

Four Feminine Stars Merge Talents In Romantic Story

'Ladies In Love' Will Play At Ritz Today and Monday

Following the recent Hollywood custom of packing a cast with stellar names, Twentieth-Century Fox brings together four of the higher ranking feminine stars in the production, "Ladies In Love," which headlines the Ritz theatre's program for Sunday and Monday.

The stars are Janet Gaynor, Loretta Young, Constance Bennett and Simone Simon. Appearing with them are Don Ameche, Tyrone Power, Jr., Paul Lukas and Alan Mowbray.

With a setting in Budapest, "Ladies In Love," deals with the romantic experiences of three girls who live together and a fourth who enters the love game as a competitor with one of the other three.

Janet, Loretta and Constance, modern, hard-working young ladies, pool their resources to take an apartment together, and share with each other their ideals in romance and matrimony. Simone is a younger girl who enters into the picture to attract the man whom Constance admires.

All the girls do not succeed in their love affairs. To two come happiness, to the others disappointment, but all in some measure, succeed in making their dreams of real romance come true.

Janet, employed by a young doctor, eventually manages to find happiness with him. Loretta loses the man of her dreams to another girl, and Constance is deserted by the man for whom she holds affection when he turns to Simone.

The story is a study in the problems of romance faced by sensible

Plays With Sylvia Sidney In Powerful Dramatic Story, 'Fury'

Voted by newspaper writers who cover the Hollywood scene as the best piece of film acting of the last year is the work of Spencer Tracy in "Fury," a gripping drama which returns here for a showing at the Queen theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

The story, in which Tracy and Sylvia Sidney are co-starred, is a hard-hitting depiction of lawlessness in America. Tracy and Miss Sidney are a typical American couple planning to marry. Through a series of unusual incidents, he is arrested as a suspect in a community where a kidnaping has just occurred, and circumstantial evidence blackens his case. Rumor spread and trouble-makers in the town stir up a demonstration that ends in a furious attack on the prison where Tracy is being held.

The mob, in a frenzy when balked in its efforts to get the prisoner, fires the jail. But fate takes a hand and, guided by the vengeful spirit of Tracy and his two younger brothers, relentlessly pursues the men and women responsible for the mob violence on carefully concocted evidence. Twenty are convicted.

The denouement in the courtroom reaches an emotional tension seldom equaled in motion pictures.

SINGING COWBOY HERE IN PERSON

The cowboy entertainer who combines singing with his hard riding and straight shooting, Gene Autry of the movies, is on his way to Big Spring to appear personally on the Ritz stage with his educated horse, Champion, and a large company of western entertainers. Autry, one of the popular western players of filmdom, a star of the radio and maker of hundreds of photograph records, will be here on Friday, one day only. He is on a personal appearance tour following the completion of several new western films. Frankie Marvin, cowboy comedian, is among the members of Autry's stage troupe. . . .

DELEGATES TO BTU MEET TO BE GUESTS AT HARDIN-SIMMONS

ABILENE, Nov. 21.—More than a hundred of the delegates to the state B. T. U. convention in session Thursday, Friday and Saturday will be guests of Hardin-Simmons resident students, Dean R. A. Collins reported today. Students living in Mary Frances, Ferguson and Spith halls voted in called meetings last week to contribute what bedding and linens they could spare to make visiting young people comfortable. Beds for the convention delegates will be placed in the students' studies since enrollment this year left very few vacancies.

Other convention activities involving Hardin-Simmons university are the music festival in the university auditorium Wednesday night, ushered by the famous Cowgirl organization for all convention assemblies, and the inter-sectional gridiron battle Friday afternoon between Cowboys and Morningside college from Sioux City, Ia.

The Cowboy Band and other student musical groups will contribute to the Wednesday night concert.

A net of approximately $160 was realized from an auction sale staged Friday night at Knott, the affair being held to raise funds for the purchase of lights for the school's new gymnasium. Sponsors of the affair expressed appreciation to merchants and patrons for their contributions.

School work is progressing nicely at Knott, Supl. H. F. Railsback reports. Enrollment is now 270. Classes will be dismissed Thursday and Friday, since many of the teachers plan to attend the state teachers' association convention at Fort Worth.

Members of the senior class met Friday and selected their class ring. Pictures of the group were taken.

Popular Dancing Romancers Furnish Gayety In Film, 'Top Hat'

One of the gayer of the famously popular Fred Astaire-Ginger Rogers productions, "Top Hat," comes to the Lyric theatre for three days beginning Sunday for a return showing here. The picture, one of the dance team's best, is featured by outstanding music by Irving Berlin, the numbers including "No Strings," "Top Hat," "Check One Check," "Isn't This a Lovely Day," "Get Thee Behind Me, Satan," and "Picoilino."

The latter number serves to introduce a complicated dance routine of the same name which Astaire and Miss Rogers offer as a sequel to such dances as the Carioca and the Continental. Blending romance with gay comedy, "Top Hat" tells an amusing story. Jerry Travers and Dale Tremont, Americans, meet in London, in a novel manner. It's a case of love at first sight for Jerry and he is not long in swaying Dale to his viewpoint. But through a natural mistake, the girl comes to believe that Jerry is the husband of her best friend; and then things happen, fast and funny.

Attractive settings are provided for the picture, scenes being laid in London and on the Lido. Splendid support is accorded by a comedy cast. It includes Helen Broderick, Edward Everett Horton, Erick Rhodes and Eric Blore.

And, of course, with all the romance and comedy there are the numerous attractive dances of the two high-steppers, and a profusion of good music.

Kryl Concert Big Event Of Music Year

Famed Cornet Virtuoso To Bring Symphony Orchestra Here Friday

BOHUMIR KRYL Conductor Kryl Symphony Orchestra

Ranked as the outstanding musical event of the year for Big Spring is the appearance, at the municipal auditorium Friday night, of Bohumir Kryl's symphony orchestra, one of the nation's most distinctive organizations of its type. To concert will be given here under auspices of the Big Spring high school municipal band.

The Kryl organization, on a nation-wide tour, is playing generally only in larger cities and in college towns. Kryl has an organization of artists and fine musicians, but the conductor himself comes in for much of the spotlight of the program. One of the "giants" of the present-day music world, Kryl started his career with the study of the violin, became the master of several instruments, and today composes his interest to the cornet. He is one of the world's great cornet virtuosos, and his solos are hailed as among the best features of his programs.

Kryl goes in for variety on his program. His experiments in employing both color and contrast in his brilliant interpretations of the works of the great masters are sometimes startling and unusual, but they are always pleasing.

Fortune In Gems Stolen

Woman Bound As Four Masked Men Raid Her Household

SOUTHBORO, Mass., Nov. 21 (UP)—Four masked robbers who invaded the home of millionaire William Kennedy, bound his wife and a servant, and escaped with $113,800 in jewelry, were highly skilled jewel thieves likely to attempt more coups, police decided today in watching the wealthy to put their jewelry in bank vaults. Kennedy, a Boston clothier, left his large, luxurious home last night to go to Boston. Mrs. Kennedy was reading in her study. Emma Green, her negro maid, answered the door bell. Four masked, armed men walked in. The maid was driven to the study where she and Mrs. Kennedy were bound to chairs.

"Aren't you ashamed of yourselves?" Mrs. Kennedy asked. "Yes," one of the bandits replied. "But I'm married and times are tough. But never mind about that. Are there any jewels in the house?" "No."

The bandit leader took $450 from a desk Mrs. Kennedy designated. The leader instructed his men to search the great house, and presently, three of them came back lugging a 300 pound safe they had found in one of the bedrooms. Mrs. Kennedy was freed and told to open it. She was afraid to refuse or to feign ignorance, and conformed. Inside was the fortune in jewels.

The leader and his men inspected their haul admiringly and the leader held out his gloved hand to their victim. "You're the gamest dame I ever met," he said. Mrs. Kennedy took his hand, then was rebound to the chair. Two hours later she wiggled free of her bonds and summoned her gardener who called police.

Republicans' Chief Need Is For A Leader

Ten Million Voters Left To Form Nucleus Of A Major Party

By BYRON PRICE (Chief of AP Bureau, Washington)

While it is only natural that the floodlights of publicity should center now on the democrats, and make news of their every activity, no wise student of politics will lose sight entirely of what happens during the coming months among the republicans.

The democratic victory was tremendous. Its magnitude grows as it is viewed in retrospect, as its implications become plainer. Yet it was not, after all, unanimous. The opposition was shown of its prestige and most of its public offices, but both numerically and spiritually, the losses fell far short of annihilation.

More than sixteen millions voted with the loser. Some of them unquestionably were taking only temporary shelter in the republican party. The number of those, conservative both the holding democrats and the various leftist factions, which could not accept Mr. Roosevelt, never will be known exactly although it must have been considerable. Allowing even six millions as an outside estimate, more than ten millions would be left to be counted as out-and-out republicans.

That is, indeed, a respectable nucleus for a political party. On no account can it be reckoned a negligible force in American public opinion. With effective leadership its possibilities would be almost unlimited. With effective leadership—but that's the rub.

Four Divisions

As matters stand today, it would require far more than the space available to survey all of the elements which share in the control and conduct of the republican party. Four principal groups, however, are worth special mention.

1. The old guard. Repudiated and discredited in the eyes of many party men, the old guard still is a long way from extinction. In a surprising number of important states, it either controls or strongly influences the state organization. Never having accepted fully either the Hoover leadership or the Landon leadership, it unquestionably dreams now of returning glory.

2. The western liberals. Their party influence is less than formerly, since many of their number evidently have withdrawn from the party for good. Those remaining—such figures as Borah, McNary and Johnson—nevertheless hold a power which cannot be discounted. Incidentally, they constitute the most numerous group of surviving republican officeholders after two democratic land-slides.

3. The Hoover element. That the only living ex-president still hopes for a return to party authority is doubted by few in inner political circles. It is no secret that many of his friends—and he built up a far-flung organization while he was president—accepted the Landon candidacy reluctantly and never completely recognized the Landon leadership.

4. The Landon bloc. Spreading

End Hearing In Green Case

Estate Matter Will Be Re-summed Dec. 2; Five States Involved

NEW YORK, Nov. 21 (UP)—Court counsel and principals took recess today in the hearing involving disposition of the late Col. E. H. R. Green's $70,000,000 estate, including fine jewels he bought from wealthy persons who wished to avoid patronizing pawn shops in the depression.

These treasures with many rare stamps and coins, were found after the colonel's death in small filing and packing cases with only a lock or two as safety devices to prevent their theft.

After hearing testimony for three days, Surrogate Harry E. Owen ordered a recess yesterday to Dec. 2 and debated with lawyers on new maneuvers that might bring five states into the case and settle the point as to the colonel's legal residence.

Only New York and Massachusetts actually have signified intention of claiming his domicile in the present action with the hope of collecting inheritance taxes.

Vermont, Florida and Texas are considered possible other claimants. They may seek or decline the jurisdiction of New York courts. The petitioner, Mrs. Mabel Harlow Green, Col. Green's widow, wants to bring the matter down to Texas.

Texas law holds invalid an agreement she signed shortly before her marriage in 1916, in which she waived her rights to the Green estate. She contends she did that unknowingly, in the belief that it was merely an agreement for "pin money," an $18,000 life annuity.

ATTENDANCE AT THE CENTENNIAL MAY GO TO 6 1/2 MILLION

DAALLAS, Nov. 21 (UP)—The Texas Centennial exposition began today the observance of prosperity week with officials predicting the attendance would reach 6,200,000 by the end of the remaining nine days of the fair.

Yesterday's 28,279 visitors increased the total to 6,024,401. Today was CCC day, Kidd-Key Day and New Mexico day.

Its influence from Kansas, it now has titular control of the party machinery nationally—an important consideration. It apparently has no intention of letting go in the near future.

Chance for New Leader Is it possible to conceive of any one of these various elements providing the sort of leadership the party will need in 1940 if it is to win?

In these times, it is hard to imagine any republican hope of victory under the old guard. Equally, in view of past antagonisms, an effective leader of the Borah type is difficult to envisage. And if either Mr. Hoover or Mr. Landon emerged as high commander of the party four years hence, after all that has happened, it would constitute a reversal of all of the lessons of political history.

The one alternative is new leadership entirely. It would seem that an opportunity seldom entailed in American politics is waiting for someone. With better than ten millions of votes to start with, the right sort of forceful personality might easily build for himself a mighty political empire. Will such a personality appear?

Eldridge, Johnny Horstman and Jack Ciacalone. It was a real work-out. The lads put everything they had behind their punches and only the fact that they all wore the big training mitts prevented serious results.

The champion looks as though he is getting bigger and stronger by the minute. He has lost none of the aggressiveness that brought him to the top, nor has he lost any speed. He goes about his chores with an air of confidence.

"Naturally, the championship has given me new confidence and all that sort of thing," Lou admitted. "After all I took the title from Tony Canzoneri and in my book Tony is one of the greatest lightweights who ever pulled on a glove."

Aspires To New Honors
"It's great fun, this being able to write champion after your name. But a fellow can't rest on his laurels—not in this game. That's why I am anxious to go to work."

Winning the lightweight title has aroused new ambitions in Ambers' breast. He has his heart set on winning the welterweight title which now rests on Barney Ross' brow. Perhaps the fact that he has been growing and may have some doubts as to his ability to keep on making the lightweight limit of 135 pounds has something to do with it. At any rate, he is ambitious.

It is sort of refreshing to see the way this 22-year-old youngster enjoys his title. He makes no bones about it. He glories in it. And watching him strut, one can hardly help hoping that he enjoys the thrill for a long time. After all, he earned it the hard way, and mainly through his own perseverance and efforts.

Ran Away From Home
Ambers was born Luigi D'Ambrasia and is one of a family of 10 children. He had to go to work in a furniture factory at the age of 15 to help support his brothers and sisters. His father operated a tavern, but the business went to smash when prohibition came along. To make matters worse Papa D'Ambrasia took sick and died, leaving the brood without funds. For a time Lou was the sole support of the family.

About the time he went to work in the factory he began boxing. Acting as sparring partner for some of the fighters near his home he picked up considerable knowledge of the ring game. Before long he decided to try his hand in actual combat. It was no easy task for the unknown youngster to get a chance, but, after many disappointments, he found a big-hearted promoter who paid him the grand sum of $7—all in cash—for a fight. Seven dollars was a lot of money to Lou in those days, so on his way home to turn over the money to his mother he decided to make a career of boxing. His mother objected so strenuously that he decided there was nothing he could do but leave home and take his chances in the outside world.

There must have been many, many times when he felt that he had made a mistake in rushing off so suddenly, for the road to ring fame was a hard one. He made his way as best he could, hitch-hiking and riding the freight trains. His reception in the big cities was anything but warm. A little thing like missing an occasional meal was not so bad, but when it became a general thing, even to the extent of going without food for three days—it became a serious matter.

ILLINI ROUT CHICAGO, 18-7

CHICAGO, Nov. 21 (AP)—Illinois came from behind in a thrill-packed fourth period and defeated Chicago, 18-7, before 20,000 spectators today.

Lineups: Big Spring—McCloughle, Kauch, Hildreth, Rayburn, c., Wilson, rg., Harris, rt., Smith, re., Madison, qb., Wood, lb., Henninger, rb., Burrus, fb.

Officials: Bugs Morris referee, R. M. Medley umpire, Tonto Coleman, head linesman.

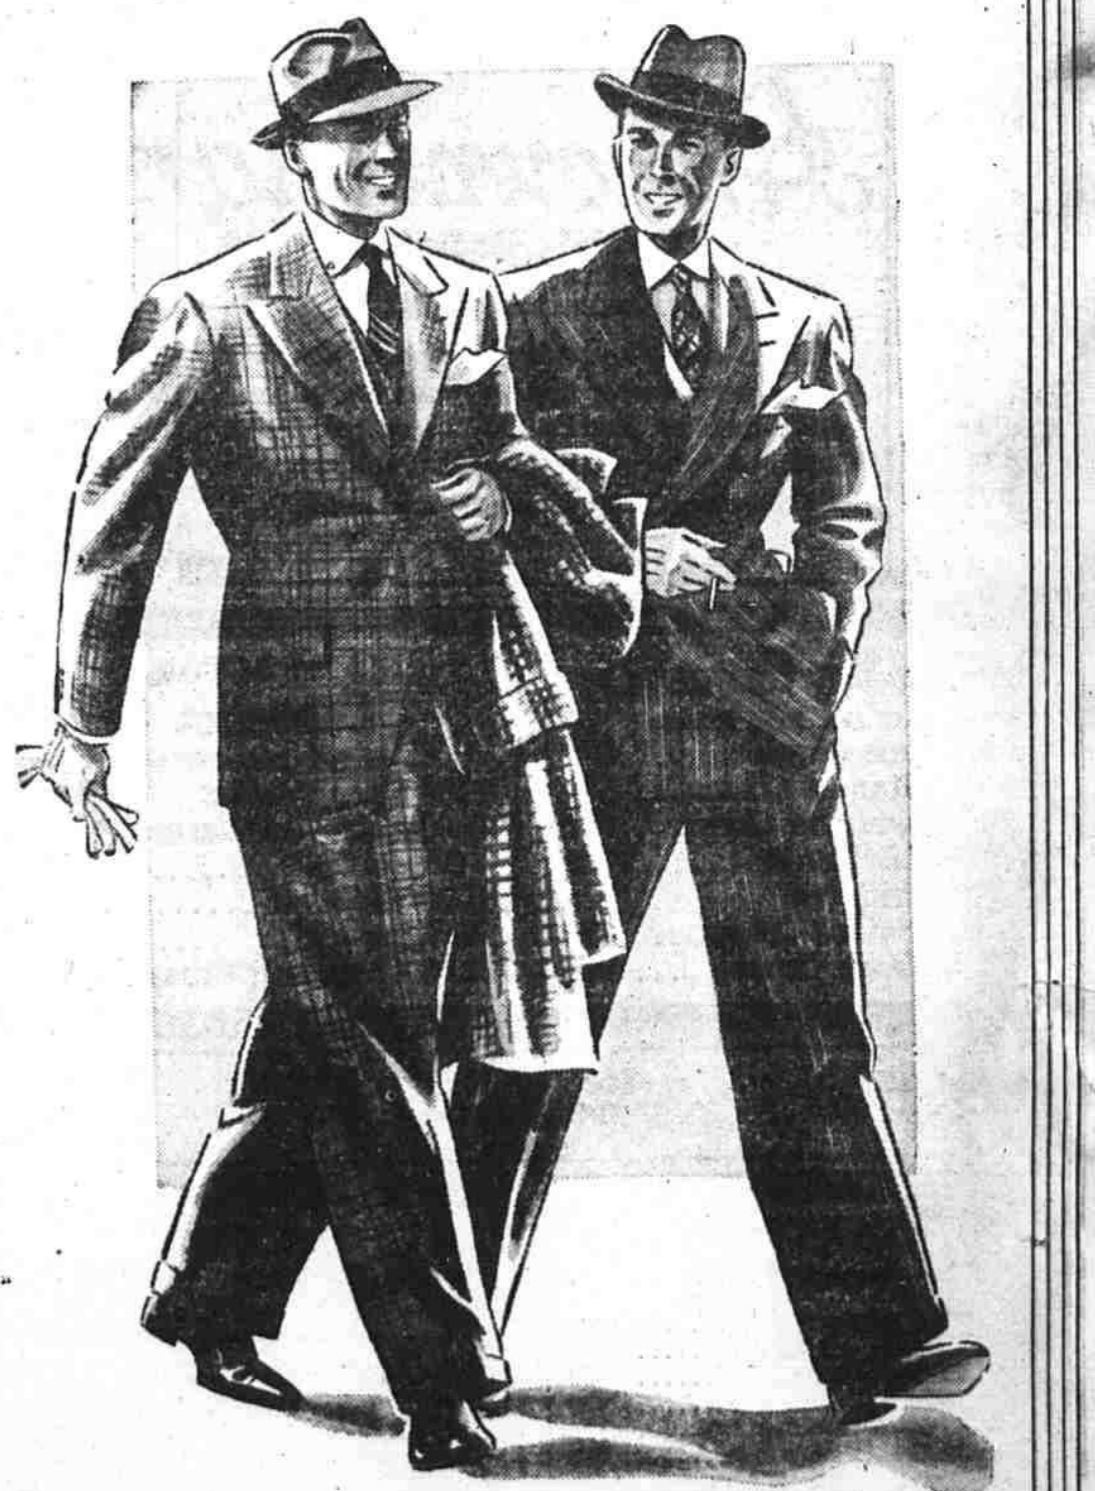

After the Steers had worked the ball to midfield and Harris had booted out of bounds on the Eagle 25, Abilene made a touchdown drive. Kimbrough made a long lunge to the 25, Herman drove over center to the one, and then Kimbrough plunged for the tally. He failed to kick the point.

Late in the initial stanza the Eagles started another drive but it bogged down on the Big Spring 37. Herman and Kimbrough had difficulty gaining, being tackled hard by Wilson and Harris. Steers took the ball and started back up field. With the ball resting on the Big Spring 32, fourth down, Madison took a chance and drove to the Abilene 38 for a first down as the quarter ended.

Not long after Beam started another successful Eagle drive by returning a punt to the Big Spring 43. Herman went over center to the 32 for a first down and Kimbrough went to the 24. Madison ran Herman out of bounds on the four-yard line and Kimbrough scored over tackle to make the count 20-7.

Kimbrough, with his face bleeding, was taken from the game, and a few minutes later the stage was set for another Eagle touchdown when Madison fumbled on the 19 and a guard recovered for Abilene. On three plays Herman drove to the goal line and Beam scored on a wide end run.

The Universal Car Broadens Its Field with New Economy and THE LOWEST PRICE IN YEARS

For more than thirty years Ford has been "The Universal Car." And the name takes on a new meaning for 1937, with the addition of a 60-horsepower V-8 engine to the Ford line.

The new "60" makes possible the lowest Ford price in years, and brings smooth, dependable V-8 performance within the reach of more people than ever before. It means also a choice of two V-type 8-cylinder engine sizes. 85 horsepower for maximum performance. 60 horsepower for maximum economy. Both engines are built into the same big body size.

The "60" is a replica of its brilliant older brother, except in size, weight and power. It was first developed for England and France, where fuel costs are high. Two years in service there have proved that it creates an entirely new standard of modern motoring economy.

If you want a big car for a small budget—a car you can own with pride and drive with pleasure—ask the nearest Ford dealer to show you the new car with the new engine.

BASE PRICES $480 AND UP—At Dealer Plant Taxes, Delivery and Handling, Bumpers, Spare Tire and Accessories Additional

Monday should prove very entertaining. The affair itself should prove a good thing from the point of giving people something to do, to enjoy themselves, and without spending any money to do it.

One of the projects born of the depression was started again last week. It was Wanderers Inn where transients are housed overnight. In this little building the city is able to keep these transients warm and away from the temptation of petty thievery. Wanderers Inn is responsible for the remarkably low rate of such annoying depredations here during the winter months.

A general exodus of hunters for deer in the Davis mountains and Mason brush country serves to remind that an important hunting date is coming up here Thursday. Duck season officially opens on that date and four days later on Dec. 1, the quail season opens. Both are unusually plentiful here this year. It won't be necessary to go 250 miles for a good wild game meal.

If you have not joined the Red Cross for 1937, do it now. You have through Thursday to identify yourself with the constructive and humanitarian program of that non-partisan, every-ready organization. Your Red Cross dollar goes a long way to do a lot of good.

An increase of 600 barrels daily production was given the Intan-East Howard field last week, bringing the figure for that field to 7,016 as compared to 16,244 for the Howard-Glasscock area, or a total daily allowable of 23,260 barrels of oil, each worth more than 80 cents. Multiply that by 12 months in the year and you have an imposing figure and one of the very good reasons this is a good business town.

The city will, we are informed, widen West Fourth street between Scurry and Gregg street when the post office building is completed. The widening process will be applied to both north and south sides of the road, thus giving ample passage way instead of the narrow and perilous lane hampering traffic now.

the local market. Maize was offered at $6 to $18 a ton. Bundle stuff was not yet moving.

The harvest was close to 95 per cent complete, according to most estimates. This would not mean the local cotton market is that near its end for an increasing number of farmers from Dawson and Lynn counties have been bringing their cotton here to sell because of better prices. They have, to some extent, inflated the county ginning figures by hauling cotton from as far as O'Donpelt to be handled by local gins.

sia will not cooperate further in granting "vital" Japanese fishing concessions until the reported Japanese-German military pact is cancelled, was sent to the Japanese embassy here tonight.

The eleventh-hour development came just as Japanese diplomats were preparing to go to the soviet foreign office to sign the fishing agreement.

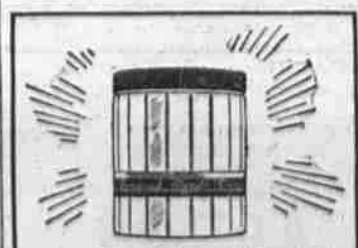

The new pact, fruit of a year's patient negotiations, would have extended for eight years the Japanese right to fish in soviet waters off eastern Siberia.

The great bulk of Japan's sea food is obtained from these waters, and Japanese officials repeatedly have said the concessions was vital to Japanese interests.

In notifying the Japanese embassy of Russia's refusal to renew the agreement, which expires December 31, the soviet foreign office emphasized the "bad atmosphere" created by the asserted German-Japanese military alliance.

Applause rippled through the vast Waco Hall auditorium as Neff told Mrs. Garner "from the hour of your girlhood when at the marriage altar you pledged your love, your all to young John Garner you have walked by his side in stately queenly grace, his pal, partner, counsellor, confederate, help-meet and inspiration."

"No labor has been his that was not yours. No task has been committed to his hands that you did not with him share responsibility. You have shunned social honors and comradeships of those who through 'halls of vanity fair,' preferring to work in harness by the side of him whose name you bear."

Cactus Jack Celebrates 67th Birthday Today

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21. (AP)—John Nance Garner and his Andrew Jackson eyebrows will be 67 tomorrow. The eyebrows have not been hindered in their growth to a Jacksonian bushiness. Some in Washington who know of the vice-president's hearty admiration for "Old Hickory" say that he sometimes fumbles with them to help give them a Jacksonian twist.

Garner is the dean of congress. Senator Borah of Idaho is the dean of the senate. Representative S. Bath of Illinois dean of the house. But they both came in 1907. Garner came in 1903 and has been either a member of the house, its democratic leader, its speaker, or the vice-president presiding over the senate ever since.

two Palamos residents were injured. Forged to Salute Before attacking the "SAT-4," the insurgent vessel compelled the crew of a small fishing smack to give the fascist salute.

The Casa de Campo offensive following close upon recapture of University City positions by the government militia and Gen. Jose Miaja said rout of the civil war enemy was "inevitable." While icy rains prevented fascist aerial attack of Madrid, wintry blasts added to the hardships of Madrid residents. It was estimated more than 250,000 women, children and old persons remained to be evacuated from the capital.

NEW ATTACK BORDEAUX, France, Nov. 21. (AP)—Spanish government forces of the Bilbao front, where comparative quiet has existed for weeks, smashed forward in a general offensive today, said border advisers tonight.

The attack along the northern front apparently was aimed at diverting the fascist attention from the capital and re-taking territory from which many insurgent soldiers had been removed for the assault on Madrid.

WORK PROGRESSING ON MERKIN STORE

Work of remodeling the front of the building to be occupied by David Merkin's Dry Goods store at 205 Main street was progressing nicely Saturday. Installation of store fixtures also was well under way, said David Merkin, who will operate this store. "I do not know as yet just when we will be able to open, but if work progresses as nicely as it has the past few days, it will not be long before we are ready to do business," said Merkin.

SAVINGS-LOAN ASSN. ADDS NEW ACCOUNTS

Eleven new accounts had been added by the First Federal Savings and Loan association Saturday, Merle J. Stewart, secretary, announced. The new accounts represented a total of 107 shares with a maturity value of $10,700.

Acree Figures Of County Are Near State Allotment

Long hours of work Saturday had brought the county adjusted cotton and general base figures to within a few acres of the allotment totals given by the state committee.

County Agent O. P. Griffin said that the work would probably be finished during the week-end and the work sheets dispatched to the state board for a final check before applications are taken here for soil conservation and building benefit payments.

The cotton base acreage had been adjusted to within 54 acres of the state figures of 100,512 acres with an allowed production of 11,418,500 pounds. The general (feed) base acreage was only 65 acres over the 53,897 acres allowed for 5,539,770 production units.

Mrs. W. M. Clegorn of Monahan has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. V. Van Gleason for the week-end. She is Mrs. Van Gleason's sister.

TURKEYS CHEAPER ON LOCAL MARKET

Add to other things for which to be thankful the price of turkey, for the traditional Thanksgiving bird will be cheaper this year than other kinds of meat.

On quotations here Saturday, No. 1 turkeys were selling dressed to retail customers at about 20 cents. Hens were approximately the same. Farmers were receiving 10 cents for their No. 1 birds on the local market, eight cents for old toms and six cents, one cent above the packing house market, for No. 2 turkeys.

Local dealers said there would be plenty of good birds to supply the local demand, which Saturday was decidedly looking up.

SHORT LINES ENTER FREIGHT RATE PLEA

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (UP)—Eight short line railroads today asked the interstate commerce commission for authority to intervene in support of the class one railroads' petition for increased

The roads were the Abilene and Southern railroad, the Cisco and Northwestern Railroad company, the Denison and Pacific Suburban railway, the Texas Pacific-Missouri Pacific Terminal railroad of New Orleans, the Texas-New Mexico railway, the Pecos Valley Southern railway, the Texas Short Line railway, and the Weatherford, Mineral Wells and Northwestern railway.

INFANT VICTIM OF TRAFFIC COLLISION

ABILENE, Nov. 21. (AP)—Lloyd Ray Stevenson, 18 months old, was killed instantly here this morning in a highway intersection automobile collision.

The baby was thrown from his parents' car when it collided with a machine driven by James W. Moore, Abilene. The parents are Mr. and Mrs. Witt Stevenson of Hawley.

Miss Kathleen Haverland, an occupant of the other car, was in a hospital with painful injuries. She was in a party of Hardin-Simmons university co-eds enroute to a football game at Breckenridge.

Institution Seen As Tribute To Pioneer Days Of County

RALPH CATHEY

The West Texas Memorial Museum is a great tribute to preservation to all that this country stood for in its pioneer days.

Every week several of the county's oldest residents come in and look over the collection and admit they had no idea that the museum contained all that it does. They are attracted by it and speak of some of their old heirlooms or of some interesting historical objects that have either been handed down to them, or that they have found, and that they would be glad to contribute what little they have to the institution. In such a manner has the museum striven to attain the prestige that it now holds for the city of Big Spring.

It had its beginning back in the year of 1930 as an undertaking of the history and science classes of Big Spring high school, and was located in what is now the library in the school building. Through the interest cultivated in school by the history and science teachers, the students of the high school were the first contributors to follow the lead.

More and more interest was being expressed by different people of the city, and therefore, on Nov. 9, 1931, a board of directors was formed. As a result, the institution was inaugurated more as a civic undertaking to be forwarded by not only by the educational administration of the city, but by all of the interested citizens.

New Home

As this institution continued growing rather steadily, there was a need for a more appropriate location so that the tourists could also be benefited by the museum; therefore, the old city hall was transformed into the present location of the museum.

Mrs. E. H. Happel, chairman of the committee in charge of remodeling of the city hall, should be praised for the fine work that she did in planning the attractive fireplace that adorns in a proud manner the suitable corner in which has also been placed a collection of articles including an old spinning wheel (over 100 years old), and gives one a feeling of the home life of years gone by. The walls of the building were finished in a blue-gray, bordered with a canary color. Remodeling and decorating of the museum should also be attributed to her.

Since the museum was transferred to its present location, it has grown exceedingly and is well filled with cases of valuable donations and loans. These cases have been arranged to a great advantage so that all can be eyed with ease. The

First Baptist Friendship Class Celebrates Third Anniversary

Times Praises Author's Work On Biography

V. Sackville-West's Book To Be Reviewed Here In December

High praise for one of the newer biographies of the famed girl of France, V. Sackville-West's "St. Joan of Arc," is given in a recent issue of the New York Times book review section. The book will be reviewed by Evelyn Oppenheimer in an appearance here on December 3, under auspices of the 1936 Hy-perion club.

The Times' comment on "St. Joan of Arc" said in part:

"V. Sackville-West has written the biography of St. Joan with content directness, with disinterestedness and careful scholarship, in the most complete detail, and with a beauty and reverence from which the last grain of sentimentality has been refined away. The result is

In celebration of the third anniversary of the Friendship Class of the First Baptist Church, members were entertained with a circus banquet at the Settles Hotel Friday evening.

The banquet room was gaily decorated with balloons, serpentine and confetti and place cards were tickets which admitted each member to the "Mrs. Theo Andrews" circus. Mrs. Andrews is the teacher.

The table had as its centerpiece a large white cake topped with three candles and surrounded by animal crackers in pink. Other animal figures were used on the table to further carry out the theme.

After the invocation little Barbara Jean Cornelison brought the circus to town with a song after which the ringmistress, Mrs. Larson Lloyd, took charge and presented each of the performers by means of a jingle. First on the program was the "operatic star," Mrs. F. J. Gibson who rendered a vocal solo. Next Mrs. Vernon Logan gave the class history under the classification of "An Elephant Never Forgets," followed by Mrs. J. O. Brown's solo. The prophesy, "A Giraffe Looks Ahead," was read by Mrs. E. T. Smith and Mrs. Andrews outlined the "Perfect Circus" in the main address of the evening. Impromptu talks were made by Mrs. Robert Pveatt and Mrs. B. Reagan former teachers of the class.

The group sang "Living for Jesus" as the closing song after which the teacher gave the benediction.

Places were laid for Mrs. Denver Dunn, Mrs. G. C. Morehead, Mrs. W. D. Carnet, Mrs. Theo Andrews, Mrs. J. C. Allen, Mrs. E. T. Smith, Mrs. Vernon Logan, Mrs. J. O. Brown, Mrs. Ira Powell, Mrs. Bob Phillips, Mrs. Larson Lloyd, Mrs. Jack Smith, Mrs. F. J. Gibson, Mrs. C. W. Norman, Mrs. Roy Correll, Mrs. A. B. Winklett, Mrs. Clyde Angel, Mrs. E. Underwood, Mrs. Hugh Hendrix, Mrs. Cecil Reid, Mrs. Eugene Acuff, Mrs. Robert Pveatt, Mrs. B. Reagan and Mrs. A. B. Dean.

Bedroom Demonstration Work To Be Included In 1937 HD Schedule

Home Demonstration Clubs of Howard County will begin work on bedroom demonstrations as a new project in their 1937 schedule, according to Miss Lora Farnsworth, home demonstration agent.

Miss Farnsworth, accompanied by Mrs. A. E. Love of Luther and Mrs. Duke Lipscomb of Elbowe, selected as Howard County representatives, attended the annual bed spread and woolen comfort show held in San Angelo Friday. At this time entries were judged in five classes: woolen comforts, tufted and quilted; candlewick spreads, white and colored; and the girl's candlewick exhibition. Tufted candlewick pillow tops by women and girls were also shown. Five awards were made in each class.

Clubs of this county will eliminate the pantry project and add the bedroom work to their schedule which includes wardrobe and yard demonstration at the present. They will offer work in the San Angelo show next year.

Mrs. Florence Read Is Honored At Banquet By OES District Two

More than 250 members and grand officers of the Order of Eastern Star were present to honor Mrs. Florence Read of Conhoma, worthy grand matron, at the annual banquet given for her by the chapters that comprise District 2 in the ballroom of the Settles hotel Friday evening.

Preceding the banquet a reception was held when visiting grand officers and matrons of the eight hostess chapters formed the receiving line.

After the greeting of the guests the doors to the dining hall were opened and guests found their places about the table by place cards of white with designs of silver horseshoes which portrayed the "Good Luck" theme of the evening.

Table Decorations

Five tables were laid with one of the colors of the lodge predominant. At the yellow table crepe paper streamers formed a center decoration with intervals at the base of cleverly fashioned white bones used as the lucky symbols for this table. The centerpiece was a large silver horse shoe upon which was printed one of the five good wishes for the honoree, "Good Fortune."

The swastika was the symbol chosen for the red table at which red chrysanthemums were used as floral adornment. Second of the wishes, "Good Health" crossed the horseshoe banked with the flowers to form the central attraction.

Ivy leaves resembling four leaf clovers and shamrocks were decorative features of the green table. Trailing ivy led from either end to the table to the center where the third emblem wished the honoree "Good Friends."

Christmas daisies and cream colored chrysanthemums were used on the blue table where small horseshoes were prominently displayed. "Good Will" was the wish on the fourth centerpiece around which was banked a mixture of the two blossoms.

A combination of all colors was assembled at the white table where the honored guests of the evening were seated. In the center was a mound of white, red and yellow chrysanthemums from which trails of fern were laid. "Good Luck" banded the horseshoes and decorations of the other tables were placed along with small bouquets of mixed flowers.

MISSION OF THE NEWSPAPER

With the result of the presidential election before him, William Allen White, editor of the Emporia, Kansas, Gazette, and one of the best known newspaper writers in the United States, declared that the American newspaper has lost its political influence.

Mr. White—others who have made similar post-election observations—seems to have been somewhat tardy in making this statement. The American press has had political influence, but lost it a great many years before the campaign of 1936.

When newspapers were not so numerous, when there was no radio, no great telegraph services, many people had to depend on the newspapers published by these men for their information.

It is well that newspapers have no political influence. They should not have. The mission of a newspaper is to inform its readers in its news columns and to interpret in its editorial columns the daily events of the world.

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker

NEW YORK—With an avalanche of new plays booming along, one dons acid-proof gloves and examines a few of the facets that have distinguished the early winter program.

No fewer than 40 productions have been exposed to the local seers, and of these a dozen have been tragic failures.

Certainly the most beautiful title of the year is "Plumes in the Dust," a melancholy drama based on the life of Edgar Allan Poe.

Personal nomination for the most gratifying adaptation on Broadway: "Tovarich," with Marta Abba and John Halliday.

I would say without qualification that the two "Hamlets" were the outstanding first nights.

A brace of vivid dramas with a common theme, but which met vastly dissimilar fates, were "Ten Million Ghosts," which died aborning, and "Idiot's Delight," the delightful holdover and Pulitzer prize winner of 1935.

As expected, Shakespeare, and Gilbert and Sullivan continue as the year's most prolific authors.

Up till now not a single new star has been uncovered, although the producers finally got around to giving Maurice Evans, long a capable actor, star billing.

Carl Brisson, romantic leading man of the new Romberg operetta, "Forbidden Melody," is a Dane, although he once held the amateur heavyweight boxing title of Great Britain.
