Railroad Commissioner Declares Increases In Gasoline Prices In State Unwarranted; Hike Hits Here

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS: The National Whirligig. Written by a group of the best informed newspapermen of Washington and New York. Opinions expressed are those of the writers and should not be interpreted as reflecting the editorial policy of this newspaper.

WASHINGTON By George Durno Sabotage. The first faint smudges from powerful backfires against President Roosevelt's recovery program are beginning to appear over the horizon.

General Hugh Johnson, boss of NRA, ever sensitive to the smell of kindling charged with dynamite, was quick to detect this under cover defection.

Stethoscope. Even in some sections of the press Johnson has noted a trend that would indicate the honeymoon is over and he will have to fight vigorously to gain each forward step.

Home Town Talk by Beddy. Temperance is righteous. In any moral or religious code that has contributed to the welfare of mankind, temperance in all things is a foundation stone.

Inevitable. There is one industry affording the Roosevelt administration a real heartache. This one is bituminous coal, already told bluntly by the president it was obviously on the decline and had caused government more trouble than any other in recent years.

Mr. Roosevelt told leading bituminous operators they were over-producing. This was nothing new to them. They know it only too well.

As matters stand now the bituminous operators are looking at a federally-written code only because they have nothing else to do.

But they have an answer. It is to accept the inevitable against which they have been fighting for years and close down about 50 per cent. This would solve the problem of over-production and eventually.

Cost Per Vote Here 6 Cents To One Dollar. Morris Polls 21 Votes At Cost Of More Than Dollar Each.

It cost voters of Howard county from 6.23 cents to more than $1 per vote to cast a ballot in the elections of last Saturday.

Cost per voter in the Morris box which polled only twenty-one votes amounted to more than $1 while in precinct 3 where more than six hundred voters cast ballots the cost for each was only 6.23 cents.

Four people are required to hold an election at each box under 100 votes, while other boxes require a double crew.

Each judge and clerk is allowed $3 per day plus what overtime he is due. Then, the election judge is allowed $2 for delivering the returns to the county clerk.

County Judge H. R. Debenport said Tuesday some of the smaller boxes in the county might be combined to effect economy, but reduction of the total election outlay was not advisable.

THAT PROPOSED 'CODE FOR HOUSEWIVES'

Those Iowa women who suggested that a working code be fixed up for housewives, so that the lady of the family could get some sort of a break in the matter of hours and pay, seem to have started something which might give General Johnson and the NRA crowd the toughest problem they have yet had to tackle.

Fixing up a code for the coal industry may seem difficult; ironing out the complexities of the oil trade may look hard; arranging things for steel and automobile manufacturers may appear perplexing—but wait until you try to put the housewife's daily round into a formal code, before you say you have tried something tough!

What do these Iowa ladies suggest? A "day" that begins at 7 in the morning and runs until 7:30 p. m., with four hours off in the afternoon, an allowance of $14 a week for housekeeping money, and no work on Sundays; and while that seems fair enough no one who has ever watched a busy housewife in action will suppose that putting it into practice could be easy.

Many a man has said contemptuously that the trouble with wives is that they don't plan their work properly—they don't use "system" in their daily round. He has said this, that is, until some family emergency has forced him to stay home for a day or two and do mother's work himself.

At the end of that time he is invariably more than ready to go back to his own job, and he has no more to say about planning and domestic systems. He has learned that if there is one job on earth that refuses to become cut and dried and formulated it is the housewife's.

How are you going to formulate a code which allows for such everyday mishaps as Junior's getting ashes from the fireplace all over the living room rug, or for the harassing calls of unwelcome house-to-house canvassers who break into the routine and compel "overtime" work, or for the added toil which comes when the neighbor's puppy gets hold of the clothes line and soila whole string of newly-washed clothes?

These are part and parcel of the housewife's day, and they help to show what a job fixing up a code would be.

The housewife may have it easier today than was the case a generation ago—but she still has a conglomeration of tasks that would have the average man talking to himself inside of 48 hours.

itely more effective in deterring crime. A criminal who knows he will be brought quickly to book will hesitate a lot longer than one who knows his possible conviction may be put off and perhaps circumvented. The term "nois prosee" is familiar to every courthouse reporter; usually it means that the prosecutor has dropped charges against someone because he no longer believes he can a conviction. Crime never takes a vacation. There is no reason why justice should.

CHICAGO WAGES UP

Chicago apparently means business in its war on crime. Gangsters, racketeers and hoodlums accustomed to lax prosecutions, long delays, and to bargaining for light sentences, are discovering to their amazement that quick trials and maximum sentences are now the rule. Half a dozen judges have given up summer vacations to help clean up the crowded criminal dockets.

The country will hope that the present exhibition of activity in Chicago is not just another flash in the pan. Chicago's lawlessness has been a national disgrace, and a challenge to democratic government. The city has been the pivot of crime organized on a national scale.

And while there can be nothing but applause for Chicago's brave acts and promises, it might not be amiss to wonder why the efficacy of such methods was not discovered before a condition of veritablearchy developed.

Carlot of Pigs May Be Shipped From Here Soon

A cooperative carlot of pigs to be sold to the federal government will probably be shipped out of here next week, County Agent O. P. Griffin said Monday.

After a car load had passed through here en route to Fort Worth from Midland, Griffin wired the stockyards to find how soon a car would be accepted from here.

He was informed that the yards now have 10,000 pigs on hand and can only handle 2,400 per day.

Pigs between 25 and 100 pounds and sows ready to farrow will be accepted by the government at a price basis already announced, with freight differentiation deducted.

SWIFT JUSTICE BEST

Judges of the criminal courts in Chicago have decided forego their vacations in order to help the war on crime. They will sit during the summer to clean up crowded dockets on which are listed charges against some of the city's most notorious gangsters.

Judges in other crime-ridden communities might well follow the example of those in Chicago. One of the chief obstacles to enforcing the law is delay in the courts. Convictions frequently are made difficult or impossible because crowded dockets or the maneuvering of defense lawyers are able to postpone trials. Every day's delay makes presentation of evidence more difficult for prosecutors.

Moreover, swift justice is infinitely more effective in deterring crime.

Seven-Run Attack In Ninth Too Much For Leaders Of League

NEW YORK—A booming seven run drive in the ninth inning gave the Cardinals a 12-8 victory over the Giants Monday, and ran the National League leaders' string of defeats to three in the past four games, with one tie.

There was no loss to the Giants in their efforts to keep ahead of the Braves, who were blanked by Cincinnati and remained six games behind but in the battle, with the lead shutting around half a dozen times, two of Bill Terry's pitching ace, Bud Parmelee and Hal Schumacher, took a cuffing.

Gibson's men came from behind to win the first game. Trailing 4-2 at the beginning of the sixth inning, they hammered Elliott from the box and pounded his successor, Berly, Spud Davis hit a homer for the Phils in the ninth.

In the second game the Pirates took an early lead by hammering Holley for a run in the second and four more in the third. Home runs by Lindstrom and Vaughan, the latter with two on base, were the big factors in this victory.

Enforcements -- Not Repeal

THERE CAN BE NO COMPROMISE
The church must forever raise its arm against the liquor traffic. How can it do otherwise? What is Christianity? It is the development and culture of human personality, which Jesus declared was the most important thing in the world. That traffic destroys personality.

In his name, we set up our banners and with the consciousness of ultimate victory we again raise the battle cry. Let us fight on shoulder to shoulder, until the liquor traffic shall be dead forever, not only in American but in all the world. We believe in the essential goodness and greatness of the American people. We have faith in our native land. She will ride out of this storm and become what God intended her to be, an asylum for humanity—Rev. Norman Peale, D. D.

TRUTH TRIUMPHANT

Think not that God deserts the field.
Though truth the battle loses;
But grasp again faith's sword and shield.
And follow where He chooses.
He shrouds Himself in dark events,
No mortal eyes behold Him.
And many an adverse providence
As in a cloud enfolds Him.

We see truth's foes fast closing round,
Disturbing her resources;
Faith fills the teeming battle ground
With chariots and horses,
And, lo! God's standard rises clear
Amid the smoke and thunder;
Embattled armies disappear,
Or into fragments sunder.

The baffled surf ebbs to the sea

As though its tasks forsaking;
But to return more mightily.
In greater volume breaking.
What God hath sworn, shall yet be done,
No power of man can stay Him,
Upon the sea He plans His throne
And all the waves obey Him.

Soldiers of Christ, take heart again,
Fear not dark portents solemn,
God moves across the battle plain,
In many an unseen column.
The very stars of the blue night,
As they fulfill their courses,
Shall wheel obedient in the fight
And add more to our forces.

Repeal Vote Being Held In Washington

Two-Thirds Mark In Nation-Wide Poll Reached Tuesday

SEATTLE, Wash. (UP)—Washington voters upon prohibition repeal Tuesday under an election system considered by many prohibitionists the fairest arrangement yet devised for sounding the sentiment of every section of a State.

With this election the administration-advocated repeal drive reaches the two-thirds mark—Washington is the twenty-fourth State to record its views and the voters of only thirty-six States should all agree, would ratify repeal.

Intense interest has been manifested in the Washington election because of the manner in which the referendum will be taken—through each of the forty-six legislative districts rather than for the State at large.

Repealists Handicapped
Repealists said they considered this set-up a handicap to their cause, considering the possibility that the trend in agricultural districts might overcome the vote of urban areas.

Most of the legislative districts are to elect two delegates to the State constitutional convention and if the voter ballots for only one it might upset the balance. The dry votes are to be totaled, then the total wet votes and the two candidates on the prevailing side who receive the highest number of votes will be elected. Thus each voter really has two votes in his district. The total State vote will mean nothing in the final count.

State Law Already Repealed
Last election Washington voted to repeal its bone-dry law, 341,450 to 208,211. Only seven counties went dry, some of them by scant majorities.

J. C. Herberman, Seattle orator who headed the campaign of the State Association for Repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, commented in an address that "the Washington Legislature made no provision for a vote that would express the will of the majority, as in other States."

Herberman conceded there was "grave danger" unless opponents of Federal prohibition recorded a heavy vote.

Dr. Clarence True Wilson, general secretary of the Methodist Episcopal Church's board of temperance, prohibition and public morals, was among the leaders espousing retention in the State-wide campaign.

CONSULT YOUR WIFE for Sound Advice.....

Mr. Man, you may know more about the intricacies of the stock exchange, more of high finance, more of the whys and wherefores of politics, more of this and that

BUT, when it comes to shopping, your wife has probably got you beat six ways to the jack-pot.

Now don't let your male egoism get the better of you and just say, "The bl—k she has,"—think about it. After all, women have made it their business to be good, economical shoppers. They have devoted thought and effort to the business "you haven't had time for."

Go to your wife and ask her how she handles this shopping proposition. She'll tell you, "Well, the first thing, and it's the most important, too, is to read the ads in the Daily Herald."

And then she'll be glad to demonstrate for your benefit exactly how reading the ads led to economies and advantages in the purchase of everything from that club steak you liked so well last night to the new dress you've been admiring.

Then, too, she'll probably welcome the opportunity of proving to you that she can save you money and assure you of better quality by buying your shirts and socks and such for you after-checking the ads. Why not let her try it? She is a real expert at this shopping business. Above all, don't forget to follow her advice when you're shopping for yourself and check the ads in this paper before you start out to do your buying.

CHAPTER 54

IT WAS the second Saturday following the day when Mary had sold her stock to Dick, that he went to his office. Something stronger than his determination not to offer her his vagrant affections, impelled him.

When Mary looked up and saw him there in the doorway where he often had stood and smiled greeting to her in those happy days—so long ago, it seemed—her arms dropped to her sides with the rush of weakness that filled her veins. He thought how pale and tired she looked; and he wanted, mightily, to tell her that he had come to take care of her, for always, that she needed never to work and worry again. In spite of the fact that now they shared a gigantic problem, they were embarrassed at seeing each other.

"Hello, Dick—come right in," she smiled weakly. "Hello, Mary—I just dropped in for a minute." "So glad you did! I don't think the most aggravating thing you ever knew."

He sat down and nodded. "It has a lot of people on the ragged edge. But we should be happy that it hasn't dropped. Business is rotten, and the market is worse." "Didn't she know?" She was living, night and day, with the depression of it. "Yes, and many people think that it is just the laboring class of people who are affected. So few realize that the big men are just as hard hit as the man who has lost his weekly pay envelope. The more he loses, the harder it hits him. Those who have gained an enviable position and wealth are the ones who suffer most when they crash. They fall farther."

"Wise Mary—always concerned for others, aren't you? Don't you ever think of yourself?" he marvelled.

"Oh, yes," she flushed, "but I am so unimportant." "I refute that statement, but I won't try to prove it now. I was wondering, Mary—er, if you would let me be seen? you, well—how about tonight? Will you have dinner with me, for old times' sake?" he was humble.

Mary's heart leaped joyously. "Of course," she laughed shakily. "Why not?" "Well, I didn't know if you would care about it. Shall we have Sukki-please? I want to see you smiling and happy," he lowered his voice with concern. "I'll try to be," Mary attempted to please him then and there. And, before the evening was over, they were talking and laughing together almost as of old. One just couldn't be dreary and sad in Dick's presence.

Mary found that the evening was as refreshing as a stop at an oasis on a desert journey. Dick did not attempt to renew his affections of the past, but he left her with a song of hope in her heart.

He had said, just before leaving her, and as if he regretted that he had to leave, "I wonder if you would like to drive with me into the country, tomorrow? It should be a beautiful day, and it would do you good to get out for the whole day."

"I think that would be lovely," she agreed with a quietness that was within her at his suggestion. "I don't deserve that you should be so wonderful to me, Mary." His voice was chastened, awed.

"I don't know why." "Well, I do, I—oh, well, I just can't tell you, Mary."

"You needn't," softly. "You're a wonderful girl, Mary. I'll try to be worthy of your kindness to me."

"Please—don't say that, Dick. You have done so much for me. You don't know—I never can repay you."

"I don't want you to—that way. I thought—well, I'll be seeing you, tomorrow. Shall we pick up dinner somewhere on the way?"

"If you wish." "I do, okay, Mary. Good night." Mary ached to have his arms about her. She wondered how she had endured those months of being away from him. But she went to sleep that night with the greatest happiness she had known since that night when she had asked Dick to take Bonnie to the hockey game in her place, and had lost him to her temporarily.

The next day was a premature spring day. As the little car leaped and hummed along the road, Mary recalled the words.

"For lo! the winter is past, the rain is over and gone; The flowers appear on the earth; The time of the singing of birds is come, And the voice of the turtle is heard."

Government Leaders Predict "Buyers' Resistance" Against Rising Ready-To-Wear Prices

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN United Press Staff Correspondent (Copyright, 1933, By United Press) WASHINGTON (UP)—American department store prices are so much higher now than they were last winter that government leaders predicted the rapid approach of "buyers' resistance."

An up-to-the-minute price list, from which the administration is drawing important conclusions, revealed today that almost everything in a city department store has risen in cost 11 to 87 per cent.

Muslin sheets have advanced by the latter figure. Reversible blankets have gone up 85 per cent. Many other articles have risen 40, 50 and 60 per cent.

Most of these advances are based on a 50 per cent increase in the wholesale price of cotton goods, which the agricultural adjustment administration intends to investigate at a public hearing on Sept. 7.

in our land."

They echoed her gladness. The first green grass flaunted its promise that spring was just around the corner. Red-breasted robins perched in the barren trees and offered their best in optimistic "cheer-ups."

Even the trees appeared self-conscious of their nudity in the bright sunlight, as if they soon would be busy about acquiring their summer attire.

Out in the Pompton Lakes region, Dick found an inn that had survived both the depressing winter and the winter depression, and they found a log fire blazing in the cheery dining room. It was such a beautiful thing to be sharing adventures with Dick, again, Mary thought, happily.

"I hope that no more drivers find this place today," Dick declared.

"Why?" she laughed. "Don't you want the poor lady to make any money?"

"I'll pay her to let us have this comfy place to ourselves for awhile. I have some things to tell you, Mary."

Figures upon which the AAA bases its argument that profiteering is rife in the cotton textile business were revealed exclusively by the United Press 12 hours before Secretary of Agriculture Wallace announced them yesterday.

Further cost figures show what the housewife faces when she goes shopping in a typical department store.

In analyzing the figures an officer high in agricultural administration circles said he believed buying resistance was imminent. Representative articles taken from the wholesale price report shows the following variations:

	Costs Last Winter	Costs Today
White Shirts (Doz.)	$ 6.00	$ 8.25
Muslin Sheets	40	75
Corduroy Trousers (Doz.)	15.00	21.00
Towels (Doz.)	2.25	3.25
Silk Velvet (yd.)	1.15	1.90
Shoes	2.25	2.35
Men's Socks (doz.)	2.90	4.00
Print Cloth (yd.)	.94	.18
Boys' Wool Suits (doz.)	22.50	30.00
Chaise Lounges each	4.50	9.10

In all cases the same quality of goods was used for the prices of last winter and of today. Addition of a reasonable profit for the storekeeper reveals how much consumer costs have increased.

Officials were doubtful whether all these price rises could be laid solely to cotton processing taxes and to increased labor costs under the Blue Eagle.

The blue chambray work shirt was taken as an example. Last winter such a shirt sold at retail for 60 cents. It contained slightly less than a pound of cotton, costing about six cents.

Today the same shirt costs the working man 90 cents. It still contains the same amount of cotton, now costing 9 1/2 cents.

Dove Season Opens Friday

Howard, Glasscock And Borden Counties Remain Closed

Open season on Dove in West Texas will begin Friday and continue through September and October.

However, Howard, Glasscock and Borden counties remained closed to bird hunters by a state statute.

Some confusion has been heard over the status of Glasscock county placed under a closed season by terms of a bill that was vetoed by Governor Sterling. But a bill carrying the same provisions was signed by Governor Ferguson and has become a law.

Doves are reported to be quite numerous this season. The legal bag limit is 15 in a day and 45 in any one week. All Howard county hunters will have to purchase licenses to hunt legally because they can not hunt in their home county. If they were allowed to do so under the law they could hunt within the county without a license.

T. E. Simmons is state game warden for the counties of Andrews, Midland, Martin, Howard, Ector, Glasscock, Crane, Upton and Reagan.

Mahon Succeeded By Hamilton As State's Attorney In County

GEORGE MAHON

George Mahon, who served three elective and one appointive terms as district attorney of the 32nd district court, was here Tuesday when he received word that R. W. Hamilton of Stanton had succeeded him as prosecuting attorney in Howard county.

His service in Howard county ended with the transfer of this county out of the 32nd into the 70th district. Before the 32nd district was changed by the legislature, it was the largest in this section of the state in population, having more than 72,000 people. Mahon served under three judges in this county, the late Judge Frits Smith of Snyder, Judge James T. Brooks of this city and Judge A. S. Mauser of Sweetwater. Instead again seeking the district attorneyship, Mahon will be an outstanding candidate for congress in the newly formed 19th district, in which Howard is included. The district encompasses territory as far east as Haskell, north to Lubbock, south to Howard and

Frank Stubbeman Apparently Named To Succeed Haag

MIDLAND—Estimates, established on a basis of incomplete, complete and unofficial and estimated returns today at noon, gave Frank Stubbeman law partner of the late B. Frank Haag, a margin of 785 votes over his opponent, Bert F. Howell, for successor to Haag of representative of the 88th district of Texas.

According to the table drawn up here, the returns to date read about like the following:

"I sincerely wish to thank my friends for their efforts," Stubbeman told a reporter. "In several instances, I have been shown copies of letters written by Midland people and friends of mine in other towns of the district, calling on their friends of others town to use their influence for me. Without such help I could not have polled so many votes. I was at more or less disadvantage in the race inasmuch as I did no advertising either by card or in the newspapers and the influence of my friends decided the race. If returns as received here are an indication."

Stubbeman will likely be in Austin only about 30 days this year and likely no more than 60 next year, as nothing but special sessions will be held during his term. He will continue his law practice as usual. District court opening later this year for the fall term than usual, his capacity as a representative will not interfere in the least with his court practice.

A resident of Mitchell county for twenty-five years, he was married to Miss Helen Stevenson of that city in 1923. There is one daughter to the union.

"I regret to say goodbye officially to Howard county," said Mahon Tuesday, adding that he counted his associates and hundreds of citizens as friends.

"My official goodbye," he said, "will not be permanent, I hope, for I am planning an intensive campaign for congress in the new 19th district."

Railroads Asked To Replace Their Old Freight Cars

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Pointing to the expectation of a continued increase in traffic, Joseph B. Eastman, Federal co-ordinator of transportation, Monday asked executives of all Class 1 railroads to canvass their freight car equipment with a view to replacing worn-out and obsolete cars.

Eastman said that, although many thousands of freight cars have been retired during the last three years, thousands more whose period of service has expired still are occupying yard and storage tracks.

In addition to lifting a burden from the carriers and increasing unnecessary hazards, Eastman said, replacement of worn-out and obsolete cars also would contribute to the success of the administration's emergency program by increasing equipment.
