WASHINGTON (AP)—Members of the new congress have prepared 1700 bills for introduction on the opening day, January 3.

The proposed measures are accumulating at the rate of 200 daily.

MOSCOW, (AP)—Soviet Russia hopes for increased economic cooperation with the United States and France next year.

Cancellation Of German Firm Contracts Hinders Soviet Foreign Trade

The assassination of Sergei Kiroff and the revelation of terrorist plottings caused the government determination to force through industrial plans and account efforts to hinder its socialization drive.

Russia's difference with German Nazism and cancellation of German firm contracts hindered Soviet foreign trade.

Great Britain succeeded Germany in Russian foreign trade.

Russian-English relations were slightly strained and the Soviets were eager to scatter trade among friendlier powers.

1934 Value Of Texas Crops Drops 5 Per.

Unit Price Of Crops, However, Was Higher Than On Same Date Last Year

AUSTIN, (AP)—The United States department of agriculture reported Friday that this year's value of Texas crops, exclusive of government receipts, amounted to $334,459,000, an approximate five percent drop over last year's $352,339,000 value.

The report said the unit price of Texas crops, except rice, peaches, pears and grapefruit were higher than the same date last year.

Lower average yields of principal crops was cited as the cause of the decrease in value. An acre yield of thirty five important crops calculates approximately 80 percent of a ten year average.

Wacker Store Will Double Store Space

Contracts For Enlargement To Be Let Monday, Work Starts Soon

Contracts for enlargement and remodeling of the C. F. Wacker store here will be let Monday, L. B. Edwards, manager said Friday.

Work in doubling the size of the present store will be started soon after the first of the new year, he said.

The store will be enlarged to include the building space now occupied by the National Dry Goods company. This will give 2,500 square feet additional space and will have the effect of exactly doubling store space.

In enlarging the store, a larger and more complete line of merchandise will be added, Edwards declared. It will be the policy of the store to deal principally in five and ten cent articles, he said.

Expansion of activities will entail an increasing of the sales force, according to Edwards.

He said Friday that he anticipated having formal opening in his enlarged quarters by February 1, 1935.

Wackers opened here for business nearly five years ago. For the past three years Edwards has been serving as manager. The company, in increasing the size and facilities of the store, anticipate a more prosperous year in 1935 and greater development in the Big Spring area.

Christmas Week Is Hard On Job-Seekers

AUSTIN—This Christmas week brought anxious yearnings to many people, eager and hopeful for places in the new state administration. Virtually all of them had to go through the holiday period still in the dark, but still with the privilege of expectancy and anticipation.

Few of the chief state appointments have been decided upon, or announced. But while there are fewer than a dozen major offices to be filled by appointment, there are somewhere near 1000 positions whose occupancy is uncertain at the change of administrations, and those in the jobs, as well as those seeking them both feel the same degree of anxiety as do the more prominent political people who aspire to the higher places.

The selection of officials and job-holders in state departments is undoubtedly a matter of worry and concern for the appointing authority, as well as for the aspirants and applicants. There are from 10 to 500 people seeking every available place. Some of the candidates have their pleas bolstered with letters from scores of friends. The incoming governor, and the incoming heads of a department, can name only one to a job and thus must disappoint many times the number that can be gratified. Often the choice is a close one; often there are distinguished, able and eligible people whom an administration desires to recognize and draw to its service, who are only the place bars from the public service.

Most governors have said that the most distressing phase of their work, aside from the necessary refusal to set aside penalties and countless other pleas for clemency, is the selection of public appointees, in that the selections always disappoint so many friends and so many worthy people.

Ginnings Lag Behind Figures For 1933

Ginnings from the 1934 light cotton crop, predicted since early summer to be less than the short 1933 crop, are now lagging behind the 1933 ginning figures.

Reports as per December 13 released Thursday by J. H. Fryar, Midland, special census agent, show that only 8,286 bales had been ginned as compared to 10,369 bales for the same period of the 1933 crop.

Eviction

A nasty fight is raging within the ranks of organized labor. For obvious reasons all concerned are refraining from advertising the fact to the general public but it is just as bitter a family row as the American Federation of Labor ever experienced.

As predicted in this column November 23, it developed in the Building Trades department. Now it has spread to the Metal Trades department. Differences have passed the stage of mere principle. The numerous leaders involved are including in vicious personalities that must leave lasting scars.

Unless all signs fall President William Green and the faction he is supporting will soon be challenged in court.

Green has cast his lot with the carpenters, bricklayers and electrical workers who returned to the A. F. of L. fold after an absence of some years and took over the Building Trades department. A dozen numerically smaller unions, headed by the plumbers, sheet metal workers and elevator constructors, are standing solidly back of Michael J. McDonough, who has long been president of the Building Trades department.

Matters came to a head the other day when an attorney served formal notice on McDonough and Secretary William C. O'Neill to surrender all books and records of the department.

At the same time, Frank Morrison, veteran Secretary of the A. F. of L., demanded that McDonough and O'Neill vacate their offices in the A. F. of L. building here. Morrison signed the eviction notice as a building trustee, of which there are several, rather than as Federation Secretary.

War—

Both demands have been ignored. It is understood lieutenants of McDonough are sleeping in the offices. As for the books and records, word has been sent back that "wouldn't couldn't produce them."

Green and Morrison have cast the die. If they follow through court orders will be necessary to toss the McDonough faction out.

And if they do that the A. F. of L. will be split wide open.

A culminating act occurred about the same time. John P. Frey, as president, called a meeting of the Metal Trades department, which

Many Thrills In Pugilism

Max Baer Battled Big Primo Carnera For Title

By ALAN J. GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor
Third and last of a series of reviews

Boxing
Pugilism reverberated with its biggest thrill in a decade in 1934 when Max Baer battered 263-pound Primo Carnera into helplessness in 11 rounds at the Madison Square Garden Bowl, June 14, and brought the world heavyweight championship back to the United States. His fighting condition officially ridiculed before the match, Baer gave an exhibition of slugging, mixed with contempt for his giant foe, rarely witnessed in the ring. He floored the Italian 11 times before being awarded the decision and title on a technical knockout in the 11th round of a 15-round match, which drew a crowd of 52,288 and gross receipts of $423,592. This was the biggest boxing gate since the first Sharkey-Schmeling bout in 1930.

Barney Ross and Jimmy McLarin waged two sensational 15-round fights in New York with the honors officially even. Ross, already holder of the world lightweight crown, became a double king when he won McLarin's welter crown in May but the Irish boxer regained it in September. Both decisions were split but in both cases ringside experts favored Ross by decisive margins. Forty thousand fans paid $194,829 to see the first match. The second drew 25,000, who paid $138,807, after repeated postponements.

Pugilistic activity otherwise was sporadic and of no great consequence, including the circumstance by which Bob Olin took away the light heavyweight title from Maxey Rosenberg. Teddy Farns pried the middleweight championship from the grasp of Vince Dundee. Freddie Miller, the busy bee from Cincinnati, established himself clearly at the head of the featherweight division with the one-time Cuban bon-bon, Kid Chocolate, failing to make a comeback.

Golf
The most historic episodes of the 1934 golfing season were the brilliant triumph of Henry Cotton in the British Open, the British Open championship, thereby ending a 10-year period of American domination of this event, and the double conquest of W. Lawson Little, Jr., Stanford university student, in the British and American amateur tournaments. The most exciting, however, were Olin Dutra's uphill march to victory in the American Open at Merion, where he beat Gene Sarazen by a single stroke with a total of 293, and Paul Runyan's 38-hole triumph over Craig Wood for the American PGA championship at Buffalo.

Cotton lost a golden chance to crack all existing open championship records. The English pro, who represents a Brussels club, shot his first two rounds in 67 and 65, gaining a nine-stroke lead. He faltered on the final day, however, carrying 72-79 for a total of 283 which tied Sarazen's British Open record, made in 1932. British pro took the first three places for the first time since the war.

Little was unbeatable at both Prestwick and Brookline. He slaughtered a Scot carpenter, James Wallace, 14 and 13, in the final of the British amateur. The latter had eliminated George T. Dunlap, Jr., American champion, in the semi-finals. The California youngster swept through the first United States all-match play tourney. His victim in the final round was David (Spec) Goldman of Texas, 8 and 7.

Little also was a factor in Uncle Sam's eighth successive triumph over Great Britain in Walker Cup competition. Played at St. Andrews, the amateur team match resulted in victory for the invaders, 9 1-2 to 2 1-2. The women's team match between the two countries, for the Curtis Cup, was also won by the United States, 8 1-2 to 2 1-2 at Washington. Subsequently Virginia Van Wie of Chicago, after some close calls, emerged with her third straight national championship, defeating Dorothy Traugot of San Francisco, 2 and 1, in the final round at Philadelphia. Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare, attempting a comeback, reached the semi-finals, losing to Van Wie.

Horse Racing
The turf year is notable chiefly for the triumphs of the Brookmade Stable's thoroughbreds, led by the renowned Cavalcade, there by giving their owner, Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloane, the distinction of being the first woman to rank No. 1 on the money-winning list. Cavalcade's triumphs in the Kentucky Derby, American Derby, Detroit Derby and Arlington Classic, contributed nearly half of Mrs. Sloane's total winnings of more than $250,000 for 1934. Her other outstanding winners were Psychic Bid, victor in the Hopeful and High Quest, conqueror of Cavalcade by a nose in the Preakness. This was Cavalcade's only setback in seven starts and the English-bred colt clearly won the three-year-old championship.

Joseph E. Widener's colors registered two notable triumphs when his Peace Chance won the Belmont Stakes, richest three-year-old race, and Chance Sun captured the $92,000 Belmont Futurity. Equipoise, C. V. Whitney's hard-luck king of the older horses, was disqualified in the Metropolitan and lost two other races under crushing weight assignments but was shipped in December to California, there to finish training for the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap. Equipoise has total earnings of $340,000 and victory in the big western race would carry

Daniel L. Haynes Has Never Missed A Performance Of "The Green Pastures" To Show In Big Spring January 7th

It was the late Florenz Ziegfeld's original production of "Show Boat" and Hammerstein's operetta "Golden Dawn," both of which utilized magnificent choirs, that contributed many of the players and singers currently appearing in "The Green Pastures," renowned Pulitzer prize play which comes to the Municipal Auditorium Jan. 7. Daniel L. Haynes heads the list of graduates from the "Show Boat" musical, while Geraldine Gooding is one of the more prominent actresses recruited from the Hammerstein success. Haynes sang the leading role in the motion picture, "Hallelujah" just before he joined "The Green Pastures" company at its inception more than four years ago. Throughout the amazing run of the play, he never has missed a performance. Recently he passed the 1500th mark, a record duplicated only by Richard B. Harrison, "de Lawd" of Marc Connelly's "divine comedy in blackface," as one New York critic termed "The Green Pastures."

Foreign Air Lines Buy A. A. Equipment

NEW YORK—Completion of its $2,500,000 re-equipment program compels the retirement by American Airlines of some 30 transport planes which, less than two years ago, represented the last word in speed and comfort.
Ford and Stinson tri-motored planes have been replaced by Douglas, Vultee and Condors. Faithful old Pilgrims, Stearman and Lockheeds, still in first class condition, have been declared surplus and turned over to the sales department for disposal.
In competition for speed and modernity in its transport equipment, American Airlines has been forced to absorb losses and retire from active duty planes in excellent condition. Such surplus equipment is eagerly sought by air transport operators in southern republics and is now in scheduled operation in ten Central and South American countries. These operators also recognize American Airlines as a reliable source for spare engines, propellers, parts for repair and overhaul, and radio equipment, supplied them from surplus stocks.
Aid transportation is growing in acceptance throughout all republics to the south because savings in travel and shipping time made possible by the airplanes are even greater, proportionally, than in other parts of the world.

the famous championer to the top of the money-winning heap, displacing Sun Beau.

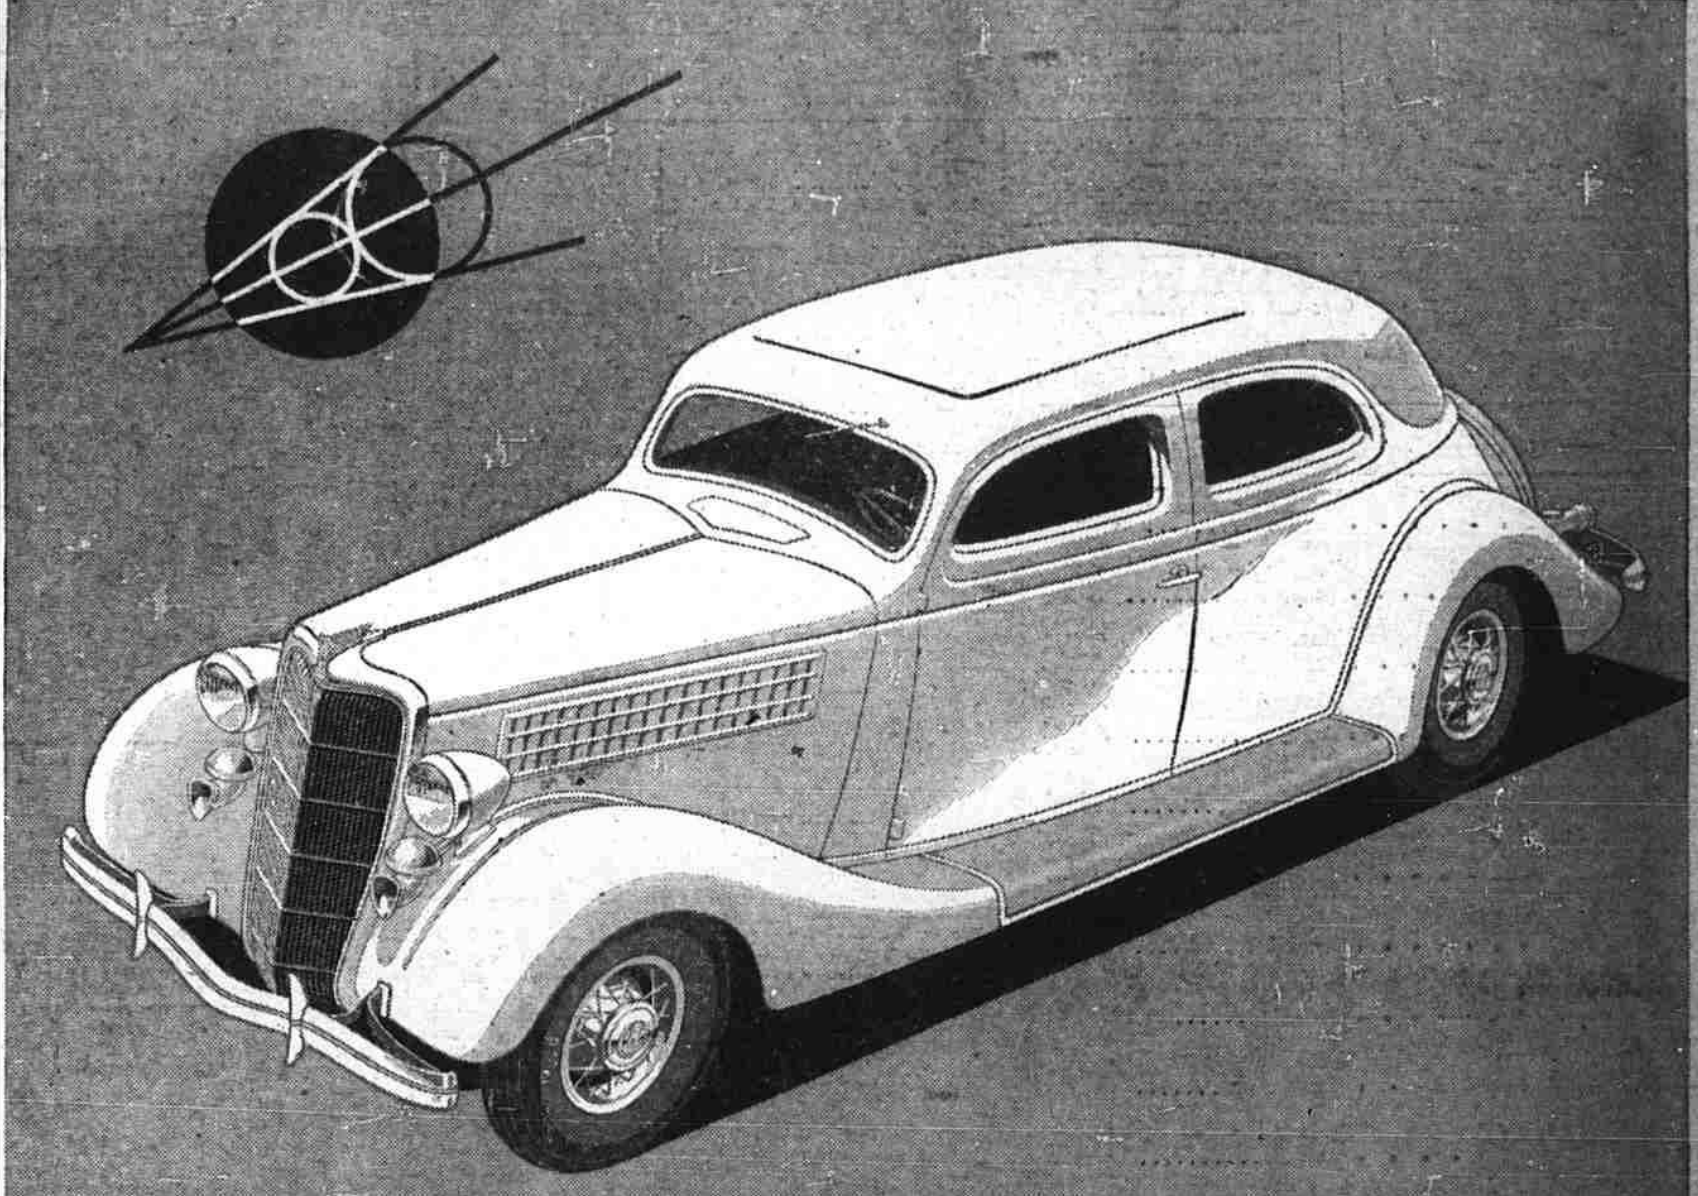

A lot of Alabama people have passed through here in the past few days, headed for Pasadena and the Rose Bowl to see their Crimson Tide in action against Stanford New Years. The Alabama fans seem pretty confident, and we're tempted to string along with them—not to the Rose Bowl, but with them in their idea of a winner. Alabama has a team classy enough to do it.

Horace White's Forsan basketball team broke even in a three-game series at Meadows this week. The Forsan team won the first game by a one point margin, lost the second by one point, and then won the third and deciding game by two points.

Looking several months ahead—It is noted that at least three cities in the Texas league could each muster a team of players under contract or reserve if they were called upon to do so at this stage. While there is no likelihood of such an emergency, it is interesting to study the situation. A survey of the circuit by Fred Mosebach of San Antonio showed that San Antonio, lacking only a center fielder to replace Pid Purdy, sold to Oklahoma City, could place a team of full playing strength on the field, and that Dallas and Tulsa could do the same thing. Tulsa leads the field with 24 players available; Dallas follows, with 21 on the list, and San Antonio is third, with 12 players on the reserve list and two young southpaw pitchers coming up for trial, one of which is a Big Spring boy.

THE NEW FORD V-8 FOR 1935

The New Ford V-8 for 1935 is the biggest and roomiest Ford car ever built. It is a strikingly handsome car, with modern lines and new, luxurious appointments.

But most important of all it is designed to give you smooth, easy riding over all kinds of roads—"a front-seat ride for back-seat riders."

This ease of riding is achieved by the use of three basic principles never before combined in a low-price car.

1. Correct distribution of car weight by moving engine and body forward eight and a half inches.

2. New location of seats, with rear seat moved forward, toward the center of the car—away from the rear axle and away from the bumps.

3. New spring suspension which permits the use of longer, more flexible springs and increases the spring-base to 123 inches.

The result is Center-Poise—which not only gives you a new riding comfort but adds to the stability of the car and its ease of handling. You can take curves with greater safety.

There are many new features in the Ford V-8 for 1935 which make the car still easier to drive.

INTRODUCED TOMORROW A New Ford V-8 That Brings New Beauty, New Safety, and a New Kind of Riding Comfort Within Reach of Millions of People

New brakes give more power for stopping quickly with far less foot pressure on the pedal. A new easy-pressure clutch employs centrifugal force to increase efficiency at higher speeds. New steering mechanism makes the car still easier to handle.

The New Ford V-8 for 1935 retains the V-8 engine which has demonstrated its dependability and economy in the service of more than a million owners. There are refinements—including crankcase ventilation, cast alloy steel crankshaft and copper-lead floating connecting-rod bearings—but no change in basic design. You buy premium performance when you buy this Ford V-8—full 85 horsepower and capable of 80 miles an hour.

Other 1935 Ford features are Safety Glass throughout in all body types at no extra cost. New welded all-steel bodies. New wider rear doors. (Front doors hinged forward.) New lower double-channel X-type frame. (Makes it easier to get in and out of the car.)

Rich, modern body colors, including a new gun-metal finish of striking beauty on De Luxe body types. Luxurious new upholstery and appointments.

New, wider pillowed seats and softer seat cushions. (Front seats are 4 to 5 1/2 inches wider.) Clear-Vision Ventilation, with adjustable cowl ventilator and a windshield that opens. Combination fuel and oil gage and heat indicator on new, modern instrument board of the De Luxe body types.

The spring leaves are tapered for quiet as well as flexibility. Larger tires have a new, wider tread, specially designed for safety and comfort. Bodies are insulated for quiet and temperature.

We invite you to see this New Ford V-8 at the showrooms of Ford dealers. You will want to ride in it—to drive it yourself. You will find it a new experience in motoring.

TEXAS TOPICS

By Raymond Brooks

The unofficial title adopted for himself by Tom F. Hunter, "the people's lobbyist," has been adapted officially to the naming of a people's lobby in a bill drawn at the direction of the senate tax survey committee.

This bill designates the state tax commissioner, the attorney general and the state auditor, to sit in with and advise legislative committees on all pending tax measures.

Its establishment will contribute materially, senators were confident, to efficiency and constructive policy in tax legislation.

Albert Sidney Johnson of Dallas, J. A. R. Moseley Jr. of Texarkana and J. R. Parton of Houston are looked upon as among the limited field from which Gov. James V. Allred will name three regents of the University of Texas. Maj. Parton's appointment is regarded as certain. The other two, both young lawyers and Texas exes, are regarded as being among the three or four with the best prospects of selection to these places so much coveted by graduates of the university.

Mr. Johnson formerly was secretary of the democratic state executive committee, and a leading figure in the Ferguson and Sterling ballot cases before supreme court. Mr. Moseley, World war veteran, was for several years a law partner of Cong. Wright Patman, and has served as United States commissioner at Texarkana. He received his law degree in 1921.

Unofficial reports indicate the incoming administration's public utility regulation bill, now in the process of being drafted, will be so thorough and so far-reaching that it may become the model of pattern for legislative consideration in the other states which, like Texas, so far have achieved no effective regulation.

Terms of the bill have not been announced but this measure will circumvent the controversial issue that so far has dashed every effort to set up scientific utility control—that of dividing authority with a lot of other agencies, such as city councils. It is expected to embody very strongly centralized authority in a state agency. It has been a matter of much unofficial speculation whether the bill will by its terms set up a distinct agency for utility regulation, or will confer powers upon some existing agency.

By RAYMOND S. BROOKS
AUSTIN—If the legislature next month gets into the field of revising governmental agencies for greater correlation, simplicity and effectiveness, it will find that the state in the past has created both forms of widely divergent types of set-up.

Some law of the third form of agencies, the ex-officio board, and a further variation of a policy commission with a separate administrative official not responsible to it, as in the board of education and state superintendent.

As to the two main types, in one, the members of the commission are the executive officials for the work of the department. In the other, they simply outline policy and leave all administration to the executive officer, not a member of the commission.

The railroad commission, with elected members, is like the board of control, in that its members give full time to the state and are engaged in actual administration.

The highway commission, with the higher engineer as the executive head of the department, parallels precisely the city manager form of municipal government.

The Graves administrative code of two years ago proposed to unify the types of all agencies, even taking in constitutional officers as parts of appointive organisms to gain that singleness of type.

patron taxes on marble gambling machines involve the possibility of palatable decisions by two different courts, and the possibility of conflict in those decisions.

The opportunity of free and unlimited access to public expenses to the voters always appeals to someone in governmental affairs. Thus the Huey Long plan for a state radio system. Thus Texas lawmakers individually have advocated a Texas radio station in the capitol. In the bill to create a criminal identification bureau, this desire may show itself.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bell Wednesday returned to their home in Fort Worth after spending the holidays with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Squires and Mrs. Bell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Owen.

Exports from Russian Black Sea ports passing Istanbul during the first nine months of the current year registered an increase of 12 per cent compared with the corresponding period of 1933.

VAN HORN, Texas (UP)—There will be no knot hole fans to witness baseball games here next season. The high school athletic field will be enclosed with an adobe brick fence.
To enclose the field, which is 510 by 380 feet, with a seven and a half foot wall, CWA workers made 75,000 adobe bricks. They are slabs much larger than the usual commercial brick.

The Political Anvil

J. E. McDonald, Texas commissioner of agriculture, proposed a balanced farm program, based on unlimited acreage and price control, in his annual report, just completed. His plan has been evolved from his former support of state acreage-control proposals.
In his report, Commr. McDonald said:
"From my close knowledge of conditions surrounding the growing and marketing of agricultural products, I have evolved a plan which seems to meet all the requirements of a well-balanced, progressive farm program.
"That program includes the saving of soil from erosion, soil improvement through soil-building crops, permanent pastures, better stock, and the turning of all marginal land back to grasses and forest. A farm garden and an orchard are two things every farm should have."
"My plan does not limit the acreage planted on a farm to any crop, but it does provide a parity price for the amount of cotton or other crops produced for domestic consumption; the pro rata production to be sold at a parity price, and the remaining production to be sold at the world price.

"The parity price should be fixed by the United States government and provided for by a processing tax, or by other means. The world price would be governed by the law of supply and demand.
"This plan would give farmers a profitable price for their products sold for domestic consumption and at the same time make it possible to retain our export trade of raw agricultural products. It would undoubtedly bring prosperity to farmers, not only of Texas but of all the states.
"By giving farmers purchasing power, it would increase trade and reopen many factories now closed. It would take men out of the bread lines; it would bring a new deal and a new day for agriculture which has so long been neglected by those who make our laws.
"It is the only plan I know that would give the farmers a remunerative price for their products raised for domestic consumption, and at the same time retain our export or foreign trade in our surplus farm productions.
"I have presented this plan upon occasions such as conventions of agricultural commissioners of other cotton states. In conferences

SPORT SLANTS by Pap

BUSY BEARS—BY PAP

A review of the sports of the past year reveals how strongly professional football has taken hold. The National Pro Football League had a chance to function and as a result the game drew far more at the gate than even the most optimistic soul dared predict. Professional football fits very nicely into the fall sports picture.

Today the league is established as the major leagues of football. Ridding the field of many wildcat pro football adventurers and banding reputable owners together in an organized league has done much to make the game popular.

Changes in the rules, principally in freeing the forward pass, have given the game a wide appeal. Moving the goal posts back to the goal line has added the thrill of frequent attempts to kick goal.

But the important reason for the success of the pro football league is that its officials have seen fit to profit by the experience of the major leagues in baseball.

Rules must be enforced regardless where the lightning may strike. The decision of the football league officials barring the transfer of Warren Heller from the Pirates to the Giants late in the season after Harry Newman had been injured did much to instill a feeling of confidence in the ruling powers. It was a wise and timely move that made many new followers for the pro game.

Sane judgment in the granting of franchises will help much. Only cities with proved ability to support a club have been enlisted thus far. The league hopes to avoid the error major league baseball officials made in permitting two major league clubs to operate in a city hardly able to support a single team—St. Louis, for example.

The National Football league is in much the same position as the National Baseball league found itself some 35 years ago.

With the success of the league has come the clamor for an American Football league, patterned along the lines of the junior major baseball league.

When the American Baseball league was proposed as another major league the idea was frowned on by many. Yet it proved to be a lifesaver for baseball, for it made possible the greatest of sports classics—the world series.

There is no reason why it couldn't work out the same way for pro football, for the partisan followers of each league would welcome an opportunity to see the league champions meet after the close of the regular season in a football world series.

"Bronko" Nagurski, backfield star of the Chicago Bears, was asked to name some requirements for success in the present pro loop.

"Be plenty big and strong—and love to play football," he replied. Small light men, he felt, do not fit into the scheme of things, no matter how clever they may be.

Sooner or later some of the big men will land on them—and that means a stay in the hospital.

The Political Anvil

A veteran of much legislative experience will return to the Texas house Jan. 8, when Former Rep. Alfred Petch of Fredericksburg is sworn in again. He comes back after a two-year interval, during which the district was represented by Rodo Holekamp, independent, one of the two men who served in that session not elected as democratic candidates.

While the house thus gains back a former leader, it will lose one of its most effective members, in the recent election of Rep. Gordon Burns of Huntsville to the senate to fill out a two-year unexpired term.

Four other former members, who did not serve in the 43rd will come back to the 44th legislature. These are: B. E. Quinn of Beaumont; Mrs. Helen B. Moore of Texas City; C. E. Egan of Fort Worth, and J. J. Olson of Yoakum.

The 11 new members who will take seats in the senate are: Gordon M. Burns, Huntsville; Clay Cotten, Palestine; E. M. Davis, Brownwood; Joe Hill, Henderson; Wallace Houston, McKinney; Weaver Moore, Houston; Jim Neal, Miranda city, Allan Shivers, Port Arthur; L. J. Sulak, La Grange; O. R. Van Zandt, Toga; and Claud C. Westerland, Dallas.

Though the incoming Lieut. Gov. Walter F. Wood of Houston has served long with the 20 hold-over and re-elected senators, the newcomers have felt reassured that they will not be overlooked in the assignment of committee chairmanships, vice-chairmanships and memberships.

Rarely does the same senator return to a chief committee chairmanship. Rather, these coveted places are rotated among the membership. There is no particular probability that any present chairman will again head the same committee. Thus it is not improbable that Sen. T. J. Holbrook, now head of the finance committee, may be chosen for state affairs, and Sen. Will D. Pace, for instance, named finance chairman. These two committees, those on labor, civil and criminal jurisprudence are among the ranking ones of the senate.

Those who complain of the constant danger that big-city membership shall dominate the Texas house of representatives and keep on a steady contest between the city and rural members, will find the house speakership race this year between two small-city men, the present Speaker Stevenson of Junction, and Rep. Bob Calvert of Hillbrook. This in fact it was two years ago, when A. P. Johnson of Carrizo Springs opposed Stevenson for the office. But for two decades, three out of four speakers

It was a merry Christmas for Coach "Tiny" Thornhill (left) of Stanford university's football team, when Bob Grayson (right), all-American back, injured in the game with California, turned in his brace and crutches and received in return a football, signifying that he is ready to play against Alabama in the Rose Bowl game New Year's day at Pasadena. SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (UP)—Tall, thin, 13-year-old Marguerite White Tate found that even a marriage certificate won't exempt her from going to school, at least for a while. After the young bride had "played hooky" to go honeymooning for a week, truancy officers told the 21-year-old bridegroom, DeWard Tate, that she must attend until she is 16 or passes the eighth grade.

HILL CITY, S. D. (UP)—Resumption of activities at the Golden Slipper shaft is expected shortly, following announcement that the pit is unwatered. The mine has not been operated for 30 years. Ore bodies were assayed at various levels during unwatering, when water poured out at 1,000 gallons a minute. A crew of 50 will be added to the present staff.

Customs Between Girls And Romance

HOUSTON (UP)—Custom stands between Nicaraguan girls and romance, according to Miss Navas Sacasa, 28, niece of the president, Dr. Juan Sacasa.

She visited Houston en route to Los Angeles from New Orleans where she has been studying English.

"We want love, like American girls, but the custom, oh no—they make it so hard," she said.

"Always we never go with one boy alone at night. Our sister or a girl friend always come, too. Daytimes, it's different. We can even see a boy alone at home."

The girls copy actresses they see in Hollywood movies and try to act like Garbo, Mariens Dietrich and Joan Crawford.

"And if the boys were only like Warren William!" she exclaimed.

Civic leaders of Georgia and Florida are sponsoring a movement to build a scenic highway through picturesque Oketinkoos swamp.

OIL NOTES

John I. Moore, et al No. 1 McDowell, Glascock county ordovician test, is occupying the spotlight here now. Reported to be down to about 8,000 feet, it is said to be encountering some favorable changes in formations. Last week rumors had it that perhaps the test had encountered the lower ordovician.

Originally contract depth was 7,500 feet. After drilling to this depth and failing to encounter the ordovician series, another 1,000 feet was added to the contract depth. Thursday only about 200 feet of this added depth remained to be drilled.

Word comes that the Nixon and Richards No. 1 Capps-Lucas in extreme eastern Howard county is to be abandoned. It is said to have had a hole full of water at 3,100 feet. The test was a completion of the hole originally started by the old Permian and Pacific company.

has an interlocking membership with the Building Trades. Frey did NOT invite McDonough to the meeting.

John Gosfield promptly withdrew the militant plume from the Metal Trades department. The sheet metal workers and others are lining up to follow suit.

Coeffield went further. He served notice on Green, Frey and the others it was war to the finish.

Laughter— It was Coeffield who took the floor at the A. F. of L. annual convention in San Francisco last October and unconvincingly defended the earlier action of the Building Trades department in refusing to take in the carpenters, bricklayers and electrical workers.

The plumbers' president charged then and now, that these three unions padded the membership rolls in order to gain the necessary voting strength to wrest control of the department from McDonough and the smaller unions.

He pointed out that the bricklayers claimed an increase of 35,000 members at a time employment in the building trades was off 80 per cent.

The building trades row first started when the NRA construction code was being formulated. Although not members of the department, the carpenters, bricklayers and electrical workers sat in at the invitation of McDonough.

It was decided to set up a Planning and Adjustment board to settle all jurisdictional disputes, the men to remain at work pending arbitration efforts.

What caused the Big Three to decide they had better rejoin the department, however, was a further provision that all preliminary negotiations would be handled by the Code Authority, who is Sullivan W. Jones, former New York State Architect, and the President of the Building Trades department—who is, or was, McDonough.

Can you hear the employers laughing?

Movement— Our transportation facilities—land, air and water—expect to be consolidated under a single directing agency of the federal government at the coming session of congress.

Secretary of Commerce Dan

Roper is very much behind the idea of placing control of all forms of transportation in the hands of a single body. In fact, it's his one special baby so far as action at the coming session is concerned.

Safety— The American Telephone & Telegraph company has one thing to be thankful for at this holiday season, if nothing else.

Congressional investigations and disclosures during the last year have reminded big business executives once more of the cardinal principle of personal safety—don't put anything in writing unless it is perfectly innocuous or absolutely necessary.

If you could take a peep at the phone company's private records you would find that long-distance business has boomed out of proportion even to the new and cheaper facilities. Corporations aren't writing letters at the moment which may bob up later in the hands of an industrious congressional investigator to confound them. It's expensive but less embarrassing in the long run.

When things are particularly hot, calls are made from pay phone to pay phone. This avoids any possible wire-tapping and associated headaches.

NEW YORK By JAMES MCMULLIN Homes— New York insiders say that Uncle Sam will not succeed in his effort to retire from the real estate business by the simple expedient of shutting off applications for home owners' loans. They predict to the contrary he will find himself in it up to the ears before he gets through.

Home Owners' Loan Corporation officials know what grief means. The high proportion of defaults—due largely to amortization requirements—has put them on a thankless spot. Their mission being to save homes they obviously can't go in for foreclosures. Their only alternative is to hold the bag financially for a growing number of delinquent properties. It's a case of having a panther by the tail and not being able to let go. This was an important factor in the curtailment of the H.O.L.C. activities.

The present situation leaves nobody happy. Hard-pressed home owners find the relief they were supposed to get illusory. In some cases inefficient administration of local agencies has actually permitted foreclosure of theoretically protected properties for state or municipal taxes. The banks are not interested in taking over—and the government is stuck for heavy losses that may never be repaid.

Banks— The final answer to this involved riddle isn't yet in sight. The steel industry is gradually organizing to press for a more effective easing of their burdens. Some informed sources believe the government will eventually be forced to go much further into the field of refinancing private mortgages—but not on any 9% plus amortization bases. There are experts who figure the interest rate must be carved to 2 1/2% and at least 40 years allowed for retirement of principal—if the administration is in earnest about saving homes. Distressed debtors find the New York State mortgage moratorium is a rather painful joke on them. They can't be foreclosed for non-payment of principal but they can be—and are—for default of interest and taxes. That's about all that England, France and the U. S. are chasing each other in circles. France claims she can't enter into an agreement until the dollar and pound are set and we can't while the pound is footloose and the franc tied to a deflationary standard. Someone has to top the merry-go-round before the necessary readjustments can be made. Inside betting is that we'll be the ones to do it—perhaps by reviving the embargo on gold—unless the thread that holds France to gold breaks pretty soon.

Steel— Statistics indicate that Senator Borah and others who criticized the steel code for giving the big companies all the breaks were shooting at the wrong target. U. S. Steel has 40% of the industry's production capacity but is getting less than 28% of the current business.

The independents have also made a better relative showing on earnings since the code went into effect. This is partly due to the fact that they go in more for the lighter products which have been in demand. Big steel stands to gain more than its rivals when the market for heavy stuff revives.

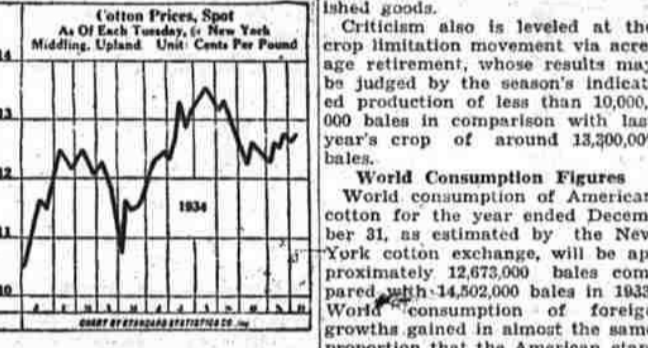

Circles— Neville Chamberlain's statement that the British can't stabilize the pound while the dollar and franc are out of balance draws banking comment that England, France and the U. S. are chasing each other in circles. France claims she can't enter into an agreement until the dollar and pound are set and we can't while the pound is footloose and the franc tied to a deflationary standard. Someone has to top the merry-go-round before the necessary readjustments can be made. Inside betting is that we'll be the ones to do it—perhaps by reviving the embargo on gold—unless the thread that holds France to gold breaks pretty soon.

Plain— The hullabaloo about allowing office partners of Stock Exchange firms to serve as Exchange governors leaves informed observers cold. Comment runs that it's usually the

Stability For Cotton Industry Is Seen Nearer In 1934 Moves

By BERNARD S. O'HARA (Associated Press Financial Writer) NEW YORK (AP)—If statistical indices are a good yardstick, it appears that the cotton industry in 1934 made measurable progress toward the long sought goal of stability. Supply has been brought into better balance with consumption, and the price of the staple, depressed below the cost of production, for the major part of the depression period in some two cents a pound higher than it was at the beginning of the year, although well shaded by the August peak level of 13.85 cents a pound for New York spot fiber.

Trade observers agree that the apparent improvement in the industry's financial position is closely linked with the broad powers assumed by the government over production and prices. Some criticism, too. Some of them, it is true, have found fault with what they declare

Preparations Made For Final Work-Out

GREENVILLE, (AP)—Amarillo's Golden Standstom moved in on Greenville today and will be bivouacked at a local hotel until Saturday morning when they go to Dallas for their state championship schoolboy grid clash with Corpus Christi's Buccaneers.

Twenty-eight players and Coaches Elsie Cherry and Howard Lynch and Dr. Guy Owens, team physician, arrived today.

The Sandies went through a long workout at Phillips Field, home of the Greenville Lions, 1933 champions, today. Much of the session was devoted to perfecting a defense against Buccaneer plays, with special attention to the stopping of the brilliant Charlie Haas, triple-threat star of the Pirates.

Coach Cherry reported all of his men in condition except Sullivan, Ragland center, who is nursing an injured leg. He said, however, that Sullivan probably would start Saturday.

Coach Cherry said Amarillo's starting lineup would average about 170 pounds. Local fans, accustomed to fancy high school football, were impressed with the apparent wealth of reserve strength the Sandstom showed.

CORPUS CHRISTI HOLDS LIGHT, SNAPPY WORKOUT HOUSTON, (AP)—Corpus Christi's Buccaneers, carrying the hopes of all South Texas into the state Interscholastic League football finals, stopped here today enroute to Dallas for the titular clash with the Amarillo Golden Sandies Saturday.

Twenty-three football players, Coaches Bobby Cannon, Raymond Berry and Roy Kniep, Student Manager Calvin Coch, Sports Editor Vic Cook of the Corpus Christi Caller-Times and two mascots make up the official party.

The team went through a light snappy workout at Rice Field, the scene of their 34 to 14 triumph over the Greenville Lions last week, and spent the night here.
