Crop Prospects Hard To Predict Now

Lack Of Moisture Hampers Dryland Crop

"We're coming into a new crop year," said Bailey County Extension Agent Spencer Tanksley, "and from our standpoint right now, we can hopefully start a new crop that will be another 'bumper' crop."

"We've had two bumper crops in a row, so it's a little hard to speculate on a third one. That's just not the way history has been on the Plains."

The county agent said that April, 1989 is starting off short on moisture and dryness of our soil, and High Plains Underground Water District has shown a deficit of two to eight inches of moisture needed to plant crops.

Tanksley added, "In talking with farmers on how much rain we need, most believe we need 3-4 inches or more. Most farmers believe we still have fairly good 'deep' moisture, but the top is still dry."

According to Tanksley, most farmers have completed land preparation activities for a new crop, including breaking land, fertilizing, and bedding up.

Also, at this time, the area is split, irrigation farmers are applying pre-water while dryland farmers are waiting on 'Mother Nature.'

"We do not anticipate much change in crop acreages over the past two years," said Tanksley. "Our major crops will be cotton, corn, grain sorghum, wheat and vegetables."

"Looking at the wheat situation in the county, it looks like this. 'We have to say wheat is in a very poor, dismal stage of growth."

"Once again, we have lost several hundred acres of wheat to freeze damage."

"There is not a good explanation as to why the wheat froze -- except we have had warm spells, right behind cold spells that triggered the growth to stop, then it would warm up again, triggering regrowth."

"Some fields are 80-90 percent damaged right now. Every field probably has a different reason why it did freeze out."

The county agent added, "Irrigated wheat that does not have freeze damage should have an average yield if irrigation is continued, and farmers apply insect control when necessary. 'Unfortunately, the outlook for dryland farmers is very poor. We're probably out of time for rainfall that will help. It's too late for most dryland wheat."

Tanksley also issued a word of caution to farmers. "Farmers who have not done so should check with the ASC office to determine if a crop can be zeroed out and plowed up in order to plant another crop."

"they MUST see the ASC before plowing up a crop expecting to replant."

At the present time, the Russian Wheat aphid is in a 'holding pattern.' They are not increasing, or building up in fields at this time. There is no major problem with the Russian Wheat aphid in Bailey County now, but warmer weather will cause an increase," he added.

Presently, some vegetable

Local Duo Lose Lives In Intersection Crash

Two men employed by Irrigation Pumps and Power of Muleshoe lost their lives, apparently instantly, in a grinding intersection crash at a dirt road in Parmer County Thursday morning.

According to DPS reports, Jose Alfredo Acosta, 30, was driving a 1982 flatbed south on an unmarked county dirt road when it was in a collision with a 1983 Oldsmobile driven by George Martinez, 45, of Lazbuddie.

The accident was approximately 10.3 miles northeast of Muleshoe.

Gilberto Reyes, 34, a passenger in the flatbed, was also killed in the accident.

Both Acosta and Reyes were pronounced dead at the scene at 10 a.m. by Parmer County Justice of the Peace Albert Smith.

Martinez was brought to West Plains Medical Center by the Bailey County EMS where he is being treated for lacerations and bruises. He was listed in good condition Friday morning.

Gilbert V. Reyes was born June 3, 1954 in Redford, TX and moved to Bailey County 15 years ago from Crane. He was in the water well business for Irrigation Pumps & Power.

Funeral services for Reyes will be conducted at 2 p.m. Monday, April 3, in the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church with Father Pat Maher officiating. Interment will be in Bailey County Memorial Park under direction of Ellis Funeral Home.

He was married to Maria de La Luz Ramirez on October 8, 1972 in Muleshoe. He was a member of Immaculate Conception Catholic Church.

MISD Chooses Jim Stewart Athletic Director; Head Coach

Thursday morning, in a called press conference in the school administration office on West Avenue G, Dr. Lawrence Ward, superintendent, introduced the new athletic director and head football coach for Muleshoe.

Jim Stewart, who came to Muleshoe in 1986 as assistant to Athletic Director and Head Football Coach Dale Keeling was named to the new position. Coach Keeling resigned from his position and left Muleshoe the last week of March.

Dr. Ward explained that 45-50 inquiries were received for the position, and 30 completed their application and did all that was required to meet the qualifications for the position.

Although Coach Stewart received a large number of recommendations, Dr. Ward said they decided they needed to search for a coach with football experience. "We let it be known that we wanted to find the best coach," he said.

A committee of Dr. Ward, Tom

Jinks and Wayland Ethridge checked out all the applicants and finally narrowed it down to seven. They started checking references and came to three applicants to be interviewed.

Dr. Ward said Coach Stewart was checked out the same as all the others, and each was asked the same questions, to insure fairness. "When we scored Jim, we tried to be very objective," he added. "The bottom line is, no one could beat Jim Stewart. He earned the right to be given the position. We are very proud and more and more impressed with him. At this time, we are very content, very happy with our choice -- he's earned it -- he's got it."

In a question and answer session, Coach Stewart said he wants to treat the youngsters in the athletic program right - he wants to be fair - and will talk with them.

"I'm going to give 100 percent, and I expect 100 percent from my athletes."

He said he is already contacting coaches and has coaches coming in for interviews. "I want the best coaches I can find," he added. "I'm looking for the best personnel we can hire."

Coach Stewart stressed that he is looking for mature coaches who know how to work -- who are willing to work 18-20 hours a day if necessary -- and who knows how to treat young people.

"We want to return to pride, determination, desire and attitude," he said.

With a two year contract, Coach Stewart officially begins his new duties tomorrow, April 3.

A native of McKinney, Coach Stewart coached in Dickinson before coming to Muleshoe.

Each summer for about nine years, he spent his summer months working with handicapped youngsters at the Lions Club Crippled Children's Camp at Kerrville. He has always said he has benefitted more than the youngsters have from his work there.

He will not be at the Lions Club Camp this year, although he keeps in touch frequently. He will be teaching Driver's Ed this summer in Muleshoe.

SCS Reminds Weed Control Very Important

Rodney Duus with the Soil Conservation Service in Muleshoe reminds participants with land in the Conservation Reserve Program that it is time to think about weed controls for their contracts. Some, with well established stands, probably will not need a control. Contracts that have a weak stand of grass, or had a weed problem last year, will probably need weed controls this year to aid in the establishment of the grass.

Weeds compete with the grass for nutrients and water, which retards the growth of the grass. Weeds not controlled, during the growing season, that are killed by frost, will blow into adjacent fields causing economic damage to that crop. When weeds blow onto adjacent fields, it not only increases the amount of time and labor required to harvest the crop, but also reduces the amount and quality of the crop harvested. You also will lose friendly relations with your neighbor if his crop is damaged by your lack of timely weed control, added Duus.

Weed controls can either be chemical or mechanical. Chemical control can be the most effective type if the proper chemical is applied in accordance with label requirements under favorable climatic conditions. Producers are reminded that Bailey County is a regulated county.

Muleshoe Youth Baseball Inc. will have a board meeting Sunday, April 2, 1989. It will be held at the Old Corral Restaurant starting at 2 p.m.

Interested persons are invited to attend, especially team mothers and Mustang League coaches.

David McCune, pastor of the Muleshoe Assembly of God Church said that due to the terrific response to their ongoing revival featuring Frank Burns, Evangelist, it has been held over for a week.

Pastor McCune said services will be held at 7 p.m. each evening except Saturday.

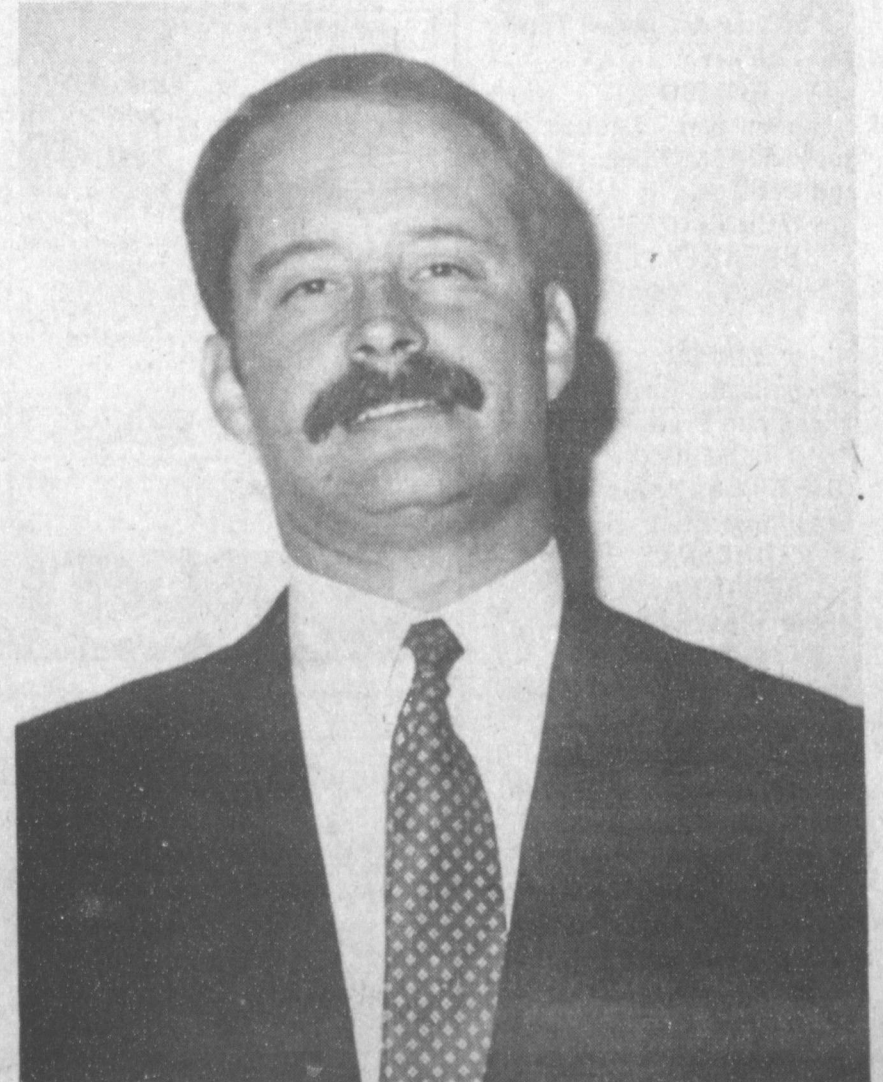

Pastor Burns, who has spent many years as a missionary overseas, pastors a church of 2,000 members in Mexico.

Duane Castleberry, chairman of the Muleshoe Area Industrial Foundation, along with members Duane Lloyd, Bob Stovall and Howard Watson, attended a session of the Texas Department of Commerce on the Texas Community Development Program in Lubbock on Tuesday.

Coordinator of the program was Linda Dane, manager of Economic Development with the TCDP.

Ms. Dane said the Texas Capital Fund was created to improve Texas economy. The fund will provide $12.3 million to encourage business development or expansion, and assist in local improvements.

Nursing Home Residents Expected To Double

What does the future hold in regard to care for the elderly in nursing homes?

Dr. Judith L. Warren, a gerontology specialist with the Texas Agriculture Extension Service, said as the number of residents increase in the 1990s, so will care costs.

She said presently there are about 2.3 million residents in the U.S. nursing homes, and this figure is expected to double within the next three decades.

Warren said mortality rates are decreasing but chronic illnesses have an increasing effect on people as they get older, according to a report by the Life Insurance Marketing and Research Association.

"Increases in longevity and the number of elderly means that more nursing homes eventually will be necessary to meet long-term care needs," Warren said.

She said the cost of nursing home care in the U.S. averages about $22,000 annually. A family's financial security can be threatened or wiped out.

So, how is this care for the elderly arranged? Warren said that less than half of this $38 billion tab per year costs are paid by the Medicaid program, which provides health service for the poor.

Half of the cost burden is carried by families of nursing home residents, the specialist said.

Warren said the federal Medicare program provides only about two percent of total nursing home costs, despite current beliefs.

She said that some 70 insurance companies now offer long-term-care insurance to help cover nursing home care costs.

Warren said persons age 60 or older with assets exceeding $10,000, in addition to their home, may be candidates for this type of coverage.

The specialists urged caution as individuals shop for a long-term-care policy.

She said some new policies may be still in the "testing" stages, while older existing policies may be extremely inadequate.

Warren said some experts believe that as many as one-half the present long-term-care policyholders who enter nursing homes may not realize any benefits from their policies.

TAXPAYERS' Rights, Remedies, Responsibilities

Want to learn more about the property tax system? That's possible by reading a pamphlet the State Property Tax Board has written and made available at the local appraisal district office.

It's called "Taxpayers' Rights, Remedies, Responsibilities" and it may help you save money. Learn about tax relief available through

- homestead exemptions
- disabled veteran exemptions
- special productivity value for farm, ranch, and timber land
- tax deferral for over-65 homeowners

You'll learn how your property is appraised. That way, you can decide if the appraisal district's value is reasonable.

If you think it isn't, the pamphlet tells you how to prepare an appeal to the appraisal review board. You'll learn the types of protests the appraisal review board can hear and useful evidence to bring to your hearing.

Important dates in the tax year are listed. You'll know what your responsibilities are and when you are obligated to satisfy them.

Ms Johnson Explains Fund Raising Campaign

How does one raise $6 million in two years in Houston's depressed economy? This was a question answered by Ronda Johnson, CFRE, during the March 17 luncheon meeting. She explained the plan behind the Star of Hope's Women's, Children, and Family Shelter campaign. This campaign won the Program of the Year Award in November, 1988 at Houston's luncheon celebration of National Philanthropy Day.

The fund raising career of Ms. Johnson spans ten years with experience in higher education, arts, and human services. Upon graduating from Muleshoe High School as valedictorian of her class, she left the Texas Panhandle to attend the University of Texas in Austin, where she received a degree in education. She then taught school in Houston and Galena Park for several years.

In 1969, she left her native Texas and moved to Washington, D. C., where she worked for John Hopkins University Applied Physics Laboratory as Assistant to the Director. She returned to Houston as Special Assistant for Development to the President at the University of Texas Health Science Center. As Ms. Johnson advanced to Director of Development at the Health Science Center, she also earned her Master's Degree in Business at Houston Baptist University.

In 1986, Ms. Johnson left the University of Texas to orchestrate a successful campaign to construct a day treatment center for Houston Child Guidance Center. In 1987, she joined the staff of Douglas M. Lawson & Associates, Inc. as vice-president and successfully completed a $4 million campaign for Star and Hope's Women's, Children, and Family Shelter. The campaign was so successful that $2 million was raised for a transitional housing center in 1988 and was successfully completed in January of this year.

Ms. Johnson has been a member of NSFRE for ten years, earned the status of CFRE, and serves on the local chapter NSFRE Board. She also is involved with The Houstonian Breakfast Club where she serves as Program Chair, the Advisory Board of Theater Under the Stars, and Friends of Houston Child Guidance Center.

Ms. Johnson is the daughter of Randy and Betty Johnson of Muleshoe.

The best way to avoid bills is to pay cash.

Monti of Houston announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Lauren Beth to Bryan Douglas Peeler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Peeler of Hereford. activity is beginning, with some producers transplanting onions and potatoes, and corn is expected to start being planted during this week.

Thursday afternoon, the soil temperature was very favorable for such planting at 62 degrees.

"We basically believe that the market outlook is favorable to farmers," he said. "Farmers hope prices will go higher. We predict that prices will go higher if rainfall is not received across the United States forcing smaller acreages of crops to be planted and harvested."

Tanksley also talked about the spring stormy weather to go through, and said his office is not forgetting hailstorms that will be in the area in the near future. He also talked about predictions that 1989 will be another dry year.

"The type of crops we make this year will be based on what type of rainfall we receive, and growth will depend on moisture received."

Tanksley said range conditions

Businesses claiming retained jobs as a part of a proposal must provide documentation that the employees will be permanently laid off or the business will close down or relocate out of state if Texas Capital Fund monies are not made available.

The speaker said the applications require a lot of information submitted according to program directives.

Primarily, city and county governments will be the principles applying for such funding or grants, with loans to potential businesses to be the target area for these funds.

MAIF will serve as a liaison between the businesses and the entity seeking funding on their behalf.

Weed Control

During the period from October 1 of one calendar year through April 15 of the following calendar year, no permit will be required for the application of the following herbicides: 2,4-D; 2,4,5-T; MCPA; Silvex; or any derivatives or formulations of the preceding chemicals. To use the above listed chemicals between April 15 and Oct. 1 of each calendar year, the user must obtain a permit from the Texas Department of Agriculture.

After obtaining a permit the chemicals must be applied by using a ground rig, no aerial application is permitted. Remember, said Duus, the best chemical control is when weeds are two to four inches in height. The same principle applies to shredding. If you shred when weeds are two to four feet tall, that's too late. Timing is important, no matter which method of control you use.

Participants with land in the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) are responsible for controlling the weeds on their CRP acreage. When participants signed their contracts they agreed to maintain their CRP acreage (including needed weed controls) for the term of the contract. Participants should inspect their land and use good judgement in the maintenance of the contract.

If you have any questions about weed control, contact the SCS office or the ASCS office in Muleshoe.

Mayor Only City Representative At Renovation

By: The Heritage Board

Five people came out Tuesday night ready to work at the Janes Ranch House. This was the night for the City Council, Mayor and all employees at the city hall.

It seems that the mayor, Darrell Turner, was the only one who could take time off and come out and help. We are very sorry that none of the others came out -- maybe some other time. . . . Those present were Mayor Darrell Turner, James Roy Jones, Norman Head, Marie and R. A. Bradley.

Lots of needed work was done. Next week is supposed to be the Volunteer Fire Department.

Since next week, April 1st through 8th is Hospital clean-up week and we believe the hospital is so vital to this community, the Heritage Board is postponing the work night for April 4th so that everyone can come out and help at the hospital.

Please contact the Chamber of Commerce and let them know if you will help. Your help is needed. The Heritage Center work on the Janes Ranch House will resume on April 11.

Fire Boys!! Please show up and help us out. Your help will be greatly appreciated.

Thanks to all who showed up March 28th for your hard work -- 'A BIG Thank You!!'

College Help?

It would surprise most families with college-age sons or daughters to know how many funds, corporations and charities offer college scholarships.

More are added all the time. For example, in the last few years the Cargill Foundation (Minneapolis) has been offering two hundred farm-family scholarships worth $1,000 each. There are many more generous scholarships and four-year scholarships.

EXEMPTIONS

CAN LOWER THE PROPERTY TAXES ON YOUR HOME

A homestead exemption lowers the property taxes on your home by lowering its taxable value. For example, if your home is valued at $50,000 and you receive a $5,000 homestead exemption, your home will be taxed as if it were worth only $45,000.

You qualify for a homestead exemption if you owned your home on January 1 and used it as your primary residence on January 1. It doesn't matter whether your home is a house, a condominium or a mobile home.

Exemptions are available to all homeowners on their school taxes. Additional exemptions are available to homeowners who are disabled or age 65 or over. Other exemptions may be offered to homeowners by school districts, counties, cities, and special districts. All taxing units offer exemptions to disabled veterans.

To the Editor:

On behalf of the Education Committee and the Jennyslipers, I wish to thank you for the excellent publicity given for the Muleshoe High School Parents-Students' Night on March 6th. The response that night and since then has been very positive and gratifying.

We value your support of our organization very much. We just wouldn't be successful without all of you!

March 29, 1989

Dear Editor:

Last Saturday, March 25, at 10:30 my 9-year old son, two of his friends and myself, were traveling through Muleshoe on the way home to Big Spring. My car broke down and we rolled into the Fina Quick Stop. A gentleman by the name of Ted called a friend of his, Red, of Red's Automotive.

Red and his three sons came to our rescue. They worked on my car several hours that night, and diagnosed the problem.

They took us to get something to eat and to a motel for the night. The next morning they got a parts person to open up on Easter morning, got the parts and fixed my car.

I do not believe this would have happened any where else in the state. It is nice to know there are still communities where you have so many outstanding citizens as you do in Muleshoe.

I would like to thank you again, Ted, Red and his three sons, and the person in the parts department.

Sincerely,
John H. Myers, D.D.S.

to drastically alter the method and manner of governance of the Texas Department of Agriculture is a crime against the people of Texas.

Jim Hightower is a man willing to make powerful enemies. He has taken on Agri-business, the chemical industry and the federal government and won battle after battle on behalf of the Texas family farmers, farm workers and the consumer. For his courage these powerful forces have attacked not Jim Hightower, but the right of the people to elect their governmental representatives. Using the Sunset Law, a device designed to take politics out of the bureaucracy and to encourage efficiency in government, these forces are trying to strip the Agriculture Department of pesticide regulatory control, and to replace the right of the people to elect the Agriculture Commissioner with an appointive board.

As the current crisis in the insurance, Savings and Loan, and public utility industries will attest, the merit of regulation by appointive board is of dubious value. True responsibility comes only with accountability directly to the people through elective referendum. We should have more elective offices, not less, if we want truly responsible, accountable public servants.

I would call on citizens to voice their concern over this blatant attempt to strip our right to elect our state officials away from us. Write the Governor, your State Representative and State Senator, and to the local newspaper voicing your desire to see the Commissioner of the Texas Department of Agriculture remain an elective position. As Jim Hightower often says, it is time to "raise less corn and more hell."

Sincerely,
Bob Bass

Texas A&M researchers work to make steaks lower in saturated fat

COLLEGE STATION — Meat scientists who last year learned how to modify fat so that consumers can "pig out" on pork are engaged in research at Texas A&M University that may further reduce saturated fat in beef.

Researchers with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station (TAES) at Texas A&M discovered a way to cut the saturated fat in pork by 50 to 60 percent while increasing monosaturated fat, which has been associated with lowering the risk of heart disease. The change was brought about by the pigs' diet alone, the researchers reported.

"We found that we can alter the diets of pigs and elevate the monosaturated fat in part without adversely affecting things such as palatability or the animal's health or growth rate," says Dr. Stephen Smith, leader of the project.

"As for the pork industry, diet modification would be a relatively simple way for beef producers to produce a product more acceptable to health-conscious consumers," he said.

All this visible world is but an imperceptible point in the ample bosom of nature.

Hospital Administrator Talks To Kiwanians

By: R. A. Bradley

Fifteen Kiwanians, three guests met Friday morning at the Old Corral for a good meeting and program. Guests were Chad Johnson, Jon Keith Turner and John Chisholm, administrator of the hospital.

This is the last time that Chad and Jon Keith will be guests as President Keith Turner installed Chad Johnson and Jon Keith Turner as honorary members. This was voted on by the club about two months ago but we are just now getting this done.

Absent Friday morning was Lacy Morris, daughter of Glenn Morris. Lacy is sick and we are sorry to hear this. Lacy, get well soon and be back so we may install you as an honorary member.

We are very proud of this young lady and young men and it is an honor to have them as honorary members.

Sweetheart Justine Hanes was absent this morning. For what reason we do not know, but Justine, we sure miss you when you are not there. Hurry back.

Merlyn Neel led the club in the pledge to the flag and Dale Berry gave the invocation. Don Clapp said before he got his name on the front page of the papers, he had better show up with the friendship coin. Don gave the friendship coin to R. A. Bradley. Don, this writer thinks it is good to be considered a friend of yours.

Enochs News

by: Mrs. J.D. Bayless

Leta and Cleo Hall of Phoenix, AZ have been on a 59 caravan trip to Old Mexico. They arrived in McAllen March 27, and visited friends and relatives for two weeks on their way to Enochs to visit her mother, Mrs. Ellen Bayless, and his sister, Wanda and J.E. Layton, and other relatives and friends. They left Monday, March 27 for home.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Newton, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Nichols, Mr. and Mrs. J.E. Layton, Mr. and Mrs. D.M. McBee, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Keuhler and Mr. and Mrs. Gary Welch attended the Managers Co-op Conference the past week at San Antonio.

Kim Mosser and her friend, Tracy of Slaton, visited Kim's grandparents, the E.N. McCalls, last weekend.

Visiting in the J.E. Laytons home one day the past week was Mrs. Sally (Harrie) Kilinger from Anchorage, Alaska. She was a former resident of Enochs.

Our program was introduced by Glen Morris. Glen introduced Mr. John Chisholm, who told us some of the things about the needs of the hospital.

John stated that the hospital here has a very good potential. John said that after seeing the hospital and meeting the people of this community that he was very impressed.

With the quality of personnel and dedication of people at the hospital and with the help of this community, the hospital can come up to standards so it can be Medicare certified.

This certification is essential to this hospital and this community. Just a small part of the work to be done is painting the pharmacy, moving and storing equipment, repair leaks in roof, replace ceiling tile, yard work, remove and replace some sheet rock in kitchen area and x-ray room, shampoo carpet and general cleaning.

The Chamber of Commerce is heading up this work force. So please call the CofC and let them know what days and evenings you can be there and help. There is work for everyone - woman or man. We are asking not if you can find time, but please make time and be there and help. Mr. Chisholm is a very dedicated and concerned gentleman. Please come out and help "him and his staff" make our hospital meet and certify for Medicare.

Mr. Chisholm just wants the hospital to be a healthy place to come when you need it.

Please make time and be there, April 1 through 8th. See you.

Thank you, John Chisholm.

Senator Teel Bivins Reports

AUSTIN - Do you know what the most important bill is pending before the Texas Senate? Senate Bill 91 by Sen. Bill Sims is the answer. This bill specifies that native plants and trees be used in landscaping the State Capitol grounds. You may have thought that H.B. 1, the Workers' Compensation reform bill, or others was correct but in reality the Senate rules determine the most important bill for the Senate to consider. Under these rules, the regular order of business states that the first bill passed out from a committee be listed first for consideration by the entire Senate. Under long standing Senate tradition, the first bill is not intended to be passed so that all other bills must have the rules suspended to be voted on by the members. The Senate rules require that 2/3rds of the members must vote to suspend the regular order of business. With S.B. 91 pending before the full Senate, the regular order of business must be suspended to bring up any other bill. In effect, this means that 2/3rd of the Senate must approve all bills rather than a simple majority.

Other important bills that the Senate will be considering relate to public school finance.

Public education is the largest item within the state's budget. For the 1988-1989 biennium, Texas will spend $11,847.6 billion in state funds to educate children in its public schools.

Texas' system of financing public education operates as a foundation program. By this I mean, that the program recognizes the varying costs of providing services for specific education programs and or districts with special circumstances such as sparsely populated districts. Allotments to carry out programs are based on a basic allotment, currently $1,350 per student in average daily attendance (ADA), which is adjusted for variations in the costs of providing educational services. Expenditures for textbooks are supported almost entirely by state funds. Capitol outlay and debt service are paid for at the local level.

The current system is financed from both the state and the local sources. Each district is assigned a share of the foundation cost to be raised locally, and the share is based on the value of taxable property within the district. This amount is called the local fund assignment. This system allows districts with high property wealth per student to receive low state support, and low wealth districts receive high levels of state support. Some very wealthy districts have levels of property wealth that result in no state aid through the Foundation School Program, although by provision in the Texas Constitution these districts receive a per capita payment from the Available School Fund.

In addition to the foundation program, some school districts also receive state aid through the Enrichment Equalization Aid program. This program is similar to a guaranteed funding level in that districts below 110% of the state average property wealth receive additional enrichment funds from the state based on local tax effort. The state guarantees these districts additional funds.

In 1984, a group representing "property poor" school districts filed a lawsuit in the state district court in Austin challenging the state's system of financing public schools. The Edgewood school district, 12 other school districts and 25 families are the plaintiffs. This case became known as the "Edgewood" case. The suit alleged that by permitting large funding disparities among the state's school districts, the state's system of financing denied students in property-poor districts the equal protection of law guaranteed by the Texas Constitution. The suit was tried before Judge Harley Clark from January 20 to April 8, 1987. On April 29, 1987, the judge announced his decision that the school finance system was in violation of the state's Constitution. Cited as examples by the Court were the Edgewood District with a property value of $38,854 per student while in the same county, Alamo Heights has a property value of $570,109. If each of these two districts taxed at the same rate, the local tax revenues generated would be vastly different. The Judge stated that education is a fundamental right to all Texans and that "the state is required to devise and continually sponsor a system of finance for our public schools that will give each school district the same ability as every other district to obtain, by state appropriation or by local taxation or both, funds for educational expenditures including facilities and equipment." His decision was overturned by the Third Court of Appeals and the case is now pending before the Texas Supreme Court. A final decision is expected sometime in 1989.

On Friday, March 10, the Sixty Day rule went into effect. This rule places a limitation on the number on bills that can be introduced from this point forward. For those of you counting, we have eighty days remaining before the end of the 71st legislative session at midnight, May 29. There were a large number of bills filed relating to school finance-- modifying, expanding and deleting formulas. Many of these bills are only "shells" that will be used to move through the legislative process the final financing package. No single issue with possibly the exception of workers' compensation will impact more lives or effect the future of the state than reforming our public education system.

As you can see, this issue will be a difficult one. Many of the bills introduced carry large price tags-- some in excess of a billion and a half new state dollars. Local communities will also feel the finding pinch. The Texas Research League has come forward with a plan that would be revenue neutral. At a minimum, I plan to work with the staff of the Texas Research League to see to it that we can get the elements of this plan into a public school finance reform measure this Session.

As I have said on several occasions, I won't be able to support any public school finance reform that diminishes further that semblance of local control that we have left or enforces spending caps on individual school districts or mandates the consolidation of school districts. I do not believe in pitting one school district against another needlessly. All of us need to do everything we can to build a better system for all our children. You can be assured that I will be listening, discussing and advocating a public education package that will enhance our children's future and our state's future. I have two special reasons, Andrew and Katie, and many other important ones in District 31, too.

USDA Encourages Use Of Apples In School Again

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) is encouraging schools throughout the country to resume use of apples and apple products in their school lunchrooms.

According to Assistant Secretary of Agriculture for Food and Consumer Services John W. Bode, "Apples have been and continue to be a nutritious food. Despite recent claims to the contrary, there is no reason to stop eating apples or apple products. Therefore, USDA is encouraging schools that have been holding apples or apple products to resume using them."

A joint statement released March 16 by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA), the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), and the USDA, said "The Federal government encourages school systems and others responsible for the diets of children to continue to serve apples and other nutritious fruit to American children."

Assistant Secretary Bode concluded by saying, "We are all concerned over the health and safety of our children. And, responsible agencies will continue to monitor the situation. At this time, however, we can find no responsible reason to eliminate apples from our diet and we encourage schools to use apples in their feeding programs."

Consumers To Observe Special Week

It isn't easy being a consumer -- making wise, day-to-day decisions on a wide range of items. But consumers are really the backbone of this nation's economy and deserve a special salute.

That's the purpose of National Consumers Week, April 23-29, said a family economics specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Consumers Open Markets" is the theme of this year's observance. The theme recognizes the leadership role that consumers play in the U. S. economy and our system of commerce, said Nancy Granovsky.

"The day-to-day decisions that consumers make keep our economy alive and well," Granovsky said. "The business world must make its decisions based on consumer spending, so consumers wield tremendous clout in the marketplace."

The annual observance is under the direction of the U. S. Office of Consumer Affairs. Former director of that office, Virginia Knauer, said that the 1989 theme has significance for many types of organizations, indeed everyone who deals with consumers -- businesses, government offices, schools and educators.

"Businesses must anticipate and meet consumers' needs," Knauer said. "Both businesses and governments must recognize that they are not the arbiter of consumer preferences -- consumers are."

"And in the end, it is informed consumers who have the power to open and close -- markets," Knauer said.

Granovsky said that a major role of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service is to help consumers make informed choices in the marketplace. Through educational programs, publications and other means, the Extension Service provides unbiased information to help consumers with decision-making," she said.

"Being a consumer requires that we continually update our purchasing skills and seek new or better information about the goods and services we buy," Granovsky said. "An informed consumer is a wise consumer."

Consumers can find a wealth of information on decision-making and shopping for various goods and services at their local Extension office.

Congressman Establishes New Program

In an effort to involve older Americans in the legislative process, U. S. Representative Larry Combest (R-Texas) today announced he is accepting applications for the 16th Annual Congressional Senior Citizen Internship Program.

The intern program, conducted from May 21-27, gives senior citizens from the 19th Congressional District the opportunity to gain practical understanding of how public policy affects their lives and how individuals can have a say in the nation's policy making process.

"This is a great opportunity for senior citizens in West Texas to see first-hand how the government works and how they can play a part in formulating public policy," Combest said. "Too often individuals feel they cannot have a hand in our government, and this program will allow them to better understand the mechanism of Congress."

Not only will the selected intern participate in an in-depth study of the U. S. Supreme Court and the Library of Congress, but will also have an opportunity to work in Combest's office on Capitol Hill. The program will allow the participant to discuss key issues such as Social Security and health care with several key legislators and policymakers.

The intern program is conducted in association with the Close Up Foundation, a non-profit, nonpartisan organization which strives to involve citizens in governmental affairs. To apply for the Senior Citizen Internship, please call (806) 763-1611 or (915) 337-1669 for more information. April 15 is the deadline for submitting applications.

Swine Producers To Have Seminar On April 10

Swine producers from the South Plains and Far West Texas will gather here April 10 for a short course which will examine common production problems and present some possible solutions.

The training will begin at 7 p.m. in the Seminole Civic Center. It will be presented by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, an educational arm of the Texas A&M University System. The program is free and is open to all swine operators.

The program will be led by Dr. Bruce Lawhorn, Extension Service veterinarian from College Station, and Dr. Ivan Munenink, veterinarian from Andrews. Among the items to be covered are vaccination and preventive health measures, and a television presentation and live demonstration of artificial insemination techniques.

"This will be a good opportunity for swine operators throughout this area to get the latest information and get answers to questions they have," said David E. Kight, Gaines County extension agent.

PARROTS DO TALK... But!

SO DOES A RECORD PLAYER

Our Nation faces a serious threat of communism just off our shores. At the same time within our nation, they are seeking to undermine our faith in God. There are many sayings and expressions going around in our country that are communist inspired. In order to prevent "parroting" these sayings, that weaken our nation... attend church regularly, and study God's word so that the truth is more easily recognized.

"Put on the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil."

Coleman Adv. Serv.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Washington Notes

Panel on Honoraria
Members of President Bush's ethics commission agreed that senior officials of all three branches of government should be barred from accepting fees for speeches and articles whether or not they get a pay raise.

To Close Latin Office
A congressional agency that monitors U.S. aid programs in Latin America plans to close its six-person office in Panama because of unsettled conditions in that country, an official, David Littleton, director of operations for national security and international affairs at the General Accounting Office said.

Enlistments Fall Short
Army recruiters last fall failed for the first time in eight years to meet their enlistment quotas, and the other three services are showing similar signs of distress, the Pentagon said.

Democrats Spend More
The price tag on electing the 101st Congress is in: $458 million. The Democrats account for most of that, having raised more, spent more and picked up more from special interests than the Republicans.

Lending Rate Up
The Federal Reserve Board's decision to boost its key lending rate to combat inflation is likely to be followed by further credit-tightening moves and even higher interest rates, many analysts believe.

A great man will not trample upon a woman, nor speak to an emperor. —Thomas Fuller.

All great men come out of the middle class. —R. W. Emerson.

The man of true greatness never loses his child's heart. —Mencius.

There would be no great ones if there were no little ones.

The nearer we come to great men the more clearly we see that they are only men.
