French Troops Break Through Burgundy Gap At Belfort; Stand Watch On Rhine

German Defenses Sagging On Front

By WILLIAM FRYE
LONDON, Nov. 20 (AP)—French troops broke through the historic Burgundy gap at Belfort and reached the Rhine, it was announced today as five other Allied armies hit sagging German defenses along all the other historic routes of invasion into Germany. It was the week of greatest promise since the Normandy breakthrough.

French troops and armor unhinged the entire German southern flank at the Swiss border and surged into the outskirts of the bypassed fortress city of Belfort in a breakthrough announced by Gen. Jean de Lattre de Tassigny of the First French army. The Rhine was reached by nightfall yesterday, he said.

American and French forces seized the entrances to four of the six main passes through the Vosges to the Rhine. They are battling 37 miles from Strasbourg, 21 miles from Colmar and 10 miles from Mulhouse, all important cities on the French side of the Rhine.

Third army forces, crushing Metz in a grip that seized a third of that blocked-off old Roman fortress city, drew up to the rear border on a 10-mile front and punched out a five-mile square block of territory in Germany northwest of the Saar and east of the Luxembourg border.

This thrust, along the western fringe of the Saar valley and just east of the Moselle, assumed the proportions of a drive up the famous Moselle gate toward Trier and Coblenz on the Rhine, 80 miles to the northeast.

In Holland the British stabling to the Maas at Kessel, six and a half miles below Venlo, were feeling out Nazi defenses two and a half miles from the German border and 29 miles from Dusseldorf.

In the southern sectors of the front the French, fighting back across the Alsace territory they surrendered in the 1940 armistice, and the Third army in its whirlwind offensive had thrown the Germans into a tailspin.

The First French army reached the Rhine after racing through the Belfort gap in an outflanking maneuver which seized all or most of the high ground on its south side.

There was no immediate report as to where the French were now standing watch on the Rhine, but apparently it was near Mulhouse. A previous supreme headquarters announcement said they had reached Sepsis, 16 miles southeast of Belfort and 18 1/2 miles from the Rhine. Front line reports told of a thrust seven miles farther north and the capture of Dannemarie, 12 miles east of Belfort and 10 miles from the Alsatian city of Mulhouse.

Belfort was almost as badly ringed as Metz.

American troops, capturing Rechicourt, Harbouey, Badonville and eight other towns southeast of Nancy, moved to within 11 miles of Sarrebourg and into the upper Saar valley.

The Third army closing around Metz at Valliers and Vandreville, also entered the northern outskirts of Metz, and reached Griesenquin, 11 miles farther north and 21 miles from Saarbrücken, chief industrial city of the Saar. Virming, five miles east of Morhange, was taken in this advance.

The American First army, third partner in the massive drive to blast open the Aachen corridor to Cologne and the Ruhr, threw itself against the strongly held town of Eschweiler after slipping forward through the darkness and seizing a dominating ridge at its outskirts early yesterday.

Americans Invade Asia Islands

One Island Is Retaken By Yank Assault Forces

By LEONARD MILLIMAN
Associated Press War Editor
American assault forces invaded a new island group off the New Guinea coast, recaptured one of the Palau Islands and counted more than 53,000 Japanese casualties in the Philippines campaign.

Small invasion forces hit the Asia Islands, 180 miles west of the Mapia group where troops who landed last week completed mopping up operations. Both island groups, less than 150 miles from New Guinea, were taken from the Japanese to eliminate air raid warning stations.

Five hundred miles to the northeast, infantrymen of the 81st division recaptured Ngerengong island in the Palau group without opposition. The Japanese had previously retaken the island Nov. 7.

Marines walking almost shoulder to shoulder, and led by 900 dogs, hunted the length of Saipan island in the Marianas, killing 248 well-fed Japanese and capturing 47. Total Japanese military losses on Saipan are 25,392 killed and 1,062 captured.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced that an estimated 45,000 Japanese casualties have been inflicted in land action during the Leyte invasion, a month old today. This figure did not include an estimated 8,000 killed when a convoy of ten destroyers and warships was wiped out in Ormoc Bay ten days ago, nor the naval casualties in the second battle of the Philippines.

Americans have suffered 5,691 casualties, including 1,133 killed, 4,322 wounded and 126 missing. MacArthur credited devastating artillery barrages and life-saving infantry encirclement operations with the eight to one ratio in land casualties.

The greatest encirclement of the rain-soaked Leyte campaign led to bitter fighting around Limon at the north end of the Ormoc corridor. Japanese hammered at a 24th infantry road block with tanks and artillery, and sent infiltrating infantrymen slipping through the jungles to the west.

Chinese routed Japanese from Mangahih, the last major forward stronghold on the Salween front to fall. The Chinese reorganized for a drive 34 miles down the Burma road to Chefang as their former commander, Gen. Chen Cheng, was named war minister in Chiang's reorganized cabinet.

Belgian Crisis Grows

LONDON, Nov. 20 (AP)—Allied officials, who for months have considered the possibility of internal armed clashes in liberated countries, viewed the Belgian crisis today with some alarm.

If the Belgian situation should get out of hand and result in an uprising by members of the resistance against the Pierlot government, these officials said it might spread to other liberated countries which also are going through critical periods.

A British brigadier in Brussels recently said: "We have got to expect a certain amount of dissatisfaction."

"For four long years, through our propaganda, we have told the peoples of Europe to break all German laws. If they were not satisfied with conditions, we told them to kill. We dropped the arms for them."

"For four years we have educated Europe's people in patriotic lawlessness. It is only logical now they are liberated that if they don't like the new laws of the new governments they will try to take the law in their own hands."

Reports from Brussels said many resistance members were hiding their arms, just as they did when the Germans came in.

Russian Tanks Move On Luceneo

Communications Hub Threatened On Slovak Front

LONDON, Nov. 20 (AP)—Russian and American-made tanks, deepening the Soviet sweep around besieged Budapest along invasion routes into Austria and Czechoslovakia, were reported advancing today toward Luceneo, key Nazi communications hub on the Slovak-Hungarian frontier.

The tanks sprang forward along a modern, hard-surfaced highway from captured Gyongyos, a seven-way road junction 23 miles from the border and 40 miles northeast of Budapest.

Gyongyos was seized by Russian shock troops yesterday in a thrust across the vital Budapest-Miskolc railway.

Simultaneously, other Soviet tanks and artillery forces brought the 25-mile sector of the trunk line between Budapest and Hatvan, under heavy fire after capturing the village of Galgavez, 19 miles northeast of Budapest, a midnight Moscow bulletin announced.

In the Baltic, the Russians were reported by Berlin to have thrown three divisions of 30,000 men and strong tank forces against the Sworbe peninsula, southwestern tip of Saare Island, dominating the entrance to the Gulf of Riga.

Sales through Saturday for the county amounted to $92,718 of which $32,831 was in E bonds.

Ruhr Valley Is Strafed-Bombed By Yank Planes

LONDON, Nov. 20 (AP)—Upwards of 850 American planes today bombed and strafed the Ruhr valley of Germany, imminently threatened by four advancing Allied armies.

Berlin said that other American planes were striking southern Germany from the south for the third successive day.

An odd combination of 180 heavy bombers and more than 700 Mustang and Thunderbolt fighters and fighter bombers worked over an oil plant at Gelsenkirchen and sprawling railroad yards at Munster, both fairly close to the erupting front. The preponderance of fighters suggested that considerable German air opposition was expected.

Swarms of fighters buzzed back and forth on the channel coast where blue skies, marked only by slight haze, provided the first break in a weekend of adverse flying weather.

The Italy-based U.S. 15th Air Force raided southern Germany 600 strong both Saturday and Sunday but the British-based Eighth was grounded.

GERMANS RETAKE MONTE FORTINO

ROME, Nov. 20 (AP)—German troops recaptured Monte Fortino, five miles southeast of the Bologna-Rimini highway town of Faenza, after bitter fighting with Polish units of the Eighth army. Allied headquarters announced today.

The Poles repulsed two German counterattacks on Converselle and improved their positions adjacent to Monte Fortino.

Eighth army patrols probed enemy positions south of Ravenna on the Adriatic coastal sector and along the Montone river. In the mountains south of Bologna American units of the Fifth army threw back several small scale German counter-attacks.

Chicago Sun Says Associated Press Is 'Unbeatable'

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—The Chicago Sun described the Associated Press to the Supreme Court today as "a news gathering organization with an actual and potential power that cannot be equalled."

The paper contended that exclusive privileges conferred upon members of the AP make them "a privileged class in American journalism."

The Sun presented a brief as a friend of the court in connection with the government's civil anti-trust suit which seeks to change membership by-laws of the AP.

The paper said it sought membership in the AP or access to its facilities. After these were refused, the Sun told the court, it filed a complaint with the attorney general.

A special three-judge federal court of the Southern district of New York held the AP should be restricted from observing by-laws which permit members to consider the competitive effect of an application for membership. The court held, however, that the non-profit news cooperative might restrict admission on other grounds.

The Sun, citing the AP's news gathering facilities and the cooperative activities of AP members, told the tribunal:

"The combination of so great a majority of the American newspapers pooling their individual and their collective news gathering facilities creates a news gathering organization with an actual and potential power that cannot be equalled. No other American news agency has, or while the exclusive features exist, can have comparable facilities and resources."

War Loan Opening Hears Speech By President On Cost

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—The Sixth War Loan drive began today with the government asking Americans to dig into their pockets for another $1,420,000,000 to keep the attack rolling.

President Roosevelt, pointedly reminding the nation that "the war is not over—no, not by many a costly battle," last night cited figures showing that 14 billions will scarcely pay the cost of global war for two months.

At the present rate, he said in a war bond address broadcast from the White House, the war is costing $7,500,000,000 in November—or about $250,000,000 a day.

"That is why every bond you buy is so important," the president emphasized. "While we have every reason to be proud of what has been done—even optimistic about the ultimate outcome—we have no reason to be complacent about the tough road that lies ahead."

Some idea of the dividends this huge investment is paying came from Navy Secretary Forrestal. He told a Minneapolis war bond rally that, among other things, the money the navy has spent since 1940 helped sink 1,400 enemy ships, destroy 10,000 enemy planes, and drive the Japanese from over 8,000,000 square miles of the Pacific area.

The grand jury selected for the November term will convene at 10 o'clock a. m. in the district court room, Nov. 27. They are Ira J. Driver, Frank Hodnett, Bob Ashby, Marvin House, A. V. Karcher, Herman Williams, Willis Winters, Milton Broughton, Noble Read, Charles Creighton, George White, Herbert Keaton, John Dilard, S. J. Huettis, Cecil Hyden, Lee Hanson, A. J. Stallings, Arthur Woodall, Faye Harding and John Ford.

Jury summons were sent through the mail today.

Chinese Cabinet Has Large Shift

CHUNGKING, Nov. 20 (AP)—Gen. Ho Ying-Chin, minister of war in the Chinese government since 1930, was replaced today by Gen. Chen Cheng in a shakeup involving eight cabinet posts.

O. K. Yui was elevated from vice minister to minister of finance in succession to Dr. H. H. Kung, now in the United States.

Gen. Chen formerly was commander of Chinese expeditionary forces on the Salween front. He is regarded as one of China's ablest field commanders.

The other new appointees were:

Chow Chung Yao, from minister of the interior to vice president of the examination Yuan; one branch of the government; Chang Li-Sheng, from secretary-general of the executive Yuan to minister of the interior; Chu Chia-Hua, from vice president of the examination Yuan to minister of education; Chien Li-Fu, from minister of education to minister of the Kuomintang organization; Wang Shih-Chieh, from the presidium of the peoples political council to minister of information, and Liang Han-Chao, from minister of information to minister of overseas affairs.

All circles in Chungking welcomed the government reshuffle although to many it did not appear far-reaching enough. Some observers pointed out that while Kung was removed from ministry of finance he still retained the highly important post of vice president of the executive Yuan (vice-premier) and still was the head of four government banks.

Gen. Ho Ying-Chin apparently still retained his post as chief of the general staff.

Some quarters noted that both Kung and Ho Ying-Chin were subjected to criticism at a recent session of the peoples political council where their resignation was advocated openly.

The important question to many in the foreign quarter was whether the changes are forerunners of new ones and whether the changes would exert and influence towards a compromise between the government and the Chinese communists.

Roosevelt May Represent U. S. At Peace Table

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—The possible selection of President Roosevelt as the American delegate to the proposed International Security Council is being suggested in administration circles.

According to this idea, the president would continue in office while taking on the new post, thus setting a precedent which his successors might wish to follow.

Proponents said today the advantages of picking the chief executive as United States member on the planned 11-man peace council would be:

1. It would dramatize the peace organization for the American people.
2. The president of the United States would lend prestige to the council, and this would give his voice added weight in its deliberations.
3. He could make quick decisions without referring them home, and might be better able to get congressional and popular support for actions of the International Agency than another representative.

Officials suggested that a deputy delegate would be named also, so that the council could be in continuous session without requiring prolonged absences of the chief executive from his domestic duties.

Slight revision of the evening hours for the impending city-wide revival was effected Monday at a special meeting of the Big Spring Pastors association revival committee.

Time of the evening services was moved up to 7:30 p. m. The morning worship will remain at 10 a. m. and both services are scheduled for one hour.

Dr. Clovis Chappell, Jackson, Miss., one of the leading clergy-men of the nation and an outstanding Methodist minister, is to be the evangelist for the meeting which starts Sunday evening and continues through Dec. 8. There will be two services daily except on Saturday, Dec. 2, when none will be held.

Congressional Sentiment Favors Relaxing War-Time Wage Control

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—Scattered congressional sentiment in favor of relaxing the country's war time wage controls collided today with the views of Stabilization Director Fred M. Vinson.

"We cannot afford to relax our efforts," Vinson said in commenting on a report submitted to President Roosevelt that for the bulk of wage earners living costs have increased from 29 to 30 percent over the level of Jan. 1, 1941.

That is the base date for the Little Steel wage formula, which limits general increases to 15 percent above those prevailing on that day.

While several senators pointed to the report as indicating the need for changing or dropping the Little Steel formula, Vinson said that so long as the war absorbs half the nation's productive output "we must hold prices at their present level in order to preserve the purchasing power of the worker's pay envelope."

Saying he was disturbed to note that "after a year of complete stability, the cost of living has risen slightly but perceptibly in the past six months," Vinson added:

"This must stop. The price administrator (Chester Bowles) and I will use special vigilance to this end."

The cost of living report was prepared by a special committee appointed by Mr. Roosevelt several months ago.

"I think this calls for a revision of the formula," said Senator Pepper (D-Ia.), who is pushing a resolution to declare wages of less than 65 cents an hour substandard.

Big Spring Area Has First Frost

Regardless of what the records may say, Big Spring and vicinity came in for its first frost Monday.

The US weather bureau at the airport recorded a low of 34 degrees, the coldest of the year. However, the US Experiment Farm, of the city, registered 32 degrees, which would put it down in the books as the "first killing temperatures is not uncommon.

Following on the heels of soaking rains, the low temperatures produced a heavy frost here Monday, but moisture and quickly rising temperatures kept it from doing much damage to foliage.

How Paris Styles Are Born

LUCIEN LELONG... as sketched in his Paris studio by AP Newsfeatures Artist Howell Dodd...

MME. GRES... She works like a sculptor, draping new models on her adopted daughter, Muni...

A P Newsfeatures PARIS — Howell Dodd has learned how Paris styles are born. As a mere man, taking time out from sketching front-line battle action, he dropped in at the studio of two famous French designers — Lucien Lelong, head of the Paris couture, and Mme. Gres, better known to Americans as Alix. The two work in an entirely different manner, but the final effects are both impressive.

Lelong's approval, the whole thing is done over again. Cost is not counted in the original creation of a Paris model, Dodd was told. One expensive model may sell only a few times, while another that cost less may sell several hundred times. The Paris couture does not go in for mass production. The price of an original model includes not only the cost of fabric and workmanship, but also the idea. That, it was explained, is why the cost is high.

Burdine To Appear Before Committee Investigating TU

AUSTIN, Nov. 20 (AP)—Vice-president K. Alton Burdine of the University of Texas and Mrs. I. D. Fairchild of Lufkin, member of the board of regents were expected to be heard today when a state senate investigating committee resumes its sessions. The first meeting after a Sunday recess was set for 3 p. m.

Mrs. Fairchild was one of the two regents who voted against discharge of President Homer P. Rainey. Dr. Burdine has also been in the middle of the controversy between the university's administration and the regents which prompted the investigation.

The last witness to be heard Saturday was Homer Garrison, director of the Department of Public Safety, who told the committee that Dr. Rainey had cooperated with the state police in an investigation of sexual perversion on the campus. One of the complaints against Dr. Rainey voiced by Regent Orville Bullington of Wichita Falls was that he had not been diligent in this matter, that he had not told regents about it until after the investigation had been under way for several months.

Garrison, under questioning by committee members, said Dr. Rainey had asked for the investigation, that he had assisted in it, and that he (Garrison) had insisted on secrecy to prevent inadvertent disclosure of the fact that such an investigation was in progress.

Telephone Operators Strike Is Extended

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 20 (AP)—A telephone operators' strike which spread to 26 Ohio towns in three days will be extended, a union spokesman said, to cities in the northeastern industrial section of the state today and tomorrow.

Earl Culp, editor of the Ohio Federation of Telephone Workers Bulletin, said he expected operators, maintenance men and other workers to join the walkout by tomorrow in Akron, Canton and other northeastern Ohio centers. He estimated 4,000 operators were on strike throughout the state, 1,300 of them in Cleveland. He said an additional 600 office workers were idle and that at least 1,200 other Ohio Bell Telephone Co. employees had walked out in the northeastern third of the state.

The strike began Friday in Dayton where the union announced the walkout was in protest against payment of expenses averaging $18.25 weekly, in addition to salary, for personnel brought in by the company from out of town. "Sympathy" strikes spread rapidly and workers in the steel-making center of Youngstown went out yesterday.

Harold Barber, company vice president in charge of public relations, said about 60 per cent of federation workers involved in the dispute were on the job throughout the state yesterday and that all military and emergency calls were being handled. Local dial telephone systems were not affected.

First American Flag Raised By 96th Division

WITH 96TH INFANTRY DIVISION ON LEYTE, P. I. (AP)—The first American flag to be placed on Philippine soil in the invasion of Leyte was put atop Hill 150 by a battalion of this division. The unit is commanded by Lt. Col. Earl L. Creager, Vernon, Tex., and is part of the army's crack XXIV Corps which recently was lauded for its gallantry and efficiency in a message from General MacArthur to Lt. Gen. Robert C. Richardson, Jr., commanding army forces in the Pacific ocean areas.

The flag was hung on a shell-splintered, low-hanging coconut tree only 24 minutes after Col. Creager's doughboys hit the beach. The hill, nearly 700 yards from the beach, was negotiated by Col. Creager's battalion less than 10 minutes after the invasion. The flag was raised after a bitter fight with 30 entrenched Japs. The Stars and Stripes whipped proudly in the wind.

A day later, Col. Creager was evacuated from the area, a victim of concussion from mortar barrages and booby trap explosions. Before leaving the battle, the colonel killed a Jap captain with a blast from a sub-machine-gun. Col. Creager, recovering rapidly, was looking forward to rejoining his outfit. His wife and four children live at 1608 Houston st., Vernon, Tex.

1. Shorten washing time in your machine. Churning things too long means added wear and tear.
2. Reduce rubbing by hand to a minimum. Friction has an abrasive effect—it's hard on fabrics.

No Substitute For Skill, Grau Shows

It took a war to awaken the nation to the importance of skill in mechanical and other fields and to remind us that, regardless of machines, there can be no substitute for human know-how.

An example of what can be done with skilled hands and mind is the Big Spring Speedometer and Magneto service, which, in reality, is Ludwig (Louie) Grau.

Back in the depression years Grau, who had grown up in the industrial east, found, as many Americans did, that the industrial recess left him with no choice but adapting himself to something else.

In cooperation with L. F. McKay, he opened an auto-electric shop. His mechanical turn plus native inquisitiveness soon made him an expert in his field.

But when World War II came along, he felt that he could do more for the war effort by returning to his old job as a riveter—one he had followed in the ship building industry in the first World War.

Too much time had intervened for a man to step right back into the ranks of such heavy physical work and Grau was a man without a business or occupation.

Returning to Big Spring, he resolved to re-enter his field of business. Securing technical equipment needed in the servicing and repairing of speedometers and of magnetos was a virtual impossibility at that time.

None was being made for civilian consumption, and those in business desperately needed what they had.

But Louis Grau had made up his mind. With scarcely more than a screw driver, a pair of pliers and a few other hand tools, he set about opening the Big Spring Speedometer and Magneto service.

Old friends immediately began bringing work to him at his place at 113 Runnels street. Nothing but skill could have overcome the difficulties.

Gräu did jobs which had been stalled for want of parts simply because the fact that he had no big parts supply induced him to make the part which was needed.

Too, his tenacity caused him to refuse to believe that some troubles could not be overcome. He simply tried one thing and another until he found the solution.

Thus, the new concern made new friends. In the past two years Grau has been more successful in adding essential equipment until today he is able to handle virtually every type of speedometer or magneto job brought to him.

But the same skill and thoroughness is still employed, and when a job leaves his shop, it works because he refuses to turn loose of one until it does.

Creighton Tire Co. Ration Stresses Tire Care

Throughout a nation at war the current demand placed on all car owners by every transportation official is for the very good care of tires and tubes that are so scarce at present.

The shortage is due to continue for a long while and with the heavy demand of the army and navy upon production no civilian let-up is foreseen in the current crisis.

To enable local motorists to keep the rubber on their cars in peak condition Creighton Tire company at 203 West Third is offering, as in the past, voluntary service for the regular checking of tires that are beginning to feel the strain of too much use.

For many months now the required check of tires by government officials has been lifted, but Creighton, long experienced in proper care of rubber, is still emphasizing that all drivers continue these periodical checks so as to get the largest amount of mileage out of their tires.

By overlooking this vital check tires can be allowed to run themselves into irreparable condition in a very short time.

This service is offered by the company as a voluntary measure and no charge is included for a careful "look-see" on tires.

To remedy run-down tires from becoming useless the Creighton company offers the best of service in recapping and vulcanizing.

Since the tire shortage began to emphasize the need for better departments in this field Creighton employees have made a more thorough study of the situation and their knowledge now enables them to give the best in advice and work.

The quantity of tires they have re-worked give answer to the question of their high quality of service.

Charlie Creighton, owner and operator of the company, has been in business here for 16 years, and for the past 14 has been handling Selberling products, a first-run brand of all types of implements for automobiles.

Besides the Selberling tires and tubes handled Creighton offers, among other products, the company's batteries which have long been advertised and used as one of the best on the market.

For batteries that are weak or that have passed their period of top performance Creighton offers a complete and qualified recharging service, one which has proved to be among the best in Big Spring and vicinity.

Creighton offers anything desired to car owners in the area and a stop at 20 West Third will leave the departing motorist well satisfied that the tire company has an excellent quality of service to offer, as well as serving the local drivers with the best of advice and knowledge on the care of tires and other parts of the automobile.

Twenty-six Yank Soldiers Killed In Britain Crash

LONDON, Nov. 20 (AP)—Twenty-six American soldiers were killed and four injured in the crash last night of a C-47 Skytrain troop carrier enroute from England to France, air force headquarters announced today.

The plane was not a hospital ambulance, and it was stated that contrary to earlier reports there were no wounded men or flight nurses aboard.

The Skytrain, a transport type that has carried thousands of men to battle, crashed near an 800-foot peak north of Brighton, in southern England. Six victims were taken to a nearby hospital, where two died and the others remained in serious condition.

Walker Concern Has Supplies For Farm Machinery

"Farm machinery is in its infancy, and better and more useful equipment can be expected after the war," according to Johnnie Walker of the Johnnie Walker Implement company at 205 N.E. 2nd street.

The Walker company is a dealer for Allis-Chalmers and Massey-Harris farm equipment and does repair work on all types of farm machinery. Johnnie Walker said Monday that they have a few tractors in stock at the present time, and he is expecting a shipment in now.

During the months of the present war this company has kept the farm equipment of this area in good running order, so that the farmers of this region can produce essential agricultural products at 75% capacity.

Most of these repair and overhaul jobs are done in the shop on N.E. 2nd street, due to help shortages, but Walker stated that if an emergency arises, repairmen go out into the field.

The owner reported that he now had a fair stock of repair and extra parts and that his company is prepared to give the best repair service obtainable at this time.

In addition Walker is the dealer for Wetmore feed mills, and he also sells combining machines. He stated that the demand for combines has been very great this season due to the large amounts of combine maize which were raised in this section this year. Walker expects a much more extensive line of farm machinery after the war and said that farmers may expect much more assistance from mechanical farm equipment in the future.

Locals Hoping To Upset Ponies In Final Clash

Ending their 1944 football campaign Thursday afternoon on foreign soil the Big Spring Steers leave home to engage the Sweetwater Mustangs in combat on the pony field, and once again the locals go into the game with all indications that they will end the year with a defeat.

Heavy underdogs in their two previous tilts with San Angelo and Abilene the past two weeks the Steers have come up a little in rating, and the ranking favorites this week are not picked to win by such a large score as was evidenced in the game against the defending state champions.

The Mustangs are sparked by a diminutive quarterback in the person of Townner Leeper who has led his teammates through a schedule that has had but two defeats, and both of these in conference play against two top elevens. The Mustangs have whipped such teams as Masonic Home, Balinger, Plainview, Midland and Lamesa by big scores, while losing to Odessa and Abilene, with San Angelo still to be met next Friday afternoon, December 1.

Sliding Down The Sports Chute

Saturday at noon I received the following letter from Jack Johnson, ex-Steer of Big Spring high school, in which he remarks that the local eleven played their best game of the year against Abilene's highly touted Eagles last Friday night. I also spoke these words in my Sunday column but feel that the Steers and their boosters will enjoy this fine letter from an old member of the grid team.

Let's Get On The Beam

We are now face to face with another test of our ability to respond to a wartime challenge. Our job is a simple one, the mere meeting of a $1,420,000 quota, of which $365,000 must be in E bonds. In other words, individuals are asked to purchase a fourth of the total quota. This compares with more than one-third for the national figures.

Really, there is no sound reason why people should have to be asked to purchase these bonds; no substantial reason why it is necessary to call the people to these special efforts. The fact that they become necessary is somewhat of an indictment upon our tenacity of purpose.

In some respects this is the most important of all the war loans. At the outset, we were buying up old rekindled patriotic enthusiasm. While we hope patriotism has not diminished, it is true that we have lost some of our enthusiasm. Not only is this reflected in bond buying, but also in our war production.

Successes have dulled our sense of realistic reasoning about the duration of the war. We do have cause for thankfulness, for pride, for optimism, but we only hold the commanding lead—not the victory. So many have failed to realize this until some phases of vital war production is lagging well behind necessary schedules.

Perhaps if we can generate enough enthusiasm in this Sixth War Loan drive, some of it will splash over into the field of production. Perhaps if we can awaken enough concern in the hearts of people to buy bonds and buy sacrificially, there will be more serious thinking about making sure that every weapon and supply needed by our men is available when needed.

Let us not hold back in this undertaking. Rather, let us attack the job with a determination befitting loyal Americans. Do not let it be said that we had to be begged to do so little a thing that represents the least any of us can do to hasten the day of victory. And when we succeed in exceeding our quotas, let us keep right on working and praying to the end that we can bring our loved ones back home.

An Everyday Business

If there is a city in Texas where the people should be conscious of how fires can cost virtually every inhabitant, it is Big Spring. For many years now we have been paying heavily for our negligence in preventing fires. By the time this year is over, our loss again may be too high to offer hope of material relief. While we cannot reconcile ourselves to the justice of having to pay for concentrations of government cotton which went up in flames, this unfortunately is the rule. Our only hope to offset it is to practice fire prevention every day of the year. This is one instance where we can lift ourselves by our own bootstraps.

Cabot Rents House On Boulevard

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Tip for Bruce Cabot's pals from overseas planning a Hollywood trip: The actor has leased the 14-room house overlooking Sunset boulevard that was the late Pauline Frederick's. Nice thing to know in a town where it's as hard to find a room as it is to find a carton of your favorite cigarettes, and vice versa.

One of the rooms is reserved for trophies brought back or being shipped from North Africa where Lt. Cabot served as an operations officer with the Air Force but if you're tired and the point is crowded you probably won't mind sleeping around a few spears, dancing girl's silver anklets, Arab shawls, knives and the like.

But you'd better make your reservation early. The first gang is already headed for the "Cabot hotel" from the east. Why 14 rooms for an unattached male? "It was the only house I could find," he said. "I stayed with Errol Flynn until I got it."

Gone for nearly two years, Cabot is now on the inactive list, subject to recall if needed. "But I don't expect I'll be called," he grinned, "unless somebody invades Paramount."

This is where Cabot has resumed his career—as a heavy, of course—in the Alan Ladd film, "Salty O'Rourke." He has never really been "off the screen," inasmuch as his last film prior to joining up, "The Desert Song," was released only this year.

Interesting sidelight: While Casablanca, he found, bore no resemblance whatever to the town of the Bogart-Bergman film, the sands of the Riff country of "Desert Song" were very similar to those of the movie. "Just as sandy," he observed. Natives did a fair business escorting GIs, for a fee, to the Moroccan house where Gary Cooper slept while making "Beau Geste"—a trip Bruce passed up for various reasons, among them the sure knowledge that "Beau Geste" was filmed in Arizona.

After these months away Cabot finds Hollywood "looks good" and is unchanged except for a few new faces. "And my wardrobe, he

The War Today

Thus far the Allied drive toward the Rhine hasn't given us a lead to show whether General Eisenhower will achieve his ambition to end the war this year or whether it may drag through the winter—but his mighty fighting machine is crushing steadily forward with the inevitability of a landslide.

The German battle-line is stretched taut and at many places is giving, notably in the Aachen sector opposite Cologne and down south in the Metz-Belfort zone. We can see the Nazi lack of reserves for the quick, hard counterattacks necessary to restore breaks at strategic points. Such a situation is wholly in favor of the Allies, and it might produce a crash-through.

However, this isn't a time for prophesy. While we've seen a further awesome demonstration of Allied striking-power, we also have fresh evidence of German determination to gamble prodigally with death in this last-ditch stand at the threshold of the fatherland.

Of course, much depends on the weather. Winter fights for the defenders.

Nazi Field Marshal von Rundstedt, commander in chief on the western front, is showing a disposition to cling as long as possible to his formidable defenses west of the Rhine, despite the fact that this great river represents his strongest natural barrier against the Allies.

The consensus of military experts is that Nazi resistance will fold up when the Allies are over the river in force. It's humanly possible, of course, that he may see the guerilla warfare—battles for each city, town and hamlet—which Nazi propagandists have threatened, but that's not likely.

Once we've established a route across the Rhine we shall be able to pour armored forces into the plains leading to Berlin and the heart of Germany. Also we shall have in our hands Hitler's chief industrial areas, the Ruhr and the Saar, which lie close to the Rhine.

Year. This is one instance where we can lift ourselves by our own bootstraps.

Six Negroes Die In Wreck Near Orange

ORANGE, Nov. 20 (AP)—Six negroes were killed near here last night when their four-door sedan hurtled from a mile-long bridge and submerged in seven feet of water.

Two Port Arthur men were questioned in connection with the accident.

The negroes, three men, two women and a girl 14 from Reider, La., were trapped in the sedan as it rested upside down, only portions of its wheels visible above water.

An abandoned car was found near the scene, about one mile east of here, in Louisiana.

Investigators said the car containing the negroes apparently had been knocked through the side rail of the bridge.

Which reminds us—A while back the Army put out a call for more dogs needed for war training, but Hollywood already had anticipated the demand. Producer W. R. Frank just was finishing a feature called "A Girl, a Boy, and a Dog" which deals with this very subject. Herb Kline, young director who made those fine documentaries on the war in Europe, did the picture with full cooperation of the services, and it will be out in time to boost canine recruiting.

Emergency—And How!

NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (AP)—A subway customer dropped a package in an iron-barred turnstile and, having trouble extricating it, called so vehemently for help that a police emergency squad was summoned.

The police assisted sympathetically when they understood the valuable nature of the parcel—a carton of cigarettes.

Hal Boyle: Planning Ends; Nothing Left For Officers And Men But Tense Wait

By HAL BOYLE
AN AMERICAN INFANTRY DIVISION HEADQUARTERS, Germany, Nov. 16 (Delayed AP)—Those days of planning were over and at headquarters there was nothing to do now but wait.

Two officers sat in a small, upstairs room of this old stone German farmhouse and played chess—but they were bent over the battered old board in listening attitudes. Their minds were only half on the game.

The younger man—a slim soldier with close-cut hair—straightened up with sudden interest. He quickly moved one of the mellowed ivory-colored little figures near the corner of the checkered board.

"There—I've got you," said Capt. Carl Woelke, of Cleveland, Ohio.

"So you have—you've won again," absently acknowledged Lt. Col. Robert F. Evans, of Danport Iowa.

They sat there for a moment. Neither moved. Each man had turned toward one open window through which looked wintry wind.

That wind bore with it also the faint vibrations of many motors far away.

Washington—
Government Has Many Law Agencies

By J. FRANK TRAGLE
(Substituting for Jack Stinnett, Who Is Ill)

WASHINGTON—The federal government has not one, but many agencies, to do one thing—enforce the law.

The system isn't chargeable to any particular administration. It just grew. Here's the picture:

The FBI is the overall investigative agency of the government. Operating under the Department of Justice, it checks on violations of all federal laws with the exception of those which Congress has designated to be under other jurisdiction or which are handled by agreement.

For example, the FBI and the Treasury's Secret Service are authorized to guard the President. By agreement, Secret Service does it, the FBI lending a hand when asked.

Also under Justice are the immigration and naturalization inspectors. And also under Treasury are the customs inspectors, the internal revenue agents, the alcohol tax agents and the narcotics agents.

Secret Service, in addition to guarding the President, checks on counterfeiting and other money matters. Under Secret Service is the White House police force.

The Post Office Department has its postal inspectors. The Interior Department has investigators to look into grazing law violations, "hot" oil, and similar matters.

There is the Coast Guard. In peacetime it's under the Treasury Department. It checks violations of maritime laws, smuggling, and so on.

The Agriculture Department has food and drug investigators. Farm Security administration has men looking into grain act violations. In the Department of Commerce is the Bureau of Marine Inspection and Navigation, checking on boat registrations. The Labor department has representatives checking wage and hour act violations.

The Public Building administration has its own police force. The Federal Communications Commission has a Radio Intelligence division to check other violations. The Federal Trade Commission enforces fair trade practices. The Interstate Commerce commission checks railroad safety appliances, looks into causes of wrecks.

The Securities and Exchange commission has its representatives to investigate securities and exchange violations. The Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) has its own police force. The Office of Price Administration has a large staff investigating rationing and price control violations. And then there are the marshals of the federal courts.

The three-year-old boy, who may die before Dec. 25 because of a bladder ailment, rubbed the sleep from his eyes yesterday and shook hands with Santa Claus—Charles B. Dilbeck of Cheyenne.

His first words, "today's Christmas," opened the family party and Nubbins plunged into a pile of over 250 packages from generous folk over the nation—plus gifts from his family.

A Christmas dinner was spread on the table but Nubbins was able to eat only a little of it.

Mirrors Of Austin—Texas Farmers' Co-Ops Blossom Into Major Economic Structure

By PAUL BOLTON
Herald Austin Correspondent

Almost without knowledge of a vast majority of Texans, a new economic development has grown in Texas into a $300,000,000 part of the state's economic structure. It is the Farmers Cooperative Marketing Association.

Attention was focussed recently on this economic evolution by the request of the Indiana farm cooperative for a permit to do business in Texas. This permit was in usual form; but in an accompanying letter, the cooperative advised that its purpose in Texas was to explore for oil.

Secretary of State Sidney Latham did not believe that oil exploration comes under the heading of farm enterprise; so he submitted the question to the attorney general. Attorney General Grover Sellers held that while the cooperative did not have the power to drill for oil under the powers granted to Texas farm cooperatives, nevertheless the application for a permit on its face was in order. Therefore, the cooperative should be granted a permit.

Latham advised the company that it was entitled to a permit but that this permit would not cover oil exploration. The company now has replied that it still wants the permit; and whether it has the power to explore for oil in Texas will be a bridge to be crossed when it is reached. In other words, the company tacitly promises a law suit to determine the extent of its powers.

This spotlighting of the fields into which farm coops have ventured led to an investigation into what they are now doing. Inquiry at the state department of agriculture, which supervises farm cooperatives, disclosed this $300,000,000 business.

J. E. Montgomery, supervisor of cooperative marketing associations, says that farm coops now have the authority, under Texas law, to exercise practically any corporate powers excepting the formation of hospitals and life insurance companies.

They own Gins, oil mills. They manufacture tires and batteries and other automotive accessories and market them through more than 100 filling station outlets in Texas. Montgomery was not certain whether Texas or out of state cooperatives were the owners, but he was certain that cooperatives do own three oil wells in the Midland area, together with transportation facilities to a refinery which processes the oil and delivers the products to the retail outlets. They own elevators which manufacture livestock feed; they market a large part of the citrus crop; they own citrus juice plants, and dehydrating plants, selling to regular retail outlets. Montgomery says they sell to the farmer almost anything he needs excepting groceries and dry goods, and some of the retail outlets are now selling groceries.

Montgomery adds that there is some opposition developing to these far-flung activities of farm coops, and such opposition naturally comes from private individuals who formerly were in the lines of business invaded by the cooperatives.

While not to be attributed to Montgomery, the facts are that the opposition is bottomed upon the tax exemptions of the cooperative, which, naturally, makes it possible for the cooperative to sell more cheaply than the retail merchant, or feed manufacturer, or filling station operator, who must pay federal income taxes and state franchise taxes.

As the outlet best known in Texas, the filling station is an example. The farm cooperative filling station is exempt from income taxes if (1) it distributes its net earnings pro rata among all its patrons; (2) pays not more than 8 per cent interest on its common stock. Common or voting stock may be owned only by agriculturists. Preferred stock may be purchased by anybody as an investment. Anybody can patronize a farm cooperative filling station if he would be eligible for membership, even though he is not a member, and provided not more than 50 per cent of the coop's total business is with non-members; and up to 15 per cent of the coop's business may be with transients, i.e., persons not even eligible for membership. As one critic of the farm cooperative movement's expansion remarked, "maybe in self defense the grocers will have to get together, or the filling station operators, or what not, and form their own cooperatives for the production of farm products."

Army-Navy Tilt Tickets On Sale

BALTIMORE, Nov. 20 (UP)—Coveted tickets to the Army-Navy football game Dec. 2 in Baltimore Municipal Stadium were on sale today to residents of Baltimore and environs only, contingent on their purchase of war bonds.

The Maryland war finance committee, sole handlers of the public sale, announced last night that applications would be accepted by mail and would have to be accompanied by a validated receipt for a war bond purchase on or after today, opening day of the Sixth War Loan drive. One ticket can be purchased for each bond regardless of denomination.

Just how many seats in the 60,000-plus stadium would be available to civilians had not yet been ascertained.

FIRST BIRTHDAY for the city's initial private flying field is today. One year ago Johnnie Underwood and Garland Sanders carved a landing field out of a field and the brow of the cypress north of town and started with two planes. Today they have seven planes together with hangar and housing facilities. (Kelsey Photo).

New No. 2 Nazi Named By Hangman Himmler

LONDON, Nov. 20 (AP)—Indications filtered out of Germany today that Heinrich Himmler is so busy taking Hitler's place he has found it necessary to bring up a new No. 2 Nazi.

He is Dr. Ernst Kaltenbrunner, who succeeded "Hangman" Reinhard Heydrich as chief of the super-Gestapo. For the first time, according to a generally reliable source here, Kaltenbrunner has just been accorded a selected battalion of super-Gestapo bodyguards—an honor previously enjoyed only by Hitler and Himmler.

Chinese Fight In Bhamo Stronghold

CHUNGKING, Nov. 20 (AP)—Chinese troops are fighting inside the north Burma stronghold of Bhamo, the Chinese high command announced today. It was surrounded several days ago.

The town was penetrated Saturday after an American dive-bombing attack, the Chinese command said.

In bitter fighting the Chinese have wrested one city block from the Japanese defenders of the town which the Allies seek as a station on the projected Ledo-Burma road route to China.

Bhamo is the strongest remaining Japanese base in north Burma. It lies 80 miles from the Burma road and 175 northeast of Mandalay.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (UP)—A couple of years ago when Judge Landis was sick, he told close friends that he intended to retire as baseball commissioner when his present term expired.

Whether the judge has changed his mind since then, we don't know, but it seems obvious that he hasn't told the joint major league committee that recommended the extension of the present major league agreement.

In case you've never read the document, about the only limit it places on the commissioner's powers is the size of the fines he can assess.

Somewhat, we can't imagine the club owners submitting themselves to such arbitrary power administered by anyone else.

Of course, there's no question about re-electing Landis as long as he wants the job, but a lot of good baseball men don't like the idea of letting the commissioner do anything he pleases, especially with that promise that there'll be no diminution of any commissioner's powers during his term of office.

Flying Field Has Its First Birthday

One year ago today Garland Sanders and J. E. (Johnnie) Underwood started a private flying field immediately north of town on the Gall road. They had two planes, no hangar, no office—just two planes and faith.

In a year's time, the U & S Flying service has added a large hangar, an office building, adequate flying equipment, including 13 planes, and now has another hangar under construction. This will give the field facilities for handling 30 planes at once.

Converting what was once a field and pasture into a landing area, the operators provided four runways averaging 2,800 feet.

Stimulated by response during their first year, Underwood and Sanders have plans for providing to and from the private field, overnight accommodations, continuation of private instruction, charter trips of all character. With their start, the operators are aiming at the most modern private field in West Texas.

Those who have soloed at the U & S Flying school are Hugh Macral, B. S. Hubbard Jr., Leon West, Jerry Mandell, O. C. Lewis, Elmo Wasson, G. R. Farris, Evelyn Backlund, G. H. LaLave, Y. J. Le Tourneur, Joseph Gomez, P. E. Donne, Thomas Underwood, Joe Pond, J. R. Breeher, Vernon Logan, Lt. C. J. Tucker, Major R. F. Dickson, Ole Mason, Mrs. J. E. Underwood, Mrs. Garland Sanders, Louise Dick, Mrs. Dorothy Simpson, Mrs. Odie White, Henry De Bolsosel, Gabriel Bouisson, Wallace Yanev and L. S. Ambury.

Receiving their Private Pilot license are L. D. Chrane, A. K. Miller, Clyde Thomas, J. E. Underwood, Dr. Lee Rogers, Rupert Jennings, E. O. Henderson, Mary Falnagan and George Winship. Commercial Pilots include Garland Sanders and G. W. Elbert with G. W. Elbert holding an instructors license.

Cotton Destroyed In Ackerly Fire

Between 475 and 500 bales of cotton were destroyed by fire at Ackerly Saturday when one of the buildings of the Ackerly Warehouse company, operated by A. D. Brown, burned. The fire started at approximately 2 p. m. and its origin is as yet undetermined.

The cotton and building were completely destroyed due to the fact that there was no adequate fire fighting equipment and also to the fact that there was a shortage of water. However, two more nearby warehouses were saved.

All of the cotton was in government loan and insurance losses to the cotton and the building amounted to approximately $50,000, according to the Cowden Insurance agency.

Murray Attacks WLB For Shirking Duty

CHICAGO, Nov. 20 (AP)—Philip Murray opened the seventh annual CIO convention today with scorching criticism of the War Labor Board for what he said was "evading its responsibility" to war workers whose wages is froze.

Both in his annual report and in his keynote speech formally starting the week convention, President Murray singled out the WLB for special comment.

His report also urged the CIO to continue the no-strike pledge for the duration of the war, and suggested the Political Action Committee would be around for some time to come with the declaration that:

"The political problems of the American people are not solved in one election campaign."

The foremost task of organized labor in the next congress, many of whose members benefitted from PAC support, is to obtain repeal of the Smith-Connelly act," Murray said. He termed it "vicious legislation" which caused more strikes than it prevented.
