Astronaut-Scientist Featured Speaker For Police Appreciation Banquet Here

Dr. Joseph Allen, an astronaut-scientist from the Manned Aircraft Center in Houston, will be the principal speaker at the 17th annual Police Appreciation Banquet on Thursday, September 10, at 7 p.m. in Fair Park Coliseum.

Officials of the Citizens Traffic Commission, sponsors of the annual dinner, have announced that the dinner is open to the public. Tickets may be purchased, at $5 each, from the commission office, Room 206 of City Hall.

This year's dinner has been dedicated to five police officers with a combined total of 138½ years of service. They are former police chiefs Lewis Kittrell and Bill Lamb, Capt. Henry Smith, Sgt. J. C. Smith and Patrolman J. O. Tinsley. All five officers retired Dec. 31, 1969.

Dr. W. W. Lundberg, president of the commission, will extend a welcome to all law enforcement officers present, with Bob Nash, assistant KFYO station manager, serving as master of ceremonies.

Tributes to the police will be paid by Mayor James Granberry and Wayne Finnell, Chamber of Commerce president, Police Chief J. T. Alley will respond.

The Rev. J. B. Fowler, minister of the Southcrest Baptist Church, will offer the invocation and dinner music will be provided by Nell Oldham.

This year's appreciation dinner originally was scheduled to be held during formal observance of Police Appreciation Month, proclaimed by Mayor Granberry in May, but was postponed due to the tornado.

Dr. Allen, a native of Indiana, was selected to become an astronaut in August of 1967 and is in the sixth group of astronauts training for future manned space flights.

The principal speaker is a former Fullbright scholarship winner and has an impressive list of credentials, despite his young age. He has a bachelor's degree from De Pauw University, a masters and doctorate from Yale and has served as a research associate in the Nuclear Physics laboratory at the University of Washington.

Dr. Allen also has been a staff physicist at the Nuclear Structure Lab at Yale and was a guest research associate at the Brookhaven National Laboratory. In his spare time, Dr. Allen enjoys handball, track, tennis, squash, bicycling, sailing, hiking, music, photography and the study of history.

Enrollment Short of Expectations Here

Public school enrollment in Lubbock reached 32,813 Monday, less than 1,000 short of the projected enrollment peak of 33,600.

According to Gordon Downum, public information director for the school system, 17,131 have entered elementary schools, 14,016 are enrolled in junior and senior high schools, and 429 in kindergarten. The figure also includes 1,237 in special education classes.

Downum said kindergarten enrollment was below expectations, and that efforts were made to reach those families that had children eligible for the program, but that had not as yet enrolled them in the classes.

Mrs. Murry Peppers Attends Women's State Conference in Austin Last Week

Mrs. Murry Peppers, who recently resigned from the Community Action Board in Lubbock County, attended the first annual Governor's Womens meeting at Austin, Texas, last Friday and Saturday.

At this historical meeting, Mrs. Peppers made it clear that she was interested in the prospect of using public school counselors to do job counseling for low income families. She described the overall conference as a marvelous effort for expressing opinion. She feels that on a local level a lot of good programs possibly will be developed as a result of the meeting held at Austin.

"I will report back to our Community Action Board to see how we can educate women heads of households as far as job opportunities and day-care centers are concerned," she said.

"I see definite possibilities for effectiveness on a local level in dealing with the problems women have."

There was a resolution passed at Austin last Saturday by the group, dealing with equalizing qualifications by which employees, both men and women, are judged for state employment.

U. S. Representative Martha Griffiths, Democrat-Michigan, was one of the main speakers for the first meeting.

CAB Accepting Job Applications Here

Congressman George Bush stops to talk with two young Texans during a recent campaign trip. Rep. Bush is the Republican candidate for the U.S. Senate. He is the sponsor of the Rural Job Development Act, which would use tax incentives to encourage industry to locate in rural areas and hire the unemployed. Bush feels this would bring people out of the cities and back into rural areas, thus relieving some of the overcrowding in cities.

Doc Severinsen to Appear in Concert At Lubbock Coliseum in November

Doc Severinsen's Now Generation Brass featuring the noted band leader on the trumpet plus the song and dance talents of the Brothers and Sisters, will be brought to Lubbock for a performance November 7 in Municipal Coliseum.

A two-part program is planned in which the Texas Tech band will share honors with the visiting musicians. Severinsen will perform with the Tech group during the first portion and will present the Now Generation Brass during the latter half.

Severinsen's show, which has just finished a successful run at New York's Plaza Hotel Persian Room, is being sponsored by the Downtown Lubbock Kiwanis Club.

Proceeds will go toward establishing a scholarship fund for band students at Tech, said Kiwanian Harold Jones, chairman of the arrangements committee.

Severinsen will make one other appearance while here, Jones said. He will join Tech's Red Raider Band for their half-time show at the Texas Tech-TCU afternoon football game in Jones Stadium, also on November 7.

Severinsen, who has become widely known to television audiences as a regular on the Tonight Show, handpicked his group of musicians who specialize in the "now" brand of popular music. Ed Sullivan called the show "a smash hit," and Variety Magazine hailed Severinsen as "a personality and entertainer of high competence."

Tickets will go on sale Oct. 10, Jones said.

Dunbar P.T.A. Holds Open House Meeting

Over 170 people, including parents, patrons, friends and school officials, attended the "Open House" meeting at Dunbar High School last Thursday evening in the school auditorium, sponsored by the Dunbar P.T.A. The program had as its theme: "Happiness Is A Panther."

Mrs. Eula Faye Williams led the opening song, "Lift Every Voice," with the audience participating. Prayer was led by Rev. Adolphus Cleveland, minister of New Jerusalem Baptist Church; and Rev. A. W. Wilson, minister of Bethel A.M.E. Church, gave the prayer for unity and benediction.

After remarks by Mr. Powell, refreshments were served in the cafeteria with members of the Dunbar student body serving as hosts and hostesses.

EDITORIALS

Better Traffic Flow Is A Must for East Lubbock

For several years now the West Texas Times has called for better traffic regulation at the intersection of East 24th Street and Quirt Avenue. These repeated editorial calls for improvement have produced several traffic counts in the area—nothing more.

These counts in the past have not shown any great need for better traffic precautions in any of the east Lubbock areas. Now, however, with the recent integration of Dunbar High School, as ordered by Judge H. O. Woodard, everyone can realize that something must be done quickly to make the flow of traffic through the area better.

Not only the East 24th Street and Quirt intersection, but several others East of Avenue A should be studied as soon as possible. With the opening of school this year, and the increased flow of traffic, brought about by the necessity of sending some Junior High School students West of Avenue A, while requiring many High School students from other areas to cross Avenue A and attend school on the East side of town, many intersections are becoming overloaded.

Perhaps the city fathers did not think that there would be students coming to Dunbar from West of Avenue A, and therefore did not plan for a safe, wide, easily accessible route through the black community. The foresight of Urban Renewal planners certainly did not effectively serve the citizens of east Lubbock, and now has proved to be a problem for central Lubbock citizens who must drive through the area.

For a number of years now, entrance into and exit out of the black areas has been limited to only six streets, creating a great deal of problems for the black citizens, especially during periods of heavy traffic flow. Maybe, just maybe, now that the schools have been integrated, and whites are to be annoyed about these problems, something will be done to improve, and upgrade the safety of east Lubbock's streets.

One can't help but ask if the replating of traffic patterns in east Lubbock was designed to maintain complete control of the flow of traffic into and out of the black community. If we look carefully at the entrance and exits of the predominately black area (especially the area bounded by the Cemetery Curve on the South; the over-pass on the West on 24th Street; and Quirt Avenue on the north); we'll discover that there are only three means of getting into and out of Manhattan Heights. And tragically, all three of these accesses may be closed by wet, cold weather and heavy rains.

While we are on the subject of safety, the cross walks at Ella Iles Elementary School should be made more discernible for the hundreds of motorists that travel daily by the school, on both the north and south. Special attention should be made on the East 24th Street area where many young people commute to Ella Iles, and a crossing guard placed there would certainly help.

Lubbock Citizens Just Don't Like Smoke

After nearly two weeks of solid burning, the city of Lubbock's dump in east Lubbock has again aroused complaints about it. This time however, heavy smoke in homes in central and west Lubbock caused a great deal more people to voice their concern and displeasure. This type of nuisance has been standard operation procedure for many years in our area.

An official of the City of Lubbock has said that the fire last week-end was apparently the work of vandals. This may be true, but the fact remains that something must be done now, to prevent this type of pollution from occurring again.

And speaking of pollution, we might also suggest that the City Manager's Office look into the situation carefully, and perhaps make sure that all city ordinances are followed by all citizens. This suggestion would not only include putting a stop to the dump burning, but also doing something about the scattering of trash throughout east Lubbock as people and city trucks drive to and from the dump grounds.

Yes, citizens all over Lubbock are complaining about last week-end's incident and we all would like to see something done about it, now.

He Comments on New School Zones

"Just Because I'm Black"

Being a black business man with very little money. . . It is hard to stay in business. The blacks won't trade with you. The white make it hard on you. If you wear a beard, you are a trouble maker. "I do wear one." If you don't put a flag in your window, they say you don't love your country. They say that they love their country but they just don't like Nigger and Mexican.

I know that I make the best Bar-B-Q and my prices are reasonable, but my people will drive five or six miles and pay more. They think I should give them something. Some people drive up to my place and see that I'm black and they won't come in.

If you don't want to go to Vietnam and die they say you are a communist. Black Lubbock if you want to see some real America, watch this group that has been put in Dunbar School zone. Watch them wave their flag and run, run, run.

MY VIEWS

By Eddie P. Richardson

More and more Americans are losing faith in the idea that integration of our schools is the answer to the problems of how to provide equal educational opportunities for black and white children. The new idea that more good can be accomplished by improving the schools that Negroes attend, is growing throughout the country.

Many white people are still not going to let school integration take place, after 16 years with school desegregation as the law of the land. We are only an inch, if that much, closer toward the goal of complete integration.

Mental Care, A Christian Priority

By Jimmy R. Allen

The recent controversy over activities at the Austin State Hospital has resulted in a candid report of irregularities and a promise of changes in administrative procedure.

Representative Don Cavness of Austin has performed a service in informing Texans of the need for closer supervision and screening of the way patients have been cared for in this mental health institution.

Some of the accusations and reports were exaggerated. However, enough truth was revealed to raise serious issues for thoughtful Christian citizens.

The progress in the whole field of caring for persons with emotional and mental problems has transformed the mental health field in the past two or three decades. But citizens have been unwilling or hesitate to keep public institutions and programs of mental health abreast with the progress in this area.

A "warehouse mentality" has characterized an apathetic public. Some inner fears and apprehension concerning mental disorder have made average citizens thankful when emotionally distressed people are tucked out of sight. Cruel jokes are still the order of the day for some thoughtless persons.

 TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin, Texas—Top-flight business and industrial executives are getting an invitation to study the administration of state agencies and tell them how to do a better job, hopefully for less money.

House Committee on Efficiency and Economy urged Speaker Gus Mutscher to take the initiative in setting up an outside committee of experts.

Proposal actually originated with Chicago consultant's preliminary review of 12 selected agencies. Consultant called for seven study teams of experts to do indepth surveys.

Chairman, Rep. Russell Cummings of Houston, said nearly everyone advocates "economy in the abstract," but "seldom is a studied, rational set of specifics advanced as a plan for saving tax dollars."

Committee is under no illusions that additional state spending will not be required as the state grows.

"The citizens are entitled to know that every tax dollar is being spent with maximum attention to efficiency and economy," said Cummings. "I feel that most of state government is being operated efficiently, but I am also convinced that additional savings can be pinpointed by experts from private enterprise organizations, studying operations within their own expertise."

Junior College Shift Advised—A far-reaching recommendation to discontinue financing junior colleges through local property taxes and turn the job over to the state has been offered by the Texas Research League.

During the next biennium, if this proposal were adopted, local taxpayers would be relieved of $72.9 million. State taxes of that amount would have to be provided. An alternative League recommendation is for the state to pay the operating costs and cost of future construction but to leave existing bonded indebtedness as the obligation of local property taxpayers. This would reduce the local-to-state tax transfer to $56 million, instead of $72.9 million.

League recommends a $200 million bond issue for 1971 and a $200 million issue for 1975 to pay for construction at all state colleges. Community colleges, League claimed, should be operated through locally-elected regional boards which might supervise several campuses.

League Director James W. McGrew said appropriations for community colleges, which will enroll two out of three freshmen and sophomores in state schools by the end of this decade, should be handled through the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System.

Meanwhile understaffed hospitals continue to be overwhelmed with the number of patients brought to them.

It is encouraging to see progress in the public mind in sending the need for changes in procedure for treating mentally disordered persons. The concept of community hospitals and first-rate mental health care is catching on.

However, financial support of a system which used newer concepts of psychiatric treatment, demands a much higher degree of citizens support.

With the current unrest in the mental health and mental retardation system in Texas, citizens should become informed and involved. The Governor should be encouraged to take decisive action in leading Texas out of the doldrums in the mental health field. Outstanding administrative people are needed and should be supported. Legislators should be encouraged to raise the revenues for an adequate hospital system and community health program.

Christian compassion demands deep concern for the distressed. No one is in more need of support and understanding than those with emotional problems. One mark of the ministry of Jesus was that those who were "possessed of demons" could be found sitting at the feet of Jesus fully clothed and in their right mind. Anything we can do to help persons toward full possession of their capacity for living is sure to be pleasing to God.

A Look at Africa—1970: (continued). The Republic of South Africa has a rich and colorful history dating back to primitive scenes painted on cave walls by the Hottentots before the rise of western civilization. In the mid-1600's the Dutch took an interest in the area while searching for a water route to India. It soon became immediately apparent that control of the Cape section of Africa would mean control of the waterways, and the attention of the European nations focused on the unexplored area.

Dutch colonists first claimed the area, subduing the native Africans, primarily the Bantus and the Hottentots after confining them to reservations. After then the conflict was between the British and Dutch. After two wars, the British controlled the entire area formerly occupied by the Dutch, and formed the Union of South Africa.

In 1961, South Africa withdrew from the Commonwealth of Nations and changed to a republican form of government, altering the name of the country to reflect the change. South Africa's population is one fifth white. Dutch settlers developed the language of Afrikaans, which, along with English, is the official language of the country. Although whites are in the minority, they control business and government in the South African country. Next week apartheid and how it works in South Africa.

Our thanks to Mrs. Rosa Rector of Odessa, Texas, for information concerning the West Texas Regional Council for the Social Studies. This organization was formed some six or more years ago to facilitate communication among teachers of social studies in West Texas. It has concerned itself with such vital topics as economics, geography, international affairs and minority group contributions to our political body. The organization is also known as WTRCSS.

East-side community leaders in Midland have plans to make the former Carver High School, now Carver Learning Center, at 1300 East Wall Street, one of the most active and all-around vocational training schools in the Southwest. With almost a million dollar facility at their disposal, there is no reason why it should not be, they argue. Foundation support is most likely and dozens of courses for young people and adults will be offered at the Center.

For example, suppose you wanted to be a professional cleaner. Carol Zetsche and Mary Garay of Casa de Amigos notes that on Tuesday, September 15, classes in the field of commercial and residential cleaning will be offered by certified teachers at the Carver Center and for just five bucks for the entire course. Woodworking, carpentry, cooking classes, electricity, radio, auto mechanics are just a few of the planned courses. And for the Moms and Pops, a place will be provided for the kids while you learn in the evening hours. And we hear courses in writing and speaking the "King's English" will be offered. If so, here we come.

The American Tract Society is at present the only Christian publisher in America which was a division designed exclusively to deal with presenting the gospel of Christ through the printed pages within the black community, it is reported by a bellringer.

Participating in "Operation Good Samaritan" black and white youths of a Church of God in Christ, a Negro congregation and the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon) recently raised more than $33,000 for the construction of a new church for the black congregation in Salt Lake City. Word comes that a similar project is underway with black and white Methodists' groups in Colorado City, Texas.

Some 42 per cent of people in trouble still seek a clergyman first, according to Donald E. Smith, director of the American Foundation of Religion and Psychiatry. The director said that one of every ten Americans need psychiatric care, but that the nation has fewer than 50,000 psychiatrists, psychologists and psychiatric social workers—and many areas have none. He added that clergymen are being trained to do short-term counseling, to work with situation problems, to be discerning about behavior, their own and others, and to screen out those with character structure difficulties who need psychiatric attention.

Churches could and should do much more for the elderly believes Esther C. Stamats, speaking before the Senate Special Committee on Aging in D.C. recently. "Many have turned their backs on this ministry to devote more time to youth, special interests and the immediate problems of today's world.

The Southern Baptist Home Mission Board has recently authorized the creation of a million-dollar loan fund for Negro and other ethnic Baptist groups.

Our thanks also this week for our new autographed copy of The Tolone Station and Beyond, by Marc Moreland, Ph.D., a former college instructor of mine at Langston University and published by The Christopher Publishing House of North Quincy, Massachusetts. What was the nature of liberty in the United States in 1861 and how has it changed in the past one hundred years or so. Has time run out on political leaders who "promise them anything, but don't do one thing," on certain public abuses and problems? The 294 full page volume sells for $9.75 and well worth every dime of it bellringers.

"Never," it is the import of these pages, "was there a more propitious time for a Saul walking a Damascus Road, and being struck with the vision and the resolve to carry a new revolutionary gospel, even unto the Gentiles!" is a typical sentence from the treatise.

My Views . . .

The best approach is to improve the level of education in the schools our children are now attending and increase our community control over these schools.

Let's stop kidding ourselves about integration, and make all of the schools equally good for all of the children. Then nobody will mind what school his child attends.

The only way we will have honest integration in our schools is; first by changing housing patterns; second, the hearts of people must be changed and that's a thing no one has yet been able to do. Just a few years ago, most black people were willing to accept busing as the only way to achieve integration. Now they are more concerned about the quality of education their children will receive. Most blacks are now saying that they would rather have better schools in their own neighborhoods. Now believe me, I do not want a segregated school system, but busing for integration is wrong. Quality education is what counts, and this should be the commitment of educational boards across this country. Where large scale integration has been attempted, the results frequently have been re-segregation, as whites move out of mixed school zones, or send their children to private schools.

Because of this resegregation, many of the court orders are self-defeating. One reason why the schools are doing such a poor job of educating black children is that we have spent too much time and effort on integrating them and too little time and effort on improving the schools. Integration was simply a means to an end. Much of the confusion today stems from the fact that the means has now become an end in itself. Suits are being fought for integration, boundaries are being redrawn, busing is being instituted—not to improve education, but to integrate classrooms. The results can sometimes be pathetic. An example is what has happened at Wichita Falls, where students go to school and spend an hour, then board buses and are transported to five other schools throughout the city, as transportation is available.

It is time to start concentrating on educating children where they are. This does not mean that the long-range struggle for freedom, justice, and equality has to be abandoned. If there is any chance at all of reaching our goal of a truly democratic society, it has to be via the "freedom for all" approach.

Many blacks agree that integrated schools do not exist. And blacks have found, north and south, that their children are getting inferior educations. So the trend now must be toward getting a better education for all children.

Closing thought: "Is a child getting an education or being a statistic more important?" Think!

Your Community Action Program
By Ethel Phea

Haskell—What is it, how it works, and what it means to you and your city?

The Community Action Program unites public and private resources in an all-out effort to make fruitful living possible for all Americans.

Our Community Action Program is more than a number of projects. It is a quality of spirit, a sharing of common purpose and hope. Mutual trust and respect between all parts of the community are needed to fulfill the promise of this undertaking.

The more you and all citizens join in by volunteering work, attending neighborhood and board meetings, and exchanging useful ideas and suggestions, the better Haskell's CAP will be.

The Community Action Program serves:

The community by improving the economic position of the poor, generally defined as those with a family income of less than $3,400 a year for four persons.

The unemployed and underemployed through War on Poverty programs to improve education and teach skills that will qualify participants for regular, better paying jobs.

The Educationally and Culturally deprived by involvement in decisions that determine the destiny of themselves and their children.

Neighborhood Clinic is scheduled for 2:00 p.m. September 5th.

A series of classes on cooking and storing of donated food will be given by the Home Demonstration Agent, Mrs. Ted Elliot, on September 10, 24th, October 8 and 22nd, at 6:30 p.m. at the center.

Veterans Administration Releases Latest Figures on Vets

There are 23,910 veterans in Lubbock County and 1,354,000 in Texas, according to Veterans Administration figures released last week on America's 27.3 million former servicemen as of the beginning of 1970.

According to the latest available figures, of the 181,000 veterans who have served during the Vietnam era, 3,850 were from Lubbock County.

World War II veterans make up the largest group of veterans with 1,410 from Lubbock, and 738,000 from the state as a whole.

The number of Texans serving in the Korean Conflict was 290,000, and 320 came from Lubbock County.

Some 210 Lubbock County residents saw military service only between the Korean Conflict and the Vietnam Era, and 154,000 from the entire state.

Of 73,000 World War I veterans in Texas, 100 are from Lubbock County.

An estimated 176 of America's 5,000 Spanish-American War veterans live in Texas.

Veterans with questions on benefits are urged to contact their nearest VA office. Those who served since Feb. 1, 1955, may be eligible for G.I. Bill training. Those who served since June 27, 1950, may be eligible for home loans.

The four state forests in Texas are used for forestry demonstration and research purposes.

Test To Save Lives

Fifty per cent of Texas fatal traffic accidents involve drunken drivers, say the Texas Safety Association.

Enforcement of the new breath test law could cause a dramatic decrease in the number of traffic fatalities during 1970.
