James Hillyer Hired as Assistant At CSU

James Hillyer, head coach at Dunbar High School, resigned last week to accept an assistant's job at Colorado State University.

Coach Hillyer will work with the offensive ends at Colorado State, a college located at Fort Collins, Colorado.

In accepting Coach Hillyer's resignation, Pete Regus, athletic director of Lubbock Public Schools, said, "We hate to lose him. He's done an outstanding job and is a gentleman of the first order and it's with regret that we accept his resignation."

Hillyer's resignation will be effective January 10.

In his resignation, Hillyer made it clear, "At no other time during my working career has a decision been so hard to make."

As Dunbar's football general, he led the fighting Panthers to the state finals in 1962 with an eight win, three loss, one tie record. This was when the Maroon and White was in the Prairie View Interscholastic League. In 1963, he was able to capture the state championship with an eight win, one loss, two tie record.

During his tenure at Dunbar he built an impressive 51 win, 16 loss, 5 tie record.

Hillyer attended high school at Corpus Christi at Solomon Coles High School, where he was a football and basketball star. In 1947 he entered Samuel Huston College in Austin where he received honorable mention as All-American full-back his senior year.

After graduation, he played a while with Percy Jones General, a semi-pro team out of Battle Creek, Michigan. He entered the high school coaching ranks in 1953 at Corpus Christi and remained until he moved to Lubbock in 1962.

Hillyer will leave Lubbock tomorrow, Friday, January 10th.

Farewell Party Held For Coach Hillyer

Members of the Mom and Dad Club entertained Coach James Hillyer and his wife with a farewell party Monday evening at 7:30 p. m. at Dunbar High School Auditorium.

This fete was to show Coach Hillyer how much each member and student of Dunbar appreciated the contribution he made while there.

Teenage Girl Attacked After New Years Party

It was learned here in Lubbock last week that a 16-year-old girl was raped repeatedly by four boys who offered to take her and a friend home after a New Year's Eve party here.

According to the girl, they left the party at an address on East 3rd Street shortly after midnight. She went on to tell authorities that the boys took her friend home first, then drove to an isolated area in North Lubbock where they slapped her, then took turns raping her.

The police said that the girl was examined by city-county health officials last Thursday. Aside from this, three of the four boys involved were identified by the girl.

Dunbar Gridders Sign With Colorado State

Two outstanding footballers at Dunbar High School, A. G. Perryman and Roy Davis, signed pre-enrollment pacts with Colorado State University last week.

The pair was signed by James Hillyer, former head coach at Dunbar High School, who is an offensive end coach for Colorado State.

Perryman was an all-state guard both defensively and offensively in 1967, and had an impressive year in 1968 as he moved to full-back and line backer. The 6', 3", 220 pounder climaxed his last year at Dunbar by gaining 1,083 yards rushing on 174 carries and scored 136 points.

At his linebacking post, Perryman made close to 150 tackles. He is a leading candidate for all-state honors.

Davis, another dynamic player, is also 6-3, weighing in at 190 pounds. He gained 837 yards on 88 carries; and also ran on Dunbar's sprint relay team which set a record last spring. The team ran a 41.3 to win the AAA crown.

Perryman was also an all-district selection the past two years and was on the all-city team. Davis was honorable mention all-district and all-city for two years.

Final Rites Read for Mrs. Emma Thornton

Burial will be held in Peaceful Gardens Cemetery under the direction of Jamison Funeral Home.

Mrs. Thornton died at 9:00 a. m. Friday following an apparent heart attack enroute to work.

She moved to Lubbock from Bryan, Texas in 1954.

She is survived by a husband, George Thornton; her mother, Mrs. Emma Mae Johnson of Dallas; two daughters, Sylvia Jean and Emma Joyce; five grand-children; three sisters, Mrs. Azzie Lee Helfin of Lubbock, Mrs. Mary Louise Green and Mrs. Sadie Louis, both of California; and four brothers, Elester

Voter Registration Needed

Although this is an off-year as far as elections are concerned, we still need to register, in order to be eligible to vote, before midnight January 31, 1969. It is up to us to continue this good habit which will help us to maintain our constructive citizenship throughout the year.

It's time that we think more and more about the intangible goals which are so important to the welfare of our community. We have a job to do as citizens and we must start that job off right by registering before the deadline.

Voter registration is a must whether it be during an election year or an off-year. It's up to us to register in order that we will be qualified in case something comes up during the year that must be voted on.

The West Texas Times encourages each of you to register now! It's your duty as a citizen of this state and as a citizen of this great nation.

Block Meeting Set For Friday Night

All citizens who reside between East 20th Street on the North; East 23rd on the South; the West side of Date Avenue on the East; and the West side of Ash Avenue on the West will meet Friday night, January 10th at 8:00 p. m. at the Multi-Service Center with Mrs. Murry Peppers, director, acting as master of ceremonies.

This block concept is designed for every resident within the community to participate in the welfare of their neighborhood and also, with this concept the residents will be able to communicate as to the needs of our community.

Aside from this, the residents will be able to place priorities on these needs which will come out of the meetings.

Other block meetings will be called within this area (Tract 12) in the very near future in order that the concept will reach every individual within the area.

Concerned Citizens Put Off Until Next Tuesday By School Board Due To Illness of Members

The meeting scheduled with the Lubbock Independent School Board of Trustees and members of the Concerned Citizens has been postponed until Tuesday morning, January 14th, at 7:00 a. m. due to illness of some of the school board members.

At this meeting, the Employment Subcommittee for the Lubbock Independent School District of the Concerned Citizens of Lubbock will present a recommendation to the school board.

Couple Charged In Murder Here

A Lubbock couple, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Moreland, was charged last Tuesday with murder with malice in connection with a shooting here early Christmas morning.

Bonds of $2,500 each were posted by the couple, along with an additional bond of $1,000 resulting from charges of assault with intent to murder.

The charges stem from the shooting of Mrs. Floy Blake, 43, of 1507 Teak Avenue, who was dead on arrival at West Texas Hospital; and her husband, Roy Lee Blake, who was wounded in the jaw and is still a patient at the hospital.

Debutantes Honored Here Last Week

Pictured above are the 18 attractive young ladies of the South Plains area who were presented last week by the local chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority. Each of these young ladies was an asset to help beautify the event which took place at the Palm Room here in Lubbock.

Lubbock is proud to know that there are ladies such as these who contribute their talent to our community and that there are organizations such as Alpha Kappa Alpha who care.

White Racism Not Entirely at Fault According To LaSalle College Professor in Recent Article

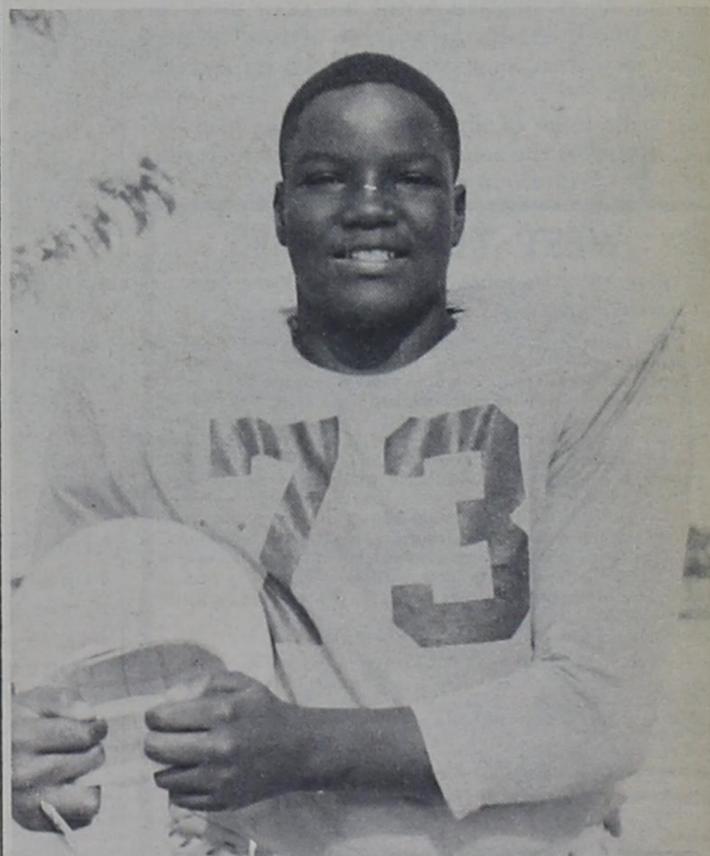

New York—White racism is not at the heart of the problem in dealing with Negro aspirations in this country. Instead the crucial element lies in the kind of accommodations the various ethnic groups here are capable of making. This analysis of current racial tensions was outlined by Dr. Murray Friedman, who teaches intergroup relations at the University of Pennsylvania and LaSalle College, in an article, "Is White Racism the Problem?" appearing in the January issue of Commentary magazine.

Dr. Friedman, who is also Pennsylvania-Delaware-Maryland Regional Director of the American Jewish Committee, suggests that phrases like "white racism" and "white America" obscure the true complexities of American society. This country, he points out, "is and always has been a nation of diverse ethnic, religious and racial groups with widely varying characteristics and qualities." Regardless of the forces working toward the homogenization of American life, he continues, "we are still influenced in highly significant ways by our ethnic backgrounds."

Dr. Friedman maintains that we seem "to be moving into a phase of American life in which ethnic self-confidence and self-assertion..."

Although football season is over for H. S. "Jun" Hutchinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Hutchinson, Sr. of 1708 East Colegate, he wanted to take the opportunity of letting everyone know that he enjoyed his past season at Alderson Junior High School. "Jun" played tackle for the fighting eleven at Alderson.

EDITORIAL

Congratulations Debs

Monday before last at the Palm Room, eighteen lovely young ladies were honored as debutantes. This fete, which is sponsored every other year by the Lubbock Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, is one which captures the eyes of the residents of Lubbock each time.

The West Texas Times can remember the beginning of this constructive activity, when the editor had written several articles about the possibility of this activity becoming a dream in the West Texas Area. It's here now and the sorority is doing a splendid job.

However, this media feels as though an activity such as this should be given each year rather than every other year. Admittedly this type of activity requires financial support, but the financial matter could surely be worked out if all of the community would get behind the sponsors and help them.

Some may say that there will not be enough young people to choose from in order that this beautiful activity could be successful each year. Let us remind you that there are five high schools in the Lubbock area, not to mention the surrounding communities which could contribute beauty as well as talent that could easily fit in with the program.

Mrs. Majorie Thomas, the president of the local chapter, and her sorors have done a splendid job this year. But the West Texas Times would like to encourage this team of fine women to go back to the drawing board and come up with something each year rather than every other year.

This can be done with the complete cooperation of the residents of the entire West Texas area. Nothing is impossible if we try. Let's not be satisfied with good, let's do better.

A fine job done this year. The eighteen lovely young ladies contributed a great deal to its success. It can be done every year.

A Job Well Done By Coach Hillyer

The West Texas Times would like to salute a great coach and fine gentleman for a job well done during his eight years as head coach of the Dunbar Panthers.

Coach James Hillyer, who leaves the Hub City Friday after amassing an impressive record of 51 wins, 16 losses and 5 ties to join the coaching staff at Colorado State University, will be missed by the citizens of Lubbock.

During his tenure here, he contributed a great deal to developing the young people of our community. Not only is the impressive record he holds of importance, but the concept of good sportsmanship he established in the minds of those he taught and coached in the game of football and those he worked and competed with on and off the field.

It is the hope of the Times as well as many of the citizens of the area, that careful consideration

Teachers and Blacks

The confrontation between the United Federation of Teachers and black groups demanding community control of schools in black slum areas of New York City has led to three strikes and has been highlighted on TV, radio and in the press throughout the nation. One might assume from this that blacks and unions would be at loggerheads.

Yet, in the nationwide Louis Harris Poll (Nov. 25), 48 per cent of whites polled backed the right of teachers to strike, while 43 per cent opposed that right, while among Negroes 60 per cent supported the principle of teacher strikes while only 26 per cent opposed them.

Want to eat crow - Jim Crow that is - anybody?

How Come

Experiments are costly. The Defense Department conceded last month that in the past 15 years the United States spent $8.8 billion on 67 big military contracts that were subsequently canceled. The ill-fated B-70 bomber, which cost $1.468 billion before it was dropped last year, stands as the biggest loser - next to the U. S. taxpayer, of course.

Interestingly enough, when it comes to military spending, people view such waste of resources with relative calm and aplomb. Spend a small portion of that sum on unsuccessful projects to create jobs, education, housing or better health for the nation's white and black poor and a chorus of cries pours out against "waste" and "creeping socialism."

Quote of the Month

They have a right to censure, that have a heart to help.

--William Penn, 1644-1718

Did You Know?

The first Negroes in America, the twenty who were brought to Jamestown, Virginia on a Dutch ship in 1619, were treated as indentured servants rather than as slaves. For 40 years, they accumulated land, voted, testified in court and mingled with whites on a basis of equality. At least one Negro imported and paid for a white servant whom he held for some years in "indentured servitude."

Georgia, founded in 1733, was the last of the American colonies and the only one, North or South, in which slavery was originally forbidden by law. But a favorite toast of slave-hungry planters was, "Here's to the one thing needful," and the law was repealed in 1750.

Charleston's Negro sweeps, according to labor historian David Saposs, were the first workman in America to strike. In 1761, the sweeps "had the insolence" to refuse to work "unless their exorbitant demands were complied with."

Is Confrontation The Answer?

When German students rioted against the Frankfurt Book Fair last September, they were surprised to find that one of their heroes, Gunter Grass, author of The Tin Drum and Dog Years, did not approve. He bellowed at a student meeting:

"You're damn right we're not going to let you tear our society apart! How is it possible that you don't see that you're behaving more and more like Fascists and helping the right!"

I was reminded of Grass when I read accounts of the recent international intellectual seminar at Princeton. Student leader Sam Brown called the conference a failure in particular because of its lack of passion.

Historian Arthur Schlesinger, Jr. agreed that "reason without passion is sterile," but added that "passion without reason is hysterical" and insisted that "reason and passion must be united in any effective form of public action."

"If we make politics a competition in passion, a competition in emotion, a competition in unreason and violence, the certain outcome will be the defeat of the left. George Wallace will bring a good many more guerrilla fighters into the streets than Tom Hayden or Eldridge Cleaver." Concluded Schlesinger. "The notion that destruction and chaos will miraculously provide Utopia is refuted by all history."

THE POLICE BEAT

by: T. J. Patterson

Boxers Wanted

If you are between the ages of 16 and 26, and you believe that you are in good condition and would like to participate in something good, then why not sign up for the West Texas Golden Gloves tournament which will be held in February.

Mr. Dick Walker, City-Park and Recreation Office, can surely help in seeing that you are signed up for this fete. If you would like you may contact Mr. Walker for any additional information.

This is a great opportunity for many of you young fellows to start disciplining yourselves. Why not give it a try? You may even be interested in going by the training site at 1107 Avenue K, in the basement.

The Police Beat would certainly encourage this activity. This type of participation will certainly make stronger men of tomorrow and also teach our youth sportsmanship.

Do We Really Care?

Do we really care about investigating into the incident which involved a 16-year-old girl last week? As many of you may know, this incident happened after a New Year's Eve Party—which made it break up after the curfew hour. Do we really care as to the extracurricular activity of our young people? Or, do we care less as long as they are away from the house and are not interfering with our activities?

No matter what you think, it's time that you quit saying that all young people are bad and start doing something about their welfare in the year 1969. There is something we all can do. I'm sure there are teenagers who would be willing to contribute to some of the shortcomings of our young people.

Why not give it a try Mom and Dad? Why not really in the next year try to care enough about your children to watch what they are doing?

We really should care! This young, innocent 16-year-old could have been your daughter—think about it a while.

Woman Needs Help

How about this incident which caused a lady to have her own self arrested. She made a call and said she needed help and when police arrived, they found her lying on the ground yelling for help.

Well, you guessed it. She was in a drunken condition and received the necessary help she needed. She was booked for drunkenness.

Break In

James A. Stewart, owner of Stewart's Grocery at East 29th and Quirt Avenue, reported to the Lubbock Police Department that someone had pried open the lock on his store room and attempted to enter when the alarm went off.

The alarm surprised the subject and he left without taking anything.

House Burglary

A. McClendon, of 2401 East 10th Street, reported that someone entered his back yard and came in the back door of his house and took a billfold and a small tape player which was on a table.

According to McClendon, the billfold contained several credit cards. These items were left on the end of the coffee table the night before.

He has no idea who could have been responsible for the missing items.

Vandalism

Rush Davis, 1711 East 25th Street, reported to the authorities that someone had done his pick-up wrong by shooting out the windshield with a BB gun.

He has no idea who could have done the damage, but said it would cost about $50.00 to replace the windshield.

House Burglary

B. J. Smith, of 2009 East 7th, reported that someone entered his house and removed approximately $175.00 worth of merchandise.

Entry was gained by merely breaking the window of the rear door and reaching inside and unlocking the door.

House Burglary

In another house burglary, Mrs.

Roberta Reed, of 2403 East 7th Street, reported that someone broke into her house and took a $110.00 camera.

Entry was gained by prying the rear door and breaking the door facing.

And still another house burglary, Howard Lewis, of 2419 East 29th Street, reported that someone gained entry through his house by coming through the front door.

Taken from his residence was a record player which was valued at $79.00.

Amarillo-Now that the holidays are over and all is well, let us not forget to pause for just a minute to thank God for our many blessings and we do have many if we would only stop and count them. I hope that all of our readers did have a merry Christmas and wish for them all a happy new year.

Mrs. Joe Turner, of Ft. Worth, Texas and Mrs. Naldie Wallace of Abilene accompanied by their two nieces, spent the holidays in the city visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Boyd of 603 N. Jefferson and with Mr. and Mrs. Claudie Johnson of 1115 N.W. 21. Both ladies are aunts of Mrs. Boyd and Mrs. Johnson. Mrs. Wallace is a teacher in the Abilene school system. Also a guest in the Boyd home was the Rev. and Mrs. L. B.

George of Ft. Worth. Rev. George officiated at the funeral services of Rev. J. B. Thomas which was held Thursday, December 2nd, at the Mt. Zion Baptist Church. Rev. George is a former pastor of Mt. Zion and is now pastoring in Ft. Worth.

A number of students were home for the holidays. Among them: Rose Evelyn King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin King of 1106 N. W. 19th; Evelyn Hambric, daughter of Mrs. Hambric; Melvin Austin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cleave Austin of 1111 N.W. 21st; Rose Mary Shanklin and Ronnie Shanklin, grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Williams, 301 N. Hughes; Gloria Overstreet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wess Overstreet, 1115 N. W. 6th; Deloise Neal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Neal of 1624 N.W. 16th.

Also here for the holidays were Buddy Allen of Colorado State; Courtney Allen, a graduate of Spellman College in Atlanta, Ga. Miss Allen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Allen of 1330 N.W. 12th.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Jones, of 1509 N. Washington had as their guests for the holidays Mr. and Mrs. Eticy Forbes of Electra, Texas, Mrs. Addie Renfro of Chicago, Ill., and Mrs. Mozell Taylor of Stockton, California.

Rev. A. J. Davis and his family spent the holidays with their daughter and her family, Sgt. and Mrs. Joseph Coleman of Tuscon, Ariz. They also visited with their son A. J. Davis, Jr. of El Paso.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Flagan and Mrs. Nicie Richardson, of 1602 N.W. 14th spent Christmas in Athens, Texas with their sister and her daughter.

Elmore Glenn Haywood, son of Mrs. Annie Sue Haywood of 1411 N. Washington and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Jones, is home on leave from Vietnam. Elmore will be stationed at Ft. Hood.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Shanklin of Lawrence, Kansas spent a few days in the city on their way to Miami, Florida. They are both graduates of Carver High School here in Amarillo.

White Racism . . .

are becoming more intense." This stands in contrast, the author declares, to the myth that we are a nation of individuals rather than of groups.

The current pattern of ethnic "outs" pressuring the ethnic "ins" for equal rights, opportunities and status, he points out, "has been followed since colonial times and has been accompanied by noisy and often violent reaction by the existing ethnic establishment." The recent explosions in the black ghettos have a precedent in the riots of the Irish in the cities in years gone by, he suggests, pointing out that "as late as 1906, the New York Gaelic American wanted Irish history taught in the New York City schools!"

Tracing the parallel further between current Negro agitation and that of other American ethnic groups in earlier periods of American history, Dr. Friedman maintains that "racial and ethnic conflict takes its toll, but it has frequently led to beneficial results. When pressures mounted by the 'outs' have caused widespread dislocation, the 'ins' have often purchased community peace by making political, economic, legal and cultural concessions."

One of the barriers to the advancement of black people, the author declares, "Has been their inability to organize themselves as a group for a struggle with the various 'ins'." This, says Dr. Friedman, "has been as crippling as the forces of bigotry arrayed against them."

Dr. Friedman warns that it is important to recognize that no special virtue or culpability accrues to the position of any group in the American pluralistic system. "At the moment the American creed sides with Negroes, Puerto Ricans, American Indians and other minorities who have been discriminat-

January is the in-between month for many sportsmen. It is the month that ends game hunting, and brings enough bad weather to scare off fair-weather fishermen.

It is a bare month. Christmas bills must be paid. There are inventory sales and other "distracting" things like parties, which sometimes tend to keep even a died-in-the-wool outdoorsman from the field or stream.

Nevertheless, for those who can and do make it, January offers promise and fulfillment. Deer and duck seasons are out of the way. It's the short end of the goose season, and in most of the state, the short end of the quail season.

But within driving distance of most everyone there is some good quail hunting.

And of course all the shooting resorts still are in full swing. They offer quail, pheasant and chuker.

Don't Forget The Crows

Also for those who like to shoot, and have a few shells left, we highly recommend crow shooting. January is a wonderful month to shoot crows, those black rascals that prey on bird eggs and destroy crops.

During January the crows bunch up. They have favorite spots in creek bottoms when they roost by the thousands. During the day they invade the cultivated fields in hordes and prey on foodstuff that provide the livelihood for our game birds.

Fishing also can be very good in January. You can call your shots in Texas. For deep-sea fishing off the Texas coast there is no better time . . . especially for the big red snapper.

Snapper Fishing Fine

About half the time, in January, the weather is good enough to get out on these snapper boats from Freeport, Galveston or the Corpus area. Success is even more certain on the southern tip around Port Isabel and South Padre Island.

Many Texas farmers get in some good salt water fishing during January. They drive their pickup trucks to the coast, usually to Freeport, then go out on a party boat. At the end of the day they return to the dock with hundreds of pounds of large red snapper. These they take back home for the deep freeze. This gives them a good supply of salt water fish that will last for several months.

Some real sporty fishing in Texas in January is for white bass, or sandies, as they are known in North Texas.

By January the whites have started schooling and moving up the lakes to the mouth of fresh water streams. They start working in Falcon Lake in mid-November. By the first of December they were hitting heavy on the Highland Lakes in Central Texas and in January they are causing fever to rise in fishermen on Whitney, Texoma and Possum Kingdom.

ed against for so long. But we should not be surprised when Italians, Poles, Irish or Jews respond to Negro pressures by rushing to protect vital interests which have frequently been purchased through harsh struggles of their own with the ethnic system."

He adds, however, that Americans are sometimes capable of transcending the impulse to protect vested interests through discriminatory barriers, as they are capable of setting aside their prejudices, for the sake of greater social justice.

Turning to the current conflict in big city school systems, Dr. Friedman sees the underlying problem as "a power struggle involving the decision-making areas controlled by an older educational and ethnic establishment. At the heart of the issue is a group bargaining situation whose handling calls for enormous sensitivity and the development of procedures that will protect the interests of the conflicting groups."

In other areas as well, he continues, the Negro is involved "in much the same historical process experienced by all groups, with varying success, in attempting to 'make it' in American life. The idea that he faces a monolithic white world uniformly intent for racist reasons on denying him his full rights as a man is not only naive but damaging to the development of strategies which can lead to a necessary accommodation. It does no good—it does harm—to keep pointing the finger of guilt either at Americans in general or at special groups, when what is needed are methods for dealing with the real needs and fears of all groups," Dr. Friedman concludes.

Minority Group People Unaware of Opportunities in Advertising, Says Exec

Detroit-NPI-Minority-group people are not aware of the opportunities in advertising careers, according to Doug Allgood, president, Group for Advertising Progress.

Allgood, an account executive at Batten, Barton, Durstine, & Osborne, Inc., of New York, added that many minority-group people view the advertising industry negatively.

"So, before we can get them into personnel offices, we have to convince them that the effort is worthwhile," said Allgood, who noted that one of GAP's "major thrusts" is "to inform them about advertising and encourage them to consider a career in this field."

Because minority-group people don't imagine they can have a career in advertising, "they do not even consider it in their vocational planning," Allgood said.

For the most part, minority-group people know that there are few barriers in teaching and Civil Service careers because of race, he said.

"But they are not aware of opportunities in advertising, and few consider advertising as a career."

He quoted Richard Clarke, president, Richard Clarke Associates, an employment and recruitment company in New York that specializes in non-white personnel, as saying that "Black people mistrust the advertising industry."

The young job seekers whom Clarke works with "constantly rank advertising at the bottom of their list of career preferences," Allgood noted.

On the brighter side, the advertising executive said some "very dramatic changes" have been taking place in advertising.

"The industry has departed from the old-line beliefs, and we see and hear evidence of this each day on television, radio, and in print media, as we note the marked increase in the use of non-white performers."

A number of New York advertising agencies, as well as the American Association of Advertising Agencies "have initiated meaningful steps to begin to increase and upgrade non-white employment," he said.

For some of these agencies, he added, the employment efforts "include a tremendous amount of experimentation involving inagency training, government programs, personal recruiting, work with minority consultants, college scholarships, secretarial training programs, Negro college recruiting, summer intern programs, copy courses, art courses, and TV careers."

This is happening, the executive said, in an American society which apparently has not significantly changed its attitudes towards Blacks in recent years.

Why, then, the "sudden flurry of activity in our (advertising) business?"

The only reason that matters, he answered, is that "it is good business to use minority-group talent in advertising today."

Allgood disputed the notion that Blacks with the qualifications for advertising jobs are difficult, if not almost impossible, to find.

"Assuming for the moment that this once was true—today things have changed," the advertising man asserted.

"There are young Black people in Colleges all across the land—and youngsters moving from high school toward college—providing a vast reservoir of the kinds of talent that advertising needs."

Another good source for agency talent are the young Black and Puerto Rican men and women who are planning to enter the ranks of teachers and government professional, Allgood said.

"There is a lot of trainable and qualifiable talent among these people who have relatable skills."

GAP, which Allgood heads, has these goals:

To encourage advertising organizations to provide greater employment opportunities for minority group people and their services, and to act as consultant to advertising organizations seeking to employ these individuals.

To improve the status of minority-group persons presently employed by advertising agencies, corporate advertising departments and allied services.

To help create among minority groups an awareness of employment opportunities in advertising.

To encourage greater utilization of minority-group people in commercials and print advertising to better reflect the ideal American scene.

Dodge Truck Executive Outlines New Training Programs for Unemployed

Denver—"How do we make it possible for every individual to take his place as a participating member of society?"

"To take his place, a man must be able to take part in the decisions concerning what happens to him. He must feel responsible for the well being of himself and his family.

"He must have the chance to perform productive work and he must have dignity as a human being. Every man is not in this position and the nation is suffering because of it."

These were the opening remarks by Gwain H. Gillespie, Dodge Truck Operations general manager, as guest speaker before the Annual Joint Dinner Meeting of the Colorado Society of Certified Public Accountants and the Colorado Chapter of the National Association of Accountants.

Addressing the group in the Brown Palace Hotel, Gillespie outlined forward steps being taken by Chrysler Corporation and Dodge Truck Operations in employment of "hard-core" individuals. He defined the "hard-core" employee as:

possible by Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Fair, Sr.

The men in the military uniforms enjoyed the well-prepared affair. One of them made it clear he could hardly wait until he had another leave.

Raymon Jones who left last week for college was also entertained with a luncheon which was sponsored by the Pleasure Garden. All fellows attending the affair went away with smiles on their faces and stuffed stomachs.

"Average of sixth grade education; poor work history—unemployed for long periods; never received any real skill training; many need eyeglasses, dental work, or medical attention; has dependents he should support, but does not; "Has no transportation; has had contact with the law and spent some time in jail; cannot express himself—vocabulary is limited and different.

"In other words," Gillespie said, "he may have little reason for personal motivation. He seldom experienced the feeling of personal dignity. He is not necessarily a member of a minority racial or religious group, but he's likely to be."

Gillespie said Chrysler Corporation entered into an agreement with the Federal Government to supply hard-core unemployed or unemployable persons a variety of basic education, guidance, and other work-related training experiences as preparation for full-time employment. He explained:

"This original program covered 250 men and women. Based on several month's results, it has been expanded to include an additional 3,000 persons."

About 2,000 of the trainees will receive their training in manufacturing and assembly plants in seven metropolitan regions while the other 1,000 will receive training for jobs in automotive dealerships and will be drawn from 50 cities, Gillespie said.

"This pre-employment training program is the largest training contract ever let by the government," he pointed out.

Plants participating in the program, Gillespie continued, set aside classroom and counseling facilities and students come to class on the same time schedules as plant workers. The trainees receive instructions in a variety of subjects including reading, writing, arithmetic, and English.

"The student is given practical on-location training in typical manufacturing operations and a boost in skills he needs to handle a job.

"Actual classes are geared to the needs of the individual. Classes are small—maximum of 12 or 15. Each class has a monitor or teacher and an advisor.

"Getting the student to understand what it will mean to work with other people is as important as the classroom work. This need with understanding of themselves as human beings with rights and responsibilities.

"I don't think I can over-emphasize this problem. Many of our workers entering this program don't have very much self-respect—they don't feel they've accomplished anything nor do they think they will.

"They aren't sure that this potential job will materialize. They don't trust anybody and, frankly, they're not too interested in words. They've been told many things and what they've been promised hasn't always happened.

"This is the most important work of the advisor. He must somehow give confidence to the worker—not only in the worker himself but in the program, the company, and the men he'll work with.

"Job attendance is far better than regular new hires. Few graduates have been lost. Job retention is several times better than on other new hires who have not been through the program."

Hand-in-hand with the project is a training program for supervisory employees. Gillespie said:

"We recognized that something had to be done in order to establish the most desirable relationship possible between the new 'hard-core graduate' and his supervisors.

"For a number of years, management of our company and others had made public their belief in non-discriminatory work practices. One of the steps was the 'Plan for Progress' agreement signed with the government about six years ago.

"Through company communication programs, in public speeches and as active members of groups organized to deal with the problems of poverty and racism, and to open paths of communication, management has repeatedly reaffirmed their position.

"These are the first steps in the job of educating employees about their responsibilities to help assimilate hard-core unemployed into the work force.

"In the past, we have mixed some short sessions on civil rights into our supervisory training programs."

Then, Gillespie continued, a broader program was launched by the management education department with help from the Detroit Industrial Mission.

"The program provides supervisors with guidelines for understanding and supervising the new industrial employee. For example, he is reminded that the worker may be unusually sensitive to facial expressions and tones of voice.

"The supervisor is told that he must not judge the new employee on the same basis as his experienced worker. Demands of the new job create changes in the life of the new hire—changes not normally considered to be adult problems. For instance, using new muscles and learning what bus to take to work.

"The foreman is told that he must assume certain things about the new hire—simple things, but often forgotten. People fear the unknown. Hostility is usually a reaction not a personality trait.

"I don't mean that all ideas and methods are accepted by everyone in total. They are not. I do think that the objectives are understood. I'm not foolish enough to believe that we will convince everyone of the moral responsibilities, but they can at least begin to accept certain realities in the situation and I'm perfectly prepared to accept

Our minister, Rev. M. T. Reed, would like to remind each of you that the end of one year only leads to the beginning of another. As the end of one day ushers in a fresh and new tomorrow. As we emerge from our Christmas celebrations into a new year, may we be new creatures, having experienced a-new the birth of Christ in our lives.

Jehovah's Witnesses

What takes first place in one's life? Is it one's family, secular work, some hobby or perhaps sports? It may be that one has several interests in life, each taking a relative position according to the importance placed upon it. To Christians, however, the kingdom of God comes first in their lives. And during the month of January Jehovah's Witnesses will be putting first the preaching of the Kingdom's good news, by engaging in their house to house ministry and conducting free home Bible studies. (Mark 13:10).

You may have missed the discourse Sunday by Mr. Clarke Gamble and the following talk entitled "Your deliverance is Getting Near." The importance of this talk will be answered this Sunday, January 12, after the 4:00 p.m. discourse in a discussion entitled, "How we Know it is Getting Near." You are encouraged to be present to hear the answers from your Bible. Each talk only lasts one hour.

A brief reminder, since Almighty God Jehova allows you the opportunity to use time, why not use it to study His word, so you can be sure of what He wants you to do, to make Him happy that He has let you remain on this earth a little-while longer?

His word is as close as your Bible, its a wise thing if you use it.

Monday night will be the official board meeting night, and the pastor has asked all boards to please make a round report. It was also announced that the members note the change of teachers meeting from Thursday night to Friday night. Let us continue to pray for and visit our sick and shut-ins and remember that today it is they who are sick but tomorrow it could be us.

The youth hour continues to be well attended by our youngsters. I hope you will keep giving them your support and remember that their future lies in our hands, so let us pray that God will make them into perfect men and women.
