New York Native Interns With Caprock Girl Scout Council

New York native, Carla Maloney, will be making her home in Lubbock this summer. Carla is one of five women among some 200 applicants to be selected for a multi-cultural recruitment program for non-Girl Scout adults designed by Girl Scouts of the USA. The program will provide participants the opportunity to take part in a ten week internship program that will expose them to Girl Scout culture and various career options in Girl Scouting. The project encourages Girl Scout executive directors and supervisors to mentor multi-cultural staff and help them explore lateral and higher-level career opportunities. Once Carlas has completed the internship program, she will be referred to Girl Scout councils for a salaried position. Five interns were selected in 1992 and ten will be selected in 1993. The program is funded by a De Witt Wallace-Reader's Digest Fund grant.

Carla Maloney

Caprock Council was one of five selected to participate in the Internship program from 333 councils nationally. Myra Burris, Executive Director of Caprock Council said that "Caprock Council is privileged to have selected for this program and the staff is enthused about working with Carla." Carla experienced culture shock coming from such a large city to a town the size of Lubbock. Impressed by the Texas hospitality, she states that "the people of Lubbock have all been very nice and have welcomed me with open arms." Ms. Maloney is a native of Brooklyn, New York and has a Bachelor of Arts in Sociology from Barber-Scotia College, Concord, North Carolina. She is a member of the Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc.

RUBY JAY'S CORNER

The New Hope Baptist Church Sunday School opened at the usual time with Supt. Deacon Swain at his post of duty. Class Number 4 won both banners -- attendance and offering.

The order of the morning services began with devotion at 10:45 a. m., and was led by Sister Swain. Prayer was offered by Deacon Ervin.

The Senior Choir marched in singing 'Glad To Be In The Service.' Altar prayer was offered by Brother Cleophus Marshall. Another song, 'My God Has Never Failed Me Yet.' Scripture was Psalms; Patrick Johnson offered prayer. Another song, 'It Will Be Alright.'

Responsive reading was done with the assistance of the congregation standing.

The morning hymn was 'Nothing But The Blood of Jesus.'

Pastoral observations were read in a letter from Pastor Billy Moton who was out of the city. The letter was read by Sister C. Phillips.

Rev Michael Matthews brought the morning message. His subject was 'The Party Is Over.' His scripture text was Daniel 5:5. It is so true, the party is over. What then. It was a wonderful message.

Prayers really went out for Pastor Moton and family last Sunday. Members love their pastor. The members really miss him.

There were several visitors present last Sunday who were in the city for the Dunbar All-Clubs Reunion.

The members were glad to see Sister Othelene Wright, Sister Betty and son, Earnest Smith. They were former members of New Hope Baptist Church. They reside in Denver, Colorado.

Brother Cleophus Marshall will preach his first sermon at New Hope on Sunday, August 2, 1992 at 3 p. m. The public is asked to come and support him.

Brother Bull Daviss was all smiles over his children coming to the Dunbar reunion. They were Shirley and Hubby of Riverside, California; Grace Ann of Chicago, Illinois and Mary Ann of Dallas, Texas. They had a wonderful time.

LISD Receives Grants

The Lubbock Independent School District has been awarded two grants totaling $162,700 by the United States Department of Education. The grants will fund a new foreign language program at the elementary level and short-term training for secondary teachers in bilingual (English as a Second Language) methodology.

A $94,000 three-year grant will introduce Japanese language studies to Wheatley Elementary students in Grades 2 through 4. Grades 5 and 6 will be included over the two following years. Emphasis will be on oral language skills. LISD was one of only ten school districts in Texas to receive such grants, according to Suzanne Abbott, foreign language and ESL coordinator.

The school district is also the recipient of a $68,700 grant to provide funding for the short-term training of 24 secondary teachers in bilingual methodology. The focus of this program will be helping regular classroom teachers of core curriculum subjects make modifications in their teaching methods for their limited-English-proficient students. Once these modifications have been tested in the classroom and further refined, they will be made available to all teachers in the district. Mrs. Abbott indicated that LISD had competed with school districts nationally for this grant.

It's revival time at the St. John Baptist Church, August 17-21, 1992. Myself along with the members of the Saint John Baptist Church would like to extend to you a special invitation to join us in this upcoming revival.

The evangelist will be the Rev. Lawrence Tomison of Nashville Tennessee. Currently, Rev. Tomison is seen on the nationally acclaimed "Bobby Jones Gospel Show", and his album "Deliverance will Come" and the new hit release "Never Let go His Hand" are both nationally acclaimed. His latest album is being played on radio stations around the country. Rev. Tomison unleashes his powerful vocal cords on this album featuring the Dynamic Music City Choir Mass Choir of Nashville. The blending of traditional gospel with a slight contemporary twist is a nice springboard to further the solo career of this talented artist. The album is number 23 on Billboards Charts. Billboard is one of the leading and most respected charting sources. Rev. Tomison will be singing at the 25th Gospel Music Workshop of America to be held in Chicago August 3-16, 1992. He has been nominated for Male Vocalist of the Year, traditional Best Choir of the Year, traditional (Rev. Tomison and Music City Choir), Best Album of the Year, traditional Best Song of the Traditional.

The Gospel Music workshop of America was founded by the late Rev. James Cleveland and is one of the largest gathering of Gospel Music lovers with an attendance of 10,000 plus. Rev. Tomison is expected to fair very well. The Gospel Music Excellence Award is considered among many to be more prestigious than the Dove Award.

We look for to having you as our SPECIAL GUEST.

For Us, We Must Look Beyond Ethnicity!!

by
Eddie P. Richardson

Clarence Thomas (Tom) Uncle has proven everything whimp George expected of him when Anita Hill came down on him. He put up a good innocence act. The fact is he likes phonography as well as our sources tell us. No problem with this writer, he is an adult and that's his right and privilege, but for God's sake don't be a phony and try to legislate other people's choice. Brother, quit being a phony. Don't be fool for the racist right wing. Nuf sed!

Last week, we asked the question where does the Rev. Jesse Jackson fit -- civil rights or politics. Our conclusion is Jesse would make an excellent Secretary of State. He has been performing these duties anyway. Lt. Goodman, etc.

This is where he could do America good. We discussed this idea with State Rep. candidate Bidal Agüero and County Commissioner Elsie Solis. Caught off guard, they didn't agree before thinking about it.

Now that Clinton is the man with Gore as his sidekick and the exit of H. Ross Perot, the party of Jesse is on the roll. No matter what one may feel or think, Jesse revived the Donkey with his camp meeting operations across the nation.

Blacks, Whites, Browns, Reds, Yellows, factory workers, farmers, etc. have begun to come together. Even with his ego and arrogance, the party is in his debt.

We read about Jerry B., but he is of a Jesse. He has not paid the dues or made the contributions Jesse has made, plus he came from the system and is back peddling.

Nuf sed!
See you next week!!

The Democrats opened their Lubbock headquarters last Saturday. Folks interested in helping should call Cindy Jones at the headquarters or Brad Frye at his law office and sign up.

Ten more things Lubbock (WE) can do to improve things around here:

1. Every graduate be bilingual.
2. All Texas Tech law students put in 30 hours of legal aid service each year as graduation requirement. SMU requires just 30 hours as graduation requirement.
3. All Texas Tech, LCU, and SPC graduates do 30 hours of community service each year as graduation requirement.
4. Sec education for our children.
5. Improve the taste of our water.
6. Mandatory parental counseling for both parents in divorces. This was suggested on the tv show "20/20" on July 24th as a way to cut down on child abuse and neglect.
7. Re-open Stubb's BBQ.
8. Build a large air conditioned facility to accommodate basketball, concerts .....
9. Recruit a minor baseball team to Lubbock. Bill Kerns with the A.J. is real big on this idea.
10. Close the Strip and permit alcohol sales in the city.
- 10a. Establish free alcohol/drug abuse counseling/treatment centers. The benefits in job performance, reducing abuse, etc. will exceed the costs.

CHARLES J. GIVENS MONEY STRATEGIES

One of the quickest ways to cause any relationship to deteriorate from love to loneliness is to indulge in Relationship Game Playing, RGP. One of the most common games is "Gotcha."

In "Gotcha," the player asks a question to which the answer is known. The game is meant to force and then catch the unknowing participant in a series of lies as justification for punishment.

For example, a father confronts his child, who played hooky from school.

"How was school today?"

"Oh, the usual."

"You're lying. Your teacher called and said you weren't at school. What did I tell you about lying? You're going to get the beating of your life."

The child is punished due to a trap the father created, not because of the initial wrongdoing. "Gotcha" builds distrust, forces lying as a way of life, and depends on expectations.

Another common game is the "if you loved me" game. The player uses statements connecting an action (to be taken or avoided) with the personal worth or feelings of the participant.

The type of statements that initiate this game include "If you loved me you would... take out the garbage," "pay more attention to me," "understand why I have to work long hours." Other dangerous statements include: "If you cared..." "If you were reasonable..." "If you were a good boy/girl..."

The real message is the opposite of what is said. "If you don't take or avoid the action I am demanding then you... do not love me," "... are not a responsible person," "... are not a good boy/girl."

Your success response: spot the words that precede destructive game playing and drop them. Cut to the heart of the matter, drop the tricks, games and manipulations. Instead, use loving communication to build a stronger, more synergistic relationship. Make every effort to turn arguments and manipulation into understanding and communication.

I have looked again at Bill Clinton and looked back over the months of press reports about him. I've listened to these outstanding Democrats in Convention -- Democrats like Barbara Jordan, and Bill Bradley and Jimmy Carter -- speaking of Democratic principles and Clinton's commitment to them. And I have concluded that he is not a "gerbil," and Ross Perot can never be an alternative for this Democrat. I'm willing to believe the Bill Clinton who has spoken for himself and the Bill Clinton of whom many Democrats, I believe, have spoken highly.

If former U. S. Representative Barbara Jordan is a member of Clinton's team and a willing supporter and he is a willing listener and learner, a man who will be counseled by diverse points of view (something the present administration has never done) -- I can give my vote to Mr. Clinton.

I believe Barbara Jordan and Bill Bradley when they say America's great strength is in its diversity. We are one, we are a whole people, as Jordan said Monday night. If Bill Clinton reflects that, if he believes it and takes it at heart, if he can be trusted (if Jordan trusts him) to make us whole -- I can enthusiastically vote for Bill Clinton.

Things have been awfully quiet down in Central America. It is y understanding that the peace process in El Salvador has stalled because the right wing Arena Party is dragging its feet. In Nicaragua the tension between the Sandinistas and the government continues. And over in Panama we apparently have about 2/3 of our armed forces from the invasion still there doing something, or getting ready for something.

Folks interested in getting information, any information, about what is going on in Central America might consider reading: "Barricada Internacional" biweekly news from Managua, $35/year, sample free. "And the great owners, who must lose their land in an upheaval, the great owners with access to history, with eyes to read history and to know the great fact: when property accumulates in too few hands it is taken away. And the companion fact: when a majority of people are hungry and cold they will take by force what they need. And the little screaming fact that sounds through history: repression works only to strengthen and knit the oppressor. The great owners ignored the three cries of history.

We Can Win This Election!!

Carolyn L. Bennett, Ph.D.

(Editor's Note: This is a two part series written by Carolyn L. Bennett, Ph.D. who is a writer and former educator who lives in Northern Virginia.)

Part I

"We can win this election if we believe in something (or someone) and go ahead and commit ourselves on the basis of that belief.

I believe in Barbara Jordan. I believe what she says. I believed her sixteen years ago when she keynoted the 1976 Democratic National Convention, and I believed her last week.

I believe in Barbara Jordan. And I believe in the Democratic Party.

I believe in the Democratic Party because throughout my voting years only the Democratic Party has made an honest effort to include people like me. To extend the Constitution, as Barbara Jordan has said, to people like her and like me. It is by far the only party of inclusion in the United States. This year's platform and those who rose to speak for Bill Clinton remind us of the distinctiveness of the Democratic Party and, by holding these concepts, Clinton's own distinctiveness. Character that commands our respect and compels us to vote for him, as for ourselves, in November.

The preamble to the Democratic platform calls for "a revolution in government to take power away from entrenched bureaucracies (and private corporations, I hope) and narrow interests in Washington and put it back in the hands of ordinary people...."

"To make this revolution," the platform says, "we seek a New Covenant to repair the damaged bond between the American people and their government, that will expand opportunity, insist upon greater individual responsibility in return, restore community and insure national security in a profoundly new era."

Representative Dave McCurdy of Oklahoma says the Democratic Party is "the party of hard-working people and the sworn enemies of special privilege.... (Democrats believe that) government is us ..... And whoever receives from government has an obligation to give something back."

I have not always liked what I have heard (or sensed) about Mr. Clinton, but I believe that in response to his committed (what Paul Teongas calls "generational immorality") over the past 12 years by the Reagan-Bus regimes -- there is and must be one immediate priority. It is our commitment to the proposition that, as Teongas says, "George Bush must go!"

American State Bank

Has there ever been a time when your paycheck didn't make it to the bank on time? Do you remember how frustrated you've been trying to make that deposit before 3 p. m.? Even worse, do you remember the anxiety about possible overdrafts before you could make a deposit?

For years, people receiving any kind of recurring government payment, whether social security, veteran's benefits or other state or federal payments, have not had these worries. Their checks have been electronically credited, without fail, each pay period.

Now employees of any business may enjoy this same convenience.

American State's direct deposit service means employer stop at the point of writing an actual paper payroll check, and instead, make a computer tape or diskette, listing all employees' net pay, account number and name of financial institution, then bring the information to American State. With this direct deposit service, every employee's pay will be credited overnight, without fail, to the desirable account(s).

No matter where the employee is -- on vacation, sick, or just too busy to leave the office to run to the bank -- money is in their account!

There are obvious savings to the employer. As a matter of fact, Sears and Roebuck, for instance, reports savings of $1 a pay period for EACH of the 300,000 employees it pays by direct deposit.

The City of Lubbock reports an annual saving of more than $90,000, taking into account payroll production and distribution time as well as employee production time.

Methodist Hospital, a leader in health care innovations and services, sees direct deposit not only as a benefit to the hospital in terms of money saved, but more as an employee benefit. Bill Morgan, employee benefit coordinator said, "This service is just one of the many ways we can make life easier for our employees. Now they don't have to make a special trip to the hospital to pick up a paycheck and then rush to the bank. Plus, if their work hours are such that it is impossible to leave and make a trip to the bank, no worry..... the deposit has been made for them."

An employee's money is available to them the first hour of business on payday. An added convenience are the ATM (automated teller machine) networks all over the city. Cash may be obtained in any location on payday, rather than the single bank facility.

It is not uncommon to see direct mail check marketers advertise in magazines, through the mail, in retail stores or in coupon sections of a Sunday newspaper. They use a variety of sales strategies, ranging from low introductory prices and special designs to 'cause-related' marketing, in which a non-profit group may benefit from each sale.

Even though less than 2 percent of a bank's customers use these suppliers, the trend could grow as check printers begin to increase prices for personalized check production.

Although it is legal to use checks printed by an outside supplier, good reasons exist not to:

1. Quality control -- checks are an extension of the checking account service. The surest way to avoid problems with our checks is to get them from the same place you get your checking account -- from the bank.

2. Security -- your checking account number should be treated with the same care and caution as a credit card number. Customers should be hesitant to send this important information to an unknown, sometimes out-of-state printer.

3. Acceptance -- local merchants are accustomed to seeing a bank's logo printed on your checks. Direct mail suppliers print the bank's name in "plain" type, which would cause merchants to hesitate.

4. Accuracy -- our printer has your last order on file in a computerized memory bank. They know your specific design, the proper starting number, even the date of the last order. Re-orders are printed exactly the same, and any necessary changes are more easily made.

5. Service -- at the bottom of many mail order ads for checks, you may see "Allow 3-4 weeks for delivery." Most bank check printers can provide orders for customers in 3-4 DAYS, not

America's Favorite Charity Responds To Disaster

In recent weeks, the men and women of The Salvation Army were active in three very different communities helping thousands suddenly in crisis due to major disasters or emergencies:

• In Chicago, Illinois, Salvation Army emergency disaster teams provided canteen, supply vehicle, and ham radio support in response to major flooding in the city's historical loop.

• In Guadalajara, Mexico, Salvation Army mobile emergency canteens from Texas responded to the sewer line gas explosions which killed nearly 200 people.

6. Guarantee -- if for some reason you are not pleased with your check order, it is very simple to have them reprinted. And you may talk with your banker about the changes face-to-face -- not through an 800 number three states away!

Because the bank is the right place to keep your money, we think it's the right place to get your checks too.

As of the beginning of May, Salvation Army personnel and volunteers have served 125,362 meals and snacks to victims and rescue workers. Canteens are still on hand, providing on-site relief and counseling services to the injured and homeless.

Magnet Program Set For Wheatley

A new magnet program at Wheatley Elementary School next year will be designed to excite students in their studies of math and science. The magnet program is planned to attract "majority" students, and openings are available for transfer to Wheatley for the coming school year. "Majority" students are considered Anglo and ethnic groups other than Hispanic and African-American.

Math and science labs will emphasize critical thinking skills and problem solving application. An integrated learning system will enable each classroom in grades 1-6 to have computer-assisted instruction available. The school will also have a full-day kindergarten program.

The new magnet program will have exploration of knowledge and new ideas in science, math, reading, writing (authoring), and language through a cooperative learning approach. Identified students will be involved in a gifted and talented program, and there will be a maximum 20-1 pupil/teacher ratio for each classroom.

An extended instruction day from 8:10 a. m. to 3:45 p. m. is planned. Self-contained classes will be used, and there will be an emphasis on parent conferences.

Parents who are interested in their children attending the school should make an application through the office of the assistant superintendent for elementary education. Forms are available from that office by calling 766-1027. Inquiries about the new magnet program should be directed to the same office.

Wheatley is located at 1802 East 28th Street.

WHAT IS HAPPENING LOCALLY

To Complete The Unfinished Work of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

AACP is a network of over 100 organizations engaged in an overall community-building approach to addressing the root causes of all types of violence against Black and minority citizens. AACP's overall objective, via this voluntary, non-profit coalition, is to begin immediately to transform the concrete communities within Black America, through public-private "partnerships," into a shining city on a hill. We believe that all these efforts will be motivated by a common goal: to ensure productive participation of our own Black-wonderful communities, and also there will be a greatly increased number of Black-owned businesses and professional services. Black-owned businesses, by immediately bringing major benefits to the communities and social and other institutions developed by (and for) our ethnic groups.

AACP has a redemptive mission of completing the unfinished work of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. The information listed below about your organization should (as best possible) be focused on what your group is doing to help complete that unfinished work.

This is a public service courtesy of the Southwest Digest. We will list your meeting date, time and place; special activities, annual meetings, etc. Anything else will be considered advertisement and will be charged as such. Such as hand-bills, brochures, promotions, etc. This is necessary, because of the inflated cost of doing business. We have to pay our expenses. There will also be a charge for photos, other than news events.

Your Absence from Church is A Vote To Close its Doors

The Outreach Prayer Breakfast

The Outreach Prayer Breakfast met last Saturday morning in the lovely home of Delbert and Dorothy Hood, 2132 East 30th Street.

Is there any sick among you??

James 5:14-15

People in the Church are not alone. Members of Christ's body should be able to count on others for support and prayer. Especially when they are sick or suffering. The elders should be on call to respond to the weakness of any member, and the Church should stay alert to pray for the needs of all its members. Prayer, especially corporate prayer, is essential to the life of the church.

And their prayer, if offered in faith, does not refer to the Faith of the sick person, but to the Faith of the Church. God heals. Faith doesn't alone and all prayers are subject to God's will, but our prayers are part of God's healing process. That is why God often waits for our prayers of faith before intervening to heal a person.

Admit your faults can be translated. Confess your sins. Christ has made it possible for us to go directly to God for forgiveness, but confessing our sins to one another still has an important place in the life of the Church. (1) If we have sinned against an individual, we must ask him or her to forgive us; (2) If our sin has affected the Church we must confess it publicly; (3) If we need loving support as we struggle with a sin we should confess it to those who are able to provide that support; and (4) If after confessing a private sin to God, we still don't feel his forgiveness. We may wish to confess that sin to a fellow believer and hear him or her assure us of God's pardon in Christ Kingdom. Every believer is a part to other believers 1 Peter 2:9. This means we are charged with helping others come to Christ and telling others of Christ's words of forgiveness. Very important people!

Come join us. You're invited

Attend on Saturday morning at 9 a. m. We are praying that you'll have a blessed week. Keep smiling, Lubbock, you can make it!

We were so happy to see so many school mates and friends in our city last week. It truly was a beautiful gathering of Sisters and Brothers. We are praying for a safe trip home for all.

FROM THE OFFICE OF

"Remember the former things of old; for I am God, and there is none else; I am God, and there is none like me. Declaring the end from the beginning, and from ancient times the things that are not yet done, saying, My counsel shall stand, and I will do all my pleasure." Isaiah 46:9-10.

The story is told of a high school teacher of French having placed a full diagram of the zodiac with all of the major signs. The teacher asked each of the class members to say under what sign he or she had been born. All responded with the exception of one sixteen-year-old boy. Finally, the teacher addressed the boy individually, asking, "Which of these is your sign?" "Not any of them," replied the boy. I am under the sign of the cross." Not another word was said on the subject, and at the beginning of the next session, the blackboard was clean.

The children of Israel had come to one of the great turning points in their history. They had been uprooted from the land of promise and set down in captivity by the waters of Babylon. Some unknown prophet stood up among them and wanted them to face that crisis with God. Life didn't make sense any longer. Unless there was One whose purpose still held, who did not have to adjust himself to the fashion and fancy of the world."

"Remember, I am God." And this prophet is saying to the exiled people of God that, even with Babylon there in front of their eyes, there is One who is still on the throne. That's the answer the prophet gives the riddle of human life, with all of its ups and downs. There is a God over history.

What was left to add to the prophetic statement. When we turn to the New Testament we read, "Now when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judea in the days of Herod the king...." And suddenly it becomes clear to us that the God who is over history is in it, too. At once we come to know that the only answer to the riddle of life is not in the zodiac but in the face of Jesus, which somehow refuses to fade from the picture that the ages keep throwing up against the sky.

"Remember, I am God. There is none else. Declaring the end from the beginning. My counsel shall stand." When God said that from a cross, he said something that would hold: The principalities and powers tremble only before the cross. Look to Jesus and live!

We Thank God For Jesus "Lord, Forgive America For Her Sins!" Part 1

Jeremiah 8:7 -- The Lord said, yea, the stork in the heaven knoweth her appointed times, and the turtle and the crane and the swallow observe the time of their coming; but my people know not the judgement of the Lord.

Lord, we know America is in trouble; as any fool can plainly see, we need prayer warriors fasting and praying, crying out to thee.

James 5:16b -- The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much. We know where the trouble started: "Everyone wants to have his own way. Christians marched in the streets for mankind rights and didn't pray."

Isaiah 58:1 -- The Lord said, cry aloud, spare not, lift up thy voice like a trumpet, and show my people, their transgression, and the House of Jacob their sins.

(The Devil's sin rights: Gay Rights, Woman Rights, Black Rights, Run Away Rights, No Spanking Rights, KKK Rights, No School Prayer Rights, White Rights, Abortion Rights, Crip & Blood Rights, Kill The Family Rights, and Suicide Rights...)

"Lord, the Christians are the ones, they strayed; away from your way. They went with the world's way, sit-ins, marching; like they're doing on abortion today."

Roman 1:21-23a -- Because that, when they knew God, they glorified him not as God, neither were thankful; but became vain in their imaginations, and their foolish heart was darkened. Professing themselves to be wise, they became fools, and changed the glory of the incorruptible God into an image made like to corruptible man.

Lord, even those preachers that are supposed to be feeding your lamb and your sheep. "They've strayed from you; they're now campaigning for the devil's political seat."

Matthew 4:8-10 -- The Devil taketh him up into an exceeding high mountain, and sheweth him all the kingdoms of the world, and the glory of them; and saith unto him, all these things will I give thee, if thou wilt fall down and worship me, then saith Jesus unto him, get thee hence, Satan; for it is written, thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and Him only shalt thou serve.

"Lord, even today, Christians don't, man already have rights to love and serve them. That's the way, and the only way, mankind can be made truly free."

John 3:18; 8:31b-32 -- Jesus said, he that believeth on Him is not condemned; but he that believeth not is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten son of God (Jesus) if my people (Christians), which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land.

God is not through with us yet. So let's pray for one another always.

Couple Traces Blacks to Adam, Eve

Gilbert and Syteria Saiz examine their chart of blacks in the Bible.

By Melanie Busch
World Staff Writer

Gilbert and Syteria Saiz believe Adam and Eve were black.

The Broken Arrow couple have developed a controversial chart tracing the history of blacks in the Bible, which they say began with Adam. The presence of blacks in the Bible has been underplayed, they said.

"Why are they painting the Bible white from Genesis to Revelations?" Mrs. Saiz said. "There should be balance."

"Hamitic Expressions," a 24-inch by 36-inch chart, features color illustrations, scripture and a circular line of ancestry.

The chart's title came from one of Noah's three sons, Ham, which means "black, hot, dark skin." The Saizes said the black race was descended from Ham after God sent floods to Earth, destroying all life, as described in the book of Genesis.

Noah, they said, was also most likely black. Genetically, blacks can produce other nationalities, but other nationalities can not be produced from whites, Saiz said.

The Garden of Eden was in Africa and when God created his first man, he named him Adam, which means "red earth," the couple said.

"We know Adam and Eve were black. They had to be," Mrs. Saiz said.

Saiz, a 34-year-old free-lance

Indian artist, designed the chart and Mrs. Saiz, a 38-year-old nurse's aide, researched the lineages using the Bible and other books.

The couple hope the chart will be used as a teaching device at home, church and in the community. The chart can be purchased for $12.50 plus shipping and handling.

Saiz said one of the main purposes behind the chart were to give blacks a spiritual heritage and to provide them with positive role models to pattern their lives.

"We're building up the hearts and minds of black people," he said. "We're trying to paint a different picture for them."

Mrs. Saiz said the chart was her and her husband's contribution to correct the problems plaguing black men and women today, such as poverty, crime, low self-esteem and the breakdown of families.

"They can say, 'Hey, if my forefathers did that, I don't have to murder, rape and rob society,'" she said.

Although not all people will accept the beliefs presented through the chart, the Saizes said the chart will help bring respect and acceptance of the black race.

"This is not a racist message," Mrs. Saiz said. "This is a message to a race that has lost hope. We want them to have a place in Jesus Christ."

To order a chart, write the Saizes at P.O. Box 652, Broken Arrow 74013-0652.

Gospel of Kemp comes to NAACP

By Timothy Roberts
Banner Staff Writer

Ross Perot came. Bill Clinton and Al Gore came. But President Bush sent a surrogate.

Luckily for him it was Jack Kemp, perhaps the only nationally prominent Republican who could get a standing ovation from the NAACP.

Kemp, the secretary of Housing and Urban Development, realizes that he's a bit of an anomaly but says he's not alone in calling on Republicans to reach out to blacks.

"I'm just the most radical in talking about it," he said Thursday at a news conference following his rousing speech to NAACP delegates at the Nashville Convention Center.

"The black vote is very important," Kemp said. "You can win an election in America without the black vote, but you can't govern the country that way."

He tried to explain Bush's absence by saying, "I'm here for him," and "he can't be everywhere." He even noted that filmmaker Spike Lee had canceled his scheduled NAACP appearance.

But Kemp also admitted Republicans have much work to do before they can expect a large black voting block.

"We can do more," he said. "I want the Republican Party to be the party of Lincoln, not the party of Herbert Hoover."

Kemp preached like a Baptist evangelist to NAACP delegates about home ownership for residents of public housing, increasing the availability of capital to black entrepreneurs and creating enterprise zones to encourage the creation of new jobs.

His preaching was well-received.

At one point a man stood up and hollered, "Jack Kemp for president."

At the end, Kemp received a standing ovation as the auditorium organ played America the Beautiful.

But blacks will make up their own mind about politics, Kemp said after the speech. And although blacks have been voting heavily Democratic for the last few decades, Republicans can build on a long tradition for "the party of Lincoln and the Republican Party of equal opportunity."

The Republican notion to use free enterprise to combat inner-city problems should attract blacks, he said. But Republicans will still have to work for their support.

"I don't think it's up to them to come to us," Kemp said. "It's up to the Republican Party to come to black Americans and Hispanic Americans and low-income Americans and compete for their votes."

Said Joseph Madison, a Washington, D.C. delegate who serves on the NAACP national board of directors: "You can see Kemp has been socialized with black Americans. He's worked with African Americans and doesn't buy into the stereotypes, because he knows they aren't real."

But, Madison cautioned, "He's one man in the Republican Party... He's obviously studied the issues and has a great depth of understanding. But Jack Kemp can't deliver the black vote to the Republican Party."

Reflecting some of the independence that has come to mark black politics especially recently, Madison said of blacks: "We don't have permanent friends or permanent enemies. We just have permanent interests. The candidate who addresses our interests is the one who will get the support of blacks."

Kemp, a former pro football quarterback, was accompanied onto the stage by Ernie Ladd, an all-pro tackle and Kemp's former San Diego Chargers teammate.

Kemp recalled the days when their two families could not sit together in the stands, and the black and white players could not share accommodations. That experience, he said, helped make him sensitive to racial prejudice.
