrician who often brought in one or two of the Schnauzer dogs he raises as a sideline.

Vice-Presidency Is Vital Post; We Ought To Pick Him With Care

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald—Editor's Note.

If it hadn't been for the somewhat jolly and often playboy-like antics of Vice President Alben Barkley, I doubt very much whether many Americans would know the name of their second in command in the nation's executive hierarchy.

And, yet, whether we realize it or not, the second in command must assume a responsible position in the affairs of this country. Furthermore, since the Presidency today is a back-breaking job, it is essential that our vice president be a person who could handle the reins of Chief Executive without taking bricks for being uninformed—should he succeed the presidency.

In other words, we should now pay some attention to assure that when we do elect our President, his partner on the party ticket is just as good a man as the President. Primarily, the "veep's" job is presiding officer of the U.S. Senate. This is a post that requires little strain and because it restricts the veep's activities in debates and voting, it tends to push the vice president into the role of a non-descript.

Though we could hardly expect that the losing candidate for President be awarded the vice presidency, that might not be such a bad idea. It would, in any event, assuming both parties pick their best men to run for the presidency, assure the two top men (so to speak) at the helm of our ship of state.

We must, unfortunately, discard this idea because of the failure of both parties to adequately agree on anything but how to disagree.

Therefore, the only alternative we have is to be doubly certain, we select our vice-presidential candidate with care. In these times, when Presidents are overworked, chances are greater that he might not be around at the finish of his term and, since the "veep" must take over, we ought to have a good man as our next President by inheritance.

Americans disregard vice presidents and if you don't think so, stop and think of how many vice presidents you can recollect as having served the nation. Chances are you'll recall John N. Garner, Henry Wallace and Harry Truman. Beyond that, you won't get very far, I suspect, and I wonder how many of you even thought of the above mentioned trio.

It is therefore highly essential, as we ponder our Presidential preferences, to give thought to the vice-presidential possibilities and to work for their nomination or election. It is a shame, you know, that Presidential candidates, and vice-presidential candidates as well, are selected largely on a geographical basis—from states where vital electoral votes are needed.

The situation can be corrected somewhat if we take a little more time, think about who is the best man, and then do likewise when we pick the "veeps" as well since they, too, are selected on the geographical theory.

—FRED GREENE.

Brookings Secret Out Soon—How Many U. S. Share Owners

Lewis H. Kimmel, research economist at Brookings Institution, has a secret. He has just completed a study of stockholders—how many people have a direct investment stake in American business. It's to be released in a book toward the end of the month.

Perhaps Kimmel will put in perspective a statement just made by the National City Bank of New York in its monthly bank letter: "It might surprise many people, who have heard it said repeatedly that American industry is controlled by a 'privileged few,' to learn that 52 of the largest industrial corporations have more shareholders than employees."

National City makes it seem as if investors were a numerically powerful force in American society. And, if that's true, the 1948 Presidential election was a surprise indeed. This powerful group apparently did not vote its own economic interest. That's why Kimmel's secret—when it comes out—will be important. It could put in place extreme viewpoints on American stock ownership.

Labor unions tend to underestimate the number of shareholders. A few rich persons own stocks. What happens to their profits and dividends isn't important so long as wages and the standard of living rise. Yet, many workers are shareholders in companies like American Telephone & Telegraph, Sears, Roebuck, and Scott Paper, which have systematic plans for employee purchases.

Wall Street estimates the number of shareholders at not less than 15,000,000 and often as high as 20,000,000. Other estimates have been as low as 6,000,000. That's why G. Keith Funston, new president of the New York Stock Exchange, has collaborated with the Brookings Institution on a stockholder census, so as to provide a reliable statistic on U.S. shareholders.

Governor Gets A Title As 'Chief'

ST. PAUL. — Gov. C. Elmer Anderson has received a colorful Indian head-dress and peace pipe to go with his title of "Chief Horn Cloud."

Use Their Tails For Balancing

If Lemurs could speak to us, perhaps some of them would boast about their tails. Other lemurs are without tails, or have tails so short that they hardly count.

The ruffed lemur is one of those which might do a bit of boasting. It has a long, dark, bushy tail. If we study a ruffed lemur, we see white rings around its big eyes. The rings are set off by black fur. There is a wide ruff of white fur around the animal's neck.

FHA Group Meetings Are Organized

Summer group meetings have recently been organized by members of the Future Homemakers of America of Big Spring. There are four groups and different activities have been planned for each. One group is learning ceramics, another individual sewing, another planning the 1952-53 yearbook and the remaining group is planning FHA Week.

The Waltz

Ladies Aid Makes Plans For Program At End Of School

Plans for the Vacation Bible School closing exercises were made when the Concordia Ladies Aid of St. Paul's Lutheran Church met Wednesday.

The program will be presented June 13 at 8 p.m. at the church. The Rev. Ad H. Hoyer, pastor, led the opening prayer and read the scripture.

Mrs. M. W. Rupp discussed the topic "How Jesus Dealt with Individuals."

It was announced that a fellowship dinner will be held June 15 at 12 noon in the educational building of the church honoring servicemen and visitors. Eleven attended.

Lucy Belle Circle Hears Mrs. Avery

Mrs. M. L. Avery conducted the study on the eighth chapter of "Women of Destiny" when the Lucy Belle Circle of the East Fourth Baptist Church met recently at the church.

Mrs. M. L. Kirby was hostess, Mrs. John E. Brown led the opening prayer. Refreshments were served to seven.

Entertaining their mothers at a luncheon, painting the cabinets in the department at school and supervising an orientation program for the children who will enter the first grade in the fall are the projects that have been chosen by the Homemaking I group.

The Homemaking I girls have chosen for their projects leathercraft, planning, conducting the July FHA meeting and making place mats for the home economics department.

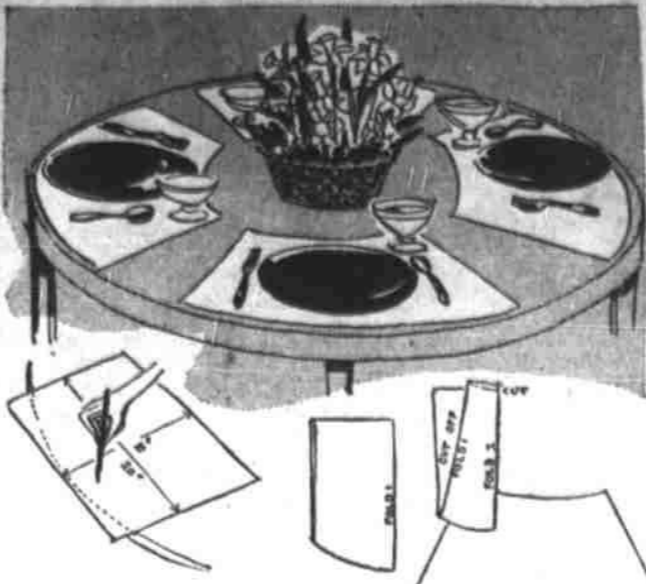

The girls are Sue Jones, Ann Green, Mary Ann Fairchild, Nan Holladay, Nancy Story and Yvonne Pike.

Place Mats Should Fit Curves Of Round Table

The usual place mat doesn't fit a round table, and now that round dining tables grow more popular, many questions are asked about what shape mats should be. Mrs. F. P. M. writes that she makes hers and so far has only round ones, but asks if the mats can't be some other shape.

This step makes sure the lower edge of the mat fits the curve of the table. Fold the pattern in the center vertically. Fold it again. The sides of the pattern will not match the edges of the folds. Cut off the edges to match the folds and this will guide tapering the sides of the mats.

Homemaking Program Is Off To Good Start At Forsan

The summer homemaking program at Forsan is off to a good start. Sixteen girls are participating in a variety of events. The students are divided into three groups for their activities and each group has three things to do.

The Homemaking I girls have chosen for their projects leathercraft, planning, conducting the July FHA meeting and making place mats for the home economics department.

Slumber Party Fetes Members Of FHA Wednesday

The Big Spring Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America began their summer program with a slumber party Wednesday evening after prayer meeting.

The girls met in the new home economics department and served dinner at 10 p.m. Special guests were Supt. and Mrs. W. C. Blankenship, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Worley and Mr. and Mrs. Pat Murphy.

The dinner was the first one the girls had prepared and served in the new dining room.

After the evening meal, games were played, ghost stories narrated and many refreshments served during the remainder of the evening.

Baptist Work Is Discussion Topic At WMS Meeting

"Southern Baptist Work in Alaska" was discussion topic when the members of the Hillcrest Baptist WMS met at the church Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Clarence Hinkbe presided at the meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. Virgil James.

Others on the program were Mrs. Don Duke, Mrs. D. W. Overman and Mrs. Viola Grantham.

During the business session, reports were given and plans were made to buy manuals for the Royal Ambassadors and Girls' Auxiliary. Report slips were filled out and the standard of excellence was checked.

Two Are Initiated Into Rebekah Lodge

Formal initiation services for Tiny and Ruth Walton were held when the Big Spring Rebekah Lodge met Tuesday evening at the IOOF Hall.

Irene Gross was named noble grand and Judy Kehrer, vice grand, during the business session.

Attending were 61 members and one guest, W. B. Abernathy, of Monahan.

Edna Gaskins Is Honored At Shower In Bruton Home

Edna Merie Gaskins, bride-elect of Phil Grozier, was honored recently at a tea in the home of Mrs. H. D. Bruton.

Co-hostesses were Mrs. W. L. Clayton, Mrs. T. J. Walker, Mrs. Neal Bryant, Mrs. San Wells, Mrs. R. I. Findley, Mrs. Ben Jernigan, Mrs. Roy Spivey, Mrs. Ervin Edgington, Mrs. Willie McDaniels, Billie Webb and Fern Bedell.

Olga Pardue Is New Rebekah Member

Olga Pardue of the Knott Lodge was received as a new member when the John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge 153 met Tuesday evening.

Plans were made to have a program commemorating Memorial Day June 10.

Mary Cobb was elected noble grand and Otha Faye Nevins, vice grand, in other business.

Twenty-six attended.

In the receiving line were Mrs. Bruton, the honoree and her mother, Mrs. Milton Gaskins.

The bride-elect was attired in a black and white salina dress with a corsage of white carnations.

The refreshment table was laid with a lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of orchid and white stock. Mrs. Clayton poured and Mrs. Spivey served cake.

Mrs. Bryant presided at the guest book. Displaying the gifts were Mrs. Walker, Mrs. Edgington, Mrs. McDaniels, Miss Webb and Miss Bedell, about 90 called.

Farrar School To Present Dance Review

Students of the Farrar School will present their annual dance review "Stars of Tomorrow" tonight at 8 in the City Auditorium.

"On the Good Ship Lollipop" is the theme of the candyland scene. Included in the Bon-Bons are Sharon Tally, Nancy Hedeston, Frankie Cherry, Cece Hendricks and Shirley June Underwood.

The Licorice Sticks will be Linda McNew, Nancy Marshall, Mollie Groebel, Katie Bess Morgan, Dona Percy, Meg Jackson, Lynn Wood, Ann Puckett and Susan Stephens.

Chocolate Soldiers will consist of Bobby Settles, Joe McNamara, Jody Thompson, Carl Reynolds, Larry Jones and Kenny Chrane.

The Sugar Dolly group will include Vickie Coter, Margie Newman, Susan Wackwitz, Victoria Wackwitz, Linda Metcalf, Cece McNamara, Stephanie Clark, Madeline Mears, Sharon Metcalf, Madeline Prager, Nancy Dunn, Julia Asbury and Nancy Thomas.

Members of the Cracker Jack Band will be Mike Steward, Benny Benson, Don Coker, Tim Jolly, Dee Mears, Lloyd Curley, Bill

Long, Johnny Knapp, Roger Melten, Ray Werkmeister and Lea Settle.

The Raspberry Whirls will be Delinda Bradford, Margaret Lang, Cheryl Wilbanks, Jan Anderson, Marsha Stark, Marie Werkmeister, Molly Heffner and Mary Elizabeth Clay.

Among the other numbers on the program will be toe solos by Susan Landers and Diane Baker and tap solo by Linda McNew and Kathy Johnson.

Those in the "Happy Feet" tap routine will be Winnifred Greenlee, Camille Heffley, Kay Chadd, Catherine Greenlee and Mary Lane Edwards.

Doing the waltz from the ballet, "Coppelia" will be Cleo Rita Thomas, Kathleen Thomas, Kathy Johnson, Diane Baker, Susan Zack, Susan Landers and Linda Woodall.

Also scheduled are tap and ballet numbers by Sharon Starr, Suzy Lamb, Michele Brown, Mary Ellen Long, Wanda Wardell, Ray Ann Werkmeister and Judy Carson.

Kathleen Thomas will conclude the program with a novelty number, "Life Upon the Wicked Stage."

Variety Is Keynote For Vacations For Teachers

GARDEN CITY, (Sp)—Garden City teachers are spending their vacations in various ways and places. Supt. J. F. Jones says that he

A. H. Sel, grade school principal will be at Sul Ross this summer working toward his Masters Degree. Also at Sul Ross will be degree. Also at Sul Ross will be degree. Also at Sul Ross will be degree.

Mrs. Rube Ricker and daughter, Darja, went to Lexington, Va., as soon as school was out for a short visit with her son, Prince, who attends VMI. They will spend the rest of the summer at Anna while Mrs. Ricker is enrolled at North Texas State College, Denton. She is to receive her degree in Library Science this summer.

Audna Neely left the Monday after school closed with her uncle, J. A. Bigby, and her cousin, Bruce Hanson, for a tour of points of interest in South Dakota and Montana. They are to spend several days at Miles City, Mont. They plan to return in ten days or two weeks. When Miss Neely returns she and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Neely will leave for Rochester, Minn., where Mr. Neely will go through the Mayo Clinic for an examination.

Targe Lindsay will be working for the Couden Pipe Line Company at Forsan this summer.

Both Doris Jean Morehead and M. A. Barber will be working with the FHA and FFA groups during most of the summer. Mr. Barber said he and his wife and little daughter would take a short trip during the times for the area and the State FFA meeting.

Mrs. Gladys Venable will spend most of her summer at home with possibly a short trip to the coast for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dodd left May 25 for New York where he hopes to market some of his songs. They will mix business and sight-seeing.

Further Crackdown On Gamblers By US

By CHARLES MOLONY
 WASHINGTON (AP)—The government means to make it easier for its tax collectors to convict gamblers who evade paying the $50-year occupational tax Congress imposed on them last fall.

To do it, the Internal Revenue Bureau started steps today to require numbers operators, book-makers and other bet-takers to pay the tax before they start operating.

Now, they're required only to pay their occupational tax by the end of the month that they start in the gambling business. And it's hard sometimes to prove they've been operating long enough to be over due on their tax payment.

"It seems they're always just started operating," an official told a reporter. "Our agents caught a man in Pennsylvania the other day with a desk loaded with numbers game tickets. He told them: 'I just started an hour ago—that's my story and I'm sticking to it.'"

Changing a tax regulation involves so much red tape, however, that the pay-before-you-go rule can't be made effective before Sept. 1.

The bureau has convicted about 50 gamblers of evading the occupational tax since it was imposed last November. But it's having no easy time trying to enforce that law or a companion tax Congress passed last fall to nick gamblers for 10 per cent of the amount of bets they take in.

For one thing, the bureau asked

Congress for money to hire 7,000 additional agents for the crackdown. Congress didn't give it one extra man, so the bureau is having to rely largely on local police for tips and evidence against tax-evading gamblers.

Where convictions have been obtained, sentences have been modest for the most part. Fines imposed so far range from $25 to $2,000. Judges have given jail sentences of up to a year and a day.

Revenue receipts have failed so far to come up to even 1 per cent of the 400 million dollars a year Congress estimated the new taxes would bring. In seven months, the 10 per cent levy on bets has yielded only three million dollars, the occupational tax only about $375,000.

Windfall Is Found By New House Owner

LIION, N.Y. (AP)—Raymond Chadwick was cleaning the chimney of his newly purchased house when he found approximately $20,000 in negotiable bonds in a tin box.

Now he's trying to learn who gets the windfall—be or the estate of the former owner of the house.

Chadwick, a foreman for the Remington Arms Co., bought the house from the estate of John C. Kellher, who died last year.

Daniel Kelleher of Little Falls, administrator of his father's estate, had no comment.

Fast-Thinking Pilot Averts Air Tragedy

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The pilot of a twin-engine unscheduled airliner averted a tragedy last night by putting his big plane into a sudden, jarring sideslip to keep from crashing into two smaller airplanes near Pittsburgh.

All of the estimated 30 passengers aboard suffered bruises as they were tumbled about as if in a crazy house at a carnival.

To cap his performance, Capt. Henry Glaser, the pilot, set his ship down smoothly on an unlighted airport here.

Dr. Arthur O'Keefe of Boston, a passenger, administered first aid and sent eight of his flight companions to the hospital. Four were detained. They are:

Helen Hatfield, 21, of Winterhaven, Fla., hostess; Mrs. Freda Norton of Long Beach, Calif.; Harold C. Walton of Bloomfield, N.J.; and Mrs. Ella A. Baitz, 21, Chicago.

Harry Swanberg, 24, of Duluth, Minn., described the near tragedy this way:

"People were thrown from their seats into the aisle and the baggage came toppling down on top of us. It was like being in a crazy house at a carnival."

Glaser said he was at about 4,000 feet altitude when he saw several smaller craft. When a crash with two appeared imminent, he said he put his plane into the violent maneuver.

Seconds later he set the plane down on the unlighted Allegheny County Airport. Virtually abandoned only last Tuesday.

The pilot said the planes he missed apparently were military craft but added he was not really certain. He brushed aside praise of his passengers, commenting:

"You have to think fast."

The flight was sponsored by the North Star Air Coach Co. Although the actual operators were Caribbean-American Airlines, the plane took off from the Washington National Airport and was en route to Burbank, Calif., when the incident occurred.

IN CALIF. PRIMARY

Ike Backers Hail Warren's Victory

By MORRIE LANDSBERG
 SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Gov. Earl Warren's vote in Tuesday's Republican presidential primary neared the million mark today and Eisenhower supporters hailed his victory as a slap at Sen. Robert A. Taft.

The record-mashing primary—close to 3,500,000 Californians voted—insured Warren a key role at the GOP National Convention.

His 2 to 1 defeat of a home state "free choice" slate led by Rep. Thomas H. Werdel gave the governor 70 pledged delegates. In addition he won six votes in Wisconsin April 1 to help his own chances as a possible compromise candidate or as a deadlock breaker.

The nearly complete count, from 19,453 of the 19,730 precincts, showed Warren 994,220; Werdel 508,251.

State and national campaign leaders for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower quickly issued jubilant statements emphasizing that the Werdel group favored Taft—while their own organization had endorsed Warren.

Taft did not enter the primary and personally stayed clear of the bitter Warren-Werdel battle. However, Werdel named Taft as his first choice and splinter factions supporting the Ohio senator urged Californians to elect the anti-Warren slate.

Although Warren campaigned in Wisconsin with the help of Eisenhower boosters, he has declared repeatedly he is not tied up with any candidate.

On the Democratic front, the election outcome promised a change in state party leadership. Tennessee Sen. Estes Kefauver trounced the pro-administration slate to win all 68 convention delegates.

The vote from 19,397 precincts: Kefauver 1,123,375; Brown 478,203.

Democratic regulars who backed Atty. Gen. Edmund G. Brown's un-instructed slate (former Truman delegation) will have no voice at the national convention.

Liked His Funeral, So Plans Another

BURLINGTON, Colo. (AP)—Jim Gernhart enjoyed his funeral so much last year that he's staging another one Sunday.

The repeat performance will not equal last year's ornate affair in the town's armory.

Mock last rites for the 75-year-old farmer will be staged in his home with the Rev. S. H. Mahaffey of Kanorado, Kan., officiating. Gernhart expects a crowd of 500 to 600, most of whom will have to stand outside and listen to the services over loudspeakers.

Gernhart said he didn't plan to display his $4,000 copper casket and he has abandoned plans to hire a 64-piece band.

Gernhart staged his funeral last year, he said, partly because he wanted to make sure he wasn't buried "like a dog" and partly because he wanted to spend some of his estimated $75,000 fortune.

Wilson Praises U. S. Weapons Production

EMMITTSBURG, Md. (AP)—Former Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson believes American industry and the military are acting intelligently in stretching out the production of war weapons.

In an address before an alumni banquet at Mt. St. Mary's College here last night, Wilson described the new weapons as "so fantastic in power the United States could readily handle Russia."

"The slowness in production of weapons is more than compensated by the fact that these are weapons which will not become obsolete," he said.

New Power For Auto Engines Being Tested

By DAVID J. WILKIE
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 5 (AP)—New chemical compounds with tremendous expansion rates are being considered as the power source of automobiles of the future. If the hopes of engineers working with these compounds are realized, miles per gallon of fuel no longer will be one of the motorist's worries. He will get virtually unlimited mileage.

Objective of the research which has been going on for more than five years was explained informally today by one of the engineers attending the summer meetings here of the Society of Automotive Engineers.

Asking that he remain unidentified, he explained that tests now are being made with what is known as a "closed circuit" engine. That is a power plant in which there is no exhaust and in which the acceleration characteristics of steam power are gained.

But the power is not steam. It is a liquid compound which is boiled into vapor, released into the engine's cylinder head, then passed through a radiator to be returned to its liquid form and returned to the supply tank.

Because it is sealed in the system, there is no loss of the chemical compound. However, there is a small consumption of some form of fuel—gasoline or electricity—used to operate the heating unit that converts the liquid initially into vapor.

The engineer who outlined the project emphasized that the proposed method of obtaining power doesn't contemplate "perpetual motion" and long has been under study in Europe as well as the United States for use in self-propelled vehicles. He said the engine under test had an internal heat about one-third that of a conventional auto engine and that it could be adequately air-cooled.

He declined to venture a guess as to when the power plant might be road-tested in an American car. Its mileage possibilities might sound fantastic, he said, but its principle of power production was considerably more down-to-earth than suggestions for the use of atomic or solar energy or jet engines in modern motorcars.

Ten County 4-H'ers To Attend Round Up At A&M Next Week

Ten Howard County 4-H Club boys, accompanied by an adult leader and County Agent Durward Lewter, will leave Monday by chartered bus, also carrying others from this area, for the 4-H Roundup at College Station.

The 10 boys will make up a livestock judging team of four members, a poultry judging team of four members and two delegates. Records are being checked today to determine just who the members of the poultry team and the delegates will be. These names will probably be announced tomorrow, Lewter said.

Members of the livestock judging team, which placed first in the area elimination meet at Texas Tech. Lubbock, May 10, are Delbert Davidson, Donald Denton, Darrell Robinson and Benny Jo Blissard.

Recognition for achievement and entertainment are the primary objectives of the annual Roundup, Lewter explains. More than 1,800 boys from over Texas are expected to attend accompanied by county agents and adult leaders. They will find all planned programs and activities aimed at achieving the two objectives of achievement and entertainment.

According to the Howard County agriculture agent, the first planned activities are scheduled for Monday afternoon, and include visits to spots of interest on the campus of A&M. The Monday night program will feature an outdoor party for all 4-H members at the "Grove" and at the same time Chancellor and Mrs. Gibb Gilchrist will honor all 4-H leaders with a reception at their home on the campus.

Tuesday will be the big day, Lewter says. Sixteen judging and demonstration contests will be held to pick the state winners in as many different fields of 4-H work. The delegates to the Roundup and the leaders will participate in the program which formally opens the 1952 state meeting and they will hear Dr. G. C. Baker Jr., chaplain, Southern Methodist University, discuss "Tomorrow's Honors." Periods devoted to group discussions and recreation for the 4-H delegates will follow the general meeting while 4-H leaders will discuss the subject of "How to be a better 4-H leader."

The afternoon session will feature Captain Don Lawrence, Department of Public Safety, with a special program on firearms. Beginning at 2 p.m. a tour of the A&M campus and the new agricultural facilities will be made. A tea honoring all 4-H members who have won state and national awards is scheduled for 4:30 p.m. in the Social Room at the Memorial Student Center.

The winners, both teams and individuals, will be presented in a series of meetings to be held in the Center early that evening, with the State 4-H Recognition Banquet scheduled for 7 p.m. in Shisa Hall.

Area Scout Camp Opens On July 13

July 13-Aug. 2 will be an important period for area scouts. That's the date the Boy Scout troops from the Lone Star District will attend the Buffalo Trail Council camp in the Davis Mountains.

Jimmy Hale, Boy Scout Field Executive, stated that troops from the Lone Star District, composed of Howard, Martin, Glascock, and Sterling Counties, would probably attend the first week of the July 13-August 3 period but added that exact dates have not been set. Approximately 125 scouts will attend each week.

The camp, Buffalo Trail Scout Ranch, is located near Balmorhea. In addition to Scouts attending the Council camp, Hale reported that two scouts from the district are planning to attend Philmont Scout Ranch, Cimarron, New Mexico.

Robert Angel of Big Spring will represent the Council in the National Tournament of Field Sports to be held there Aug. 23-Sept. 2. He will enter the trap shooting contest.

Mike Sweeney, Troop No. 11, Foran, will attend the Northbound Expedition August 20-September 1.

This Will Teach Man Not To Be Gullible

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP)—A man who said he didn't know Virginia residents had to pay federal income taxes has been convicted of failing to file on $28,840 income for the years 1948-50.

Dr. Victor L. Meyers, 56, Alexandria chiropractor, told Federal District Court yesterday he had not filed federal returns since moving to Virginia in 1921.

He said he had been told by a friend that if he moved to Virginia he wouldn't have to pay federal taxes.

Merchant Draws Fine For Price Violations

GALVESTON, June 5 (AP)—A clothing merchant was fined $250 and given a 30-day suspended sentence yesterday for failing to file a pricing list with the Office of Price Stabilization.

Morris B. Zeidman of Wharton pleaded guilty. It was the first action brought by the Houston District OPA for failure to list prices as required by law.

U. S. Judge T. M. Kennerly suspended the sentence with the provision that Zeidman file a list within 30 days. He operates the Joe Schwartz Apparel Shop.

Laying Pipe

Laying of pipe which will connect the City of Big Spring filtration plant with the Colorado River Municipal Water District supply lines is moving along steadily. The line from the plant, in southeast Big Spring has been installed past Washington Place school and Howard County Junior College. By the end of the week it is due to be to U.S. 80. Another week will be required to get over the highway, across Beal's Creek and the T&P tracks. Still another will be needed to put it up the northern slopes to the junction point if all goes well. Above, a cat with side crane attachment swings a piece of the 27-inch concrete-steel pipe into position over the ditch. Below, a worker has installed a rubber gasket around the spigot end of the line already in the ground as the bell end of another joint is swung into place for joining. The gasket is doused in grease as a preservative. Pressure against the gasket makes the joint water tight.

Riding
THE GRUB LINE
With Franklin Reynolds

The other morning the Grub Line Rider started out on a Highway 80 trip. He hadn't gone very far when he saw two nice Hereford calves out on the highway. He didn't have any trouble putting one of them through the fence by himself, but the second one being on the other side of the road from the pasture, and with cars sipping and zooming up and down that concrete, a different problem was presented.

So the Grub Liner drove down to the house and got one of the owner's hands to help in getting that second calf back into the pasture. Now, we don't mind the time that was required. It is always a great pleasure to be around cattle after being around newspapermen so much, and there has never been a time when cattle haven't smelled better.

But the point to be made is that a whole lot of fence can be repaired for the price of one good Hereford calf that might be lost, and not only will the cowman lose the calf, he will probably be sued by the owner of the car that kills it.

The Grub Liner remembers once when some of his horses got out on a highway and were hit by a bus. Before he could sue the bus company, the bus company sued him. We compromised by dismissing the claim and the counterclaim.

The green grass on the Court-house yard in Stanton certainly looks good to a weary traveler from the great desert around Big Spring, and it is being sprinkled every day because Stanton has the water.

We mentioned the grass to Martin County Deputy Sheriff Jim McCoy.

"Yes," he said, "it is nice, but I'll tell you, that's about all the green grass there is in Martin County except in the irrigated areas."

Leon Kinney, manager of the Texas Employment Commission office in Big Spring, says that farmers are trying to hire labor for which they don't have to cook. They want workers who will move out and live on the farm. Kinney says it is almost impossible to fill their orders. Most of them want tractor operators at $5 a day with these men boarding themselves.

On the other hand he says that one farmer who wanted two tractor operators and offered $8 a day, room and board, got his men in just a few hours. Another has offered $100 a month, room and board, and will have his man just as soon as he comes in after him.

He says the Howard County Farm Bureau has not yet placed its order for Braceros, but that he expects to receive it any time now.

Interest in Blue Panic grass is increasing, according to the supervisors of the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District, and because of this increased interest a shortage is developing in the supply of good seed. However, the Big Spring office of the Soil Conservation Service, through Al Jordan and W. S. Goodlett, has had pretty good luck in helping co-operators obtain a limited but substantial supply, and quite a number of farmers and ranchers plan plantings.

L. M. Newton plans to plant around 40 acres on his farm six miles northwest of Big Spring to furnish grazing for his cattle, and Leland Wallace, the Hereford breeder whose place is about eight miles northeast plans to follow Newton's example, and to go out in the field and do likewise.

Durwood Zant of the Luther Community already has an excellent stand of Blue Panic as has been mentioned here before, and he plans another 20 acres. A number of others are just waiting for seed or a good planting season, or both.

Pete Buchanan, who farms seven miles northeast of Big Spring, told SCS specialists that while planting this week he noticed a greater amount of moisture in his land where feed stubble had been maintained than he found in his cotton land. He says he has learned that stubble mulching does far more than just prevent wind erosion.

He says that in this moisture comparison he found that the dead litter on or near the surface retained a much greater amount of the moisture from the recent showers, and that the increased organic matter resulting from the decayed litter put the soil in much better condition to absorb and hold this additional moisture.

Conservation Thought:
"Cover crops on the land help protect you from the sand; Makes your soil take water too—Plant 'em now and don't be blue!"

The highest auction ever held for Polled Shorthorns was run up at Oakwood Farms, Ashland, Ohio, May 26, when 53 head averaged $1,376, with the top bull at $10,500 and the top female at $4,600. This is the record for the hornless breed that was developed in America in the early 1880's.

Eleven bulls sold for an average of $2,233 and 42 females averaged $1,151, with the 10 top females hitting a $1,850 average.

Oakwood has sold Polled Shorthorns to breeders in Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, Cuba, Uruguay, Colombia, Venezuela, Argentina and Jamaica.

This Month Observed Nationally

June, observed as National Dairy Month, is sponsored by the American Butter Institute, the American Dairy Association, The Dairy Industries Supply Association, the Evaporated Milk Association, the International Association of Ice Cream Manufacturers, the Milk Industry Foundation, the National Cheese Institute, the National Creameries Association, the National Milk Producers Federation and the National Dairy Council. One of the principal purposes in setting June aside as National Dairy Month has been to emphasize the tremendously vital role for good nutrition played by milk, cheese, butter, ice cream and other dairy foods such as evaporated and dry milk. Thousands of communities observe the month as a means of promoting a better public understanding of the importance of the dairyman in the matter of public health and welfare, and to dramatize the many uses of dairy foods for health, economy, and good eating for all ages. Now in its 16th year, Dairy Month provokes thought all over the United States, not only in the dominant dairy farming areas but in all others as well, and in the cities where little enough thought is given the men and women who produce all the nation's food.

BROCCOLI ROLL-UPS ARE THE COOK'S ANSWER FOR A SURPRISE TREAT
... each roll of delicately browned French toast is sprinkled with cheese for tangy flavor

WITCHES BREW?
... No, it's a batch of candy made in a gleaming copper kettle by Leon Kinney.

Leon Kinney Finds That Hobby Pays Off

A hobby that began with compliments from friends is beginning to pay off for Leon Kinney, 801 W. 16th.

It all began last Christmas when he invaded his wife's kitchen and made a batch of candy.

Friends were abundant with their compliments. "You should do more of this," they said.

And he did.

The result is his own private kitchen in a small building back of his home and a profitable hobby.

The kitchen is fully equipped with a double sink and even an electric refrigerator.

The busiest time of the year for the graying officer manager of the Texas Employment Commission is from October through St. Valentine's Day.

But June has its brides and the brides must be feted at parties and receptions.

That's when orders for dainty pastel fondant mints come pouring in, he says.

A kettle of fondant is kept ready at all times. Then when a customer calls or comes by, Kinney just heats the mixture, adds coloring and pours it into rubber molds that create shapes from wedding bells to four-leaf clovers.

"Everything I make is done by a formula," he smiled. Measurements as exact as a druggist's prescriptions go into the candies.

He's pretty much of a self-taught candy maker, too. "I learned to do by doing it and by trying to profit by my mistake," he stated.

Will his wife assist him? "No," he laughed. "She won't even clean up my messes." But she likes the candy you can bet on that.

The Kinney children, Mary Clare, 9, and Eddie, 11, prefer the bought variety to Poppa's candy except when there isn't much of a special kind left.

"Then it's all we can do to fight them away," their parents grinned.

Not the fanciest kind of candy made by Kinney, but one of the favorites of all concerned is peanut brittle.

His recipe follows:

PEANUT BRITTLE

Ingredients:

- 4 cups sugar
- 1 1/2 cups white corn syrup
- Water
- 2 1/2 cups raw shelled Spanish peanuts

Method:

Using enough water to melt the sugar put sugar and syrup in pan over high heat. After sugar melts turn the fire up a bit and cook until the mixture registers 230 degrees on a candy thermometer. Add peanuts and cook rapidly to 310 degrees. Take off fire and add butter, salt and vanilla. Mix well. Then add soda. Pour into a tray and spread very thin. When cooked store in an airtight container.

Grated cheddar cheese mixed with mayonnaise makes a good filling for French-toasted sandwiches. Strips of pimiento, chopped green olives, or broken walnut or pecan meats may be added to the cheese if desired. Serve the sandwiches with a mixed green salad and tea or coffee for a delicious lunch.

Fresh Vegetables Add Zip To Menus

One of the many nice things about spring is the wonderful assortment of colorful fresh vegetables which is available. The cook will want to capitalize by starring these vegetables in her menu. In fact, she will make them the basis for many delicious and nutritious main dishes.

She will want hearty foods to combine with these vegetables so they will do the job of filling the standards of a main dish. If stuffed tomatoes are the family favorite, they make good eatings with many meats and seafoods. Or, in the absence of potatoes, the cook may try them with spaghetti or noodles.

A contrast that's good in color and texture combines spaghetti with ground meat for a happy surprise for all the family.

Stuffed Tomatoes
4 ounces elbow spaghetti
4 large tomatoes
4 ounces sliced mushrooms
1 cup ground meat
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 cup shredded American cheese
Cook spaghetti in boiling salted water about 7 minutes. Drain and rinse. While spaghetti is cooking, remove pulp from tomatoes. Combine pulp, mushrooms, meat, salt, pepper and cheese. Add spaghetti-meat mixture. Put remaining mixture into greased baking dish. Place tomatoes in spaghetti mixture. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) about 25 minutes. The recipe makes 4 servings.

A nippy cheese sauce and butter will make the most of an early summer vegetable trio of new potatoes, carrots and tomatoes. It also simplifies the problem of preparing vegetables in ways that aren't monotonous. When vegetables are served creamed or with a generous amount of butter, they are not only more delicious but have added food value, too.

Potatoes With Cheese Sauce
12 small new potatoes
4 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 cups milk
1 cup grated American cheese
Cook unpeeled new potatoes in tightly covered saucepan in an inch of rapidly boiling, salted water, about 30 minutes, or until tender. Drain. Meanwhile, melt butter; add flour and seasonings and blend. Add milk slowly and cook, stirring constantly, until smooth and thickened. Remove from heat and blend in cheese. Serve over hot new potatoes. The recipe serves 6.

Fresh carrots are plentiful on the market these days, so why not let them help make spring meals look pretty and taste good. Small or medium-sized carrots are especially attractive when cooked and served whole. Tucking a bit of parsley in each of the carrot tops will help dress them up a bit.

For a vegetable luncheon, alternate the carrots with asparagus and serve with Hollandaise sauce; add a salad of crisp lettuce wedges and sliced tomato with French dressing, and hot bread. For dinner service, carrots julienne with lemon butter will help fill the bill.

Carrots With Lemon Butter
8 to 10 medium carrots, julienned
1/2 teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons butter
1/2 teaspoon paprika
4 tablespoons lemon juice
Cook carrots, tightly covered, in a small amount of boiling, salted water until tender, about 8 to 10 minutes. Drain. Melt butter; add paprika and lemon juice. Pour over hot carrots. The recipe serves 6.

The cook doesn't have to become so wrapped up in summer vegetables that she overlooks one that's here the year 'round. Beets at their finest are sweet, tender and fresh as tomorrow. She can get the small ones for serving whole as a vegetable or salad. And if the budget keeps looking over her shoulder when she shops, tops make the beet two vegetables for the price of one.

Orange Butter Beets
8 medium sized or 12 tiny whole beets, cooked and peeled
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
Grated rind of 1 orange
1/2 teaspoon salt
Dice beets if medium sized, or leave whole. Combine ingredients and heat in saucepan. Serve hot.

With springtime in the air and asparagus on the market, housewives are faced with giving their Hollandaise sauce a fine lemon flavor with a smooth texture. To make life smooth, and the sauce smoother, a mock Hollandaise sauce made with evaporated milk has the quality of being almost curdle-proof. On asparagus, Broccoli or artichokes, hardly anything could be finer.

Mock Hollandaise Sauce
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
Dash of paprika
1/2 cup evaporated milk
1/4 cup water

2 egg yolks
3 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Melt butter in top of double boiler. Blend in flour and seasonings. Add evaporated milk and water gradually and cook over gently boiling water, stirring until mixture thickens. Pour mixture over slightly beaten egg yolks; blend thoroughly. Return to double boiler. Cook about 3 minutes longer. Stir in butter and lemon juice and serve. The recipe makes one cup.

If the hostess likes to serve unusual foods when she entertains, here's a new combination. Fresh asparagus with mushroom soup baked in avocado halves makes a dish which is both attractive and tasty.

Baked Asparagus and Avocado
2 or 3 large avocados
1 teaspoon salt
1 package frozen asparagus cuts and tips or their equivalent
1 pint cream of mushroom soup
Peel avocados and cut in halves lengthwise; add salt. Add asparagus and pimiento to mushroom soup and spoon into cavity of avocado. Place in baking dish with 2 tablespoons water in bottom of dish; cover. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 40 minutes for 4 to 6 servings.

New potatoes, when they can be found, also put on airs when marinated in melted margarine seasoned with minced chives. They may be served with sausage patties broiled on pineapple slices. Cornbread squares and a green salad complete this springtime menu.

Whether the cook's entertaining the girls at lunch or planning a surprise treat for the family, here's a tasty new treatment for broccoli. The cooked vegetable is rolled up in pieces of delicately browned French toast, and each roll-up sprinkled with grated cheese. If these are slipped under the broiler to melt the cheese, the tangy flavor will be on each delicious bite.

Broccoli Roll-Up
1 package frozen broccoli or its equivalent
4 slices French toast
1/2 cup grated cheese
Cook broccoli and, at the same time, prepare the French toast. Lay pieces of cooked broccoli diagonally across slice of toast; fold corners over broccoli and fasten with toothpicks. Sprinkle cheese over roll-ups and put under broiler until cheese melts. The yield is 4 roll-ups.

Salads are tasty the year around but in the summertime, when appetites are discouraged by the heat, a salad has the added advantage of "eye appeal." Crisp, cool and colorful, it will "hit the spot" with the family. But no matter what's in the salad, the dressing put on it can spell the difference between success and failure. Supplies of two basic dressings, or variations of them, may be made serve hot.

ahead of time and stored in the refrigerator until needed.

Mayonnaise
1 egg
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon sugar
1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
Few grains Cayenne pepper
Few grains paprika
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 1/2 cups salad oil
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Combine egg, salt, sugar, mustard, Cayenne pepper, paprika and vinegar; blend. Add 1/2 cup salad oil slowly, 1/2 tablespoon at a time, beating constantly with a rotary type beater. Slowly add remaining oil, then lemon juice, beating constantly until thick. The recipe makes 2 cups.

French Dressing
1 cup salad oil
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1 1/2 teaspoons sugar
1 1/2 teaspoons dry mustard
1 teaspoon paprika
Few grains pepper
Combine ingredients and beat with rotary beater until well blended. The recipe makes 1 1/2 cups.

Grapefruit Salad Good With Poultry

With chicken (and turkey too, for that matter) as attractively priced as any foods these days, you'll probably be having one or the other for Sunday dinner often, and there's really nothing better for they afford such welcome leftovers. Cold cuts, teamed with a tart grapefruit salad, are ideal Sunday supper plates or for luncheon the following day.

The plump sections of grapefruit, now bargain priced at your local grocers, combine wonderfully well with chicken, either mixed or served as a side dish. Here the sections are separated, pinwheel fashion, with strips of bright red canned pimiento. A buffet service such as this is easy to prepare and serve, and the calories count nice and low. Use a low-calorie grapefruit juice dressing over the fruit sections and greens, and you'll feel refreshed and actually be healthier, for grapefruit is one of the best sources of Vitamin C and one of the lowest of all fruits in caloric content.

While the fresh fruit lasts, get enough to use the small sizes for juicing. Fresh grapefruit juice has a tang all its own.

Low-Calorie French Dressing
Blend 1/2 cup water and 2 teaspoons cornstarch; cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Remove from heat; add 1/2 cup grapefruit juice, 2 tablespoons salad oil, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon each paprika and dry mustard, 1/2 teaspoon Tabasco and 1/4 cup catsup; beat until smooth. Add peeled clove of garlic. Shake before using. YIELD: 1 1/2 cups.

For Snacks Make Small Meat Balls

(Makes 2 dozen small meat balls)
1/2 pound ground beef
1 egg
1/4 cup dry bread crumbs
1 1/2 teaspoons minced onion
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon black pepper
1-4 teaspoon prepared horseradish
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
Dash of Tabasco sauce
Grated American or Italian style cheese
Combine all ingredients except cheese, blending well. Shape into tiny balls. Sauté in hot fat until all sides are lightly browned, about 4 minutes. Roll each ball in grated cheese. Insert toothpick and

Shower Refreshments Can Be Made From Canned Meat

Feting the bride-elect? This special occasion calls for attractive and ever so dainty refreshments. And what could be more appropriate than a tray of colorful canapés—flavorful tidbits smartly garnished and served with chilled fruit juices.

Many canapés trays look far too complicated for the average homemaker to duplicate. However, you can prepare a tray of appetizers (guaranteed to be the talk of your guests) quite simply with the aid of canned meats on your kitchen shelf, according to Reba Staggs, food authority. Here's a list of canned meats you need for an outstanding platter arrangement — smoked tongue, chipped beef, Vienna sausages and deviled ham. Cream cheese is handy to have for decorating the canapés along with tiny pearl onions, olives and parsley.

You'll find day old bread easier to work with than fresh bread. Use your small cookie cutters for cutting it into various shapes and designs—crescents, rounds, triangles, rectangles and etc. Then let your imagination rule. For instance, spread some designs with deviled ham. Top with minute pearl onions, then outline the design with finely minced parsley. Top other bread designs with cream cheese, then arrange paper-thin slices of Vienna sausage over the top.

Here's a tip—it's wise to spread bread with softened butter or margarine to prevent soaking. Or for a grand flavor combination you might spread bread with mustard butter, then top with a matching slice of smoked tongue. Horseradish butter is another choice. Cream butter and add a bit of drained horseradish, then top with smoked tongue.

Chipped beef rolls are another appetizer for your tray. On thin strips of chipped beef place a little cream cheese slightly thinned with cream. Roll up the chipped beef and stick with a colored pick.

If you make the canapés earlier in the day wrap them in waxed paper or aluminum foil and immediately place in your refrigerator. Plan, however, on making these appetizers as late as possible before serving so they will be at their best.

THE SPRINGBOARD
News From Big Spring Air Force Base
By A-3C JEAN BROWN

PARTY
News of a "Welcome to Big Spring" party, the city's salute to Webb AFB, was greeted with much enthusiasm by base personnel as a means of becoming acquainted with the town people. The party, a combination hog dog supper and variety show, will be given at the City Park amphitheatre Friday, June 20, starting at 7 p.m.

Tickets are being sold to downtown firms at 50 cents each with Big Spring merchants and businessmen buying blocks of the tickets which are then complimentary to AF personnel. Informally, it will keynote the affair, but personnel have been asked to wear uniforms so that they may be welcomed properly. It is possible that 3,000 people will attend the party.

LINKS
An important phase of Webb AFB cadet training is the time spent with the Link Trainer. The cadets report to the Link section as soon as they are assigned to flight training. Among the various phases studied in the synthetic trainer are radio signal pattern, beam following, time and distance checks, ground control approach and take-off and landing procedure.

WATER
Webb AFB is complying with the same water conservation measures enforced in the city. In addition to present restrictions, extra precautions have been taken to check all water outlets in washrooms and showers.

LIBRARY
Informally opened last week, the base library is now in the operational stage. The library is fitted with shelves, tables and modern, upholstered lounge furniture. It was pointed out that dependents of base personnel as well as civilian employees may use the library's facilities after complying with the registration procedure.

DISPENSARY
Operation "spic and span" is in full swing at Webb AFB's new dispensary unit. Combined with the dispensary unit are the allied functions of laboratory, pharmacy, and registrar's office. The drab, stereotyped interior often associated with military dispensaries doesn't exist at the new plant. A sparkling interior, freshly painted throughout, utilizes pleasant shades and color combinations in corridors and rooms.

WORKERS
An urgent call went out this week to all civilians, local, area and otherwise, to come to work at Webb AFB. The Civilian Personnel Office especially asked that married airmen and others who have relatives near, pass the news along that top civil service jobs are open here in many and varied fields.

"BOOTSTRAP"
Fifty-five officers and airmen signed up for "Operation Bootstrap" Monday as enrollment for the Howard County Junior College summer session opened. Fifteen courses are offered on the HCJC agenda in addition to a basic preparatory class. The most popular class to date among the first 55 entrants is college algebra.

Boys State Set At Austin Next Week
AUSTIN, June 5 (AP)—Texas will have a new governor, legislature and a complete set of state officials next week.

They are high school youngsters coming here for the 13th annual Lone Star Boys State, sponsored by the American Legion. About 450 boys, all of whom were juniors in high school last year, will take part.

Registration begins Sunday. A governor will be elected Tuesday, and the legislature will inaugurate him Wednesday. The whole affair is designed as a practical course of instruction in how the state government works.

Charles Darwin was born in 1809 and published the "Origin of Species" in 1859.

Queen Is Given Carload Of Grain
TORONTO (AP)—One shipment of wheat has been responsible for a lot of happiness.

The grain was given to Queen Elizabeth II by the City of Regina. The queen donated it to the Canadian Save the Children Fund. The fund sold the wheat to 550 individuals, schools and organizations for $7,070.

The buyers returned the grain to the fund.

It was finally sent to Greece.
