Dr. Leon Sullivan Says— New Technology Must Be Used To Solve Problems of Ghetto

New York—America's vast technological resources must be utilized to rebuild our blighted cities, urged Dr. Leon Sullivan in a speech before the first New York-New Jersey regional conference of the Federal Trade Commission.

Prior to his address, Dr. Sullivan, who is president-founder of the Opportunities Industrialization Centers and the first Black director of General Motors Corporation, was presented a distinguished service award by the regional office of the Federal Trade Commission.

In discussing "Long-term Commitments, Technology and the Future," Dr. Sullivan said: "Long-range thinking and long-range commitment will have to replace short-range thinking in the use of technology. Long-range commitments must be made not only to stop abuses of technology which injure our environment and injure the disadvantaged in our society, but must be used affirmatively to rebuild blighted areas, create a decent environment, and create new challenges and opportunities which will call out the best in all our citizens."

"This must include a positive long-term commitment to cleaning up 'old business' on America's agenda of providing decent opportunities for all, such as replacing slums with good places for people to live. That can be done if we utilize our human and technical resources to the full."

Dr. Sullivan said he was not suggesting to curb or halt or slow down the advance of American technology.

"What I am saying, however, is that as we develop new technology to conquer outer space, let us concurrently apply this technology toward solving some of the human problems on earth."

"If we're going to spend $100 billion in the next 30 years on priority objectives,"

Dr. Sullivan said, "let's split it up. Put $50 billion in the air and $50 billion on the earth."

"In addition, government contracts in the space program must start going to minority firms. In this way, new Black businesses will be created on our way to outer space."

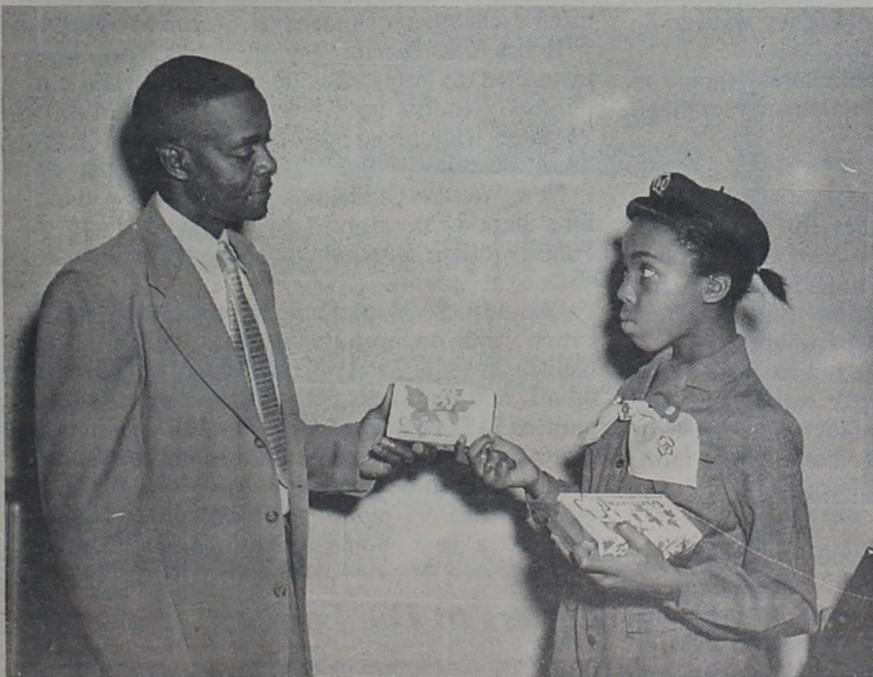

Dr. Sullivan pointed out that he was instrumental in creating Progress Aerospace Industries in Philadelphia, which was able to employ and train citizens with limited education to perform highly sophisticated technology work in connection with the Apollo program to put a man on the moon.

He went on to emphasize that the gains of the disadvantaged must not be at the expense of other citizens.

"Without new evolutionary industries creating new jobs, job for those who do not now have them would pose a threat to those already employed. In long-range planning, we must plan for the creating of new jobs, so that organized labor won't feel threatened by the admission of Blacks and other minorities into an overloaded job market. With a 30-year plan for the creation of new jobs, we, at OIC, will train minority job seekers by the thousands and the labor unions can put them to work."

A specific suggestions made by Dr. Sullivan was the establishment of a National Technology Development Corporation, patterned after the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and other institutions organized in the past where investments, rather than current subsidies, were to be involved.

"Our long-range commitments would then be treated as investments, rather than current expenses, with appropriate institutions, such as a National Technology Development Corporation, created by Congress," Dr. Sullivan said.

HEW Secretary Appoints Rudolph Ellsworth Jackson Coordinator of Sickle Cell Disease Fight

HEW Secretary Elliot L. Richardson announced last month the appointment of a 36-year-old physician-scientist, Rudolph E. Jackson, M.D., to coordinate an intensified program against sickle cell disease.

Dr. Jackson will report to the National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Maryland. He will be responsible for coordinating the sickle cell activities of the National Institutes of Health, the Health Services and Mental Health Administration and other agencies directly involved in implementation of the program.

In addition, Dr. Jackson will head the Sickle Cell Disease Branch, which has just been established in NIH's National Heart and Lung Institute. He will plan and administer the Institute's own programs of research concerned with the nature of sickle cell disease and applied research concerned with the development, evaluation, and clinical application of improved techniques

James Hillyer Resigns As Coach at Prairie View

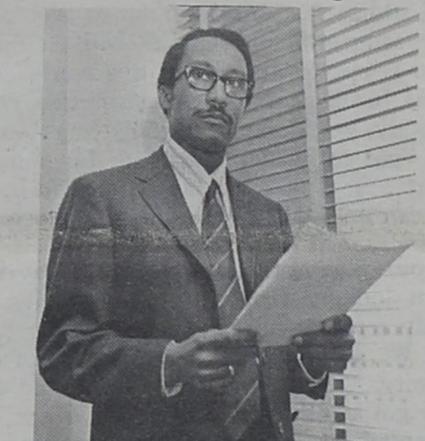

James Hillyer, head football coach at Prairie View A&M College and former head coach at Dunbar High School here in Lubbock, turned in his resignation as head football coach and associate athletic director last week, effective May 31st.

Hillyer, who came to Prairie View in 1970 as assistant coach to Alexander Durlley, was named Durlley's replacement when he stepped down because of illness.

Coach Hillyer said, "I'm resigning for personal reasons. I feel that we have made some progress during my tenure as head football coach and associate athletic director. We have a good team, good assistant coaches, and I feel that the program for next year should be one of the best in our recent history. The pressure of the game on me and my family has forced me to come to this conclusion. The decision was difficult, but I think it is best for me."

The president of the college, Dr. A.I. Thomas, who is an avid sports fan, received Hillyer's resignation full of regret, stating, "I have accepted Jim Hillyer's resignation with deep sorrow and regret. We feel that Jim did a wonderful job at Prairie View, and we think a lot of him. We wish him well in his new endeavor. It leaves me with no alternative but to begin a search for an immediate replacement. We hope that a replacement can be named within a week."

W.J. Nicks, former PV head football coach and athletic director, will take over the administrative duties in athletics until a successor is named.

for screening, diagnosis and treatment.

The community services component of the sickle cell program are focused in the National Center for Family Planning Service of the Health Services and Mental Health Administration.

The program which Dr. Jackson will coordinate was launched in response to the special initiative announced last year by the President in his Health Message to Congress. It is directed toward preventing sickle cell disease and reducing the toll in illness, disability, and death that it presently levies on black children and young adults.

Mayor Turner Calls for Expansion of Council

Less than two weeks after taking office as the new mayor of the city of Lubbock, Morris "Moe" Turner proposed a charter amendment election for November 7 to expand the City Council and create an operational board to run Lubbock Power and Light Company.

If this would happen, it would put these two items on the ballot the same day as the general election.

Turner told a West Texas Times representative that there will be some changes in the City of Lubbock. He said, "I'm trying to get things moving." He went on to add, "I'd like to appoint a committee of three or four people to see how the expansion of the council could be done."

"If we get it on the November ballot (Nov. 7), and if it passes, the next two years the council could be expanded," he continued.

Turner also made known that he is thinking in terms of expanding the council from five to seven members. All members would be elected at large from throughout the city, but three or four council members would be required to live in a certain district.

EDITORIALS

We Must Use Our Potential

This media has been circulating in West Texas for over ten years, and in this span of time we have seen many people with talent and have watched as they neglected to use that talent. There is so much talent in the Black community in West Texas that if properly utilized it could start a heck of a revolution.

We realize that there is a great need for positive revolution in our part of the country. There is a need for change to better conditions. There is a need for us to quit saying what "we can't do" and start doing some things which will help all of us.

We've been blind too long to the things around us. It's time to put all of our resources together and start coming up with answers to the problems all people are faced with.

Our full potential must be used today, not tomorrow. Too long we have spent time talking about each other and keeping one another down. It's time now to start helping each other make it.

There's no doubt about it, problems exist in Lubbock, Midland, Odessa, Amarillo and many other, smaller communities in West Texas. We know what our problems are. It's time for us as Black people to find a means to overcome the obstacles which may be in our path.

This newspaper, for example, has encountered many problems. Everything from the lack of advertising to those whose feelings were hurt because they didn't like the type of articles we run. We realized that we had to deal with those problems and utilize our full potential to overcome them. The same principle applies with any individual who is out to make it in this world.

As Black people, we must quickly realize that nobody, yes, nobody, is going to give us a thing. We "got to hustle" and work for everything we want out of life. We can't afford to believe that we can not make it. We can't let people continue to say that we won't make it. We can, if we use all of our potential, make it in this day and time.

In looking around our community, one can easily see that in many instances we have given up. We see a lack of development of our community. We see that we've been told one thing and got another in return. If we use our total potential, we can overcome these drastic evils which are seen daily in our community.

We would like to encourage all young Black people to start conditioning themselves to want to make it. Don't go through life letting people—white and black—tell you what you are worth. You are worth anything you think you should be.

On the other hand, there are Blacks who are trying to move into the main stream of life by contributing something constructive to the welfare of the community. Those persons who are trying need the support of the entire Black community if we are going to move forward.

The Black population in West Texas has a tremendous amount of potential. Everything from the voting at the polls to showing the strength necessary to gain a piece of the action. It must be made known to the system that Black people will no longer bargain away their support for petty jobs or symbolic offices. If Black people are to support the political structure in power, it must be realized that those same Black people have the power of upsetting that structure.

Black brothers and sisters, we must use our full potential. We must not weaken our ship. We can make ourselves heard and felt in any political subdivision in West Texas. We have so much potential that all we have to do is put it together.

As I See It

by T. J. Patterson

Samuel C. Jackson, who spoke before the Virginia Citizens Planning Association at Virginia Polytechnic Institute, told it like it really was at a Lay Day address when he said, "If you do your job well, some issues may not have to find their way into a courtroom." He had reference to the need for minorities on boards and commissions for city government.

This is as it should be, all political sub-divisions should have representation of all its people on boards and commissions of that government. It is impossible to really get a true picture on the wants of any community without true representation of its people.

If Lubbock, Texas or any city in West Texas is to move forward there must be true representation. There's no doubt about it, effective response to public needs requires planning institutions to be truly representative themselves.

There are people from the "Have Not" community (Black, brown and white) who can definitely add a new dimension to the planning of their community. There are enough interested people without wearing the same old group out when it comes to appointments on boards and commissions. There is untapped talent in these communities which could bring about a positive revolution to their community.

In Lubbock, for example, there is a population of approximately 10% Black. With this percentage there should be representation of Black people on all city boards and commissions.

This writer can appreciate the truth so well told by Brother Jackson. Although he was speaking to a group in Virginia, his points were well taken and should be given careful consideration in our communities in West Texas.

Thought of the Week: "Hatred comes from the heart; contempt from the head; and neither feeling is quite within our control."

James McCormick and Eric Strong, two young Black poem writers, are working on something big for the summer. They have a great deal of talent and they want to put their talent to use this summer by producing a Black orientated play for the community.

Let's give these two brothers all the support they need. Who knows, we may all be responsible for them making it in the world. They want to do something, so let'em do it.

If you want them to present their "thing" to your club, church or civic function, call on them. They've got a lot on the ball.

As I See It there needs to be an all-out effort to recruit minority employees for the City of Lubbock Fire Department. At least the Lubbock Police Department attempts to recruit Blacks and Browns on the force. The same type of effort should be seen with the fire department.

The City of Lubbock has begun to move in the employment aspect of minority employees. The employment of minority employees in the City of Lubbock Fire Department would add a more positive picture to the City's image.

This week's issue of the Times is rather short, for several reasons. No doubt the biggest reason was that same old problem—lack of advertising support—but more than that we are all busy around here this week working on the graduation issue.

In fact, we have been very busy around the office the past several weeks working on the graduation issue and The Way I See It, we're gonna have a really big thing for next week's issue.

Congratulations grads, you have done yourself proud. I can only say I hope our efforts with the Times will be as deserving as your efforts to get through school have been on your part.

Austin, Texas—Texans displayed at May 6 primaries a strong enough desire for new state governmental leadership to assure a change in top offices and a major legislative turnover as well.

Reform candidates Dolph Briscoe of Uvalde and State Rep. Frances (Sissy) Farenthold of Corpus Christi charged into the Democratic gubernatorial runoff. Mrs. Farenthold scored a stunning upset over Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes. Gov. Preston Smith finished a distant third. Republican gubernatorial runoff candidates are State Sen. Henry Grover and Albert B. Fay, both of Houston.

Houston newspaper executive Bill Hobby lead State Sen. Wayne Connally of Floresville in the lieutenant governor's race and both already are campaigning hard for the June 3 runoff.

John Hill of Houston squeaked through without a runoff over Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin and Bill Pate of El Paso.

From there on, the statewide incumbents managed to stay on top. One, Comptroller Robert S. Calvert, led widely but was forced into a runoff with a former employe, Jim Wallace of Austin.

Former U.S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough has a runoff with Barefoot Sanders for the Democratic nomination to face GOP Sen. John G. Tower.

There will be at least 14 new faces in the Texas State Senate, and all observers concede the body will be more conservative than the present Senate. Six senate seats will be decided by runoffs. Republicans will oppose Democrats in 12 general election races. One Republican Senator is unopposed.

In the House, a total of 64 incumbents did not seek re-election or were defeated (Actually, 14 were defeated). Sixteen more incumbents were forced into House runoffs, including Speaker Rayford Price of Palestine. More than 65 incumbent representatives were renominated. Republicans were nominated in 76 of the 150 districts.

Stamp Program Planned—The State Department of Public Welfare has been called on by the governor to develop a pilot food stamp program in preparation for a statewide plan.

A state-funded program will be proposed in the special session of the Legislature next month. Federal courts have ordered all counties to have either a food stamp or a food commodity program for the needy. The stamp program is expected to generate $285 million in economic activity.

Grand Jury Probe Begins—Travis County grand jury this week began an investigation of hiring practices of two state legislators.

The panel subpoenaed daughters of Sen. David Ratliff of Stamford and Rep. John Allen of Longview and several other witnesses. Ratliff and Allen hired each other's children over a period of years.

House and Senate payroll clerks have been instructed to bring their records on certain employees of Ratliff and Allen. Ratliff resigned April 26 after widespread newspaper coverage of the hiring practices.

New Welfare Guidelines Adopted—New guidelines have been adopted by the State Board of Public Welfare to eliminate abuse by medical assistance recipients.

One purpose is to eliminate unnecessary medication and unnecessary doctor's office visits. Guidelines will limit prescriptions to three a month and limit cost per prescription to a maximum of $15.00, with a $35.00 monthly maximum. Drugs used to treat chronic illnesses will be exempt.

A second rule would limit visits to a doctor's office to five per month per recipient, not to exceed 10 a year. Some exceptions are possible.

Letters to The Editor . . .

Dear Editor,
I think you can have a editor out here with all the children and the parents that live here from Texas. I go to school with about ten children from the Hub City alone. I want you to send me some papers—send me about ten each time you send mom hers, Mrs. Pearlina Rucker. These children want to see their pictures in the papers. Sometimes tell their people what they are doing in L.A. They want me to take some money and send it to you so that their people in Texas can hear from them.
I am sure I can get some papers to sell for you. I got five sold already if I had them. I want a card with my name on it saying I am a Editor for West Texas Times.

Truly Yours,

Sports of The Times

by Joe Kelly

All indications point towards Donny Anderson's Pro-Celebrity Golf Classic becoming just what the name implies, a classic. It takes time to build anything from scratch and the first year always is the toughest.

Donny has chosen well. West Texas long has been a hotbed of golf and the idea he has for a tournament should mushroom in popularity. It is to be hoped that the public takes kindly to the tourney and gives it the support it deserves.

Like the All American game and other events that have brought people here from other sections of the nation, West Texas hospitality, and a general good time, has made the visitors want to return. And as word spreads, it will be easier and easier to get a star-studded field.

I wish the Golden Palomino and his cause a good tournament and hope that everyone will get out and support this maiden voyage.

Norris Clark is a longtime Baylor supporter and makes no bones about it. Unlike some other SWC supporters, Norris isn't officious in his vocal support, never has been. But then, Baylor hasn't been in much of a position for anyone to be obnoxious about the success of the Bears.

Norris, indeed, can remember when Baylor won a SWC football championship. That takes a heap of remembering, just as it has taken a heap of suffering to live with the situation in recent years.

Norris, and other Bear supporters, though, have been a lot like the old Brooklyn Dodger fans before the Bums surprised even themselves and won a National League, and World Series, pennant. It was always wait until next year. And when success finally came, it really was a shame to destroy a myth.

Now Norris isn't so rash as to predict a conference title for the Bears this year. Indeed, if that came about, he probably would be too surprised—and elated—to say much more than "how about that!"

On the other hand, Norris believes that the Bears may have turned the corner with the hiring of Grant Teaff. He was one of several score Baylor exes from the Panhandle who bicycled, in relays, from Amarillo to Waco, and what he saw and heard warmed the cockles of his heart.

"He's already performed miracles," Norris said. "Why, last year there was all kind of dissension—between coaches and players, coaches and coaches, players and players. It was bad. All of that is gone."

Norris said that the transformation under Teaff in such a short time is a miracle.

"I talked with some players and with some friends who live in Waco and are close to Baylor football," Norris declared. "They can't believe the change. There's a lot of enthusiasm on the squad now and the support is coming back."

"Have you ever met Grant Teaff? I have and he impresses me. He's impressed a lot of people. With the attitude the football players have now, they'll win two or three games next fall that they aren't supposed to win."

Before you laugh too hard at the mental image of Baylor rippling its muscles, remember the recent past when others did the same thing, including Texas Tech. It would be healthy if the Bears once again were menacing folks in the happy Southwest Conference family.

KTXT-TV to Program VD Problem Tonight

KTXT-TV, Channel 5, Educational television at Texas Tech University, will present a special live program tonight at 9:00 p.m. entitled "VD, Rated-X". The program is one of a series of "Cross-talk" programs produced by Channel 5 for the purpose of improving communications between the citizens of Lubbock and local government officials.

Lubbock has made great strides in controlling the dreaded communicable venereal disease among its population. During the first week of April, 1972, the National Commission on Venereal Disease declared venereal disease "out of control" and called for a massive drive to combat it. The commission's study estimates that there will be a record 2.5 million new cases of gonorrhea this year and 100,000 new cases of infectious syphilis.

Lubbock was first in the nation in 1969 for the number of cases of syphilis per capita. Lubbock dropped to the 7th place during 1970, and at the end of 1971, it was reported that the hub city had dropped to 46th place in the nation.

Littlefield News

Littlefield—Mrs. Lula McCullough was dismissed from Medical Arts Hospital Thursday. She is at home with her family now.

What Now My Love?

Amarillo—I hope we are all prepared to pull the dirt in behind us in the hole we find ourselves in now that the Urban Renewal program did not pass Saturday. It really does hurt to think that some of the 90 some votes against the program in precinct 19 were black people. Now don't take what I said in the wrong way, what I meant when I said it hurts, is when we have so many people who depend on "hear say" instead of getting the facts. Well, this is spilled milk now, so why cry over it? You can't win them all. Right now I would like for you to take a look around you and ask yourself this question, "What Now My Love?" Think about it.

Mr. and Mrs. Inman Neal of 1633 are vacationing in California.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Booker, from Kansas City, Mo., spent the week in Amarillo visiting Mrs. Booker's sister and brother, Mrs. Mary Holiday and Mr. E.B. Lovelice of 105 S. Van Buren Street. They reported having a wonderful time with their many friends. Mrs. Booker, a former member of Mt. Zion Baptist Church, belongs now to the Metropolitan Baptist Church of Kansas City. She is Sunday School teacher and instructor of the W.M.U. Mr. Booker works on the deacon board.

On Sunday, April 30th, Mr. and Mrs. Ordie McKnight of 1604 NW 16th had as visitors in their home Mr. McKnight's sister, Mrs. Vanora Grant and his niece, Mrs. High; a grand-niece and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Chance; all of Dallas, Texas. There were four generations represented there. They reported having a nice time.

Headlines of the Panola Watch, Carthage, Panola County, Texas, stated that the students at Turner High School elected Herman E. Reed, Jr., instructor of eighth grade math, as teacher of the month. Mr. Reed expressed his appreciation to the student body for this honor and urged them to, "lets go forward to improve the growth of our American society."

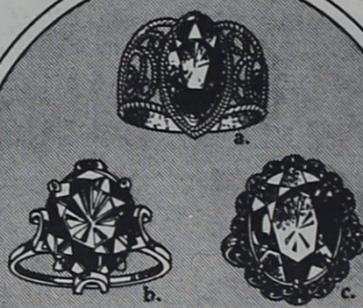

The writer of this column was in Austin, Texas, recently where I attended the T.E.A. Emergency School Assistance (ESAP) Conference. Also attending the conference was Mrs. W.H. Gooden and Mr. Joe Herron.

Observance of Mothers Day was held at Johnson Chapel A.M.E. Church Sunday. The women of the church were in charge of the service. Mrs. Grover Martin was the guest speaker. Mrs. Martin spoke on "Jesus, In Three Aspects." (1) As a teacher; (2) As a healer; (3) As a Saver. Mrs. Martin's message was enjoyed by all in attendance in the service.

Through the efforts of the women, $569.00 was raised.
