SENTIMENT BEFORE MINN. TEST

Wisconsin Editors See Taft, Kefauver With Slight Edge

(Editor's Note: Wisconsin and Nebraska are the next stops in the traveling road show of American politics. Both states hold primary elections April 1. To report on political sentiment, The Associated Press has asked editors of daily and weekly newspapers in the two states how it looks in their own immediate communities. Here is the first report from Wisconsin. Another Wisconsin report will be made a few days before the primary, and a survey in Nebraska will be completed April 1.)

By REMAN MORIN

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A majority of 45 Wisconsin newspaper editors, surveying their own counties, estimate that Sen. Robert A. Taft and Sen. Estes Kefauver hold the edge in popular sentiment, with 12 days of campaigning left before the primary election, April 1.

Taft's principal opponents in the Republican primary are Harold Stassen, former governor of Minnesota, and Gov. Earl Warren, of California.

Kefauver is campaigning to take the Democratic delegates from two separate states favorable to President Truman.

Most of the editors' reports were made before the Minnesota primary. In that election Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower rolled up more than 106,000 votes, all of them write-ins since he was not entered in the race.

Eisenhower is not entered in Wisconsin either, but the impact of his Minnesota showing, editors said, could cause changes in their respective counties.

Their reports showed popular sentiment apparently favoring Taft in 34 counties. Stassen and Warren were reported favorites in four counties each. In two, although he is not entered, Eisenhower was described as the favorite. One editor said he was unable to estimate Republican sentiment in his county.

On the Democratic side, 22 editors said Kefauver appears to be leading the President. 13 reported Truman is ahead, and 10 said they could not gauge the Democratic contest.

Of the 45 reporting, seven listed themselves as supporting Taft, three are backing Stassen, and two are for Eisenhower. The survey included 23 daily newspapers and 22 weeklies or semi-weeklies, spread over nearly two-thirds of the state's 72 counties.

Along with their reports of "grass roots" popularity, many of the editors expressed cautious qualifications, such as: "It may be a close race between Taft and Stassen. Taft has been ahead but opinion seems more evenly divided after hearing both candidates. . . . Taft has strong regular Republican backing but the people supporting Warren are good vote-getters and may pull a surprise. . . . Although Republican leaders favor Taft, Warren may capture a larger vote among former Progressive than is expected." Similarly, with respect to the Democratic vote, editors said: "With two slates out for Truman, Kefauver is the only big name on the ticket. . . . An opinion poll here will show Kefauver as the favorite. . . . Kefauver wins the Democratic race here. It will be by a narrow margin. . . . All we hear is anti-Truman talk, but that doesn't mean necessarily the people will vote for Kefauver."

Wisconsin, traditionally, is political quick-silver, hard to grasp, brimming with independent-minded voters, and always a question mark.

It sometimes rolls up a Republican vote four times the size of the Democratic total—but in 1948 Truman carried it by more than 56,000. In 1944, Wendell Willkie, after a brilliant showing in his first election, campaigned hard again in Wisconsin—and failed to win a single delegate.

Editors report considerable sentiment for Eisenhower, and they believe the Minnesota result may further dramatize his position. But he is not entered in the coming election, and write-in votes are not counted.

Await Taft Notice Of NJ Withdrawal

TRENTON, N. J. (AP)—Specific notice from Sen. Robert A. Taft was awaited today to determine whether his name actually can be withdrawn from the New Jersey Republican Presidential Primary ballot.

Meanwhile, the verbal battle between Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll and the Ohio senator brought further consolidation of the state's Eisenhower forces and a suggestion that Driscoll be a candidate for vice president on the general's ticket.

Driscoll last night denied Taft's accusations that he had broken his word to remain neutral by coming out for Eisenhower. He said he thought Taft was "ill-advised or misinformed or else he would not have withdrawn from the right."

As it stands now, Taft has announced that he will not make any speeches in the state and has ordered his headquarters and campaigners to cease operations.

He charged Driscoll with "political trickery" in throwing the weight of the state's GOP organization behind Eisenhower and said the April 15 presidential preference poll was no longer a fair contest.

But Secretary of State Lloyd B. Marsh says he must have an official statement of withdrawal from Taft before he can take action to get his name off the ballot. Meanwhile, he ordered county clerks to hold up final makeup of the ballots.

State officials said they believed the March 12 deadline for candidates to withdraw from the poll was just an advisory date.

Some political observers have charged that Taft was afraid of an out and out fight in the New Jersey primary—the last direct Taft-Eisenhower contest in the nation's 16 primaries.

Driscoll said Taft's withdrawal statement was made because of the senator's "successive setbacks in New Hampshire and Minnesota."

In Wisconsin, Taft's only public reference to the situation yesterday was that he "pulled out for the purpose of devoting fulltime to campaigning in Wisconsin," where the primary will be held April 1.

Former New Jersey Gov. Walter E. Edge, member of an Eisenhower campaign advisory committee, formed last night to consolidate the General's forces in New Jersey, started touting Driscoll for the vice presidential candidacy on the Eisenhower ticket.

New Jersey's 38 delegates would "support solidly" a move to make Driscoll the vice presidential candidate on the Eisenhower ticket, he said.

Driscoll has said he is not a candidate for vice president.

Florida Shrimp Boats Finally Are Released

MEXICO CITY, March 21 (AP)—Those Shrimp Boats Are A-comin'—and back in Florida, other shrimpers laid their pistols down. Four Florida shrimp boats were on their way home today after being held four days in a Yucatan port on suspicion of poaching in Mexican waters. A U. S. Embassy spokesman said they were released last night and sailed at once from Campeche.

Two Mexican gunboats brought them to Sunday. Their release finally was reported after U. S. Ambassador William O'Dwyer conferred twice last night with Foreign Secretary Manuel Tello.

In Punta Gorda, Fla., crews of three boats, preparing to sail after the seizure, reportedly armed themselves with rifles and shotguns to fight off any similar attempt at arrest. The boats were raided by Sheriff Fred Quednau, who reported he found only two pistols. He confiscated them.

Mexico claims her home waters extend nine miles offshore and naval officials said the shrimp boats were halted inside that limit. The U. S. recognizes territorial waters only to the extent of three miles.

The Mexican Foreign Ministry said three other boats, from Brownsville, Texas, detained after taking refuge from a storm at a port near Vera Cruz, had been released and also were heading home.

New Rioting In Tunisia

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP)—New riots took another life in restless Tunisia last night.

One man was killed and several others injured by a motorcycle policeman who fired into a stone throwing mob which heaved rocks at streetcars.

Police and soldiers made 180 arrests in the Arab section of Tunis.

Two rail workers at Sousse, southeast of Tunis, were injured by a grenade thrown into a railroad station. Rail and road bridges were blown up in the area.

The Tunisians are demanding more independence from France, which rules the country under a protectorate. Nearly 100 persons have been killed in rioting since mid-January, when the Tunisians began to use violence to enforce their demands.

Textile Firms In Argentina Told To Work

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Argentine textile makers, threatening to shut down because the government raised wages and froze prices, were told last night to keep turning out goods or the government may seize the factories and cut off profits.

The Ministry of Industry said the textile makers have been getting big profits and the threat to shut down amounted to "sabotaging Argentina's 1952 economic plan."

The ministry statement said some textile manufacturers reported they might be forced to fire workers and shut down plants as a result of a government decree. The decree raised wages generally 40 to 80 per cent above September, 1949, levels, and froze most textile prices at the level of last Jan. 31.

The decree was issued under President Peron's program to balance wages and prices.

Coloradoans Leave, Minus Money And Gambling Equipment

WICHITA FALLS, March 21 (AP)—Two Pueblo, Colo., men were on their way to Louisiana today after officers confiscated a few hundred pounds of gambling equipment they found in the men's car and fined them $225.

Justice of the Peace H. M. Newman fined them each $100 plus $14 costs after they pleaded guilty to vagrancy.

The men were arrested Wednesday L. Electra on a traffic violation. Officers found the gambling equipment when they searched the car.

Truman Signs Legislation On Wetback Control

WASHINGTON, March 21 (AP)—President Truman signed into law yesterday legislation designed primarily to check flow of wetbacks across the Rio Grande.

At the same time, Rep. Gathings, (D-Ark.) said he objects to a proposal by Mexico that U. S. cotton growers be required to pay Mexican laborers 50 cents an hour for chopping cotton.

The new wetback bill aimed by the President makes it a felony to transport, harbor or conceal an alien who is illegally in the U. S. Violation is punishable by a maximum penalty of five years imprisonment and a $2,000 fine.

One provision says employment of an illegal alien shall not constitute harboring or concealing.

Negotiations with Mexico for renewal of the U. S.-Mexican Labor Treaty are expected to start soon. Under the treaty, Mexican nationals are recruited for work on farms and ranches in the U. S.

The existing treaty, originally scheduled to expire Feb. 11, was extended to May 11 so Congress would have time to comply with the President's request for tightened immigration laws.

Gathings said he had been told Mexico will insist on the pay provision in this year's contract. Previous contracts, he said, specified Mexican workers should receive the prevailing wage scale in the area they worked.

A flat requirement that growers pay Mexican laborers 50 cents an hour is a discrimination against our own laborers," Gathings said. He stated the prevailing wage scale for chopping cotton varies from year to year and from area to area.

In another development yesterday, a Labor Department request for $2,800,000 for the Mexican labor importation program was refused by the House Appropriations Committee. It was asked for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Circulars Urge Cubans Resist Batista Regime

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Crude printed circulars, slipped to passersby in the streets, urged Cubans today to passive resistance against the military dictatorship of Fulgencio Batista.

There was no immediate evidence the campaign was taking effect.

The leaflets called for an end to all buying and theater attendance except for purchase of the most essential products. Merchants said they had noted no decline in trade.

The main resistance to Batista appeared centered among striking Havana University students. They said they would not return to class until constitutional guarantees of freedom, suspended by Batista for 45 days, were restored.

The government, meanwhile, announced El Salvador and Switzerland have joined Spain in recognizing the new regime.

Tax Collectors Have Problems

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Internal Revenue Collector George T. McGowan is a little puzzled over what to do about a corporate tax payment that is one mill short.

McGowan told reporters yesterday the firm—which he declined to name—filed a return showing a tax liability of six cents, and attached a check for two cents.

"They outsmarted themselves on that one," he said. "Corporations are supposed to pay 35 per cent of the total tax due on the first installment. This check covers only 33-one-third per cent."

He said the payment should have been at least 2.1 cents.

"I don't plan to write a letter to call attention to the deficiency," he said. "That would cost more than the tax."

Local Talent Parades Tonight In City Auditorium Program

Final rehearsals are over and Big Spring's talent goes on parade at 8 p.m. tonight in the City Auditorium.

The show, sponsored by the Big Spring Junior Chamber of Commerce, will not only feature local performers, but will present Slim Willet, his band and top entertainers from the Big State Jamboree radio program.

Jaycees are hopeful the show can become a yearly one and feel that this first local "Talent Test" has some fine performers among the fifteen scheduled acts. Ages range from tiny tots to adults.

Prizes, going to the top three local talent acts, will be awarded. First prize is $25 and an all-expenses paid trip to Abilene and an appearance on the Big State Jamboree with Willet. The winner may also be given a recording contract. Second prize is $20 and a third award amounts to $15.

Tickets will be sold at the door. Adult admission is $1.20 and children will be admitted for 60 cents, as will servicemen.

Among the acts are Wanda Woods, vocalist, singing "Anytime"; Robbie Flowers, singing "No Other Love"; Rosetta Flowers, singing "The Little White Cloud That Cried"; Donnie Everett, singing "Mansion Over The Hilltop"; Dickie Snyder, singing "You Can't Get a Man With a Gun"; Hollis Harper, singing "Come What May"; Evelyn Wilkerson, accordion, playing "The Waltz You Saved For Me."

Also, Pat Johnson, singing "I Like The Wide Open Spaces"; Charles Morris, playing the electric guitar and singing "I Love You A Thousand Ways"; Bobby and Kay Leatherwood, singing "Hey, Good Looking"; Bingham Studio chorus, dance; Bennie Compton, accordion, playing "Dark Eyes"; Thurber Tinkham, singing "It's No Secret"; Elmer Lee Martin, electric guitar, playing "Bouquet of Roses"; and Charles Ryerson, harmonica and electric guitar, playing "Just Because."

Among the featured entertainers coming down with Willet who will also emcee the show, are Jean Stan-jury, Four-Star Recording Company star; Vaughn O'Shields, singer and imitator; also a recording star; and Shorty Underwood and the Brushcutters, a novelty band that appears on the Big State Jamboree.

Willet has won added fame by writing and recording the top song

Warren Lashes Taxes, Prices And Scandals

WAUSAU, Wis. (AP)—Gov. Earl Warren, the commuting candidate from California, fired upon the administration for high taxes, scandals and inflation last night as he began his third weekend tour of Wisconsin.

"The government must be reorganized from stem to stern and Republicans can do it," he said here.

Warren's arrival and the departure of Sen. Kefauver of Tennessee gave Wisconsin's April 1 presidential primary picture a solid Republican hue. Kefauver, only major Democratic candidate bidding for the presidency in these parts, left the state last night, headed for Omaha and some campaigning for Nebraska's April 1 primary. He left Wisconsin in the Republican hands of Warren, Sen. Taft of Ohio and Harold E. Stassen.

Warren's audience of 1,500 here last night greeted the governor by singing "Happy Birthday." His birthday was Wednesday.

Stassen issued a fresh blast at Taft at Racine last night and also an invitation for Taft backers in Wisconsin to join him.

Sen. Bob Taft's withdrawal from the New Jersey Republican primary is clear confirmation that his campaign is crumbling throughout the country," Stassen declared. "I therefore now extend a sincere invitation to the Taft voters of Wisconsin to join with me."

Taft made no public reference in his speeches yesterday to his withdrawal from New Jersey's April 15 primary but he told a reporter at Ashland he "pulled out for the purpose of devoting full-time to campaigning in Wisconsin."

Politics Dominated Senatorial Debate On Ike's Aid Testimony

WASHINGTON. — Politics wasn't mentioned during the backstage debate on bringing General Eisenhower home, but it hung over almost every word of the discussion.

mittee, of which he is a member, extend the invitation. When the vote came up in a closed-door session, however, politics obviously dominated the debate.

No matter what you think of Harry Truman, however, in this case involving the all-important question of foreign policy, he played the game straight. Truman's main idea is to get foreign aid passed.

Senator McMahon opened the closed-door debate by urging that it was Eisenhower's duty to inform the Senate how much money it should vote for the security of Europe.

Results In New Hampshire, Minnesota Make Life Confusing To Pro Politicians

By JAMES MARLOW WASHINGTON.—The professional politicians must be badly confused. Life was comparatively simple until the primary elections in New Hampshire and Minnesota.

Hampshire, sticking out his hand whenever he could to strangers, saying, "I'm Estes Kefauver, ma'am. I'm running for President and I'd like your support."

the past few years Kefauver—unlike the seldom TV'd but still victorious Eli Newer—has probably been seen on as many living room TV screens, if not more, than Truman.

Man May Invent Machines That Rebel Against Him

NEW YORK, March 21.—Some pessimists believe that as man builds better and better machines he himself gets worse and worse.

Man himself has failed to match the machine's ability to progress and grow. He is pretty much the same arrogant, vain bundle of hypocrisy he always was.

No machine so far has developed a bad conscience or a sense of guilt, but some of the more intricate mechanisms, when frustrated in their normal operation, have developed symptoms corresponding to a nervous breakdown.

Today there are machines with the muscle of 1,000 men. There are machines that can see through fog that baffles his eyes, hear sounds too soft to stir his dull ears, machines that can travel where he can't and think 10 times as quickly as his slow mind—with less error.

Actually, the machine, which does so many things better than man, is beginning to criticize its maker. Starting with the time clock, more and more machines are being used to sit in judgment upon more and more men, unerringly detecting their mistakes of hand, eye and mind. Eventually the machine may reach a point where it judges all mankind. That is the hope of tomorrow.

Restrictions On Soviet Seen As Unworthy Of Free Governments

To a considerable minority of editors the curb on travel by Russian officials in Western nations, in retaliation for similar restrictions on Western representatives in Russia, is unworthy of free governments.

aganda capital out of the opposite course. They could have called attention publicly to the restrictions in Moscow, and could have announced that they would not stoop to such tactics in this situation or in any other.

HARTFORD (Conn.) COURANT (Ind.-Rep.): "A policy of giving Russia into those privileges she extends to others is sane, practical and self-respecting. The failure of the United States to adopt such a policy at the outset of the cold war can not escape being viewed abroad, and by many at home, as weak and detrimental to the success we hope to achieve. Treating the Russians like children to be impressed and reformed to a disposition of charity is a policy that has paid off in disdain and defiance. Might it not better be scrapped for something more realistic and firm?"

DAYTON (Ohio) NEWS (Ind.-Dem.): "What satisfaction there may be in doing this to Russian representatives just because they have done it to our representatives will be petty and short-lived. This is diplomacy by pinprick. It is juvenile by any standard measurement. This is a war of ideas we're in, not a war of petty insults and equally petty counter-insults. Russian officials live in a dream world of drummed-in cliches and stereotypes. Give them a chance to see how democracies really tick and their preconceptions might be shattered."

PITTSBURGH (Pa.) POST-GAZETTE (Ind.): "Actually, the move is rather silly. The Soviet restrictions on our diplomats are basically designed to prevent them from seeing what is going on in that country. Over here, where we have plenty of newspapers, magazines, and radio and TV broadcasts, one can always learn what is going on elsewhere in the nation without leaving his own living room. Thus, even if the State Department confined Soviet officials strictly to a one-mile radius of Washington it couldn't retaliate in kind for the isolation, information-wise, that our diplomats must endure in Russia."

NEW YORK HERALD TRIBUNE (Ind.-Rep.): "It has become apparent that holding up the example of freedom to the Kremlin... was taken as an open invitation to exploit a one-sided situation for all the Communists could extract. Probably it would be naive to assume that the moderate retaliation ordered will produce any marked effect on Soviet policy toward diplomats. But the Soviet Union has been placed on notice that the patience of the West in these matters, as well as in affairs of greater import, is not inexhaustible. The lesson may be of value."

NORFOLK (Va.) LEDGER-DISPATCH (Ind.-Dem.): "Restrictions on Russian representatives are not a precaution against espionage—or, if they are in part, they cannot be fully effective. Representatives of an unfriendly foreign power who are as conspicuous as those affected may direct espionage from their offices, but they seldom do the legwork. That suggests the real reason for the restrictions imposed by Russia and its satellites on Western representatives. They are efforts to humiliate and abuse the West. These countries must be put on notice that this country and its allies will retaliate in kind."

WASHINGTON (D. C.) POST (Ind.): "Although the motives of the restriction can be defended, we still believe that the action itself is unworthy of the great free governments which decreed it. Instead of stooping to Muscovite medievalism in an effort to bring pressure on the Soviet government, the United States and its friends could and should have proposed

Sooner or later one of these super electronic brains is going to develop a moral attitude and question its purpose in life. "Why should machines fight each other in wars to glorify man?" # Top Senators Okay Ag. Dept. Firings

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON
WASHINGTON, March 21 (AP)—
Top members of the Senate Agriculture Committee today expressed informal approval of the firing of two Dallas officials involved in the loss of several million dollars in government grain.

Chairman Ellender (D-La.), said he believed two days of testimony by the discharged Agriculture Department officials "show they did run a poor office."

The ranking Republican member, Sen. Aiken (Vt.) said evidence of handling grain shortages at Dallas "shows they were not outstanding executives."

They were talking about Latham White, former manager of the department's Dallas office, and Harry

J. Solomon, White's assistant, who finished testifying yesterday in the committee's probe of grain losses. About four million dollars of an estimated national shortage of eight millions centered in the Dallas office.

Agriculture Secretary Brannan dismissed the two Dec. 29 for "inefficiency" and "running a poor office."

Both told the committee they believed they had done a pretty fair job.

They testified they accepted numerous inexpensive gifts and presents from grain dealers prior to the middle of last year, but said Brannan told them that was not the reason they were fired.

White testified he ordered all Christmas gifts and presents returned after he learned Steven Benit Jr., a Dallas employe, had accepted monthly gratuities of $100 to $150 for a total of $1,500.

Benit, after being allowed to resign, complained White, Solomon and other employes also had accepted gifts and presents, White said.

White said this was true of Christmas presents and advertising novelties, such as cigar lighters, a pocket knife, jam, fruit, a hat, a belt and buckle and a Bible.

Solomon got similar presents and said he also accepted a day and night outing as guest of a grain firm.

Both said agriculture employes long had accepted such gifts without being asked to grant favors or doing anything wrong.

They said they decided against accepting any more presents six months before Brannan ousted them.

Ellender told a reporter White and Solomon "are fine fellows but I think the job down there was just too big for them."

Aiken commented: "They did not supervise their own employes in clearing up the shortages and they certainly should have had better supervision from Washington officials."

"The mistakes up and down the line will prove very costly to the taxpayers."

Harry's Plans More Clouded Than Ever Now

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—President Truman's 1952 political plans were more clouded than ever today as a result of his public rebuke of party Chairman Frank E. McKinney.

Whatever else may be deduced from his news conference here yesterday, Truman left three things clear:

1. He still is considering seeking another term.
2. He still considers himself the boss of the party and isn't letting anyone else speak for him.
3. He will make his decision and his announcement in his own good time, despite pressure from Democrats in and out of Congress for an early decision.

The sharp differences between what McKinney told newsmen here Wednesday and what the President reported to the same group Thursday puzzled politicians as well as reporters.

Efforts were being made to contact McKinney for a statement as he moved along the Florida Keys in his 50-foot cabin cruiser en route to Miami.

McKinney had told reporters he believed that Korean developments would play a paramount part in whether the President sought reelection.

Asked about this, the President declared tersely and without hesitation:

"Korea does not enter into the politics of this country at all. It has no bearing whatever on what he may decide to do."

Truman reiterated he would set the date himself when told McKinney expected the President to make his decision prior to May 15.

And he said he would make his decision on whether there will be an open convention. This was in reply to McKinney's statement that neither he nor the President wanted to be a "king maker" and would leave the convention "open" if Truman decided against running.

There was speculation that McKinney was trying to draw the President out by what he said at his Wednesday conference since he is under pressure from party leaders to get a commitment one way or another from the President.

There also was the factor that McKinney's reference to "optimism" over prospects or a settlement on Korea may have nettled the President at a time when he is anxious to avoid public statements which might be seized upon by Communist negotiators to further prolong the negotiation stalemate.

DEE DAVIS SR.

Dee Davis Is Candidate For Position Of JP

Dee Davis Sr. has announced himself as "an applicant for the job" of justice of peace of Precinct No. 1.

Mr. Davis said he would seek the Democratic nomination for that post in the July primary and asked consideration of voters of his candidacy.

"I've been a resident of Big Spring, he has been in Big Spring now for 15 years. In the pioneer days of the city, Mr. Davis was a Big Spring resident."

In the intervening years, he lived in the Pecos country and it was there that he served as a justice of peace.

"I gained a great respect for the obligations and duties of the office," he said. He also found that the administration of justice is best administered with common sense as well as with law.

He has been associated in the past with the Davis-Deats Feed Store and also had some livestock interests. At the present time, however, he has arranged his affairs so as to give full time to the job if the people choose to confer it on him, he said.

He and Mrs. Davis have three sons, all of them engineers. Mr. Davis is a homeowner and taxpayer.

"This summer the job of justice of peace comes open again," he noted. "I want to take this means of telling the people that I am an applicant for the place."

Tent Houses Heart Of Scattered AF

By WILBUR MARTIN
FORT HOOD, Tex. March 21 (AP)—
In a weather-beaten tent somewhere on this vast military reservation beats the heart of an Air Force scattered across a vast area of Texas.

Here will come the calls for air support for "Charley" company, the demand for an air strike for an Army.

From here the actions of a single plane—or an Air Force—can be controlled by the flick of a switch, by a single word.

This is the Joint Control Operation—JCO—and Tactical Air Control—TAC—center of the Ninth Air Force, supplying tactical air for Operation Long Horn, the biggest ground-air military maneuvers in U. S. history.

The planes of the Ninth are miles away—at Waco, Temple, Alexandria, La., San Angelo.

Brig. Gen. James Ferguson, deputy commander of the Ninth AF, is field commander during the maneuver while the Ninth's commanding officer, Maj. Gen. Edward J. Timberlake, acts as deputy maneuver director.

"Everything we do is for the infantrymen, even though he can't see it," Ferguson said in explaining tactical air's function.

Operation of the JCO and TAC is a fascinating sight.

Every air officer has an army counterpart. On huge charts, the whereabouts of every unit, of every plane can be determined at a glance.

An infantryman can't cuss the "fly boys" for having it so good today. The guy they're standing beside may be one.

Forward control observers are on the front line with the infantry. A goodly portion of those "ground-aid" airmen, in radio jeeps on this maneuver, saw action in Korea.

If "Charley" company, of say, a regiment of the 31st Infantry Division needs an air strike during Long Horn, the request is radioed through channels—in a matter of minutes.

It comes to an Army man in JCO, is passed to a senior Army officer who turns to the air officer to him for action.

This airman knows the location of the nearest wing, group or squadron; how many planes he has left, whether he can fill the request.

If he can, another airman—just in front of this one—contacts the field.

"Shoot eight planes to" and then gives the location.

Back through the Army men goes the word "planes coming." On the ground, when the flight is near, the air officer in the jeeps take over, giving directions, "talking" the planes to the target.

The artillery fires a colored shell onto the target to help. Then the fighter bomber or fighter pilots take over.

In the TAC, the position of every plane in the air is plotted. If necessary, they can be diverted from missions to higher priority targets.

The power commission said yesterday Tennessee Gas Transmission Co. and the Niagara Gas Co. of Toronto filed a joint application Wednesday for permission to export Texas gas to Ontario.

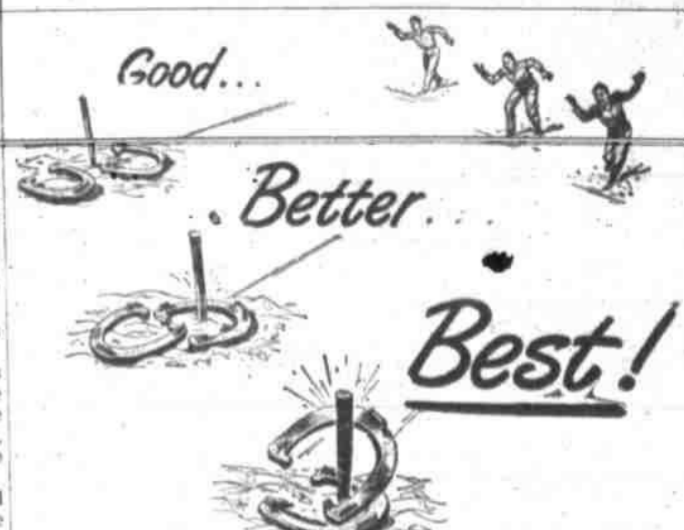

Several other proposals, officials said, are pending to bring gas from Canada to supply the North-western United States, now without natural gas.

The commission set hearings on the gas-from-Canada proposals for April 8, and a spokesman said it was possible the Tennessee-Niagara application would be considered at the same time.

Lydia Opened Heart and Home

SHE LISTENED, BELIEVED AND BEGGED THE APOSTLES TO ABIDE AT HER HOUSE

Scripture—Acts 16:14.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

THE STORY of the devout woman, Lydia, is unique in the Bible story because she was a business woman—a seller of the purple cloth, dyed with a costly dye obtained from a species of shell, fish. It was expensive because only one drop of it was secured from the throat of a fish, although a cheaper dye was secured by crushing the fish.

On the second of Paul's missionary journeys, happen to meet this prosperous woman? They had been in Asia, but the Spirit Who directed their work, refused to let them speak further in Asia.

At Troas, a famous seaport on the western shores of Asia Minor, across the Aegean sea from Macedonia, Paul had a vision at night. The vision was of a man from Macedonia who begged the Apostle to "come over into Macedonia, and help us."

Sure that the Lord had called them to preach the gospel on that continent, Paul and his companions went to Samothracia, next to Neapolis, and thence to Philip-

Paul, "being grieved," told the spirit to come out of the poor slave, in the name of Jesus Christ. It left her, but the men who had been "making easy money" through the girl were very angry and they caught Paul and Silas and took them to the market place, accusing them to the magistrates of teaching "customs which are not lawful for us to receive, neither to observe, being Jews."

They were Jews and were "troubling our city."

The multitude of people were against them, and "the magistrates vent off their clothes, and commanded to beat them." After they had been severely beaten they were thrown into prison with their feet in the stocks. At midnight the Apostles prayed and sang praises to God, and "suddenly there was a great earthquake, so that the foundations of the prison were shaken; and immediately all the doors were opened, and everyone's hands were loosed."

Awakening from sleep, the keeper of the prison saw the open

pi. chief city of that part of Macedonia.

There, on the Sabbath day, the missionaries went to the riverside outside the city, where there was a place of prayer. There being no synagogue in Philippi, this was the place where devout Jews met for prayer. Lydia, who worshipped God, was there.

There are those who go to worship on the Sabbath whose thoughts wander about on business affairs, household duties, social affairs, etc., paying little heed to the service or the words of the minister.

Lydia was not one of these. She listened attentively; the Lord "opened her heart," she was convinced of the truth of Paul's words, and was baptized with all her household. Then she begged the missionaries to go to her home and "abide there."

She was so emphatic in her invitation, that they felt "constrained," or almost forced, to accept. It must have been a pleasant interlude in the lives of these men, who traveled many miles on foot, depending on the generosity of those who listened and received their message for food and lodging. Lydia probably had a comfortable home with servants to care for the needs of all.

As the missionaries went to prayer a young girl followed them everywhere. She was possessed by a spirit and could prophesy so some men took her about and made money by her soothsaying. As she followed the Apostles she cried, "These men are the servants of God, which shew us the way to salvation."

Child of Europe

There is something strange and captivating in this youthful face.

The shadow of an early fear...
The hint of deep loneliness...
The ray of new-born hope...
Above all, a yearning for Love!

His picture has come to us without name, nationality, or family history. A child of Europe, that's all.

But for Him, and for suffering humanity the world over, the churches ask your prayers, and your gifts of money and clothing in a great hour of sharing.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Juniors To Present Comedy March 27-28

The junior class of Big Spring High School will present "Meet Corliss Archer," a three-act comedy at the new high school auditorium March 27-28 at 8:15 p.m.

Don Anderson and Frances McClain will portray Mr. and Mrs. Archer and Iva Hampton will play Corliss.

The play, published for the first time this year, was adapted from F. Hugh Herbert's book by Christopher Sergel.

Doyle Darratt will play Dexter Franklin, whose years of adolescence are being sorely complicated by the fact that he adores Corliss.

Roy Hester and Shirley Nolan will portray Dexter's parents, and Jo Ann Miller will be Mildred, Corliss' inseparable companion.

Others in the cast include Margie McDougale as Cousin Agnes; Pat Crossland, the doctor; Diane Laughman, his nurse; and Kay Riehboun as Betty.

The play is being directed by Dell McComb and in charge of publicity, the stage and house crews are Erma Shaughter, Mrs. Rita Weeg and Bob Dyer.

Tickets, now on sale by members of the class, are 50 cents.

Students Present Folk Dance Program In Lamesa Thursday

A group of students from Kate Morrison School were in Lamesa Thursday evening to present a series of Mexican folk dances at the annual banquet of the GI Forum at the Lamesa High School.

They also participated in Lamesa's annual Pioneer Days festivities.

Attending were Mike Zubiate, Jesus Gonzales, Joe Arispe, Joe Martinez, Wally Chaveran, Carmen De Leon, Viola Deandra, Sylvia Polanco, Eloise Paredex and Mary Lou Lopez.

Sponsors for the group were Mrs. Rosalind Bunch, Mrs. Cloise Beard and Mrs. Dorothy P. Davis, principal of the school.

WCS MEETS IN ASBILL HOME; COXES ARE HOSTS AT PARTY

GARDEN CITY, (Sp)—The WCS met with Mrs. Tom Asbill recently and Mrs. J. P. Boswell brought the devotional from Matthew 7:13. This was followed by a prayer by Mrs. Asbill.

Mrs. Boswell gave "Thoughts on Opening a Refrigerator Door." "Our Dollar in North Africa," was given by Mrs. W. K. Scudday and an offering was taken for foreign mission work.

Mrs. J. L. Parker appointed Mrs. Asbill as chairman and Mrs. I. L. Watkins to serve on the nominating committee. The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Parker with Mrs. Joy Wilkerson in charge of the program. The meeting was closed with a series of prayers. Refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Cox entertained with a forty-two party Friday evening at their ranch home south of town.

Refreshments were served to Mr. and Mrs. V. L. McWhirter, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hightower, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Underwood and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Wilkerson.

The Garden City Intermediate Girl Scout Troop met at the Little House Wednesday afternoon after school.

Visiting friends in Garden City Tuesday was Mrs. Ida Rieley, former resident of Glasscock County. Her late husband was at one time judge of the county. Mrs. Rieley now lives in Los Angeles, Calif.

J. W. (Jim) Hunt, training representative for the Shell Pipeline Corporation, of Colorado brought J. B. (Jack) Hynal, examiner for the U. S. Bureau of Mines, of McAllister, Oklahoma to Garden City Monday afternoon to examine a group that recently took a first aid course here. The group met at the Shell Station at 2 p.m.

Those attending will be issued first aid certificates from the U. S. Bureau of Mines. They are Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Scudday, O. L. Rich, A. M. Geiger and Frank Low.

Crippled Children's Clinic Set In Midland Wednesday

The annual Crippled Children's Clinic, sponsored by the Midland-Cotter-Howard County Health Units in co-operation with the State Health Department, is to be held in the City-Country Auditorium in Midland Wednesday, March 26.

Registration begins at 8 a.m. and all patients are urged to register not later than 12 p.m. Any crippled child in this area is welcome to attend.

This clinic is not for treatment, but for diagnosis and recommendation only. One plastic and two orthopedic surgeons will be in attendance.

Any one desiring further information may call the Big Spring-Howard County Health Unit, No. 1766. Local civic clubs have volunteered to furnish transportation for those needing it.

Marguerite Cunningham, state nursing supervisor, and Imogene Smith, public health nursing consultant in orthopedics, will also be present at the clinic.

Vice Grand Resigns At Rebekah Meeting

Fern Polack's resignation as vice grand was accepted with regret when the John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge met recently at Carpenter's Hall.

Plans were made to honor Schuyler Colfa at a program at the hall Tuesday evening. At the same time members of the IOOF will present a drill team.

Attending were 32 members.

Baptists Have Program; P-TA Elects Officers

COAHOMA, (Sp)—Mrs. C. J. Engle was in charge of the lesson on "Cuba for Christ" when the WMO of the Baptist Church met recently.

Others on the program were Mrs. J. C. Kile, Mrs. Oscar Jenkins, Mrs. C. A. Coffman, Mrs. R. A. Marshall, Mrs. C. T. Payne, Mrs. Mark Reeves, Mrs. L. C. Messer, Mrs. Rosa DeVane, Mrs. Jim Hodnett and Mrs. W. C. Hutchins.

During the business meeting the group voted to study the mission book, "Tangled Threads" at the meeting on March 24.

The following week the group will meet for a covered dish luncheon and a continuation of the study.

Mrs. Bill Bostick led the benediction.

Recommendations of the nominating committee were accepted when the Coahoma P-TA met recently.

Mrs. J. C. Kile was named president and other officers include Mrs. G. F. Gibson, vice president; Mrs. Gordon Yates, secretary; and Mrs. Jim Hodnett, treasurer.

H. L. Miller, superintendent of schools, spoke on "What Makes Good Schools" and the remainder of the program was presented by the 4-H Girls, under the direction of Mrs. Lawrence Davis.

Alton DeVane entertained a group of classmates from the eighth grade with a skating party recently. Attending were Pasy Owens, Charlene Williams, Yonna Mae Springfield, Darla Woodson, Martha Camp, Mark Reeves Jr., Robert Simms, Edwin Faubion, Bill Tindol, Jimmy Hopper and Harold Williams.

The Rev. Robert Hawkins taught the third and fourth chapters of James when the women of the church met in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lovelless last week. Husbands of members were special guests. Twelve attended.

Spanish Apron
 Made in Spain—an authentic festival dance apron—the motifs and embroidery are truly lovely! Transfer for the "double thickness" apron measures 20 by 15½ inches; belt is 2 inches wide; colorful motifs are done in reds, blues, yellows, greens and browns. Edging is crested in alternating sections, in red, yellow and blue. It will make a gay and festive party apron and you can also use the individual motifs for pillows, place mats, dining cloths. Stitches are interesting and all are sketched in the pattern for ease in making.

Send 25c for the transfer and embroidery instructions for the SPANISH APRON (Pattern No. 475). YOUR NAME, ADDRESS, PATTERN NUMBER to CAROL CURTIS.

Patterns ready to fill order immediately. For special handling of order via first class mail include an extra 5 cents per pattern.

Gelatin Gives Rayon Garments New Life
 Rayon blouses or slips that have grown limp can be restored by dipping in gelatin. First, wash them as usual in lukewarm soap-suds, and rinse well. Then make dipping solution by softening two tablespoons granulated gelatin in cold water. Dissolve in two quarts, boiling water. Cool to lukewarm. Dip garments, squeeze out excess moisture. Iron as usual at low heat while damp.

DESIGNING WOMAN

Draperies Hang Properly With Heading-Deep Tape

By ELIZABETH HILLYER
 The way draperies hang counts as much as their fabric and color. Especially now that favorite drapery is simple and straight-hanging, folds must be perfect and evenly spaced. Pinch pleat headings give these draperies style, distribute fullness evenly and top them off with a neat decorative finish. Pinch pleats can be made to measurements you calculate carefully yourself, or they can be made more easily with ready-made tape pleaters that space the pleats for you. Here's a new one that's just coming into the drapery sections of the stores. It's a heading-deep tape that provides both the stiffening the heading needs and pockets for four-pronged hooks that complete the pleats as soon as they're inserted. Pockets the full length of the tape make it no trouble at all to group the pleats in the right places, and the removal of the hooks again flattens the pleats to make the heading easy to press. Because it's the insertion of the hooks that makes the pleats, the heading can change style. The hooks inserted differently make box pleats, or two pinch pleats instead of three. The heading width can be changed to fit another window by spacing the pleat groups closer together or farther apart.

Annual Staff Names New Year Officers

COLORADO CITY, (Sp)—Colorado High School's Lone Wolf Annual staff has elected officers for 1952-53.

Eulynne Bradford and LaVonne Rice were elected as associate editors, Carol Jean Boatright and Billie Fred Jameson as business managers and Wilma Anderson and Tooter Fortune as assistant business managers.

The new photography editor is Dot Fisher, assisted by Perry Ellwood. Staff artist is Connie Ainsworth, with Ronny Salmos as assistant.

Joan Taylor and Bonnie Hulme were elected as copyists.

Executive Officers Meet In Snyder Home

The executive officers of the NCO Wives Club met Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Ruth Snyder, president, to discuss plans for further development of the organization. Refreshments were served to nine.

Mrs. Lee Schedules Art Show April 1

Mrs. Robert E. Lee, 303 Park, has announced that her annual art show will be held Tuesday, April 1, at the First Baptist Church.

In addition to her own work, Mrs. Lee will display the work of her 53 of her students from Big Spring Midland, Snyder and Coahoma.

Two-Piece Treasure

With peplum lines and gentled shoulders, shawl collar too, this two-piece reflects the trend toward more feminine styling. Shantung, cotton, a new print—all could be used for this versatile three-quarter or cap sleeve version.

No. 3042 is cut in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 18, 3½ yds., 39-in.

Send 30 cents for PATTERN with Name, Address, Style Number and Size. Address PATTERN BUREAU, Big Spring Herald, Box 42, Old Chelsea Station, New York 11, N. Y.

Mrs. Thurman Reviews 'A Man Called Peter'

The title character of the book, "A Man Called Peter," was figuratively brought to life by Mrs. Ira Thurman when she reviewed the book for members of the Thursday Review Club in fellowship hall of First Christian Church.

Written by his wife, Catherine Marshall, about the man who served as Senate chaplain, the story carries the minister from his early, restless childhood in Scotland to his death at the early age of 46 at the peak of his career.

Mrs. Marshall's first book, a compilation of the minister's sermons and prayers, was "Mr. Jones, Meet The Master."

"The beautifully written, intimate 'A Man Called Peter,' contains much laughter and sometimes a

Central Ward Names New Officers For Year At Meeting

Mrs. J. H. Hoffman was elected president of Central Ward P-TA when the group met at the school Wednesday afternoon.

Other new officers are Mrs. W. H. Bain, first vice president; Mrs. Garland Briden, second vice president; Mrs. Ruth Burnam, secretary; and Mrs. R. P. Driver, treasurer.

A discussion on "What Makes Better Schools" was led by Dean Bennett, Arak Phillips and Mrs. Steve Baker.

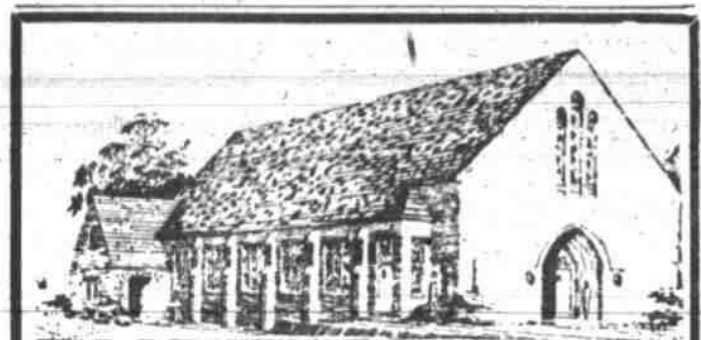

About 30 attended.

Wives Club Meeting

Mrs. Ruth Snyder, president, has announced that a business and social meeting of the NCO Wives Club has been called for Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the NCO Club at the Big Spring Air Base. All members are urged to attend.

Texans Are Becoming Upset About Presidential Races

By The Associated Press
It was spring and about time for the dogwood to bloom. Texas backers of presidential aspirants kept up support of their favorites with challenges, vocal broadsides, private conferences and plain country politicking.
An East Texas editor challenged Senator Kefauver (D-Tenn.) to take a stand on the controversial tidelands question. The finance chairman of the group backing General Dwight Eisenhower for the Republican presidential nomination conferred with the Texas leader at the movement. And a supporter of Senator Robert Taft (R-Ohio) charged Eisenhower backers with "New Dealism."
The ghost of the 1948 U. S. Senate race walked the state's political stage with a grand jury report in Jim Wells County.
President Truman declined an invitation to speak in Dallas in June. Senators Russell and Kefauver accepted.
Beaumont voters found out they would not be able to hold a presidential preference primary as they had planned. But voters at Kountze decided they would.
Publisher Charles Devall of the Kilgore News-Herald yesterday wired Senator Kefauver that "the hottest political issue in Texas is the confiscation of the tidelands by the federal government. x x x The people of Texas are interested in knowing your position."
Devall pointed out that Senator Richard Russell (D-Ga.) had answered a similar query by the newspaper that he was squarely on the side of the states and that Senator Taft also had taken a stand against "the revolutionary new doctrine of paramount rights." Howard C. Petersen, chairman of the Eisenhower finance committee, was in Houston today after an unheralded conference last night with Jack Porter. Porter is the Eisenhower leader in Texas who wants to unseat Henry Zweifel, Fort Worth, as GOP national committeeman from Texas.
As Petersen conferred with Porter and "other influential Houstonians," a member of the national GOP finance committee said "New Dealism" is tied to "practically all" of General Eisenhower's outstanding supporters.
He was Marris McLean, veteran GOP fund raiser, who predicted the general's future primary victories would be few and far between.
But Petersen thought otherwise. "I've been following the headlines ever since I left New York," he said. "It's a vast understatement to say that recent developments are greatly encouraging to General Eisenhower."
But McLean said Taft never expected to win in Minnesota, California, Oregon, New York, New Jersey, and the New England states also had been written off. He claimed the Ohio senator does not need a vote in any of those states to win the nomination.
"When Republicans break away from the leadership of Dewey, Duff, Lodge, Saltonstall, Tobey, Aiken, Morse et al. we will be on our way to working out the desperate situation we are now in," McLean stated.
"We don't need Eisenhower's services except as a military man," he added. And he said the Eisenhower-Taft factional battle was a "serious contest as to whether a conservative program shall prevail... or shall the New Deal continue."
Meanwhile, it became known that Eisenhower had been invited to speak in Dallas next June. In Tulsa, Okla., headquarters of the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce announced the invitation.
Lee Price Jr., national Jaycee president, cabled the general that all other presidential aspirants had been invited. So far, he said, Kefauver and Russell had accepted.
Price said Senator Taft indicated he might be too busy campaigning at that particular time to come to Texas. But in a recent press conference in Dallas, Taft said he planned to make a Texas campaign speech if he were nominated.
President Truman, the Jaycee president said, declined the invitation giving as his reason the press of business in the final days of the congressional session. "And, anyway," the President added, "there is no telling at this time who the Democratic candidate will be."

German Elections Group Ready To Leave For Home

BERLIN (AP)—The U. N. Commission on German Elections is preparing to leave or home soon—probably Sunday—if permission to visit Communist East Germany is still withheld.
The four-member commission came to see whether really free elections could be held under existing conditions in divided Germany. Members met this week with top officials of the West German government, who promised full co-operation. Two requests to visit Russian-occupied East Germany were ignored by the Reds.
The commission chairman, Kristjan Albertson of Iceland, said he would give the Russians a few more days to answer.

VIVIEN LEIGH ALSO TOPS
Bogart Surprises As Award Winner

By JAMES BACON
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A sentimental and happy Hollywood rejoiced today with Oscar winner Humphrey Bogart, the people's choice, but the town was still stunned over "American in Paris" copping the best picture award.
Of the top three awards, Vivien Leigh was the only favorite to come through. Her performance as the tarnished Southern belle in "A Streetcar Named Desire" won her the best actress award. It was her second victory. Her first was as Scarlett O'Hara in 1939.
It was a sentimental year and Bogie summed it up best himself: "I have been around a long time. Maybe the people like me."
Bogie's performance as the unshaven boatskipper in "The African Queen" was the popular choice. It brought down the house of ermined and white tied movie-land elite who attended the ceremony at the Pantages Theater.
Karl Malden, the disillusioned lover of "Streetcar," won the award for the best supporting actor and Kim Hunter, the wife in "Streetcar," won the best supporting actress plum. They were favorites.
The biggest upset of the night, if not in years, was the victory for "American in Paris." It was the first out and out musical ever to win the grand prize. Most experts figured it last in their selections. A good musical, it was not classed in the same breath with "Streetcar" and "A Place in the Sun."
The musical also won Oscars in these categories: Costume design, art direction, set decoration, cinematography (all these in color films), musical scoring, story-and-screenplay.
In addition to these, Gene Kelly, the picture's star, won an honorary award for his "brilliant achievements in the art of choreography on film."
The Irving Thalberg Memorial Award went to producer Arthur Freed. Producer Darryl Zanuck said in presenting it that two of Freed's pictures, "Showboat" and "An American in Paris," are "perfect examples of creative art."
Miss Leigh, appearing on Broadway with her husband, Sir Lawrence Olivier, was not present. Greer Garson accepted in her behalf. Another absentee was Miss Hunter. Bette Davis accepted her statuette.
"In the Cool, Cool, Cool of the Evening," also a favorite, won the best song award for composers Johnny Mercer and Hoagy Carmichael.
Stevenson Seeking Governorship Only
SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Gov. Adlai Stevenson reiterated last night that he does not want to run for the presidency.
"This is the season of our political cycle when men dream dreams and see visions—mostly of the White House," the Illinois Democratic governor told a $20-a-plate Jackson Day dinner.
"Well, I'm not one of them. I want to run for governor of Illinois—and that's all. And I want to be re-elected governor—and that's all."
