$75,000 Awarded To LRMH-MR Center

Austin -- Senator John T. Montford, (D-Lubbock), announced this week that $75,000 has been awarded to the Lubbock Regional Mental Health-Mental Retardation (MH-MR) Center for the first year of a three-year grant presented on behalf of the Texas Planning Council for Developmental Disabilities by the Texas Rehabilitation Commission to enable individuals with disabilities to obtain employment.

"This project will enable people who have developmental disabilities to work in regular jobs in the community alongside their nondisabled peers," Senator Montford said. "The Lubbock Regional MH-MR center will assist each one in locating a paid position which is matched to the person's abilities and interests, train the individual on the job, and provide ongoing supports as needed to help the individual maintain employment."

Two marketing specialists will be hired to contact businesses in Lubbock and in the surrounding area to explain the program and to negotiate employment options of 20 to 40 hours per week. One of these marketing specialists will be assigned to Cochran, Crosby, Hockley, and Lynn counties. The other marketing specialist will be assigned to Lubbock County. Carolyn Burgess will direct the project.

During the past two years the Lubbock MH-MR Center has placed about 60 individuals in integrated jobs.

Development disabilities are severe, chronic disabilities that occur the age of 22 and that limit a person's participation in three or more before of the following major life activities: self care, self-direction, learning, language, mobility, independent living, and economic self-sufficiency. Examples of development disabilities include autism, cerebral palsy, epilepsy, severe mental retardation, deaf-blindness, chronic mental illness and various birth defects.

"Supported employment provides people with developmental disabilities the chance to earn a wage and become a contributing member of society," Senator Montford said. "In the past, these people have been unemployed or have worked in shelter workshops where they have been separated from the general population."

Lee Veenker, chairman of the Texas Planning Council for Developmental Disabilities said, "The Council believes all people with developmental disabilities deserve the option to work in the community. We want to increase the public's awareness that people with developmental disabilities are good neighbors, friends, co-workers and citizens who enrich our communities everyday."

The Texas Planning Council for Developmental Disabilities is a 28-member board, appointed by the Governor of Texas, dedicated to improving the lives of the 270,000 Texans with developmental disabilities. Each year, the council supports model projects that serve as prototypes for future programs around the state and advocates on behalf of people with developmental disabilities.

The Lubbock Regional MH-MR Center is located at 1210 Texas Avenue, Lubbock, Texas. The phone number is (806) 766-0250.

RUBY JAYS CORNER

The New Hope Baptist Church is located at 2002 Birch Avenue, and Rev. Billy R. Moton is the proud pastor.

Last Sunday was "Youth Day" as well as "Mother's Day" as well as "Mother's Day." It was a good day! Sunday School began at 9:30 a. m. with Sister B. Kelly presiding.

During the 11:00 a. m. services, devotions was conducted by Brother Swain and Sister Howard. A selection was sung by the Senior Choir. The Mission and Education offering was coordinated by the Deacons and Ushers. After a song by the Youth Choir, announcements were read by Cynthia Ball. After another selection, Pastor Moton gave his pastoral observations.

It was a surprise event as he gave red roses to Mothers who were the oldest and youngest as well as the Mother with the most children.

There was one who came the longest distance to attend church services at New Hope.

Pastor Moton dedicated a song to all the Mothers who were present.

Pastor Moton's sermon for the morning was entitled "Jesus Didn't Forget About His Mother." His text was St. John 19:25-27. It was a very beautiful message.

After the invitation to Christian discipleship, one came forth for baptism.

Last Monday evening, the Nannie B. Circle met at Mrs. G. H. Davis' home. The members surprised her with a birthday party.

We were so glad to have Sister Fannie Young visit the party as there were sandwiches, cake and ice cream for everyone present.

All members who made the trip to Pittsburgh, Pa. have nothing but high praises for how nice they were treated there. Isn't it wonderful to travel and see what is going on in other parts of the world. Really, one can't really pay for such an experience unless he or she has such an opportunity to do such traveling.

Mrs. F. Stokley visited her children in Austin, Texas for Mother's Day. According to Mrs. Stokley, they had a wonderful time.

Mrs. Jerry Colquitt attended her uncle's funeral in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma last week.

Mrs. Campbell Wilson also lost a relative last week.

What a surprise it was for Mr. & Mrs. Harrison "Bull" Davis for Mother's Day as their daughter, Mary Ann Jones of Dallas, Texas, and a subscriber to the Southwest Digest, and her daughter, Shirley Eborn, and grand baby from Riverside, California were home. They will be here for a few days.

Let us continue to pray for our sick and shut-ins. Mrs. Ruby Neal is still a patient at Methodist Hospital. She is on our prayer list.

SPC Offers Summer Classes In Automotive

Levelland -- South Plains College will offer a series of full-time and part-time classes this summer for persons interested in college-level training in automotive and diesel service technology.

Registration for the 12-week summer course is May 21 on SPC's Levelland campus. Classes begin that day and will meet from 7:30 a. m. - 4 p. m., Monday through Friday. The courses end August 10.

According to Mike Caroland, program coordinator, the summer classes will enable a new student to get a head start on their college program and allow current students to finish the program requirements quicker.

"Providing these full-time courses which will give a student 12 semester hours upon completion lets him or her finish the program in about 18-months, rather than the traditional 24-months," said Caroland. "This lets the student get the training needed to sign a career and start to work sooner."

Caroland added that students may also enroll in half-time courses that allow them to attend classes either in the morning or in the afternoon. "This gives working students a little more flexibility in scheduling a class and meeting work commitments," he said.

Through the program, South Plains College provides up-to-date training and instruction in automotive and diesel servicing. The program leads to a certificate of proficiency or an associate of applied science degree.

For more information, contact Caroland at 806-894-9611, ext. 295.

Crazy Horse

Those of you who have a strong stomach should have been at the Federal Courthouse last week to watch Linda DeLeon fight the school district for three days. As best I could tell from a couple days sitting in the bleachers, it looked like Linda and her lawyers punched out the school district and then kicked them a few times while they were down. Now, we have to wait and see if Judge Woodard will rule that she won the fight.

It was reported in the May 11th edition of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal that three more Texas banks failed recently and were seized by the federal government. So far this year 59 banks have failed in this country and 36 of them were in Texas.

And all the while we here the same tired nonsense that we need to elect more bank presidents or folks approved by the banks to make our government more fiscally responsible and more businesslike.

Folks, all of us went to school with those slick and squirrely folks that sell used cars and run banks. They are out to make a buck any way they can. They are not morally superior to hardworking folks who work two jobs and pay their bills on time. They damn sure can't be too smart if their business goes under and the federal government has to take over. (On the other hand, how many of us have the government to bail us out of our schemes.)

You do not have to wear a coat and tie to be honest and intelligent. C'mon Clements, Hance, Combest, Bush, Cavazos, take off your coats and tie, roll up your sleeves, and start telling the truth.

- 5/17 1968 -- Cantonville 9 napalm draft fires
- 5/17 1968 -- Supreme Court outlaws segregated schools in Brown v Board of Education.
- 5/18 1896 -- Supreme Court upholds "separate but equal" doctrine in Plessy v Ferguson.
- 5/19 1925 -- Malcolm X born.
- 5/22 1895 -- Eugene V. Debs imprisoned for his role in the Pullman strike.

Buried in the May 3rd edition of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal was a story about racism and sexism at Texas Tech. According to Julio Llanos, director of Tech's affirmative action office, there are four Black and 16 Hispanic faculty members out of 826 full time faculty. There are only 22 women.

Have you ever wondered why having a major university in town has never resulted in Lubbock becoming a progressive city? Have you ever considered the effect of 800 or so tired old white men who like the way things are in this town?

Lubbock used to be known as one of the three most segregated cities in the Southwest. The other competitors were Tucson and Odessa. All of you probably knew this but maybe it slipped your memory. There are other things you may have forgotten.

It took law suits to end the discriminatory election system of the school and city. Wasn't Texas Tech the last Southwest Conference football team to have a Black player on its football team? It took law suits to desegregate our public schools and cemetery. Wasn't Tech the last major university in Texas to integrate? And we all wonder why Linda DeLeon is catching so much hell.

Teenagers in Trouble Kids And Crime

by Sheila Thompson

How many murders have your children witnessed? How many robberies have they been "in on?" How many rapes and how many other crimes have they seen?

The answer is probably far too many -- through the magic of television. In this "golden age" of trash TV, almost every form of human degradation is routinely available in close-up color. The most graphic elements are perhaps left to the imagination to conform with the "modern" notion of good taste. But for most children who addictively watch TV for many hours each week, crimes of every description form a large part of their entertainment.

To be fair, the same criticism can be leveled at adults. And who is to say that some adults are not as suggestible or as influenced by what they see on television? "We're convinced that we can affect public policy and we've lost control of our kids," University of Wisconsin social historian Stan Schultz recently told Newsweek. "So we abide by the law of the Roman circus: a little blood here, a little sex there, and most people will be happy."

But before you begin to wonder if you shouldn't cut back on your children's TV viewing (and I'm not saying you shouldn't), the point should be made that what kids see on television does usually represent a part of the world in which they live -- or about. After all, aren't children who read newspaper also exposed to endless murders and violent crimes?

One essential difference, when it comes to crime, is that television fiction usually contains a lie which is easily bought. TV criminals are so often slick, well dressed, rich and clever. If they weren't, all those poor downtrodden TV heroes wouldn't have much of a struggle to win the day.

The message, even if unintended, is that crime can pay and pay handsomely -- at least for a while. And for kids who usually cannot see beyond the next couple of years, "for a while" is the most important part of their lives.

The truth about crime is starkly different. "There is nothing very glamorous about the criminal, the breaker of his pledge, the betrayer of his friend or group," writes L. Ron Hubbard, one of the most acclaimed and widely read authors of all times whose best-seller Dianetics has become the world's foremost self-important text.

"To the weak, to the cowardly, to the reprehensively irrational, dishonesty and underhanded dealings, the harming of others and the blighting of their hopes, seem to be the only way of conducting life. Unethical conduct is actually the conduct of destruction and fear...."

Television too often glamorizes criminals, presenting a very false picture of such people. The Mafia as depicted in films and television, for instance, is a family haunted by tragedy, forced to commit crimes to defend and better the prospects of their ethnic group. The reality, as

A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT OF THE NATIONAL EDUCATION ASSOCIATION

Rebuilding America

Nearly 40 years ago President Dwight Eisenhower said: "Every gun that is made, every warship launched, every rocket fired signifies, in the final sense, a theft from those who hunger and are not fed, from those who are cold and are not clothed. This world, in arms, is not spending money alone. It is spending the sweat of its laborers, the genius of its scientists, the hopes of its children."

The end of the Cold War provides America with the opportunity to drastically reduce that theft. It allows us to expand our definition of national security to include America's unmet human and economic needs.

As Senator Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts said in a speech at Georgetown University last month, "we face a new era in which the real test of our strength will be economic, not military. With our standard of living now sixth in the world, Americans know that we have to rebuild our economy, that we have to invest in fundamentals that have long been ignored—from education and health to research and transportation."

"These priorities all paid the price for the military burden of the last generation, and for the even steeper military build-up of the 1970s decade. It is time to redress the imbalance of the Cold War—at home and around the world."

There will be a peace dividend. The question is whether America will invest it wisely. Will we avail ourselves of this opportunity to re-examine and reshape our national priorities? Will we reallocate our resources in ways that will make America

Putting The Peace Dividend To Work

KEITH GEIGER

a stronger, more cohesive, and more just nation?

Meeting our nation's unmet human and economic needs—starting with universal educational excellence—is the key to that brighter American future. President Bush and the governors of our 50 states endorsed that view when they adopted the six national education goals earlier this year.

The crux of those ambitious goals is to ensure that we become a universally well-educated nation over the course of this decade. The first goal reads: "By the year 2000, all children in America will start school ready to learn."

As Senator Kennedy put it: "We must start with the education of very young children, because our future depends on them. Head Start must be available to 100 percent of eligible children, instead of the shameful 20 percent who are now served. We must encourage states and local governments to provide access to child care, and to begin early education programs for all young children. Each dollar we invest now will save six dollars in the future in lower costs for welfare, unemployment, and crime."

"We must break the downward spiral of student dropouts and academic failure, by restructuring our school systems and investing far more in the hardest-pressed schools of our communities. We must enhance the status of teaching, to keep good teachers in the classroom and attract new ones to the profession. We must provide more support for math and science instruction and for drug education. We must ensure that no students anywhere in the nation are denied a college education because their families cannot afford it."

In short, we must move educational improvement to the top of our national agenda. We must put our priorities and resources where our rhetoric is.

A poster in a Senate subcommittee room says it well. The drawing is of children at play. The legend reads: "It Will Be a Great Day When Our Schools Get All the Money They Need, and the Air Force Has to Hold a Bake Sale to Buy a Bomber."

The Outreach Prayer Breakfast

The Outreach Prayer Breakfast met in the home of Mr. & Mrs. Johnson at 9 a. m. last Saturday. Opening scripture was Isaiah 53:1-5. It was a spirit filled devotion. Several prayers and praise, and testimonies went forth. It was a great morning! Sister Ardelia Hardrick taught the lesson for the morning. The scripture was St. John 10:1-30.

(1) Verily, verily I say unto you, he that entereth not by the door into the sheepfold, but climbeth up some other way, the same is a thief and a robber.

(7) Then said Jesus unto them again, Verily, verily, I say unto you, I am the door of the sheep. (9) I'm the door: by me if any man enter in, shall be saved, and shall go in and out, and find pasture. (10) thief cometh not, but for to steal, and to kill, and to destroy: I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly.

(27) My sheep hear my voice, and I know them, and they follow me. (28) and I give unto them eternal life; and they shall never perish, neither shall any man pluck them out of my hand. (29) My father which gave them me is greater than all; and no man is able to pluck them out of my Father's hand, (30) I and my Father are one.

This teacher said: "The sheep knows his master's voice. The devil came as an angel of light, real sheep won't obey him. Satan has no right to control our children. He only comes to kill and destroy. He has killed for too many -- enough is enough!"

Thought of the week: "Check the positive statements you make to your children, and the negative statements. Remember, it takes four positive statements to undo one negative one. Parents, watch what comes out your mouth when you are angry. Think about it!!

Only the Gospel of Jesus Christ will America be saved! "No other way!"

We were delighted to have Rev. Albert James Washington with us on last Saturday morning.

Breakfast was prepared for all. We have plenty so come by and share this meal with us. It's food for the body and soul.

Our sick list includes: Sister Verdell Baldwin, patient in Methodist Hospital; Brother Eddie P. Richardson, co-publisher of the Southwest Digest, a patient in St. Mary's Hospital, room 454; Brother Roosevelt Carroll, St. patient in Methodist Hospital; and Sister Ruby Johnson and husband who ill at home.

Read Isaiah 53:5 and II Chronicles 7:14.

Coming this Saturday, the Outreach Prayer Breakfast will be meeting with the residents of the Parkway Nursing Center, 114 Zenith Avenue, at 10 a. m. Will you meet us there, and keep this group in your prayers. Keep smiling and loving your enemy as well as your friends, and we will make it, Lubbock!

FROM THE OF
PARSON D. A. SMITH

The story is told of a minister who was watching some men repair a section of a highway. The minister's attention was especially drawn to an elderly man who knelt as he broke stones for the hole in the highway. The minister observed that the elderly man did more work than the men who were standing while breaking stones. The minister walked to the kneeling man, whom he knew well and said, "John, I wish I could break the stony hearts of my hearers as easily as you are breaking those stones!"

With a twinkle in his eyes John replied, "Pastor, you could if you worked on your knees."

When you pray, do you always receive benefits? Do you always feel God's power? Do you always feel strengthened? Do you always feel enlightened? If you are honest with yourself you will admit that at some point in your prayer life you have encountered difficulties when you prayed. These difficulties may have arisen because you have not "worked on your knees," that is, being out of fellowship with God. This broken fellowship with God may be cause by impurity of life, a vindictive and unbrotherly spirit, or selfishness and greed. Until the heart is right with God, the life will have no power with God. Seek to live your life within the will and purpose of God. "Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness Matthew 5:6.

We Thank God For Jesus

"Seek You, The Lord!!!"

Isaiah 55:6-8 -- Seek ye the Lord while He may be found, call ye upon him while he is near: let the wicked forsake his ways, and the unrighteousness man his thoughts: and let him return unto the Lord, and he will mercy upon him; and to our God, for He will abundantly pardon. For my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways, saith the Lord.

So many old and young people, who love living in sin, they've become like the hog, loving his filthy hog pen. So listen, my friends, this story is ever so true, and it might be a carbon copy: of no one but you.

Psalms 51:5 -- Behold, I was shapen in iniquity, and in sin did my Mother conceive me:

This young man loved the world: danced, dranked and he played, in spite of what: Preachers, Missionary and others would say.

He would say, "I'll turn my life over to God; when I'm old, but right now, "I'm living for the devil, and he has my soul."

Proverbs 21:27 -- The sacrifice of the wicked is abomination: how much more, when he bringeth it with a wicked mind?

It happen one night: "While he was drinking drugs, he got sick; he started hemorrhaging; shaking and rolled with kicks.

They then called his Mother. She came quickly to his dying bed. She and the doctors couldn't do nothing as his eyes rolled back in his head.

Romans 6:23 -- For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ, Our Lord.

He rolled and groaned and screamed and cried. He chewed up his tongue, while he cursed: and then he died.

And it just tore up, and broke and crushed his Mother's heart. Not only to see her child go this way; "but to see all he depart."

Luke 16:21a -- Jesus said, and in hell he lift up his eyes, being in torments. So to the old and the young people, let this not be your case. "Today is the best and only day, to seek God's face."

Upon your knees, ask the Lord to forgive a sinner like thee." You see, I'm a living witness he will, "I was chief sinner: he did it for me."

Psalms 40:1-3 -- I waited patiently for the Lord, and he inclined unto me, and heard my cry. He brought me up also out of an horrible pit, out of the miry clay, and set my feet upon a rock, and established my goings. And he hath put a new song in my mouth, even praise unto our God: many shall see it, and fear, and shall trust in the Lord.

 I'm just a nobody, trying to tell everybody, about somebody, that can save everybody, and his name is Jesus ***

God is not through with us yet. Let's pray for one another always.

Community patrol finds success closing doors on Crack houses

(Editor's Note: Since the residents of East Lubbock have been meeting concerning the gang activity in Lubbock, this article may prove to be helpful in their efforts. This article was printed in the April 26, 1990 edition of The Capital Spotlight, Washington, DC.)

By Karen R. Taylor
During the early 60s the Shaw Community was poetry and history in the making. It served as a meeting place for many of the District's black middle class. By the late 60s, that not so distant era began to dwindle down—at first with the riots in 1966, followed by the recent disruption of the area due to the construction of Metro's new Green Line, and more recently with the drug epidemic and rising homicide rates.

November 1988, finding themselves in the midst of an area surrounded by drug dealers, drug users, crack and loud gunshots, the residents of Shaw decided to fight back and make a positive move in the shaping of its future. They began an anti-drug crusade—Citizens Organized Patrol Efforts (C.O.P.E.) "to reduce crime and improve safety in the Shaw area."

Today, nearly two years later, the neighborhood patrol, which grew out of monthly rallies and anti-drug marches, has made its crusade of hope a model for other communities in the District. Founded by ANC Commissioner Leroy Thorpe (2C-07) and Taasho Abdul Samad of Mosque 10, COPE has been successful in the "shut down of eight crack houses and open air drug markets" in the Shaw area.

"The problem got bad and somebody had to get up and get out there and do something about it. This is something I'm taking on myself ... to go out there and do a little bit extra as a commissioner ... to go out and fight drugs. We've had a lot of success. Basically, it's my civic duty. My responsibility as a Muslim as well as an African-American," said Thorpe.

According to Thorpe, C.O.P.E. is comprised of volunteers, 18-years of age and older, who are "drug free." Equipped with walkie-talkies and note pads, the members of C.O.P.E. can be seen in their red and white paraphernalia patrolling the Shaw community daily on foot and in cars reporting suspicious crimes and behavior to the Metropolitan Police Department.

"We've have been extremely successful," said Thorpe. "What the people need is someone (who is) basically from the community ... somebody who is street smart. Also someone to be in the system and knowing how the system operates ... someone who has compassion and commitment ... someone such as myself, I may say, would be an excellent drug czar," said the witty and outspoken Thorpe who has criticized Sterling Tucker as being "ineffective" at his job of being the District's drug czar.

He further evaluated the federal government's job. "The federal government is throwing in its towel regarding the war on drugs. That means the federal government doesn't want the army to ... stop the flow of drugs from coming into the country. That means William Bennett should resign. That means it should not be a national drug czar's office if you're going to throw in the towel. This means that he doesn't care about the people of this city," said Thorpe.

"We need an afro-centric perspective approach to the drug problem, which I advocate," he explained. The dealer and the addict, expressed Thorpe, are "victims of Americanism."

"America has created the situation for people to go out there and use drugs by their racist practice of employment and their racist practice in education and their racist practices in the American social system" he said.

Thorpe also believes that "self-awareness is a prerequisite for self-determination." This, he believes, serves as the foundation for self-esteem, another viable method he feels is needed to curtail the drug problem among black inner city youth.

"If a person doesn't know his history and convinced that he has never done anything, will never do anything," lamented Thorpe.

Along with its attempt to curtail the drugs in the Shaw area, C.O.P.E. is also committed to providing social services, job information, monthly drug rallies, recreational activities, and educational and cultural programs for youth as well as for senior citizens. A rally has been scheduled for April 29th at 7th & O. Sts. N.W. beginning at 7:30 p.m.

"We're trying to bring the whole community together. We are going to provide information on treatment centers in the area ... Our part is to try and get them off of drugs," said Thorpe.
