

'Around the Hub City'

This column, "AROUND THE HUB CITY," would like to take this time to salute a young man who has contributed twenty-five of his years with the same company, and in doing so, has made a great contribution, not only for his family, but his race, too.

The man for which such an honor was bestowed upon him last Monday morning... is H.S. Hutchinson. For the achievement he has made, the president of this firm of fine food products presented him with a diamond ring.

I am sure, without any doubt, that this token of appreciation in that of a precious stone, is of more value than you or I can even imagine.

Good luck to you, Mr. Hutchinson!! May others explore as you have done, and by the same token... make a proud name for their family and race.

Forty-seven newcomer families were reported in Lubbock last week to bring cumulative number this year to 2,070 new families.

At comparable date in 1966, 2,388 families were listed.

Mrs. Annie Barnes of Waco, Texas and her twin daughters spent the week-end here visiting her sister, Mrs. L.T. Norman.

She was accompanied by Mrs. L. A. N. G., who was house guest of Mrs. A.L. Davis.

They returned home Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Miller and two daughters, Lou Jimmy and Ollie Ruth, spent the night here last week enroute back home to Seaside, California.

They have visited Mr. Miller's family at Athens, Texas, and Mrs. Miller's (nee Madge Gore) family at Valley Mills, Texas.

She spent the day at Highland Hospital with her sister, Mrs. Lillie B. Wortham. She was guest of her niece, Mrs. Edna R. Walker and family.

Mrs. Clarence Ervin attended final rites at Waxahachie, Texas Thursday for Mrs. Ervin's cousin who was killed in a car wreck there.

Mrs. E.C. Struggs was treated for a lacerated hand Thursday evening at Methodist Hospital. It needed four stitches to close the wound which was accidentally inflicted by a broken glass.

Her activities are impaired for several weeks. She was treated and released.

Mrs. Mildred Smith and three of her four children from Kansas City are visiting her mother, Mrs. Mattie Sparks, and other members of her family. She had not visited Lubbock in 22 years, and noted many changes.

Mrs. Myrtle Austin of Dallas, Texas is visiting her father, Jeff Joiner.

Her two sons have spent the summer here, and her step-mother, Mrs. Eula Joiner, is visiting relatives in Los Angeles.

Mr. D. C. Fair, Jr. arrived last Saturday morning from Minnesota where his wife is going through Mayo Clinic.

At present time, she is still a patient at Mayo Clinic.

Mr. John Moreland is a patient at a hospital in Temple, Texas.

Mrs. Sevelia Taylor of Waco, Texas is visiting her sister-in-law, Mrs. Ernest Wright and family, here.

With less than a week before school will start here on the South Plains, let's be extra careful for the 'little guy.'

BACK-TO-SCHOOL FOR TEACHERS AND STUDENTS

LEAVES FOR SPECIAL TRAINING

Lillie Raye Mitchell

Miss Lillie Raye Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mitchell, left Saturday for Oklahoma City, Oklahoma where she will spend six months training at a machine accountant I.B.M. school. She will train for a machine operator.

Miss Mitchell was accompanied by her parents, a sister--Minnie Jean--and Dan Kilpatrick. They returned Monday.

Lillie Raye is a graduate of Dunbar High School and has done advance study in cosmetology, but she feels as though this course in I.B.M. training has more to offer and is also more attractive.

Lubbock Drivers Urged To Watch Out For Little Guy

Lubbock police, hoping that a 20-year-old unmarried traffic safety record will stand this school year, today urged drivers to drive carefully in school zones.

Efforts to protect school children who will be crossing streets going to and from school next week are being focused on a Lubbock Citizens Traffic Commission campaign with the theme, "Watch Out For The Little Guy."

Lt. Coulson O. Paxton of the police traffic safety division said Lubbock has not had a fatality in a school area in more than 20 years.

"Once in a while a child is scraped or knocked down by a passing motorist," Paxton said, "but we haven't had a death in the 20 years I've been here."

Furthermore, the lieutenant said, no injuries to school children in school zone areas have been counted in the three years the crossing guard program has been under Lubbock Police Department direction.

The crossing guards aid school children in arriving and leaving

You know these little guys are tomorrow's adults, so by all means watch out for them.

If there are any high school students interesting in applying for the in-school program which allows a student to work at a $1.25 an hour, then please contact the principal of Dunbar, Mr. George Scott, immediately.

Dual Services Here

Dual services were held here Monday afternoon for Billy Ray Guyton, 30, and his aunt, Mrs. Floria Welch, 24, at the Church of God in Christ No. 2 with Bishop W.D. Haynes, pastor, officiating the services.

Guyton died at his apartment at 2810 Juniper last Thursday afternoon. Justice of Peace Wayne LeCroy ordered an autopsy to establish the cause of death.

It was learned that death was caused by heart attack.

Mrs. Welch died at Methodist Hospital of injuries received during an automobile accident in Plainview.

Guyton's survivors are his mother, Mrs. Ruby Mae Gaines, Brownwood; his father, Oran Guyton, Lubbock; one sister, Mrs. Betty Jean Dean, Phoenix; one half-sister, Ruby Joe; brothers, Luther of Lubbock, Jim of Los Angeles, and half-brothers, Alvin, Lester and Neal Gaines, all of Brownwood.

Mrs. Welch's survivors include her mother, Mrs. Korene Childress, Lubbock; and three sisters, Mrs. Odessa Williams, Las Vegas, Nev., Mrs. Ruby Mae Gaines, Brownwood, and Betty Childress, Lubbock.

Services were held for Charles Jackson, 40, Tuesday at 3 p.m. at Bethel A.M.E. Church with Rev. A. W. Wilson, pastor, officiating.

Burial was held in Peaceful Gardens Cemetery under the direction of South Plains Funeral Home.

Jackson died of an apparent heart attack last Friday morning.

He had lived in Lubbock 14 years and was a former employe of the post office. Aside from this, Jackson was an active member of an umpire league.

Also, a member of Bethel A. M. E. Church where he served on the trustee board.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Ada Bell Jackson; one daughter, Kimberly, of the home; one son, Timothy, also of the home; and mother, Mrs. Zadie Bellamy of Albuquerque, N.M.

Dunbar Students Register Friday

All Dunbar students that did not pre-register in May are requested to register for the fall term tomorrow, Friday, September 1, in the principal's office.

General fees, and all other fees may be paid at this time also.

This early registration may insure the student of getting the courses and the teachers he would like this fall.

Late registration will begin Tuesday, September 5, for all students.

Honored At Mortons

In special ceremonies at the Lubbock plant of Morton Foods Inc., 404 34th Street, H.S. Hutchinson, 2915 Beech Avenue, was presented a diamond ring for his twenty five year service with the company.

Hutchinson, the father of five children; three girls, Mrs. Bobbie Jean Patterson, Mrs. Sarah Wadley and Sandra Gale Hutchinson; two sons, Novell and Hillary, is a member of Bethel A. M. E. church.

He is happily married to the former Elnora Thomas.

Also present at the ceremony

With less than a week to go before the school bells will ring for thousands of young people in the city, each will experience a time schedule, aside for the day light savings time which has become a part of our daily activity.

The pace of back-to-school activities for Lubbock Public and Private schools came to a fast start Monday when some 300 teachers new to the system reported for orientation. Aside from this, elementary pupils are scheduled to register today.

The first day of work for the new teachers included a two-hour introductory period, beginning at 8:20 a.m.

Refreshments, courtesy of the Association of Childhood Education, were served at 3:15 p.m. At 3:30 p.m. elementary and secondary teachers met separately.

Except for elementary physical education teachers, the remainder of the teachers met in their individual schools.

Teachers who taught last year joined the new teachers for orientation yesterday, Wednesday. The morning hours, 8:20 a.m. to noon, were spent in the schools while a general faculty meeting was held for all teachers from 1:30 p.m. to 4 p.m. at the new Estacado High School auditorium. Dr. Larry Wilsey of the Booz Allen and Hamilton Management Consultant Firm spoke to the giant body of educators.

Today, Thursday, elementary teachers will be in their schools from 8:20 a.m. to 4 p.m. This day is set aside for elementary pupils to register in the schools they will attend when classes will start. Registration is set for 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Junior and senior high school students need not report to their schools until the day classes start, September 5. Earlier registration was conducted for secondary students who are new to the Lubbock schools or have changed attendance areas.

Secondary teachers will be in their schools today except for several departmental meetings which have been called. These include art, biology, health, related mathematics, vocal music, senior high American history, 7th grade special studies, foreign language, English, new vocational and industrial arts teachers, homemaking teachers, physical education, classroom driver education and behind-the-wheel driver education.

Tomorrow, Friday, special education teachers will meet from 8:20 to 9:30 a.m. at the Maedgen school cafeteria. All other teachers will be in their schools.

Special group meetings have been called. These include cafeteria employes, Tuesday at Lubbock High School auditorium, 9 a.m. to noon, visiting teachers and nurses, Wednesday at the central office, 9 to 11:30 a.m.; elementary strings, Thursday in central office, 3:45 p.m. to 4:45 p.m.; and audio visual building representatives, Friday in central office, 3 to 4 p.m.

Labor Day, yes, this day, will be observed as a school holiday, but Tuesday, classes will start.

was James W. Campbell, Dallas, president of Morton Foods, who was here for the special presentation.

More than 150 area Morton personnel were present for the program. Aside from these, 65 employes of the local plant, Felix McDaniel, manager of local operations; Jack Williams, plant superintendent here, and Milt Davis, Dallas, public relations director.

THE HARD-CORE JOBLESS

The hard-core jobless can become good employees, according to the Watts Manufacturing Company, of Los Angeles, California, a subsidiary of the Aerojet-General Corp., which began operations in the riot-torn ghetto last January. The experience of the company, which manufactures tents and wooden containers for the military, and steel component parts, shows that:

* Unskilled men and women with virtually no previous work experience, are ready and willing to work if they are certain the boss wants them.

* Police records of the employees have not resulted in any disciplinary problems at the company.

* Thousands of minority group workers are immediately available if job standards are not excessively high.

* Private enterprise can, with some imagination, help directly in the War on Poverty by bringing jobs to the disadvantaged communities, but it takes Government assistance, too.

The idea of bringing business to Watts began in 1966, when Vice President Hubert Humphrey called aero-space industry leaders together to explore methods of boosting employment in riot-torn areas.

Dan A. Kimball, Chairman of Aerojet's executive committee and a former Secretary of the Navy, developed the idea of opening the plant in Watts. Government help was essential, to help defray start-up costs and to meet insurance costs, quire high in areas like Watts.

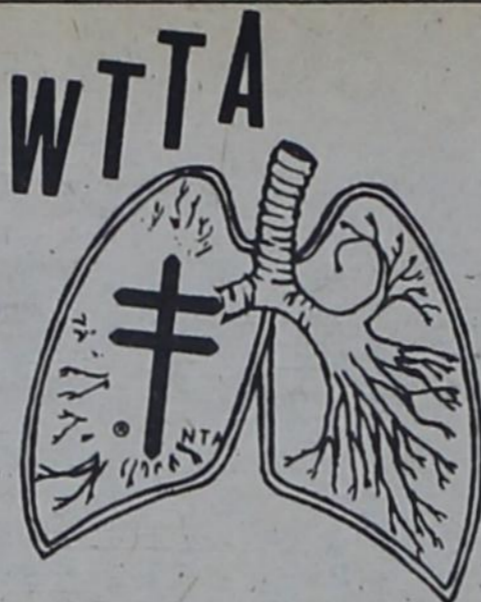

"HAS THE POVERTY PROGRAM BEEN OVER-SOLD and is this a factor in raising expectations which create disappointment?" OEO Director Sargent Shriver was asked on a CBS "Face the Nation" broadcast. Mr. Shriver replied:

"Well, I think there is a possibility of that, yes. But, on the other hand, I think it would have been a tragedy not to start the poverty program. In two and a half years in the poverty program we have learned, for example, how to manage Head Start and we have captured the imagination of America, I think, with the idea that little children, four and five-year old children, especially slum children or poor children in the rural areas, should get a special amount of education through Head Start."

He went on to say, "We wouldn't know that as a nation today if we had not started the poverty program. We wouldn't have had a million and a half youngsters in the Neighborhood Youth Corps if we hadn't started the poverty program."

"We wouldn't have 85,000 youngsters in the Job Corps. In other words, what I am saying is that even though we haven't been able to do all that we should have done or would like to have done, we have made tremendous progress so that now we are ready to do a great many things we would not have been prepared to do before."

Mr. Shriver also noted that of the 65,000 persons employed in anti-poverty programs in the 28 cities where disturbances have taken place this summer, only 13 have been arrested, and that anti-poverty workers have been an effective force in reducing the possibility of disorder.

Summer '67--and a new program proved a bonanza for the WTTA and for young people in the eleventh and twelfth grades.

This was the first year for the Teen Program, and your Association plans to repeat it next summer.

A special Badge of Merit is deserved by WTTA Office manager Georgia Brewer who organized the summer force which included both Neighborhood Youth Corps members and volunteer workers. Filing, typing, office machines and general office experience were included in the program.

The NYC members who worked a regular shift were Celestine Johnson, Billy Harlan and Kathy Gutierrez. Yolanda Salinas replaced Gutierrez on August 1st.

Volunteers who contributed one day a week included Fern Goddard, Anne Lunday, Travis Minter---all of Lubbock, and Kathy Zeeck of Plainview.

In addition to work performed for the benefit of the WTTA, and valuable office experience gained by the young people, each now can show a job experience record with the WTTA.

Friendships and a new sense of self-value were cited as side-gains by those who participated.

The Park and Recreation Department announces that all City Swimming Pools except K.C. Clapp (heated) Pool will close for the summer today, Thursday, August 31.

PANHANDLE SOUTH PLAINS FAIR

A fistulated steer, one of the most interesting and educational exhibits obtained in several years, will be displayed by the animal husbandry department of Texas Technological College during the 50th annual Panhandle South Plains Fair.

The live Angus steer will be exhibited throughout the weeklong run, September 25-30, in the FFA building.

The steer has an opening (fistula) into the first stomach from the outside. The opening is enclosed with a plastic cylinder which has a clear plastic lid to allow observation of the rumen contents. The fistula is on the left side of the animal and is about five inches in diameter.

An animal husbandry student will attend the steer at all times to answer questions and to demonstrate how samples of rumen contents are obtained.

A fistulated animal is useful in several areas of nutritional research.

TEXAS BAPTIST, METHODIST FLAY RIOTS, CHRISTIAN DISCORD

Fort Worth--(NPI)--In separate sessions last week, the Independent Methodist Episcopal and North Texas Missionary Baptist associations issued a challenge to the church to practice the Christian doctrine in making an approach to racial discord.

The 74th annual session of the Baptist group advocating a theme of "Christian Doctrine-The Need of the Church" was held at the Antioch Missionary Baptist church, Rev. O.L. Hegman, host pastor. The Methodist conference convened at Immanuel IME church pastored by the Rev. G.E. Brown.

During the four day sessions of the Independent Methodists, two brilliantly-delivered sermons by Dr. L.C. Browning, founder of the Youth Crime Prevention association and Bishop Leonard Charles Graves of Houston, urged a "returning to Christian principles to solve our problems and unrest."

Rev. Browning spoke on "Youth and the Challenge of Change in Urban Society." Bishop Graves took his text on the scripture which urges Christian people to "Take It Easy, and Don't become alarmed."

Several of the Baptist delegate ministers discussed various phases of the present racial strife picture and urged the "Church to take the Bull by the horns and quell this disorder."

Both denominations exemplified a stalwart approach to the church's responsibilities for quelling the present racial upheaval and furnishing adequate leadership to the needs of saneness, effective organization and Christian fellowship to a nation.

I must take this time to congratulate the young leaders in the special summer program, sponsored by the Community Action Board.

Not only should the leaders be saluted, but the enrollees who made up the program. Without you--and your complete cooperation--this program would not have been a booming success.

Let's hope that the brotherhood received through this program will be remembered in years to come.

And to you, too, Mom and Dad, I hope you can capture in your minds how much this program has done for your son.

This summer program was something new here, and it is the hope of many people that this type of clean recreation will become a part of our son next summer and summers to come.

You know, this type of supervised activity would well suit our daughters. Have you thought of this?

I am sure, without any doubt, this program helped keep some of our love ones out of trouble.

Thanks fellows for a job well done.

Women's Talk

Most families have a few favorite dishes they would be willing to eat regularly, even though the cook of the family might wish to experiment with something new. Here's a way to keep both factions happy: Serve ham loaf for dinner, but, dress it up with wine.

Because ham is so mild in flavor and usually more salty than other meat dishes, it has a special affinity for wine. Almost any type goes well with it. A dry red wine such as California Burgundy or Zinfandel might be the choice because pork, being fairly rich, is usually accompanied by a dry red wine.

However, the pink color of the ham, and its compact, rather dry texture, suggest that a Rose or one of the dry California white wines (Sauterne, Vhablis, or a varietal wine such as Pinot Chardonnay or Pinot Blanc) would be refreshing with it. Champagne, too, is favored for special occasions.

In the case of the Dress-Up Ham Loaf, the wine used in the meat mixture, to add flavor and keep the meat moist, is a California dry white wine. It takes just half a cut of it to season enough meat for six or eight servings. There will be enough left to pour five (four-ounce) servings. Store the bottle in the refrigerator after opening to preserve the delicate flavor.

The form of the loaf and its garnishes will please a creative cook. Deep diagonal cuts are made across its surface before baking. When the loaf is ready for the table, each cut is filled with prepared mustard. A fruit garnish might consist of canned peach halves, hot or cold, topped with wine-spiced prunes.

DRESS-UP HAM LOAF

- 2 cups ground ham
- 1 1/2 cups fine soft bread crumbs
- 1/2 cup finely chopped onion
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1/2 cup California Sauterne or other white dinner wine
- 1 tablespoon prepared mustard
- 1/4 teaspoon dried dill
- 2 eggs, beaten
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- 1 tablespoon catsup
- 2 teaspoons wine vinegar

Measure ham, bread crumbs, onion, milk, wine, mustard, dill and eggs into large bowl. Mix thoroughly until well combined. Turn into greased 10 x 5 inch loaf pan. Cover and let stand 1/2 hour or longer to tighten up loaf and mellow seasonings. Score top of loaf in deep diagonal cuts. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 1 1/2 hours.

About half an hour before meat is done, combine brown sugar, catsup and vinegar and spoon over top of loaf to glaze. When ready to serve, spoon additional prepared mustard in diagonal stripes over top of loaf. Surround with sliced peach halves (cold or heated a few minutes) topped with plump prunes (plain or wine spiced).

WINE SPICED PRUNES

- 1 pound dried prunes
- 3 cups cold water
- 1 cup California Sauterne or other white dinner wine
- Grated rind and juice of one orange
- Grated rind and juice of lemon
- 1 teaspoon each whole cloves and allspices
- 2 inches stick cinnamon
- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 1/3 cup wine vinegar

Combine prunes, water, wine, orange and lemon rinds, juice and spices in saucepan; bring to boil, then simmer, uncovered, for 30 minutes. Add sugar and vinegar; continue cooking 10 minutes. Serve cold as relish with meats. These keep well if stored in covered jar in refrigerator.

Official Techniques And Methods Highlight Southwest Association

Fort Worth--(NPI)--How coaches and field officials can contribute to keener competition and more interesting athletic contests was the highlight of the 38th annual meeting of the Southwest Officials association last week. Sessions were held at I. M. Terrell High school, and were well attended by athletic officials from throughout the southwest area.

Marion C. Bates, retired football coach presided as president of the meet. Australia King, president of the local association, and his corps of officers and members did a bang-up job of entertaining the visitors.

The advance session featured track and baseball interpretations by Jap Jones of Fort Worth.

The formal opening session was presided over by vice president E. L. Washington and featured welcome addresses by Fort Worth Mayor DeWitt McKinley, Police Chief Cato Hightower and City Athletic Director Herman Clark. President Bates delivered the keynote address in which he said it is very significant and necessary for athletic officials to keep abreast with rule changes and the advancing techniques of athletics.

Basketball interpretations were given by Tom Burton.

Football rules interpretation was a feature of the third day with T. H. Burton taking the spotlight.

Top entertainment included a smoker at the Downtowners Motor Inn, and a party at Pat's Club

Araby. Nightly get-together s were featured at The Chili Bowl, and other night spots.

Election of officers was held following the final business sessions. Sessions next year will be held at Alcorn college in Mississippi.

THREE CHARGED

Pileville, Ky--(NPI)--Three white anti-poverty workers have been charged with sedition, and one of them, Al McSurely, a field organizer for the Southern Conference Education Fund, said a gubernatorial candidate's political ambitions led to the arrests.

Winner Honored

Mrs. Aylene Matthews enjoyed a lovely night out with her family as a small token to show their appreciation for the weight she has lost since becoming a member of the Be Wise and Lose Club.

She was awarded $5.00 in cash by the club for losing 11 1/2 pounds in four weeks.

She admits, "This fall I will wear slim fashions only."

The club is inviting all obese ladies to join today. For information call PO3-2931.

AU Given Tanner Painting

Atlanta--(NPI)--Atlanta University has acquired a valuable oil painting by the late Henry O. Tanner, a well-known American artist.

The painting, entitled, "The Two Disciples," is a gift of the children of the late J. J. Haverty, founder of a group of furniture stores.

The gift will be exhibited in the Catherine Hughes Waddell Art gallery, Trevor Arnett library, Atlanta University.

McSurely agreed that he had been "seditious" in going along with Southern injustice until he started to fight it instead.

The other two charged with distributing seditious material are McSurely's pregnant wife, Margaret, 28, and Joseph Mulloy, 23, of Louisville. The McSurleys were held on bond. Mulloy was released.

In a letter from the Pike County Jail, McSurely charged that Commonwealth Atty. Thomas Ratliff, Republican candidate for governor, had broken into his home and taken the material to advance his political ambitions.

NEGRO HISTORY-ART MUSEUM

Chicago--(NPI)--A development, which will provide a new home for a museum of African-American history, is to be constructed by the Central City Development association, according to an announcement made last week. The complex, to cost in the neighborhood of $10 million, will also house a day school, youth center and 300 low-and middle-income housing units. WOULDN'T IT BE NICE

Wouldn't it be nice if it was possible for the Men's Civic and Social Club and Ebony to reopen their books once again and continue where they left off? This could easily be done if some of the MEMBERS would be more interested in the outcome of our city.
