Here is the second of the series of "Mystery Farm" photos being published by The Herald, and one of those made by a special aerial photographer over the Big Spring area. Neither the cameraman nor The Herald knows the identity of the pictures, so readers are invited to help name the owner-operator of this place. The first person to give The Herald correct identification will receive two free passes to the Big Spring theatres. Just phone, drop by the office, or mail your selection. The owner of the farm also is urged to come to The Herald office. He, too, will receive two free theatre tickets, and a mounted photo of his farm. The first "Mystery Farm" was identified quickly, last week by Mrs. Dorothy Taylor. That picture, with a story about the farm, appears on Page 9.

Ike Expresses 'Confidence' In German Stand

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today he has the utmost confidence that West Germany's Chancellor Adenauer will stand by the Western world in any dealings with Soviet Russia. Eisenhower volunteered the remark at his news conference in taking note of Moscow's bid for establishment of diplomatic trade relations with the newly sovereign republic of Western Germany. The Kremlin yesterday invited Adenauer to visit Moscow to discuss those matters.

French actress Nicole Maury says American men are even more polite than her countrymen. She says on Page 4 that no one can beat a Frenchman for politeness when he wants to make love to a girl, but "to the American, courtesy is an everyday concern."

Body Unclaimed After Execution

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—There was nobody to claim the body today of the man death house guards called their "strangest prisoner." He was William Henry Meyer, 65, who died at 12:06 a.m. in the electric chair for the murder of his daughter. One of the oldest men ever to be executed in Texas, Meyer went to his death as an unrepentant as he was unwanted, witnesses said.

His wife's claim in a divorce petition that he hit her with a rock was untrue, Meyer said. To a claim that he struck her with a chair, he said: "I don't remember that, but I did slap her a little." Only one person—a brother-in-law—visited Meyer during his long wait for death. Last night relatives told prison officials they did not want his body sent home. "I was married 43 years," Meyer told a reporter yesterday. "I had hell for 42 of them."

Reich Parties Urge Adenauer Moscow Visit

BONN, Germany (AP)—Three West German political parties urged Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today to accept an invitation to visit Moscow to discuss "normalization of relations" between the Kremlin and Bonn. They were the Free Democrats and Refugees, members of the Adenauer government coalition, and the opposition Socialists. A session of the Bundestag was suspended for an hour so that deputies could caucus on the startling Moscow bid. The Free Democrats, second biggest coalition party, afterward issued a statement that Adenauer had "no choice" but to accept the invitation.

Wildcat Walkouts Plague Ford, GM As Negotiations Continue

DETROIT (AP)—Wildcat walkouts cut deeply into production today at both the Ford Motor Co., which has settled with the CIO United Auto Workers, and at General Motors Corp., which has not. The situation changed from hour to hour, but a late count showed more than 52,000 idle at the far-flung plants of the auto industry's two biggest producers at some time during the past few hours. Ford settled with the UAW Monday on a history-making three-year contract giving Ford's 140,000 employees a modified guaranteed wage plan. General Motors was to resume negotiations today with the UAW and was reported readying a fresh offer.

GM workers were in the Cleveland area. About 15,000 of the company's total of 20,000 there were affected. GM's Chevrolet plant at Parma, Ohio, was closed yesterday. Today the walkouts spread to the Fisher Body Coit Road plant and its station wagon plant at nearby Euclid. The Fisher workers started going back a short time later. Two Cleveland area Ford plants had hardly returned to production when the GM stoppages hit.

Wildcat strikers at the Fisher plant in Cincinnati were ordered back to work today or face dismissal. That walkout forced the shutdown of the nearby Chevrolet plant. Eisenhower also discussed these other topics: MANPOWER RESERVE — The President spoke out emphatically against a pending anti-segregation amendments to administration legislation to create a new military manpower reserve program. Such an amendment was tacked onto the bill in the House and the action caused the measure to be sidetracked a few weeks ago. Eisenhower said he is hopeful the Senate will be able to take the initiative on the bill if the stalemate in the House cannot be broken.

CAR-PLANE COMBO Wingless Craft Test Scheduled

EMPORIA, Va. (AP)—Charles Pritchard, a railroad engineer by profession, is set to try out Friday a wingless aircraft he developed because he remembers "once when I had to walk five miles from an airport to town." A mile-long runway at Emporia airport will be the scene of the test by Pritchard, who says he's worked "to develop something like this for 10 years for air travel and highway travel."

The initial test flight will be tried under the supervision of P. R. Steinman of Richmond, aviation safety agent for the Civil Aeronautics Administration. Government officials also are scheduled to be on hand. Pritchard, an assistant chief foreman for the Virginia Railroad who also is a licensed pilot with about 600 hours of flying time, explained his aluminum craft has been designed as a combination aircraft-car.

It looks something like a plane minus the wings. The "rocket air ship" as Pritchard calls it—is 21 feet long, 88 inches wide and weighs about 800 pounds. He figures the craft can be taxied on roadways. The body of the plane is made entirely of aluminum. Each side has baffles or fins of varying length. From a technical standpoint, Pritchard points out the fins "hold air in the proper channel over the hull of the ship to give the hull its lift."

Solons Approve Gas Exemption

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Commerce Committee voted 16-15 today to exempt natural gas producers from federal regulation. The vote was on a motion to report favorably to the House a bill by Rep. Harris (D-Ark) to remove Federal Power Commission control over producers' prices for gas sold to interstate pipelines.

Oil Field Equipment Theft Is Checked

Around $900 worth of tools and other equipment was stolen from the Newsom Brothers Drilling Company late Monday or early Tuesday, authorities reported today. The gear was taken from an idle rig on the "Simmons lease" about 10 miles northwest of Big Spring. Among the items taken were batteries, cables, jacks, tongs and a cutting torch.

Six Are Sent For Army Inductions

Six area boys left this morning for the induction center in Abilene, according to Mrs. Louise Nuckolls of Local Draft Board No. 71. The boys are James Harold Knight, John Gladstone MacFriedies, Willy Jess McKeehan, Susano Y. Landero, James Morgan Morris, and Raymond Vest Wilson. Howard, Martin and Mitchell counties are served by the local board.

Steelworkers Take Demands To Two Firms

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The CIO United Steelworkers Union carried its demands for a sizable wage increase to two more of the nation's largest basic steel producers today. Union President David J. McDonald continued in personal charge of negotiations as the USW brought its wage requests before officials of Bethlehem Steel Corp. and the Republic Steel Corp. Bethlehem and Republic are the nation's second and third largest steel makers respectively.

British Rail Strike Efforts In High Gear

LONDON (AP)—Efforts to end Britain's paralyzing railway strike moved into high gear today as the nation's booming industry approached a "crisis weekend" of short supplies. Sir Brian Robertson, chairman of the British Transport Commission which runs the state-owned railways, agreed to meet leaders of the 67,000 striking locomotive engineers and firemen for the first time since the walkout began 11 days ago.

State Accepts Freeway Papers

Freeway deeds, easements and access agreements were to be turned over to the State Highway Department this afternoon for the road project in eastern Howard County. Ben Wilkinson, resident engineer for the department, was to secure the easements from County Judge R. H. Weaver. Transfer of the right-of-way to the Highway Department will clear the way for completion of freeway construction in the county.

Schools Merger Being Completed

Consolidation of the Lomax Common School District of Howard County and the Stanton Independent School District was being completed today. Judge R. H. Weaver signed the consolidation order for Howard County and Judge J. H. McCoy of Stanton was expected to sign the Martin County order today. McCoy was due here this afternoon for a conference with Weaver.

Legislature Forms Committee To Continue Land Office Probe

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas' General Land Office, storm center of veterans land program troubles, faces still more legislative investigation. The House made sure of that yesterday before the Legislature finally adjourned. A House General Investigating Committee was set up and specifically instructed to conduct such a probe, including taking a look at leasing of tidelands by the school land board. The Senate also set up a general investigating committee, empowered to undertake any inquiries it deems proper but left unintrusted as to any specific areas.

Supercarrier Delivery Expected Late In 1955

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy expects delivery of the 60,000-ton supercarrier Forrestal late this year—the first of five ships of that class to cost an estimated $73 million dollars.

Bids To Be Taken On Cargo Planes

WICHITA FALLS (AP)—The Air Force will ask bids June 24 on 19 YC-125, tri-motor aircraft, it was announced today. The experimental cargo planes, valued at more than $5 million dollars, are now at Sheppard Air Force Base here. Pete W. Hogan, base disposal agent, said the planes could be inspected for 45 days after June 24 and bids submitted.

School Aids—As in the case of the manpower reserve bill, Eisenhower said he sees no justification for trying to tack anti-segregation amendments to such legislation. Congress should have the right, he added, to act on such programs without having to consider what he termed amendments which becloud the issue.

Legislature Forms Committee To Continue Land Office Probe

Committee recommended that the probe keep going under an interim committee. "The program has not been exhaustively investigated," the report said in part. It excused Gov. Allan Shivers and Atty. Gen. John Ben Sheppard, members of the Veterans Land Board, for not knowing of irregularities in the program administered by board chairman Bascom Giles before he stepped down as land commissioner last Jan. 1. "The members of the board could not have, in the normal course of their duties, discovered from the files and records, any evidence or indication that fraud was being practiced against the State of Texas," said the report, adding: "In this connection, any fraud which might cause a loss to the state could only arise through an over-appraisal of land purchased by the state for re-sale to veterans under the program."

Delays In Making Vaccine Explained

WASHINGTON (AP)—Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele confirmed last night that it probably will not be possible to inoculate all children aged 1 through 49 against polio this summer, as originally hoped.

"Making and testing vaccine is a difficult and delicate process," Scheele said in a nationwide radio-television report on the Salk vaccine situation. "You cannot make viruses meet deadlines. You cannot force scientific work to meet dates on a calendar. And it must be kept in mind that the entire process of manufacturing a batch of vaccine takes about 90 days.

"This is a reason why we can give you no precise estimates of how much vaccine will be available at any given time."

Stressing that the government policy is "safety, not speed, except as the latter is compatible with safety," Scheele told of the studies which led to adoption May 27 of revised manufacturing and testing standards.

He said these standards require some changes in the operating procedures of the six licensed vaccine producers, and continued:

"The manufacturers have assured me that they can and will produce vaccine under these requirements. But I want to make it clear that they will not be able to produce enough vaccine to immunize all children this summer."

A Public Health Service spokesman said that in speaking of "children," Scheele referred to the 1-19 age group. He said there had been nothing to indicate a change in President Eisenhower's May 31 statement that there will be enough vaccine to give the prescribed two shots to all first and second graders in the free inoculation program before the peak of the polio season in August.

Expressing anew his confidence in the safety and effectiveness of the Salk vaccine, Scheele said that there will be scattered local epidemics, and some may be severe.

Scheele and Dr. James A. Shannon, associate director of the National Institutes of Health, yesterday told the American Medical Assn. at Atlantic City, N. J., that manufacturers had not sent the government originally their records, as well as those of good ones, that the government learned of some of the difficulties the laboratories were having.

Both men ducked questions as to whether the government had, or should have, asked for the records on bad batches which the manufacturers threw out. "That will come out later," Scheele said.

Introducing Scheele on the broadcast, Secretary of Welfare Hobby said scientific processes are often hard for the layman to understand, but that people should make the effort "so that we can be intelligent in making decisions about our children."

Solons Go Home; Water Bill Fails

AUSTIN (AP)—Members of the 54th Legislature went home today with the session's No. 1 issue—a long-range water program—sacrificed in a no-compromise clash of ideas between the House and Senate.

There was no final vote in either branch of the dying Legislature yesterday on an effort to reconcile fatal differences over the 100-million dollar bond issue. Final adjournment came while House members bitterly blamed the Senate for the session's biggest flop.

Gov. Allan Shivers, who listed the water plan as the session's foremost problem, said he was disappointed because the Legislature did not submit the question to a vote of the people. He mixed sharp criticism and praise in his summary of the session's work.

"It accomplished about 85 percent of the job and I think that is a good batting average," the governor said. "On the whole I think this has been one of the best and most constructive sessions of the Legislature in recent history."

On the negative side, Shivers said he regretted an adequate system of adult parole and probation supervision was not established. He also called attention to "considerable personal bitterness and too much political horseplay." Then he added:

"A majority of the members of the Legislature have discharged their duties sincerely and honestly and should be praised in spite of the errors of a few of their colleagues."

Rivalling water as the top issue was finances—taxing and spending. The session that ended on its 148th day, 28 payless days past the constitutionally-suggested limit, solved the tax problem by voting a 98 million dollar two-year bill to support highways and general spending. It voted a record-breaking 1½ billion dollar spending bill to carry on and increase many state services.

The Legislature also tackled and pinned down a long list of other tough problems. Shivers, commending the lawmakers for a "job well done," put it this way:

"It has made notable progress in a number of fields, including insurance reforms, hospital improvements, public welfare and public health, and necessary financing for highways, old-age pensions and education."

The session also gave Shivers the more stringent labor laws he had asked for, tightened up regulations on sale of insurance and other securities, gave local school districts more latitude in taxation to provide classroom space, wiped out the cross-filing law enacted two years ago, and restored the old system of marking ballots by scratching the names of candidates disapproved by the voters.

It authorized continuing investigations of land office and other state affairs, and investigation of local school rows such as recent disputes at Irving and Houston. These will come in the interim between the session just closed and the 55th in 1957.

The 100 million dollar water bond proposal failed when the House and Senate could not agree on how to finance it. The Senate wanted and stuck with a statewide property tax of 3 cents per $100 valuation, and an appointive board of six members to administer the program. The money would have been used for local water-saving plans.

DATE DATA

By Beverly Brandow

Getting Second Date

How can you make a fellow want to "come back for more" and still maintain your dignity as "a nice girl"?

That first date is as self-conscious and unnatural as a Fifth Avenue model caught on a buflisque runway. He may be grand and you may like him a lot and want to see more of him in the future, but you can't forget that you're on trial.

He's sizing you up and trying to decide whether he ever wants to ask you out again. Unconsciously perhaps, he's submitting you to a lot of tests to find out what sort of a person you really are. There are girls who will and those who won't. He knows it, and you may think you're out with an octopus until he gathers enough data to classify you.

A little hand holding in the movie or a brief kiss at your door may seem insignificant enough, particularly if you like him and he's given you a marvelous time. However, is it just enough to get yourself blacklisted in his little black book? With some fellows it is.

One sure thing you know; it's a rare iceberg who ever gets her man.

Fascinating, but illusive; that's your role. Be warm, interested, and abundantly friendly, but still just out of reach. If you can make a fellow feel he has gotten to first base, even though you have denied him tangible evidence of it, he won't get discouraged.

It's the genuineness of your personality and the thoughtful sincerity of your voice that counts most—even more than the touch of your lips on his.

You can let him know he's not a floperoo by hinting at future togetherness. "You must show me that dance step sometime." "I have a book on do-it-yourself hobbies. Would you like to borrow it?"

When your brain gets in gear you'll think of loads of such come-ons that are indefinite and do not suggest a date and yet let the fellow know you'd be receptive to a return engagement.

Boys much prefer to achieve your special favors than to be given them too freely.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

Round boat of ancient type being used to take melons across Tigris River.

The country called Irak is far from being a leader, but there was a time when it was at the top. Then it was known as Babylonia, and was equal, or about equal, to Egypt in civilization.

The name "Irak" also has the spelling of "Iran." It is pronounced "ee-rahk," or "ib-RACK."

Q. Is it true that Irak contains the oldest city in the world?

A. We may better say that Irak contains the REMAINS of a city which MAY have been founded earlier than any other city known today.

The city to which I refer had the name of Ur, and some scholars believe that it was founded 6,000 years ago. At about that time, the course of the Euphrates River is believed to have changed. Ur (which had stood beside the river) lost its trade.

Q. When did the life of Ur, as city, come to an end?

A. Ur was attacked and captured by several kings. It seems to have lost its place as a city about 2,300 years ago. At about that time, the course of the Euphrates River is believed to have changed. Ur (which had stood beside the river) lost its trade.

Q. When were the remains of Ur discovered?

A. A mound existed on the site of Ur. About a century ago men dug into the mound, and started to find remains. It is only in the present century, however, that scientists (chiefly American) have learned important facts about this ancient city.

Q. Is it true that boats of ancient type are used in present-day Irak?

A. Yes, the people of that country still use large, rounded craft of a type employed thousands of years ago. Some of these are 15 feet wide, or more. They are paddled across rivers, carrying loads of goods, sometimes passengers.

The people of Irak also use goat-skins, which have been blown full of air, to support them while they swim or float on the river.

Gov. Clement Predicts Sweeping Democratic Victory In 1956

CHICAGO (AP)—Gov. Frank G. Clement of Tennessee predicts a sweeping Democratic victory in 1956 and says "I'm one Democratic governor who is going to support the party's nominee — whoever they are."

He told an estimated 2,340 diners at a $100-a-plate Democratic fund-raising banquet last night that President Eisenhower "prefers government by delegation of authority" and has shown "aloofness to the people."

The 35-year-old Tennessee governor told Chicago and Cook County Democratic organization workers and boosters that all local and regional elections since 1952 point to "a landslide victory on a national level for the Democratic party in 1956, and over anybody."

Another speaker in the spotlight as a possible 1956 candidate was Adlai E. Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee, who has not said whether he will run again.

Clement, referring to the former Illinois governor, said, "After Eisenhower, Stevenson." He departed from his prepared text to add: "Gov. Stevenson and I have never discussed what he's going to do. I've never asked him what he's going to do. And, he has never told me what he is going to do."

Clement said he believed Stevenson would win the presidency, if he runs.

Stevenson, asked by newsmen before the dinner if he cared to say anything about whether he would seek the presidency next year, replied: "Only this: that when I have anything further to say, I shall issue a written statement."

Stevenson, in a brief address at the dinner, lauded the accomplishments and appointments of Chicago's Democratic mayor, Richard J. Daley, who was elected in April. In his address Clement said Eisenhower "made his way to the White House from the soft exterior of American emotionalism . . . as a man aloof to the party that named him—a role his advisers think best to play today."

"Immediately there was a move to defy him politically."

Again departing from his text, he said: "I realize that some of you people think it is in poor taste to criticize the President of the United States. I respect your belief, but I'm here to talk about him Tennessee-style. I'll say that the rest of you can pussyfoot all you want, but I'm going to take him apart from one end to the other."

Clement has been mentioned by some party leaders as a possible vice-presidential candidate next year. However, he made no references as to his availability for the race.

Register Entry Stirs Argument

VENICE, Italy (AP)—On Aug. 27, in the year 1576, a clerk in the Parish of San Canciano scrawled an entry in his registry: "Messier Titiano painter died at one hundred and three years ill with fever."

For nearly four centuries the registry languished in the dust, unseen by scholars searching for facts about one of the world's great painters.

Now it is stirring a lively controversy. Does it prove that Titiano Vecellio—known as Tiziano—lived and worked with genius to the astonishing age of 102?

The old Venetian master was conceded to be astonishing enough before discovery of the supposedly authentic document. Most biographers have believed he was born in 1477 and died in 1576—at the age of 99. It has been one of the wonders of the art world that he was working on one of his masterpieces, the "Pieta," when he died.

Carlo Lotfi, of the Academy of Fine Arts of Venice, found the registry claiming that Tiziano actually was four years older than historians had thought. It "practically confirms," he said, that Tiziano was born in 1473 and not 1477.

"As far as the reading of the number one hundred and three," Lotfi added, "I didn't trust only my own eyes. I brought (the register) to the scrutiny of competent persons from the archives of Venice, and of Padua, and all agree in the reading one hundred and three."

Leonardo Borgese, Italian author and critic writing in Milan's Corriere d'Informazione, asked if the entry could be "a strange mistake of the registrar?"

'Radical' Elements Said Behind Shivers Protest

AUSTIN (AP)—A resolution charging that "radical elements" in California have demonstrated intolerance in their attitude toward Texas Gov. Allan Shivers was adopted by the House of Representatives Tuesday.

Minority objection was raised when Speaker Jim Lindsey asked if there were opposition to adding the names of all members of the House to the resolution. Of the 150 members, 108 went on record as wanting their names added. There was no record on how many opposed it.

The resolution was prompted by recent requests of student and faculty groups of the University of Southern California that the school cancel its invitation to Shivers to be commencement speaker. USC President Fred D. Fagg Jr. has turned down the requests.

The USC Student Senate adopted a resolution saying Shivers has consistently demonstrated lack of the ideals of tolerance, integrity and intelligence.

The resolution adopted by the House and sent to the Senate said

Shivers should be "commended" for his character, leadership, integrity, intelligence, tolerance, patience, honesty and courage.

"Certain radical elements in the State of California have demonstrated intolerance by protesting the idea of being allowed to listen to a great statesman whose personal political views do not happen to coincide with their own," the resolution continued.

Co-authors were Reps. Bill Heatley, Paducah; W. G. Kirklin, Odessa; Max Smith, San Marcos; and James Yancy, Houston.

Costly Party

TORONTO, Ont. (AP)—Two genial hosts were sentenced to a year in jail yesterday. James R. Nobbs, 23, and George Coates, 19, pleaded guilty to stealing 45 bottles of wine, 4 cases of beer, 20 pounds of butter, 133 cigars and 4 chickens from an inn. They said they carted the goods off in a truck and then invited friends for a party.

Diem Promises Viet Nam Victory

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Premier Ngo Dinh Diem pledged in a radio speech to the nation today to liberate west Viet Nam from rebellious armies of the Hoa Hao religious sect.

Diem said the national army's operations against troops of Hoa Hao Generals Tran Van Soal and Bacut were proceeding satisfactorily.

"The disintegration has begun and will continue in the days that follow," he declared.

Some 20,000 army troops launched an all-out offensive against Soal's force Sunday, hemming them into a 275-square-mile marshy triangle about 90 miles southwest of Saigon.

Soal's force originally was estimated at about 5,000 men. The government said yesterday about a third of this group had surrendered.

Bacut, whose name is Le Quang Vinh, has been attacking government forces farther to the west of Saigon. Government sources said yesterday the national army is stepping up its operations in that area also.

IT'S PERFORMANCE THAT COUNTS!

"My regular job is piloting a United Air Lines DC-7. On most of my flights we use Phillips 66 Aviation Gasoline. It's high-performance stuff, and one reason it's so good is Di-isopropyl.

"Phillips has started putting Di-isopropyl in automobile gasoline, too. They call it 'FLITE-FUEL' . . . and I use it regularly in my car. It gives wonderful performance!"

Accent on Higher Octane! Both new FLITE-FUEL and new Phillips 66 Gasoline have been fortified for increased power and higher octane. New FLITE-FUEL is the only gasoline to which is added the super aviation fuel component Di-isopropyl. And today's FLITE-FUEL is better than ever.

Accent on Long Mileage! Proven ability to deliver long mileage under all driving conditions is another reason why FLITE-FUEL has won new users at a record breaking rate. Prove it in your own car, with your own gas gauge.

Accent on Cleanliness! Today's new FLITE-FUEL and new Phillips 66 Gasoline are made with high purity natural gasoline components which burn clean. So they don't need an anti-fouling additive.

Of Time And Place—A Division

Geneva is a place of unpleasant memories for the U. S. diplomatic service. Last year a meeting of foreign ministers which the U. S. hadn't wanted to involve Red China and Indochina at all wound up at Geneva by not concerning much else, with the result that France folded up like a carpenter's rule and gave the Chinese Reds virtually everything they asked in Indochina.

So, for the "summit" meeting this summer, the U. S. was a little gunshy of Geneva as the locale, while the Soviet Union put in a demand for Vienna, which isn't yet quite neutral in spite of the latest Peace of Vienna. Nevertheless, the U. S. agreed with its Western allies last Saturday that Geneva was acceptable, and will so notify Russia this week.

Whether Russia agrees remains to be seen. The U. S. still wants a short meeting, three or four days, but Russia has already denounced that attitude as a typical capitalist trick. What Russia wants is a prolonged session during which she can indulge her usual propaganda antics, and a bottled session would certainly cramp her style. Why, in three-four days the Kremlin medicine men couldn't manage to throw more than a few dozen monkey-wrenches into the machinery of concord, nor call Uncle Sam more than a mere handful of opprobrious names.

What Russia wants is a propaganda circus, a chance to enhance her current "peace" offensive, by placing the West in general and the U. S. in particular in as many false lights as possible.

That has been her course at all previous meetings of the sort, and the time element is part and parcel of the Russian technique. The longer the session is drawn out the more propaganda the Communists can make.

If the upcoming session is like all the lower-level ones have been, it will be without its value to the West. It will have demonstrated once again the futility of trying to reach an understanding with Russia on a basis acceptable to the free world.

Delinquency Knows No Bounds

If you supposed the youth of the Soviet Union was so thoroughly indoctrinated in obedience that it seldom kicked over the traces, you'll have to revise your notion in light of news from the Communist utopia. According to reports from Russia, the Soviet Union's juvenile delinquency problem is doubled in spades.

Teen-age gangs abound, and some of the most effective leaders were schooled from the cradle in taking whatever orders were handed down from on high—children of good party wheelhorses who had been brought up under state supervision, and crammed with the doctrine that the state can do no wrong; that obedience is foremost. There are gang wars, beatings up of schoolmates for "snitching," vandalism and all the familiar rebellion of wild youth. It started after WW II, and has grown worse in the last two years.

Perhaps two factors account for the situation in Russia, which is acknowledged by the authorities and lectured in the newspapers. One is that Russian children are not taken out from under the disciplipline of the parents and largely trained by the state, but are taught to betray even their parents for any deviation from the Communist gospel. The other is that in a godless nation there is no spiritual force behind the discipline of youth.

Most Russian kids are thrown into some sort of organized regimentation from an early age, in which they are compelled to obey rigid rules, and to display at all times complete subservience to the state. Too much discipline can be as bad as none at all, as it builds up a spirit of revolt against the established order.

Conditions under which most Russian families live—three to five or more families in quarters built to accommodate only one—must be another factor in juvenile delinquency. In any case, conditions among the youth of Russia today must demonstrate that whatever the answer to juvenile delinquency may be, harsh state supervision and regimentation isn't it. Love, tenderness and understanding are more essential.

Comrade Khrushchev A Big Help To Our Side

In the interests of peace in our time and on our terms, I am all for petitioning the U. S. S. R. to send Communist boss Nikita S. Khrushchev on a good will tour of the world.

On his recent friendship visit to Marshal Tito and Yugoslavia, Comrade Khrushchev uncorked a very real and unsuspected talent for winning enemies and making foes wholesale. Nikita made it obvious that among the many books banned in Russia are those of Dale Carnegie and Emily Post.

Every time the Russian's No. 1 commissar opened his mouth, bats (bitch) flew out and his feet flew in. From the moment of his arrival in Belgrade until his departure, the Khrushchev diet consisted chiefly of his own shoe leather. A determined nibbler, he!

Since the demise of Stalin and the eventual accession of Nikita to power, we Americans have heard disturbing stories of his dynamism, drive, energy, ruthlessness, political acumen and astuteness. He seemed a bona fide big, bad wolf, ready and eager to eat Grandma.

Then Mr. Khrushchev made the mistake of going to Yugoslavia and demonstrating to the world that he is not so much akin to the wolf as to a bull in a china shop.

From the moment Mr. Khrushchev and Premier Bulganin announced their impending visit to Yugoslavia, the free world came down with the jitters over the possible reaction of Marshal Tito to this Russian visitor. But the instant Nikita arrived in Belgrade, he started tossing the crockery.

There is at least one pest in every party whose idea of a good time is to pick a fight. (He should drop dead!) Mr. Khrushchev belongs in this category.

At state functions, Mr. Khrushchev, who is a deadringer for any Saturday night wrestler on teevies, picked on anyone handy, including the Belgian Ambassador, the Yugoslav State Secretary for Foreign Affairs, an American general, Peter C. Hains, and the American ambassador to Yugoslavia, James W. Riddleberger.

By the time this appears in print, Mr. Riddleberger, a career diplomat, may already have returned to Washington, where he has been summoned by the State Department to report on the Yugoslav situation. I fervently wish the government had a suitable medal for him as a reward for his victorious bout with Mr. Khrushchev.

When the leader of the proletariat taunted the American ambassador with his lack of "contact" with the working classes, Mr. Riddleberger told him that as a farm boy, an ex-bricklayer and a former house painter, he, Riddleberger, had considerably more practical experience with the working classes than he, Khrushchev.

That widely published news photo of Mr. Khrushchev shouting and snarling at Mr. Riddleberger is worth 10,000 words. It is obvious that the Russian has gotten the worst of the argument, something that never happens in his homeland, and his temper shows.

The picture doesn't make Mr. Khrushchev look exactly lovable. Add it is my idea that if we want to make the world safe for democracy, we ought to coax Mr. Khrushchev to make more personal appearance tours beyond the Iron Curtain.

Wages Of Sin

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Late one night a car drove by and someone yelled out of the window, asking pedestrian Eddie Smith, 19, if he wanted to fight. The next day, Smith, located Herb Worthington, another 19-year-old, and inflicted the following damage: Cut lower lip, requiring five stitches to close, and a broken partial dental plate.

Smith readily admitted a charge of assault and was fined $25 and costs and given a suspended 10-day jail sentence. He also had to pay Worthington's medical and dental expenses. To top it off, Smith learned it wasn't Worthington at all who asked about a fight in the first place.

Are Unions Dooming Themselves?

WASHINGTON (AP)—Are big labor unions heading for the day when, by their very success in winning benefits for their members, they no longer can get the support of those members? In a showdown with a company or industry?

This much can be taken as a truism:

The bigger the stake a worker has in the company which employs him, the bigger his reason for not wanting it to suffer loss or ruin, as it might from a strike.

By a strike is meant such things as a pension, with the size of it based on years of service and earnings; company stock which a worker may own; the medical and hospital bills which a company pays; and so on.

The CIO United Auto Workers has just negotiated an impressive contract with the Ford Motor Co. For a time the company offered to let its employees buy Ford stock. This offer did not become part of the contract. The company may make the offer again.

In time UAW may obtain a contract—covering stock ownership and better pensions, guaranteed wages and pay scales—which may profoundly affect workers' attitude toward the company and make them more conservative.

Suppose then the UAW made demands for some new benefits which, while nice to have, were far less than those already obtained. Would the workers strike to win them, taking a chance on losing everything, just to back the union?

Unions may face that problem some day. An old question arises: Can any union be effective if it can't back up its demands?

Perhaps if the role of unions may have to take a form not now discerned. For example, what happens when a company lets its union members buy its stock? Is their allegiance then divided between company and union? Or do they, through the union, demand a voice in running the company to protect their investment?

In the future, workers almost certainly will tend to be tied far more strongly to companies which guarantee them 52 weeks' pay a year, work or no work, and have good pension plans. Such workers will have abundant reason to stay with one company and in one town or city. With an assured future, they can make their own long-range plans, such as in home buying and educating their children. It seems reasonable to believe that the more deeply workers' lives get tied into the success of a business, the more conservative they will become.

Apaches Have Themselves A Ball

MESCALERO, N. M. (AP)—Leaves from a touring notebook:

Many a Park Avenue father heaves a sigh at the cost of throwing a debutante ball for his daughter.

But he'd break down in tears if he had to foot the bills for introducing her to society on an Apache Indian reservation.

A debutante ball lasts only a single evening under the white man's idea of what makes a good party. The Apaches have a more muscular and red-blooded approach.

When an Indian father announces he has a daughter who is ready to set up teepee-keeping, it isn't just a shindig for a few close friends of the family. The whole tribe shows up. And the feasting and celebrating goes on four days and nights. When the Apaches have themselves a ball, they like to bounce some real echoes off the mountain.

The "Coming of Age Ceremony" of an Apache maiden usually held when she is 12 to 14 years old. In the old days was a time when the "nomadic tribes fulfilled their religious as well as social obligations. The rites drew the wandering groups together, gave them an occasion to swap tall tales of the hunt, exchange gossip and renew their ancient beliefs, by the mutual performance of rituals.

In the simple past when buffalo were plentiful the warriors in the Indian maiden's family usually found it reasonably easy to provide "meat for a four-day feast. But with the price of beef what it is today, the situation has changed. Few Apache fathers now could pick up the tab for a daughter's debut. So the tribe itself throws the party.

Only one girl, Iva Lee Enjady, 14, will go through the social ringer at this year's annual festival, July 14.

As of old, she will have her own ceremonial teepee. Her hair will be washed with yucca root suds. She will wear a buckskin dress and two tall feathers from a female eagle, signaling her entrance into womanhood. If she itches she must use a wooden scratcher, as she mustn't during the entire four days scratch any part of her body with her fingernails.

She also must not look up at the sky or be disobedient in any way, for fear of bringing rain clouds. To assure her of a good appetite through life she will be fed wild fruit marked with a cross of yellow pollen. She will also be anointed with the pollen.

The maiden, whose buckskin dress is adorned with tiny tin bells, will perform ceremonial dances inside her teepee before an audience, consisting of her family, close friends, and the more religious-minded members of the tribe.

Each night young braves will perform the traditional "Dance of the Mountain Gods."

During the entire period little Iva Lee must wear a "grave, dignified expression. She must particularly beware of excessive laughter. The Apaches have a theory that too much laughing causes premature wrinkling, a theory that now also seems prevalent among many lady palefaces who never saw a reservation.

Business Contrasts Show Changing Times

Some time ago Raymond River was cleaning out a lot of old records at his funeral home and among the things he came across was the U. S. Census summary of the principal retail groups in Big Spring for 1930.

By contrast, the figures are quite interesting. Total retail sales were pegged at $7 million for the year. The current figure, of course, is not available from the same source, but the Sales Management magazine estimated in May that Big Spring retail sales per annum were running just a hair under $33 million. Granted that the dollar now will buy only about half of what it did back in those days, you can readily see that a whole of a lot more merchandising is going on.

A point of further interest to me was that there were 123 stores reporting then. Again the current figure is not available, but I know it is well in excess of 400.

Back in 1930 the automotive group took the lead—and it still has it. That year 31 automotive establishments did a business of $2,371,825. The current rate is pegged at $9,581,000.

General merchandisers in 1930 did an aggregate of $851,887 of business. Sales Management figures that their total now is about $2,667,000. There were 19 food stores 25 years ago, and they did an annual volume of $821,158. Today there are many, many more and the estimated volume of business is pegged at $6,289,000.

Furniture and household appliance firms of 1930 numbered three and did a volume of $213,000 for the year. Now Sales Management figures the volume is at least $980,000 for a substantially larger number of stores.

But Raymond isn't the only one going around pulling a page from "antiquity." Ira Thurman has blossomed with a statement from the First National Bank back in 1907. Loans and discounts amounted to $404,649 (the latest call showed $5,840,454), deposits $419,394 (latest call $16,372,589), cash $140,290 (now $6,937,488).

The comparisons or rather contrasts are interesting, all right, but did you notice the ratio of loans to deposits then—$404,649 loans and $419,394? Since then banking laws have changed—and so has thinking about the liquidity of banks. Today, the two banks in Big Spring could, by cashing their U.S. and municipal bonds and using surplus, cover every outstanding loan. They could, by utilizing every resource readily convertible to money, cover $22 million of a total of $27 million on deposit.

Yep, times do change. JOE PICKLER

U.N. Has Sold Indonesia Down The River

THE HAGUE — The phony cry of anti-colonialism, to which many persons in the free world have so blindly succumbed, has much to answer for in the terrible plight of the people of the so-called republic of Indonesia.

Since the East Indies were governed peacefully by the Netherlands government for a long time, the facts available here show a nation torn by revolution, menaced by the steady exodus of foreign capital and ruled by a Communist-inspired dictator. Indonesia has 80 million people, but pro-Communist forces rule the government and prevent elections from being held.

Holland was pressured by the governments of Britain and the United States to give up its colonies and grant complete independence to Indonesia. But the new sponsors today have abandoned the islands. A dictatorship government there continues to defy and spurn a report from the United Nations Commission made in October 1950 which sought to carry through its mission of peaceful reconstruction.

The Dutch government is saddened, and so are the people of this country of all parties, that the free world has allowed such a tragedy to happen. Worst of all is the continued indifference of the United Nations to the plight of the republic of the South Moluccas, which was granted autonomy under the historic agreement of 1949 as a member of the new federation comprising the United States of Indonesia. But the Soekarno dictatorship has since torn the federal union's constitution to pieces and seized much of the territory of the Moluccas. The people there are still fighting for liberty and independence under frightful conditions of blockade and economic isolation which are abetted by foreign shipowners in league with the Indonesian dictatorship.

Enlightened colonialism — for the Dutch have undoubtedly been the best of modern administrators and the staunch builders of economic enterprises — has been superseded by Communist colonialism.

Today there is no such thing as human liberty in a "democratic" sense in Indonesia. Some of the finest Dutch business men — seventy of them — have been thrown into jail on trumped-up charges of conspiracy and have been denied the right to choose their own counsel to defend themselves. None of the so-called "wicked" colonial governments of Europe would have dared to do anything of this sort.

More than a billion dollars is still invested in Indonesia by the Dutch. The government here is doing all it can to protect those investments and hence nobody advocates a return of Dutch rule. There is deep concern over the prospects. For, although the United Nations helped to create the Indonesian Republic, it appears to have abandoned the people to a dictatorship. Despite its own intervention just after World War II, the United Nations organization does nothing now to safeguard the rights of the millions of people who, against their will, were stripped of the protection of the Netherlands government.

Obviously Indonesia cannot protect itself against military attack. It cannot ask the Netherlands government to fight future invaders. This is the plight of those smaller countries which want all the advantages of independence without any of the expensive obligations of defense that logically must be assumed by any independent, sovereign state.

Most people in the world are very little aware of the present condition of the islands which used to appear on the map as the Dutch East Indies, and where valuable oil and rubber are to be found. After the United States and Soviet Russia, this is the richest area in the world in natural resources. Most people, moreover, do not know why Soviet Russia and Communist China look with such covetous eyes on these islands. But the truth is that, by the process of infiltration and internal conspiracy which is the familiar pattern of the "cold war," the Communists are eager to secure the complete conquest of the Indonesian islands.

The only light on the horizon is the fact that America, Britain, France and many other powers at last have awakened to the menace of the Indonesian dictator in his attempt to grab Dutch New Guinea and set up a colonialism of his own. This island territory, which is 1,500 miles from the Indonesian capital, no more belongs to Indonesia than Guam does to Japan. Dutch New Guinea is a strategic gateway to Australia. If Indochina comes under the yoke of communism along with Indonesia, the peoples of the former colonial areas in Southeast Asia will have lost any chance for real freedom and real independence.

The glib orators and easily pressured statesmen of the West may continue to prate about the "evils of colonialism," but they will be hard put to it now to find ways of encouraging investors to build up these undeveloped countries if the Communists are to move in any day with their policies of confiscation — as they have done in Indonesia.

Communist colonialism, with its disorders and tyranny in the Netherlands East Indies, has supplanted Dutch colonialism, with its liberty and economic stability. The United Nations has a great deal on its conscience to answer for. It had better sell the Indonesian people into bondage.

Take A Bow, Men; We're Complimented

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—American men can take a bow. A French beauty says they're even more polite than her countrymen.

This is a strong statement, Frenchmen being noted for their continental manners. But actress Nicole Maurey, visiting America for the third time, makes this observation.

"I think American men are much more courtly at all times. They remember the little things, like opening a door for a woman and helping with her wrap. Those are the things that every woman loves. She wants to be pampered and made comfortable."

To the Frenchman, such matters are not too important — unless he wants to make love to the girl. Then no one can beat him for politeness.

"But to the American, courtesy is an everyday concern. It is part of the difference of attitude. Here the woman is important. In France she is not so."

Despite her feelings about the woman's position here, Nicole is not ready to settle in this country. She feels it is bad for an actress' career.

"I think a European makes a mistake to stay in Hollywood and wait for jobs," she observed. "If the studios know you are here and not working, they think there must be a reason. But if you keep active in Europe, they will send for you."

That system has certainly operated in her case. She had acted in a score of French films when William Perleberg, George Seaton and Bing Crosby came to Paris. They were seeking a girl to play Nicole's French wife in "Little Boy Lost." Nicole won over numerous hopefuls.

She came here for the Crosby film, then hustled home to France. Paramount hailed her back from a publicity tour behalf of "Little Boy Lost." While here, she was dubbed to play opposite Charlton Heston in "Legend of the Inca."

Producer Hal E. Chester was seeking a European to play an Italian girl in "Battle Hymn." He sought Nicole in Europe, discovered she was here, signed her. Now she's costarring with Mickey Rooney, Wendell Corey and Don Taylor.

What next? She's going home to France, of course, and wait for the next call from Hollywood.

Kind Words

ROANOKE, Va. (AP)—Kinsey McWhorter Jr., wrote in his column in the Roanoke World News, that most people are starved for kind words. He said doctors get them less frequently than almost anyone else.

Doctors reacted at once. The Roanoke Academy of Medicine passed a resolution of thanks. The American Medical Assn. reprinted the column and sent it to the secretary of every medical society in America. From Georgia, Arkansas and Pennsylvania came requests for permission to reprint it. Individual doctors wrote to say thank you.

Local Postmen Get No Holiday

Local mail carriers probably won't get the chance to back in the glory, but their service is 83 years old today.

One of the most important servants of the Post Office, the mail carrier has progressed within a century from a carrier on horseback who delivered letters costing $5 each to send, to the present day postman who is likely to deliver his three-cent letters with a scooter-type vehicle.

Postmaster E. C. Boatler of Big Spring, reported that the city has one of these scooters, but it is used only occasionally. He predicted that these vehicles will not come into full use because it is difficult to manage both the mail and the scooter at the same time.

Boatler also reported that the 14 mail carriers in the city carry an average of 72 pounds of mail every day. However, this seems small when it is considered that the United States post offices are collecting, sorting, transporting and delivering about 175 million pieces of mail every day.

Some 4,450 residences and businesses in Big Spring receive free postal delivery. This means that the 14 postmen travel an average of 12 miles a day on their routes. No new routes have been added.

Small Towns Have 2 Outs For Good TV

By WAYNE OLIVER NEW YORK (AP)—Many smaller communities with little prospect of TV stations of their own may yet receive good program service by one of two alternatives—community antennas or satellite transmitters.

Community antennas already are in wide use in fringe areas, with more than 300 in operation serving about a quarter of a million homes. Several satellite and booster transmitters are in experimental operation and the Federal Communications Commission is considering authorizing their use on a commercial basis where regular TV stations are impractical.

The community antenna operates this way: A master antenna tower is built on the highest available site in the area to be served. Signals from distant stations—beyond range of an ordinary home installation—are picked up, amplified and piped by coaxial cable directly into homes of subscribers, who pay a fee to the operator of the system which normally ranges from $2.50 to $3.75 a month.

The booster or satellite transmitter actually is a low-cost, low-powered station that retransmits the programs of a conventional station 400 far distant from the community to be received directly.

The FCC also is considering the licensing of low-cost, low-power stations that would operate in conventional fashion in an effort to bring TV to communities too small to support their own stations under present minimum technical requirements.

Intruder Faces Kidnap Charge

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)— Jesse Moore, 63, who was to be married next Sunday and needed money, has been charged with attempted kidnaping.

Detective Capt. William Browne said Moore, a machinist, had admitted trying to kidnap a 6-year-old grandson of a millionaire Portland industrialist.

Moore was taken into custody shortly after an intruder broke into the home of Mrs. Lillian Weinstein early Monday and tried to grab one of her twin sons to hold for $20,000 ransom.

The intruder was driven off by Mrs. Weinstein and her mother, and he fled by diving head-first through a window. But he left behind the ransom note and a gun.

Moore identified the gun as his and said, at first, it had been stolen from him the night before.

But after extensive questioning yesterday he broke down and admitted the attempt, Browne said.

Moore became acquainted with the Weinstein family through Mrs. Grace Clancy, whom he was to marry next Sunday. Mrs. Clancy lives next door to the Weinsteins.

It was Mrs. Clancy who recognized the pistol that the intruder left in the Weinstein home. She recalled she had seen it in Moore's house. She called Moore to tell him of it and he then reported to the police that the gun had been stolen.

Later he identified the gun as his own, Browne said.

Ball for Moore was set at $20,000.

Mrs. Weinstein, a divorcee, is the daughter of S. J. Zidell, head of a machinery and supply company here.

The new building, now virtually completed, has been constructed mostly by volunteer work of members.

Minor Communist Fire Reported By Formosa

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Minor Communist shelling in the Amoy Quemoy area took place today 120 miles west of Formosa but caused no casualties, the Chinese Nationalist Defense Ministry said. Red guns fired 16 rounds at Ehrtan, an islet 2 1/2 miles south of Communist Amoy.

Hat Maker Called Back To Senate Armed Forces Quiz

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chicago hat maker Harry Lev, who swears he never bribed government procurement officers, was called back today for more questioning by a Senate subcommittee after signing a $5,069.38 "restitution" check as evidence of good faith.

Subcommittee aides said Lev would be asked more about alleged bribes and about his relations with Mrs. Meila Hort, a striking former government worker who supervised some of his contract dealings with the armed services. The 52-year-old Lev, terming these relations "social," yesterday begged the investigators not to press him further on that point.

Specifically, the aides said Lev would be questioned about prior hearsay testimony by Leon M. Levy, a New York business rival of Lev, that Mrs. Hort tried to blackmail Lev for $15,000 to stay silent about some allegedly unusual and profitable aspects of Lev's government contracts, Mrs. Hort has denied the blackmail allegations under oath.

Lev signed the check — to show "I'm no chiseler"—after he was confronted with testimony that he got a 1951 government contract to make 169,646 garrison caps at 21 cents apiece—3 cents more than his final bid.

Lev said that disclosure "really strikes me like a ton on the head." He said he thought government contract officers may have made "an honest mistake" which he did not notice and that the government was entitled to a refund.

Whereupon Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) of the Investigations subcommittee produced a check made out to the government for $5,069.38 and suggested Lev make good on the spot. Lev signed with a flourish. McClellan said he would forward the check to the proper authorities.

Graham Chalks Up Paris Mark

PARIS (AP)—U. S. Evangelist Billy Graham's total attendance in Paris mounted to 21,500 persons last night. His five-night crusade has two more sessions to run. Spokesman for the Baptist preacher said 1,396 persons had made "decisions for Christ" so far during the revival.

Although the Paris crowds have been much smaller than during his recent seven-week campaign in Britain, Graham has said he is "extremely gratified" by the response.

"All those who refuse to repent after hearing the Gospel will be judged," he told his audience last night. "You, like many Americans, have refused to repent."

"God gives you the command to repent . . . get out of your seats and come quietly and reverently." From his audience of nearly 7,000 last night, 417 answered the call.

Navy To Accept 5,000 Officers

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy said today it will accept up to 5,000 qualified reserve officers for limited tours of duty starting July 1. This number is double the quota during the current fiscal year.

The Bureau of Personnel said the duty tours will be for two, three or four years and that the number actually accepted will depend upon individual qualifications and Navy requirements for various kinds of specialists.

Candlelight Service Unites Jo Ann Smith, John Howell Jr.

A bank of graduated candles with a backdrop of fern formed the setting for the wedding Tuesday evening of Jo Ann Smith to John Franklin Howell Jr. of Sonora. Candles, based in gardenias and ivy, also lighted the ten windows of the sanctuary in the First Christian Church.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Smith, 1105 Eleventh Place, are parents of the bride. The bridegroom's parents are Dr. and Mrs. John Franklin Howell of Sonora.

The Rev. Clyde E. Nichols, pastor of the church, read the vows of the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Bob Simpson, organist, played the nuptial music and accompanied Susan Houser as she sang "How Do I Love Thee" and "The Wedding Prayer." Both Mrs. Simpson and Miss Houser wore white satin chignon.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a full-length gown of white satin and lace. The fitted bodice of satin had the V-neck marked with scallops of lace. A full skirt of lace, with a satin panel in the front, ended in a chapel train.

With the tiny sleeves of the dress were worn satin mitts extending to above the elbow. A veil, hanging low in the back, was attached to a crown of pearls with a teardrop pearl at each point. The bride's flowers were white roses in combination with English ivy.

For something old, she wore a cameo ring, which is a family heirloom; something new was a necklace, a gift from the bridegroom; she borrowed a lucky sixpence from Mrs. Ernest Potter, and she wore a blue garter, which was a gift from Mrs. Mary Locke. The traditional Alpha Alpha Chapter bride's garter was also part of her attire.

Jealous Ex-Mate Charged In Fire Death Of Children

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—A jealous former husband was charged yesterday with the murder of four children who died in a burning house.

Detective Lt. James R. Beach said 33-year-old Amos Wilmer Thomas signed a statement saying he set the fire to get even with his former wife Annie Lee Thomas, two of whose children were killed in the blaze Friday night.

Thomas pleaded innocent at his arraignment, however, and asked for a preliminary hearing. No date was set.

Justice of the Peace Eugene G. Duckworth said three warrants charging murder in the perpetration of arson were filed. The warrants accuse Thomas of the deaths of Dewitt Roundtree, 10, and Linda Joyce Roundtree, 1, children of Mrs. Thomas; Eddie Lee Roundtree, 10, and Freddie Lee Roundtree, 4, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Roundtree, grandparents of Dewitt and Linda Joyce.

Beach said Thomas, a Negro, told authorities he slipped into his former wife's bedroom, poured gasoline on the floor, ignited it and ran out. He later joined the crowd watching the blaze.

Screams of the children awakened Roundtree, 48, who was sleeping on the second floor of the frame house, and he rescued one grandchild, Juanita Roundtree, but flames prevented him from reaching the others. His wife and Mrs. Thomas also escaped.

MYSTERY FARM NO. 1
Owned By W. M. Spears For Half A Century

Spears Family Has Owned Coahoma Farm 66 Years

The Herald's first "mystery farm," which turned out to be about a mile north of Coahoma, belongs to W. M. Spears, one of Howard County's real old timers.

The farm consists of a section of land just off State Highway 820, and it has been in the Spears' family possession for the past 66 years. Spears himself has owned it for the past 50.

Right now Spears is not actively engaged in farming the land. His son, J. D. Spears, and son-in-law, C. A. Dickson, are keeping the 640 acres under cultivation.

Prospects for a crop look good this year on the farm, and the younger Spears and Dickson have just finished replanting after the rains. A good crop would be the first since 1950.

Spears has lived on the farm ever since his father, J. W. Spears, moved to it back in 1889. The family had migrated from Louisiana, through Abilene, to the place north of Coahoma.

His father built a big two-story house on the place in 1890 and began grubbing and breaking some of the land. At first he grew only red top sorghum, then a small amount of cotton which he took to Colorado City to gin.

For five years, the elder Spears had to haul water from a tank, but a well was finally dug in the draw some distance from the house. An attempt was made to move the big house to the small well.

Teams couldn't budge the house at first. "Brother" Wheeler had a span, a little black mule, "Queenie," and a white mule, "John the Baptist." He hooked them up, punched old John in the ribs, and they jerked the house loose. Other teams were hooked on and then moved the house all right.

The elder Spears was in the dairy business and moved nearer Big Spring, selling the original place to his son, W. M. Spears. This was just after the turn of the century, and he gradually cleared the land to expand the farming over most of the section.

The original well washed in and sanded up; so a second, the third well, although not used, is still good. However, 29 years ago Spears moved back up to the road (Highway 820) and built the present house. Wells have since been punched over the farm, and today he has three irrigators on pump.

Spears proved his land in 1902 and patented it in 1916.

His whole life has been wrapped up in the farm, where events great and small have occurred. Among the most tragic was the death of his eldest son, Philip, who was killed when caught in a tractor. His eldest daughter, Pearl, died of illness.

Spears has nine other children. They are Linnie Bills, Sweetwater; Ada Englestone; Odessa; Leona Whitaker; Houston; Opal Spears; Dallas; Lucile Zanker; South America; Bessie Dickerson, on the farm; Johnny Spears; R. T. Big Spring; J. D. Spears, on the farm; and Cecil Spears, Los Angeles.

Mr. Spears' first wife died in December, 1950, and he married the former Lucy Young in August, 1953.

Spears was a stockholder in the bank at Coahoma. "They were going to make me a director, but the thing went busted first," he said.

Changes have been numerous, he explained. When he first came to the farm transportation was by wagon or buggy, keeping trips to town to a minimum. "I tell my children if they had to work like I had to work — entirely with horses and mules — they probably just wouldn't work," he said.

Spears is a member of the Church of God and the Farm Bureau. His hobbies include the raising of chickens and caring for gardens. He has about three acres adjacent to the house which he uses for these purposes. He also raises honey bees.

Crops on the farm are cotton and grain sorghum, and there are about 18 head of cattle. Tractors are used for tillage, and there is no fertilizer used at all.

SEOUL (AP)—Police today reported one man killed and three injured in two South Korean army plane crashes yesterday.

U. S. To Begin Cutting Tariffs

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional sources said today the United States plans to embark shortly on a new round of tariff cutting under authority given President Eisenhower in a compromise foreign trade bill nearing final passage.

Senate-House conferees agreed on the measure yesterday, breaking a month-long deadlock. The final product is considered acceptable to Eisenhower.

The chief new power would authorize the President to cut tariffs up to 5 per cent a year over the next three years or to lower to 50 per cent any duties now above that level. This is the first new grant of tariff-cutting power since 1945.

It also would extend the 21-year-old Reciprocal Trade Agreements law for three years, to June 30, 1958, "the longest extension in a decade."

The compromise bill is to come up first in the House early next week, then in the Senate for final legislative action.

Congressional sources said the United States is likely to participate in a new international bargaining conference within about six months to make use of the new power to cut tariffs. The reductions would be offered in return for similar concessions from other nations in trade pacts.

Police, Using Tear Gas, Break Up Prisoners' Riot

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Police using tear gas broke up a short-lived prisoners' riot at the St. Louis city workhouse late last night after inmates set fire to mattresses; ripped out plumbing and smashed windows.

More than 100 policemen confined the outbreak to one cell block. Firemen quickly extinguished the blaze started with burning mattresses.

Two of three high police officials racing to the scene from the municipal opera were injured in an automobile accident. No one was hurt in the riot.

Warden Harold E. Baynes, appointed to the post last April, said the riot followed distribution of circulars to prisoners announcing that visits would be restricted to "immediate relatives."

"I think the 17, 18, 19 and 20-year-old boys didn't like it because I was cutting off visits from girl friends," he explained.

Injured in the accident en route to the workhouse were Chief of Detectives James Chapman and Police Inspector George Parker. Both were hospitalized. Col. I. A. Long, president of the Board of Police Commissioners, escaped injury and continued to the workhouse.

Shouting, yelling and general tumult erupted in a cell block known as the "Old House." A barrage of flaming mattresses, broken benches and debris at first prevented police from entering the block. But once tear gas was employed, the riot was quickly broken. The whole thing lasted about an hour and 15 minutes.

A total of 250 prisoners were in the block, all but 50 in their cells during the disturbance. The 50 got out of the cells when a guard was trying to return a work detail to their cells.

Coahoma Edges T&P, 3 To 2

COAHOMA (SC) — Coahoma strengthened its bid for the Coahoma Softball League championship by nudging T&P, 3-2, here Tuesday night.

The Maroons got one of their runs in the first and their other two in the fourth.

In the "hello" frame, Jack Morrison singled, went to second on a fielder's choice and came home on Jim Ward's double.

In the fifth, George Ray tripled and scored on another fielder's choice in which Billy Paul Thomas gained a "life." Ward sacrificed the runner to third and Gerry Hoover drove him in with a single.

T&P got both its runs in the third when Newell was hit by a pitched ball, Hoover singled and Pitts plated both runners when an error was committed on his drive to right field.

Ward hurled for Coahoma. He gave up only three hits, fanned five and walked only one.

Derryberry, on the mound for T&P, walked one, fanned two and gave up seven hits.

Jack Morrison had a single and a double to pace Coahoma. In addition to Ray's triple and Ward's double, Grady Barr, Hoover, David Hodnett and Dudley Arnett had singles for the winners.

Newell, Hoover and Byers accounted for T&P's hits.

Welter Boxers Mark Time As Title Scrap Nears

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—With two days to go for their title fight, welterweight champion Tony DeMarco and challenger Carmen Basilio were well within the 147-pound limit and faced only with the minor problem of keeping their edge.

Both finished their boxing drills yesterday for the 15-rounder Friday night.

DeMarco, the squat, 23-year-old Bostonian, wound up his sparring by going three rounds with Irvin Steen in a brisk workout at his resort camp at Monticello, N.Y. DeMarco boxed a total of 51 rounds since hitting camp.

"Tony's ready to go now," said trainer Sammy Fuller, a former welterweight boxer. "He's going to win—and by a knockout."

DeMarco weighed 145, just about what he expects to scale for his first title defense. He hit the beam at 145½ when he stopped Johnny Saxton in 14 rounds April 1 to win the crown.

Some light gym work today and road work tomorrow morning will complete his training. He plans to fly from his camp to Syracuse tomorrow afternoon.

Basilio has been well within the 147-pound limit for some time. He had difficulty cutting down to the weight when he fought Kid Gavilan for the title on Sept. 18, 1953.

The 26-year-old ex-Marine from nearby Canastota floored the Cuban, then the champion, and lost a disputed 15-round decision.

After finishing his boxing with three rounds against two sparring partners, Tony Percey and Harry Deputy, the local pride and joy scaled 145. He has boxed over 200 rounds in getting set for his second title shot and has been under the 147-pound limit for more than a month.

Brewer Draws Suspension

Sherwood Brewer, San Angelo infielder, was fined $25 and suspended for three days by Longhorn League President Peck Cunningham for his part in the ruckus which occurred at the Big Spring-San Angelo baseball game here last night.

Brewer was using profanity audible to the people in the stands. Umpire Jim Tongate said.

In other disciplinary action, Cunningham stated he was fining Big Spring $25 for an incident which occurred in a double header at Roswell last Friday night.

Big Spring was accused by stalling to prevent the second game being completed.

Stubby Greer, Roswell manager, drew a $25 levy for the same charge.

Fines of $10 each were exacted against Joe Bauman and Duane White of the Roswell team and Jack Poppell and Art DiCesare of Big Spring as an outgrowth of the trouble in Roswell.

Billy Camp, Midland, also drew a $25 fine for an argument with an umpire in Roswell Sunday. He allegedly refused to leave the park and piled dirt on home plate.

Albuquerque Moves Into Third Place

The Albuquerque Dukes moved up to third place in the West Texas-New Mexico League Tuesday night with an 8-6 victory over the league-leading Pampa Oilers.

Meanwhile, the Abilene Blue Sox slipped back into fourth place, trading with Albuquerque, through a 10-9 defeat at the hands of the Amarillo Gold Sox.

In the other games, bottom runner El Paso beat Lubbock 7-6, and second-place Plainview whipped Clovis 5-3.

NuMexers Batter Carlsbad, 19-7

The Artesia NuMexers lashed 20 hits Tuesday night to win 19-7 from the Carlsbad Potashers and retain their half-game lead in the Longhorn League.

In the other games, Midland kept second place by defeating Odessa 8-4. San Angelo stayed in third place with an 8-5 victory over Big Spring, and Hobbs and Roswell each collected one of a doubleheader, took the first 11-2 and Roswell the second 11-7.

Hubbell Accepts

BEAUMONT (AP)—Ford Frick, commissioner of baseball, George Trautman, president of the minor leagues, and Carl Hubbell, former big league pitching star, have accepted invitations to attend the Old Timers Game and Texas League All-Star Game here July 21-22.

Musial On Warpath, Cardinals Perk Up

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Those St. Louis Cardinals may be only in fifth place, but with Stan Musial starting to hit again, things may be getting better any day now.

Stan's had his usual slow start so far, but he's perked up when the Cards needed him most. He's up to .317 as of today, moving up in a 15-game revival in which he's hit .375.

It was Musial who in early May kept the Cards from sinking into seventh place by getting 3 for 5 against Philadelphia in a 5-5 St. Louis victory. On May 27, the day he started his current upswing, he had 2 for 3 as the Cards beat Cincinnati 7-4 and jumped to fifth.

Then on May 28, once again, in sixth, the Cards pulled back into fifth by beating the Redlegs 7-2. Musial had just one hit—but it was a three-run homer.

Last night, the Redbirds again were on the verge of slipping into seventh place. And volla! Musial smacked 3 for 5, drove in three runs and scored himself in a 5-4 triumph over the Phils.

That eased the Cardinals into a fifth-place tie with Cincinnati after the Redlegs had been blanked by the first-place Brooklyn Dodgers 4-0.

Brooklyn stayed eight games up as the runner-up Chicago Cubs came from behind with four runs in the sixth to beat Pittsburgh 4-3 while the resurrected Milwaukee Braves knocked New York's Giants out of third 13-4.

In the American, the New York Yankees remained 4½ games out front while losing to Detroit 4-3 in 12 innings. The Chicago White Sox—rained out in their game with Baltimore—slipped to second place .005 percentage points ahead of Cleveland as the Indians led Boston 9-5.

The only other AL action went to Washington, with the Senators sweeping a two-night twinbill at Kansas City 3-2 and 7-3.

At Philadelphia, Musial's two-run double in the first chased starter Curt Simmons, and his triple in the eighth drove home the winning run off loser Murry Dickson. Harvey Haddix won his third with relief help from Frank Smith after giving up earlier two-run homers to Del Ennis and Jim Greenbaum.

Brooklyn missed hitting a home run for the first time in 13 games, but the Redlegs managed just five hits off Johnny Podres, who won his sixth.

Milwaukee clobbered the slumping Giants with six runs in the second that sent Johnny Antonelli to his seventh defeat. The Braves got five more in the ninth as Chet Nichols won No. 5 with help from Warren Spahn.

The Giants, now half a game back of the Braves, lost shortstop Al Dark for an indefinite period when X-rays revealed a pair of bone chips suffered when he was hit on the left hand by a pitched ball Sunday.

Five singles and an error pulled the Cubs from behind in the sixth at Pittsburgh to shorten the night for Max Surkont. Darius Hillman, Hal Jeffcoat and Howie Pollet combined in relief to save Warren Hacker's sixth victory.

Fred Hatfield's homer off reliever Tom Sturdivant gave Ned Garver his first triumph over the Yankees in six years. Eddie Robinson smacked a two-run homer and Joe Collins a bases-empty clout for the Yanks.

Rookie Herb Score didn't survive the first inning against the Red Sox as Ted Williams hit a two-run double. But after Cleveland tied it at 3-all in their half of the frame to chase Mel Parnell, Boston got four runs in the fourth off loser Art Houtteman to win it for George Susce.

Three runs in the ninth—with Bill Wilson's three-base error letting the lead run score—broke up Alex Kaliner's shutout and won for the Senators in the opener at Kansas City. Mickey McDermott gave 13 hits and walked six in the fifth clip, but hung on for his fifth victory.

Carlos Paula, Washington outfielder, reached across and hit a sacrifice fly in the second game as rookie Art Ceccarelli attempted to give him an intentional walk.

Arcaro Aiming For 6th Win

NEW YORK (AP)—Eddie Arcaro, who has ridden more Kentucky Derby and Preakness winners than any other jockey, will take dead aim on his sixth Belmont stakes Saturday with Nashua.

The 39-year-old Cincinnati booter needs another victory to tie him with Jimmy McLaughlin, the old-timer who won six Belmonts in a period from 1882 to 1888.

Arcaro is tied with Earl Sande among modern day riders of Belmont winners, and the Belair Stud Nashua is expected to be a heavy odds-on favorite in the 87th running of the great 3-year-old classic.

The Belmont Park management is having a time trying to determine just how many colts will face the starter in the televised mile and one half race.

At the latest count, it seemed as if three or four might contest with Nashua, who was upset by Swaps in the Kentucky Derby, then broke the Pimlico track record in winning the Preakness May 28.

The probabilities are headed by Hilton A. (Rabbit) Dabson's Nance's Lad, who handed Boston Doge his first defeat in the Swift Stakes, then copped the Peter Pan Handicap last Saturday.

Other possible starters are Howard Weinstein's Mr. Al L., and Flying Fury, front the Cain Hoy Stable of Harry F. Guggenheim. Flying Fury ran sixth in the Derby, finished sixth in the Peter Pan, and may make a better showing in the longer distance of Saturday's race. Mr. Al L. finished second to Go Lightly in the Gotham Stakes at Jamaica in April.

SMU, Baylor Puts Four On All-Stars

HOUSTON (AP)—Russ Gragg, Arizona first baseman; Don Lee, Arizona pitcher, and Tommy Bowers, Southern Methodist pitcher, were the most popular players in selection of the District 6 NCAA baseball team.

Texas Open Cash Is Hiked To $20,000

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Texas becomes a happy hunting ground for the golf professionals with the Texas Open hiking its prize money to $20,000. This brings total cash to be played for in Texas to $75,000 annually.

The Houston Open still is the biggest money event in Texas with a prize of $30,000, while the Colonial National Invitation at Fort Worth is second with $25,000.

COPS, COLTS END SERIES

The Big Spring Cosden Cops, who have yet to lose a series, will try to gain the edge in a three-bout set with the Colts here tonight. Game time is 8:15 p.m.

Manager Pepper Martin said he would send Kosse Hill to the rubber. Angelo will counter with either Orval McElrath or Gil Guerra.

After tonight, the Cops hit the road for five days, playing first in Midland and then in San Angelo.

San Angelo came back to win last night's game with the Cops, after losing the opener.

JAY LeFEVRE FANS 17 AS YANKEES TRIUMPH

The Yankees took charge of first place in National Little League standings by belting the Gold Sox, 20-1, behind the three-hit hurling of Jay LeFevre here Tuesday night.

LeFevre, for the second time, retired 17 of the opposition on strikes. He gave up three hits.

In addition, he stroked a home run, as did his twin brother, Zay. Jay clubbed his round tripper in the first inning with a man on. Zay got his in the fourth with two on.

Coy Mitchell had two doubles while Kenney Kesterson and Red Schwarzenbach each had three hits for the winners.

The Gold Sox escaped a shutout when Wilkerson and Welch singled to provide a run in the fifth.

Fighting in relief, Jerry Richbourg hurled hitless ball in 3 1-3 innings for the losers. Donald Mills,

Sadowski, Frank Resign Positions

Steve Sadowski and Bill Frank, who formed an umpiring team in the Longhorn League, have submitted their resignations to the league office, a source in Midland said this morning.

They are being replaced by Jerry Pooler and Jim Bello. The latter is returning to the active roster. Pooler umpired in the circuit a couple of years ago.

Mize, Grocers Plan Game For June 18

Cotton Mize's plans to take his Piggly-Wiggly softball team to Ralls a week from Saturday for a return doubleheader with that city's contingent.

Mize accompanied a Midland club there last weekend and hurled his mates to an even split with Ralls. Midland lost the first game, 8-0, but won the second one, 11-2. Red Denham was on the mound in both games for Ralls.

Conduct Briefing On Parts

These men conducted a briefing on Chevrolet parts at a dinner meeting given by Tidwell Chevrolet at the Settles on Tuesday evening. With 14 million Chevrolets on the road and only about 7,000 authorized dealers, manifestly a legion of independent garages will be doing servicing for the cars, said Tom Watson, district manager for Dallas division. The affair was to bring wholesale outlets and independent garages up to date on latest technical developments, particularly in the parts field. They also were shown a film on the "Fire Bird," the new General Motors experimental gas turbine engine, and a glimpse of GM's program of "better things for more people." Left to right are D. A. Sellers, parts manager; W. P. Hughes, shop foreman; M. D. Simms, sales manager; Rex Boone, Dallas; LeRoy Tidwell, owner of Tidwell Chevrolet; Lloyd Wooten, public relations; Tom Watson and Jimmy Pippins, Dallas. Boone, Watson and Pippins all are with the Chevrolet Motors division at Dallas.

2 Teacher Posts Filled, 13 Vacant

Trustees Tuesday approved the appointment of two summer school teachers and learned that 13 regular instructors have rejected 1955-56 contracts.

Supt. W. C. Blankenship reported that the 13 sent back unsigned contracts because they either are leaving the teaching profession, he said, or are seeking replacements has been started.

Approved as summer school teachers were Irma Jean Phillips and John Paul Johnson.

Other discussions at the brief session Tuesday afternoon concerned the defective high school roof, desegregation, and relocation of electric and telephone service lines near the high school.

Board Chairman Clyde Angel reported that plans and specifications have been prepared for repair of the leaky high school roof. These have been submitted to R. J. Anderson, who installed the roof when the building was erected in 1951, with the request that he notify the school immediately whether he will make the repairs.

If not, the board agreed Tuesday, the school should start pressing its suit for damages against the contractor.

After a short discussion of the desegregation problem, board members agreed they should postpone any action until the matter is more in focus throughout the state, particularly in its relation to the Texas Constitution which provides separate school systems for Negroes and Whites.

Angel reported also that he and Pat Murphy, school business manager, have been negotiating with Texas Electric Service Company and Southwestern Bell Telephone Company for relocation of a high-line pole now standing in the center of the new athletic field north of the high school building. The line will have to be routed around the field, he said.

Trustees authorized the granting of an easement at such time as an agreement can be reached with the utilities concerns.

The board approved payment of $15,288.55 to Jones Construction Company as partial payment for

U. S. Aid Check Helps Evacuees

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—An American aid check for $1,201,000 today launched a program of community settlement and self-help for the 18,505 persons evacuated from the Tachen Islands in February. The 5,017 families who chose to come to Chinese Nationalist Formosa rather than stay under Communist occupation of the Tachens will be resettled in houses which they will help build themselves, announced the U. S. Foreign Operations Administration. Projects include wells, schools, clinics, roads and drainage systems.

5 Die In Crash

EDMONTON, Alta. (AP)—Five persons were killed yesterday when a twin-engine associate Airways plane crashed and burned 10 miles west of here. The victims, all employees of the airline, included one American—the pilot, Philip Shallo, 33, San Mateo, Calif.

RAINMAKING Weather Control Outlook Unsettled

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the lingo of weather forecasting, the outlook as to whether man can tinker with the weather on a practical, economic scale "is still unsettled." That's the present summary from officials of the government's Advisory Committee on Weather Control, which for almost a year has been seeking to evaluate commercial projects and laboratory and field experiments in the realm of artificial rainmaking—or "rain increasing," as the committee prefers to call it.

Charles Gardner Jr., executive secretary of the committee, also said: "We are not pessimistic that there's no chance of definite evidence being established that artificial rainmaking is capable of being applied on a scale of economic importance to the nation in terms of increased hydroelectric production, increased grazing land yield, and other industrial and municipal benefits.

"What we are saying at this stage of our investigations is that while we have firm opinions from both responsible operators in the commercial field and from some scientists that economically significant increases in rainfall are possible by artificial means, definite scientific proof has not yet been established one way or the other."

Gardner says the committee expects to have "reasonable definite and positive answers" for Congress about a year from now. The committee was set up more than a year ago under instructions from Congress to:

1. Determine whether public and private experiments strengthen possibilities for large-scale weather modification and control; government itself should experiment with, engage in or regulate weather control activities.
2. Determine whether the hope for getting answers lies in these activities of the committee:

Assault Suspect Refuses To Tell Of Wife Torture

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—James M. Mercer, 33, of Belle Glade wouldn't tell Criminal Court Judge E. G. Newell why he bound his wife Frances and used a six-inch hypodermic needle to inject her with two shots of cattle serum.

L. H. Brannon, assistant county solicitor, yesterday drew from Mrs. Mercer details of the bizarre case which brought Mercer to court on a charge of aggravated assault.

The syringe, normally used on cattle, was found with a pistol and a knife near a wooded area in the Everglades where the state charged Mercer tortured his wife for five hours a week ago.

Mrs. Mercer testified her husband trussed her up with a rope so that neither her hands nor feet were free to touch the ground and tormented her for five hours despite her screams for help.

Mercer gave no explanation for the trussing. He was sentenced to one year in the Palm Beach County Jail.

Mrs. Mercer was bruised and apparently infected from effects of the unidentified serum.
