Prenis Williams Resigns for Ector Post

Prenis Williams

Prenis Williams, graduate of the school he has been head football coach of for a year, resigned last Thursday evening and accepted a similar position at Odessa Ector.

Williams, 34, replaces Harold King, who resigned after the 1969 season. For the past two years, Ector has finished last in District 3-AAAA, but will drop to 2-AAA this fall.

Again, Williams will be battling Jimmie Keeling, who recently resigned to accept a position with Andrews, which is also in District 2-AAA.

The situation at Dunbar is now flexible. It is possible that a coach on the present staff may be elevated, while Williams will take two assistants with him.

Williams said, "My main reason for leaving is that the Ector situation seems like a workable one. The material seems workable, as well."

Williams will take over his duties April 1, when he and his wife, Barbara Jean—a counselor at E.C. Struggs, will move to Odessa.

In addition to his head coaching assignment, Williams will be athletic director at Ector, having complete control of the school's athletic program, plus setting the athletic policies at the Ector feeder schools.

Williams stated that his salary at Ector would be "in excess of $13,000."

He has been on the Dunbar staff since 1958. He became head football coach last year, held previously by James Hillyer who went to Colorado State University, and his team posted a 6-3 record. But, it was in track where the coach had his best years.

He guided Dunbar to the state championship in 1962, 1963, and 1968. He was named Texas Track Coach of the Year by Texas Southern University in 1962. Williams relinquished his track duties this spring.

Williams graduated from Dunbar in 1953, lettering in football and basketball and playing on championship teams in both sports. He was part of the 1953 cage team which won the first state title for Dunbar.

He graduated from Prairie View A & M in 1957, receiving a bachelor of science degree. He majored in industrial education and minored in science.

After a one year tenure at Austin County High School in Sealy, Williams returned to his alma mater, winning his first state crown four years later.

The Williams' are members of the Greater Saint Luke Baptist Church here.

Candidates Speak At Bethel A.M.E. Church Last Sunday

Candidates for the school board and city council, Mrs. Joan Y. Erwin and Maurice L. Richards, spoke briefly at Bethel A.M.E. Church. Both candidates gave a statement as what it would mean for them to be elected to their respective posts.

Mrs. Erwin, candidate for Place One on the school board, gave thanks for the support given her thus far. "I appreciate the opportunity of being at Bethel and happy that we can be victorious with this election on April 4th," she told the congregation at Bethel.

On the other hand, Richards, candidate for Place Three on the City Council, admitted that this is the first time that the black community is together in doing something constructive. "We'll kick off full blast next week with our publicity," Richards said. "Black People are more together than we have ever been; this is pleasing," the enthusiastic young candidate said.

Mrs. Erwin will be present at a "Silver Tea" Saturday, March 21, at 4:30 p.m. at Mae Simmons Community Center. This tea is sponsored by the Hostessess of the Erwin Campaign.

Why Does It Always Sound Like A Negro?

Why does it always seem to sound like a Negro, as made known last Friday evening by Campus Security Chief Bill G. Daniels. It would appear as though with eleven years of experience on a college campus, he would use more tact before he would draw the conclusion that a young Negro male was responsible for such a hoax as that pulled on the Tech campus last Friday evening.

In the past, many whites have claimed that all blacks look alike, and now this, one can even tell the color or race of the person on the other end of the telephone.

This type of Accusation should continue here in our city. It is time that the public become aware of these shortcomings which are existing in our city and start doing something about them.

Let's be glad that the prank called in last Friday evening did turn out to be a hoax. On the other hand, we would respectfully request that no group be blamed for this type of nonsense on the flimsy basis of a telephone call.

Lubbock cannot, and we're sure Texas Tech feels the same, afford this type of accusation, against any group, unless we are sure that the person we are talking about is who we know is responsible for it.

After eleven years, Chief Daniels, we're sure that you could have done better. Give all groups of people the benefit of the doubt; don't become too hasty. It's not worth it.

Coach Prentis Williams Can Do The Job

Coach Prentis Williams, who was appointed head coach and athletic director of Ector at Odessa, can most surely do the job. The loss of Williams is the second of this kind during this semester, with him joining the ranks of Estacado's Jimmie Keeling.

The record he leaves behind will not be forgotten; nor will his concern about young athletes. At this time, we can salute Coach Prentis Williams for a job well done in our city.

As the members of his church, Greater Saint Luke Baptist, put it: "Our loss is Odessa's gain."

Thanks for a job well done at Dunbar High School, Coach Williams.

United Black Coalition Building Machine

It appears as though the United Black Coalition, which originated from the two "Let's Get Together" meetings, is off to a good start. If this effort is to continue, we must all do our part. This organization is our; we cannot stop now!

As the two black candidates, Mrs. Joan Y. Erwin and Maurice L. Richards, are saying: "Black people are more together than we have ever seen". This is important, for we are getting ourselves together for the betterment of all.

Stay behind this coalition, it needs your help and support. We must attend these meetings which are held the second Tuesday of each month at the American Legion Hall in Yellowhouse Canyon.

Let's Support King Film"

As Black people, we should definitely get behind the national-wide promotion featuring "King" A Film Record—Montgomery to Memphis." We can show our gratitude to this effort by attending the movie which will be shown at the Lindsey Theatre on March 24 at 8 p.m.

This movie will be seen throughout the nation on this date in some 1000 theatres. This will be the only time when the motion picture will be shown in a commercial theatre.

We all can help this effort by telling our many friends about the motion picture. As we go to and from our jobs, why not even tell our employers about this effort. Surely, we can contribute our time and purchase a ticket in order to attend something which will benefit all of us.

Let's get and involved and, at the same time, contribute something constructive to the cause. Dr. King fought for us; why not be a part of his "dream."

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin, Tex.—With a total of 901 new plants, Texas has earned No. 1 rating among the states in industrial development for 1969—first time in its history.

Gov. Preston Smith announced that Dun and Bradstreet Corporation, in a report published by the Fortune Magazine marketing research staff, bestowed the recognition.

Number of new plants in Texas last year exceeded California's by 42 per cent. California was in second place.

Texas is the only southwestern state to rank in the top ten of new industrial locations.

Only six other states now exceed Texas' overall total of 15,576 manufacturing plants. Number increase to efforts of the Texas Industrial Commission and "the close-knit alliance between local, regional and state development groups and the partnership of industry and government that we have in Texas to promote a better life for all citizens."

Top ten states invested $7.9 million in programs to attract industry last year. Texas spent only $385,570—or less than five per cent of the total State's share of the 3,813 new plants nationwide was 24 per cent.

"For an investment of one half the average, Texas has been able to accomplish nearly three times the results," Smith boasted.

Other states among the top ten were Georgia with 609, Illinois with 290, Alabama with 289, Indiana with 240, Florida with 224, Minnesota with 224, Ohio with 212 and North Carolina with 189.

Safe Driving Program Pushed—Governor Smith pledged all the influence and prestige of the governor's office to curb highway traffic accidents.

His "Drive Friendly" program calls for:
Operating vehicles responsibly.
Obeying all traffic laws.
Respecting state and local police officers.
Being generous with the right of way.
Keeping vehicles in good operating condition.
Avoiding driving while unfit (particularly when drinking).

Welfare—Social Security checks will increase April 1, but many will receive smaller state assistance payments and some will become ineligible for state aid.

Welfare Commissioner Burton G. Hackney said Social Security Act amendments will have this effect on Old Age Assistance:

About 138,500 OAA recipients will receive smaller state checks, although with Social Security increase, income will go up about $4 a month.

Another 95,000 will get $4 more in state Old Age Assistance.

About 4,100 will no longer be eligible for state aid. These now receive relatively high Social Security benefits and token state aid.

Courts Speak—State Supreme Court set April 8 to hear arguments on a test case involving the constitutionality of the state law providing tax exemptions for historic buildings and sites.

Women's Rights—When coeds at the University of California held a "bra-less Thursday" demonstration for equality for women, the National Observer headlined its report: "Coeds Present United Front in Berkeley Protest."

Our Brother's Keeper—"I don't blame our Indians for being discouraged," writes Harry Oliver in The Home Book of Humorous Quotations, (Dodd Mead and Co., $10.00). "They are the only ones to be conquered by the United States and not come out ahead."

The only thing wrong with that gag is that it's too true to be funny. Edgar S. Cahn has edited a heartbreaking recital of the Indian's plight today, Our Brother's Keeper: The Indian in White America (World, $5.95) At the Pine Ridge Reservation in South Dakota, $8,040 a year is spent per family theoretically to help the Oglala Sioux Indians out of poverty. Yet median family income among these Indians remains at $1,910. Over 60 per cent of the reservation's work force is without steady employment while there is nearly one Federal bureaucrat for every family on the reservation. (The cynical conclusion must be that it is the bureaucrat's, not the Indian's poverty that has been attacked.)

The last chapter, "Civilizing the White Man," discusses some of the values of Indian culture—a respect for the land and support for his brothers. In 1886 Black Elk, an Oglala Sioux holy man, went east to "learn some secret of the Wasichu (white man) that would help my people somehow—I did not see anything to help my people. I could see that the Wasichus did not care for each other the way our people did before the nation's hoop was broken. They would take everything from each other they could use, while crowds of people had nothing at all and maybe were starving. They had forgotten that the earth was their mother. This could not be better than the old ways of my people."

Quote Of The Month—Man is the only animal that laughs and weeps, for he is the only animal that is struck by the difference between what things are and what they ought to be.—William Hazlitt.

A Grave Tale—Britons are much preoccupied with who's buried where. A clipping in a British paper read as follows: "The Rev. Philip Randall had tried for eight years to find out who was buried beneath the churchyard stone bearing the initials H.W.P. As it turned out, no one. Excavation showed the letters stood for 'hot water pipe'."

Sign Of The Times Dep't—The Sheraton Motor Inn in New York City no longer puts a Gideon Bible in every room. It is being replaced by a dictionary. Oh well, all the words in the Bible are there.

Rules and Regulations—Paul Steiner does a great job of unearthing unusual rules and regulations. Here are a few of his latest:

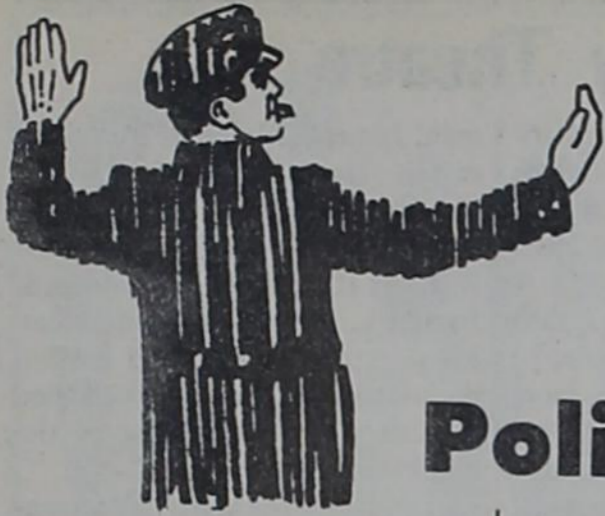

Members may marry our girls, but they must not date them.—The Gaslight Clubs, N.Y.C., Washington, Beverly Hills.

Free lunch will be served during Dairy Days street carnival (July 7,8 of each year).—Mora, Minn. Authorities.

Free corn will be served during Corn-On-The-Curb Days (Aug. 14-16 of each year).—Le Seuer, Minn. Authorities.

Wine pressed from frozen grapes may be marked Eiswein (ice wine).—West German Wine Law.

Ethnic Jokes—Telling "Polish" jokes can be a violation of fair employment rights. A Polish-born employee charged harassment because of his national origin, including the use of vulgar 'Polish' names in addressing him, telling 'Polish' jokes in his presence, and making generally derogatory remarks about his ancestry." Other employees of Polish descent had taken such 'jokes' good-naturedly." The U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission ruled that the employer violated the fair employment law by tolerating the use of "ridicule of national origin as either a common or allowable condition of employment." The claimant's union had processed his grievance about the matter, and persuaded another employee to remove a sign that offended the claimant.

Police Beat

"It Happened Again This Week"

Another one of our juveniles in a narcotic raid this week. This column still asks that all parents, regardless of their background, to do something in order to help our young people. It is really important that we do something, now, if we are to help these distressed young people.

This column, The Police Beat, is just concerned about the welfare of our young people and from week to week has tried to inform the people as much as possible as to what we must do if we are to help our young people.

We are not concerned about fighting symptoms, but rather, concerned about the causes of the acts in which our young people are involved.

Break In

Mrs. Anna Mae McDaniel, 402 Walnut Avenue, reported to the Lubbock Police Department that someone entered her house while she was away. It was learned that entry was gained by breaking the garage window.

Once inside, the unknown person took a television set from her house. The value of the color television set is $458.

Damage to the house was $50.

Burglary

L.M. Simmons, 3908 East Duke Avenue, reported that someone had apparently broke into his business and left the door open.

There was nothing missing from the house, but there was damage of approximately $12.

Theft Of Inspection Sticker

Would you believe that someone would take another person's state inspection sticker from their automobile without consent of the owner? Well, this happened one day this week.

A Lubbock woman told police that her car was parked at her residence and that someone did take her state inspection sticker—one which she recently had put on there.

One thing that she definitely knows is that it could have been taken by her ex-husband or his woman friend.

Bike Theft

Louise McKinney, 1509 Avenue E, reported to the Lubbock Police Department that someone did take a bike from her home while she was away. The 20" bike was valued at approximately $98.00.

According to Louise, the bike was taken last Sunday afternoon.

Break In

Arther Blanton, 3408 East 16th Street, reported to the police department that someone broke into his barber shop at 1101 Oak Avenue and took a portable television set valued at approximately $170.

Entry into the shop, according to Blanton, was gained through the front door. The damage to the door is believed to be $50. Overall damage to the building was $250.

Police Beat Prayer

Dear Lord, please call our attention to the welfare of our young people. Let us know that there is something, we all can do. AMEN.

Bobby Washington Wounded By Shotgun Blast

An eighteen year old youth, Bobby Washington of 1014 East 29th Street, Apt. C, was listed in fair condition late Monday evening at Methodist Hospital where he was undergoing treatment for pallet wounds of the left leg.

Washington was carrying a baby in his arms when he was wounded by a shotgun blast at an east Lubbock apartment complex late Sunday. The baby was not hurt, according to police.

Patrolman George Ewing said the incident occurred at Apartment D, next door to Washington's residence. Washington, a baby in his arms, was in the kitchen when a shotgun blast shattered the kitchen window. A second blast tore through the kitchen door and wounded Washington.

Police said Washington ran into the bathroom to escape the gunfire. Three persons in the living room saw no one. A neighbor, however, reported seeing two men run east on East 29th Street. An empty 12-gauge shell was found near the apartment, according to police.

Sammie Lee was born and reared here and his late parents were considered among the christian leaders and good citizens of our community.

Among the survivors are his widow, a child, four sisters—three of whom are Lubbock residents; four brothers and other relatives and friends here.

The body was buried at Tacoma.

from my scratch pad

By George Parrish
Amarillo-Talked with Mr. and Mrs. John Warf of 1909 North Washington, I was surprised to find out why I hadn't been seeing them when I carried their paper by. Why? Well the Warf's have just returned from an extended trip to Hawaii. They motored to Dallas where they boarded a big jet which flew them non-stop to Hawaii, there they checked into one of the beautiful oceanside motel for some nine days of sight seeing and vacationing. While there they boarded a big ocean going vessel that took them to Pearl Harbor.

Mrs. Warf reported that if the street there had been paved with gold, she would have thought that she was in heaven, Mr. Warf, well all that he had to say was, "it sure do cost you bro", but just the same we are glad that you had a wonderful time, wish you had brought me some of those fresh bananas back with you or was it pine-apples.

Mrs. Maggie Young was called to Cameron, Texas due to the illness of her only living brother, let us remember them in our prayers.

Food For Thought

"When Small Men Begin to Cast Long Shadows. . . . It is a Sure Sign That The Sun Is Setting"

And too many very small men are casting deeply black shadows across America today.

Small-minded businessmen, more interested in making an easy dollar by manipulation than a harder dollar by producing values.

Petty politicians who act as though they rule the people rather than serve them.

Selfish labor leaders more interested in power than in America, even though their greed brings high costs, destructive inflation, deadly depression.

Greedy people in many walks of life, who want their areas, their special interests supported by all taxpayers, when they ought to be paying their own bills.

Long shadows like these will continue to grow until the entire country is in eclipse, unless the real people, who do the work and pay the taxes, wake up to their responsibility and opportunity. By vocie and vote, they can take their country back again, and insist on honest values once more, greater public integrity, and hard work so that everyone will earn what he gets. And we had better do it, before that sun sets.

Support the candidates in your area, vote for them and not against them. Attend your local community meetings so that you can get first hand information on what is going on, but most of all support the few leaders you have.

Dr. Martin Luther King Movie Here Tuesday at Lindsey Theatre

Scores of showbusiness people on the east and west coast donated their time and talents to Ely Landau's production, "King, A Filmed Record—Montgomery to Memphis", the full-length motion picture on the life and work of the late Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. The film will be presented for a one-time only nation-wide simultaneous showing March 24, Tuesday, at 8:00 p.m. in over 300 cities. Seats are $5.00 tax-deductible. Performers shown here are: (first row) Charlton Heston, producer Ely Landau, Leslie Uggams, director Joseph L. Mankiewicz, Sidney Poitier, Diahann Carroll, Burt Lancaster; (second row) Walter Natthau, James Earl Jones, Anthony Quinn; (third row) Sammy Davis, Jr., Ben Gazzara and Clarence Williams, III.

An unusual new movie in tribute to the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., the motion picture, entitled "King, a Filmed Record—Montgomery to Memphis," is scheduled to be shown in 1,000 theaters in more than 300 cities to an anticipated audience of more than 1,000,000 on March 24. Its backers expect that it may also raise $5 million that will benefit organizations working in the spirit of the slain civil rights leader.

In Lubbock, the King film will be shown at the Lindsey Theatre, beginning at 8 p.m. Tickets are on sale at the Lindsey Theatre, Community Action Board, 1616 19th St, room 251; All Multi-Service Centers and Ecumenical Campus Ministries at Texas Tech for $5.00 each.

The film traces the work of Dr. King from 1955 until his death in 1968. A 2½ hour version has been created from the March showing, which is to be the only time when the motion picture will be shown in commercial theaters.

One of the most distinguished groups of show business elite ever to join forces on a single motion picture project was assembled to donate its special talents to the production. The group consists of Harry Belafonte, Diahann Carroll, Ruby Dee, Ben Gazzara, Moses Gunn, Charlton Heston, Paul Newman, James Earl Jones, Burt Lancaster, Darren McGavin, Walter Matthau, Sidney Poitier, Anthony Quinn, Lesle Uggams, Clarence Williams III and Joanne Woodard. Joseph L. Mankiewicz and Sidney Lumet, the distinguished motion picture directors, contributed their services for the shooting of the connecting sequences.

Tickets for the March 24 screening will sell for $5. Sponsors say the entire proceeds will go into the Martin Luther King Jr., Special Fund, which will seek through its programs to support Dr. King's principles and ideals of using non-violent methods in the war on poverty and illiteracy as well as in the struggle for civil and human rights. Initial grants are to go to the Martin Luther King, Jr., Foundation and the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, film sponsors say. Continuing grants are expected to be made to these organizations and to other local, national and international groups so long as their activities, in the judgment of the Special Fund's board of trustees, fall within the boundaries of the stated precepts.

Mr. Ely Landau, producer of the film, noted that there are to be no deductions from receipts of the March 24 exhibition to cover selling expenses, theater rentals, print processing or production costs. All such outlays will be absorbed by the participants so that full proceeds may be turned over to the Special Fund, he said.

Final Rehearsal Scheduled

The Federation of Choirs will celebrate the sixteenth anniversary of its organization Sunday, March 22.

Friday, March 20, at 8 p.m., the final rehearsal will be held at Greater Saint Luke Baptist Church with Mrs. Desma Moore directing.

All choir members are expected to be present. Any member who hopes to sing with the Mass Choir Sunday afternoon, March 22, must be present for this final rehearsal.

Bethel A.M.E. Church is host to the Federation and the services will be held at Greater Saint Luke.

Former Dunbar Students Doing Well

Former students of Dunbar High School are employed in various jobs throughout this country of ours. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bolden are proud of the fact that their daughters are a part of the success seen by young people.

Mrs. Irene Burch is employed with the Cherry Creek Bank in Denver, Colorado; while her sister, Mrs. Ida Austin is an employee of the U.S. Postal Department here in Lubbock.

Shown above are the members of the Burch family. This proud family consists of Freddie and Irene Burch and two children, Trina and Ray.

Writer Thinks Bentsen Poll Bad For Ralph

Dick West, the Editorial Director of the Dallas Morning News, writes in his column that a state wide poll conducted by Lloyd Bentsen, Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate, reveals that Sen. Ralph Yarborough could be in trouble.

The poll was taken the first two weeks in February before Bentsen had his organization put together.

West noted in his column that "experienced political observers and poll-takers say that an incumbent like Yarborough with 13 years in the Senate, should start a race like this with a minimum of 55 percent approval. . ."

Instead the poll showed that among the Democrats who plan to vote in the Democratic primary, Yarborough has 45 percent, Bentsen 32—with 23 undecided.

"This indicates that Yarborough could be in trouble," West wrote in the column.

Another poll is planned by the Bentsen campaign sometime during March.

"But even more encouraging to Bentsen," West's column said, "is another phase of the poll. Among general voters questioned—those who don't know what primary they'll enter, which means Democrats and Republicans—Yarborough comes out with 39 percent, Bentsen 31 with 30 percent undecided."

"That substantial (30) undecided figure is interesting. It could include newcomers to Texas who know neither Yarborough nor Bentsen, some who may be cool toward both and some who don't like Yarborough but want to wait until they hear more from Bentsen."

"Yarborough's slim 8-point lead over Bentsen among general voters could fade quickly. The campaign has two months to go and Bentsen has not cut loose yet.

"Neither has Yarborough for that matter. But in past races like this, it is the challenger who usually picks up most of the undecided vote—not the incumbent who already is known to the great majority."

"And if less than half the Democrats want Yarborough at the start, he could well be in trouble," West's column continued.

West also notes in the column that Bentsen is "a handsome articulate Houston businessman who has a lot of political savvy gained from campaign experiences and as Congressman representing the Rio Grande Valley district from 1948 1955."

"Being from the Valley, Bentsen has a good chance of carrying South Texas and the Mexican-American vote. As a Houston businessman, he also hopes to carry Harris County. These are two vital spots where Yarborough has always got the jump on his opponents."

"Yarborough has relied on the South Texas Latin vote, plus labor in Harris County and on the Gulf Coast to offset the conservative strongholds upstate like Dallas," West wrote

"Bentsen, therefore, can whittle Yarborough's strength drastically in the Mexican American areas, like the Valley and San Antonio and in Houston."

"That's why this statewide poll is so encouraging. It was taken the first two weeks in February—it was taken by an experienced Firm with a fine record of accuracy and shows a 51 percent awareness of Lloyd Bentsen. This means that 51 percent of those quizzed through out the state know something about him—or say they do.

"The first awareness poll of John Connally when he came back to Texas in 1961 to run for Governor was less than 25 percent," West's column continued.

Largest recorded shoes are a pair measuring 2 feet long and 1 foot wide.

Study Reveals Need for Mexican-American Negro Cooperation — Rather Than Conflict

Increased competition between impoverished Mexicans and Negroes in the Southwest can push these groups into cooperation or open conflict, according to a study by three authorities on Mexican-American affairs.

The three, Ernesto Galarza, Herman Gallegos and Julian Samora, have served as consultants to government and private institutions and are active in Mexican-American community organizations.

They declare that if Mexican-Americans and Negroes are pitted against each other, each will be aroused by self-preservation, but "if they are moved by cooperation, they may yet make common cause."

Their finding is based on a two-year survey of the economic, political, cultural and educational status of Mexican-American communities in California, Texas, Arizona, New Mexico and Colorado made by the three under the sponsorship of the Ford Foundation. Published this week as a book by the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, it is the second of three works on Mexican-Americans produced by the national human relations agency under a grant from the U.S. Office of Education and Welfare.

Entitled "Mexican-Americans in the Southwest," the study declares that while relations between Mexicans and Negroes in the five states have been "remarkably free of organized aggression," the accommodation that has existed may not last.

According to Galarza, Gallegos and Samora, in addition to job competition between the two groups there are the following "points of friction":

Negro and Mexican politicians are competing for the small portion of public power allowed them by the white establishment;

The distribution of anti-poverty funds has created "a watchful jealousy" on both sides;

In trade unions with considerable black and brown membership, blacks have formed, each with an eye on key staff positions and the control of job assignments.

The authors assert that while deprivation of economic and educational opportunity is equally crippling for both groups, the Negro and the Mexican appraise this common lot from different angles.

"The Negro regards the establishment of his moral and spiritual worth as a prerequisite of economic progress; the Mexican has not, until very recently, considered this necessary."

They go on to say that "when the two minorities begin to move with the same determination toward full economic citizenship, the Mexican-American will be found to be a responsive ally, provided the Negro does not allow the ambiguities of black power, as the Mexican-Americans see them, to become an insurmountable barrier."

Dr. Galarza is a teacher, editor, university lecturer and labor organizer. Mr. Callegos is executive director of the Southwest Council of La Raza and is active in the Mission district of San Francisco where he has been instrumental in forming a coalition of minority groups for political and sociology at the University of Notre Dame.

In an introduction to the book, Dr. Samora declares that "the Chicano movement is on its way." He cites:

a "surge of leaders whom no one suspected were around";
the opening up of channels of communication through students, independent newspapers and growing unity within the total Mexican community;

the emergence of local organizations such as the Crusade for Justice (a Denver protest group) and La Raza Unida (action groups organized in the Southwest and currently being formed as far east as Michigan and Ohio).

The study declares that in the course of "persistent efforts to organize itself," a range of goals and modes of action has emerged in the Mexican-American community, including direct service programs of local volunteer groups, quasi-political and civic organizations with state and regional affiliations, professional fraternities, and intellectual cadres. It points out, however, that the effectiveness of these has been hampered by a lack of both technical assistance and basic organizational resources.

The following are included in the book's summary of the condition of Mexican-Americans in the Southwest.

From one third to one half live below the official level of poverty or immediately above it;

They are predominantly manual workers and thus locked within the lowest brackets of wage income;

They bear the greatest impact of mechanization and automation; Educational opportunity has been denied them to the extent that as an ethnic group they trail by three to four years or more the attainments of the general society;

They are more than 80 percent urbanized—living in or near Negro pockets of poverty—with satellites of population in smaller rural settlements;

Mobility of the Mexican-American masses is now primarily the result of shifts upward in the technological qualifications for jobs and urban removal caused by urban renewal;

In a way that is entirely peculiar to national origin and geographic location, the Mexican-American condition reflects the pressures of populations between Mexico and the United States regarding immigration, trade and investment.

Noting that Mexican-Americans are a predominantly young demographic group, the authors state that the present high rate of reproduction—now twice that of the general society—is likely to be sustained during the next two or three decades. In addition, immigration will add 40,000 or more newcomers each year to an estimated total population by the end of 1970 of close to 6 million Mexican-Americans in the Southwest.

The study concludes that the cost of social assistance to Mexican-Americans will rise rather than fall at present standards of need and levels of welfare expenditure and that "help must continue to come from the outside."
"If the cost of helping these families is high," the authors state, "the alternative—banishing Mexican dependency to Mexico, as was done thirty years ago when unemployed Mexicans by the thousands were deported—would be even more expensive in terms of international opinion."
"Mexican-Americans in the Southwest" (McNally and Loftin) is part of the Anti-Defamation League's on-going attempts to achieve equal rights for all minorities through the education of the minorities themselves as well as those who teach them. ringing the bell

With Dr. Mitchell Smith (Due to Bob Tieuel's absence this week.)
Dear Bellringers:

I do not propose to apologize to you for my being white; any more than I would expect that you, who are black, need feel that you owe anyone an explanation for being black. It does not strike me as being the heart of the matter. It is my feeling that what we should all hope, someday, to achieve is a color blind world.

Feelings of guilt for undoubted, historical proven, wrongs of the past and, regrettably, even the present, will serve little; nor will feelings of mistrust; even of revenge, on the part of Afro-Americans, for this same past and some present will likewise serve little.

Dr. K. Agerey of Ghana, a teacher of President (ex) of Ghana once phrased it thusly: 'You can play a tune of sorts on the white keys of the piano—you can also play a tune of sorts on the black keys, but if truly you wish to make music, you shall have to employ both the black and white key'. We all hope and pray that we shall be able to face and solve our actual problem as men, as women, as Americans—not seeking refuge within stereotypes—"the good nigger" in the old South tradition or the "whitey" in the current Afro-American usage, or "Honkie" to use another description term for whites. I can not accept the stereotype—with which I grew up in Central Texas—of the Negro: also I do not believe that all white men are evil.

Although Malcolm X was feared, just by name, by many whites, and stands as the endless symbol of the black militant, it was he who said, in the last year of his life: "We will work with anyone, with any group, no matter what their color is, as long as they are genuinely interested in taking the type of steps necessary to bring an end to the injustices that black people in this country are afflicted by. No matter what their color is, no matter what their political, economic or social philosophy is, as long as their aims and objectives are in the direction of destroying the vulturous system that has been sucking the blood of black people in this country, they're all right with us" End of quote.

That the Afro American has been the victim of a long held and long stated program which has denied to him his heritage, denied to him his individuality, and has reduced the American of African descent to a mass, to type-to a stereotype, is true. Yet it will avail the Afro-American nothing to apply this same procedure, this technique of the white man, to the white man himself—deny the individuality of the white man, reduce the white man to a faceless mass.

And finally, as earlier, and to an extent still today, the white man has stereotyped the Afro-American. while the Afro-American today in some areas has stereotyped the American white, seeing him not as an individual but as a type: "all whites look alike and I can't tell one whitey from another". Does that not have a familiar ring—to the past stereotyping of the Afro-American? All Niggers look alike?"

We agree with Barbara Ann Teer when she says: "The time has come to break down and destroy these antiquated stereotypes and concepts. The black youth of America needs a new image, and it should be the responsibility of the black artist to provide it for them."

It must be admitted that much of white America is either consciously or unconsciously racist in tone. A great number among the American white majority are assured sometimes by themselves and often times by their leadership that the problem can be solved by firmness, by show of resolute force in behalf of "law and order" "Once the black man is shown that his present course of actions and views will not be tolerated, then the black man will "return to his place," and the problem will be solved.

These views are regrettable since they are based upon false premises. The Black community has no intention of returning to 'its place'. Rather it seeks to convince white American to widen the American dream by taking away the label "for whites only".

If the White community, official and mass, can be brought to the realization that this widening of a dream is a must, then we have hopes for the future.

Our thanks to civic and religious leaders of the largest all-black town in America for the invitation to be present at the dedication this week of one of the most modern church edifices in the state. It is at Boley, Oklahoma located sixty miles east of Oklahoma City and will serve as a sort of "head-quarters for a number of civic and religious activities.

Speaking on the lack of blacks in journalism, William Gordon, visiting professor in the University of Wisconsin school of journalism says these opportunities, and a lack of symbols of success that young blacks can identify with. Gordon, whose parents were sharecroppers in Arkansas, cited the successful stories of Carl Rowan, Rheodore Poston of the New York Post and Robert Teague a University of Wisconsin graduate and now an NBC newsmen. Gordon cited the philosophy of separatism held by many young blacks as illogical, irrational and against democratic ideals.

The members of the Independent Baptist Church have enjoyed two weeks of inspiration. The Rev. Jas. Wallace Hanson of Gallup, New Mexico brought a beautiful message last Sunday.

Members of the former Spiritual Echoes sang with the choir in Stamford. The Hopewell and Independent churches met in a joint service at two p.m. Sunday, March 15. Four united with the Hopewell church and one with Independent. Two were baptized.

The Hopewell went back to their church for another meeting of the Brotherhood and Senior choir.

We are inviting you to worship with us in any of the meetings.

The Missionary Society will observe Mission week. There will be two nights of service the 26 and 27 closing Sunday at 6:30 p.m.

Training Union and Youth Development Departments will sponsor the Easter program at the eleven o'clock hour.

The message was brought by Brother Willie Reed in the evening service Mrs. Jas. Hanson is visiting her parents, Mrs. and Mr. Lee Kirk. Mary Kirk is greatly improved after an illness of about two weeks.

Haskell-The Talent Show was Friday 13, 7:30 at the Neighborhood Center. Program line-up: Song—Prayer—and Pledge. A small group was present but the group had an evening of enjoyment. The club is asking for more mothers and fathers to attend the young people's programs just to see what we can do. The parents that were here said it was good. We the J.C. hope when we have something else that we have a big crowd.

If the parents would attend these programs that we have we would feel much better and would make us want to do something more often.

KNOW YOUR 'CLOSING COSTS'

Planning for the purchase of a home can be aided by your awareness of "closing costs", a group of charges that buyers face at final settlement. These charges often are unfamiliar to purchasers. It's a good idea to look into "closing costs" in your area before you buy.

"Closing costs" include payment for taxes and services that help safeguard home buyers and mortgage lenders. Specific charges and who pays for them depend on local laws and customs. Here are examples of "closing costs" that may be encountered on real estate settlement sheets:

- Charges for a real estate survey to establish lot size and check for encroachments onto or by adjoining property.
- Mortgage lender charges for setting up a loan, and for credit reports, attorney fees, and property appraisal.

- Your attorney's fee.
- State and local transfer and real estate taxes.

- Title company or title attorney charges for investigative work to check on possible land title defects that could threaten the investment of the mortgage lender and the home buyer, and for services in connection with the closing itself.

- Charges for mortgage lender's and owner's title insurance to safeguard against financial loss from possible land title defects.

- Charges for fire and hazard insurance premiums.
