World War II Vet, Father of Four to Receive High School Diploma Tonight

If you ask Norman Moore, of 3406 East 16th Street, is it possible for a father of four to graduate from high school? he'll answer, "It can be done!" The reason Norman is so sure is because he is the only graduate in the sixth graduating exercises for Mary & Mac Private School tonight at 8:00 p.m.

The father of four, two girls and two boys, isn't very concerned about the fact that the ceremonies are being held, "just for him." A veteran of World War II, where he served with the U.S. Navy, the resident of Lubbock the past 2½ years says he plans to move forward in life.

His wife, Mrs. Nettie Mae Moore, has been behind him in his efforts. And his mother, Mrs. Josie Moore of Paducah, Texas, is expected to be present tonight when her son walks across the stage in Mary & Mac to receive his diploma.

Norman will also deliver the senior address, and he'll probably incorporate his favorite saying, "anybody can make it if he really tries. Look at me, I'm trying to do better things for myself."

East Lubbock Man Murdered Here Sunday Husband and Wife Shot in Separate Incident

Last week-end brought blood shed to the East Lubbock community once again when a man was stabbed to death and a husband and wife were shot.

The victim of a fatal stab wound was Willie Earl Savage, 18-years-old, of 215 East 35th Street, who was found lying next to a car by Lubbock police who were called to a stabbing incident at 805 Avenue E.

Police were enroute to the incident when they were stopped in the 500 block of 8th Street. A crowd of people pointed the body out to the police in the alley between Avenues D and E.

Savage was lying beside the car in a pool of blood. There were trails of blood from the street, approximately 20 yards away from the body. His (Savage) body was barefooted and a pair of shoes was found on the west side of the alley, running north and south.

Several witnesses were talked to in regard to the incident. After investigation, it was learned that the victim had been drinking heavily. He was dead on arrival, via ambulance at Methodist Hospital. An "L" shaped cut, approximately 1 inch long was over his heart.

His father, Virgil Savage, requested that Sedberry Funeral Home have the body.

An attempted murder was the scene of disturbance Sunday afternoon, at approximately 4:15, when a Lubbock woman reported to city police that a 22-year-old lady shot her in the shoulder. Her husband was also shot.

According to the police report, she and her husband were having a family quarrel when the 22-year-old stepped into it. The trio got into a fight and the uninvited woman got hold of a pistol, believed to be a .22 caliber, and shot the husband and wife.

In the course of the activity, the husband or wife was able to hit the young lady in the head with a beer bottle, leaving a cut. The alleged weapon had not been found by police late Sunday afternoon. The husband and wife were taken to a local hospital by private car.

New Hope Baptist Church Pastor, A.L. Dunn Circulating Petition Concerning Warehouse

Reverend A.L. Dunn, minister of the New Hope Baptist Church, and members of his congregation were circulating a petition around East Lubbock Sunday morning. It was in regard to a 35,000 square foot warehouse which is presently being built at the corners of East 20th Street and Birch Avenue, which is across the street from the New Hope Baptist Church and the Twentieth and Birch Street Church of Christ.

The West Texas Times took a sample count of the reaction of East Lubbock citizens and found out Sunday, May 23, 1971, that most of the citizens in the area are unhappy over the proposed warehouse construction.

The petition passed out by Rev. Dunn and his congregation stated:

"Approximately Thursday, May 20, 1971, landscaping was begun on land bounded by 19th Street, 20th Street, Birch Avenue and Ash Avenue, for the erection of private and or public warehouses. This very unpleasant structure will surround the Greater New Hope Baptist Church and the Twentieth and Birch Street Church

OIC Official From Philadelphia Speaks To Local Group Here Tuesday Night

Norman Allison, OIC National Institute representative, spoke to approximately 100 black men and women at the Greater Saint Luke Baptist Church Tuesday evening.

"At present time, the National Institute is concerned about the progress made by the local effort in Lubbock, Texas," he said, "We are thinking about bringing in a team, because there is something in the wind," he continued.

"The effort in Lubbock," added the national figure, who left for Phoenix, Arizona, Wednesday to appear at a fund raising benefit for the local effort in that community, "has passed the interest group and is now apparently operating from the boot strap aspect."

The National Opportunity Industrialization Center (OIC) has recently received $10.7 million from the Department of Labor. There was over $14 million received prior to the commitment from the federal government. Aside from this, numerous amounts of grants have been received for the effort of this "people's program."

The local OIC operation has twenty-four participants who are in the process of learning the basic steps of business, typing and job conditioning. This facility, which was put together with the efforts of the Rev. A.L. Davis, minister of Greater St. Luke Baptist Church, is moving toward the goals set up by Reverend Leon Sullivan, originator of the program.

Last week, Rev. Davis and Eddie P. Richardson, coordinator of the local effort and West Texas Times columnist, attended a regional seminar in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

Mr. Allison emphasized loudly that OIC is a "people's program." The people of any community is responsible for the outcome of this self-help program. There are presidents of corporations such as Coca Cola, General Electric, IBM, Chase Manhattan Bank and others who are concerned about this type of grass root effort."

The founder, Rev. Sullivan, has set a goal of 1,000,000 people to be trained by this effort.

Agencies like the Office of Economic Opportunity, Welfare and others have joined hands throughout the country to make this effort's concept happen. Reverend Maurice Darkins, who was an assistant for the national OEO's director, Sargeant Shriver, is the program development director of the national OIC program.

Rev. Davis expressed his appreciation for being affiliated with an organization like OIC. As Mr. Allison said, "It'll take people like the Rev. Davis to be dedicated and to make this thing a real big success in this nation."

"OIC doesn't say that it has all the answers, but it's willing to do what it can to make the people at the bottom of the pole successful people with its philosophy," climaxed Mr. Allison.

tact any that you so desire."

The petition bore the name of A.L. Dunn, D.D., Minister of New Hope Baptist Church.

The matter was to be discussed Monday afternoon, May 24, at New Hope Baptist Church with the members of the Ministerial Alliance and other Lubbock citizens.

Ministerial Alliance Appoints Committee

At their regular meeting Monday afternoon at the New Hope Baptist Church, the members of the Interdominational Ministerial Alliance appointed a committee to investigate the proposed business establishment tentatively to be built north and northwest of New Hope Baptist Church and Twentieth and Birch Street Church of Christ.

The committee consists of Rev. A.L. Dunn, chairman; Rev. A.W. Wilson and Rev. S.R. Roberts. The group was charged with finding information pertinent to the present situation.

Joe Phillips, local businessman, explained to his knowledge some of the things which were going on in regard to the development. He told the group of ministers that tract of land, located between East 19th Street and East 20th Street and bounded on the East by Birch Avenue had been zoned C-3, but had been changed recently to C-4 zoning, according to his sources.

Earnest Butler, who introduced Mr. Phillips to the group, advised the concerned body to "get the necessary facts."

A total of 1,830 graduating seniors of the five Lubbock high schools will receive their diplomas in various graduation exercises this week.

There are 501 graduates at Coronado this year; 105 at Dunbar; 175 at Estacado; 444 at Lubbock and 605 at Monterey High Schools.

The seniors of Dunbar and Lubbock High Schools had their graduation exercises Wednesday evening, at Dunbar auditorium and Lubbock Municipal Auditorium, respectively. Tonight, seniors from Estacado and Monterey will hold their annual exercises at Lubbock Municipal Auditorium and Lubbock Coliseum. Seniors from Coronado will have their exercises Friday evening, May 28th, in Lubbock Municipal Coliseum.

Also graduating during the year are 80 more senior students.

Local Radio Station Investigates Grand Jury Resignation

The charge made by Maurice L. Richard, Jr. when he resigned several weeks ago as foreman of the 140th District Court Grand Jury, that a "dual system of justice was being applied by the District Attorney's Office, one for public officials and another for public citizens" came out in the open today when a local radio station, KDAV, released the facts of the story to the citizens of Lubbock.

According to Hightower's investigation, the monies used to repair the vehicle were from city funds and were not replaced until May 5, 1971, two days after Richard "blew the whistle" on a "dual system of justice."

The West Texas Times reported Richard saying, in a recent press conference at the In Town Inn, "A mockery of justice was committed in the grand jury room."

District Attorney Blair Cherry came on strong following Richard's initial press conference, charging that the former grand jury foreman had tried to draw the grand jury into a dispute between labor and city hall.

Mr. Richard did, however, challenge the District Attorney's Office to make public the full documented and verified evidence and let the people of Lubbock County decide for themselves if labor had anything to do with his charges. No answer has yet come from the District Attorney's Office.

A letter, submitted to the citizens of East Lubbock by Rev. A. L. Dunn, was read by Mrs. Joan Y. Ervin, church secretary.

Mrs. Ervin told the group, "It is fine to have friends (white) across town help us, but it is time for us to start doing things for ourselves."

Mrs. Willie M. Washington told the group, "as ministers you have a chance to start doing things now. Let's preach this sort of thing (unity) from your pulpits each Sunday."

EDITORIALS

Let's Start Now Helping Our Children

This editor spent several evenings at the Eastern Little League baseball park the past week. A few of the things we saw will effect all of us as parents. I feel it must be brought to the attention of all East Lubbock citizens—young and old, parents or not—that from a “quick and dirty” analysis, most parents apparently don't give a damn about the attitudes or appearance of their children!

One fact is obvious. Mom and dad look forward to the daily baseball games—with the exception of Wednesdays—as a means of leaving their young boys and girls at the baseball park while they find other games to play. This must cease—the Eastern Little League ball park is not a public day-care facility. Many of the young people, and I mean those approaching their sixth birthday, are dropped off at the ballpark, and they have learned to use profane language like it is going out of style—much to the discomfort and embarrassment of other parents who have come to watch their children play ball and learn to lead a clean life.

Some of the older fans, who use the recreational facility behind the left field fence as a parking area, are drinking their alcoholic beverages in the eyesight of our youngsters. This must be stopped! As one citizen told this editor last Saturday evening, “There is a man in the area with a keg of beer.”

If we, as parents, can't control our children, then we may have to be forced to ask the Lubbock Police Department to constantly patrol the area (and this includes walking the area), to keep the younger people in line.

The Eastern Little League, as well as the newly organized Colt baseball team, needs our support morally as well as financially. If parents in East Lubbock continue to drop their kids off and forget about them, neither program can continue to be successful. And each parent in our community must be reminded that if you neglect to watch your children to the point of helping to destroy a program as worthwhile as Little League, you will not only be degrading your own child, but you will also have to answer to some of your neighbors, who wish to have their children learn the good things Little League can offer.

Parents, you must now start helping your children (and we speak of some “kids” over the age of twenty-one). The baseball program is a good one—managed and run by many fine and dedicated men and women. Let's keep it that way by showing that you are willing to accept the responsibility of taking care of your children and teenagers.

The Times will continue to watch the activity at the park in East Lubbock at East 24th and Quirt Avenue. If your son or daughter are responsible for “negative” attitudes or activity, we will be forced to report it. Please, raise your children and don't force others to have to do it for you!

Good Luck Seniors, Prepare Yourself, Be Successful!!!

Good luck seniors of Lubbock, the South Plains and the rest of this world. You've made another giant step in your life. You have accomplished something which is worth a great deal to you. At this time, we would like to take this opportunity to caution you to continue to prepare yourself for tomorrow. Be concerned about being a successful person.

Consider for a moment the general nature of your life. By this time you should know that each of you live in a world rich and abundant with opportunities. With all the problems that exist in our community and in the world, there are still opportunities which you should take advantage of.

If you really take time to consider, you'll find that there is really quite a future for you. Remember, man was born to be a goal seeker and a striver. He was destined to be forever unsatisfied. He was created that way; it is his nature! Unlike the animals, man is not content just to grow, to live and to reproduce. He must find purpose and meaning. When one is without purpose, one is dissatisfied and discontented. The poet, Robert Browning, put it this way: “A man's reach should exceed his grasp, or what's a heaven for?”

Seniors, perhaps the oldest enigma of man is propounded in the philosophical questions, “What is life all about?” “Who am I?” “What am I?” and, “For What purposes?” Most of the answers boil down to one simple answer: every man wants to be successful. For the theorists and others who delight in mental gymnastics, that is answer enough, but the serious minded pragmatist quickly asks another question, “What is success?”

OIC Said Something Last Week

The banquet at Vann's Catering Service last Friday evening said a lot for our community. The picture of the black man and woman helping themselves is beginning to come into focus in our area of Lubbock. It's a beautiful thing, and we all should be proud of what we are seeing.

Of course, there is a lot which must be done, but the start is one which we all can be proud of. As Mr. Lionel Woods, guest speaker from Dallas said, “anything the mind can perceive, it can achieve.” This is true, especially when we are concerned about self-help.

You were right, Rev. Davis, when you said, “East Lubbock is no kissing cousin of Southwest Lubbock.” We've got a great deal to do, and it looks like with very little help from anyone else. It'll be up to all of us in our own community to continue the OIC effort. This means we'll even have to get down into our own pockets, and spend a little blood, sweat and tears to make this thing a success—which the people of the community can do.

Not only are we concerned about what success may be, but “What does it consist of, and how is it developed?” In light of these two factors, we can honestly say with reasonable certainty that success (when involving us individually) consists of a progressive realization of our own worthwhile predetermined goals. Each of you is a goal striver and a goal seeker. You must never be satisfied! Keep striving for something different each day of the rest of your life.

Let me caution you to one of the principal reasons more people do not find success. It is simply because they look for it in comparison to others. A man may be “more successful than his neighbor”, his brother, or his father and still be a dismal failure because he has not become anywhere near the man (or woman) he is capable of being. Ever if he is more successful than anyone else he knows, he may still be a failure. If he evaluates success by comparison, then the more people he knows, the less likely he is to be successful, and the years of his life will yield one disappointment after another.

Seniors, the only valid comparison we can ever make is with ourselves. A man must compare what he is with what he has the potential to become. You must resolve to develop your untapped potential and measure your success in the progressive realization of your own worthwhile predetermined goals.

You can become a successful person. It is, however, essential that you know and understand yourself. You have such a mighty force within!! Remember, the opportunities are there, no matter who you are or where you come from—there's something in the world for you. Make the most of it!!

Right On.

Anyway, we're off to a good start. The meeting last Friday evening proved that. Let's keep the project going and make it, and East Lubbock, a real success for all of its citizens.

To All 1971 Graduates of Lubbock
Congratulations!

Your diploma is your ticket to the adventure of life. It's your certificate saying that school days are over, and that now you are qualified and ready for whatever the future holds. Yours is the challenge to go places and do things and become someone in the world of so many opportunities.

May God go with each of you all the way.

Our Mental Jail!

by Eddie P. Richardson

Until we free our minds we will be forever in a mental jail.

We have been programed, brainwashed, and led to believe that we are inferior and less important than other people. However, some of us have managed to fool ourselves into thinking that we are better than our less fortunate brothers and sisters because we have two or more cars that we are paying on two or more new suits and are able to pay for a $15,000 to $25,000 home on a 35-year mortgage. This puts many of us in a status of being better than the less fortunate, and has led many to believe we are too big for community involvement, economic development, self help programs and strong neighborhood organization.

This is where the pressure jazz comes from. Pressure from my banker, pressure from my boss, pressure from the school, pressure from my creditors, political pressures and every other type of pressure I could go on and on about.

David Sowell, a few Sundays ago, brought up the point that when it comes to community development and organization, the person who works toward such a goal always runs into “trash talk” like, “I can't be a part of this or that because of pressure.”

Wake up Niggers! It's thinking time, we've been asleep too long. If every one of us would only look around and see that our pressure is not any different than anyone else's. White folks suffer from the same type of pressure, but they have learned, while we haven't, that nearly all pressure is just talk, with very little action because no one really wants to follow through on their threats.

On my recent visit to Oklahoma City, I saw a lot of black people out of their mental jail and doing their thing. Man, there was some heavy blacks at the OIC Conference.

I also had the opportunity to participate and be interviewed on radio Sunday at 2:30 on “A Visit With Carla,” Mrs. Carla Luper, executive editor of Black Voices magazine.

This was a half hour program, no records—just facts—good and bad. Mrs. Luper opens her show with the statement, “I'm black, proud, mean and beautiful.” And she is every bit of that. The show she runs is beautiful, in editorial style, and doesn't waste her listeners' time with music, foot shuffling or any other nonsense. We need the same thing here, but I doubt if anyone would be willing to take on such a controversial project.

We fear and back down from pressure, just because we still operate under the same old ideas and myths that our slave forefathers did—that the white man is king, and we are still slave. As long as we allow our selves to remain in this mental jail, not really realizing that according to all of the laws, protection and help allowed all Americans in the last ten years, we will never have a real chance at freedom, we can forget about the idea of ever realizing the full status we are entitled to.

A Lubbock man told Lubbock police that her ex-husband lived out of the state of Texas and came to Lubbock to visit her son, who is graduating from high school. She said he was visiting them when a friend came by for a visit.

He (the ex-husband) jumped on her vigorously. He knocked her over the coffee table and broke the legs on some of the living room furniture. According to her, the 38-year-old man picked up one of the legs of the coffee table and beat her in the head with it.

She told police she would file charges against her ex-husband.

Lubbock police were summoned to the 1000 block of East 29th Street last week-end in regard to a disturbance involving four teenagers. The youths, ages 14, 15 and 16, were apparently involved in throwing rocks and fighting in the neighborhood.

The quartet was turned over to juvenile authorities.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lincoln and daughters, Lillian and Shelia, attended the graduation services at Denton, Texas, last week. Their daughter, Alberta, was a member of the graduating class and received her degree from North Texas State University.

Lillian was a member of the graduating class of Dunbar High School and received her degree this week.

Students home from college include Ricky Cunningham, Linda Scott, Alberta Lincoln, Merry Jo

Walker, Frank Lee Melton, Brenda Kinner and others.

The E.C. Stuggs family is getting ready for a "hot" summer. They have installed a nice cement patio fringe for the bar-b-que pit in their spacious back yard. As soon as it is all ready and the weeds and debris is cleared away, the neighbors and friends will help initiate it for fun and enjoyment.

Mrs. Floyd Lewis, mother of Mrs. Fannie Melton, spent the week-end here for the graduation of her grandson, Charles Melton. She attended the Baccalaureate Services Sunday. She returned to her home in Waco, Texas, on Monday. Also attending the services were Mr. and Mrs. Lorenza Tramble of Prairie View. Mrs. Tramble is a sister of Mrs. Melton.

Mrs. Maggie Tatum is home from the hospital and is resting nicely. She is staying in the home of Mrs. "Baby" Austin. Mrs. Estell Pierce is yet under a doctor's care. She is reported doing nicely.

Mrs. Dorothy Pitts Cuellar left Sunday afternoon on a flight to Los Angeles, California. She spent several days here after attending the funeral services of her father, Mr. William Houston Pitts, Sr.

Victor Arguelles, 226 Cherry Avenue, is to be commended for a job well done last week. The 24-year-old Lubbockite saved the life of another person, who was locked in his car on the Amarillo Highway overpass.

Victor had several things going for him last week—he took his first airplane trip, to New Mexico, and returned to help save a person's life.

Incident at Mae Simmons Community Center Termed "Misinterpreted" by City Police

The West Texas Times learned Sunday afternoon that the news story appearing in the Avalanche-Journal Newspaper last Sunday, May 23, 1971 was termed "misinterpreted" by reliable police sources.

After a careful check of records at the Lubbock Police Department, there was no mention of the incident which was to have occurred at the Mae Simmons Community Center last Saturday evening.

In checking the story carefully, the Times also contacted a local who care about their fellow man. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Pedro Arguelles.

Good Luck, Seniors! May each of you find greater things in the world.

radio station which was carrying the same story, and learned that the information came to the station "by the police monitor on Saturday evening."

Our sources told the Times that a State Park Official relayed a message to Lubbock Police units and requested a K-9 Corps. There were no arrests in regard to the disturbance.

The story also reported that someone threw a rock during the "melee", shattering the rear window of a patrol car.

As of Sunday evening, May 23, there was no report of a broken windshield on an accident or offense report at the Lubbock Police Department.

It is possible to seat five people at a table in 120 different combinations.

"It's Easy to Hire Teenagers," According To Labor Department Official

Young workers and their prospective employers were reminded last week that federal child labor laws provide no barrier to summer employment of teenagers, and actually contain provisions to encourage employment of students.

William J. Rogers, Regional Director of the U.S. Department of Labor's Wage and Hour Division in Dallas, called "a myth" the current notion among many employers that "you get into problems with the federal child labor laws when you hire teenagers."

Rogers said there are no federal restrictions on the type of work that may be offered youth 18 years of age and over and few on those above 16. Even 14 and 15-year-olds may work at many clerical and sales occupations in establishments covered by the federal statute, he said.

In fact, he said, the law provides for wage rates below the statutory minimum for the employment of full-time students in retail and service establishments and in agriculture. "Full-time students" are defined as those who attend an accredited school and who work only during hours they are not attending classes, or during school vacations.

The Fair Labor Standards Act permits the Secretary of Labor to grant certificates to individual retail and service and farm establishments authorizing them to pay full-time students at 85 percent of the applicable minimum wage—$1.60 in non-farm employment, and $1.30 in agriculture. Application for such certificates must be made to the Wage and Hour Division, the Labor Department official said.

He pointed out that the only jobs not open to teenagers under 18 are those that the Secretary of Labor had declared hazardous, after hearings. On the farm, certain hazardous occupations are barred to those 16 years old and younger. And farm youth over 14 may be hired for some hazardous occupations if they have taken 4-H Club or vocational agriculture training on tractors and certain farm machinery.

Non-farm occupations barred to 16 and 17-year-olds as "hazardous" include:

Working with explosives and radioactive materials.

Operating certain power-driven woodworking, metalworking, and paper-products machinery.

Operating various types of power-driven saws and guillotine shears.

Operating most hoisting apparatus such as fork lifts and man lifts.

Most jobs in slaughter houses and meat packing and processing.

Most jobs in mining. All jobs in roofing and demolition. Some jobs in excavation.

Driving or working as outside helper on most motor vehicles (there are a few exemptions).

Most jobs in logging and saw-mill operations.

Most jobs in manufacturing bricks, tiles and similar products.

Youth 14 and 15 years old, in addition to the hazardous occupations, may not be employed in manufacturing occupations or in most processing occupations, nor may they clean or repair power-driven machinery. They may not be employed as public messengers.

In work connected with warehousing, storage, transportation, communications, public utilities, and construction, 14 and 15-year-olds may hold office and sales jobs.

Workers under 16 years may be employed only between the hours of 7 a.m. and 9 p.m. from June 1 until Labor Day; they may work no more than eight hours a day, or 40 hours a week.

Rogers emphasized that while most state laws require some form of work certificate (work permit) the federal statute does not. "But it is a good practice," he said, "because it protects employers from unintentionally violating the law."

Additional and more specific information about U.S. child labor regulations may be obtained from the Wage and Hour Division office in Dallas at 100 Commerce Street, Federal Building and U.S. Courthouse, Rogers said.

with Bob Tieuel

Afro-American History Notes for Busy Newspaper Readers: "The story of Negro music goes back to Africa, where song was a medium by which the black man's past was recorded, the present rendered more tolerable, and the future made less insecure," we recorded here in March of 1969.

When Amelia R. Taylor, retired professor of music at Langston University, makes her first appearance in the Permian Basin this week, she will stress the fact the "the custom and habit of singing and dancing as a means of historical, emotional and intellectual expression survived the awesome 'Middle Passage' across the Atlantic and laid the foundation for the development of Negro music in the New World."

Miles Fisher states "with concern for the music of their masters, blacks employed rhythmical song to provide creature comforts, to accompany menial labor, to learn facts, to sell commodities and to share religion." In slavery American blacks developed such songs as "Swing Low - Sweet Chariot, Steal Away, I Ain't Got Long to Stay Here" and other classical folk expressions because of their moving simplicity, originality and universal appeal.

One black writer once described the spirituals "the music of an unhappy people, of the children of disappointment; they tell of death and suffering and the unvoiced longing toward a truer world, of misty wanderings and hidden ways."

Bellringers Write: Dear Bob - An American Baptist pastor has suggested a code for grading sermons, similar to the code to classify motion pictures. Rev. W. Rees for example, states X rated sermons really "socks it to em!" It is the kind of sermon that landed Jeremiah in the well, got Amos run out of town, set things up for the stoning of Stephen; always described as "shocking and in poor taste." The minister, he adds, who preaches this sermon had better have his suitcase packed and his life insurance paid up. G rated sermons are generally acceptable to everyone, full of inoffensive puerile platitudes and often described as "wonderful." Signed Mrs. M.B.

Thanks. Next will be M and R types. Write again. To E.N.: A number of scholarships for majors in Music are available for black students (and other ethnic groups) in Southwest colleges. Contact Mrs. Amelia Taylor at the Kangaroo Courts in the Tall City this week-end, or you may contact this column in care of this newspaper.

To B.N.: The annual Homecoming and Rodeo held in Boley, Oklahoma, (all-black town) is scheduled for May 29-31. We hope to cover the event. It is reported that a great number of West Texans and New Mexicans will trek that way this coming week-end for the celebration.

To R.N.: "Black Rage" is co-authored by Grier and Cobbs and is available in most of the Permian Basin libraries. It tells of the insidious effects of the still living heritage of slavery; of the almost helpless struggle of the black boy and girl to achieve the pride of a healthy manhood and womanhood; of love, marriage and the family; of the sexual myths and fears in both races; of how the schools fail the black child and psychic stresses brought on by discrimination and racial hates and fears. If not available, will be glad to lend you my copy.

Word received here is that members of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority of the Permian Basin will really welcome Mrs. Amelia R. Taylor, retired professor of music of Langston University, Oklahoma, when she appears here in recital at the Black Arts Festival to be held at St. Luke African Methodist Episcopal Church in Midland Sunday, May 23rd-just past.

Dear Bob: Subsidies for airlines, ranchers, railroads, cotton growers, oil men, milk producers, corporations, etc., etc., but no on human subsidies, often termed "welfare". Where is the richest and most blessed country in the world headed for? Signed E.T.

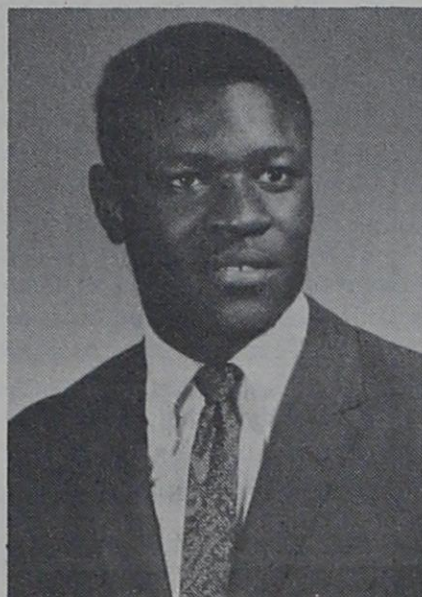

Frankly we wonder Mrs. Thomas. Remember Rome? We can not forget the aged, the blind and the disabled but as you state: let the abled go to work or go on a diet. Right on!!

Dear Bob: It might interest bellringers to know that the Northwest Texas Annual Conference of the Christian Methodist Episcopal Church, meeting in Lubbock, Texas, July 1, 1969, passed a resolution lowering the voting age of official delegates to 18 in all levels of church government. Signed Norris S. Curry, presiding bishop of Texas.

Thanks for the info Sir! Incidentally, the General Conference of the denomination followed suit in May, 1970, in Memphis, Tennessee. Until Later, Peace Brother!

The Sun's Family May Topic at Moody Planetarium

The solar system, consisting of the sun, the planets and their satellites, the planetoids, the comets and meteorites, is the topic of the Moody Planetarium lecture-demonstration each week during May at The Museum of Texas Tech University.

Planetarium shows are scheduled each Saturday at 3:00 p.m. and each Sunday at 2:00 and 3:00 p.m.

The sun governs the bodies which revolve around it, and all the bodies observe great regularity in their motions. Law governing these motions have been known for several centuries.

Johannes Kepler discovered three laws of planetary motion, concerning their orbits, their speed and the relationship of a planet's period to the sun.

Kepler's Laws did not, however, explain why the planets demonstrate such behaviour, and Sir Isaac Newton came forth with the answer and a fundamental universal law, the Law of Gravitation.

The story is revealed to visitors to the Planetarium. Admission is 50 cents for adults, 25 cents for students, including Tech students with IDs, and free to members of the West Texas Museum Association.

The Moody Planetarium offers special demonstrations to groups by advance arrangement.

"Texas" Production Set for Opening Next Month

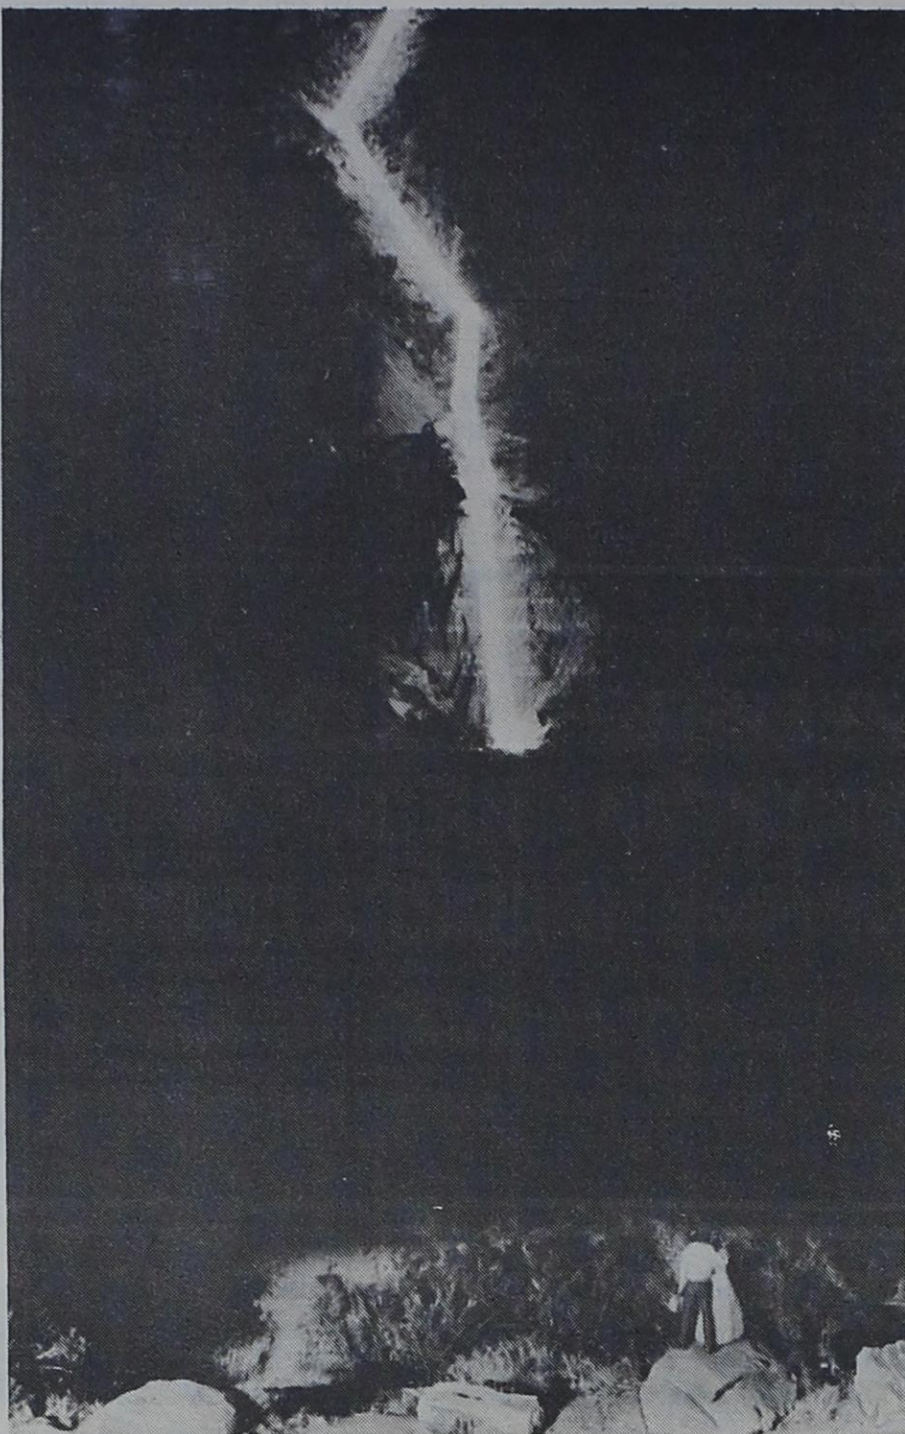

Lightning will strike 58 times this summer in the Palo Duro Canyon at 10:05 each evening—unless it rains. The first act of "Texas"—a musical romance of Panhandle history by Paul Green—climaxes in a great electrical storm, with thunder and wind and flashes of lightning ending in one great streak which goes to the top of the 600 foot bluff which the audience faces. This storm is one of many ways Mr. Green chose to make the viewers aware of the forces and struggles which the early pioneers faced. He also makes them aware of the gaiety and beauty of their lives here as well.

"Texas" will open for its sixth season on June 24, 1971, and will play nightly except Sundays through August 28th. There will be a special performance on Sunday, July 4th. The show opens with a vivid singing and dancing overture in which most of the cast members of 80 take part. This number is heralded by a horseman with a flag on top of the high cliff. He appears so small that the audience has to concentrate to find him as the bugle announces the opening. There are dramatic confrontations between characters, delightful warm scenes of frontier life, interesting dances including a fire ballet—a prairie fire—done in dance and flame lights. The factors, bound with the thread of a beautiful musical score, make an evening's experience which has drawn over 340,000 to the theatre in the first five seasons.

It is important to make reservations in advance, especially for week-ends. For tickets and information write to "Texas", Box 268, Canyon, Texas 79015.

The theatre lies on the floor of the spectacular Palo Duro Canyon near Amarillo and Canyon, Texas, which appears suddenly in the midst of the flat plain. Plan to come early enough to explore this canyon and have a western barbecue dinner at the theatre.

Orchids grow from the smallest seed in the world.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin, Texas—Voters were in an antagonistic mood toward three proposed changes in the Texas constitution last week, but they approved one amendment termed "a great step forward for Texas cities and towns."

Down the grain went proposals to set up a state commission on officials' ethics and legislative pay, to increase the welfare ceiling and to permit constitutional amendments to be submitted in special sessions.

Whether welfare defeat will mean early cuts in assistance to the needy is the subject of sharp disagreement. It's a cinch legislators will get no early pay raise, although they can adopt their own code of ethics by statute.

Amendment adopted creates a $100 million bond fund for construction of city or regional sewage treatment facilities.

Texas Water Quality Board Chairman Gordon Fulcher, Atlanta newspaper publisher, said adoption of the bond amendment is a "stride we very much hoped to make in order to reach our goal of meeting statewide water quality standards of 1975."

Clean water goals, said Fulcher, cannot be achieved until cities improve the quality of sewage discharges into rivers and streams. Financing has been a major drawback for municipalities.

Amendment provides for a state matching grants program to make available on loan basis 25 per cent of the eligible cost of sewage treatment plant construction.

With the state program, federal grants (now only 33 per cent) can increase to about 50 per cent. That leaves cities with only 25 per cent of a project cost to bear immediately.

Fulcher said he is hopeful that cities will move forward with the "greatest of haste" to take advantage of additional financial aid.

New Parks Open—Seven new state parks will be available for use this summer, but some of them are suited only for "roughing it."

Three of the parks are restricted to day use only. They are Pedernales Falls near Johnson City, Hueco Tanks near El Paso and Dinosaur Valley near Glen Rose.

No water supply is available at any of the three, and picnic tables and toilets are the only facilities.

Public access at New Galveston Island State Park is restricted to the beach area. Picnicking is allowed at Cooper Breaks State Park in Hardeman County, but there is no water and few facilities.

Camping is allowed at Lake Arrowhead State Park in Archer County, but no water is available.

Most completely developed of the new tracts are Nail's Creek and Birch Creek units of Somerville State Park near Brenham. All of the new parks, with the exception of Cooper Breaks and Galveston Island, have a one-dollar-per-vehicle entrance fee.

Draft Call 640—State Selective Service headquarters announced the June draft call of 640 Texans.

May call nationally was for 15,000 men. Department of Defense announced a combined May-June call of 20,000 men with a lottery number limitation of 125 for the combined call.

State Selective Service Director Melvin N. Glantz said 1,750 Texans will be ordered to take pre-induction physical examinations next month.

Local draft boards have mailed orders for pre-induction and induction to men under their jurisdiction.

The Upside Down World Of The Sinners

by Berta L. Dixon

It happens when people jump off the Empire State Building; when they sow their wild oats; fight with each other and become flagrant gossipers and whisperers; when people "eat, drink and be merry" because tomorrow they die. It happens when people try a new morality instead of God's. They pay the consequences. And it also happens when people refuse God's love.

"Help me to sense, Heavenly Father, the transforming power of my gifts. Make me know that my personal ministry and my gifts. Help me to love my neighbors as I love myself. Amen.

Mount Vernon United Methodist Church

Last week, Mrs. Reed and I drove to Odessa, Texas, to attend the New Mexico Annual Conference which was in session in the First United Methodist Church. We were happy to see some of the former members of the old West Texas Conference taking an active part in the session. We talked with the Stones, Washingtons, Spencers, and Mrs. T.L. Bell. There were others whom we talked with who were happy.

The Reverend E.L. Spencer had retired and this made me just a little sad. Not that he retired, but because of his retirement, the church is without a minister presently and may be merged with another congregation. Well, God will work in His own way, bless his Holy Name.

We wish to congratulate our young people who graduated from their schools. Miss Rhonda Jo Davis of Roosevelt High School; Bryant Strong from South Plains Junior College and Miss Jimmie T. Walker from West Texas State University.

May God bless and keep them in His service throughout their lives that the world may become a better world through their efforts.

The Annual Conference is underway in Amarillo, Texas, at the Polk Street United Methodist Church.

Greater Saint Luke Baptist Church

The Lovely Sunset Sunday School and T.T.U. Congress will meet in Sweetwater, Texas, June 8 through 11th.

Delegates are getting ready to attend these meetings.

The members of the Eunice Circle will meet tonight in the home of Sister Dora Robinson, 3606 Aspen Avenue, at 8:00.

Rhonda Jo Davis, a 1971 graduate of Roosevelt High School, plans to work about two months and then go to Dallas the first of August and get ready for school.

She will attend El Centro where she intends to learn interior design. Being an art assistant in high school helped turn her on in the art field.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Willie Fullbright Davis and Mr. Joe Davis. Rhonda is an active member of Mount Vernon United Methodist Church.

A finalist in the homecoming queen contest, Rhonda likes singing, dancing and listening to sound tracks from favorite movies. Buying clothes has also interested the versatile young lady.

Rhonda's activities at Roosevelt High School included FHA, band, and choir. As a freshman and sophomore, she was an Ima Dee Singer at the Area FHA Meet and worked hard at her post as cheerleader. She also had an opportunity of working on the newspaper staff.

Giving her principles of living, she said, "Keep on pushing, because you have got to get where you are trying to go sooner or later."

NAACP Meeting Scheduled Sunday

The local branch of the National Association for Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) is inviting everyone to their meeting Sunday afternoon, May 30th, at 3:00 p.m. at Mount Vernon United Methodist Church.

"It's time for all of us to support our most powerful organization and stop making excuses for not doing anything," stated David Sowell, youth director. "We are on the move now, so come on and let's do something," he concluded.

There are 13 committees including the executive, education, finance, political action, redress, publicity, veterans, youth work, freedom fund, housing, labor and industry, legal redress and membership. "Pick one out and work with us," Sowell concluded.

HOW TO MEET SOARING COLLEGE COSTS

A Michigan executive who saved $25,000 to put his three sons through college says he now finds that he needs more than double that amount.

A New England couple with two daughters in college have both taken on additional part-time jobs to help pay education bills of $8,000-$9,000 a year. "It is a bottomless pit," says the mother.

A West Coast contractor with two boys in college says his savings and the boys' scholarships are not enough. The family savings have now gone, and he is taking out a loan to meet the bills.

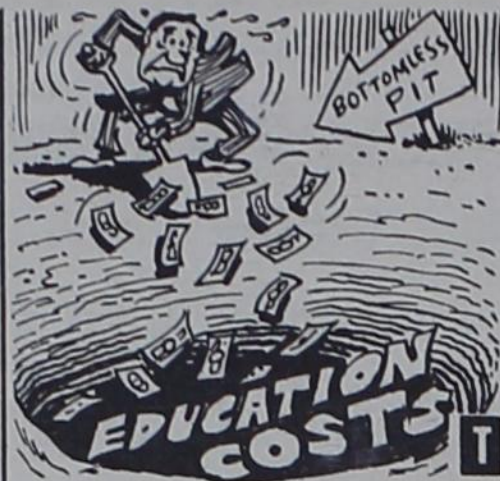

At one state university where charges will rise 28 percent in the fall, a parent comments that "the cost of so-called 'free' education has gone up much faster than our income."

Parents of college age children across the nation are feeling the pinch as costs continue to soar for tuition, room, board, and other campus expenses. As the new year starts this fall, tuition fees alone will go up another 10 to 30 percent at most colleges, and at least one state college is hiking fees as much as 50 percent for out-of-state students.

As students reach college age, says a financial counselor, parents have been known to "approach a state of shock" on learning that costs can run from $3,000 to $5,000 at private colleges. And by 1980, it is estimated, many colleges will cost parents $8,000 a year or more. For two children, that could mean $65-70,000 for the four-year period.

A recent survey by a national magazine concluded: "Higher education is passing out of reach for millions of middle-income American families."

What can parents do about it? Some are taking second jobs at night and weekends, mothers are working, vacations are being postponed and homes are being refinanced. Parents as well as students are taking out sizable loans which will take years to repay. In other cases, the survey found, plans for college are being reluctantly dropped.

But if parents start planning long enough ahead, the burden of rising college costs can still be considerably eased. The magazine Changing Times offered this advice to young parents: "Put money for future college educations in a growth investment—e.g., a good mutual fund—that can reasonably be expected to grow as fast as college costs are rising." The sooner you start such a program, the more you stand to gain.

For example, on average a $10,000 investment in a growth mutual fund has grown to more than $25,000 in 10 years, and to over $80,000 in 20 years, says the Investment Company Institute, national association of the mutual fund industry. The Institute points out that funds offer other special advantages to parents planning for future college expenses. They make it easy for young families to build their investment with relatively small amounts. And when the money is needed, the exact amount required can be withdrawn on a regular basis while the rest of the investment goes on working for you. Mutual funds also offer tax-saving custodian accounts.

A mutual fund pools the money of many shareholders and invests it in a portfolio of many different stocks, under constant supervision of professional investment advisers. For further information and a free booklet on how to pay for college expenses through mutual funds, write: Public Information Department, Investment Company Institute, 1775 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006.

She is a member of Bethel A. M.E. Church.

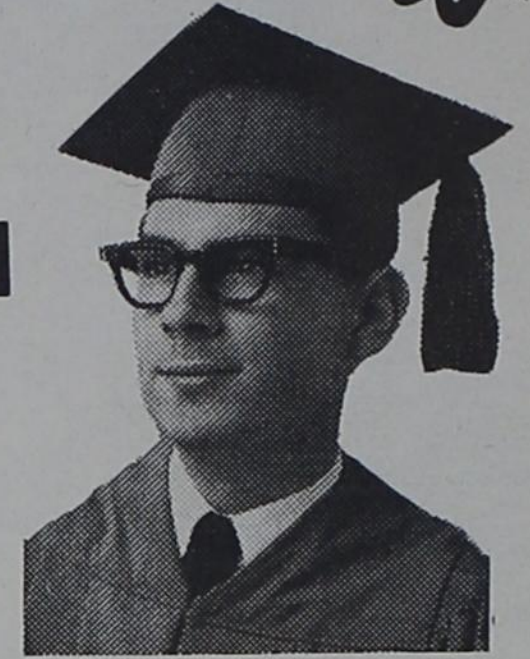

Former Dunbar Student Doing Splendid Job at SPJC

Bryant Strong, a sophomore in the Fine Arts department at South Plains Junior College of Levelland, Texas, scored high in a music major recital with piano and clarinet. He received praise from his teachers in these music areas. Bryant is an active member of Mount Vernon United Methodist Church. He resides with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bryant Strong, Sr., at 1712 Teak Avenue.

Coach Gipson Resigns As Dunbar Coach

Curtis Gipson, former basketballer of the Dunbar Panthers and the city's most successful school-boy basketball mentor in history, asked to be relieved of his coaching duties and will be succeeded by Van Cypert.

Gipson, who compiled a 300-92 record in 14 years as a head coach, including a 212-66 mark in nine years at Dunbar, will stay on however, as Student Activities Director, a job he assumed at the start of the current school year.

Cypert, who has served as junior high coach, high school coach and principal at Lorenzo, Texas, for the past 10 years, will replace Gipson as basketball coach and will also work with junior varsity football.

Gipson played on Dunbar's first state championship team in the early 1950's and graduated from Dunbar in 1953. He was also a starter at Butler College at Tyler, Texas.

His first coaching assignment was at Slaton, Texas, where he coached the young fellows at Evans High School. There he compiled a record of 88-26 in five years, finishing as state runner-up in 1958 and never lower than second place in district action.

Progress Report Of UBC Issued

The United Black Coalition was organized to meet the needs of each individual in our community, and to have one melting pot where each person or organization could channel their problems.

Here are some projects undertaken and the results:

1. Securing school zone signs between East 19th Street and East Broadway on Quirt Avenue. (There was one other added in the area).
2. Stopped the zoning of Leuter's Feed Lot in East Lubbock which would have created another health hazard.
3. Secured a written promise from city manager to erect a five foot fence on the overpass at East 24th Street. It would be for the purpose of keeping children from crossing from one side of the overpass to the other in the traffic lane. This fence will be erected before school starts in the fall of 1971.
4. Set up a working relationship with the city so that all grievances may be taken to appropriate department heads and discussed with United Black Coalition committee members.
5. Enlightened voters concerning past bond elections.
6. Requested that study be made by traffic division on parking and blockage problems on Avenue A (between East 20th and East 28th Streets) and the erection of a traffic light at East 23rd and Avenue A. (Results: Traffic did not warrant lights at these intersections according to study made).

7. Requested better police emergency assistance. As a result, three police units now patrol this area rather than two.

8. Made a study of increase in rental rates at Green Fair Manor Apartments. Results show that there was a reduction of rates.

9. Works closely with and supports the "Meals on Wheels" program. This special effort supplies meals to invalids or shut-in persons.

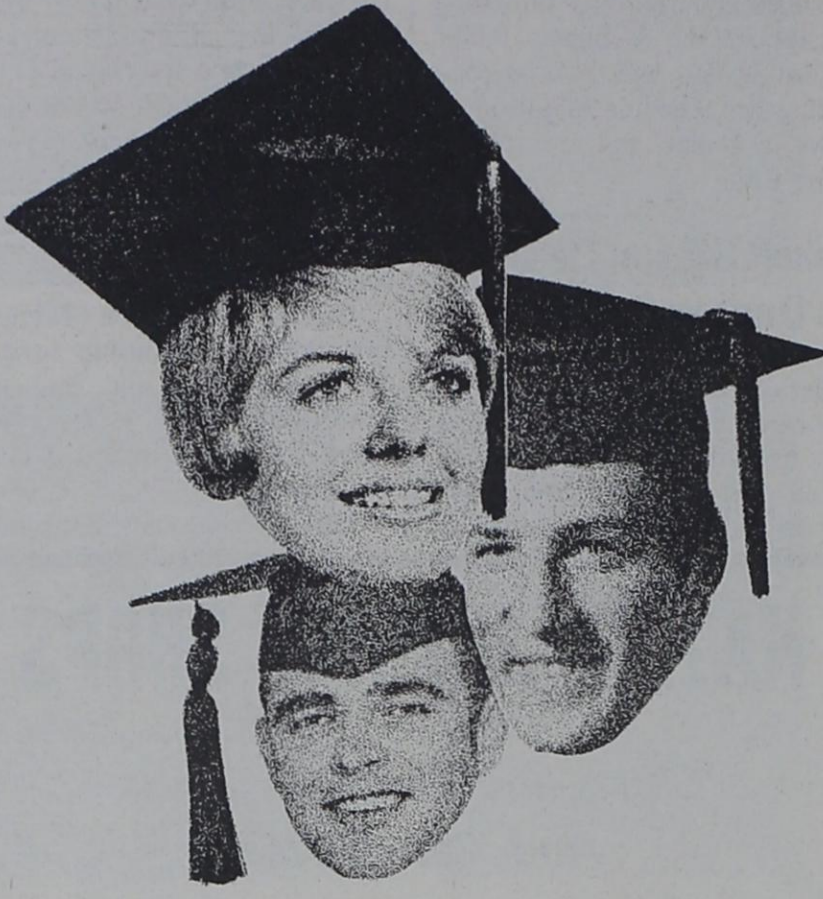

10. Registered our organization with Lubbock Chamber of Commerce.

This organization needs the help of every individual in the community if it is to continue its work for the community.

It takes from 50 to 100 years to produce a tree large enough for lumber.
