Homecoming Set for Dunbar Exes Here

By Delia Pena

"Taking Care of Business" is this year's theme for homecoming at Dunbar High School. Starting the week's events was the delivering of the Panther-grams. All home rooms were asked to send a message to the Brownfield Cubs. The messages were then displayed outside the individual homeroom.

Monday was also set aside as "Poster Day." All homerooms put up posters to build up the spirit at Dunbar High School.

Tuesday was designed as "Sock it To 'Em Day". Students wore socks during the day to show the Cubs that the mighty Panthers will "sock it to 'em" on Saturday night at the homecoming game.

Wednesday was specified as "Color Day". Dunbar's colors of maroon and white were seen throughout the day. All students exhibited the school colors.

An assembly honoring the Panther football team will be held tomorrow morning. The presentation of the football sweetheart and the Homecoming Queen will be given during this assembly. At 3 p.m. the student body will be dismissed to attend the biggest pep rally of the year. Special homecoming ribbons will be on sale tomorrow.

Tickets on Sale Here for Scout-O-Rama Observance

Ticket Sales for the 1970 Scout-O-Rama went on Sale last Saturday, October 24th, throughout the South Plains Boy Scout Council area. This year's big scout show will be held in five different locations on November 14; Lubbock, Brownfield, Plainview, Leveland and Crosbyton, according to Ticket Sales Chairman Rodney Joy.

Tickets will sell for $1.00 each and an entire family can visit any one of the five shows on the one ticket.

Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorers whose units are participating in the Scout-O-Rama will be the only ticket salesmen. As a reward for their efforts, the boys will earn cash commissions for their units, plus personal prizes in the form of Scout-O-Rama tee shirts and Scout Wampum that can be spent like money in securing uniforms and equipment.

The top boy salesman in each of seven districts, who sells at least $75.00 worth of tickets, will earn a free trip to Dallas for himself and his dad to see the Dallas Cowboys and Houston Oilers football game on December 20.

Each community where boys sell tickets will have some mystery houses. The first boy who tries to row, October 30th, in order to transfer their residence and be qualified to vote Tuesday.

There are only five more days before the residents of the South Plains, as well as citizens all over Texas, go to the polls and elect the candidate of their choice for several different offices. For those who are qualified voters, the opportunity will present itself to help select a governor, U. S. Senator, several state senators, state representatives and county officials.

For governorship in Texas, Paul Eggers of Wichita Falls, is making a bid for the incumbent West Texan, Preston Smith's position, who has been number one man in Texas for one two-year term. The United States Senator's slot is open and there are two Texans, Lloyd Bentson and George Bush, who are after this position which was left open when Senator Ralph Yarborough was defeated in the Democratic Primary by Bentsen.

The polls will open at 7 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. for the 48 boxes in Lubbock County on Tuesday, November 3rd. If there are any qualified voters who were affected by the May 11 tornado or who have moved from one voting area (within the county) to another, they must go by the Tax-Assessor's office, located in the County Court House before Friday, tomorrow, October 30th, in order to transfer their residence and be qualified to vote Tuesday.

In Lubbock County there are 62,568 persons who are qualified to vote in the election Tuesday, but many officials and observers believe that the turn-out will be very light this year.

Also to be voted on are 7 Amendments to the Constitution of the State of Texas. This issue of the Times has the amendments and the reasons why you should vote for or against each one.

Voters Must Change Address By Tomorrow, October 30th

If persons displaced by the May 11th tornado expect to vote in the November 3rd general election and have their vote counted, they must change their registration address at least four days before the election.

Any person wishing to change his address for voting must take his present registration receipt to the tax office, located in the Lubbock County Court House, on or before October 30th, tomorrow.

It must be made clear that if you are living in another area than the one you registered in, you cannot vote in that area now. If you return to your old voting area to vote, it is possible that your vote will be contested by candidates in any race, and you might lose your entire ballot.

All qualified voters must transfer their voting area by tomorrow, Friday, October 30th.

Preston Smith Best Man!

Governor Preston Smith should be supported on November 3rd as he makes another bid for the highest position in the State of Texas. The man from West Texas deserves another term to work for the citizens of Texas.

In a conversation with Governor Smith last Friday while he was in the "Hub City" meeting friends and talking politics, the Times had an opportunity of talking with the Governor. He felt as though many of the problems facing our state should be attacked on the local level and that any community could contribute something to the state cause.

The Governor inspired this writer in that his office is willing to accept input from the "grass roots" in regard to the topic of manpower programs for disadvantaged people in our community. We hope that we will have the opportunity of being a part of a team which will contribute something useful in solving some of the manpower problems in Texas.

Without any doubt, Governor Smith deserves another term in office. It is impossible to get a true reading of any public official who has been at his post for only two years.

If we are to continue to work in the direction of efficient and economical state government, one which will serve all of the people of Texas, it is important, at this particular time, that Texas has a governor who can work with the state legislature and state agencies. Democrat Preston Smith is the man for that job.

We must also take under consideration that such a high office demands a man of strength, character and principle. Smith has these qualities. Of course, there is always room for improvement and we believe that Smith will do all in his power to make these improvements possible during the next two years.

Let us remember that the overwhelming majority of the 1971 State Legislature, to be elected also November 3rd, will be Democrats in a state heavily Democratic. Also, nearly all of them, and the legislative branch is most important in state government, are supporting Smith against a Republican in the interest of harmony and continued progress for Texas.

Our hometown man, Governor Preston Smith, deserves an opportunity to work for the Citizens of Texas another term. Texas traditionally gives its governors a second term, and the West Texas Times believes that Preston Smith merits that term.

Unity Beginning Seen Here

By T. J. Patterson

An organization in our community, the United Black Coalition, whose purposes are to provide a medium through which individuals, educational, civic and religious groups can meet to exchange ideas; to develop a more unified leadership in the black community; is sponsoring an important meeting Thursday evening, November 12, at 8 p.m. at the Mae Simmons Multi-Service Center.

Without any doubt about it, this is a beginning for organizations to get together and work out the problems of our community together. We may as well face the fact that it is time for black organizations to get together and pool all of the resources we have to solve our own problems.

There is so much we can do together if we only try to make something happen without worrying about the trivial things which have been the reason for us not working together. There is too much potential talent in our community which is completely going to waste because of no coordination within our community.

It's time for us to start defending ourselves, speaking up for ourselves and leading our own self toward the goals we wish to accomplish. We must win back our self-respect. This is the only way to make the white man respect us. We can start this type of effort if we all pool our leadership and work together for the common cause, our community and our people.

It must be clear by now that no one of us can have all the answers, but with all the talent we have, we can surely find a solution to some of, if not all of, our problems. Let us also make it clear in our own minds that it is time for a beginning. The time is now . . .! We could do a great deal by meeting with the more than sixty—yes 60!—organizations in the black community on November 12th.

We need to find a means of getting information back to our brothers and sisters. Let's make it happen. Let's stand up for the black community! November 12th could be a good beginning in our community.

Austin, Tex.—Auto insurance company spokesmen have called for an "absolute minimum" 11.7 per cent profit allowance after taxes.

Industry representatives told the State Board of Insurance at a two-day hearing that they must have that margin to stay afloat and serve car owners.

At the same time, they told the Board it should consider all sources of insurance company earnings in arriving at rates. Meeting was to hear testimony as to whether company investment income should be included in the auto premium rate base.

Further hearing in November will determine what actual rate recommendations will be. Apparently, no rate change will go into effect before next January.

Industry recommendations—including considerations of all income and fixed allowance for a fair return—would add up to a 6.5 per cent increase in the auto premium rate for most motorists, Continued On Page Three

Vote Tuesday For A Better Tomorrow

By Eddie P. Richardson

In the larger urban centers of the north blacks have almost always voted without difficulty and they possess considerable political influence. In the last decade black voting power in the south has increased considerably. They often had to withstand the white politicians and police threats in order to exercise their rights at the polls as American citizens. Then came the sit-ins and Freedom Riders, and waves of voter registration drives across the south. College students took on projects and persuaded blacks to register and vote. In many cities of the south attempts on the part of black citizens to exercise their right to vote were met with mob threats, Klan action, bombings of churches and dynamiting of homes. Seventy-year old Gus Courts was shot and his grocery riddled with bullets in the Mississippi town where he tried to vote. He was forced to give up his business and flee.

Southern school boards fired many teachers who took part in voter registration. Whole communities of black tenant farmers were evicted in rural Tennessee. Tuskegee, Alabama, the site of Booker T. Washington's famous institute, so arranged its voting districts in 1957 as to eliminate blacks almost entirely. Blacks in turn boycotted local merchants, forcing many of them out of business, while in Bessemer, Alabama, a black union leader received six months on the chain gang for ordering a poster encouraging blacks to vote. After his conviction, he and his son were beaten by a mob outside the local courthouse. During a voting drive in Georgia in 1962, eight black churches housing registration meetings were bombed by terrorists.

Blacks have been beaten, harassed, fired from jobs, shot while trying to make it possible to vote in the deep south, but their struggles and suffering has made it possible for the black people here to vote unmolested and we have let them down.

Lets make it up to them on November 3rd by getting out and exercising our rights as citizens. We are a large minority, but because we are a minority we should vote 100% together on all issues and stop splitting our votes.

I definitely cannot get off of my soapbox about area representation in Lubbock on the city council. The black citizen in Lubbock should never stop pushing for area representation, nor should we give up now on the idea of getting together and voting, so that the next time city elections roll around, we can remember some of the promises made during the last election concerning area representation and then work to put someone in who will help us, while we put a few out who have not helped us. We should work to make these promises come true, but at the same time, we should work next Tuesday to show everyone that you and I can "do our thing" and turn out the vote. Study the candidates in these last few days, and study the amendments also. Then vote, if there is not more black involvement in traditional politics, the time may never come when black recognition, through the traditional system of voting, is realized.

We only have ten percent of the voting age population, but we have within our means the political power and muscle to elect a mayor, or any other candidate if our vote is unified. Whether we elect a black candidate or not we will start getting a bigger share of the pie. Some blacks say voting is not the solution to the struggle for freedom, justice, equality and all the other things we seek, but electoral power is a tool, maybe not a perfect one, but just the same a tool that the black of our country does possess and certainly should use on a massive scale if they are to help better their present lot.

Remember, even though we have only 10% of the voting power, we can still use that 10% as an excellent tool for exercising a sort of negative power, a limited veto so to speak, over how the white establishment uses its power.

We can't just lay down and moan about what we don't have. We still have to scratch and scrape for every inch we can get. We have to meet black folk where ever they are and organize them for whatever it is they need. This is a good job for those leaders and so-called leaders and certainly gives them a chance in the next five days to get out and be leaders rather than just glory seekers.

I would much rather see them do a good job of turning out the vote next Tuesday than hear about them setting around worrying and crying about what is said, written or thought about them. If many of our leaders would just get out in the next few days and turn out the vote, they would not have time to sit around and cry and worry. There is a lot to be done in black politics if the black is going to realize his true place in American society. Politics are such in this area that they allow only a few weeks out of each year for people to become interested, but the truth of the matter is that what happens in that few weeks concerns every black citizen for the rest of the year, and in some cases for years to come. Let's see our real leaders emerge now and begin to build something that will be with us, the black community, for many years to come.

If they do, if the leaders come forward in the next few days, then we will be on the road to lifting the oppression off of the community. Because organization for voting will lead to being able to hold that organization together and remove such problems as gouging merchants, landlords, cynical employers and "jive time" Uncle Toms who all work together to oppress the black community!

Vote Tuesday for a lot of better tomorrows!

Under industry recommendations, future rate inadequacies would be the "sole responsibility of the (state) regulators if they fail to recognize a proper rate of return," spokesmen said.

Expert witnesses told the Board that state-regulated utilities, which have far less risk of loss than casualty insurance companies, are permitted higher profits.

Others said that casualty insurance companies are among those that have the lowest rates of return of any major industry.

Unimpressed, Texas AFL-CIO President H. S. (Hank) Brown promised the biggest fight "since the Battle of the Alamo" if the Board agrees to another rate increase.

Strong Arm Robbery

What would you do if you came into your own residence and someone unknown to you robbed you at gun point?

That is just what happened last week to George Mauldin, of 620 Avenue C. He told police that he arrived home from church and found that someone had broken into his residence. When he entered the house, a white sheet was thrown over his head and an unknown person wrestled him to the floor at gunpoint.

The unknown person took $19 in dollar bills and a check.

Minister Ready For Work

Dear Sir:
Open Letter to The Black Ministers of Lubbock

I sincerely regret that so many of you have become so greatly upset and so perpetually concerned about the profound statements and earthshaking revelations that have flowed from the productive pen of a certain upcoming, blossoming, budding, neophyte columnist who has been somewhat critical of the black ministry in general. Let it be said publicly that I have not spent time mulling over his "presweetened" questions nor his "brown and serve" answers.

I have been preoccupied with the meaning of the age old saying that: "Small minds talk about people. Average minds talk about events. Great minds talk about ideas."

How about a city-wide revival?

Urban Renewal Agency of the City of Lubbock
Dear Mr. Williamson:

A few weeks ago, your paper, West Texas Times, published a letter inquiring about the above property. (Re: Urban Renewal Property at 1316 E. 25th Street). Yesterday, the Board of Commissioners of the Urban Renewal Agency of the City of Lubbock authorized our staff to readvertise this property for sale for rehabilitation, subject to HUD concurrence. We have had some interest from prospective purchasers who wish to rehabilitate this structure.

We hope that HUD gives early concurrence, and that we can obtain a purchaser who will rehabilitate the structure in the near future.

Sincerely yours,

The State Judicial Qualifications Commission consists of nine members: two Justices of the Court of Civil Appeals and two District Judges chosen by the Texas Supreme Court, two lawyers chosen by the Board of Directors of the State Bar, and three citizens appointed by the governor, all with the advice and consent of the Senate. The law now permits the Supreme Court of Texas, upon recommendation of the State Judicial Qualifications Commission, to order the removal or retirement of a district judge, criminal district judge, or appellate judge for misconduct or disability.

This amendment to Article V, Section 1-a, of the Texas Constitution would add county judges, city judges, and justices of the peace to the law. It would give the Commission and the Supreme Court the choice of private reprimand or public censure in addition to the power of removal or forced retirement. It would provide for due process of law for all accused judges.

FOR: The same rules should apply to all judges. A reprimand would be more suitable in some cases of judicial misconduct than outright removal or forced retirement.

AGAINST: Most judges are elected by the people, and should be removed only at the polls by the people who elected them.

NO. 2 ON THE BALLOT: Repeal of the prohibition against open saloons found in Section 20, Article XVI, of the Constitution of the State of Texas.

This proposed amendment would take out of the constitution the law against open saloons. It would give to the Legislature the power to make new laws regulating the sale of mixed alcoholic drinks. It would require that a local election be held and that the voters give their approval before mixed drinks could be sold in their community. The Legislature now has and would keep the power to regulate the manufacture, sale, possession, and transportation of intoxicating liquors, and it would also keep the power it now has to pass a law giving the State of Texas the right to be the only seller of distilled liquors.

FOR: The proposed amendment would not force mixed drinks on any locality. The people in each community would decide the issue for themselves.

AGAINST: If this amendment is passed, there could be an increase in such problems as broken homes, alcoholism, drunken driving, traffic deaths, and crime.

NO. 3 ON THE BALLOT: The constitutional amendment to authorize the Legislature to provide by law for the establishment of a uniform method of assessment of ranch, farm and forest lands, which shall be based upon the capability of such lands to support the raising of livestock and/or to produce farm and forest crops.

This proposed amendment would take the place of the present Section 1-d, Article VIII, on taxation of agricultural land. The basic idea would be the same, to give tax relief to farmers and ranchers. It would restrict the basis of tax assessment to the ability of the land to produce trees, crops, and cattle, and ignore the land's market value. It would take out of the constitution the rules for deciding what land is eligible for this tax benefit and give to the Legislature the power to make up new rules. It would also take out of the constitution the restriction limiting the special tax assessment to land in actual agricultural use by individuals who are full-time ranchers and farmers, thereby giving the special tax benefit to corporations and part-time ranchers and farmers as well.

FOR: Farmers and ranchers urgently need tax relief. Ad valorem (land) taxes have become so high that many farmers and ranchers are barely making a living. Agricultural land should not be taxed at the same rate as residential or industrial land, but only on its ability to produce income.

AGAINST: Land taxes are the only source of income for most local governments, and, until some other way is provided for them to get the money they need, the tax burden should be carried equally by everyone. This amendment would give big companies a chance to hold land at low tax cost until they could sell it for a big profit to industry or real estate developers.

NO. 4 ON THE BALLOT: The constitutional amendment reconstituting the State Building Commission as a three-member appointive commission.

The State Building Commission makes contracts to acquire or dispose of property, and to modernize, remodel, build, and equip buildings for state purposes. The governor, the attorney general, and the chairman of the State Board of Control are the present members of the State Building Commission, in addition to their other duties.

This amendment to Article III, Section 51-b(a) would replace the present membership of the State Building Commission with three people who would be appointed by the governor with the approval of the Senate. Their terms of office would be six years on a staggered basis, and biennially the governor would designate one member as chairman. There is no provision for removing them from office before their terms expire.

FOR: The governor, attorney general, and chairman of the Board of Control are too busy to consider all the details involved in the duties of the State Building Commission. An appointed commission could be more efficient. Building construction for the state should be planned and conducted by people who have training and experience in the field and who have no other responsibility.

AGAINST: This proposed amendment seems to continue the pattern of no control or removal power over appointed commissions. Where there is such a large amount of public money involved, six years is too long a term without such control. An appointed commissioner would not be as responsive to the feelings of the people as are the two elected officials of the present membership.

NO. 5 ON THE BALLOT: The constitutional amendment authorizing any county, on the vote of a majority of its qualified property taxpaying electors, to issue road bonds in an amount not to exceed one-fourth of the assessed valuation of the real property in the county.

Counties now may issue bonds for road construction, drainage, navigation, irrigation, and flood control if two-thirds of those voting are in favor. The amount of bonds issued for all of these purposes together must not be more than one-fourth of the value of real property on the county tax rolls.

Dallas County is an exception, because of a constitutional amendment passed in November 1968. Dallas County can issue road bonds with a simple majority vote, and the amount of bonds they can issue does not include bonds issued for drainage, navigation, irrigation, and flood control.

This proposed amendment to Article III, Section 52, would give every county the same right to issue road bonds that Dallas County has.

FOR: Fast-growing counties need safer roads and it is not fair for one-third of the people to prevent a majority from having them. It is also unfair to the rest of the taxpayers in the state if the Legislature has to take time to pass special legislation, or if all voters of the state have to amend the constitution, so that one county can have the roads it needs.

AGAINST: This proposed amendment would make it too easy to pass bond issues, since the proportion of votes needed to approve them would be less. The higher debt limit could result in a heavy tax burden.

NO. 6 ON THE BALLOT: The constitutional amendment increasing the value of the homestead which is exempt from forced sale.

The Texas Constitution provides that land used for a family home and land used for the business of the head of the family are each protected from forced sale for the payment of all debts except for money owed for the land itself, improvements thereon, or taxes due thereon. If the land is in a city, the value of the land which is exempt from forced sale may not exceed $5,000 at the time it is named a homestead. This proposed amendment to Section 51, Article XVI, would merely raise the maximum value of the land exempt from forced sale to $10,000 at the time it is named a homestead.

FOR: The purpose of the present constitutional provision is to preserve and protect the family home and means of family support. In 1876, when the present maximum was written into the constitution, $5,000 was of much greater value than it is today. Continued inflation and rising real estate prices make the amount of $10,000 a more realistic maximum than $5,000.

AGAINST: Some people use the exemption from forced sale to keep from paying debts they owe. Raising the limit would permit them to increase the amount of debt they could avoid paying.

NO. 7 ON THE BALLOT: The constitutional amendment authorizing the Legislature to provide for consolidating governmental offices and functions and allowing political subdivisions to contract for performance of governmental functions in any county.

This proposed amendment to Article III, Section 64(a), would give the Legislature the power to pass special laws to permit any county and/or other local governments in any county to combine their offices and services if a majority of the voters in each local government so approved. It would also allow any county or local government within it to contract with one another for services under terms and conditions prescribed by the Legislature. Harris, Tarrant, and El Paso counties now have these privileges because of constitutional amendments passed in 1966 and 1968.

FOR: Passage of this amendment would permit the Legislature to adopt laws which, on the level of local government, could improve efficiency and could save money by preventing the overlapping and duplication of services, such as police protection and garbage disposal. Better overall planning to meet the demands of a growing population would also be possible.

AGAINST: Adoption of this amendment could be a first step toward overcentralization of government at the county level. It could make it possible for rural citizens to have to assume a heavy tax burden to provide services for the cities. It could result in local elected officials contracting away their responsibilities, thus making them less subject to control by the voters.

A PUBLIC SERVICE AWARD was presented to T. J. Patterson, editor of the West Texas Times, "for exemplary public service to the community in publicizing Wage and Hour programs," last week. This award was signed by Robert D. Moran, administrator of the Wage and Hour Division of the United States Department of Labor and presented to Patterson by George Rice, Compliance Officer of the local Wage and Hour office.

Veterans and Dependents Alerted To November 1 Questionnaires

Jack Coker, Director of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Waco, today alerted two million veterans and dependents who get monthly VA pension checks that they will receive annual questionnaires with their November 1 checks.

He asks these pensioners to do two things:

- 1 - Fill out the questionnaire accurately and completely.
- 2 - After signing it, the recipients should return the form promptly to VA—no later than January 15, 1971.

Cooker pointed out that as 1971 pension payments will be based on submitted information, the questionnaires must be returned by the January 15, deadline to insure non-interruption of pension checks.

VA pension is paid to veterans totally and permanently disabled from non-service-connected disabilities. Widows and children of deceased veterans may also be eligible for VA pension if they meet certain income limitations.

Parents of deceased veterans who receive dependency and indemnity compensation are also required to fill out and return the questionnaire.

The annual income questionnaire requests information on the amount of income the beneficiary received in 1970, and the amount anticipated in 1971.

It was emphasized that if the questionnaire is not returned to the VA, beneficiaries will not only lose next year's benefits, but may also be required to refund payments received during 1970.

Each year, hundreds of VA beneficiaries are inconvenienced because they fail to promptly return or completely fill out their income questionnaires, Coker pointed out. He urged veterans and dependents who need help with questionnaires to contact the nearest VA office. The VA office in Lubbock is located at 1612-20 19th Street. Information may also be obtained by writing the VA Regional Office, 1400 North Valley Mills Drive, Waco, Texas 76710.

Dunbar Upsets Snyder in District Tilt Last Saturday

By Harold Gentry

After two weeks of upsets in district play, the Dunbar Panthers upset the Snyder Tigers 20-6 last Saturday night.

The first time the Panthers had the ball Ward and Kenneth Burrows drove the ball from the Panther 30 yard line to the 4 yard line. Then Burrows went around the left end to score. Glenn Davis missed the conversion making the score 6-0. Henry Robinson, who was injured in a previous game, played a very good game against the Tigers and scored the final score after Anthony Wilson caught a deflected pass in the end zone early in the second half.

The Panthers were out numbered greatly in size, but as Coach Kelly said during the first part of the season, they would have to play on quickness and speed, which led the Panthers to victory against Snyder.

Dunbar Rips Estacado JV

Not much is said about the junior varsity games among the various high schools in Lubbock. Last week, however, there was an interesting JV game in our community.

The Dunbar junior varsity blanketed crosstown rival Estacado for the second time this year in a game last Thursday to the tune of 14-0.

After a scoreless first half, the junior Panthers drove the second half kick-off 60 yards with Daniel Bibbs getting most of the yardage. H. W. Williams hit pay dirt from the three and Dunbar led 6-0.

Following a bad snap on a punt try later in the period, Dunbar struck again as George Smith raced 55 yards for the second score and Williams tossed to Billy Owens for the extras to make it 14-0.

Ronnie Crockett and Bibbs were defensive stars for Dunbar, now sporting a 5-1 record for the season.

VOTE For The MAN. Not The PARTY!
(Pol. Adv. - Paid For by Luther G. Walker Advertising)

Down To Earth

Christian Responsibility in the Voting Booth

By Jimmy R. Allen

Most voters yearn for the simple days when all the bad guys wore black hats and the good guys wore white hats. The problem in politics is that most candidates wear white hats.

A basic ingredient of a strong democracy is an informed voter. Democracy's future is threatened by apathy. However, the task of becoming informed is increasingly difficult in our complex world. Many persons do not vote because they do not feel qualified to pass a judgement. Others vote out of prejudice or guesswork. Conscientious Christians feeling a moral obligation to vote are confronted with vast problems of becoming informed in order to vote intelligently.

During the hue and cry of political huckstering with its claims and counter claims, various news media do a valuable service in informing the voter. However, skilled manipulation of both "hidden" and "open" persuaders make the voting process a "buyer beware market."

Millions of dollars are being poured into advertising campaigns for political candidates across our nation. Skilled students of motivation and psychology are helping to fashion and sell a politician to voters. The effort to assess a man's real qualifications for an office becomes overwhelmingly difficult for the average voter. He is being manipulated in so many ways in our society that this is simply another experience of responding to mass media.

Life has also become incredibly complex. Issues are seldom black and white. Statistics are cited by various candidates with conflicting claims so that a voter would have to be a genius of research to ascertain the facts.

With all of these barriers to becoming an effective and informed participant in the voting process, many despair of making democracy work. One remembers the wag who said, "democracy is the worst form of government in the world, but it works better than any other form."

How can a voter with conscience and moral sensitivity make up his mind on issues and candidates? A few suggestions are in order.

Become informed by reading more than one source. Find out the bias of a publication. Secure a publication of an opposite bias. Read them both and seek to discern from the claims and counter claims what the actual situation probably is. A noted scientist with a profound Christian commitment recently told a group of students that every Christian should "Pray his way through a national news magazine every week." A voter should refuse to be captured by the propaganda of one point of view. He should seek to balance these as he makes up his mind.

The voter should listen to what a candidate says but also examine what he is and what he has done. Words are no substitute for performance. Voters must estimate through judgement of what the man says, what he means by what he says, what he has done, what he could do, and whether he has the strength of will to do it.

Party politics are important, since structures must be considered in any political endeavor. Yet there come times when either the character of a man or his philosophy make it necessary for a conscientious voter to refuse to follow a party line.

Should a Christian pray about how he is going to vote? The complexities and gray areas of politics are frustrating. However, Christians should pray about every decision. Therefore, the spirit of God who promises guidance and wisdom certainly can be depended on to help one discern his actions as a citizen. There are good men who are political candidates trying hard to produce the good life for our nation. God's Word commands us to pray for them. Therefore, we ought to pray about their selection also.

Jehovah's Witnesses Set Conference

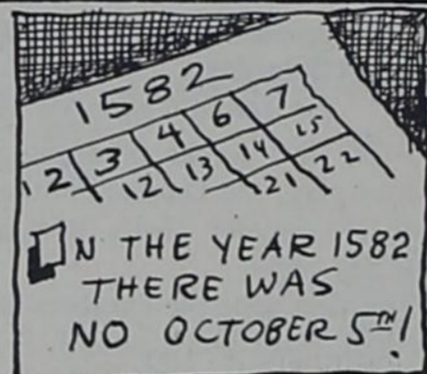

"Who Will Conquer The World In The 1970's" will be the feature Bible talk during a forthcoming 3-day assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses, November 20-22, in the Fair Park Coliseum.

Announcement was made to the East Unit of the Witnesses by Horace Dove, Presiding Minister, who discussed plans for the upcoming event before a crowd of 150 gathered at Kingdom Hall, 2708 Fordham.

The featured Bible lecture will be presented by L. M. Dugan, District Minister from New York, who will supervise a program on intense Bible study, according to Dove.

"Three days of Bible talks and dramatizations will highlight the program which will have as its theme, 'The Word of God is Alive,'" Dove reported. "The East Unit, which is one of 6 Lubbock congregations, will present an important Biblical dramatization on Saturday night of the convention."

Commenting on the fact that Jehovah's Witnesses are making preparation to live forever, Dove stated that the Holy Bible promises everlasting life to people the world over who are willing to take in knowledge of God and Jesus Christ and he cited John 17:3 from the scriptures to verify his statement.

"Upon examination of God's word, anyone can avail themselves of the promise of the earth becoming a paradise soon when they realize that it is impossible for God to lie," Dove stated to the large group assembled.

Two traveling ministers will be featured during the assembly. Dugan, who supervises more than 150 congregations in a 6-state area, and Hermod Jensen, Circuit Minister, who oversees 16 area congregations in the Plains and Green Belt region. Both ministers are from the world headquarters of Jehovah's Witnesses who are co-sponsoring the 3-day convention here. Known as the Watchtower Society, it regularly conducts conventions for over 26,000 congregations in 204 lands. Both ministers will visit the East Unit for one week during their stay in Lubbock.

PATRICIA ANN PITTS, daughter of Mrs. Barbara Pitts, won the title of "Little Miss Lubbock District" of the Church of God in Christ here in September. The Lubbock district meeting was in honor of Missionary Winn. Little Patricia is four years old.

Devotion by the Sunday school was held and the class work was closed out with the general review of the lesson. The school was well attended again this week.

Immediately after Sunday school the 11 a.m. services began with the deacons in charge of the devotion.

The message for the morning was brought by the pastor, Rev. Dixon, entitled, "Our Father Which Art in Heaven," using one of the eleven phrases of the Lord's Prayer. His text was found in St. Luke 11:1. The foundation of this vital message came as the results of a beautiful Sunday school lesson entitled, "Lord Teach Us to Pray."

In the evening services that began at 6:45, the second of a series of studies of the Old Testament was held, with Pastor Dixon as the teacher.

The evening worship opened with old time singing and the second phase of the Lord's Prayer, "Hallowed Be Thy Name," Prayer is so vitally needed in times like these when all voices can be heard except the voice of God.

May we remember our sick and shut-ins in both prayer and visitation.

Pleasant Home Baptist Church

Post-Sunday school opened Sister Johnson in charge. The lesson was "Growing Through Prayer."

Vote for the man who will work for Texas.

Lloyd Bentsen will work for a higher standard of living and better health care for our senior citizens, the disabled and the needy. They need help and protection. But loading down the public assistance program with people who should be working is depriving those who deserve more help.

The Welfare Reform Bill of 1970, which Lloyd Bentsen's Republican opponent co-sponsored, would double the cost of welfare in the first year and increase those eligible for welfare from 10 million to 24 million. This doesn't protect those who really need it. It provides a guaranteed annual income without the proper work incentives and job training to get these additional millions of people off the welfare rolls.

Lloyd Bentsen believes the welfare program should be reformed. But he opposes a guaranteed annual income and he wants real work opportunities instead of a costly new program that solves few problems. Lloyd Bentsen believes in guaranteed opportunity, not guaranteed income. President Nixon's welfare plan, backed by George Bush, is not the answer.

Texas needs a Democratic Senator who will support the President when he thinks he's right but can oppose him when he thinks he's wrong.

Texas needs Democrat
Lloyd Bentsen
A courageous Texan
with fresh ideas.
