

Tax Cases Passed To Attorney For Court Action

School Board Authorizes Suits To Collect Delinquent Sums; Others Due To Be Filed Later

The Big Spring Independent school district took first formal action Monday night in a campaign, via the court route, to collect delinquent taxes. Long talked-of suits were a step nearer reality as the board of trustees ordered turning over to the county attorney names of more than 50 property owners against whom litigation is to be instituted. That many names had been compiled by the tax office as it goes through the list of delinquents in alphabetical order. Business Manager Edmund Nostetine informed the board that group had been properly notified and are "subject to suit."

School officials emphasized that the group comprised only an initial batch of names. In other words, as other records are compiled and notice of delinquencies issued, it is planned to institute other suits. Just when the preliminary papers will be filed remained indefinite. Under terms of the law, the city and county must enter as parties in the litigation. The district's total of overdue taxes is close to $85,000. School officials have for many months endeavored to arrange for collection, agreeing to accept installment payments from those in arrears. Property owners who have not responded to this proposition are those against whom court action is planned. Trustees Monday night completed arrangements either the state department of education or the board of control to make a thorough inspection of the east wing of the high school building, which because of settling, has cracked in places. Portion of the wing, including the auditorium-gymnasium, has been declared unsafe for use. Structural defects having appeared because of the settling of the foundation and vibration from use of the gymnasium. Prior to opening of the school term on September 7, the engineer will make a rigid inspection of the structure and file a formal report as to findings. Policy of the board as to repair or abandonment will be determined by that report.

Seek Fourth Member Of Lamb's Gang

Two Held In Arkansas; Texas Outlaw's Wife Likely To Go Free

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 17 (AP)—State police pushed a search today for Grady H. Halstrom, 33, Texas fugitive, named by Lieut. Earl Scroggin as the fourth and last member at large of the band of outlaws who had headquarters at Hot Springs for the past two months. Scroggin said the band was headed by Alfred "Sonny" Lamb, 26, escaped Texas convict slain by officers in a raid on his Hot Springs apartment Sunday night. The officer said the other members were T. N. Norris, 25, wounded and captured in a raid near Rogers yesterday, and Sam Segall Haines, 24, arrested at Benton Sunday. Mrs. Lorene Peaster Lamb, bride of a year, remained in jail at Hot Springs for questioning in connection with her husband's activities. She was with him when he was killed, escaping a fusillade of bullets fired at the escaped convict by half a dozen officers. Prosecuting Attorney Gibson Witt said he did not think charges would be filed against her. Lamb, who escaped from a Fort Worth jail two months ago, was under sentences totaling nearly 100 years on half a dozen charges. Halstrom was accused last week by Mrs. Hollis Reed, Little Rock, of kidnapping her Assistant Supt. Bob LaFollette of the state police said one of three automobiles found at the house where Norris was captured yesterday had been identified as the machine Halstrom used in kidnapping Mrs. Reed. Pine Bluff more than a week ago. LaFollette questioned Norris in a Fayetteville hospital and said the man, held as a federal prisoner, told him he was one of five men who robbed patrons of the Southern club at Hot Springs of $21,000 last March. LaFollette said Norris "talked freely" about himself but denied knowing Lamb, Haines or Halstrom.

Values Fixed For Taxation

Renditions, Assessments Being Checked By Board

Completion of value fixing for tax purposes was in the offing Tuesday as the city board of equalization went into session to check renditions and assessments. The same board, consisting of Robert Stripling, Curtis Driver, and E. H. Joney, will represent the independent school district, checking its values before setting a hearing date. Howard county closed its period of valuations last Friday and ordered the tax roll compiled. A last week wave of renditions, occasioned by the impending hospital site bond vote, brought in $18 additional renditions to the city, boosting the total to 664. The number is one-third of the total tax payers on the roll. Interest in the election kept its edge Tuesday in absentee voting, with 21 ballots cast.

ONLY TWO ABSENTEE VOTES HERE ON AMENDMENTS

Least interest in any election in years is being shown here toward the constitutional amendment vote slated for Monday. To noon Tuesday only two persons had cast absentee votes. Supplies for the election were being prepared for distribution to the 14 county boxes by the county judges office. Observers believed that there would be less than 1,000 votes cast in the election.

RATE HIKE FAVORED

Commissioners court Monday canvassed returns from the tax rate election held Aug. 2 at Chalk and found that the proposal to increase the maintenance rate from 50 to 75 cents carried by a vote of 11 for to none against.

Resignations Of Seven Teachers Are Accepted

Resignations of seven members of the teaching staff of the Big Spring schools were accepted by the board of trustees Monday evening. Election of two teachers to ward school posts was announced. Resignations included that of George Brown, athletic coach whose action had been announced previously. Leaving here for other posts are Ralph Houston, who will teach in Sam Houston State Teachers college; Zella Counts and James Cunningham. Other resignations were those of the former Misses Mary Joy Odum, Fondell Whitley and Dorothy Vandagriff, who have married. New teachers named Monday night were J. N. Routh and Miss Buna Edwards.

Million Spent On Terrell Hospital In 12 Years; Payroll Is $14,000 Monthly

(Believing that citizens of Big Spring in view of the location of the local site for the new West Texas State Hospital, will be interested in the position similar institutions occupy in other Texas cities, The Herald asked for such information. In response to the request, Frederick I. Massengill, Jr., of the Terrell Daily Tribune has prepared for The Herald the following article concerning the Terrell State Hospital.—Editor's Note.)

Terrell, Aug. 17—The Terrell State Hospital, second largest and second oldest institution for the insane in Texas, has absorbed approximately a $1,000,000 investment in new buildings and improvements during the past 12 years. There are now 17 buildings in which patients are housed, the original and largest of these furnishing wards for about 800. At the present time, there are 2,519 patients at the institution. Including those out on parole, the total number of patients is 2,902. About 300 employees are required to take care of these unfortunates and to carry on the routine management of the institution. Of these 300, seven are doctors, one is a dentist, and many are skilled laborers working in the mechanical department. As the hospital grows, the total number of employees is also increased. These people have a monthly buying power of approximately $14,000; this, too, increasing with the number of employees. The July payroll was $13,600. Most of this goes into the coffers of the city's business houses. The state pays the city $2,000 a year for the hospital's sewerage connection. Part of the water is supplied by the state but a large portion is bought from the city. Last month a water bill of a little over $400 was paid to the city. Several thousands worth of perishable food is bought each year from local merchants. The thousands of out-of-town people who yearly visit their friends and relatives at the Terrell State Hospital also add a neat sum to the grand total of the town's business. It is estimated by the city that the telephone switchboard in center hall, where all guests are received, that an average of 50 patients have approximately three guests daily, which in a year means a large number of visitors to Terrell.

Ku Klux Cited By Opponents Of Black

N. Yorker Calls For Investigation Of 'Klan' Sympathy

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP)—Senator Copeland (D-NY) raised the Ku Klux Klan issue against Senator Black (D-Ala) in the senate today with a statement that he felt "outraged by this proposal" to put a "klansman" on the supreme court.

Opening the debate before crowded senate galleries on the nomination of Black to the supreme court, Copeland said the nomination should be rejected "if the Klan relationship is accepted as true," but that if there was doubt about it in senatorial minds it should be sent back to committee for investigation.

A small group of republicans and "old line" democrats facing almost certain defeat were lined up in the fight against Black.

When Copeland concluded, after the bitter attack went forward, Senator Burke (D-Neb) arose and carried on the attack.

Criticizing the precedent for quick senate confirmation of a nomination of a senator, Burke said that "immemorial rule" was "unwise and dangerous." He urged special caution in confirmation of nominations of senators.

He asserted that Black did not possess an "impartial mind" and questioned whether he was "able to administer even-handed justice to all who come before him, regardless of religion or race."

Black himself was absent from his usual seat in the center of the democratic side of the chamber as the bitter attack went forward.

Almost the full membership of the senate gathered to hear the debate. Many house members lined the back walls of the chamber. Burke stood up as Copeland sat down. He stated he was opposed to the nomination. He argued senators were inclined to be lenient when one of their colleagues was nominated for a high office and for that reason ought to be particularly on his guard. "Regardless of what may be said for the 'immemorial rule' on quick confirmation of senators, he contended it ought to have no place in determining the fitness for a nominee to the supreme court, which he described as 'the first bulwark of our liberties.' The Nebraska asserted Black did not possess an 'impartial' mind and questioned whether he was 'able to administer even-handed justice to all who come before him, regardless of religion, or race.'"

Seek Trucker After Crash

One Man Killed, Six Injured In Crash Near Wichita

WICHITA FALLS, Aug. 17 (AP)—A Wichita Falls man was killed, six were injured, and officers sought a driver of one of two trucks following a collision early this morning on highway. Jodie Ireland, 27, unemployed oil field worker, died almost instantly when he was thrown from the sedan he was driving. Four other Wichitans in the machine were not seriously hurt. They were returning from a roadside dance. The accident occurred when Ireland's car met a truck passing a second truck going in the same direction. Officers took conflicting statements regarding whether the passing truck was hit by the automobile before striking the side of the other vehicle. The driver of the passing truck stopped, got out of the cab and then stepped back in and drove on westward, officers were told. Two of four in the other truck were slightly injured.

SUIT WITHDRAWN

Suit of Mabel Menking, et vir, versus C. R. Thompson for custody of a child has been dismissed from the 70th court docket on motion of the plaintiff. Papers in the case were withdrawn.

1200 MARINES ORDERED TO SHANGHAI TO PROTECT AMERICAN CITIZENS

Big Guns, Bombs, Fires Wreak Havoc As Shanghai Continues To Be War Arena

SHANGHAI, Aug. 17 (AP)—Shell splinters sprayed peaceful foreign home areas with death by day and great guns roared out terror tonight for the Chinese-Japanese battlefield of Shanghai. One hundred thousand men with guns and bombs fought on to a goal none could foresee. Fires ringed the city. Unconfirmed reports said Chinese troops had pressed hard on Japanese positions along the lines northeast of Shanghai facing the Whangpoo river beyond the international settlement. In some places they were believed to have penetrated Japanese advance positions. Dark also disclosed three huge fires started by Chinese bombs and shells within Japanese lines. One raged in Chapel, across Soochow creek from the international settlement. The other two roared skyward uncontrolled in the mill district northeast of Shanghai. International settlement fire fighters withdrew to south of the creek, leaving the Chapel blaze unchecked, to protect the settlement itself from the advancing flames. Japanese big guns boomed after dark in a renewal of the duel which earlier today threw shell fragments into the French concession, where most Americans in Shanghai live. Concession police were unable to learn the number of dead or injured, but estimated fifty persons, all Chinese, were struck by shrapnel or shell splinters. Business utterly collapsed. More than 2,000 American and British women and children fled from Shanghai. They played hide and seek with death down the Whangpoo river to reach waiting liners under the blazing guns of the Japanese fleet.

Sunset found "French Town" ready for another dark night of siege. Foreigners and Chinese alike feared a repetition of last night's terrific battle over Footing, industrial area across the Whangpoo river from the concession. At dusk, guns of Japanese warships in the river began a terrific bombardment. The direction of the shells could not be ascertained. There were no estimates of casualties in outlying areas, but it was believed many were added to the thousands already killed and wounded in the five-day battle.

Action Taken By Hull As Safeguard

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP)—Secretary Hull said today this government ordered 1,200 marines to sail from San Diego to Shanghai to protect American nationals from violence. Funds Asked Hull also announced the department was asking congress to appropriate $500,000 for all necessary relief and evacuation expenses arising from the Chinese-Japanese emergency. The marines will sail within ten days, Hull said. He added that it would require five weeks to land them in Shanghai. The secretary made it plain that the reinforcement of American guards already in strategic places in China was being taken primarily as a precautionary measure and for use possibly as replacements for guards who are there. Approximately 1,400 American women and children are expected to be evacuated from Shanghai by the end of this week, Hull said. It was understood most of them would be leaving on commercial vessels.

New Tax Law

Soon To Go To FDR

Measure Plugging Loopholes Passed By The House

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP)—Senate leaders predicted today administration legislation to plug tax law loopholes will be ready for President Roosevelt's signature by Thursday. The measure passed the house late yesterday on a standing vote of 173 to 0. Before joining democrats in approving the bill, republican members took a few digs at tax methods which they alleged had been used by the President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

Rep. Fish (R-NY) told the house that Mr. Roosevelt, "who called tax dodgers such harsh names, admitted three years ago at a press conference he had saved taxes by these loopholes." Rep. Treadway (R-Mass) expressed alarm over the consequences if all money earners used the arrangement followed by Mrs. Roosevelt in having checks for a radio broadcast series paid directly to a charity organization. The money was not taxed.

Rep. Vinson (D-Ky) replied: "Any lawyer can see in a minute that Mrs. Roosevelt's services did not produce tax liability." The new legislation contemplates more rigid treatment of foreign and domestic personal holding companies, incorporated possessions and personal talents, non-resident aliens, multiple trusts, and taxpayers claiming deductions on expensive or money-losing business transactions.

ABSTRACTS ON SITE FOR HOSPITAL ARE ABOUT READY

Abstracts on most of the tracts of land included in the hospital site proffered by Big Spring for the West Texas hospital for the insane were to be forwarded to the attorney general's office for examination Tuesday evening. One abstract has not been returned by the federal land bank in Houston. Others, however, were being completed Tuesday afternoon.

ROGERS HONORED AT ROAD DEDICATION

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 17 (AP)—Civic leaders and friends of the late Will Rogers prepared to honor his memory today with dedication of a two-mile section of U. S. Highway 66. The road, extending from Chicago to the Pacific ocean, has been rechristened the Will Rogers highway. It passes through Claremore, Okla., his former home, and ends not far from his hill side ranch. Gov. Frank Merriam, mayors of neighboring municipalities and other officials will gather this afternoon before a rustic gate, placed across Santa Monica boulevard in the western section of this city.

VICTIMS OF BOMBING IN SHANGHAI WARFARE

Dr. Frank J. Rawlinson, left, missionary to China, and Dr. Robert Hetschauer, right, professor of international relations at Princeton university, were killed in Shanghai when airmen bombed the International settlement. Mrs. Rawlinson, center, saw her husband killed and herself was shell-shocked.

men bombed the International settlement. Mrs. Rawlinson, center, saw her husband killed and herself was shell-shocked. Unconfirmed reports here indicated that more marines were scheduled to sail from here for Shanghai next week.

House Speeds Up Its Work

Some Rules Changed To Clear Way For Quick Adjournment

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP)—The house took another stride toward adjournment today by adopting a resolution to dispense with some of its rules for the remainder of the session. The next order of business was passage of the third- and final-deficiency bill. Disposal of that appropriation measure will leave on the house program only the Wagner housing legislation, among major bills leaders expect to pass.

Rebels Drive On Santander

Early Fall Of Biscayan Capital Is Predicted

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontline, Aug. 17 (AP)—Generalissimo Francisco Franco's legions lunged against the cowering defenses of Santander from five directions today. Insurgent tactics predicted the fall of the Biscayan capital within a week. One powerful column, which ripped open a path with hand grenades and bayonets, was reported to have routed Spanish government troops from Escudo Pass and to be within 30 miles of its coastal objective. A dispatch from the insurgent side said seven government battalions had been trapped by Franco's fast moving offensive and that the number of government dead had reached into the thousands. The insurgent command claimed the government's northern defense had been demoralized. Factory Center Taken The important manufacturing center of Reinos, about 30 miles south and slightly west of Santander in the heart of rich mineral lands, was captured by one insurgent column yesterday. A government report, while not mentioning Reinos specifically, said a "slight retreat" had been carried out because of "the important number of war elements which the enemy brought into use." These "elements" included one of the heaviest aerial attacks of the 13-month-old civil war, demolition comparable to the tactics used to smash the "iron ring" defenses of Bilbao, another Biscayan seaport, which fell to Franco in June. Government machine gunners and riflemen tried to hold Reinos with a house-to-house defense, but they finally were overpowered and put to flight by the superior strength of the attack force.

JIMMY WALKER GETS MUNICIPAL JOB

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (AP)—James J. Walker, who resigned under fire in 1932 as mayor of New York, virtually was assured today of a lifetime city pension estimated at between $12,000 and $15,000 annually. The democratic-controlled transit commission appointed him assistant commission counsel yesterday—just two weeks before a five-year absence from the city payroll would have disqualified him for a pension. His new job pays $12,000 a year. Commissioner Reuben L. Haskell said the vote to appoint Walker was unanimous. "There was no politics involved," Reuben said. "He qualifies for the job by virtue of his knowledge of transit."

Amendments To Go Ignored

Extremely Light Vote In Prospect For State Election

DALLAS, Aug. 17 (AP)—A preliminary survey today indicated Texas voters were but feebly interested in the election next Monday on six proposed constitutional amendments. The attitude was attributed mainly to the current "off year" in political activity. In 1938, state office candidates will "beat the bushes" with their own brands of "political thunder" to get the electorate to the polls. In Houston, with Harris county the subject of one proposal, County Clerk Henry M. Dudley expected only 6,000 votes out of a potential 60,000. Other estimates ranged downward from 10 per cent of the voting strength. Selection of a floral representative in district 112, composed of Wilbarger and Wichita counties boosted activity in that section. The legislative seat left vacant by the resignation of Albert G. Walker, appointed assistant attorney general, was sought by three candidates. Even there, however, interest was termed only "fair."

FINDS A 'BEAUTIFUL WORLD' AS SIGHT IS RESTORED

ANISTON, Ala., Aug. 17 (AP)—"It's a beautiful world." That's the way Major Barron reacted today to the sight which he said came to him suddenly yesterday to end 37 years of blindness. The confused but happy negro said he went to a brief prayer meeting and when he left the room, "a beautiful white world" unfolded before him. "Everything is still white," he said today. "I can't tell one color from another but it sure is beautiful." Barron, long familiar as a beggar and as a maker of odd jobs, expressed confidence that he soon would "learn to see" like other persons. He had been blind since birth.

SPECIAL SESSION ABOUT SEPT. 22

AUSTIN, Aug. 17 (AP)—Gov. James V. Allred said today the tax-raising special session of the legislature probably would start around September 22. He stated that legislators had begun to inquire concerning the session dates in order that they might make their plans accordingly. Asked how many extraordinary sessions would be held this fall, the governor replied: "Only one, I hope."

Tech Season Tickets On Sale At Lubbock LUBBOCK, Aug. 17—Season tickets for the 1937 football season at Texas Technological college will be put on sale August 21 at the athletic office, according to Bo Williams, manager. The six home games will cost the season ticket holder $7.50. Much interest is developing in the game with the University of Texas at Austin September 25, Williams has ordered 1,000 reserved seat tickets for the use of Tech students and West Texas fans, and it is likely that this number may not supply the demand. A special train to Austin for the event is planned. The complete schedule follows: Arizona State, September 18, at Lubbock. University of Texas, September 26, at Austin. Montana University, October 2, at Lubbock. Detroit University, October 9, at Detroit. Arizona University, October 16, at Lubbock. New Mexico University, October 22, at Lubbock. MURPHY OR COE TO GUIDE ATHLETIC DESTINIES HERE

Card Change Pits Shiek Against Mackay

Watkins And Krause In Semi-Go

Vic Weber Meets Olie Erickson In Opener

By a simple twist of the wrist Holman has fixed it all over again. When Prince Omar ruffled himself in a smashup over the weekend, it began to look as if Shiek Mar-Allah would have to do an "Al Schacht" in the ring all by his lonesome but the promoter showed he could play his cards in more ways than one and the Persian will have an opponent.

As a result of Omar's accident, all three bouts have been switched. Vic Weber, who was to have met Cyclone Mackay in the semi-final round, found at least 10 minutes cut from his bout. He'll engage Olie Erickson in the special event.

Erickson, a big Swede who didn't fare so well here several weeks ago when he tried to be nice to Sailor Watkins, has settled in Abilene. He won't have near the trouble Weber doesn't digest the foe as thoroughly as does Texas but he'll probably end up behind the eight ball again.

Weber likes to win and needs this one to erase a memory of his bout a week ago when he fought a hopeless draw with Tarzan Krause.

The change in the lineup should suit Mackay no little. He will meet a gentleman in the featured go who has been thrown but twice this season.

ST. PAUL PLANS FOR SPORTS

ST. PAUL, Aug. 17 (UP)—In the face of high temperatures of midsummer, sponsors of the famous St. Paul winter sports carnival are turning their minds to cooler avenues.

They are turning their thoughts to the 1938 versions of the celebrated carnival. Dates for the affair have been set for January 29 through February 6.

Present plans call for making the 1938 celebration an all-winter sports program for the entire city instead of a week of mad-cap carnival.

Tentative plans include a 400-mile dog derby, a 105-mile ski race, a 12-mile snow shoe sweepstakes, a national skating tourney, hockey games, basketball contests, ice-trotting races, an international curling bonspiel, the world's greatest ice show, ice-boat racing, skiing exhibitions, toboggan sliding and other pastimes of the winter months in the northwest.

Alligator Guards Golf Balls TUSCALOOSA, Ala. He placed an alligator in the pond and ended the trouble permanently.

Sight Error Not Slight SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (UP)—A police ambulance, a radio car and a motorcycle officer sped to the scene of a supposedly serious accident in answer to an emergency call. A passerby had seen a junkman making some adjustments on his tow—an unused, dilapidated bus—and mistook it for a wreck.

Freak Lightning Strikes LEICESTER, N. C. (UP)—Take Mrs. Neal Payne's word for it, and never milk a cow when it's lightning. While she was engaged in milking, a bolt struck the cow killing it and throwing Mrs. Payne against the barn door. She suffered only a slanted head, but a yearling near by was killed.

Britons Back Louis To Win

STANDINGS

LONDON, Aug. 17 (AP)—There's a suspicion in Britain that maybe it's just as well that the future of the empire doesn't depend on Tommy Farr.

Which is to say that, if Joe Louis mangles him August 26, the commonwealth will be braced for the shock.

If it isn't braced, it won't be the fault of the British sports writers. They have spent much time and many shillings looking at the pictures of the Louis-Braddock fight, and though generally inclined to let their patriotism get in the way of their judgment in decisions of this kind, they are picking Louis.

"Nice fellow, Tommy, courageous and all that sort of thing, but he really can't attack, can he?" they say. The critics don't believe their boy is good enough to stay 15 rounds without getting hit too many times.

There also is a tendency here to regret Tommy's recent eloquence. It's all very well for Farr to make a hit in America, but what Britain wants to know is, "is it dignified?" Tommy's been quoted as saying he wants to win so he can have a family and his opinions on the old school he has been printed. Ordinarily, one just doesn't have public opinions on having a family or on the old school tie!

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (AP)—A smart lad up in the Bronx parlayed $10 on the Athletics in the recent Yankee series and made himself a cool $600. . . . New York newsworld audiences applaud Tommy Farr's picture. . . . Walter Hagen's pals say he is all set for a great golf comeback when he comes back from Australia or wherever he is. . . . You can laugh at the Cincinnati Reds all you like, but they may have a lot to say about you when the National League pentastars the Browns cannot.

Latest semi-official dope is that Bobby Riggs, the California youngster, can count himself in that No. 2 tennis spot—right behind Don Budge. . . . (Which is just what Bobby has been contending all along.)

Marcel Thill, the French middleweight, is completely bald. . . . A western school has its eye on smart old Bill Alexander of Georgia Tech (but doubts if it can lure him away). . . . Also more than one college is watching Lawrence Spearman, new assistant coach at Little Davidson, whose Chester (S. C.) high team lost only four games in nine years. . . . Farr was Jack Dempsey's luncheon guest yesterday. . . . He looks like a million dollars and talks that kind of fight.

There will be plenty doing in baseball circles this winter—more chapeaus than you can shake a stick at. . . . Lots of baseball men smiled when General Manager Warren C. Giles denied that story the Cincinnati Reds would be made over. . . . Ho hum, Jack Dempsey is planning another white hope tournament. . . . Gosh! . . . When the Browns cannot do better, some already sporting casts as much as 30 feet over the national record, today set out to unseat Marvin K. Hedge of Portland, Ore., as distance champion with a 5-3-4 ounce rod.

The battle opened a four-day casting tournament among members of the National Association of Scientific Angling clubs.

Also at stake in the distance competition in the 5-3-4 ounce class was a mythical world title picked up by Hedge last month in Paris, along with an all-around casting championship.

The record Hedge hung up last year was 151 feet, and at least three of the anglers who faced him today whipped the bait out 180 feet in practice trials. Jack McFish Sparks of Waco, Texas; R. G. Miller of Huntington Beach, Calif., and Sib Lotta of Cleveland turned the trick before the tourney opened officially.

Anderson Devils Make First Start In District Meet Officially declared state junior softball champions, the Anderson Devils, with added strength at short stop, third base and in the outfield, left this afternoon for Sweetwater where they play their first round game in the district tournament tonight at 8:45 p. m. The Gulf Oilers, Sweetwater, will form the opposition.

Manager Ben Daniel will have his entire strength plus the services of Freddy Townsend, short stopper, Jake Morgan, third sacker, and Pat Stacey, center fielder, the Coedon trio signed last week. Both Bobby Savage and L. D. Cunningham are available for mound duty. Bobby is favored to get the call.

At Full Strength Chuck Smith is slated to do the receiving chores while the remainder of the team will line up with Van Ed Watson at first base, Townsend at first short, Jack Oliver at second base, Alton Bostick at second short, Morgan at third, Bobby Martin in left field, Stacey

Local Club Host Of Roundup

The annual Sandbelt golf roundup will take place at the local country club Sunday afternoon, August 22, Manager Shirley Robbins announced Monday.

Entertainment, open only to the men who played during the Sandbelt season, will include 18 holes of golf and a chicken barbecue at 7:30 p. m. Sunday evening in the club house.

For the fourth consecutive year Big Spring was chosen as the host city. The local course is the only one in the circuit boasting 18 holes. Members attending the meeting Saturday afternoon were Morgan N'el and Bill Henderson, Odessa; E. Haynie of Stanton and Jack Merritt of Midland. Members of the Colorado team sent word that they favored Big Spring as the 1937 meeting place.

Robbins, D. P. Watts and C. W. Cunningham represented the local golfers.

Grimm Sure Of Lead At End Of Season

Predicts Cubs Will Have Four Game Advantage

By BILL BONI Associated Press Sports Writer Manager Charley Grimm, leading his stumbling but still first-place Cubs into Pittsburgh today to open a three-game series with the Pirates, believes that on September 4 (the Bruins will have as good a margin in the National league race as they now command—four games.)

September 4 is the day the Cubs return to Wrigley field, with 17 duck games behind them and a balance of 21 at home and 10 away ahead.

Grimm might, off the records, have put a shorter time limit on his forecast—until the end of this series with the Pirates and the subsequent one with the Reds, in fact.

Pirates Junnahs It's the Giants, of course, who, in second place and bolstered by a return hitting comeback of Hank Lelber and the spark-plugging of Demond Dick Bartell, are making a race of it. But it's the Pirates, nine games off the pace in fourth spot, and the Reds, 20 games down in the shadows of the second division, who have been able to cage the Chicago Bear most consistently.

Their latest Cub-caging feats came in the just-completed engagements at Chicago, where the Pirates won two out of three and the Reds three out of four. Between them, they forced Grimm to toss 20 pitchers into the seven games. Only one, Clay Bryant, managed to go the route, pitching a five-hitter that beat the Buccaners.

On the Move The Pirates, sneaking back out of a mid-season slump and breathing back the Pirates a three-game winning streak.

Elsewhere along the big league wheel, the Giants visited the Bees, the Dodgers were at home to the Phils, the Cards were at Cincinnati, the American league-leading Yanks meet the Senators, boasting an eight-game string, in a double-header, the Red Sox were at Philadelphia, the Tigers at Chicago, and the Indians at St. Louis.

1937 Sales Greater SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 17 (AP)—The Saratoga yearling sale, which ended tonight with the sale of yearlings from the Holly Beach farm of Labrot and company and Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's Sagamore farm, have already outstripped last year's sales in total payments.

A total of 494 youngsters have changed hands at the current sale for $1,222,325, an average of just under $2,500 a head. Last year's sales brought $1,163,325 for 467 head.

Board Votes To Retain Brandon

Eight Applicants Considered At Meeting

Members of the Big Spring school board, examining some eight or ten applications for the local coaching situation Monday night, narrowed the list down to two and decided to make a final choice at another meeting / Thursday night.

The two are E. E. (Pat) Murphy, assistant coach at Abilene High; and Doyle Coe, director of athletics at the Goose Creek school. Coe is at present in Lubbock, and board members decided the two prospects should be called here for interviews before a contract is signed.

The new coach will succeed George Brown, who resigned the first of the month to accept a teaching position in the Dallas school system.

Brandon As Assistant Carmen Brandon, assistant to Brown last year, will be retained in that post. He was an applicant for the head coaching job. Last year was his first in an instructor's position, and school officials felt they needed a more experienced man at the helm of athletic affairs here. They commended Brandon's work as assistant, and said he would be retained in that capacity and as instructor of the school's physical education classes.

Both Murphy and Coe have been here in recent days, contacting individual members of the board. They will be interviewed by the full group Thursday night.

Murphy, it was understood, has outlined a complete course in physical education, one that would last through 12 months of the year and which would reach to the younger pupils in all the city's ward schools. Trustees frankly were interested in that program, and indications were that the Abilene assistant mentor stood first.

Among other applications presented at the meeting Monday night were those of Clayton Hopkins of the San Angelo junior college; A. M. (Tonto) Coleman, assistant at San Angelo High; W. E. Cooper of Cisco; Glenn Frazier of Comanche and Irvin Hill of Arlington.

Brothers To Defend Rowboat Honors OSKOSH, Wis., Aug. 17 (UP) Cyrus and Raymond Benedict, of Butte Des Morts, Wis., will defend their national rowboat championship in the national rowboat derby to be held September 6.

The race will be held from Winnebago to Neenah, with $500 prize offered to the winners.

The derby is a 25-mile race down the Wolf river from Winnebago, into the Fox river, and then through Lake Winnebago to Neenah.

More than 50 starters are expected at the derby. In addition to the championship prize an award of $100 will be offered to the first team reaching Oshkosh.

Last year 42 teams started the race, but only 24 finished. More than 100,000 spectators watched the derby.

Race rules require that boats must be 14 feet or more in length, at least 4 inches in beam, be 1-2 inches deep and weigh at least 150 pounds.

TRIBE ADDS TO ADVANTAGE

(By the Associated Press) Texas League standings today remained unchanged in spite of three doubleheaders and a single tilt played yesterday to make up for Sunday's washed out affair.

Perched loftily out of shouting distance from the rest was Oklahoma City which floated even higher yesterday by annexing two well-played affairs from Houston's seventh-placers by scores of 2 to 0 and 2 to 1. Brilliant hurling featured both contests.

San Antonio's second-place Missions helped their cause by defeating the lowly Dallas Steers 3 to 0. Pitchers Woods, of the celtic Missions and Tietje of the Padres continued the good work of their series predecessors.

Beaumont and Fort Worth split double bills as did Tulsa and Galveston.

Scores in the former's games were 4 to 2 and 10 to 2, while the latter chalked up counts of 1 to 0 and 2 to 0.

MIDLAND, Aug. 17 (Sp)—The West Texas Sand Green Championship Golf tournament, to be held here on Aug. 27, 28 and 29, was announced this week by the Midland country club, all golfers of West Texas and New Mexico being cordially invited to participate in the annual affair which promises to be the most successful tournament ever staged here. The 18-hole championship will be played off on the Sunday afternoon of the tourney. Attractive prizes will be awarded.

There will be sixteen players to each flight and a flight for all players. Each match will be for 18 holes. Deadline for entering will be at 4 p. m. on Aug. 27, with optional qualifying on the Midland course with a member of the Midland country club Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 21 and 22. Qualifying scores on another course will be allowed if they are witnessed by a member of the local country club.

A special feature of the tourney will be a flight composed of golfers over 50 years of age. Another feature will be the long driving contest, each entry being allowed three balls, the longest drive staying in the fairway being the winner. Cold refreshments will be served every third hole.

A banquet will be staged at Hotel Scharbauer on Friday evening, Aug. 27, with a calcutta pool sale being conducted immediately afterwards.

TEXAN LOSER MILWAUKEE, Aug. 17 (UP)—Harold Lemke of Milwaukee defeated Bill Billings of the University of Texas, 6-1, 3-6, 6-4, in the first round of the men's singles in the city open tennis tournament yesterday.

Monkeys Used As Guinea Pigs In War On Infantile Paralysis

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
(AP Science Editor)

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP)—Two Stanford university scientists propose a new nasal spray to curb the outbreak of infantile paralysis which has been moving in mild form northeastward from Texas through Ohio and Kentucky.

Nasal sprays 20 years ago proved to be a complete protection against monkeys catching the disease. One of these sprays, picric acid, notable in wartime explosives, was tried on human beings in Alabama last summer.

The experiment showed that a layman cannot well protect himself by spraying with an atomizer. Medical skill was needed to place the spray in exactly the right spot. More effective sprays were also sought and this the Californians report they have apparently discovered.

MONKEYS SUBMIT TO THIS... Experiments on monkeys demonstrate that infantile paralysis attacks only through the nose.

Infantile Paralysis Cases Up 200 Pct.

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Infantile paralysis cases throughout the country are up more than 200 per cent from last year, the U. S. public health service reports.

Total number of cases in 10 representative states during the week ended July 31 was 361, compared with only 44 cases in the same states during the corresponding week of 1936.

Public health service surgeons said, however, that the figures did not indicate an epidemic of the disease.

"There is usually an increase in the incidence of infantile paralysis during August and September," they said, "and apparently the seasonal rise has started somewhat earlier than usual."

It is given in a concentration painful unless a local anesthetic is used. The Californians, E. W. Schultz, M. D., and L. P. Gebhardt, report they have now found an anesthetic, pontocaine, which does not harm the spray.

The picric acid used last summer they found to afford continued protection for a month after spraying. But the sine sulphate on the nose monkeys has remained effective.

SO LITTLE BOYS WON'T GO THROUGH THIS Only immediate hope of preventing other children from suffering like this boy from infantile paralysis is through use of nose sprays.

live two and sometimes three months.

"The remarkable protection," they report, "in animals suggests the desirability of carrying the investigation over to man. We say 'investigation' advisedly, for it does not necessarily follow that the results which have been obtained in monkeys apply equally to man."

Attacks through Nerves

Nose sprays offer at present the only scientific hope of preventing this child scourge. In monkeys it has been demonstrated completely that the parasite attacks only through the nose. It enters through the nerves of smell, the only end-organs, tiny "hairs" are the exposed nerves of the body.

Physicians regard it as almost certain that human beings also catch the paralysis only through these same nerves.

The disease is known to travel in the nerves, and to affect only nerves. This is the reason why immune serum is not always an effective preventive. The serum has to be given in the blood. It causes formation of protective substances, antibodies, but they do not get into the nerves, or at least not quickly enough.

READING AND WRITING

By John Selby

"OH, SAY, CAN YOU SEE?"

By Lewis Browne; (Macmillan; $1.50).

Lewis Browne has an important gift for stating ideas in such terms that they can be understood by even the most clever of us. He has done tricks with religion, history, biography and now fiction. The word trick is not used in a sarcastic way, either.

Mr. Browne may not know Russian quite so well as he knows rabbinical lore—he was a deep student of the latter, at one time. But he has been to Russia twice, and he has come out of that land both times with his head on his shoulders. He is not impressed too much with Soviet verbiage, nor is he a confirmed and raving capitalist. He thinks, truth to tell, that either camp can be funny, not to say ridiculous.

"Oh, Say, Can You See?" is an exploitation of that belief. It also is as deft an example of verbal artifice as this reader has seen in a long time. Like a good caricature it floats on a perfectly serious idea and those who wish may at any moment reduce the text to a sermon, an allegory, or whatever is wanted.

Ivan is a young Russian scientist. He is sent to America on a fellowship to work in a west coast marine biological laboratory which is not in very good shape financially. Ivan arrives in his best Soviet suit, not a very good looking suit and shy on wool. He arrives, indeed, as full of serious ideas as that suit is of shoddy, and he starts work in a milieu which is as unfamiliar to him as Mars would be. Ivan is of the generation that missed the old Russian regime.

The difficulty is that Ivan, for all his belief in Soviet automatism, is a human being. Everything is strange, much seems foolish in what he sees. But people are people in California just as they are in Russia. When Carole, a wanton cushioned by several million dol-

Better Times Ahead

There are many gloomy prophets of disaster who are telling us that another depression, worse than the last, is just around the proverbial corner and that the country is heading straight toward an era of suffering without parallel. Time will tell whether these long range forecasts of evil days to come are true. It is comforting, in the meantime, to note the almost unanimous prophecy that in the immediate future America has little about which to worry. Something terrible may happen next year or during the next ten years or so, but next fall and winter will be a period of prosperity. Industrial business and agricultural conditions have been carefully surveyed by the statisticians. They find that this year's farm crops will have an even greater purchasing power than in 1929, and will place the producers in more favorable position than they have occupied since the extraordinary world war period. This means that the agriculturists of the country will be able to buy what they need, and will be burdened less by debt than at any time during the past two decades. Not only will their cash income be greater than for the average year, but they have learned how to conserve their food products and will have a smaller need for cash than is usually the case.

Business in general is improving steadily. Inventories are lower, and replacements will be heavier. Mills have contracts to keep them busy through the winter, which means stabilized employment if and when the unions decide to stop striking and go to work. Production of electricity reached the highest points on record a few days ago. Even stocks and bonds seem to have weathered the long storm of adversity, with an upward trend that seems to be stable.

These indices of improvement apply to the nation in general. Speaking for our own West Texas area, prospects are particularly bright. Crop prospects in the section preface a banner season in the realm of agriculture; the oil business in the territory is traveling along at well-nigh a boom rate; livestock men face a cheering situation.

Big Spring's position with reference to construction expenditures is extraordinarily favorable. The $317,000 for the state hospital—provided we finance the land—will mean the putting of much money into local channels through laborer's wages. That great project is due to spur other local building.

The consumer is paying and must pay the bill, of course, but since he profits or suffers as general business and industry ebbs or flows he will be better able than in most years to pay the advancing costs which, according to the analysts, will be well within reason.

All things considered, therefore, it seems that the people can safely ignore the prophets of disaster and with much assurance may join in the happy chorus led by the economists who are announcing a prosperous fall and winter.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Personal notes off a New Yorker's cuff:

Edna Ferber likes to write novels of American life while secluded in a Paris hotel. . . Muriel Kirkland once slapped her leading man's face because he made too ardent love to her during a scene on the stage. . .

Among hundreds who turn up at the Astor to greet Ozzie Nelson the other night was Dave Franklin. . . Franklin is the composer who wrote "The Merry-Go-Round Broke Down," and "Dream Boat"—two outstanding hits. . . He looked happy and extremely well-fed. . . Which must be a novelty for Franklin. . . For ten years before he "hit" he almost starved to death.

Toscanini always has two ever-green shrubs placed at each side of his door when he checks into his New York hotel. . . As long as attendants remember he has been doing this. . . Yet nobody knows why. . . He refuses to discuss it, and even the servants at the hotel don't know why.

George Lotman's name for Hollywood is "Phoneyville-By-the-Sea." He insists everybody is so vain on the coast that even hash in the restaurants is served with a profile. . . The waiters never know when a director is looking at them.

Most of the guide books in New York are dull and strident. . . There's not a single one with any life or color, most of them being content with listing buildings and streets, and tossing in a few uninspiring historical notes. . . Somebody with the right touch could make a lot of money out of this.

Actresses aren't content to remain untalked about. . . Not by any means. . . But they seldom go to the lengths to secure publicity resorted to by stars in the old days. . . At least, you never hear of one giving a dinner with a

ON THE RECORD

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

NOT LIBERALISM SPOILS

The appointment of Senator Black to the supreme court is cheap. I can find no other one word to apply to it. Taking advantage of the senate's club spirit—and of the senate's own cheap promotion of Senator Robinson for the post, for purpose of putting the president in a hot spot—Mr. Roosevelt has pulled another smart trick. Or is it so smart? It confirms those who have opposed the court packing bill in the conviction that the president does not want to liberalize the supreme court but to abolish it, by turning it into a chorus of yes-men for the executive and congress. The political result will be to make the New Deal opposition in congress stronger, and more timorous of passing any kind of social legislation.

Let us say clearly that where the present court has been divided, this column has almost always agreed with the minority of dissenting judges. It has agreed because of respect for the quality of their minds, the breadth of their spirits, their learning, and the logic and reason of their arguments. This appointment is not merely an attack on the supreme court—by sending it a man who does not believe in its essential function. It is a blow to democratic government—because the biggest problem of democracies is how to keep alive respect for intellectual integrity and rational processes. An honest conservative could have accepted the appointment to the supreme court of Judge Learned Hand, or Dean Clark of Yale, or Professor Corwin of Princeton, or Professor Felix Frankfurter, or Donald Richberg. All of these men are eminent liberal jurists, who believe in constitutional government and know what it is. Honest conservatives whose concern is not the process of existing interpretations of property rights, but is the protection of reason and dignity in American institutions, should have been proud of the presence on the bench of Justices Brandeis, Cardozo, and Stone. But Senator Black is not in their category. Rather he is in the category of Justice McReynolds, who was also a political appointee, and has not developed, but offers dissenting opinions in the form of diatribe orations. We can expect the same kind of non-judicial oratory from Senator Black.

Does any one who has ever heard Senator Black conduct an inquiry believe that his is the judicial temper? When he snarls at some one, called supposedly as an expert, to testify in the wages and hours hearings, aren't you an anti-nepotist? As though the nation's honor were worth anything unless he shared the senator's social and political views.

What is the function of the supreme court, and what qualities of mind and spirit should characterize its judges? Let us not ask conservatives. Let us turn to eminent and famous liberals. Says Justice Cardozo, answering the first question, in his brilliant and beautiful little book, "The Function of the Judicial Process":

"The utility of an external power, restraining legal judgment is to be measured by counting the occasions of its exercise. The great ideals of liberty and equality are preserved against the assaults of opportunism, the expediency of the passing hour, the erosion of small encroachments, the scorn and derision which have no patience with general principles, by enshrining them in institutions, and consecrating to their protection a body of defenders. By conscious or subconscious influence, the presence of this power, aloof in the background, tends to stabilize and rationalize the legislative judgment, to infuse it with the glow of principle, to hold the standard aloof and visible for those who must run the race and keep the faith."

Somehow I can't see Senator Black preserving great ideals against the erosion of small encroachments, or being consecrated to the defense of anything except his leader's policy, or infusing that with any "glow of principle."

And who should be chosen as judges? Professor Frankfurter approvingly quotes Judge Learned Hand, in his essay on the supreme court in the Encyclopedia of Social Sciences:

"The spirit, and culture, and insight which should be possessions of a justice of the supreme court have been stated by Judge Learned Hand:

"I venture to believe that it is as important to a judge, called upon to pass on questions of constitutional law, to have at least a bowing acquaintance with Acton beribboned pig as guest of honor, as Ruth Urban did. . . Or of anyone keeping a baby lamb in her room, as Jean Stewart did, until the hotel management heard about it—and threw out the lamb. . . It landed, of course, on the front page.

There were tragic endings to some of those early publicity maneuvers. . . Myrna Darby, for instance, wanted a bronze sunburn to go with her blond hair. . . She died of sun poisoning. . .

The goofiest stunt ever put on was by Toodles Ryan. . . She paraded Fifth avenue in a bird-cage hat that contained several live canaries.

Almost as unserious was Jimmy Durante's explanation when he refused to let interior decorators rehabilitate his suite at a Broadway hotel, where he has stopped for years. "I was a tramp when I first moved in here," he announced, "and it's good enough for me now."

FLAME TRAIL

By Marie De Neveau

Chapter 47
KAY AND MARION MEET
"They took Tom Runyon away from the trial to go down and investigate the fire," said Shorty.
"They did!" Kay suddenly remembered Tom Runyon's excited conference with the two men she had seen come up to him, when she had been running away from him and Josh Hastings.
"Sure," Shorty leaned forward confidentially. "Say—it looks like that Runyon bird's almost as good as he says he is!" He paused, and fixed Kay with a speculative eye.
"You've sure got me guessing Kay! Here I thought you were kind of taken with this Gaynor guy. Then when it came out at the trial that you'd given away his hiding place to Tom Runyon, I thought Runyon was the lucky fellow! Now, hang it all, if you don't seem a heap more stirred up about what's happened to Gaynor than to Runyon. Women sure are the beatingest!"
Shorty finished his tirade without noticing that Kay's eyes were fixed on him in a sort of trance.
"What was that you said Shorty?" she demanded.
"Why, I was saying that I thought you liked—"
"No," Kay interrupted. "I mean about the trial—about me giving away Ted Gaynor's hiding place to Tom Runyon?"
"That's no news to you, I'm afraid," Shorty answered. "I could Runyon have reported it to Zeke Farley?"
A great roaring in Kay's ears almost drowned out Shorty's voice.
Suddenly the answer to Ted's puzzling behavior flashed before her. How else could he have acted, if he thought she had been the one to betray his hiding place?
"But if Tom Runyon testified that," she protested wildly, "surely he told them that I was delirious and didn't know what I was saying! To my knowledge I certainly never told anyone that I had seen Ted in the shack-up there!"
Shorty let out a low whistle. "So that's accounted for it!" He wrinkled his forehead. "Nope. Nothing was said about your being out of your head. I got the whole thing from a fellow who was there."
With a moan, Kay buried her face in her hands. For the moment, she hated Tom Runyon even more than she did Josh Hastings. She could kill him for having given that false impression to Ted! "Shorty!" Kay bit her lips in an effort to keep her voice steady, and her eyes failed to meet Shorty's sympathetic ones. "I—I kind of think I'd like to be alone. Thanks for the supper."
"That's O.K." Shorty shifted unasily from one foot to the other. He made one or two glances start in an effort to say something, then abruptly took his leave.
Hunting For Ted
The gray light of dawn was stealing over the mesa when Kay let herself out the cabin door and ran down to the corral.
Whistling softly for Flicker, she held his head close for a moment, to suppress his joyous whinny. Then she saddled him and headed for the mesa, giving a wide circle to the bunk house.
After a sleepless night, Kay had arrived at one inescapable conclusion. Whatever the consequences she couldn't let Ted get away, carrying with him the idea that she had betrayed him.
The only clue she had as to where she might find him was his statement that he was going to see if Marion Howell needed him.
In spite of her misery, Kay's heart lightened as it never had before at the thought of Marion Howell. In this new light on Ted's behavior, she saw the whole situation like a clear pattern, and her intuitive certainty that Ted really did love her reasserted itself.
During the interminable night she had fitted all the puzzling pieces of the pattern together—Ted's gruffness and bitterness, after the first moment of abandonment when he had kissed her; his remarks, so meaningless before, that he couldn't trust her to know he had gone to Marion; the certainty that Ted's feeling for Marion was that of a grateful friend.
"How like him," Kay thought, "to risk his own safety for friendship as well as for love!"
A tender smile lighted her face for a moment. She gave Flicker free rein, and as they raced over the mesa, her mind flew from one memory of Ted to another, always coming back to the dread question: would she find him? Or would she be too late, and have to resign herself forever to be branded in his mind as a traitor?
Guided by this thought, Kay urged Flicker to his topmost speed. By the time the sun was over the horizon, she was once more ascending the fatally familiar trail.
Up and up she went, then plunged down between the two divides, only to ascend still higher. As she gained the upper reaches she was aware of a faint, acrid smell.
Kay's eyes scanned the sky to the south, and as a bend in the trail gave her momentarily an unobstructed view, she detected a haze lying low over the far distant wooded ridge.
Certain now that she had smelled smoke, Kay soothed Flicker's restiveness and pushed resolutely on. As Shorty had said, the fire was too far away to worry about, and with all the forces of the fire fighters against it, it was surely under control by now.
As Kay passed the stone monument, marking the old boundary between the states, she felt a glow of satisfaction at the memory of her success in using that fact. At last the pass was behind her and, with beating heart, she blithered Root and Clear Water rivers, and made for the shack on the south ridge. Leaving Flicker, Kay pushed her way through the underbrush, and came out finally on the clearing.

Tears And Comfort
The shack loomed at the end of the open space, as deserted looking as ever. Kay ran to the front door, calling first Ted, then Marion Howell.
As she pushed open the outer door, the inner one was pulled back, and Marion confronted her.
"What do you want?"
For a moment, Kay was speechless at the change that had taken place in Marion. Her delicate beauty had given way under the strain, and instead of the attractive girl Kay had glimpsed before she faced a totally different person. Her whole aspect was haggard, and her forehead lined with desperate anxiety.
Kay put an impulsive, pleading hand on her arm. "Please let me come in! I'm Kay Grandon, and I must see you! Is Ted Gaynor here?"
A hard look of dislike flashed over Marion's face. "Why?" she demanded. "So you can give him up again?"
"I didn't," Kay's agonized denial burst from her. "Please let me come in! I'm Kay Grandon, and I must see you! Is Ted Gaynor here?"

Jennings has a bit in Crosby's "Double or Nothing." He'll come into fame, in pictures as well as golf, if any producer puts him in a musical with a golf-waiting routine. Strange Loper Story Told DARWIN (UP)—Australian policemen enjoy even more public confidence than the London "bobbies." An aboriginal named Kancubla staggered into the Roper River police station with a loper boy on his back whom he had crept from water hole to water hole over a period of nine months. The object of the trek was to allow the loper to see a policeman who had once employed Kancubla, who was convinced the officer could cure the boy. He was removed to a leprosyarium.

Liquor Cannot Stand The Light Of Truth

NO PEACE IN W. C. T. U. FIGHT ON LEAGUE

Masterful general that she always is, in thanking Dr. Sayre for his kindness in bringing President Roosevelt's message and for the courageous words which he himself added, Mrs. Boothe explained to the audience that because of his great interest in the subject of international peace, Mr. Roosevelt had been asked to give the peace address at the convention. "But," she added, smilingly and with a real twinkle in her eye, "although Frances Willard herself urged that the time to work for peace is when there is no war" and no organization could be fore interested in finding better ways than war to settle governmental differences, after all, that is not our main interest. We were organized to fight the liquor traffic and the liquor habit and we still stand on those principles."

The spontaneous and thundering applause that greeted Mrs. Boothe's words, and continued for several minutes, could have left little doubt in the mind of any person in that vast audience as to where the W. C. T. U. stands and no question in her mind that those thousands in that huge auditorium were in agreement with her.

Greetings were expressed in person for "the Educators" by Dr. John W. Studebaker, federal director of education; for "the Churchmen" by the Rev. Edwin Holt Hughes, D. D., senior bishop of the Methodist Episcopal churches, who Broccoli was brought to England from Italy in the 16th century.

PERSONALLY SPEAKING

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Pickle have as their guest her sister, Arlene Daniels of Winters.

George H. Hatch is leaving Monday afternoon for Hot Springs, Arkansas, where he will spend his vacation.

Miss Laura Belle Underwood, secretary in the district old age assistance commission office here, is vacationing in Colorado.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Collings returned Monday from a visit with relatives in Glen Rose. Mrs. Collings' sister, Mrs. Robert Dotson and children accompanied them here for a visit. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Collings were expected here Tuesday afternoon to join him for a trip to Tucson, Ariz.

J. H. Underwood, courthouse caretaker, returned Tuesday morning from a visit in California with his daughter, Mrs. Roy Percifield, and son, Mack Underwood.

E. W. Lowmore, city water office employe, is on a brief visit in San Antonio.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Foley and son, Danny, of Fairfax, Okla., have resumed their trip to Colorado Springs, Colo., after a brief visit here with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Strom.

Fliers Stand By To Take Up Search For Soviet Airmen

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Aug. 17 (AP)—A group of three nations gathered on the rim of the Arctic today for a far flung search into the bleak wastes where six Russian transpolar fliers vanished last Friday.

Wind, rain and lowering clouds, which swept ominously across the top of the world yesterday, balked American, Russian and Canadian airmen from launching an aerial hunt.

Among those grounded by the storm was Jimmy Mattera, American aviator, who, in 1935, was saved from death in the wilds of Siberia by Sigismund Levaneffsky, pilot of the missing plane which was en route here on a 4,000-mile flight from Moscow.

Mattera, who was on a world flight when he crashed in Siberia, spent yesterday equipping his fast, long distance ship with de-icers to battle the cold he expected to encounter in the hunt. A refueling plane to enable him to extend his search was en route here from his California headquarters.

At Aklavik, Northwest Territory Canadian pilot Bob Randall, was ready to soar out over the frozen Arctic ocean in a plane chartered by the Russian embassy in Washington. He flew to Aklavik yesterday from Edmonton, Alta., 1,700 miles southward.

At Markovo, on the Anadir river in Siberia, soviet pilot Zadkoff prepared to hop to Cape Wellen on the northern Siberian coast.

Vague radio messages picked up on a wave length assigned to the missing transport plane spurred searchers in the hopes the ship had landed safely, possibly on an ice floe.

Gaiety Turns To Terror— Evacuation Rush Stirs All Shanghai

(By Elizabeth Lantry Harris, wife of the Associated Press correspondent in Shanghai.)

SHANGHAI, Aug. 17 (AP)—This once-gay metropolis of the Orient is a kaleidoscope of terror and ruin today, as the Sino-Japanese conflict rages on in a thunder of cannonading.

Frenzied activity of evacuating more than two thousand American and British women and children engulfs the bund. Luggage-laden coolies stream along 'the world-famous thoroughfare of luxury and pleasure, calling excitedly as they race to keep up with the owners of the baggage....

Taxis push their way in and out of the crowds. The harsh sound of their horns mingles with the chatter of rifle and machine gun fire and the roar of artillery. Hordes of ragged Chinese refugees jam into the avenue to gaze in curiosity at the spectacle....

From the terror and confusion of the waterfront the women and children enter tenders to board liners which will carry them out to sea and safety.

Japanese and Chinese aircraft roar overhead, anti-aircraft guns fire at them. Shell splinters fall in the water around the tenders and on them. But all arrive safely.

Along Nanking road, where hundreds died in Saturday's tragic bombing, the only inhabitants are two bodies. Few living persons pass by....

Heat Plagues Wide Sector

Not Much Relief Promised In Fore- cast Of Showers

CHICAGO, Aug. 17 (AP)—A searing blanket of heat covered most of the nation today.

Temperatures surged into the nineties again with little prospect of falling before nightfall. Official weather observers predicted local showers by tonight for many states but said they would not afford much relief.

The withering heat further aggravated fears for the corn crop in the midwest. Reports of damage to the grain in Nebraska, South Dakota, parts of Iowa and Minnesota, and elsewhere caused an outburst of buying on the board of trade here yesterday.

Ninety degree heat persisted in Chicago yesterday long after sundown. The temperature hit 95 degrees, highest for the date in weather bureau records. New York was cool by comparison, recording a maximum of 88.

The blistering heat sent the temperature to the 100 degree mark and beyond in many midwestern cities yesterday. Yuma, Ariz., was the nation's hottest spot with a reading of 108. Sioux City, Iowa, stifled in 106 degree heat. Phoenix, Ariz., and North Platte, Neb., had 104 and Omaha recorded 102.

SEEKING CALVES FOR FEEDING TESTS

County Agent O. P. Griffin was making a tour of Martin county ranches Tuesday with George Bond, Martin county agent, in an effort to locate a small group of calves suitable for feeding tests to be launched in this county by 4-H club boys on Sept. 1 or soon thereafter.

The agent has singled out one lot of 25 uniform calves averaging around 500 pounds. He is seeking an additional 17 necessary to meet demands of boys.

A check of records Tuesday showed that club boys in this county are anticipating feeding 43 calves, the most extensive club feeding operation ever attempted here.

YOUNG WOMAN BURNS TO DEATH IN CAR

HOUSTON, Aug. 17 (AP)—Mrs. Mary McDonald Edwards, 20, burned to death early today in an automobile collision near Pasadena.

Sterling Anderson, who was riding with Mrs. Edwards, and Virginia Highfill and Ned Forcum, occupants of the other car, were injured.

Deputy Sheriff M. A. Winn of Pasadena said the cars collided head-on and that Anderson's machine burst into flames before anyone reached the scene.

The victim's husband, Earl Edwards, was in a Houston hospital under treatment for injuries received in a fall from a ladder August 4.

The body of Mrs. Edwards will be sent to Dallas for burial.

STANTON SCHOOL TO ORGANIZE BAND

STANTON, Aug. 17—Organization of a school band will be one of two major projects undertaken by the Stanton school system in the term opening September 6, it was announced following a meeting of the school board recently. Conditioning of the grammar school building is the other project, finances for which are to be supplied by the delinquent tax drive sponsored by the school board.

The two projects named were among four "outstandingly important needs" of the school system as presented to the members of the board by Sept. W. C. Glasener. Others included provision of gymnasium and home economics facilities and provision of agriculture and shopwork classes in the school.

Selection of a band master has not been made it was announced Monday.

Prayers By Refugees

SHANGHAI, Aug. 17 (AP)—Prayers of thanksgiving were offered on the customs jetty today before the first Dollar Line tender left for the refugee liner President Jefferson with 287 American women and children.

It was a strange scene, barren of joy even among those fortunate enough to escape the terrifying bombardments and the threat of hunger here.

There were no shouts of bon voyage, no waving handkerchiefs, no stunner baskets, no flowers, nor were there any tears and long embraces.

Fathers watching their wives and children sail to safety stood on the pier until the tender disappeared down the river. Then they turned, silently, toward the embattled city.

The women, their faces lined by the strain of long nights of impatient waiting amid bursting bombs and anti-aircraft shells, trudged wearily aboard. Most of them had a suitcase—their only luggage—in one hand and a child or two clutching the other.

One baby was carried aboard in an incubator.

To identify the tender as a neutral refugee ship, officials stretched a big American flag across an upper deck like a canopy.

It was the last of the only protection against the waterfront aerial, sea and artillery fire that the Chinese and Japanese along its 30-mile trip downstream to the Jefferson's anchorage at Woo-
