Dunbar Senior, Clarence Ervin, Jr., Attends Boy's State In Austin

Area Day Nursery Reports Openings for Children

Several vacancies for children of working mothers and working families are presently available at the Lubbock Day Nursery Number Three, 2509 Elm Street, according to Mrs. J'Ceal Murphy, head teacher of the United Fund organization.

Most of the year, there is a waiting list at the nursery, but due to school being out and other summertime situations, there is presently no waiting for the enrollment of children. Those enrolled now will be kept on during the school months.

Rates at the nursery are based on family income. Nursery Number Three is the newest in building and facilities of the Lubbock Day Nurseries according to Mrs. Murphy.

Parents wishing to enroll children to fill the present vacancies may go by the nursery at 2509 Elm Avenue, or call SH 4-6726.

FHA Cooperates With President's Council on Youth Opportunity

Glenn Bailey, Director, Federal Housing Administration office in Lubbock, Texas, said this week that his agency, a component of the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, is employing 3 disadvantaged youths.

Summertime employees at the FHA here, are youths who are in attendance at Texas Tech University, who need summer employment to continue their education.

FHA is cooperating with the President's Council on Youth Opportunity in a program to aid disadvantaged youths during the summer.

Visitors in The Hub City

Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Clever—nee Jessie Sneed, both graduates of Dunbar High School, and their four daughters, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sanders and Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Clever, Sr., parents of Mr. Clever.

The girls remained in the Hub City, for an extended vacation,

Clarence L. Ervin, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Ervin, Sr., of 2806 Walnut Avenue was selected to attend the American Legion Texas Boy's State, held on the campus of the University of Texas in Austin, June 7-14, 1969.

Clarence, along with three other boys, was sponsored by the Booker T. Washington Post 808, Harry Bunton, Commander. Boys from all over the state of Texas assembled during this meeting and discussed the various forms of Texas government, and also held city, county and state elections. Guest speakers for the convention were Lt. Governor Ben Barnes, Attorney General Crawford Martin and others. Governor Preston Smith led the boys in 5:30 a.m. exercises during the convention.

Clarence, a member of New Hope Baptist Church where he serves as a member of the Male Usher Board, is president of the National Honor Society, member of the Student Council, Library Club and center of the Dunbar Panthers at Dunbar High School here in Lubbock.

Clarence was honored at Boy's State by receiving a Perfect Attendance Certificate and was elected "Townes City Council," along with receiving a Boy's State Pin.

Edwin Collins, a Negro student, was elected to the highest position in the Boy's State Meeting, "Governor of Boy's State."

City Wide Mission

The City Wide Mission met in the home of Mrs. G. H. Davis last Monday evening at 7:30 p.m. A most enjoyable meeting was held with President Coraine Fair presiding.

Present at this meeting was a distinguished Missionary, Mrs. R. B. Thompson, who brought a most interesting lesson on "Leadership." She gave the difference between a "leader" and a "boss." She went on to make it clear that a "boss" demands things get done while a "leader" will say, "Let's do this." She used St. Luke, 10:29-31 as her scripture.

Another guest was Mrs. Evelyn Junckett, who is a member of the University Baptist Church. She, too, like Mrs. Thompson, is a fine Christian woman who furnished the music for the evening on an old fashion organ which is owned by Mrs. Davis.

Mrs. Davis served a delicious meal for those attending.

Governor's Committee of 500 Begins Work On Campaign for Texas Water Plan

Federal Suit Charges Local Weed-Mowing Contractor

A mowing service contractor, S. Harry Kelsey, has been charged in Lubbock with violation of the minimum wage, overtime pay, and record-keeping provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act.

Attorneys for Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz filed the civil action, asking the court for an injunction to restrain future violations of the Federal law, and to require the payment of back wages found to be due employees.

Defendant Kelsey resides in Lorenzo, but maintains an office at 1414 Avenue J in Lubbock. He owns and operates tractors and mowing equipment for cutting grass and weeds along State, County, and Federal roads under a contract with the Texas Highway Department.

Unless specifically exempt, most employees engaged in interstate commerce are now entitled, under the Federal law, to a minimum hourly wage of $1.60 and to overtime after 40 hours a week of at least 1½ times their regular rate.

Governor Smith said, "This is one of the most important elections in Texas history. It will determine whether or not Texas can act in time to meet the future needs of an adequate water supply."

The Youth Department of the Lubbock Chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) will hold a rummage sale next Friday and Saturday, June 27 and 28th, from 10:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m. at Avenue E and Broadway.

David Sowell is the advisor of this energetic group which is working hard to make a contribution to the City of Lubbock.

Amarillo Concern In U. S. Court Suit

Violation of the overtime-pay provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act is alleged against an Amarillo partnership in a civil injunction suit on file there last week.

Named in the complaint, filed by Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz, was Jerry Wiggins and Delores Wiggins with offices at 3959 Canyon Road in Amarillo.

They are engaged in the heating, air conditioning, and electrical contracting business as the Climate Control Company.

Who Counts, The Taxpayers or the Tax-Takers?

After many, many months and years, and many many bouts between HEW and the local School Board and the local taxpayers, the end may be in sight. The members of the Lubbock School Board will leave this weekend for perhaps a historical trip to Washington, D.C., to do battle with and present their case, to representatives of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) who recently rejected the board's proposal to comply with government regulations.

After many threats from HEW and many attempts to find a reasonable solution, which the local taxpayers and parents would tolerate, our school board decided to leave the school situation the way the blacks, the whites and many of the other taxpaying citizens of this city desired it. This drew a slap on the hand by HEW and the reminder that they could take away our money. Let's hope that "Potomac Fever" doesn't attack our representatives when they reach Washington, and they stay with their original decision.

Admittedly there are improvements needed, in every school in the City of Lubbock, but, as so aptly put by the representative of the Dunbar High School P-TA, "we want our school to remain open!" As this newspaper has so often said, let's be left alone to improve our schools, in our own way and without interference. It has been made perfectly clear to all interested parties that the Negro citizens of the City of Lubbock desire their schools to be left alone—in relation to integration and Federal Control—and be allowed to find ways to upgrade their curriculum to a point that is most satisfactory to them. This we, as citizens of Lubbock, can do much better than anyone who does not live in Lubbock and does not understand the problems or the aspirations of the citizens of Lubbock.

There are empty schools all over West Texas today, which Negro children must walk past to be able to get an education, simply because someone has decided to close—regardless of the hardship imposed upon the black children. This the people in Lubbock, just like the people in other communities, do not want and do not desire, after the citizens have experienced the closing.

The trip to the Capitol City should prove to be most interesting and above all, should certainly spell out to our school board officials what they believe they must do in order to comply with the local situation. It could be that the recent decision in Austin, Texas, could very well play an important part in deciding what the outcome here in Lubbock will be. At any rate, let's hope that the people—citizens, taxpayers, and school people—both students and employees—are considered most carefully before any decision is stuffed down anyone's throat.

Remember this, all the money—every bit—that goes into our school system comes from here, regardless of whether or not we send it to Washington first or whether or not we keep it here in Lubbock to run our schools as we see fit with it. After all, who counts, "the taxpayers or the tax-takers?"

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin—Gov. Preston Smith plans to answer the state's big money question Friday (June 20).

He is expected to announce on a statewide television hookup whether he will veto the Legislature's one-year budget bill and if so, when the special session to mop-up the unfinished finance job will be scheduled.

At noon the following day, the Governor will present further views on the subject when he addresses the 90th Annual Summer Convention of the Texas Press Association at Saturday's luncheon at the Inn of Six Flags in Arlington.

Fate of the $60.4 million teacher pay raise hangs delicately in the financial balance which Smith can tip in several directions with a flick of his veto pen.

State officials are having a hard time agreeing on just how much money is coming in during the next year—and whether there will be enough for both the salary hike and the $2.8 billion one-year budget.

As though the situation was not complicated already, Smith could throw it out of balance by vetoing any one—or more—of five revenue-raising bills before him. Or he could square it up again by line-item-vetoing of spending proposals.

He can, of course, veto the entire one-year bill and call legislators back to work promptly on a two-year budget. Many expect him to do just that.

Bills Challenged—Governor Smith left up in the air the fate of 41 bills and 13 concurrent resolutions passed at the last minute by the recent Legislature. He challenged their validity on two counts.

Smith said the measures—one of which created 28 new district courts—were not signed in the presence of the House and the Senate by the lieutenant governor and the speaker as required by the constitution. He contended that they were signed after the Legislature already had gone home. In addition, they reached him seven days later than they should.

A thorough study will be made of their legal status before he acts, pledged Smith. Legislative leaders contend that a logjam of bills caused processing delays that are commonplace at the end of sessions. They say that other governors have not complained.

Education—Twenty-three college and university educators from around the state have sent Governor Smith a letter asking that he not veto the bill that will increase the cost of education to students by $10.00 a semester. They are the presidents and chancellors of the various state supported schools. They point out that vetoing the bill will cost the state $4 million a year.

State Board of Education has appointed fifteen representatives from the state's educational profession—including college administrators, classroom teachers, superintendents and principals—to a commission to study standards for the preparation of school administrators. Appointments are for two years and the group is charged with finding ways to train the people who will eventually run the school systems.

Governor Smith has announced the establishment of three continuous programs of meetings and conferences with high school, college and non-student young people in order to gain "positive understanding and solution to the main problems facing our state".

These three new organizations include: the Governor's Conference of College Leaders, to consist of college and university student body presidents and other campus leaders; the Governor's Hall of Honor of the Texas Youth Conference, made up of all presidents of major high school youth organizations in the state; and a Governor's Council on Young People, concentrating on out-of-school young people, emphasizing career problems and an understanding of the democratic system.

Boy's State, sponsored by the American Legion, and Girl's State, sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary, both aimed at teaching top high school students the ways of Texas government on a "learn by doing" theory, held their annual meet-

The East Los Angeles Labor Community Action Committee, backed by the Auto Workers, and the American Jewish Committee have organized a joint project to work with disadvantaged Mexican-American youngsters. Last year the program sent 150 area boys to summer camp and helped set up "big-brother" relationships with fatherless boys.

Unions and Southern civil rights leaders are teaming up for new gains. The South Carolina Labor Council and the Southern Christian Leadership Conference are backing more than 500 striking workers, mostly Negro, in a strike against two of the largest hospitals in Charleston, S. C. In Selma, Ala., the International Ladies Garment Workers signed up 400 of the 416 (nearly all Negro) workers of a women's sportswear firm. When the company responded to a strike by hiring a whole new work force, the union recruited those workers too. White workers joined Negroes on integrated picket lines. The owners sold out to a Texas firm, which quickly recognized the union.

Show Me

"Show me a stewardess who starts taking off her clothes as the plane approaches the airport," says Jerome Beatty in the Saturday Review, "and I'll show you a landing strip."

Warning

Statistics are marvelous things. After Khrushchev revealed the evil crimes committed by Stalin, it is reported, he decided to remove Stalin's body from the Kremlin and bury it on foreign soil. He tried to drop it in the United States, says Aaron Levenstein, but President Eisenhower warned him that would mean war. Frustrated, Khrushchev got in touch with Premier David Ben Gurion of Israel and said, "I'm not asking you, I'm telling you, that a Soviet MIG is going to dump Stalin's body in the Negev and I want no back talk."

Ben Gurion gave him this sofe answer. "We want no trouble with you. If you want to place Stalin's body here, okay with us. But I have to warn you that statistically our country has the greatest rate of resurrections in the world."

First Strike?

Last December I reported that labor historian David Saposs had discovered that Charleston's Negro sweeps were the first workmen in America to strike.

It 1761, said contemporary records, the sweeps "had the insolence" to refuse to work "unless their exorbitant demands were complied with."

Now there's a new contender for the title. United Steel Workers' President I. W. Abel told a Polish American Day celebration in Pittsburgh that "Poles conducted the first strike in America—in 1619 in the colony of Virginia. . . when the governor denied some of the inhabitants the right of representation. They decided to stop working until the injustices were corrected."

Decisions, Decisions

Paul Steiner is full of important legal information:

Paper cigar bands will do as rings to perform a legal marriage ceremony—Brooklyn Supreme Court Justice Nathan Sobel.

If part of a home is in one township and part in another, and garbage-collecting agencies cannot agree on who is to collect the garbage, then the agencies are entitled to equal shares of the garbage—Watford, Eng. authorities.

Drive-ins may not show nude-type films that can be seen from the road because this constitutes a hazard to motorists—Fort Worth, Tex. City Council.

Along Freedom Road

Minorities are gaining in insurance jobs in New York. New York Life Insurance Company reported last month that 18 per cent of its white collar personnel in New York—1,102 positions—were held by Negroes and Puerto Ricans, more than double such posts held in 1964. New York Life and three other companies, Metropolitan Life, Equitable Life and Mutual Life, have employed 66 Negroes as management trainees and in management jobs, and have expanded recruitment efforts in Negro colleges.

Police Beat

What Have You Done Lately?

This column can't help but ask the question, "what have we done as parents in the past week to make the situation more constructive for our young people?" Let's hope that we are beginning to add something at home for our young people. Believe it if you want to, they really need it.

I'm sure that we are thinking about doing something, if we have not done anything at the present time, to make our young people more comfortable.

Theft

Andrew Len, 813 David Street, reported to the Lubbock Police Department that someone stole his eight-month old German Shepard puppy.

According to Andrew, the dog was chained to a steel stake in the back yard. He said that the stake was still there, but the dog was gone.

Andrew would appreciate it if the person who is playing with his puppy would bring it back to him.

Aggravated Assault

A mother of the neighborhood reported to the Police that a seventeen year old girl had attacked her daughter with a knife, thus leaving the daughter with a one inch wound on the forearm.

She told the police that she knew where the girl lived who did the cutting and would be willing to file charges.

This is an example of what we are saying from time to time in this column. Just as we have attempted to say this week; "What have you done lately?" to help these young people. This type of aggravated assault should not be happening in our neighborhood. This is really not our "bag."

Theft of Bike

Hosea Horiel, 1008 Zenith Avenue, reported to the Lubbock Police Department that someone took from his garage his bike.

The bike, which is red in color, is valued at $70.00. He had no idea who could have taken his bike.

Mae Simmons Swimming Concession Broken Into

It was reported by James Price, manager of Mae Simmons Swimming Pool, that someone broke into the building at 600 Weber Avenue by cutting a wire ceiling which covered the ladies dressing room at the swimming pool.

After entry the unknown person or persons broke into the candy machine and took an undetermined amount of candy and money.

at Carter Chapel Church in Lubbock recently, said that the Negro Church has lost its relevancy to the needs and interest of youth. Supervised recreation and increased fellowship and participation in all phases of church life were called for now if youth is to seek any further involvement in church life.

Dr. Poling concludes: "Many ordained clergymen . . . rather than seeking an appointment to a traditional parish experience are looking for employment in secular fields, reaching for freedom and independence. . . As the mood expands, it will not be uncommon to discover clergymen active in business, government and education positions—and also eager to teach a Bible class, visit the hospitals and be available for supply preaching."

Bonhoeffer sums up the problem: "The church is her true self when she exists for humanity. As a fresh start she should give away

Wife Says Husband Broke Into Her House

A local wife told police that her ex-husband had come to her front door one night last week and wanted to come in. She told him she was not going to let him in.

The man refused to listen to her so she stepped out the back door—leaving the kids behind—to call the police.

As the police arrived, the lady was coming back with her father. She told the case to the officers.

It was learned that the ex-husband had apparently kicked the door in and damaged the front door screen in gaining entry to the residence. The wife, however, did miss $10.00 from her purse which she believed that the excited ex-husband could have taken.

all her endowments to the poor and needy and the clergy should live solely on the free-will offerings of the congregations. The church must take part in the social life of the world, nor lording it over men but helping and serving them," end of quote.

There is much rejoicing and back-slapping in the Permian Basin over the Texas Legislature creating a University of Texas of the Permian Basin—a dream of many years coming true. Congrats to Senator W. E. "Pete" Snelson, Reps. Tom Craddick, Ace Pickens and Dick Slack who all worked hard.

Ringling The Bell

With Bob Tieuel

Guilty or Not: The Nebraska Conference of the United Methodist Church meeting in Omaha, Nebraska recently acknowledged "the church's guilt" in supporting "discriminatory structures in our society" but declined the "demand of certain of our black brethren for financial reparations."

The attainment of economic and political power by all minority groups, including the Indian, the Mexican-American and the rural white poor was called a legitimate goal deserving the support of the church. The conference was under the chairmanship of Bishop Noah W. Moore, Jr., resident bishop of the denomination in Nebraska and the first black bishop to head the predominately white Nebraska United Methodists.

Bleed Sheep—Mrs. Walter Lovell, widow of the late editor of the A.M.E. Zion "Star of Zion," official organ of the denomination said recently that it looked as though the administration in the church of which she is a member, was bleeding rather than feeding the sheep. Needless to say, she did not remain at the post long.

Discrimination in Housing: Miss Virginia Marshall of 407 Benton Street, Midland, recently received a letter from Sherwood Shores IX of Clarendon, Texas soliciting the purchase of a lot on that "beautiful spring fed Greenbelt Lake." In the letter a portion read: "After claiming your lot, you will be issued membership cards . . . Sherwood Shores IX will not be open to the

"Soul Agents" Considered On Their Way

In the vanguard of a sweeping restyling of popular music was a remarkable local group called "Emma and the Soul Agents." In June of 1968, only one year after hearing of the greatest emergence of the blues in recent pop music history, this group was formed.

It was back in 1967, a year in which rhythm and blues became the music of the charts, that "soul music" became the popular music of America.

Since June of 1968, many songs have been sung and many notes played over the small force of instruments this group uses. Today something new is going for this group, including a new billing, as they now refer to themselves as "The Soul Agents."

Jackie Clark—the man who remains in the background as the group does their "thing"—admits that the group was organized because there was not enough capable groups in the city who could play soul music. "There was talent in our community and I decided to find it," he related.

"Although these young people are in school, they still need something to do and at the same time make money to meet their needs," he added.

There are six members of the group, two of which were with the original organization. They are Buddy Smith, drummer; Jackie Lawrence Clark, guitar; Norman Garrett, saxophone, male vocalist and writer; Tony Garza, guitar; and Shirley and Theolia English-known to many as the English Sisters.

Theolia had never sung with a dance band before coming to the group, yet at the present time, the sound from these young ladies is one which many look forward to hearing each time the group performs.

The energetic group started with only two amplifiers and a guitar, but now have approximately $10,000 worth of equipment. This explains in more ways than one that they are a going group.

They have recently recorded several sounds which have been released to several national recording companies for consideration by their producer, Sounds Unlimited Recording Company of Lubbock.

The versatility of the group is much more than some people expect. Several months ago when they were booked by an agent in the city, they went to the engagement expecting to play soul music only to be instructed upon arrival to "play Country and Western." They did and were a solid hit for the four hours they performed.

"We have performed in approximately 300 bookings since our beginning. We got our start by performing for free at the Glass Hat. Now we are unable to meet the response of the people since three of our musicians are in high school," states Jackie.

"There is absolutely no telling what the potential of this close knit organization who work six hard-working James Brown hours each week," he went on to add, "With this type of work, we are able to discipline ourselves in more ways than one."

Some of the places this group have performed during the past year have been Lubbock Country Club, Pioneer Hotel, Palm Room, American Legion and many of the local clubs.

As a matter of fact, the group took to the road last Friday for a show in Fort Worth to help open an elaborate night club in that city. The following night, Saturday, the group was at the American Legion in a "Concert Dance" for its many fans.

My first cry was undulatingly wailed on June 2, 1955 in a Natchez, Mississippi hospital. Since then, my life has been a merry-go-round of ecstasy, suspense and variety. In addition to Texas, I have lived abroad and on the West Coast in a space of 14 years. Be-

Amarillo—We are happy to announce the opening of the Summer Educational and Recreation Program in all four of the Neighborhood Centers. This we feel will be a summer that will long be remembered by the participants and staff of the centers.

It is our hope that you will take advantage of the programs being offered. The best way to do so is to come by your local center and see what they have to offer.

I would like to inform you that your child must be a participant in the center's activities to be eligible to attend the YMCA Day Camp, so send your boys to the center so that they may take advantage of this golden opportunity.

They plan to spend the last part cause every day of my life is exciting. I rarely discuss colorful events of my lifetime.

I am motivated by inspiration. Inspiration from a cloud, a writer, a dream, a situation, a friend, a prayer. When I first began writing, it was from boredom. My writing was like the elusive butterflies of daydreams with little direction or appeal. However, I learned that no good writer only mediocre ones exist without inspiration.

Now, I am looking forward to touching life boldly with my writing. I feel that the art to creative writing is one of the most universally appreciated and communicative forms of art. It is an art form that never grows outdated, but becomes more warmly endeared and readily understood with age. It is like the timetable of civilization noting individuals with a personal air though it is everlasting and fluid in its many approaches. And so, I would choose writing as a lifetime because I want to be remembered by great men when all but time and ideals are obsolete.

Here is a poem by this young artist:

Dear Bob:

"In further reply to your letter of complaints from readers here is the additional information you asked for;

"First, we are an equal opportunity employer. On April 8, 1969, our company had five (5) black office and clerical employees, seven (7) semi-skilled employees, and seven (7) service employees. These are included in a total of forty-one (41) minority group employees scattered throughout our system. At present we have no black employees in Midland. There are two in Odessa.

"Now, as to the possibility of black meter readers, you should first understand that "meter reader" is not an entry job with us—in fact, it's several steps up the ladder from entry. All of our present meter readers have come from entry jobs over the years. I would say that as our black employees obtain the necessary experience and qualifications so as to be senior qualified men, they are offered these jobs as they become available. West Behtel Baptist Church of Rule and Union Chapel Baptist Church of Rochester, along with others are programmed for Wednesday, June 25. These services are leading up to the "Home Coming," July 19-20, at the Independent Baptist Church.

Mrs. O. T. Jackson, president of the Missionary Society has announced that they are also making plans for "Mission Week" at Hopewell Baptist.

It seems that we are having quite a lot of wasp stinging in Haskell. Because we do not have the necessary information we need about stings and bites that we usually get during the summer months, we urge that you contact your doctors and health clinics for this information. Some stings and bites can be very dangerous if not looked after in time. Maybe someone will see the dire necessity of a "First Aid Course." It would help very much in this case and many others.

Mr. Roosevelt Brown is home from the Hendrick Hospital after having surgery on his eye.

The city has done some special work out in this addition but we're hoping to get other work done that is very needed. The project movement will involve at least four things: homely interest, thinking, planning and working together.

world. This is a larger task than the Church has ever had strength or faithfulness in itself to accomplish. The primary strength through the work of his Holy Spirit.

On the other hand, this mission does require faithful use of such gifts and strength as God has given the Church. Having made us participants in his redemption activity, he calls us to grow in our understanding of the mission and of the world into which he sends us. And though the commission to preach the gospel is always the same, our understanding to what that means and how to do it is always fresh and new, both because of our understanding and commitment are never complete and because the world of which we are a part is ever changing.

Covenant's Presuppositions About Mission

The church's mission is defined by two givens: The word of God (in all its dimensions); The world which is the object of His love. It is God who brings the Church into being. It is the world which sets the agenda for the church's work. The church's mission is, as it has always been, to proclaim and bear witness to the fact that Jesus Christ is Lord and Savior of all. The proclamation is about this gospel; it is to the world.

The church is to bear witness to this Lordship in any way that demonstrates it in actual life, in any way that raises the issues which that Lordship and Saviorhood involve.

It is the church's business to find ways to demonstrate that Lordship and raise those issues in every area of life, public and private, where human welfare and community are at stake. Where the expression of God's will is at stake.

The Covenant church must bear this witness, make this proclamation, carry out this mission in these general ways:

By being immersed in the life of the community (both large and small); By knowing what its needs and aspirations are; How its institutions function; Where its power is and how it is used; Who its real leaders and decision makers are; What its deficiencies and strengths are; By seeking God's will for the community; By helping to call all the agencies and instruments of the community to responsible discharge of responsibility for the common good; By bearing and protesting the suffering of those oppressed by economic forces, by years of deprivation, by discrimination, or by any arrangement which violates persons individually or collectively; By being where the oppressed are; By making common cause with them; By Direct service or ministries of compassion and healing.

By maintaining a Christian community or congregation for mission, sion, made possible and sustained by nurture, worship and teaching.

More specific the above illustrate the plight of many people in our community and in our nation who do not enjoy the privileges and protection guaranteed by our laws to all except aliens and below. Those who are victims of discrimination in the bore, exercise of their right and who are, therefore, thrust into crippling circumstances remain powerless to remedy their deficiencies. Such people can be described as "second class citizens."

To this end Covenant will call its people to really be a real witness in classes, in direct work in the community in being with these people, and making common cause with them. Working for the community; in giving them a sense of belonging. The total worth of life in the community. Work with the Community Action Board in pushing the Block Concept. Work in every area to give the people of Northeast Lubbock a dignity of their own.

With the aid of Audi-Visual education; Relating to the Youth of the Community on their level; To gear the church into the modern changing society; Work with the community in achieving their goals in education, health, and welfare.

Planning and organization carried on unilaterally by the established community on behalf of its low-status people has somehow failed to produce satisfactory solutions to the difficult problems of social change that face most of our communities today. Therefore the Covenant church has set its goal as being the church, not Black or White or Mexican-American but the Church relating to the problems and the concerns of the people in Northeast Lubbock and in Lubbock proper and the world.
