

Ickes Say Oil Limiting Near

WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)—Petroleum Administrator Ickes declared today restrictions of oil consumption in the east was "probable" within a month.

The deficiency of oil in the populous east, Ickes said might become so critical that not only gasless Sundays might be necessary but might mean "that we can't drive for pleasure any day."

Restrictions now appeared necessary only in the east, he added.

Ickes strongly urged immediate application of daylight saving time to the whole country, and criticized C. W. Kellogg, president of the Edison Electric Institute, and chief of the power for the Office of Production Management.

There is a power shortage now, Ickes told his press conference, and it promises to become worse.

He said that the impending curtailment of oil consumption in the east was being "definitely discussed" on a patriotic appeal basis, rather than by compulsion.

"It worked out that way the last time," he said, "and it probably would work again."

WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)—Secretary Ickes told his press conference today he would discuss with oilmen Monday the possibility of shipping oil to the east from gulf coast supply points instead of from California, to save tanker tonnage.

The east is facing gasoline shortage because of shortage of tankers for moving oil by water.

By eliminating the long haul of tankers from California through the Panama Canal to the gulf an appreciable amount of tonnage space could be saved, he said.

Texas acted by saving, he said, the east and Louisiana fields would be drawn upon for increased supplies to the extent that shipments through from California were reduced.

Ickes said that he could not state what effect this would have on total productions in the fields involved.

Blockade On Syria Made By Britain

Axis Planes Bomb Alexandria As Omen Of Future Battles

By The Associated Press Great Britain clamped a blockade on French-ruled Syria and Lebanon today, declaring them "enemy occupied territory" and potential springboards for Adolf Hitler's war machine to strike at Palestine, Cyprus and Egypt.

Powerful squadrons of the British fleet were reported massing off the Syrian coast, and all signs indicated that the "zero hour" of a vast new struggle was now very near.

Blasting at the main base of the British Mediterranean fleet, axis warplanes were reported to have bombed Alexandria, Egypt, during the night, killing more than 100 persons.

Turkey watched the crisis with mounting anxiety. Turkish Foreign Minister Sukru Saracoglu was reported to have informed German Ambassador Franz von Papen of Turkey's concern over the assumed debarkation of German troops in Syria.

The Turkish radio reported that 15,000 German troops had already slipped into Syria.

With 500,000 troops in the Middle East under the command of Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell, the British moved swiftly to counter the latest German threat.

France's role in the impending conflict was further highlighted by the unexpected arrival in Vichy of Governor Pierre Boisson of French West Africa, the "defender of Dakar" against an abortive attempt by Gen. Charles De Gaulle's "Free French" forces to seize that African coast town last September.

Boisson joined Gen.issimo Maxime Weygand, commander of France's North African armies, in conferences regarding steadily deteriorating relations between France and her old ally, Britain.

Another avenue of work was opened Thursday on the city's major airport project as final touches were being placed on the revamped project.

Authorization to begin operations on the main drainage ditch for the port was received by E. J. McDaniel, city engineer, Thursday. He added that WPA workers would be assigned to the task Wednesday.

The ditch, located on the south side of the port to divert flow of surface water from the landing area, will be 5,130 feet long. Specifications call for a 10-inch cut at the top on a two for one slope to an average depth ranging from two to two and a half feet. The ditch will be six feet at base and around 2,000 yards of dirt will be excavated and used in levee effect on one side of the cut.

Excavation has been set up for hand operation in order to utilize around 100 men. A lesser number has been engaged in fencing and grubbing the enlarged port area pending revision of plans for four runways and corresponding lighting facilities. Before the ditch is completed, it is anticipated that heavy equipment and supplies for the runways and hangar aprons will be on hand.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 5 (AP)—William Hodson, president of the American Public Welfare association, advocated today a nationwide campaign to halt "the senseless killing and maiming of human beings in peacetime pursuits" as the best means of conserving manpower for defense.

"Four hundred thousand persons are disabled every year through accidents in this country," said Hodson in an address prepared for the national conference of social work and last year 150,000 received permanent injuries serious enough to prevent them from returning to work without outside help, x x x

Hodson, head of New York city's public welfare department, said the accidents were "largely preventable."

Washington, June 5 (AP)—Secretary Stimson said today that property seizure powers asked for the president were needed to relieve machine tool bottlenecks, aluminum shortages and German patent controls on vital defense processes, and should not be delayed by any "frivolous objections" in congress.

Discussing the requisition bill at a press conference Stimson also said he believed there would be "no serious objection" to imposing a 2 or 4 year time limit in the proposed powers.

He was willing to accept a time limit, the war department head said, if that would help "the feeling of those who believe they are putting the crimps on a would-be dictator."

Stimson said that the bill was one of "the most important" before congress and "ought to be passed with as little delay as possible."

"On one side," he added, "we are being pounded for not going faster and on the other we are meeting frivolous objections to the methods we ask to help us go faster."

The war department proposed the enactment of the bill giving President Roosevelt unlimited powers to take over private property and it had the support of the navy and OPM. In congress, however, it has met with a variety of criticism.

Discussing the needs which he said lay behind the proposal, Stimson mentioned machine tools as an example. He said there were many machine tools not in use at all or collected by second hand dealers "who are trying to hold up the government."

New Army Appropriation Of 10 Billions Sought

WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)—A $10,000,000,000 army supply bill—largest single appropriation since World War days—carrying funds to give the air corps a total of 40,000 planes was sent to the house by its appropriations committee today with a blunt notice that the huge fund was insufficient.

During secret testimony on the measure, made public today, Robert P. Patterson, undersecretary of war, solemnly told the committee while discussing the vastly expanded plane program that:

"We have in the war department a feeling that there will be a military need of all the planes covered by this program."

The undersecretary did not amplify that statement for the record but said that it was estimated conservatively that Germany's current airplane productive capacity was 3,000,000 monthly and that the nazis already have embarked on a program of utilizing the facilities of conquered countries which would increase her plane capacity to between 4,000 and 6,000 monthly.

In recommending the $10,000,000,000 outlay to finance the army's greatly expanded activities for the year starting July 1, the committee said it would bring the total of defense appropriations, contract authorizations and recommendations since last July 1 to $30,115,051,142—exclusive of the $7,000,000,000 provided for the lend-lease program and the $6,000,000,000 required to complete the two-ocean navy.

Despite these gigantic outlays, the committee said that barring a slackening of the defense program's tempo, the pending bill would not be adequate for the coming fiscal year because costs already were higher than when the estimates were prepared. The committee pointed out that of the total recommended, $9,826,509,492 was in cash and $13,145,695 in contractual authority.

Some of the major allotments in the bill included $2,650,000,000 for 12,856 additional warplanes, including bombers, pursuit and cargo ships; $1,208,000,000 for pay of the 1,418,000-man army; $45,000,000 for the purchase of 3,000 barrage balloons; $42,000,000 for seacoast defenses, chiefly to begin a complete modernization for spare engines and parts for bombers; $51,000,000 for continuation of the development of the new Atlantic island bases; $276,000,000 for new military post construction; $402,000,000 for the acquisition of additional "critical and essential" weapons and other equipment, and $750,000,000 for the maintenance and operation of plant and equipment.

CIO Closes Plane Shop

North American Aviation Works In California Cease Production

By The Associated Press Defense officials reported the largest number of men on strike today in defense industries that had been out on any day this year as there was wide-spread speculation in Washington whether President Roosevelt might act to end such stoppages.

A New CIO strike, enforced as the defense mediation board considered the dispute, closed the big North American Aviation Corporation's airplane plant at Inglewood, Calif., today and caused immediate speculation in Washington whether President Roosevelt might take drastic steps to end stoppages in defense industries.

The walkout at North American was the second rejection in 24 hours of proposals of the mediation board.

President Roosevelt said in his speech declaring an unlimited national emergency: "A nation-wide machinery for the conciliation and mediation of industrial disputes has been set up. That machinery must be used promptly—and without stoppage of work."

The mediation board was charged by W. P. Goodman, head of the CIO United Automobile Workers local at North America, with "stalling the workers." Management and union representatives in Washington for the mediation conferences met during the morning but recessed as no board representatives could attend.

The mediation board members were in session to determine what action could be taken on the defiance by a west coast CIO lumber workers union of the board's recommendations for settling a strike hampering defense work in the northwest.

Immediately after the CIO announced its strike call against North American, officials said the company would hold itself available for negotiations at the request of the board "in an effort to reach an amicable settlement x x x Without the stoppage of production in a unit so vital to national defense" but later the firm announced it would not attempt to operate today.

Officials said it was the first time since the firm was established in 1928 that it had halted operations because of a labor controversy.

The company has $196,000,000 worth of contracts for planes for the United States and British governments. It issued a statement saying it was "surprised and shocked" at the strike call "while negotiations are still in progress before the national defense mediation board."

The statement said an agreement "ratified by the union membership" on Saturday declared that "no stoppage of work or interference in any way with production" would take place while the dispute was before the board.

This new walkout decision was announced only a few hours after the board had been roundly denounced by O. M. Orton, president of 12,000 striking CIO lumber workers in the Pacific Northwest. Orton accompanied the denunciation with a flat refusal to abide by the board's public recommendations for settlement.

Tax Refund Bill Passed By House

AUSTIN, June 5 (AP)—The house of representatives today passed a bill previously approved by the senate remitting to counties for five years one-half of ad valorem taxes collected for the general state treasury fund.

Declaring Texas' old folks were suffering untold hardships, Governor W. Lee O'Daniel today urged enactment of a bill making emergency appropriation of $1,700,000 to the old age assistance fund.

By Senator Claude Isbell of Rockwell, the bill would transfer that amount from a surplus in the fund from which county and district road bonds are retired. The house already has passed a bill making such appropriation of $1,200,000.

The governor said the senate bill was supposed to come up in the senate tomorrow.

Unless immediate action was taken, he asserted, pension checks for June necessarily would be reduced an average of $2, to an amount $9 less than the department of public welfare estimated as the average need.

The average paid in May was $11.46. The welfare department authorized $18.46.

"The old folks are suffering untold hardships on account of these drastic cuts in their pension checks," the governor said.

Spokesmen of the welfare department explained that revenue from the new tax law, which allocated approximately $11,250,000 a year additional to old age assistance, had not begun to come in sufficiently to avert the reduction.

That's the comforting concept of a noted physician who today told the American Medical association that ambition is shortening the business man's life span.

Ambition and "the strenuous life" are just as hazardous to the executive's health as his obesity and excessive use of tobacco and alcohol, declared Dr. Edgar V. Allen, chief of the medicine division at Mayo Clinic.

He proposed a five-day week, eight-hour day program for business men.

"The business man fails to take the long view of life," Dr. Allen asserted. "He plans his life, aside from his anxieties and insurance, as if he were to live forever. So he works hard to accumulate funds with which to play tomorrow."

Property Seizure Asked By Stimson

Next, Stimson said, large stocks of raw materials could be brought within government control. Specifically, he mentioned great quantities of aluminum now being used in private industry.

Third, Stimson cited patents held by the German government and which the United States government "can't get at and use without such a law."

"This law would permit those patents to be taken over by the United States government," Stimson said. "At present they can be held by influences which don't want us to prepare our defenses."

French Africa Chief In Vichy

VICHY, Unoccupied France, June 5 (AP)—Presumably summoned to conferences of vital import to the defense of the French empire, Pierre Boisson, honored by Vichy as the "defender of Dakar," arrived in the French capital unexpectedly last night.

Boisson, governor of French West Africa, joined General Maxime Weygand, generalissimo of Vichy's armed forces in French North Africa, who has been here since Monday conferring with Chief of State Petain and attending two urgent cabinet sessions.

The visits of these two French African leaders coincided with a steady deterioration in relations between France and Britain and with increasingly persistent diplomatic reports in Vichy that Adolf Hitler was planning a European-Africa league of nations as his next step.

Boisson's successful defense of Dakar against British and "Free French" forces who appeared before the port last September won him a personal citation from Petain.

"France has confided Dakar to me," Boisson declared on that occasion. "I will defend it to the end."

His visit and that of Weygand recalled a statement issued by the official French information office May 30 saying that it was time for France to reconquer her African territories lost to General Charles De Gaulle's "Free French" forces.

Wool Market

BOSTON, June 5 (AP)—(USDA)—New business was very slow today on the Boston wool market. An occasional request for territory wools was received from mills that had not previously bought contracts. Some of these inquiries resulted in sales of moderate volume.

Combing quarter-blood territory wool moved at prices mostly on the low side of the range, $4 to $7 cents, scoured basis. Combing three eights and quarter blood bright fleeces wools were quoted steady at 46 to 47 cents, in the grease, but sales were slow.

Soldiers Have Difficult Time In Pretending They're In Combat

WITH THE ARMY IN TENNESSEE, June 5 (AP)—So far in this make-believe war, Uncle Sam's soldiers have proved themselves much better soldiers than actors, army officers said today.

Of course, soldiering is what counts, but encouraging them to be realistic in the war games here is one of the major problems in judging what the troops can do in actual combat.

"It's the hardest thing in the world to get the men to act at all times as if they were dodging enemy bullets," declared Maj. Gen. Frederic H. Smith, Seventh army corps commander, who is directing two weeks of the month-long maneuvers in Tennessee.

This attitude among the trainees is being emphasized, he said, because the purpose of the training is to teach them proper fighting habits.

Although there were slip-ups in the first two days of the middle Tennessee war games that would not happen in actual combat, General Smith said he believed these faults would be eliminated as training progressed.

For instance, when the mock-war opened Tuesday, trucks moving into battle lines parked one up against another and in the open. Stiff reminders from commanders made the drivers change their civilian habits and spread the vehicles apart and keep them hidden under trees.

Enemy observation planes, in real war, could have spotted the trucks in the open, making them easy marks for bombers, the drivers were told.

A commander whose troops were sunning themselves in an open field while enemy planes circled overhead was reminded that such tactics were not realistic. He quickly sent his outfit to cover.

New Pipelines Are Proposed

WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)—Stepped-up utilization of all kinds of existing transportation facilities, as well as construction of new pipelines and tankers, were recommended by the OPM's special fact finding committee of oil men.

To alleviate an expected shortage in oil and gasoline for the eastern seaboard rising out of the transfer of 50 tankers to British service and possible transfer of more, leaders in the oil industry at the request of the Office of Production Management prepared for Petroleum Coordinator Harold Ickes a list of moves that might be taken to ease the deficiency in bottoms.

Most prominent of proposed pipelines was one to extend from the Texas fields to New York. Its estimated cost was $70,000,000. A 24-inch pipe, it would deliver a capacity load of 250,000 barrels of crude oil daily in the winter and slightly more in the summer. This would be equivalent to the capacity of about 65 tankers of approximately 10,000 dead weight tons each. A year to 15 months would be required for its construction.

Also suggested was construction of a 20-inch line parallel to the crude oil line, the smaller pipe to carry other petroleum products such as fuel oils or gasolines. This line would have a capacity of 225,000 barrels daily and also cost about $70,000,000.

The plantation line from Baton Rouge and New Orleans, La., into Georgia, South Carolina, and North Carolina with a 60,000 barrel capacity, could be completed by July 1942, the report added. "If the present obstructions to obtaining the right of way" were removed soon.

B'Spring's Retail Sales Lead All Texas Towns Under 20,000

Total 50 Percent Above Average

The 1940 government census of business showed Big Spring leading all other Texas cities of 10,000 to 20,000 population in total retail sales.

The figures given pertained to the year 1939, covered by the census, and showed Big Spring to have a total retail sales volume of $9,109,000, compared to an average in cities of the 10,000 to 20,000 bracket of $6,452,000.

It is important to remember that many cities in this population bracket are considerably larger than Big Spring, which was found by the 1940 census to have a population of 12,604. Two towns in the group have populations of more than 18,000. There are 21 cities in the group.

A breakdown of the figures into various classifications of business showed that Big Spring led in sales by general merchandise stores and in the automotive group (car dealers and auto supply houses).

Big Spring was second in three classifications: eating and drinking places' sales; hardware, farm implements and tractor sales; and sales by lumber and building material houses, plumbing, paint and electrical stores.

The city ranked fifth in filling station sales, sixth in drug sales (dry towns lead in this classification because of heavy liquor volume), 12th in sale of wearing apparel and shoes, eighth in sales of food, and 13th in sales of furniture, household goods and radios. (Breakdowns showing sales in each of these classifications in each city will be published later in the Herald.)

More Railroad Men Ask Raises

CHICAGO, June 5 (AP)—Railroad labor leaders representing 1,150,000 union members today drafted formal demands for wage increases to be presented to the carrier managements Tuesday.

Following up the action taken by representatives of 250,000 railroad operating workers last month, chiefs of 14 unions of non-operating workers decided yesterday to ask wage increases of 30 to 34 cents an hour for their 800,000 members.

The five operating unions—those of engineers, firemen, conductors, switchmen and trainmen—voted May 19 to ask a 30 per cent boost for their membership.

Old Gives Way to New NEW YORK — The "old swim min' hole" of bygone schooldays has been superseded, at Hunter college, by a 75 feet by 25 feet structure, radiant with six underwater lights and an indirect lighting system. Senatorial Candidates Beat Bushes

By the Associated Press

With Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel's senatorial campaign delayed by the legislative session, other major aspirants are letting no grass sprout under their feet.

Aside from an open-air speech at Waco last Monday night, the governor announced that he was forced to cancel his campaign itinerary because the legislature insisted on remaining in session.

Mindful of the fact that the special senatorial election will be held June 28, Congressmen Martin Dies and Lyndon Johnson and Attorney General Gerald C. Mann are conducting determined swings around Texas.

In an address at Longview last night, Mann promised the utmost cooperation in national defense efforts if he is elected to the U. S. senate.

Dies, in a speech at Gonzales, told an audience that repeated waves of sabotage in defense industries could be expected unless there was a general purge of alien influences.

Johnson said at Galveston that in order to promote national defense efforts "if necessary, we must draft plant and management just as we have drafted our young men."

Reallocation Of US Tanker Fleet Likely

WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)—Reallocation of America's maritime tanker fleet appeared certain today, in a quick government move to cope with the approaching oil shortages in the east.

Meanwhile, administration leaders sought to get a house vote on the legislation asked by President Roosevelt for expediting the immediate construction of oil pipelines.

Government officials did not indicate, however, to what degree

they were hopeful of reducing the prospective scarcity developing from the transfer of one-fifth of the domestic oil tanker fleet to British service.

It was problematical whether the two-fold attack on the emergency would remove the likelihood of such conservation measures as "gasless Sundays" and lower temperatures in oil-heated homes next winter.

Informed sources pointed out that the pipeline bill held no immediate promise of bettering the oil transportation situation, because new pipelines would require from 12 to 15 months to build. A reallocation of tankers would help, they said, but the steadily increasing needs of defense industries might preempt much of this additional supply.

Defense Petroleum Administration spokesmen conferred on the problem yesterday with Mr. Roosevelt and said later that he would call for wider use of existing tanker facilities.

His plan, it was indicated, would mean the rerouting of a number of tankers from their present runs to utilize oil sources nearest the industrial east.

A committee of the oil industry advised Ickes that 18 tankers now plying between gulf ports and Mexican and Caribbean points could be put to more essential use, and that four or five more ships might be added by discontinuing the present petroleum haul from California through the Panama Canal to east coast ports.

America's printing industry annually uses about 250 million pounds of printing and lithographing inks valued by the factories, in reports to the census bureau, at more than $43,000,000.

Nazi Claim 25,000 Captured In Crete

BERLIN, June 5 (AP)—The German high command announced today the capture of more than 1,000 Britons and 4,000 Greeks in Crete, and authorized German sources said this brought the total of captives taken in the island conquest to about 25,000.

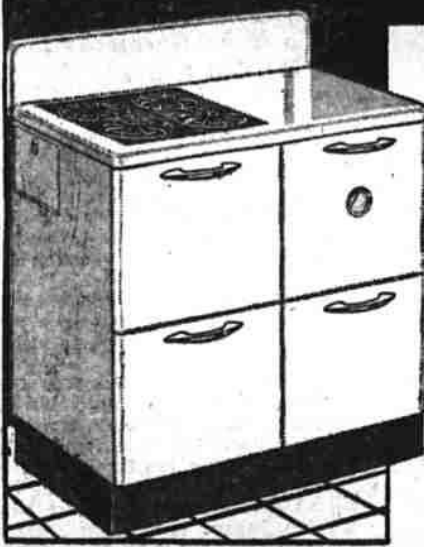

In addition, numerous tanks, artillery pieces, much ammunition, clothing and foodstuffs have been seized, the high command stated.

Miss 'Laneous Notes

By MARY WHALEY

Beginning with June, visions of vacations dance through the heads of everybody. Even those who aren't going any place, think about vacationing anyway.

Plans about all those things that you won't do, but like to think about doing, sort of buoy you up during moments of stress, b. v. (meaning before vacation.)

The girls think they will emerge from their workaday selves and become glowing radiant creatures to be-dazzle all along the way. Men doubtless have the same idea and conjure up pictures of themselves as they would like to be and intend to be for two weeks anyway.

And a common idea among all vacationists is the urge to "get away from it all" and be themselves, whatever that might be.

That this seldom happens, doesn't dull the anticipation of trips year after year. Because people are a lot like Uncle Wiggly who wakes each morning and goes out to see what adventure might befall him. Only unlike Uncle Wiggly, most of us come home with nothing more exciting than chigger bites and a flat tire to talk about.

But without the fun of thinking what MIGHT happen and thinking of things out of the ordinary to do, a vacation would just be two weeks with and-or without pay. Just a vacation to sleep a little later, read a little more, and not think about work at all.

Speaker Race In Legislature Narrows Down

Herald Austin Bureau
 AUSTIN, June 3.—The race for speakership of the next house of representatives today had narrowed down to two men—Speaker Homer Leonard of McAllen and Rep. Price Daniel of Liberty.

Until this week, there had been five additional candidates in the field—Reps. Jack Little of Amarillo, Clark Glimmer of Rock Springs, W. O. Reed of Dallas, Obel McAllister of Fort Worth, and G. C. Morris of Greenville.

These candidates drew most of their strength out of one group of representatives, while Daniel was running unopposed in another group. This gave Daniel the great advantage so long as the other votes were split among many candidates.

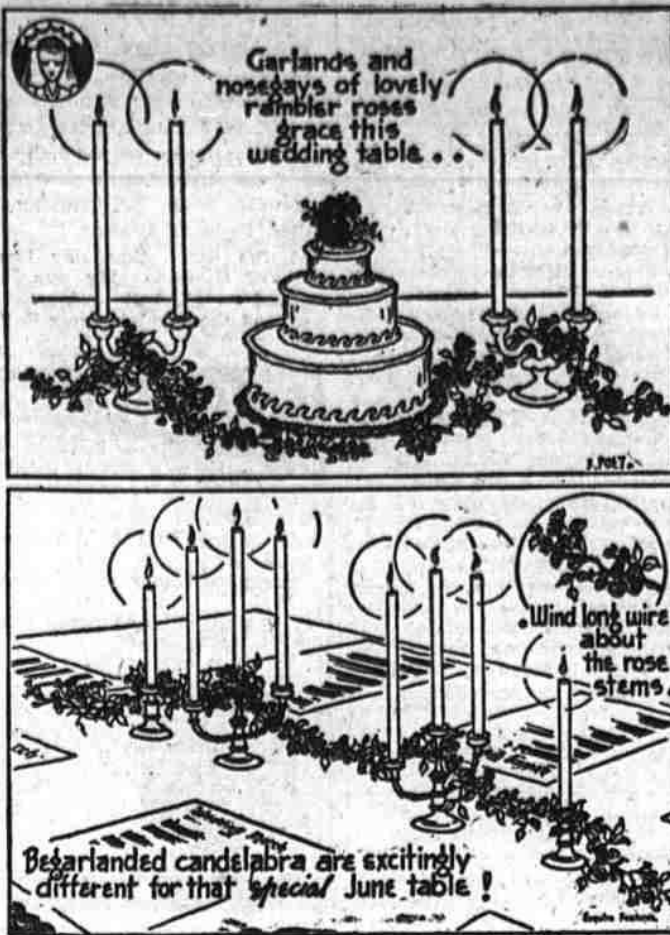

Then Speaker Leonard was suggested for a second term, and today this movement became a reality as Little, Glimmer, Reed, McAllister and Morris all withdrew in his favor. This will consolidate their forces solidly behind him in his second term race.

Daniel, a Baylor university graduate and newspaperman-lawyer, will draw most of his strength from the members this term are serving in the house of representatives for the first time, while Leonard will be strongest among the old members.

Only one other man—Coke Stevenson of Junction—has ever served two consecutive terms as speaker of the house, but Leonard's chances of repeating are ranked as excellent by most observers.

The re-entry of Leonard into the speakership race came as something of surprise because he had been prominently mentioned among the likely candidates for lieutenant governor next year—a field which may include Senator John Lee Smith of Throckmorton, former Senator G. H. Nelson of Lubbock and Rep. Dallas Blankenship of Dallas.

Fun With Flowers—Tasteful Ways To Arrange The Table For The June Bride

Garlands and rambler roses grace this wedding table.

Wind long wires about the rose stems.

Decorated candelabra are excitingly different for that special June table!

By FRANCES JONES

No. 1—Brides and June are almost synonymous. June is spelled in rambler roses all over the country so—why not use rambler roses for that festive bridal or anniversary table? The natural, graceful garlands in which climbing roses grow suggest a charming way to use them. Of course, it's in garland fashion as sketched above! For a stunning and unusual table treatment select several long strands of roses. Fasten them together with light weight wire and drape the strand over the candelabra and around the cake. Tiny clusters of rambler roses wired together, the stems covered with a ribbon bow, will repeat the rose theme of the bridal table decoration. Soak the rose strands in deep, cool water several hours before arranging them, then they will last better out of water.

No. 2—The garland type of arrangement is equally effective for tables other than bridal ones. A practical usage is sketched above. Rambler roses or vines are easier to arrange in this way than other flowers because they are so well adapted for it by nature. But, gladioli and most other flowers can be used in this way if you are willing to do a little more wiring. The method of wiring the stems together is outlined above. Remember tho, the flowers will be out of water this way. Either chose long lasting types or soak them well and arrange them at the very last minute. Place mats are, appropriately, sheets of music with bridal themes: Lohengrin and Mendelssohn Wedding Marches and "Oh Promise me." (Distributed by Esquire Features, Inc. Policeman Tells Of Relief Found In Modern Hoyt's

Officer Thomas of Amarillo Says Hoyt's Proved to Be Right Treatment For Complication of Ailments.

"For a long time I had severe spells of indigestion," says Police Officer W. R. Thomas, of 2303 West Second St., Amarillo, Texas,

OFFICER W. R. THOMAS

"After meals, my food soured in my stomach and there was a sour taste in my mouth. Gas caused terrible pressure around my heart. My stomach felt like there was a solid lump in it. I had dizzy spells and my knees, arms and shoulders pained me terribly.

"Immediately after I started taking Hoyt's Compound, I was feeling like new. Now indigestion is gone, I eat as I want to. Hoyt's is a wonderful medicine. My kidneys are normal; I rest well, feel like an entirely different person!"

Hoyt's Compound is recommended and sold by the Collins Bros. Drug Store and by all leading druggists in this area.—adv.

The War Today—Churchill Faces Harsh Dilemma In Question of Taking Syria

(By Herald Special News Service)

(This daily feature, conducted by Dewitt Mackenzie, is being written in his absence on vacation by Fred Vanderschmidt.)

Syria is a harsh dilemma for Winston Churchill. He must decide whether to attempt to occupy it by land and sea, in a morbid struggle with France, Britain's former ally, or he must sit tight and wary, harassing German concentrations there mainly from the air, and taking the risk that the Germans will be able to occupy it themselves and thus drive Britain from the eastern end of the Mediterranean.

It is not merely a military choice. Many of the British, at home, are clamoring for real action against Syria. They are distraught about Crete and feel, rightly or wrongly, that lack of proper defensive preparation on that island was responsible for its loss. In fact, there have been hints that another British reverse which could be blamed on lack of foresight would really endanger the Churchill government.

To meet this clamor for action authorized British sources today gave assurances that "the necessary precautions" in regard to Syria" are being taken. Simultaneously it was learned from Vichy that the British have bombed oil installations in the French mandate which might feed German planes and motorized equipment.

However, nothing has been done to commit Britain to actual occupation of Syria. This could be accomplished, probably, only by concerted action by land and sea, the land action coming from both Iraq and Palestine-Transjordan borders and involving the participation of the Free French units of General Charles De Gaulle.

The fact is that Churchill knows the Germans would relish a bitter fight in Syria between the British

Democracy Lives Again In Louisiana, Gov. Jones Says

CHICAGO, June 3 (AP)—Gov. Sam Houston Jones of Louisiana said today democracy had been restored in his state after what he called "an experiment in dictatorship—an experiment which failed."

Nowhere in his address prepared for delivery before the Chicago Association of Commerce did the democratic chief executive identify by name the late Huey Long and his Louisiana regime but he said:

"We spawned a weird governmental monstrosity in Louisiana but it was slain by the will of an aroused populace, when 'a little over a year ago he saw a people rebel."

"Today, after a year, we function as a democracy again," he said. "The dictator laws are gone."

Army Plans Expansion Of Cantonments

WASHINGTON, June 3.—The surprise disclosure that the army was rushing a new billion dollar camp construction program led informed legislators to believe today that the war department had decided to increase the field forces to 2,800,000 men, or double their present strength.

One member of congress with close war department connections said that the new camp program meant "that the international situation is such that it has been deemed wise to prepare for this new emergency that may be approaching our shores."

The first intimation that the program was under way came from the army's construction quartermaster, Brigadier General Breton Somersell, during testimony before a house military subcommittee yesterday. He was very laconic, however.

Within the previous 24 hours, he told the committee, he had received orders to rush the award of contracts for construction work totalling "about $1,000,000,000." Declining to provide details, he explained that "in some respects these things are military secrets."

On another defense front, meanwhile, the maritime commission moved closer to the 2,000,000-ton goal President Roosevelt set for it several weeks ago when he directed the creation of a special shipping pool in the interest of the de-

Sewell Becomes Browns' Pilot

ST. LOUIS, June 3 (AP)—Affable Luke Sewell, veteran American league catcher and Cleveland Indian coach, stepped in the frying pan today as manager of the floundering St. Louis Browns.

He was signed to a two-year contract last night replacing Fred Haney in a swift move aimed at improving the miserable plight of the club that was expected to be the surprise team of the senior circuit this season.

A change of pilots had been rumored for several days, but the announcement by President Donald Barnes caught even newsmen by surprise. It came less than two hours after the Browns had won their second straight game from Washington to move out of the cellar into seventh place.

Senate May Put Restrictions On Property Seizure Measure

WASHINGTON, June 5 (AP)—A well-supported move developed in the senate today to put a congressional check on the wide powers asked by President Roosevelt to requisition private property temporarily or permanently for defense purposes.

Two influential senators, who asked to remain anonymous, said serious consideration was being given by administration leaders to suggestions that the property requisition bill drawn by the war department be amended to make it simply a temporary measure under which the president could act only after congress directed such action by passage of a resolution.

This, these senators said, would meet the objection of some critics who have said that to permit the president to take over private property of all kinds for defense uses or for resale, as proposed in the bill, would be to give him dictatorial powers.

The president made it plain at his press conference yesterday that one of the prime objectives of the bill was to make it possible for the government to deal summarily with lockouts in defense industries by taking over the affected plants.

Such action would put recalcitrant labor or management in the position of striking against the government, and Mr. Roosevelt said some time ago that this could not be done.

The property requisitioning legislation, the president said, grew partially out of the government's inability to act more forcefully to end the prolonged Allis-Chalmers strike in Milwaukee, which held up defense contracts.

World War Veteran Claimed By Death

SAN ANTONIO, June 5 (AP)—Major Gen. O. E. Roberts, World War veteran, who died in Taylor Monday night, will be buried in the Fort Sam Houston national cemetery here today.

Gen. Roberts, who won the Croix de Guerre and the Distinguished Service medal, retired from the army four years ago. He is survived by his widow, a son, Jim Roberts, and a daughter, Mrs. Charles Lyman.

Seven Coahoma Students End Math Courses

Seven men have been awarded vocational training certificates for completion of a course in official mathematics at Coahoma.

The course, operated over a 24-week period, was under the direction of W. T. Wynn, instructor. Wynn has taught two other oil field courses at Coahoma and one here. A total of 17 originally enrolled in the class.

Legislature Tackles Jam In Calendar

AUSTIN, June 5 (AP)—The Texas senate today received an invitation from the house to recess the overtime general session from June 13 to June 20.

House approval by vote of 71 to 52, of the recess resolution yesterday climaxed a laborious day in which the legislature cracked a work calendar jam which, to some extent, had blocked adjournment.

The recess offer was the second of that type to reach the upper legislative chamber, which previously had sent the house an unheeded proposal to adjourn.

Among major legislation not yet approved were several money-spending bills for operation of the state government the next two years, a bill allocating a $2,000,000 balance in the state's county and district road bond fund and oil proration measures.

Richmond, Va.—Roland Warren Smith, of Richmond has a hunch he will be called to military service the Fourth of July.

On New Year's Eve he was notified of his local order number in the draft. On April Fool's Day he received his questionnaire. On Memorial Day the postman brought his notification to appear for his physical exam.

Kansas City.—Mrs. Florence Holcomb is a nature lover but she is all for forming a anti-squirrel-back-to-the-country league.

A dozen or so chattering, barking and fighting squirrels have taken over space in the second floor ceiling of her home. At night the din is terrific, sleep impossible.

There'll be more noise in the dawn but Mrs. Holcomb won't mind. Her appeal to Mayor John B. Gage has borne fruit. Police have been told to shoot the furry invaders.

Antlers, Okla.—A farmer driving without a tail light and with only one headlamp was stopped by highway Patrolman Jess Faulkner and Charles Reese.

The officers asked to see his driver's license.

"There's my license tacked on the back," came the reply. "I never heard of driver's license. When did they pass that?"

"The Parson of Panamint"

A one-minute glimpse at action highlights from the forthcoming Paramount super-western, produced by Harry Sherman and starring Charlie Ruggles, Philip Terry and Ellen Drew.

Jailed in San Francisco with Charlie Ruggles, for interfering in a street fight, Phil Terry is hired as parson for the frontier mining town of Panamint.

In Panamint, Clem Bevans, a local inebriate, breaks up the reception at the parsonage and is subsequently hired to cook for the parson.

During a bar-room brawl Ellen Drew is wounded by a bullet intended for Joseph Schildkraut—before the parson can disarm her assailant.

In the fast-moving episodes that follow, the parson finds himself accused of murder, and is tried before a jury picked from his bitterest enemies in Panamint.

Unfairly convicted of murder, he is saved from a lynch-mob by Ruggles and his other friends, including Ellen Drew—whose tender expression gives a fair clue to the picture's ending.

JOE FISHER'S Reviews of Previews

Last week four studios displayed comedies, a rather definite proof of the trend in picture making at the moment.

The first one shown was "MILLION DOLLAR BABY," starring Priscilla Lane, Jeffrey Lynn, Ronald Reagan and May Robson...

Priscilla Lane, May (Muzzy) Robson and Ronald Reagan talk things over in a scene from "Million Dollar Baby."

May Robson, a millionairess is informed by her attorney, Jeffrey Lynn, that her father founded his fortune by defrauding a partner.

The next picture shown was Paramount's "CAUGHT IN THE DRAFT," starring Bob Hope and Dorothy Lamour...

This is literally a one-man picture, with the versatile Mr. Hope just about the whole show.

Columbia displayed the third comedy, "TIME OUT FOR RHYTHM," with Ann Miller, Rudy Vallee, Rosemary Lane...

For Ann Miller the picture is her best break, and she takes full advantage of her opportunity.

The final picture of the week was Universal's "IN THE NAVY," the second Abbott-Costello service film.

MEET THE STARS

Mr. Ken Murray, soon to be seen in Universal's "Radio Revels of 1941," is in show business only because newspapering, while "fascinating work," is no way to make a decent living.

Mr. Murray can speak with authority, for, as probably most of us didn't know, he is a former columnist.

"I loved it," he says with nostalgia in his voice. A glimmer of humor crept into his eyes.

He recalled his triumph at the last Democratic convention, when his 20-minute radio harangue of the Republicans was published verbatim in The New York Times.

Aside from the sentiment involved, it was no trouble to give up the clatter of the editorial room and the smell of ink and go into show business.

Mr. Murray's life is fraught with other disappointments: Every time he goes out with a girl she rushes off and marries...

Isn't that always the way, though!

HOLLYWOOD FASHION SCENE

By MARGARET MCKAY

Carmen Miranda is Hollywood's mad-hatter, but the fashion pace setter this week. The Brazilian Bombshell may be bringing us friendly relations and harmony from South America, but she is creating unfriendly relations and discord between the feminine and masculine sex, all because she is copying her heavy laden turbans, or at least permitting the influence in their headgear.

Fortunately, the girls are tending down the flamboyant Miranda versions somewhat, but they do retain the high stacked and drapery effects, and you may find cherries, flowers, or odd assortments of trimmings lurking in the folds.

BEST-DRESSED GIRL OF THE WEEK: Lana Turner, in a long torso suit.

Eddie Stevens, RKO's imaginative designer, is putting pep into afternoon dresses with peplums.

IT CAN HAPPEN HERE: Paulette Goddard appeared at the Miramar (beach resort hotel) this week in a real departure in evening wear.

At Paramount next day a plague of autographers swept the commissary to keep the actors from getting ahead with their eating.

All of which may be very glamorous, to be sure, but the impression remains that, to those who are hungry, nothing seems so glamorous as a bountiful array of food.

Plus all these hazards there is, for male actors, the occasional handicap of having to convey the fodder to the mouth through an impressive tangle of false beard.

Golf's Greatest Show Opens On Fort Worth Course Today

Big Spring, Texas, Thursday, June 5, 1941 PAGE NINE

Lookin 'em Over

WITH JACK DOUGLAS

Fort Worth's National Open Golf tournament has or is drawing a goodly number of local people. Among those attending the super-special of golfdom at Colonial club are Harold Akey, Poe Woodward of Stanton, M. K. House, Ira Thurman and Obie Bristow. Obie is making one of his regular jaunts to Oklahoma but he is slated to make the stop—strictly as a looker-on for one of the few times in his life.

Big Springers going to the meet are taking their clubs, because, swinging into the spirit of the occasion, Fort Worth clubs are throwing open their courses for any and all who want to spell their spectator role with a bit of playing.

Avery Falkner is still doing his bit toward getting tennis activity on an organized basis in Big Spring. As yet there have been no meetings but Falkner opines netters had better get in the saddle before the summer is too far gone. Right now, a sponsor for a city tournament is the thing most needed by local players. Falkner said a sporting goods store or some like business might be interested in sponsoring the efforts of local tennis hopefuls. He might have something there.

Amarillo may not be the crew best suited to lead the West Texas-New Mexico baseball race, but there appears to be nothing wrong with the hitting. Last night, in the opening of a three-game series with Big Spring, the Sox did not put too much stuff on their slugging but that is no sign they don't have it.

How could they help it when a 43-homer man, Fullender is on the roster.

Al Zigelman, Bomber catcher hopes to be back in playing form in the next few days. Al has been nursing a strained arm but with the help of lamps, etc., he is bringing the wing around to proper form.

Larry Drake, outfielder and another Bomber who has been on the ailing list, had a bevy of teeth pulled in an effort to get back in condition. Larry has had his hands full with first one ailment and the other, but he has been told by the medics that the tooth-pulling affair will probably put him in tip-top condition.

Lamesa Decided On By Clovis Pioneers' 14-6

LAMESA, June 5 (Spl) — The Lobos continued their losing ways here last night, bowing to the Clovis Pioneers, 14 to 6. Hensley was driven from the mound in the second and Sullivan, his successor, fared little better as the Pioneers hit in every inning but the fifth and ninth.

Hewitt, the Pioneers starting pitcher, retired after three innings and Rollins came in to hold the Lobos to six hits and one run in the last six stanzas.

Quillen homered for Clovis in the first with two on and Guynes parked one in the ninth with none on.

Nat'l Open Crowd Records Scheduled To Be Shattered

FORT WORTH, June 5 (AP) — Golf's greatest extravaganzas — the National Open — started today in the cow country of Texas, the links-mad state which produced a band of professionals ranked as favorites to conquer the Colonial club course.

All records attendant to the tournament tested as the field cautiously spread over the par 35-36-70 layout, which has had the nation's finest golfers muttering through practice rounds.

Apparently the only mark which might make a stand was the scoring record of 281 held by slope-shouldered Ralph Guldahl.

Never before has the open been held this far south and Texans stampeded to the course. The advance ticket sales record already broken, official forecasters predicted that the attendance figure would be shattered on Saturday's finale.

Installed as No. 1 favorite was lean Byron Nelson, former Fort Worth caddy whose string-straight game appeared made to order for the huffing course.

Close behind was Benny Hogan, another local product who is leading the Vardon trophy race in money won this year.

Other Texans in the running were Jimmy Demaret, who toted bags around Houston courses in early youth; the Mangrum brothers, Lloyd and Ray; Dick Metz; and Guldahl, who twice has won the title.

The talk was all about the Texans and Lawson Little, defending champion; Gene Sarazen, the country squire from Connecticut who breezed around in two-under-par 68 yesterday; Sammy Sneed, playing well despite an ailing back; Craig Wood, another "cripple"; Paul Runyan, usually poison on a demanding links.

For the first time, former champions were permitted to compete, insuring one of the most colorful fields in the open's history.

Harold W. Pierce, president of the United States Golf association, sounded the concensus when he said that unless foul weather comes again, the tournament should be one of the finest.

Starting times of the stars in the first round today (time is Central Standard): 9:15 a. m.—Jimmy Demaret, Denny Shute, Johnny Farrell; 9:45 a. m.—Ralph Guldahl, Johnny Goodman, Jimmy Hines; 10:15 a. m.—Lawson Little, Bob Byrnes (Colonial club), Dick Metz; 10:45 a. m.—Byron Nelson, Tony Manero, Bill Rhodes (Winnetka, Ill.).

12:45 p. m.—Paul Runyan, Henry Picard, Johnny Bulla; 1:30 p. m.—Ben Hogan, Ed Dudley, Marvin Ward; 2:05 p. m.—Gene Sarazen, Billy Burke, Henry Branson; 2:40 p. m.—Sam Sneed, Vic Ghezzi, Lloyd Mangrum.

He can dream, can't he? Here's a bit of wishful hoping, Sammy Sneed to win the open; The heavy crown to rest upon The curly head of Billy Conn; And then the New York Yankees to maul The daffy Dodgers in the fall. —Charles Schaefer.

Deas and Daeshes Youngest starter in the open down at Fort Worth today will be 15-year-old Tyrrel Garth, Jr., of Beaumont. And Gene Dahlbender of Atlanta, who pokes his drives 300 yards, is only 17. . . . Ford C. Frick and William C. Harridge, presidents of the National and American leagues, are very much in favor of turning the Cincinnati-Cleveland exhibition game at Cooperstown next week into a memorial to Lou Gehrig. . . . They figure the open crown is worth about 20 grand per year to the winner, although Sam Sneed has topped that figure for the last four years without the title. . . . Fans at the Amherst-Williams game got a taste of big league stuff when Ernie Quigley and Bill Klem, two former greats, did the umpiring.

Ah Ha A Pittsburgh item in the morning papers says Billy Conn has been indicted out there for speeding without a license. . . . That's one way to get in shape to run away from Louis.

Field Day Jupiter Pluvius yesterday washed away most of the big league ball games—and Fred Haney.

Ward Nudges NYA In 15-12 Hitting Bee

Struggle Winds Up Regular First-Half Major Loop Tussle

Final regular game in the Major city softball league first-half, was put on the books last night as Montgomery Ward lived up to expectations and beat, by a narrow margin, NYA's valiant lads, 15 to 12.

NYA's Tate was nipped for 11 hits over the route while Ward's Cunningham was bopped for a 17-count.

Ward took the baton in the first stanza, never letting it slip completely from his grasp. Wardman Anderson started the ball rolling with a two-bagger, then came across the plate when Red Womack lined out a shot for a non-stop flight around the course. Redding then landed on first by the error route, Rowe ditted, and a wallop by Cherry gave the tally.

Cherry then worked his way around the track for the final score of a score-happy inning.

In the second frame, NYA, already holding one run made in the first, added a pair when Moseley bopped one good for a single, J. Holsley did a follow-up and both finished up on the payoff plate following a two-baser by Fleming.

The NYA lads added two to their side of the ledger in the third, T. Barrett and Simpson taking the honor, but the Wardmen cut down the start with a tally by Rowe.

Ward's broke loose on another spree in the fourth canto, Anderson, Red Womack, Redding and Rowe again hitting the home-plate trail to increase the lead by four marks.

Finally, in the sixth inning, NYA put on an all-out bid for victory, sacking up a grand total of five hits in a fast and furious tussle.

Graves, Lawrence and Barrett copped singles; Lawrence was killed off at third; Graves and Barrett went ahead for the scores. Lowe, on deck on an error, added to the count and Simpson put the grand finale on the affair with a homer.

But, the brace of runs acquired by the Wardmen in the fifth, one by Reed and the other by Anderson told the tale and the regular half wind-up was another defeat for NYA.

Score by innings: Ward122 115 0—12 11 4 NYA611 430 0—15 17-5 Batteries: Cunningham and Womack; Tate and Harrison.

ABC Bests Lions Club In 17-10 Scoring Spree

In the initial round of the Minor city softball league first-place tie playoff, American Business club drew first blood, defeating the Lions, 17 to 10, Wednesday night at city park. The two clubs have a possible two-game schedule ahead, winning of the division to be the best two out of three.

Tonight at 8 o'clock the ABCers and the Roaring Ones return to the fray, weather permitting, and will wind up the series Friday night.

ABC drew ahead in the second stanza and never relinquished the lead the remainder of the evening. Both clubs had racked up a pair of runs before the ABCmen took the bit in their teeth.

Harold Steck, handling the mound assignment for the Lions, allowed 13 wallops over the route, while Durward Carnett, the opposing hurler, was pounced on for 16 blows.

A quartet of ABCers, Ted Phillips, Claude Wilkins, Carnett, and Chester Cluck went run-happy last night, each taking unto himself three rumps across the plate. Lion Smith equalled the ABC tops but was left to his lonesome by his cohorts.

Brooks Climb Back On Top Of National

By The Associated Press Simply by staying in out of the wet while their chief rivals were fumbling themselves into defeat, the Brooklyn Dodgers have climbed back into the leadership of the National league.

Larry MacPhail's "Boughten" wonders are a half-game in front of the St. Louis Cardinals, who dropped a 4 to 2 decision to the Boston Braves in one of the three games played in the big league yesterday and tumbled from the top for the first time since May 19.

The St. Louis Browns, playing their last game under Manager Fred Haney, walloped the unfortunate Washington Senators 7 to 4.

Under the lights at Comiskey park last night, the Chicago White Sox observed "Connie Mack" Night by walloping his Philadelphia Athletics, 6-1, behind the five-hit pitching of Thornton Lee.

Buff's Still Battle Like Cellar Club

By The Associated Press Sometimes you wonder why the Houston Buffs try so hard to win baseball games—or maybe they just don't know how to lose.

Leading the Texas league with 26 games won and only 12 lost, compared with 22 won and 23 lost by the second-place Shreveport Sports, you'd think the Buffs might ease up now and then—but they don't. The Sports tried hard to chivy a victory out of Houston in a game at Shreveport last night—they even scored three runs in the eighth to knot the count—but the Buffs went on to triumph 7 to 6.

In the other contests, all played at night, the Tulsa Oilers dined the Cats at Fort Worth 8-3, Beaumont took the Missions at San Antonio 6-3, and the Dallas Rebels finished up a home schedule by tying Oklahoma City 5-5 after a nip-and-tuck affair called in the tenth inning to allow both teams to catch trains.

Pop Ramsdell On Hill For Locals Tonight

Big Spring Bombers increased their West Texas-New Mexico lead another notch here last night as they shellacked the Amarillo Gold Sox, 10 to 4, in a tussle that was in the bag from the very start. Again, the Big Springers held to their non-hitting tradition for the greater part of the evening, but hit their stride in the clutches for a six-hit mark as against the badly beaten Amarillo club's nine.

Willard "Pop" Ramsdell, the old man of the club, will move his bones out on the mound tonight at 8:30 o'clock to give the Sox a run for their money. Will, a knuckle ball thumper par excellence, has thus far had little trouble demolishing the worst efforts of potential slugger rows.

Charlie Wheelchel, wavering at times but coming back with a full head of steam, went the route of Big Spring, walking a slim pair during the entire round of festivities. The Gold Sox tossed two hurlers into the Bomber firebox; Reynolds lasting to the fourth but coming out with three runs against him in the inning, bases full, two hit and facing Chubby Greer—Victoria took over but had poor luck with the break-taking Jig Springers.

Big Spring had five runs at the close of the fourth stanza — five runs and two hits. But the tempo was stepped up in the seventh, the locals at that time racking up a trio of wallops and adding one in the eighth.

Eddie "Babe" Stevens, hung up a two-day count of five hits out of seven times at bat last night, grabbing a fistful of two-base hit for his end of the performance. J. L. Haney, left field, hit his old stride during the engagement, blasting out a three-base hit against Victoria.

Amarillo's hitters were off last night, even Fullender, ace hand who scuttled West Texas-New Mexico hurlers for 43 home runs last year, failing to come through with a substantial showing.

President's Reasoning On War Contradictory

By ALSOP and KINTNER

WASHINGTON, June 5—All the president's recent utterances and actions have been made mysterious by a basic contradiction. He says that he means to act, yet he does not act, and in the next breath even seems to foreclose important avenues of action. The contradiction is easy to explain, however, once it is understood that the immediate future depends on the answer to a simple question. Will the president continue determined to force the Germans to fire the first shot?

This determination of the president is apparently the most psychological obstacle he must surmount before he can commit the United States to full fighting partnership with Britain.

Of course, there are other obstacles. There is his desire not to move until the country is fully united behind him, from which his wish to force the Germans to give him a pretext for action is not far removed. There are the various commitments and semi-commitments he has made in the last year, against conveying, against taking the country into war, and so forth.

Strangely enough, considering earlier trends of constitutional interpretation at the White House there is even said to be some fear in his mind that if he orders action without requesting a prior declaration of war from congress, he will be transgressing his constitutional prerogatives as commander-in-chief.

But according to men qualified to speak with authority, these other obstacles are now entirely secondary. Events have made them so.

As Ambassador John G. Winant has reported to the president, and as all his ablest advisers here have been telling him for weeks, he has the choice between acting now, or waiting until it may be too late. If he delays too long, neither public opinion, nor his own record, nor his constitutional prerogatives will matter a particle. The policy which he has been vigorously prosecuting for the last two years will be utterly defeated.

He will find his niche in history as one of the great failures. And if German victory is as imminent as he and most other informed men suppose, the country will soon be convulsed by catastrophe.

These are obvious facts, assuming the president's advisers are correct in their judgment of the urgency of the war situation. In the light of them, it is easy to see why all the secondary obstacles to action have ceased to be really important.

Giving due weight to the president's penchant for doing a job the smart way, it is also easy to see why the primary obstacle remains to be surmounted. If the Germans can only be persuaded to shoot first, then they will have the major share of responsibility for what follows. That is what appears to be in the president's mind. Furthermore, it seems to have existed in the president's mind with recognition of the need for prompt action for some time past. As long as two months ago, he acknowledged to the intimates whom he invited to join him on his yachting holiday after passage of the lend-lease bill, that the war could not be won without American intervention. At the same time he said that he could not intervene without an incident to give him the signal.

The two thoughts, mutually inconsistent though they may seem, still co-exist in his mind today. In the past weeks, he has been repeatedly urged to order immediate action. He has been warned that a delay will be a second disaster. He has been able to act, for all the necessary preparations for meeting the German threat in the battle of the Atlantic have at last been completed. Yet he has not acted, because he hopes to drive the Germans into shooting first.

Perhaps, instead of depending on one simple question, the future may depend on two. The men around the president are now united in attempting to persuade him to order action out of hand, without waiting for a pretext. If they fail, if the president's determination is not weakened by the remorseless logic of events, then a second question will have to be answered. Will the president's plan succeed?

This problem was mentioned in this space in a recent discussion of the Atlantic patrol, in which it was pointed out that the president and the men around him privately hope the patrol will produce an incident. The patrol is by no means the only expedient, moreover, which the president has at his disposal. He can take several additional measures to meet the German threat in the Atlantic, perhaps even ordering the navy to undertake the task of active shipping protection, but leaving it to the Germans to resist. He can order preventive occupation of the Atlantic bases, both north and south. It will be as disagreeable to the Germans to find the Americans instead of the British in Ios-land, as to find the Americans at Dakar.

But the difficulty with all these expedients, and with the president's basic plan still remain. Because this country has taken each step too late, Britain has now been so weakened that even if the goods are delivered, the British have too little recuperative power to bear the brunt of the fighting alone.

Because this country's active intervention would mean so much, it is to Germany's advantage to delay it as long as possible, and no one can doubt the German high command will do everything possible to avoid shooting first. The president's plan leaves the initiative to Germany, which is a mode of procedure that has cursed the democracies from the start of the war. And if the president sticks to his plan and the plan fails, the failure will deeply affect not only the immediate future, but also the fate of this country.

Chapter 27
PURSUED AGAIN

Eileen climbed up to the little room where she had lived with Molly. That evening, feeling as if everything in between had been a dream, Molly shrieked and hugged her; just the same cheerful red-cheeked pony-built girl. They sat down on the untidy made bed together in the old way, and Eileen told her tale. Eileen had forgotten how comforting that unbridled Irish sympathy could be.

"Sure, to hell with them all!" Molly said when the story was as far on as the divorce. "But you're in a good job now? I must say I think you were too high-minded about the cash. . . . And Elly, I can't give you back the whole two thousand. Would five hundred of it."

"No, I don't want it, Molly, you darling idiot! What I do want. . . . She went on with her story; Lewis Delevan, just as she was settling into training for a wonderful career, wanting to marry her. "But, if you'd see whether his car could take me back?"

"I'm marrying him myself next month," Molly said. "That's where I put the fifteen hundred. We bought in with a nursery garden in Rye." She said as if she had been a bombshell.

"Oh, how lovely!" Eileen said with delight.

After another long silence Molly went on, "I'm an ungrateful pig to be saying it, Eileen, and I'm fond of you as well you know. We'll save up and pay back every penny sooner or later. But I won't risk having you back; it's too crazy ever to think of that. It's truth, nor do I see what's wrong with this Delevan man. Couldn't you get to caring enough?"

"There was Martin—" Eileen said.

"And a fine sweetie he turned out to be—marrying you for a good joke and he tied up the Dempster woman. I'd have taken a sound sum from him, he'd never have been missing it." At Eileen's look she added, "You mean you really cared?"

Even Molly thought she'd married Martin for what he had.

"Then Molly said unexpectedly, "You poor lamb! But all the more I'd give the other his chance. Just try can you have a taste for him."

Molly hugged her again. They parted good friends.

She couldn't blame Molly. After all, what she said added up to good sense. Lewis Delevan wasn't hurrying her. She could go on, now she knew, thinking it over. She had been bracing unconsciously against his charm, she had somehow been vaguely distrusting him. And when she took Lewis Delevan's hand, she'd trusted Martin. She'd give Lewis a fair chance, let herself go. She went home, on the decision.

As time passed she found that he kept his promise at the office. But he was seeing her more and more out of office hours. He was calling for her at the Y. W. C. A., where impressed secretaries were forever warning Mr. Delevan of the Willson Institute. He was taking her to theaters and lectures. Presently she had a raise.

Explosion

She supposed herself to be drifting, giving Lewis his chance. She woke to her mistake one evening when, calling for her in her pretty one-room apartment, he said abruptly, "We won't go to Rand School tonight. I don't see half enough of you—" And had her in his arms.

What emerged after a brief volcanic scene was the fact that Lewis had not supposed her to be thinking over her decision. He was taking their eventual marriage for granted.

"You love me, whether you admit it or not," he said. "We haven't time for old-fashioned coquetries in this moment of the world. I have great things to do. With your help I can do them. I

Time's A' Wasting For Buying Park

Here it is another summer, and Texas still has no Big Bend national park. All of which reminds us that time's a' wasting.

Value of the Big Bend park to the state as a recreational unit and a financial investment is so apparent that it hardly is open to argument. Yet, year after year we hear much debate, mostly on the affirmative, and all too little action. In the end Big Bend remains an undeveloped attraction, barred from general access, a diamond in the rough.

If Texans could but know what they are losing annually by not providing for development of the area, perhaps not another season would pass without something definite being done toward converting it into one of the outstanding tourist attractions of the Southwestern United States. Few things could return the state as great dividends for so comparatively small an investment as a Big Bend park.

All Texas has to do is to furnish the land for the park. The National Park Service will take it over and make its most scenic spots accessible to the visiting public, will see to it that the entire route through the picturesque and rugged country is made convenient. On the other side of the border, Mexico is ready to develop even a larger area as a companion park.

Benefits from it would be financial as well as recreational. Fabrication of our economic structure is such that benefits would reach over all the state. It is time that Texas citizens be brought to the realization that we are not merely delinquent in overlooking this opportunity—but that failure to develop it is costing us tremendous sums of money.

Keys Quadruplets Are Separated On 26th Birthday

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 5 (AP)—The Keys quadruplets celebrated their 26th birthday Wednesday, separated for the first time on the festive occasion.

Mona, first of the four daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Flake Keys of Muskogee, Okla., was married to a man named Bob Fowler, for a visit in Bloomington, Ind.

The other three—Mary, Roberta and Leola—are home. Roberta will be married June 22 to Roland S. Torn of Canton, Tex.

RAF Raids French Coast In Daylight

FOLKESTONE, England, June 5 (AP)—The RAF was believed to have carried out a series of heavy daylight raids on the French coast Wednesday, with Boulogne one of the main targets.

Several times the rumble of loud explosions was heard across the Strait of Dover, which was shrouded in mist. Ground on the British side of the English channel was shaken.

Air activity over the channel and coast increased toward evening, with RAF fighter patrols in action five miles up.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds—Actors Sweat A-Plenty Before Signing All-Important Contracts

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—If actors sometimes reek out in chilly sweat as they sign on the dotted line, you can't blame them too much. It makes a whale of a difference where they sign, and one studio is not just like another.

"Look at us now," says the chubby little guy who is one half—the funnier half—of the Abbott and Costello team. "If we'd signed at M-G-M, as we thought we might, we'd just now be coming out in our first picture. We signed at Universal—and we've finished our fourth, are ready for our fifth."

The Metro picture was "Ziegfeld Girl," recently released. At Universal Bud Abbott and Lou Costello are making history as well as money. Their first movie, "A Night in the Tropics," is getting revival runs (although they're it only briefly) because it's second, "Buck Private," has been so (to put it mildly) colossal. Their third, "Oh, Charlie," is going back into production with a bigger budget because their fourth, "In the Navy," has wowed audiences at sneak previews.

Once Lou's Hollywood home was a broken-down auto parked outside a pool hall. Today he has an $18,000 house, plus swimming pool, in the valley, Abbott, his partner for 10 years, a burlesque house cashier when they teamed up in Brooklyn, has a similarly layout nearby.

Their teaming was the result of an argument, many arguments. When Lou, then a small-time burlesque comic, needed a suitable straight man one night he invited Bud out of the cashier's box.

Both the comics were born in New Jersey, Abbott in Atlantic City under a circus tent in 1900, Costello in Paterson in 1908. Abbott had worked backstage at the circus and had been a sign-painter, theatre cashier, operator and producer before he joined Lou. Costello went to Hollywood, started a while or ate on the cuff, worked as a scene shifter, stunt man, and bit player. He doubled once for Dolores Del Rio. His squeaky voice made him a fugitive from the talkies.

Their writer is John Grant, one-time burlesque wheel censor and show-doctor. Grant met Costello the first time when he was assigned to cut salaries up and down the wheel. He sliced Lou's $75 to $65 without a peep from Lou.

Man About Manhattan—Little French Voice Makes Southern Girl Get Plaudits

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—A slim blonde girl with a French accent that floats like a rose petal in the Seine—that's Yvette, who is neither French nor really named Yvette. She is Elsa Harris, 18, of Birmingham, who lived in New Orleans awhile, studied in a convent there, came east, and one day—just like that—became a startling and well-discussed personality.

Yvette's voice will float out of a juke box for you, if you put a nickel in the box. It will float out of a radio for you, in honeyed French accents that are soft and feminine, if you tune her in. Or it will fall pleasantly and lightly against your ears, like perfumed shadows, if you sit in Monty Proser's Copacabana and peer through the dusky glow of this nightclub in the late evenings.

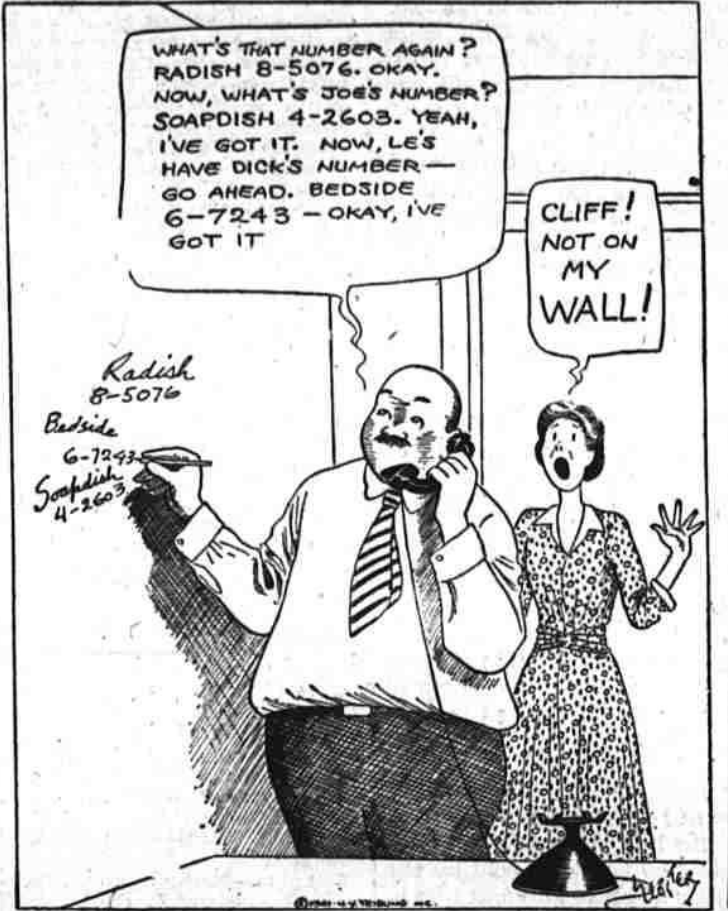

For a long time, for months that is, there was local confusion as to Yvette. The general public didn't quite know who she was. This mystery did not hurt her. To be wondered about is a boon in this capricious town. There were pleasant lies told about her—all justifiable, all in good fun and good business acumen. Announcers would introduce her simply as "Yvette. . . . They would call her a little French girl from the Evangeline country. . . . It was a small voice that she built her affluence upon. . . . Not quite a baby voice, but a small voice and definitely a sophisticated voice that could say "love" in a way that would make the last lingering note of a mocking bird seem ungentle and off-key.

It is taking nothing away from Yvette to suggest that her singular delivery has had much to do with the exciting success that has been rocking first-class fashion about her blonde head these last eleven months. It's different. In all New York, with its thousands upon thousands of girl vocalists, there is not one with the singular half-shy quality of coquetry, wrapped in an alluring French accent, that has made her distinctive and remembered by all who have heard her.

When she began to climb in the public notice she was grabbed by one of the major broadcasting companies. Then she began to make recordings, and the demand for more of her records has been like an ever-rising chart. She went into the fancy clubs—La Martinique, the Waldorf-Astoria's famed Bert room, and now the Copacabana.

What next? Qui sait? She is not in love, she says. She isn't married, not even engaged. She's 18, with brown eyes and golden hair, and certain plans for the future that have something to do with Hollywood. Meanwhile, she's at the Copacabana, pouring her heart into a microphone in tidy little packages of song that are wrapped up in old French coquetry of accent. She's five feet, five and weighs 110 lbs. Conoco Begins Campaign To Sell New Oil

Continental Oil company starts this week one of the largest newspaper campaigns in its history to introduce the company's newest product, Conoco Nth motor oil.

According to Will A. Morgan, advertising manager, newspapers throughout the most of the United States, including The Big Spring Daily Herald, will receive the major portion of Continental's advertising budget to present the new motor oil to the public. More than a million dollars will be spent by the company in newspapers alone during the next six months.

Proof of these claims was dramatically illustrated by a daring destruction test carried out in Death Valley, where the hottest temperatures in the United States have been registered.

At the end of the test, the car lubricated with Conoco Nth had run 13,398.5 miles on one crankcase full of Nth oil—73.47 per cent more miles than the closest competitor—161.17 per cent more miles than the first car to fail.

Story

She stood still trying to speak quietly. "May I see you alone when you have finished talking to Mr. Burton?"
Mr. Burton looked at her admiringly. "My business can wait, Miss Eileen. No hurry, none at all." He rose, he was fawning on her, she was important, to be courted. She felt sick.
"Now what, darling?" Lewis smiled down at her as the door shut. It was the affectionately amused possessiveness a man gives his own little feminine thing. "Mustn't go off the handle like that."
She stepped back from his encircling arm.
"Miss Bernstein says you've discharged Miss Lee!"
"Sorry, dear, if you liked her. The board feels she's past her prime — her methods are outworn."
"She told me," Eileen said, looking him in the face, "only last week, that Mr. Beasley told her she was one of the ablest women in her field. And another of the directors, Anderson, said she was a splendid administrator. She was so happy ever it."
"I remember you telling me." "I did tell you. That was why." She was staring at him. He smiled down, affectionate and interested. She cried out, "Miss Bernstein said so! She said it was my reports on Miss Lee made you get rid of her. You were afraid she might get too near you!"
"My darling child, in social work it's dog eat dog just as it is everywhere else. Would you rather let Miss Lee had gone all heart-broken and charming and misunderstood to Anderson and Beasley and eased me out? I'm worth-you and I am worth-a half-dozen Lees to the state and the country."
"Then it's been true. All the time. The girls were right. I was your spy. And because Miss Lee was too decent to watch her step with me—oh!"
Lewis' hand stroked her hair. "But, Eileen darling, this is an odd about-face. What's happened to the Eileen I knew, who could walk out of a Third Avenue cash-ler's job and make prize of an unknown millionaire by sheer cool fixity of purpose? You used to know that you can't make omelets without breaking eggs. Aren't you turning, pretty sentimental, sweet?"
She drew away, beyond anger. "Good-bye, Lewis. Thank you for everything you've taught me."
"Where are you going, dear?"
"To have it out with Miss Lee, first; not that she'll believe me. I don't know, after that."
"Not a bad idea. But I'd wait till she's cooled down." He did not understand her, she saw. "Be seeing you, dear."
In a less excited mood she could not have forced her way past Miss Lee's doorman, her bitter-faced maid, her angry old mother. They hated her, and they were right. She burst into Miss Lee's bedroom as she had into Lewis' office.

Plugs Lack Of Big Guns For Soldiers

TOPEKA, June 8. (Sp1) — After viewing a parade of 1,500 mechanized troops Topekans heard Brig. Gen. R. C. Rogers, Fort Riley commandant, call it "one of the most pitiful things I ever have seen."
General Rodgers addressed a business men's banquet after the parade recently and said "those trucks which paraded up your main street were as helpless as a fleet of vegetable trucks. Each of them should have had three machine guns, an anti-aircraft gun, side arms and rifles, but there wasn't a gun in the lot."
"The reason is that we simply haven't got them."
Power equipment needed to operate the 184,000 U. S. factories has generating power capacity equal to over 81 million horses.
