INDEPENDENT OIL MEN RALLY HERE

New City Park Dedication Scheduled For This Afternoon

HOME TOWN TALK

By Beddy

MANY THINGS were heard and learned Friday night at the oil men's banquet. The fine thing about the affair was that those attending included those of this section of the state most directly affected by conditions in the oil industry. Every citizen should read the news account of the program.

SENATOR SMALL, the gubernatorial candidate, made a strong impression upon the audience. He did not do it by blasting away with a lot of political "thunder," taking advantage of being invited to speak before a group interested in special legislative problems. He exhibited something that is exceedingly rare among Texas candidates for governor. He used good taste, and manners, if you please. Clint merits the admiration and the open-minded consideration of every voter.

LET'S ALL GIVE three lusty cheers for Yuell Robb, the R&R Theater group, Harold Robb, Ed Rowley, and all the other people who have contributed to the success of the Ritz here. We honor, also, the memory of the Messrs Robb's father, the late I. J. Robb, whose foresightedness led him to enter the motion picture business here 20 years ago, when a lot of people advised him it "wouldn't pay."

The Ritz, as you will see from a picture on this page, has been accorded a real honor. It was fully merited.

The advice given Mr. Robb a score of years ago, that his theater wouldn't be a sound business venture, brings to mind many another man who would have not attained success in business or profession had he listened to all of the discouraging things contributed by his friends.

IT IS FOOLISH for any man, especially a young man, not to listen to the words of more experienced men. There is a certain point, however, over which a few men have broken and made themselves famous and powerful. We have an idea somebody sometime told Henry Ford he couldn't produce automobiles in the quantities for the price he is. But he did, and how.

The fellows who pioneered the steam engine, the railroad, the airplane, the radio, most everything else, very likely were told they were all wet.

AND WHEN Yuell Robb told his friends about town here that he had decided to spend almost $200,000 on a theater we have an idea, although nobody has ever given us direct proof, that some of those fellows told Yuell he was building air castles.

Look at the RITZ. And, it was the same way in the minds of some folks about the Settles hotel, the Crawford hotel, the airport, and most everything else of value around here.

If it meets an existing need; if it appeals to the thing called human interest; if it is worth anything, really, it will go most every time provided the guy behind it has energy, faith, ability and an average volume of brains.

Residents Urged To Visit Scenic Mountain Drive

Citizens are urged to drive to Scenic Mountain this afternoon and view "what men and your dollars" are doing toward improvement of the Scenic Drive, by B. F. Robbins, chairman of the civic committee of the Chamber of Commerce, which is sponsoring a campaign to raise the necessary funds.

Response has been good, he said, adding that the final solicitation will be made Monday and Tuesday.

"You will feel like doubling your subscriptions when you see the work being done," said Mr. Robbins. "Committees have donated just as have others. Drop in at the Chamber of Commerce and leave a subscription," he asked.

PROGRAM IS ARRANGED BY MAYOR

Public Invited To See Facilities For Recreation

An invitation to every resident of Big Spring and Howard County to visit the new city park, recently opened, sometime Sunday afternoon, was issued Saturday night by Mayor J. B. Pickle, in charge of the official dedication of the playground.

The short service will open at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Music will be furnished by a band under the direction of O. Dubberly.

Short talks will be made by Mayor Pickle, Tom Coffey and Mrs. B. Reagan. After the speaking a number of old time songs will be sung, with Damon Deane leading the community singing.

"The purpose of this service," Mayor Pickle said, "is to acquaint every one possible with the place we have here. Some don't know we have such a playground, or a place to enjoy an afternoon's outing and picnic.

"I sincerely hope everyone will visit the park Sunday afternoon and enjoy the service, as well as the park itself."

Chautauqua Is Opened Here

Reserved seat ticket sales to Chautauqua increased many hundredfold Saturday, with the result that a good-sized audience attended the initial performance, in the big tent on West Third street, Saturday evening.

The next performance will be Monday afternoon. It will be "Pianon's Filipino Collegians." These young men, who but recently finished a nationwide tour of the Radio-Kieth-Orpheum big-time vaudeville circuit, play tropical music in a manner most appealing. They are, however, not native Hawaiians. In addition to their musical ability each is a genuine showman, and that means a lot. It puts snap and "step" into the entire program.

Monday evening the collegians will again appear. With them on this bill will be Snith Damron, in "The Potter And The Clay." Mr. Damron gives a real demonstration of the making of pottery, talking as he works. He also exhibits a collection of fine China, much of which is almost priceless. He invites questions from the audience.

The "Junior Town" will begin operations at 9 a. m. Monday. Miss Vivian Sharp will be in charge. Junior Town features a "juvenile city." A mayor, city commissioners, chief of police, and other public officials will be elected. In addition there will be lessons in government and citizenship, games, stories, picnics, a track and field meet and some "very special" features.

Herald Boys Guests At Saturday Feast

City carrier and street sales boys of The Herald were given a feast of watermelon—the season's first—and plenty of time in which to play Saturday afternoon at City Park as guests of their employers, represented by W. D. Willbanks, circulation manager, and Wilbur Willbanks, his assistant.

Meeting at The Herald office they rode to the park on a truck, played many spirited games, and ate much melon.

Boys in the party were William Savage, Woodrow Cambron, J. C. Eudy, Eldon Harrell, Frederick Koberg, Howard Hart, O. C. Hart, Thornton Hart, Bobby Mills, Ernest Watt, Charles Read, Charles Bond, Earl Robinson, Jodie Risinger, J. B. Bender, Billy Patrick, George Cross, Troy Farrar, Leon Rogers, Johnnie Burns, Claude Bond, J. L. Robinson, Ferrell Squyres, Fred Savage, Horace Deering.

STATE ANTI-TRUST LAWS OUT OF FASHION, C. C. SMALL TELLS OIL MEETING

Partial relief from complicated conditions created by the latest rules of the producers advisory committee, enforced through the railroad commission, was effected Friday in the Howard-Glascock prorated field. The total of daily runs now allowed is 12,920 barrels.

Rearrangements made will allow producers to sell about 2,000 barrels more daily.

The Big Spring Pipe Line Company took 1,000 barrels daily production of the Ward Oil Company, which had been going to the Shell line, but had not been provided for in the latest rulings.

Humble's line, which had been running 3,500 barrels daily including some sweet oil will take 3,500 barrels daily of prorated oil plus some sweet oil.

Wells in the western section of the field will be allowed to produce a maximum of 100 barrels daily plus ten per cent of the potential above 100 barrels. Those in the east end may produce a maximum of 125 barrels daily plus 10 per cent of the potential above that figure.

"I'm might glad to say it was a pleasure to assist in passage of the pipeline bill. I hope it will be useful in prolonging the life of the independent. If it does not reach that purpose it will be a pleasure for me to assist with one that will.

"The independent's right is not a selfish one. It will be beneficial to everyone. You have troubles. That is certain. You want a remedy. This is an era of consolidations and mergers. If we believe the independent has an economic place in the development of this country taking him out of the picture would be a menace to us all. Our constitution guarantees equal opportunities to all. That is all the independent needs.

ALLEGED FORGER ARRESTED AFTER CHECK IS CASHED

Arrested after he had passed a check for $20 at Coahoma, a man giving the name H. H. Bullian, 46, faces charges of forgery. The charge was filed in Justice of the Peace Cecil Collings' court Saturday. Bullian waived examining trial and his bond was set at $1,500.

The man was arrested by J. T. Williams, constable, and L. A. Eubanks, manager of the Retail Merchants Association, east of Coahoma.

According to a statement made by the man after he was brought to Big Spring, a stranger gave him a number of blank checks three or four days ago. About 100 of these were found in his possession, he declared.

"On June 6," the statement said, "I filled one of the checks in for $20, numbered it 6142, and signed the name of J. A. Hursch, making it payable to C. H. Wilson. I cashed it with a merchant, purchasing $10 worth of merchandise and receiving $10 in cash."

Bullian said he "wanted to give the merchandise back, but not the money." Merchandise was found in his possession.

His blank checks bore the name of the Arkansas Light and Power Co. They were made payable to a Little Rock bank.

The arrest was brought about through the efforts of Eubanks, after he had received an inquiry here as to the checks, and later the one from Coahoma. He had communicated by telephone with the Arkansas Light & Power Company in Little Rock.

AUTOMOBILES STOLEN

Two automobiles were stolen in Big Spring Friday night and Saturday, the sheriff's department was endeavoring to find trace of the machines.

A Buick roadster, belonging to Jack Nail, was stolen from where it had been parked on East Third street.

A Chevrolet coach, belonging to B. D. White, and parked near a "wild-west" show on West Third street, also was stolen.

The Weather

Oklahoma: Cloudy and unsettled Sunday and Monday; probably local thundershowers, warmer Sunday.

Texas: Fairly cloudy to unsettled Sunday and Monday with local thundershowers Monday and probably in north portion Sunday. Increasing southeast wind on the coast, probably becoming fresh to strong.

Ritz Theatre's Award Of Merit

That the pride taken by the people of Big Spring in the Ritz theatre, operated by the Big Spring Amusement Company of which J. Y. Robb is the head, is supported by the leading figures in the motion picture industry, was forcibly shown this week when the theatre received a bronze plaque, reproduced above—an award of merit for excellency of sound reproduction.

This theatre is one of less than a hundred of the 15,000 in the United States found eligible to receive this honor, conferred by The Exhibitor's Herald-World, leading journal of the industry. The plaque will be on exhibit in the theatre lobby today.

STICKERS USED TO ADVERTISE JUBILEE

Stickers, advertising the Oil Men's Jubilee, to be held here July 3, 4 and 5, have been distributed to filling stations and business houses of Big Spring.

Joseph Edwards, general chairman of the Jubilee, urges filling stations operators to paste the stickers on all local automobiles and furnish them to cars and trucks which traverse the oil fields in this section of West Texas.

About $500 is being spent in advertising the event. The expenditure includes the cost of billboards at Sweetwater, Solorado, Stanton, Midland, Odessa and San Angelo.

Residents are urged by the committee to notify all their friends in the oil fraternity of the occasion.

Stickers may be obtained at the Crawford Hotel, Chamber of Commerce, and rooms 412 and 404, Petroleum Building.

Evangelist Speaks To Large Audience

A splendid audience listened to Evangelist Ribble at the Church of Christ Friday night, as he discussed the "Importance of the Church." He called attention to the relationship that individuals should sustain to Christ in the church as shown by the Parable of the Vine and the Branches. Showing that "we cannot bear fruit and therefore cannot be well-pleasing to Him unless we abide in the Vine."

The sympathy and understanding, love and appreciation of the church was pictured by Paul's comparison of the church to the body; with Christ as head, he said.

Christ was shown to be the Saviour of the church, his body, through his blood." In all these things we see a beautiful harmony and agreement, and it has ever been God's intention that his people, his children, should be one, and dwell together in peace. The church that Jesus built cannot be exalted too highly or commended too much, and we certainly cannot appreciate it more than we should.

Mr. Ribble will speak Sunday morning and Sunday evening and possibly each day, morning and evening until Wednesday night of next week.

DUFF RETURNS

Berry Duff, night clerk at the Douglass Hotel, has returned from Sweetwater, where he arranged for the annual Sweetwater high school alumni dance, at the Bluebonnet hotel there Monday evening.

WIND-DRIVEN RAIN HITS VICINITY

A lashing rain that was driven by a heavy wind swept Big Spring at 12:30 this morning, causing slight damage to trees and some business houses, where water was swept beneath doors.

Approximately one inch of rain fell in one half of an hour.

As far as could be ascertained the rain and wind caused no material damage in this vicinity. Limbs were broken off trees, a portion of the protection wall at the new Settles hotel was blown over and several signs were blown down.

Floods Streets

The downpour flooded streets for a few minutes washing debris into gutters and roadways.

The Texas & Pacific dispatcher reported rain as far west as Monohans, with precipitation also east of Big Spring.

During the electrical storm power was crippled for a few minutes, and telephone lines were out of order for a short length of time.

A number of automobiles, parked on downtown streets during the rain, were stalled for the night when motors were flooded.

LUBBOCK, June 7. (AP)—General rains were reported tonight over the South Plains region, varying from one half to an inch or more. Lubbock, 5; Plainview, one inch; Lockney, 5; Floydada, 5. Rains also were reported from Tulia, Hale Center, Crosbyton, Matarior, Ralls, Lorenzo, Lamesa. Planting conditions were regarded as excellent throughout the territory.

PLAINVIEW, Tex., June 7. (AP)—Accompanied by a severe electrical disturbance, .80 of an inch of rain had fallen here by 9 o'clock tonight. Lockney and Floydada were also receiving slow rain.

The first wheat of the season today was delivered at Plainview, Petersburg, Lockney, Floydada and Aiken. All tested more than 60 pounds to the bushel.

AMARILLO, Tex., June 7. (AP)—Unusual weather was encountered late today when U. S. Highway 66 traffic was hopelessly stalled both east and west of the city by a blanket of small hailstones eight inches deep, which left the wheat fields bare over two small areas.

Automobiles attempting to plow through the hail on the pavement were hung up on high centers or were forced sideways off the road, as the hail packed up in furrows or ruts a foot deep. Each of the strips pelted by the hail was about three miles across and the extent of the fall north and south could not be ascertained. Motorists traveled from the midst of a heavy rain suddenly to a vista of fields white as though with snowfall.

Precipitation here was .80 of an inch within an hour but no damage was reported in the city. Rainfall was scattered over the Panhandle and was not heavy.

Being Air-Minded Doesn't Appeal To The Baby So Much

Jimmy Norton, aged 5, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Newton, Fort Worth, mutually agreed Saturday afternoon that it is all right to become "air-minded," provided it isn't carried too far.

Both parents and child realized they had done just this when the westbound Southern Air Transport plane landed and took off from the Big Spring airport Saturday.

The trio, on route to Van Horn, had stopped their touring car to watch the plane land. When the plane took off, so did the automobile make progress westward on the highway, with the eyes of the parents riveted on the aircraft.

Behind them was Jimmy, who had climbed out of the rear seat and had been left stranded on the highway. A mile from the airport the loss of Jimmy was discovered.

REED TO FORT WORTH

Jack Reed, who has been bedridden for six months following fracture of a hip, was carried to Fort Worth Saturday for an operation in an effort to regain for him the use of the limb. It was planned to re-break and re-set the hip.

'MONOPOLY' TARGET OF SPEAKERS

Two Local Men Are Added To List Of Directors

Before a highly representative audience, gathered around the banquet board, problems of the independents of the oil industry were reviewed in detail Friday evening at the first zone meeting held by the Independent Petroleum Association of Texas since its organization was finished.

WIM Heard

Claude C. Wild, executive vice president, announced Saturday two Big Spring men had been added to the board of directors. They are Joseph Edwards, president of the Big Spring Pipe Line company, and B. F. Robbins, independent dealer in leases and royalties. Robert T. Finer, vice president of the West Texas National Bank, already held membership on the board. He was active in arranging Friday evening's program.

Speakers

Dr. G. T. Hall was master of ceremonies. Speakers were President Tom E. Cranfill of the association; Mr. Wild; E. G. Bedford of Midland, a leading figure among royalty men; state Senator Clint C. Small of Wellington, candidate for governor, and Charles L. Morgan of Fort Worth, secretary-treasurer and head of the legal department.

Miss Eugenia Booth, local dancing instructor, entertained with two numbers, a tap dance and a waltz selection. She was heartily applauded.

Highlight of the evening's deliberations was unanimous adoption of a resolution condemning action of the Humble Oil & Refining company, announced Friday by President W. S. Farish, that the concern would withdraw from Archer, Wilbarger and Wichita counties, as a purchaser of crude, effective July 1.

Humble Action

Mr. Morgan's address was punctuated by the declaration that "if it develops the Humble's action was taken to favor a field controlled by the Humble the Independent Petroleum Association is going to do something about it and that quickly."

Mr. Cranfill, a pioneer independent producer, alluded to "old time" actions of President Farish of the Humble, declaring that the latter once was a leader in an independent oil man's organization in South Texas.

"Bill could and did make better talks for an oil tariff than anybody. Fortunately we have copies of some of his speeches taken from newspapers. He got over the fence—way over. He's still my personal friend but our ways have diverged considerably," said Cranfill.

Board

He reviewed actions of the federal oil conservation board, and related detail of the fight made recently by southwestern independents to have a tariff enacted on

RUTH AND RICE HOLD 6 CROWNS

CHICAGO, June 7 (AP)—Sam Rice, Washington's siege gunner, and Babe Ruth, who still is paying big dividends to the Yankees, held six out of a possible eight batting leaderships in the American league after the dust had settled on the games of last Thursday.

Unofficial averages show Rice the leading hitter for the fifth successive week with a .461 average and the leader in individual hits with 75. Ruth led in four fields with 52 runs, a total of 124 bases with his 57 long blows, 18 home runs and 50 runs batted in. Gehring of Detroit and Cronin of Washington tied for the lead in doubles with 15 each while Combs of the Yankees monopolized the field in triples with eight to his credit. Rice also led in stolen bases with 10 thefts. Batting averages in the junior circuit remained about the same during the seventh week of campaigning. Although Rice's mark fell from .419 to .401, Al Simmons of the Athletics competed in but two games because of his illness but boosted his average from .379 to .386, good for second place. The other leaders and their averages were Hodapp, Cleveland, .379; Ruth, New York, .377; Cochran, Philadelphia, .366; McManus, Detroit, .358; Foxk, Philadelphia, .349; Combs, New York, .345; Jolley, Chicago, .343; and Oliver, Boston, .344. Cleveland remained ahead in team batting with a .296 average while Philadelphia fielded at a .977 clip to lead in defense. Lefty Grove of the Athletics and Mel Harder of Cleveland were still fighting out for the pitching lead, the unofficial averages disclosed. Grove won another game during the week to run his season's record to seven won and none lost while Harder also won one and has a string of six victories and no defeats. Grove increased his strike-out total to 79 and has a wide lead in that field. The Boston Red Sox completed seven more double plays during the seventh week and now lead the league with 56 twin killings.

Howard County Poultry Raisers Demonstrate Value Of Balanced Ration With Spring Time Profits

Four Howard county residents have demonstrated that poultry fed a balanced ration will return a fair profit above the cost of feed in the face of the low price of eggs in the spring.

Demonstrators with 693 hens produced 16,899 eggs and a net profit of $135.53 at an average price of 23.2 cents per dozen for the eggs.

Here are their records: With 300 white leghorns which have not been culled and which are infested with lice, W. B. Sneed, farmer and county commissioner, of the Center Point community, produced 4800 eggs at feed cost of $55.25 and a net profit of $44.75 at an average price of 25c per dozen for his eggs.

Mr. Sneed's flock consumed 500 pounds of a commercial mash mixture for a cost of $18.25 and he charged his flock with a ton of grain at $25, the grain being secured from the feed stacks.

Mrs. J. L. McCaslin of the Foreman community has 41 Buff Orpingtons and 130 Anconas, 171 all, which have been culled closely, have no insects and have been fed a balanced ration. Her flock produced 2462 eggs for the month at a feed cost of $24.19 and a net profit above the cost of feed of $37.35. Mrs. McCaslin received 30c per dozen for her eggs.

W. L. Williams of the Bisco community has 85 White Leghorns which have not been culled this season, but which are free of insects. His flock consumed 290 pounds of a home mixed mash at $5.20, $4.50 worth of grain from the feed stacks, $3.72 worth of skim milk at 4c per gallon and 15c worth of oyster shell. He got 1908 eggs for an average price of 25c per dozen for his eggs and a net profit of $26.18.

T. J. Brown of the Knott community has 137 hens in his flock of silver laced Wyandotts. His flock is heavily infested with lice, but has been culled fairly closely and has foraged at will, except for 31 gallons of milk and kitchen waste charged at $1.24. The flock produced 1629 eggs for a net profit of $27.25.

It will be worth any farmer's time to study these records in relation to feed and managerial practices and with relation to insect pests, said County Agent J. V. Bush.

It is interesting to note that the two flocks which are free of insect pests and which have been culled closely this season have given an average net return of 26c per hen as compared with 16.9c per hen for the two flocks infested with insects and which have not been culled. It is also interesting to note that in one of these, Mrs. McCaslin's flock, includes 41 medium class birds which are not, as a rule, as heavy producers as the lighter breeds. It is also interesting to know that Mr. Brown's flock dropped from 3875 eggs for March, at which time he stopped feeding, to 1629 eggs for the month of May, and he has 223 hens, which had not been culled in March as compared with 137 hens which have been culled closely for May.

The time when Mr. Brown's will suffer most for lack of feeding his flock a balanced feed this spring will be in late summer and in the fall when eggs are higher and his flock, underfed and short-weighted will not stand up under heavy egg production, said Mr. Bush.

Oklahoma City Woman Captures Tulsa Tourney

TULSA, Okla., June 7 (AP)—Thanks to a steady all-around performance, Mrs. Hulbert Clarke of the Oklahoma City golf and country club tonight was the owner of the trophy representing the 1930 championship of the Women's Trans-Mississippi Golf association. Plugging along in unwavering style for thirty-one holes, the resolute Oklahoma City woman staged somewhat of an upset in defeating Mrs. Dorothy Klotz Pardue of the Sioux City, Iowa, country club, six up and five to play in the 36-hole finale of the association's fourth annual tournament.

National Honors Held By Handful

NEW YORK, June 7 (AP)—The batting honors of the National League have been gathered into the hands of a small but select group of sluggers. Herman of Brooklyn holds first place in three departments of the averages released today, which include Thursday's games, while the other top slugging positions are divided among Hazen Cuyler and Hack Wilson of Chicago and Frankie Frisch of St. Louis.

Herman tops the list of regular batters with a mark of .420, 16 points ahead of his nearest rival, Frank Hogan of New York. He also has scored 59 runs and has made 74 hits, to lead the league in these respects. Bill Terry of New York was second with 73 hits and tying with Johnny Frederick of Brooklyn with 48 runs.

Cuyler and Wilson of Chicago lead each in two departments: Cuyler has hit nine triples, two more than his teammate, Woody English, and has stolen 13 bases, almost double the total of Paul Waner of Pittsburgh, who is second with seven thefts. Wilson heads the home run list with 17 and leads in runs batted in with 50. Walter Berger of Boston is second in homers with 15 while Chuck Klein of Philadelphia and Herman are tied for second place in driving in runs, one behind Wilson.

Frisch's first place comes in hitting doubles, where his total of 21 is four ahead of the second man, Frederick.

Only three regulars are hitting above the 400 mark. Herman and Hogan top the list while Harry Hellman of Cincinnati has taken third place with a .420 average. Following him among those who have been at bat 100 times or more come Terry, New York, .397; Grant-ham, Pittsburgh, .394; P. Waner, Pittsburgh, .394; Klein, Philadelphia, .392; O'Doul, Philadelphia, .380; Blantonette, Brooklyn, .373, and Frisco, St. Louis, .368.

Brooklyn holds the lead in pitching as well as hitting as the veteran Adolfo Luque remains undefeated. He has won five straight games. Bob Osborn of Chicago took a tight grip on second place as he won his fourth successive game Thursday. He also is undefeated.

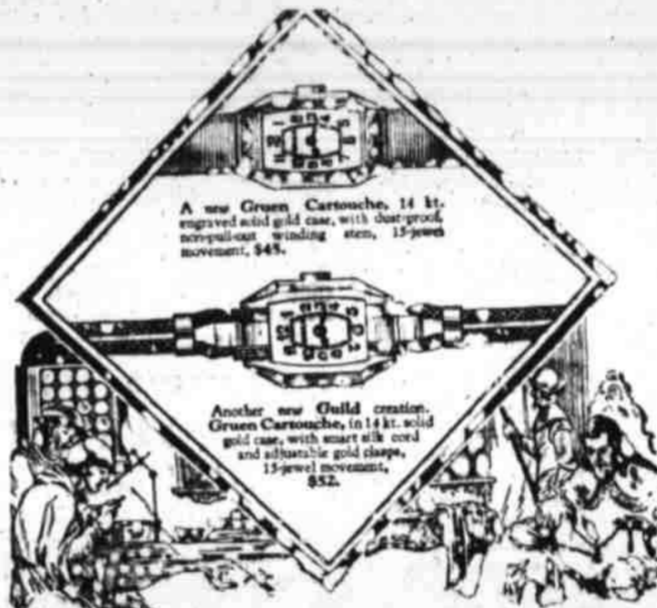

The St. Louis Cardinals, former rivals of the Robins for team batting leadership slumped last week, giving Brooklyn a 12-point margin at .328. Cincinnati held the top of the fielding list with a .978 average.

Applications For Scout Encampment Can Be Filed Here

Applications from Boy Scouts wishing to attend the annual summer camp of the Buffalo Trail area, which will be conducted on the Concho river north of San Angelo June 16 to 31, may be filed here today with Marcus Williamson, assistant area executive, who may be reached through C. S. Holmes.

Mr. Williamson Saturday, after having communicated with San Angelo, officials, said a man who was drowned in the Concho south of San Angelo several nights ago had never been in a regular scout camp, and was not acting as a regular scout master.

He attempted to swim across the river for a fishing pole; thirty minutes after having eaten, and was seized with cramps.

ADVERTISING GIVEN AMERICAN CIGARETTES, THERMOS BOTTLES AND SOUP PANS WAY FOR YANKEE LASSIES TO FEET OF ENGLISH RULER

By WILL ROGERS
Well all I know is just what I read in the papers. I just been reading in the news about the presentation of some of our Americans at the Court of St. James. I remember Ambassador Dawes telling me about what a time he was having picking out the ones that were to be presented. He wanted to turn it over to the Senate to decide which ones to present. Well they had it and as usual wealth won out. You have often seen the add "Campbell's Soup." Well that add has netted dividends, for offspring Charlotte bent the knee to the King and Queen. It just shows you what advertising will do for you.

The Thermos Bottle people have got into the social heat by producing a client to courtesy to their Majestys. Everybody that has ever taken a bottle on a picnic contributed to her social success. The Radio people enter a daughter, Elizabeth. While the world has been listening in they have themselves had their ear to the society ground, and when the time come they turned in with Lizzie.

But while all these national advertised ingredients were "going social" don't think the cigarette was idle. No sir. Old Gold had a feat and sent their fair daughter, Doris Duke "walked a mile" through Buckingham Palace to get a peek at George and Mary. Campbell's Soup had nothing on Campbell's Cigarettes. Old Chesterfield was there in all its debutante finery. The Stotesburys entered a fair maid for the test in the person of Miss Francis Hutchinson.

Atlanta comes through and it wasn't Coca-Cola either. It was some of the Hoke Smith troop. So it looks like the whole thing run pretty near to form. I kinder thought Dawes would pick out a bunch of girls in our land who had accomplished something. You know last year America got a lot of favorable publicity by Helen Willis crashing into what up to then had been "Who's Who in Debutanteville." Helen made it on backline drive. She could stand in Buckingham Palace and place one in Windsor Castle. So it was thought well maybe they will start introducing girls who have swum a channel, speled all the words right, stuck to the phone during a fire, or done some noteworthy thing. But, no it was the same old racket. The bank book got you in. Achievement couldn't hurdle a flock of credit slips. The whole thing is the prize "Hokey" thing of all time. They don't get to say a word. The Queen don't say a word to them. They just come by, do a little bum courtesy and then they are through for the day. It compares in importance about like voting the Democratic ticket at a presidential election. You vote but it don't mean anything.

Dawes added the only Democratic touch to the whole thing by having on breeches of a decent length. The ambassador from Russia, "Comrade" somebody or other, he wore knee breeches but he had a sweater on. So that squared him with the proletariat.

Old New Jersey is all excited over the coming election. Mr. Morrow was practically all set, as he should have been, to go to the United States Senate. He is not only the class of the race but of all their races for some time. It takes a statesman to name any of New Jersey's senators in the past years. So this little fellow would have given them a dignity and importance that they have been sadly lacking in. Plus an ability that is unusual in any one running for the Senate. Because he announced himself on the prohibition question, and give the best straight forward explanation of his stand, why up jumps a dry. He has the same chance being elected as I have to supplant Charley Chaplin as the world's greatest comedian. But this old boy just saw a chance to get back into print, so he announced that he would run, not by popular demand, but by personal inclination. So that splits the thing all up. Now he could be in the Senate ten years and nobody would ever know what state he was from, while Morrow would be a power in there. His ability would stand out like a traffic light in that hood.

Been interested in the scheme of my old friend Jack Garner of Texas. Jack wants to divide up the great State of Texas into five states. Why he wants to stop at five nobody knows. If he is going to split the old open range up, why not make a job of it.

The papers state that Texas would make 220 states the size of Rhode Island, and 54 the size of Connecticut, and six times bigger than the whole of New England. Jack wants more senators to offset that mess from the east. Well lets make some Rhode Island out of it, and that will give us (220 times as big). That's 440 senators. Now that ought to satisfy anybody, even if you are fond of senators, 440 ought to get us about what Pennsylvania has been getting with their two.

Our friend Mussolini broke a silence last week. When all the rest of the world was talking on disarmament he remarked as per such, "Though words are beautiful things, ships and aeroplanes, are much more beautiful." That old lad spoke a palate full. He knows the nations that are great are the ones that have something in the way of side arms. He knows that without an army and navy they will never be able to find room for his growing population.

That fellow has kept Italy on the up-grade for all these years, and all the time everybody says, "Oh he can't last." I have said ever since I met him in '28, that he was by far the greatest guy I had ever met, and there has never been a day since then that I have changed.

He has done more for his country than any man ever did for one in a like time. You don't see em shooting at him any more do you. He is a whiz that baby is. I have never yet seen him propose a fool thing.

Local Labor Will Get First Call On Sewer Program Here
Local labor will be used to the greatest extent possible in the $130,000 sewer system construction program. City Manager V. R. Smitham declared Saturday. Contracts for the work have been mailed to the successful bidders, and are expected to be signed and returned this week.

According to Smitham the bidders understood when bids were submitted two weeks ago, that local labor was to be used in the construction program. Smitham declared he had no idea, at the present, how many men would be employed on the project, as he had no way of ascertaining how many standard crews and machinery would be used by the contractors.

The work is expected to be started within a few weeks.

'MA' OPENS CAMPAIGN

Former Governor Is Heard In Native Belton

BELTON, June 7. (AP)—Launching her campaign for the Democratic nomination for governor, Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson told a home-town audience here today the people need relief from threatened oppression, defended her pardon record while governor in 1925-27, and criticized "all this talk" about being governor by proxy. She set out at length the subjects on which she said her campaign would be based.

James E. Ferguson, whose name was barred from the Democratic ballot, also addressed the meeting. He said he did not come "to rebash or rehearse personal misfortunes or reverses." He said the conditions of the people was such "that we must counsel one with another."

"My wife," he said, "has for the most part adopted a platform which we had published and upon which we hoped that the people might have the privilege to elect me governor. But as you and I have been denied the privilege my good wife has met the crisis and has announced herself as a candidate upon the same platform differing only in one particular."

"As a prohibitionist my wife wants a law passed that will keep anybody from holding office that drinks bootleg liquor unlawfully obtained. While I am an anti, I must admit that she is right. Prohibition is the law of the land and if it can be, it ought to be enforced the same as any other law."

Five Years
Mrs. Ferguson in her address recalled that she had lived in the governor's office nearly five years, during the administration of her husband and herself, and declared she was acquainted with the governor's duties and "troubles of office."

"When I was governor," she said, "I had peace with the legislature and its labors were finished in one term and there was only one special term and that was to validate the bonds declared by the federal courts invalid, in order to protect the credit and honor of the state. There were no lynchings in my term of office and the prison system was self-sustaining."

"With all that has been said and charged, the records will show that I never issued any more pardons than the Colquitt and Hobby administrations, both of which governors opposed my election."

"First, I want to pass a law that will prohibit anybody from holding office who drinks intoxicating liquor unlawfully obtained. I do not care to again open the question of the merits of prohibition. If anybody is an anti I have no quarrel with them. I'm not asking votes because I am a prohibitionist in precept and practice."

"But prohibition is the law of the land and it ought to be enforced or repealed. It must be enforced or its continued violation will destroy the respect for all law and life and property will no longer be safe. As to how and when the private citizen chooses to drink, we need not here discuss."

Pro Plank
"But when an office holds a public trust the citizen has a right to know if such officer himself violates any law which he is sworn to enforce. Would any business turn its management over to a man that drinks, either lawfully or unlawfully? Would any board of trustees even though they be anti-prohibitionists employ a school superintendent who drinks even moderately? Would we want to leave our few slaves that we hope to have in a bank where the president and board of directors drink? Did anybody ever know of anything that a drinking man can do successfully?"

"As a prohibitionist, I am willing to stand the acid test. I am sick and tired of office holders kicking and cuffing our citizens around and sending people to prison for bootleg liquor which they themselves are drinking every day. We will never get anywhere with this kind of law enforcement. I want the law enforcing officers to be required at least to set a good example to our boys and girls, by not drinking unlawfully themselves."

Secondly, the candidate continued, she wants to give the state another business administration; third, keep Texas money in Texas and require state banks and national banks acting as public depositories to loan at least 75 per cent of the capital and deposits in this state; fourth, "before people are finally turned out of their lands and homes by land sharks, I want them to have two years in which to redeem same"; fifth, tenant farmer to have equal rights with the landlord; sixth, the people to have the right to elect five highway commissioners; seventh, "I am opposed to the issuance of state bonds for road purposes. I want to reduce the gasoline tax to three cents which will furnish some $30,000,000 a year which is all the money that honest men ought to want to spend in one year on roads."

Public Roads
Eighth, the public roads are built by the people for their general use. "Therefore, I want to keep these great monster trucks and buses off the public highways"; ninth, luxury tax on factory-made cigarettes and

Expect Barnes To Win Net Tournery

DALLAS, June 7. (AP)—Bruce Barnes, hard driving Texas University star, has been established a favorite in the Texas district tennis tournament opening here Monday at the courts of the Dallas Tennis club.

In the absence of Berkeley Bell, last year's winner, Wilmer Allison and Lewis White, the Longhorn flash was expected to subdue the field in singles and, paired with Luciano Lacoste, another Texas University netter, to go far in the doubles.

Two Dallas stars, Jimmy Quick and John Earr, appeared to be the greatest obstacles in Barnes' path to the state title.

J. E. Adoue Jr., head of the tournament committee and himself a strong contender for singles honors, despite his 47 years, announced today that an entry of at least 60 out-of-town stars was assured, including a score of feminine aspirants.

Ruth Bailey of Texas University was expected to repeat her triumph of last year in women's singles. The St. Louis girl, however, will face some stellar opposition in Anna Mae Reichert of San Antonio and Mary Zita McNeal of Dallas, to mention just two. Miss McNeal

Miss Johnnie Hawkins was a passenger on the Cromwell plane from San Antonio to Big Spring, Saturday morning, transferring to the S. A. T. westbound plane Saturday afternoon. Her destination was Midland. The plane was loaded when it reached here, one passenger getting off.

Three passengers from here were on the eastbound S. A. T. plane Saturday morning, it also being loaded when it took off.

Mrs. Zena Brice Lowerre, L. G. Moffet and Bon B. Hartline, were passengers to Dallas, Abilene and Fort Worth respectively.

Three passengers were in Pilot Jimmy Walker's southbound Cromwell plane when it took off for San Antonio Saturday afternoon. They went to San Angelo.

Boyd Kennedy, pilot for G. L. Rowsey, left at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon for Gainesville in Rowsey's Curtiss-Robin plane.

Kennedy was called to Gainesville on account of illness in his family.

Harris Radiator Shop Is Moved

F. S. Harris, proprietor of the Harris Radiator Works, 412 E. Mr. Harris has been in business in Big Spring for two and a half years and previous to that time was in the same business in Dallas.

In the same building J. R. Petty, for the last five years service manager for the King Chevrolet Co., will conduct a general auto repairing business. Previous to Mr. Petty's employment with the Chevrolet agency he was with the Snappy Service Station.

cigars; tenth, restore efficient management of the state prison system.

"They bring against me the crime of having a husband that advises me," Mrs. Ferguson said. "God pity some of these men candidates if they have not a wife to advise them if the people were so foolish as to elect them."

"All this talk about being governor by proxy is an insult to your intelligence. You, the people, had better have a real governor by proxy than a no-account governor by nothing."

COLORS OF PIN HEADS ON MAP IN NURSE'S OFFICE INDICATE HEALTH PROGRESS IN COUNTY

Colored flags on standing pins punched in bunches into a map give immediate pictures of army maneuvers, advances and retreats. And so it is. The advance of scientific, healthful living into the ranks of disorder and dirt.

In the office of Mrs. M. H. Showalter and Mrs. Louella Allgood, county health and demonstration officers a map of Howard county hangs on the wall.

Each community, represented by a black dot, has its quota of red, orange, blue, peach and green flags. Each flag represented a measure of health enforcement and protection new to the community.

The flags stand for the following: Red—vaccination or immunization conference held.

Orange—school inspection completed.

Blue—significs home visit.

Peach—pre-natal and post-natal work.

Purple—health clubs.

Green—health-meter scales placed in school room.

Yellow—thermometers placed in each room of the school.

Black—diseased gums treated.

Blue—assisted in having 1-2 pint of milk served to under weight children daily.

Grey—form letters on hot tonsils sent to parents (400).

The office itself shows in a pictorial way the work of the health agent. Its walls are covered with posters to attract the attention of visitors and encourage such things

BARBS DROP BATTLE TO COSDEN

Potter Pitches Refiners To Top Of City League

Ten hits gleaned from the languid offerings of Fryer, combined with costly errors by both outfielders and infielders, gave Cosden Refinery a 9 to 5 victory over the Barbers Friday afternoon.

Potter, south-paw hurler of Cosden, tossed a beautiful game. He had only one bad inning—the sixth—when the Barbers elected him for four bingles to run, five tallies across the slab.

Although Fryer gave up 10 hits during the day, errors made by his teammates increased the tally. Glenn at shortstop had a miserable day, making three errors during the fray.

The Barbers tallied in the first inning on a single by L. Madison and one of the same by Glenn. Madison going homeward. Although they scored six runs in the initial Cosden second half.

While the Barbers were getting a bitter taste of Potter's best hurling, Cosden was running in a tally as an inning until the sixth. Cosden scored in the third when Purvis forced Gillham out at second, later scoring on Smith's high fly to right field.

Potter was nicked for four hits in the sixth inning to ruin an otherwise perfect day on the rubber slab. Not only was he found by the Barbers but he issued several free passes.

Wykoff Sets New Sprint Mark

Well, and a brace of wells, Cosden is on top of the City League, master of all they might be prone to survey, if any. Having slipped the clay to the Barbers by the Potter of the team, Cosden Refinery rests, for the time being, upon the uppermost rung.

Just to be frank, the way Spike Henninger—he's the generalissimo of the Cosden outfit—treated us Saturday afternoon we are just about to think Cosden isn't going wild over the event.

Glenn almost wore us down at shortstop for the Barbers Friday afternoon. Everytime Glenn would make an error we would borrow a match and about forty people sitting around us ran out of matches.

Cotton Clover umpired another good game Friday.

One of his decisions brought Lois Madison on the field like he had ants in his pants, but outside of that he turned in a nice day for an umpire.

The Back Lots Baseball League cordially invites you to umpire next Saturday's game between the Gas House Gophers and the Water-front Weasels.

Wykoff's achievement in cracking the world mark for the century was a thriller. He was away winging, first out of his holes, and led every foot of the race, with Simpson snapping at his heels after the first 30 yards.

I. C. Tinsley, veteran baseball player and vice-cracker of the Barbering crew, was very silent Friday.

In fact Tinsley, who usually is seen and heard as well, was neither of the two Friday afternoon. We inquired as to the cause and he informed us he was sick. He got away before we got to ask him if he became suddenly ill with Cosdenitis.

Something tells us that Burnes, formerly of Cosden, now of Richardson, is in for the wrath of the fans this afternoon.

He had brief trials with the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1926 and 27. Mahaffey is six feet tall and weighs 180 pounds. His home is Belton, South Carolina.

EARLE SANDE SMASHES DOUBT

Turf Champion Runs Legs Off Favored Whichone

BY ALAN GOULD Associated Press Sports Editor BELMONT PARK, N. Y., June 7. (AP)—Gallant Fox, with the bruised and bandaged Earl Sands in the saddle, answered the challenge to their greatness today by scoring a smashing triumph in the rich Belmont stakes and capturing the three-year-old championship of the American turf beyond the palest shadow of a doubt.

This was the big test for William Woodward's big bay son of Sir Gallahad 3rd and Gallant Fox met it by running the legs off Harry Payne Whitney's famous Whichone, the favorite, in a finish that was startlingly decisive in every respect.

The victory added $5,000 to his owner's winnings and shot his total beyond the $200,000 mark as a threat to the big money winners of the turf for all time.

The outcome of today's race was a distinct shock to the "wise money" which had rated the Fox somewhat lightly in spite of his great record and established Whichone the odds on favorite, a 3 to 5, with the Fox quoted at 8 to 5.

The Woodward colt acted as if insulted by these circumstances for he was impatient to be off, bolting from the barrier and galloping an eighth of mile down the track before Sands was able to turn him.

As the small field rounded into the home stretch, Whichone moved easily into second place and it looked like a real race. The Whitney colt was then a length and a half back of the Fox but the former's challenge was short lived.

The Fox bounded away from the favorite, settling the outcome in a few strides and galloping past the grand stand in a magnificent finish to win easily.

SCHMELING TOUGH ON MATES

Could Knock Grosso, Cavalier Out, Says German

By EDWARD J. HEIL Associated Press Sports Writer

ENDICOTT, N. Y., June 7. (AP)—The bell rang again today for the sparring partners, those battered patched disillusioned youngsters whose thankless task is to condition Max Schmeling for a world heavyweight championship fight with Jack Sharkey in the Yankee Stadium Thursday night.

They meander aimlessly around his training camp during layoff such as the German has taken, unnoted and apparently unnoticed, some with swollen noses, bruised eyes-brows and court plastered cheeks, others, the newcomers, fresh and anxious for a punch at a title challenger.

Schmeling, planning an aggressive, punching fight against Sharkey, is more than tough with his spar mates. He fights them, a though each was Sharkey himself. He cuts and mauls and batters punches them groggy, and the turns loose all the power in his short right hand to finish them as quickly as possible.

When Schmeling first trained in the United States he was proud of the fact that he never had to punch a sparring partner unaccompanied. During preparation for his triumphant parade through Paulino Uscudun his life tried to knock out a helper.

"I pay my sparring partners to get me in condition," Schmeling reasoned out loud as he discussed the situation. "For this match, fight all the time to get in shape. I must go at top speed, throw punches every second, hit hard. I hurt them, I cannot help it. This is the chance they take. I do not want to hurt them so much as try to get my punches working best."

"My sparring partners may be no good. Everyone thinks that. They ask me why I do not have men who jab well with the left hand and use right crosses a Sharkey does."

"Well, I tell you, I don't prepare for Sharkey's left jabs because I do not know that he will fight me that way. If I am looking always for left jabs and he does something else all the time, am I caught—what you call it—confused. No, I must get ready for anything Sharkey can do."

"So I fight as many as possible in training. Maybe they are not good, but each man has a different style. I conquer those styles like I conquer Sharkey's style June 1. Sharkey is not training to fight me as I have fought in the past. He has the same partners he has for several years. They do not fight like me."

Schmeling paused for a moment as he thought of something that has been irritating him. "They tell me Sharkey calls me sparring partners bums and say Johnny Grosso and Paul Cavalier in his camp could beat me. I to you this. If they were in my camp I knock them out just like the others."

GIANTS 9; CARDS 7

NEW YORK, June 7. (AP)—Melvin Ott's two home runs, which drove in six tallies, were the leading factors in the Giants' 9 to 7 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals. It was the seventh straight win for the Giants and their second over St. Louis. It put New York in third place as Pittsburgh lost to Boston.

The Cards got off to a two run lead on Mitchell, but lost it when Ott hit his eleventh homer of the season in the first inning. A four-bagger by Douthitt in the fifth put St. Louis ahead again only to have Ott hit another homer and aid in a five run Giant rally in the seventh which decided the game.

The game got off to a late start and the first six innings were played in rain.

Out Of The Fog

HARRY SEIBOLD

BOSTON, June 7. (AP)—Harry Siebold has broken through a fog of minor league experiences to shine as a big leaguer again.
"Socks" this season has proved himself to be one of the best bets of the Boston Braves pitching staff, and a decade ago he was shuttled to the minors.
The Philadelphia Athletics let him go then, and little was heard of him until in 1928 the Chicago Cubs found him heading the list of pitchers in the International League.
The Cubs sent Siebold to Boston, and though last year he lost more games than he won, this season he started off by winning seven out of his first nine starts, and finishing all of them.

erd of 23.2.

Simpson, the Buckeye star, left no doubt as to his superiority in the 220 yard dash. He won by at least five yards in :20.7, a tenth faster than the former N. C. A. A. record which he established a year ago. Cy Leland of Texas Christian was second, while Tolan, farmer of North Carolina, and East and Root of Chicago, crossed the line in that order in a blanket finish.
In addition to Simpson's performance in the furlong, new meet records were established 880-yard run, two-mile, pole-vault, discus throw and shot-put.

another contract. We'll say this for Burns. He can clout and clout hard. He can also sing "Breeze" to several hurlers in the loop.

Four of the best hurlers in the loop will meet face to face today. Jessa Vieke, for the Barbers, who is good when he is right, will see a little fellow named Larrimore on the opposite hill for the Bankers. Larrimore, in our opinion, is due for a break one of these days. His road has been rough and rocky and full of erroneous detours. Simms will hurl for Cosden, and he is plenty good, even though a bit aware of the fact. Dickinson, the iron man of Richeo, will be on the mound for J. C. Moore's collection of apple knockers.

Tires are SO cheap now

TIRE prices today are at the lowest point in the history of the rubber business.

The difference in price between the best standard tire and one that you can't be sure of, is, if anything, hardly enough to count.

That removes the last excuse a sensible man can have for not buying as excellent a tire as the Goodyear All-Weather Tread Balloon.

It is the standard of quality of the world; it outsells any other tire in the world; it is the basis of the eloquent fact that "more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind!"

You want the biggest possible money's worth in safety, traction, dependability and mileage when you buy a tire—you can get it now at no premium in the standard Goodyear All-Weather.

Your size is waiting for you at a price you can afford to pay—no farther away than the nearest Goodyear Dealer!

Goodyear can give you greater tire values because Goodyear builds more than crude oil characterizing it as the "greatest uprising of grown men you ever saw."

With three senators committed to an oil tariff 1,500 operators, who gathered in Tulsa in 48 hours' notice, came very near having the tariff measure passed, he pointed out.

"We believe we'll get it next session and we may have a chance before then," he added.

Effect upon the independent of importation of foreign oil was reviewed. Mr. Cranfill said importation from Venezuela in 1927 totaled 71,000,000 barrels, in 1928 91,000,000 barrels and in 1929 108,564,000 barrels.

"All this proration business is being asked under the guise of conservation, prevention of depletion or exhaustion of our domestic oil supply," said the speaker. "Prognostications of the hirings of the American Petroleum Institute are ludicrous. We have a reserve in well oil and in oil-bearing shales of Colorado and Wyoming alone to last us 2,500 years. I kinda lose interest after the first 300 years and my children get hungry three times a day right now."

"It is the aim of the Independent Petroleum Association to displace this idea that proration is necessary for conservation. What will happen when there are no independent producer? What will you pay for gas?"

Little Bearing

"The price of crude has very little bearing on the price of gasoline. In 1926 the average price of oil was $2.32 per barrel and that of gasoline 20 cents per barrel. In 1929 the average crude price was $1.12 and that of gasoline 19 1/2 cents a gallon in an identical group of American cities.

"I've been told by some of the major company bosses that they base the price of crude purely upon what it costs to place it on the gulf coast compared with the price for delivering Venezuelan crude on the Atlantic coast. In event then, that we are successful in obtaining a dollar per barrel tariff on crude your oil ought to be worth a dollar more if the thing followed through.

"Under the present conception of proration and conservation the independent cannot exist. If this is the case something must be done. The oil crop in Texas is largest. The University of Texas is its largest royalty holder. There is no telling in the world what the Permian Basin will produce. The major companies now are buying prospective oil producing lands in Texas or on long term leases. In the meantime they obtain their supply from foreign oil concessions. I am told the entire eastern slope of the Andes mountains in South America is a potential oil field and that there are about fifteen known but untouched fields on that continent.

Mr. Wild introduced the petition dealing with the Humble's action affecting the Wichita area. It follows:

A Resolution

"WHEREAS—Upon the transportation and marketing of crude oil in Texas, depends not only the prosperity of hundreds of independent operators, but also the welfare of hundreds of thousands of people, and

WHEREAS—Once a pipe line is laid to a field and a posted price for oil announced, individuals and companies are thereby induced to make investments and to produce oil for that market, and:

WHEREAS: Public policy demands the reasonable security of such investments and of these activities, and:

WHEREAS: The summary taking up of these pipe lines or the withdrawal of all markets for crude which has been produced in good faith is opposed to public policy and constitutes a violation of fair business practices:

BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED by the one Three of the Independent Petroleum Association of Texas at Big Spring, June 6, 1930, that we condemn as opposed to public policy the withdrawing of pipe line facilities or of marketing outlets when investments have been made and production secured upon the reasonable belief that such facilities were of permanent nature.

"The idea of a fight between monopoly and competition is abroad in the land," declared Mr. Wild, who resigned as manager of the San Angelo Board of City Development to become executive director of the independents' organization "The Independent Oil man is the only barrier between monopoly and competition."

"Eliminate the independent and you land owners and royalty owners, merchants and all, eliminate your own best friend. If it hadn't been for oil Big Spring would be about half as large as she is. You've had agriculture a long time. But your growth has been due to a large extent to oil development. The independent caused that development," continued Mr. Wild.

Mr. Wild called attention to the fact that the new Van flush field and that at Hobbs, New Mexico, were discovered by the majors.

"While they're choking you in one company alone has announced seven new locations at Hobbs. There's no proration there or in Ector county, where there is no competition with independent. Wild concluded.

Mr. Bedford

Mr. Bedford, one of the keenest men in the royalty business and long a leading advocate of organized action by them, reviewed the campaign resulting in passage of the new pipeline bill. He said Governor Moody was sensible, brave and kind enough to submit it to a special session and that Senator Small and many of his colleagues in the legislature listened to "our plea and granted it."

He related incidents at President Hoover's conservation conference last June in Denver.

"We listened to Mark Regus, George Otis Smith and Dr. Kay Lyman Wilbur. When they finished our side got busy and when we were through they dropped their plea for proration, unit operation and so-called conservation."

My Best Friend

"The independent operator and refiner is my best friend, as a royalty owner," Bedford continued. The independent opens pools. The independent refiner is the last to cut prices and the first and only man to pay a premium. There is no community where every man, woman, boy and girl is not affected. Unemployment is made worse by actions of the majors. The joint hand and royalty owner should join hand in hand with this organization and should, above all, fight enforcement of the state anti-trust laws.

"One of the principal reasons for organizations of this kind is to fight unitization, proration, pooling and other such practices of the A. P. I. As a royalty owner I want an equitable, fair and just oil and gas lease instead of that sponsored by the A. P. I. I want fair and honest gauges and wherever I have an independent producer I have a safeguard. But if the producer also owns the pipeline look out! Senator Small, who had been scheduled for a campaign speech here Friday evening but, due to the conflict, was invited to attend the oil men's conference, held sharp attention in a pointed address.

Mr. Morgan spent much of his time with an explanation of the pipeline law which becomes effective June 15. He first warned against the "permissive agreement" bill, which he called the "A. P. I. bill."

It simply means that the majors want permission to violate the anti-trust laws," said Morgan.

This bill will come before the Texas Bar Association at Amarillo soon he said. It already has "slipped by" in several states, he added.

Complaints

The pipeline bill came into existence because of a series of complaints, said Morgan.

Complaints listed were: 1. Many operators with 40 or 50-acre leases could not run their oil because connections were with major pipelines and their owners pleaded that tanks and line were full. Independents were compelled to build storage as long as they could and when they could not they had to sell their wells. When these wells passed into hands of the majors connections were made with them.

2. In extensions to field, where an independent brought in a well and was refused pipeline connections. When a major company brought in an offset, in some cases, lines were connected, passing up the independent.

3. Storage charges of three cents per barrel per month levied in many places was considered too high.

"At first I believed they would do the right thing," said Morgan. "I had many friends in the large companies. I was one of the last to come across on this matter. But one day I picked up the Wall Street Journal. I read a declaration that 'the oil industry must pass into hands stronger than those of the independents. I read Mr. Henry Detwiler's statement that 'There is no place for the independent.' Now, I am serious about this business."

New Bill

Mr. Morgan then went into the new pipeline bill. The law, he said, had not regulated tanks unless they were parts of pipelines or were incidental to transportation. The new law makes storage companies common carriers, subject to rates fixed by the railroad commission. We believe a cent a barrel is fair. This bill also provides forms of receipts.

The matter of tying lines together was handled only, said Morgan, by a provision that "lines shall exchange tonnage." The new law provides for making tie-ins between lines. This provision also applies to those companies which elect to become common carriers.

The people may now go into the storage business, Morgan said. Independents now may run their oil to tide water and have their own tanks.

The "common purchaser" provisions simply is that all who buy oil and own the means of transporting it shall be common purchasers of oil rateably. Majors cannot take oil from their own wells and disconnect from the independents' offsets, said Morgan.

"It will not be on an acreage basis, either," he declared. "Why do we do this? These companies have the power of eminent domain in Texas, just as have the railroads. A railroad would have as much right to own wheat fields and refuse to haul wheat for others as for pipe line companies to run their own oil and refuse that of others."

"The bill goes further and says there must not be unjust or unreasonable differentiation between fields. We can't make this very hide-bound because of the old, settled fields. A flush field can stand a reduction in outlets better than a settled one."

Mr. Morgan then quoted pipe line rates, which he declared, brought out startling inequalities. He said Joseph Edwards of the Big Spring Pipe Line company was the only man who had contested a pipe line rate before the railroad commission.

Rates

Rates quoted by the speaker included: Monahans to the gulf, 32 1/2 cents plus 12 1/2 cents gathering charge; Tanger to Fort Worth 32 1/2 cents; Winkler to gulf, 32 1/2 cents; Bring Spring to gulf 52 1/2 cents; Yates to Del Rio, 17 1/2 cents; Ector to Big Spring 30 cents; Breckenridge to Fort Worth 41 cents; Breckenridge to gulf 50 cents; King's Mill, north of Amarillo to gulf 62 1/2 cents; Mexia to gulf 40 cents; Ranger to gulf 45 cents.

He said costs of pipelines must be obtained in order to fix rates equitably.

"If we're bound to have proration let's have it fairly in every field or throughout the state," he concluded.

GIRL INJURED

A ten year old girl named Grayson was slightly injured when struck by an automobile in the business district last night. She was taken to Bivings and Barcus Hospital where bruises and abrasions received treatment.

WANTED: FIFTY GIRLS UNDER FIFTEEN

To Join Jr. Health Club And Learn Principles Of Beauty

Wanted: Fifty girls over fifteen years of age to learn the basic principles of being beautiful.

Those who think that the basic principle of beauty is cold cream with powder and rouge plastered over it are all wrong according to those who know.

The offer is this: Join the Junior Health Club tomorrow afternoon between 1:30 and 4 o'clock at the office of Mrs. M. B. Showalter and learn the basic principles of beauty.

And, according to Mrs. Showalter, if it is possible, a high school credit or half credit will be offered for the successful completion of the course. Mr. Blankenship will be asked to attend some of the meetings and if possible the credit will be given.

As for the basic principles of beauty, who can deny that close study of the following will bring any girl more beauty than a dozen jars of cold cream? And at less cost!

She will learn about personal hygiene, posture, feet, shoes, cleanliness of person and clothes, the right kind of food, sanitation and many other things along this line.

For once she will learn what a proper diet is. Mrs. Showalter will suggest one that will cope with her tendency to fatten or to be too slender.

She will learn, first the values of foods and fats that will be able to gauge the usefulness of what she is eating.

Useful Later On If she is to finish college and become a school teacher, there are things about ventilation, lighting, and sanitation that she must know.

This course will teach these things to her. And if she leaves high school and gets married there are dozens of things that she must know. She should be familiar with the sanitation of the home, with the necessity of fresh air and sunshine, and with the sanitation of food and water.

She should know, before it comes, the proper care of the baby, as like as not her mother knew nothing about one until she had it, and was badly handicapped by her lack of knowledge.

The course will teach the dressing and handling of the baby, the bathing of the baby, the feeding of the baby and other bits of general knowledge that she will never learn elsewhere.

Indispensable For Kiddies And when the children grow older there will be hundreds of things that will happen to them. They'll run nails through their feet, let cats scratch them, have the nose bleed and get burned time after time.

This course will make any young woman feel like a trained nurse when Junior comes in with a fracture of the right arm after falling out of the mesquite tree in the backyard.

She will know that a fracture is a breaking of the bone.

She will place Junior in a comfortable position and soothe him. She will not go into hysterics, thus sending Junior into hysterics and probably nip in the bud his tendency toward being a stoic in the face of pain and danger.

This course, offered by Mrs. Showalter, will do much more than what is scantily outlined above. It is suggested that all girls who are interested meet with her Monday afternoon.

Presbyterians Plan For Monday Meeting

The Women's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian church will have a program meeting Monday at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Settles; hymn, "Work for the Night is Coming"; "Our Task Among the Hills," Mrs. Leslie Dahme; "The Promise of a New Generation," Mrs. Sam Baker; circle of prayer; "The Wages of Sin in a Mountain Family," Mrs. T. S. Currie; solo, Mrs. J. Wade Johnson. Misspah.

Commissioners Discuss Library Petition Must Have Names of Representative Citizens To Carry Weight

"We will do what the citizens ask us to do," was the opinion and verdict of the County Commissioner's court as a body, when interviewed yesterday in regard to the County Library.

"If the petition comes to us with the names of representative tax payers, land owners, and voters of the county signed to it, so that we are convinced that the majority of the people want a library, we will do what we can with the funds at our disposal.

"After the middle of August we will know just what funds will be in the General Fund and can then weigh the matter."

When pressed for a definite number or percentage of names necessary to make the petition carry weight, no commissioner was willing to make a definite statement.

Personally the commissioners stated that they were in favor of a county library, but they must be convinced that the people as a whole are anxious for the institution.

Thus the obvious conclusion is that on the petition and on the taxes gathered (results to be known in August) will depend the fate of the library. Leaders of the movement request that all women carrying petitions finish them as quickly as possible and call 611 to report their progress.

English Divorce Laws Do Not Maintain Any Moral Superiority

From The Chicago Tribune: The president of the English divorce court has announced that hereafter the discretion of the court permitting divorce when both husband and wife have been culpable will be exercised more freely and only upon complete confession of all pertinent facts. The rule is that a guilty man and a guilty woman cannot obtain release from their marriage, divorce being granted only if there is an innocent party, but the court has exercised the right of departing from an inflexible doctrine if conditions justified it.

A Superficial Virtue Divorce law in England seeks a superficial virtue. It is superficial because in giving the greatest consideration to appearance it produces notorious laxness. The legal ban on divorce has not protected the family relationship. Its consequences are not found in the fidelity of husbands and wives, but in infidelities to which society has become indifferent. Any superiority to which English society could pretend in sex morality above continental neighbors has disappeared in face of the known and acknowledged conditions in England.

Aristocratic habit is concerned only with the legal record which is supposed to sustain the virtues of English life if it does not reveal the vices. The prohibition of newspaper accounts of divorce proceedings was a measure taken to this end. It was a caste protection. The lower classes did not find their family scandals in the newspapers. The upper classes did, and the aristocratic formula was not to proceed against the causes of irregularity and promiscuity, but to muzzle the publicity which the consequences got.

Misconduct Is Tolerated A low divorce record does not mean that English family life is an admirable thing in well bred circles. It indicates only that in well bred circles men and women may do anything they please except get a divorce, disentangle themselves from the causes of their plight, and re-establish their lives honestly. Social decorum thus submits to a sanction of notorious misconduct and tightens up the divorce laws to save reputation while tolerating offenses and increasing discrepancy.

In consequence English life has the abandon of continental Europe without its intelligence. It makes undesirable and untenable marriage as little escapable as possible in law and then must condone the inevitable nonconformities.

Cards Invented For Amusement Of Inane King

"Gringoneur, a courtier of Charles IX, rearranged and designed a pack of cards with which he might entertain the sovereign during his royal spells of insanity. It was about 1592, therefore, that the modern pack originated. It contained 52 cards (number of weeks in the year), 365 dots (number of days), four suits (number of seasons), and thirteen cards to the suit (number of lunar months).

The first English cards in America probably arrived on the ship with the settlers at Jamestown, Va., in 1607. Actually, the first cards used in America were brought to Santa Fe, N. M., and St. Augustine, Fla., by the ever-gambling Spanish soldiers.

ATLANTA
 WASHINGTON, June 7 (AP)—The census bureau today announced the population of Atlanta, Georgia, as follows: Atlanta, total 353,722; borough of Atlanta, 266,357; borough of Avondale Estate, 525; borough of College Park, 6,549; borough of Decatur, 13,616; borough of East Point, 9,501; borough of Hapeville, 3,614; unincorporated communities numbers 1 to 15 inclusive 53,360.

The announcement carried this explanation: "An act of the Georgia state legislature, approved August 17, 1929, incorporated municipalities of Atlanta and included therein the areas known as boroughs of Atlanta, Avondale Estates, College Park, Decatur East Point, and Hapeville and unincorporated communities numbers 1 to 15 inclusive."

LOS ANGELES
 WASHINGTON, June 7 (AP)—Bettering by an edge Detroit's performance of ten years ago, Los Angeles probably set a 1930 census record with its 113.59 per cent increase that made a 1,231,730 population.

A century of censuses show big towns become that way by big increases, but never before has a city hopped over the million mark with a 100 per cent showing.

Detroit put on a spurt in 1920 which showed it could be done. Last census, Detroit grabbed the biggest gain for the biggest city, laurels with a 113.3 per cent increase which placed her population within easy shooting distance of the million mark—993,678.

It remains to be seen whether Detroit will this year prove the maker of more above the million mark than Los Angeles' 231,730 margin. Detroit, fell below 50 per cent but twice in a hundred-year career, 46.2 in 1880 and 38.8 in 1900. She proved the one city capable of repeating nearly 100 per cent increase performances (1850 and 1860) in her later years (1920). Los Angeles began late but hustled to make up for lost time. Entering the lists in 1850, population 1,610 "forty-niners," she staged a 172.4 per cent increase to 4,385 in 1860.

The gold rush simmered down a bit, giving her but a 30.6 per cent growth by 1870. But all went well after that—in census bureau percentage increase tables as follows: 1880—95.2; 1890—330.6; 1900—103.4; 1910—211.5; 1920—80.7; 1930—113.59.

A bigger Problem than PROHIBITION
 WASH DAY DRUDGERY MUST BE REPEALED

WOMEN OF BIG SPRING OVERWHELMINGLY FAVOR FREEDOM!

Whether you vote "wet" or "dry" on the Prohibition question—whether you favor repeal, modification or strict enforcement of the 18th amendment—you must decide at once a far more vital problem.

"What shall be done about washday in the home?" Your family's health and happiness are at stake. For washday drudgery not only is robbing millions of women of their youth, their charm, their ability to enjoy life to the full. But it is also depriving children of that precious companionship and guidance which is their birthright.

Washday does not belong in modern life. Its bacchaic and bother, its drain on energy, its thievery of golden leisure hours—are relics of the Dark Ages when women worked in fields. For home's sake—for our community's sake—let's abolish washday and clothesline drudgery forever!

We have made a BUSINESS of washday. Our scientific standards now assure safe, gentle care for your weekly washing. Rainsoft water in every suds and rinse gives cleaner, longer-lived clothes. Our prompt, efficient service is offered you—at real thrift prices! No wonder so many families in this community "Let the Laundry do it."

Declare your sentiments on the appropriate ballot. Then phone us today for service. Vote the laundry ticket every week and reap old-fashioned washday in your home!

Husbands! VOTE HERE

...and hand to your wife. I vote to "Let the Laundry do it" for the following reasons:
 I married a mate, not a martyr.
 I rely on modern methods in my work—why not in the home?
 I like my collars and shirts to have that crisp, professionally laundered look.
 I've lost my appetite for bit-or-miss washday supper.
 I want to step out or entertain folks once in a while—and you don't do yourself justice after wrestling with the wash all day.

...and hand to your husband I vote to "Let the Laundry do it" for the following reasons:
 I can't do justice to the house and children when I have that "washed out" feeling.
 I'd like a breathing spell each week for reading and recreation.
 I'd like to step out or entertain in the evening, too!
 The Laundry way costs about as much as you make in an hour—and my day is worth your hour.

passed on to the children so that there is grave danger of its becoming a sort of American vernacular. A blasé and cynical viewpoint is being encouraged.

The mother who gives her child a quarter and tells him to "run along to the movies," while she goes to a card party, is taking a chance with that child's future. Of course, there are thousands of notable exceptions, but too many mothers nowadays show a desire to park their children in any old place in order to get rid of them. If this continues and the children learn the truth as they grow up, Mother's Day is not going to be celebrated with any great enthusiasm thirty years hence.

HOW'S your HEALTH

MORE THAN A FAINT The simple faint is an alarming but not dangerous condition.

It is due to inadequacy in the blood supplied to the brain. It can be corrected by placing the patient in a position where his body is flat and his head a little lower than the rest of his body.

Occasionally, however, what appears but a simple faint, may in actuality be a much more serious condition.

For example, an individual falling and striking his head may suffer concussion or brain injury.

In hot weather, the faint may be due to sun-stroke or heat-stroke. The faint of an old person may be due to apoplexy and again, the sufferer's unconsciousness may be due to poisoning.

Often the cause of the faint may be gathered from the events preceding it.

Where the faint is very definitely known to have been due to such simple conditions as fatigue, fright, anxiety, pain or deep emotional disturbances, the sufferer will respond to simple treatment such as described above.

Where, however, there is a history of injury to the skull or where the person is aged or feeble, or shows paralysis, bleeding from the mouth or ears, or other exceptional symptoms, it is unwise to depend upon first-aid alone.

Sun-stroke, heat-stroke, concussion, apoplexy, and like conditions demand expert attention, and frequently the very life of the sufferer depends upon how expeditiously such help is secured for him.

Mayfield, In Belton, Hops On The Governor

BELTON, Texas, June 7 (AP)—Earle B. Mayfield gave Bell county residents their first opportunity to "warm up" to the present gubernatorial race.

The former United States senator, now candidate for governor, opened his address with an assertion that he had no time for the discussion of "petty" peanut politics or personalities, and ended with a satiric attack on Governor Moody.

Mayfield said that from the "wishy-washy way Moody has been making up his mind, he can't possibly decide by July 26 whether to run.

The Ferguson will open their campaign here Saturday.

Love Is Target Of James Young

BASTROP, Tex., June 7 (AP)—Jim Young of Kaufman, candidate for the democratic gubernatorial nomination, declared here that State Senator Thomas B. Love of Dallas, also a gubernatorial candidate, was "trying to save his political scalp by smoke screens of prohibition, Tammany-ism and all other kinds of lams in which he prides himself."

"I charge that he is doing this to conceal the real issues of this campaign, which are economic ones," Young asserted. "He would like to divert the minds of the voters of Texas from his advocacy of a $250,000,000 state bond issue for highways, which would crucify the taxpayers of this state and the unborn children of this generation on the altar of taxation."

HEROES FOR A DAY by Oscar Hitt

Murder at High Tide by CHARLES G. BOOTH

SYNOPSIS: The discoveries of Anatole Fliques, piecing together the mystery of Dan Parados' murder, astound Allan Hunt. He can not fathom the significance of a steel rod and some steel shavings Fliques finds in the workshop of Grainger, the hired man who was shot to death the day after Parados was murdered. Claude Annersley seems the most likely suspect. Hunt leaves Fliques and takes a stroll with Caroline Brent. Those two have struck up a romance during the murder quiz. On one end of San Lucas Island they find an old fishing village that the ruthless Parados had destroyed. Caroline thinks she sees a man on a wharf at one end of the island, but a moment later he disappeared. She insists someone was there.

THE MISSING STONE

After Caroline went up to her room I found myself with two hours in my hands before dinner. The ruin of the little village had depressed our spirits and it had left me in a restless mood. I searched about the place for Fliques. The little man was not to be found, so I set off around The Gut, intending to inflict myself on Professor Johns.

By the time I reached the fort it was dark. I heard voices, and a moment later found Fliques and Johns chatting in front of the tower door. Fliques had a game bag slung over his shoulder and a small rifle in his hand.

"Monsieur has the melancholy look," he remarked facetiously as I drew near. "Has a petite demoiselle abandoned him?"

"Why the rifle?" I inquired. Fliques chuckled. "That excellent Lum We promised me a fried rabbit for breakfast if I should bring one to him."

"I am an excellent shot, Monsieur," he said. "Lum We assured me the fat ones lived over here." "Probably they do," I said, grinning. "Professor Johns keeps a lettuce patch for them."

"M. le Professor does not approve of my hunt," Fliques chuckled. "Is it not so, Monsieur?" "I do not approve of taking life unless it cannot be avoided," Professor Johns answered. "But I am not a crank. I believe a man has a right to please himself."

"A wise word, that. It is all very well, no doubt, this passion for the birds and the fishes and the rabbits, but man must eat, and to eat he must kill." Fliques patted his plump stomach. "Your animals kill, do they not?"

their hats. Mrs. Parados and Miss Jahries occupied chairs in front of Samuels' table. Samuels turned his harassed face towards us. The glitter of green and white stones and gold-colored chain on the writing table caught my eyes. It was a trashy thing. . . . A bit of cotton was attached to the chain . . . and it might have been worth 25 cents.

"I've about decided to quit my job and join the movie police," Samuels burst forth. "Monsieur is unjust to himself," Fliques protested. "What is it? That the bullets which killed Messieurs Parados and Grainger were not fired from M. Annersley's pistol? Puff! You will commence again."

"You knew?" "Could it be otherwise?" "Oh, all right. Gridley has just come back with Captain Geddes' report. Neither of those bullets were fired from Annersley's gun—unless he had two guns, both of 'em equipped with silencers, and that's nonsense. He must have told the truth. I have had to let him go."

"It was the truth that he told my friend," Fliques said gravely. "And now this thing turns up," Samuels continued, and he tossed the gaudy pendant to Fliques. "Miss Jahries found it in the patio. The string on it matches the string on that tag that was in Parados' hand."

"And where did Mademoiselle find this trifle?" Fliques asked. "Tell him, Miss Jahries," Samuels grunted. "I was watering the shrubbery in the patio," the housekeeper explained. "It was buried under the coprosma in front of the sun room. I shouldn't have found it if water from the hose hadn't loosened the earth. Mrs. Parados was on the terrace and we both thought Mr. Samuels should have it."

"It was what you had been looking for," Mrs. Parados said dispassionately. Fliques had been fingering the green stones of the pendant with a singular avidity of touch. As Mrs. Parados said this he spread it out on his palm. My heart jumped. One of the green stones was missing.

I glanced at Mrs. Parados. Her eyes were riveted on Fliques' face. She seemed to be cringing behind her defenses. Was this the end? "We must go back to the beginning, Fliques," Samuels went on with a touch of his old arrogance. "The price tag and that pendant are the fundamental clues. When we know who left the tag in Parados' hand I'll be ready to call it a day."

Fliques seemed surprised. "Mon Dieu!" he exclaimed, "you do not know that?" His face became stern—sterner than I had ever seen it and he looked straight at Mrs. Parados. "Madame shall tell us," he said. "This pendant is hers."

Fliques had cornered Mrs. Parados. Tomorrow she tries to wiggle out—but she can't! Tailor made seat covers at Tulsa Radiator Fender-Body Co.—adv.

'SONG OF THE FLAME' BASED ON POPULAR OPERETTA IS MAGNIFICENT

By all odds, the most magnificent and colorful play with music thus far made, is now to be seen at the Ritz Theater, today, Monday and Tuesday, where "Song of the Flame," a First National-Vitaphone production opened last night.

In the matters of story acting and background, "Song of the Flame," based on a popular operetta, easily stands out as a notable piece of work, utilizing the latest devices in screen expression. It is gratifying to note that the handling of technicolor has been so far perfected, that the blurring, out-of-focus scenes which have marred a number of previous pictures, are no longer in evidence. In "Song of the Flame" the colors register at their true value and do much to add to the verisimilitude of the picture.

Cut-Ups of Rio Rita Return In 'Cuckoos'

How are famous comedy teams formed? Comedy partnerships are numerous. Gallagher and Shean, Kolb and Dill, Wheeler and Woolsey, the Two Black Crows, Amos and Andy and many others have found national favor in partnership.

What chain of circumstances brought these teams together, is the question asked by many.

Robert Woolsey and Bert Wheeler, who sprang into screen prominence as the leading comedians of "Rio Rita," credit Florenz Ziegfeld with bringing them together.

Veteran actors of the stage, they had known each other for years, but had never thought of forming a team. Ziegfeld saw possibilities in teaming them and cast them in the original stage production of "Rio Rita," in which they played for three years.

Ziegfeld encouraged them to develop their own "gags." Wheeler relates, "The team's ideas coincided from the start and they 'clicked'."

With no professional jealousy on the part of either, they became fast friends. When the New York run of the show ended, they decided to stay together.

They devoted much time to the development of new gags.

"It's not so much how funny you can act," Woolsey says, "but how carefully you prepare what you're going to act."

Following a successful vaudeville tour, they were signed by Radio Pictures to play their original stage part in the film version of "Rio Rita." This picture took the country by storm, and Wheeler and Woolsey were put under contract by RKO.

"The Cuckoos" is their second feature under the Radio Pictures banner. This picture will be shown Wednesday and Thursday at the Ritz theater.

Maniacs of Movies They Are But They Produce Laughs

Wheeler and Woolsey, the wow comedy team formed several years ago by Florenz Ziegfeld in "Rio Rita," and which pleased Ritz patrons recently in the Vitaphone production of that spectacle, will return Wednesday and Thursday in "The Cuckoos."

Department Store Color in Picture 'Not Damaged,' Ritz

Department stores, the world over, might take a few tips from the Gilmere Department Store, which serves as one of the chief backdrops for "Not Damaged," all talking Movietone romance, coming to the Ritz theater Friday and Saturday, to improve their appearance.

The setting, designed by Fox scenic artists, is one of the most artistic ever seen on the screen and, is the last word in efficiency and class in department stores. Merchandise displayed in the show cases is of the finest quality. Gorgeous sports wear, haberdashery, gowns and men's furnishings comprise the merchandise shown, and these articles were rented from the Hollywood stores. When they were returned, they were "not put back in stock, although they had not been used, except for display, but were disposed of at large discounts."

Lois Moran and Walter Byron are co-featured in this production. Robert Ames, Inez Courtney and "Red" Corcoran head the supporting cast of this picture directed by Chandler Sprague.

Director Alan Crosland has managed to impart the movement of life in the mobs surging through the city streets. The songs and other music come as a natural part of the dramatic action.

"Song of the Flame" takes a high place among the really worth while pictures of the season.

The Public Keeps Them Together

The motion picture rulers, like those of all industry, strive to please the public. They must. It is for this reason, apparently, that Bernice Claire and Alexander Gray are cast as lovers frequently. Their third visit to the Ritz screen in the recent past will occur today at 1 o'clock, when a three-day stand of "Song of the Flame" will open.

Lois Moran Star In 'Not Damaged' At Ritz

Lois Moran, who is co-featured with Walter Byron in "Not Damaged," an all talking movietone romance with music, coming to the Ritz Theater Friday and Saturday, is right at home in the department store setting of this picture.

Until recently, Miss Moran was the owner of one of the most exclusive sports wear shops in Hollywood, catering to the motion picture colony.

Business was so good that Miss Moran's shop had to be expanded several times, and it finally assumed such proportions that she could not devote the necessary time to it. So she sold out at a handsome profit.

However, when she was the proprietress of the shop, Miss Moran took an active hand in its management, and frequently would go behind the counters to assist the sales girls when they were rushed.

In her current picture she presides over the men's shirt counter in a large New York department store. Her sweetheart, Robert Ames, is the radio mechanic for the store, while her girl friend, Inez Courtney, presides over the phonograph record counter. Inez' sweetie, George "Red" Corcoran, is the store detective.

All is apparently serene with this little foursome, although Lois is not entirely satisfied with her radio lover, when in walks Walter Byron, who plays the role of a wealthy young man about town. He falls in love with Lois at sight, and complications develop rapidly, with Ames' violent jealousy playing quite a part in the affair.

Byron, who has played the lead in several United Artists pictures is one of the most popular young leading men in Hollywood. Ames, a favorite of the Broadway stage, has scored heavily in two previous Fox Movietone productions in which he was featured, "Six on Dames" and "Double Cross Roads."

Miss Courtney and Corcoran are hailed as a sensational new comedy team. Miss Courtney was a great favorite on the Broadway musical stage, playing eighty weeks in the comedy lead of "Good News." She was featured in "Loose Ankles," her first talking picture, and also had leading roles in "Song of the Flame," "Spring is Here," and "Bright Lights." Corcoran is making his picture debut in this production. He has been popular on the Pacific Coast during the past two years as a master of ceremonies and vaudeville star.

Chandler Sprague directed this picture, while Harold Atteridge and Frank Gay adapted the story from the magazine story by Richard Connell, Cliff Friend and Jimmie Monaco, well known writers of popular music wrote the songs for the picture.

Keeping Cool

The palace of the Czar of Russia and other sets built at First National Studio for "Song of the Flame," all-color drama with music, were fitted up with a cooling system. Because of the hot Technicolor lights and the fact that much of the film was made during the summer months, ammonia cooled pipes were installed to keep down the temperature, which, without them frequently rose to 125 degrees. This was the first color picture on which an artificial cooling was employed. "Song of the Flame" is at the Ritz theater today, Monday and Tuesday.

EVERYDAY QUESTIONS

Answered By
Dr. S. Parkes Cadman

Questions from readers are answered daily by the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, Radio Minister of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. Dr. Cadman seeks to answer inquiries that appear to be representative of the trends of thought in the many letters which he receives.

New York City. In the case of two people contemplating marriage, how much emphasis would you place upon the natural dictation of the heart, and would you advise one who contemplates choosing a wife to make a philosophical analysis of the respective virtues and shortcomings of each party to the contract?
Your suggestion of a philosophical analysis for two lovers does not sound very sensible or practical. John Wesley was inclined to that treatment of the grand passion both before and after his marriage, which by the way, was not a desirable one, and the results of the process were not very happy. The couple to whom you refer have already chosen each other or they would not be thinking of marriage, and in making that choice each has weighed the other's merits and demerits. Moreover, self-conducted analyses of character are frequently either highly flattering or unduly depreciating, and therefore seldom accurate. Hence they often lead to disputes. George may admit he is quick tempered, but Mary will resent his suggestion that she is lacking in a sense of humor. Or again she may concede she is a trifle jealous, but he will indignantly deny he ever even glanced at another woman, etc., etc., etc. "Far on into the night."

What you call the natural dictation of the heart is in my opinion a much better guide. It is not the sole guide, but as a means of subconscious selection it is an invaluable supplement to the more clearly defined demands of the conscious mind with respect to appearance, personality and character.
Springfield, Ohio. Our clergyman has expressed his disbelief in the Virgin Birth and in Christ's miracles. I thought then, as I have always tried to think, that these were non-essentials, and would not disturb me. But facing these questions squarely for the first time I find myself deeply disturbed. It does matter to me very greatly that Christ may have been born in the ordinary way and it wounds my sensibilities to think that He might have thus come into the world. What is your own position on these matters?
If I were you I would not react so emotionally toward what your clergyman says about the sacred mystery of the Incarnation. You do not have to accept his interpretation of that august event, nor stake your peace of mind on any theological opinions he may hold. Exercise your freedom in the matter, and believe what your heart and conscience dictate about it.
After all, the supreme issues are that Christ entered the human realm through the gateway of motherhood, and that in Him God so stooped to man, and man so reached up to God, that an eternal meeting of God and man was made in Mary's Blessed Sign.
Moreover, every soul is an emanation of the divine Over-Soul, a spark of the everlasting flame, and in this sense a distinct creation of God. Keep in mind Christ's indisturbable enthronement as the Saviour, Prince of humanity's spiritual renewal. Quite apart from disputatious doctrines about His origin as a member of our race, He is "its ever present and reigning Lord in you and in countless others who know Him by faith and with thanksgiving."

New York City. I have put by enough money for myself and children and still have more than we shall ever need if things run their normal course. How would you suggest employing the surplus so as to do the most good?
Employ it on the principle that riches are intended to protect, expand and exalt life. Any other use of money degrades its owner and breeds littleness of mind and heart. It must be a great satisfaction for those who have abundant possessions to watch their transmutation into the increase of knowledge, the refinement of taste, the abolition of misery and the enlargement of joy in legitimate pleasures and pursuits.

Numerous wealthy people have that satisfaction. They are happy to apply their means to confer new distinction upon the common lot, and to invigorate the will of their fellow men to live well and wisely. The United States is fortunate in having many munificent givers who are recruiting officers for a better civilization. They advance its progress in science, art, literature, social reform and religion.
So I advise you to make your surplus riches an instrument of life. There is no need to tell you of the particular agencies which you can employ for this purpose. Numerous worthy causes await your aid. Do not neglect those you deem most deserving. Lift the wealth you have gained above the level of mere possession, and make it subservient to the determination to find your own life your brother's welfare.
VIRITS CANYON
Miss Pauline Cantrell, county superintendent, will be out of her office until Monday morning, having gone to Canyon for the week end. Her sister, Miss LaDean Cantrell, will enter the West Texas State Teachers College there for the summer season.

Moody Disowns Petsch As Being His Spokesman

AUSTIN, June 7 (AP)—Governor Moody yesterday disowned Representative Alfred Petsch of Fredericksburg as a political emissary to Houston to confer with R. S. Sterling, chairman of the highway commission, with reference to his candidacy for governor.

"I do not know anything about Mr. Petsch's trip to Houston; certainly he did not go there on any errand for me," Governor Moody said. "All I know about Mr. Petsch is that he is talking too much, and you can print that if you want to."

Petsch was in Austin today, but had not seen the governor at noon. The governor said he had no special interest in seeing him.

Petsch had been quoted as declaring that Governor Moody would withdraw from the race and support Mr. Sterling and intimated he had made the trip to Houston at Governor Moody's request.

The governor maintained his silence about politics, other than to say he would "take in" the session of the state democratic executive committee in Austin Monday, when candidates for state offices will be certified to county chairmen and other business transacted.

Asked if he would make any kind of a statement to the committee, Governor Moody would not commit himself.

If he decides to disregard the "draft" of East Texas friends who filed his name as a candidate for a third term, it will be necessary for the governor to withdraw his name not later than Monday.

Deeply-laid Plot

At that time Richelieu was slowly dying and it was easy for men to be appointed his agents or his enemies without having to present credentials. Cyrano became involved in a deeply laid plot that made him an inviting rescuer of France, all because one night in an inn he was writing a letter to his "shining lady" and was too drunk to take the insults of a nobleman who wanted his title.

If "Alias Bluebeard" is a good picture of a medieval castle this is worth reading for its picture of a well-fortified abbey. But it is more worth reading for its swiftly-moving action and its abundance of good, old-fashioned thrills.

Strikingly attractive is a table set entirely with pewter. The soft gray of the metal will show off its modus beauty very well against natural-colored linen place mats with broad blue stripes. A centerpiece of blue candles and a pewter bowl of red tulips or pale yellow narcissi would be proper.

Pewter accessories, such as salt and pepper shakers, creamer and sugar bowl, candlesticks and tea and coffee services, get along pleasantly with patterned china—scenes or flowers.

Good training is offered you in this school. On completion of your courses you are able to put your training into practical use at once.

TRAINING WINS GOOD Business Positions

Don't buy your Tires Blindfolded!

Study these facts before you buy!

Number of cars, 15. Number of tires, 62, all stock Silvertowns. Distance traveled, 30,112 miles. Days spent in driving, 225. Hours on the road, 1800. Road conditions, 60% pavement, 17% gravel, 10% rock, 5% sand, 8% mud, clay and uncompleted construction. Number of tires making complete tours, 32. Number unpunctured, 25. Number never off rim, 15. THOUSANDS have been doing it! Literally buying tires with their eyes closed! Taking their performance for granted because someone told them "all tires are alike nowadays!"

All tires aren't alike. Maybe you can't see the difference... but it's there! And that difference is what the tire can give you in the way of mileage.

Now comes a tire that actually shows you what it can do... on a car like yours and over roads such as you travel.

It's the Goodrich Silvertown... and in the box above are the facts about it. They're facts based on 30,000 punishing miles of actual road travel. Study these facts closely. See what they mean to you as a tire buyer. Compare them with your past experience with tires.

Then remember... we're selling actual blood brothers to the tires that made this record. Tires identical in materials, construction, workmanship, ability to perform.

When you buy tires, buy good tires. Come in... and we'll show you tires that have demonstrated just how good they are.
