Lubbock O I C Moves Into New Building

Bishop College Public Information Director, Jack Herman, Killed in Car-Train Crash

Jack Herman, director of the Office of Public Information at Bishop College, was killed instantly August 27, at approximately 2 p.m. at the MK&T railroad crossing as he returned to the campus from the Press Club of Dallas.

Patrolman A.B. Hammett said that Herman drove his late model Volkswagen into the path of a Burlington-Rock Island diesel engine towing only a caboose at the crossing east of the campus on Simpson-Stuart Rd. The small car was carried an estimated 50 feet north of the crossing before it fell off the engine.

Herman was still strapped inside the wreckage by a shoulder harness and seat belts when witnesses reached him.

Gary Walker, field agent for the county medical examiner, pronounced Herman dead at the scene.

The crewmen on the engine, Bobby Taylor and Kenneth Williams of Teague, Freestone County, told police it appeared that Herman was unaware of the approaching train. They said they were too close to stop in time although the emergency brakes were applied.

Officer Hammett said the victim "apparently never knew what hit him."

A native of New York City, Herman graduated from Boys High School in Brooklyn and attended Columbia University.

He lived in Dallas a year in the 1930's before returning to New York for 18 years. He came back to Dallas in 1952. While in New York he was a script writer for Warner Bros. studios.

After returning to Dallas, he worked for the Good Publishing Co. in Fort Worth and Taylor Publishing Co.

Before coming to Bishop College as publicity director in October 1962, he served as publicity director with the Dallas Community Chest Trust Fund and the Jewish Welfare Federation.

He served as editor of the Bishop Herald, the alumni newspaper, and produced radio and television shows about the college.

An experienced stage, radio, and television personality, Herman appeared in the annual Press Club Gridiron Show, plus Dallas theater productions including the Temple Emanu-El Synagogue production "Middle of the Night."

Herman, known as a man of many faces, was famed throughout the country for his characterization of "Dr. Franz Von Heidelbergmann."

"Dr. Von Heidelbergmann" was an expert in whatever field the audience he appeared before were specialists. Herman was presented as a German accented guest who, before too long, expounded beliefs opposite to the group being addressed as part of the hoax.

Herman was a member of the Temple Emanu-El Synagogue, the Press Club of Dallas, and the Film Actor's Guild.

Funeral services were held at 10 a.m. Aug. 30 in the Weiland-Merritt Funeral Chapel. Burial was in Restland Memorial Park.

Survivors include his wife, a daughter, Mrs. Marilyn Barr of Richardson; two sisters, Sister Mary Stella Herman, Columbus, Ohio, and Mrs. Ella Scoli, Elmont, N.Y., and three grand children.

Rabbi Gerald J. Klein officiated.

"Texas" Closes — "They Came From Spain" Opens in Palo Duro Canyon

For the first time in history, the theatre in the Palo Duro Canyon will close one great production and open another during the same week.

"Texas", the spectacle describing the life on the plains in the 1880's by Paul Green, closes on the 28th of August after a great season. The rains which came after two years of drouth cancelled only two performances, and left the Canyon so green and beautiful that they added measurable to the appreciation of the beauty of the place. In answer to queries made of the audiences from time to time, it was learned that about a third of the audience was returning to see it—often for the fourth or fifth time. Although information about the production was obtained through many media, the overwhelming majority—at least three quarters—said they had come on someone's personal recommendation.

Thanks to the vigilance of William and Margaret Moore, the Directors, the show remained swift and sparkling throughout the season, in spite of a few minor misadventures. The cast members created an "Impy" award to be granted to the person making the biggest error and it went on various occasions to the man who lost his horse, to the dancer in the fire ballet who became so involved that she danced over the edge of the stage and to the man who gave the great flag of the United States such a swing that the pole broke in his hands.

Close to 76,000 persons attended "Texas" during the 1971 season—raising the total who have had the experience to 416,000 people.

The Lubbock Opportunities Industrialization Center has moved to a new location, 2200 East Broadway. The infant center has been in Lubbock since early spring and was recently funded by National Opportunities Industrialization Center of Philadelphia, Pa., for $200,000.00.

Program funding year is from July 1 to June 30 of each year.

Prior to moving to its new location, it was located in the Precision Electric offices at 1532 East 19th Street. In that location, approximately thirty-seven trainees were a part of the program.

There are now about 100 trainees participating in the program, according to Eddie P. Richardson, executive director of the Lubbock program.

"OIC is a dynamic, self-help job training program geared to the development of the whole person," Richardson made clear. "OIC can help you if you want to help yourself," he continued.

Classes are being held daily, Monday through Friday, from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m.; and evening classes begin at 6:30 p.m. until 8 p.m., Monday through Thursday. The evening classes will be extended an additional two hours, ending at 10 p.m. in the very near future.

Classes being taught by qualified instructors include: Communication Skills (English), Computations (Mathematics), Job Readiness, English as a Foreign Language, Typing, Bookkeeping, Grooming and Personal Hygiene, and Test Preparation (including Civil Service examination).

Since its beginning, there have been trainees placed on jobs. "This is our total concern," says Mr. Richardson. "We're concerned about intake as well as output."

City Council Makes Good Move

There's no doubt about it, the City Council did make a good move last Thursday in the Council chambers when they moved to take legal action against owners of weed-infested lots throughout the city of Lubbock. It's also worth noting the fact that the city attorney will begin to file complaints against property owners at once.

The firemen of Lubbock will play an important role in this new action, since they'll be the ones to serve as preliminary inspectors to note weed problems in the city of Lubbock.

The firemen, however, will not have to look real hard to find those places where the weeds are not being taken care of by the property owners. In east Lubbock, for example, the rains came during the month of August and the weeds are all growing out of proportion.

This move was a good thing and we're glad that this type of action was seen as necessary by the city fathers. The city council is merely enforcing an ordinance which makes it unlawful for an owner to allow "grass, weeds or any plant that is not cultivated to grow to a greater height than 12 inches on an average." or in "rank profusion upon the premises."

The landlords in east Lubbock must realize that their properties must be kept in good condition. If there are brothers or sisters in the community who own properties and are not obeying the ordinance, they too, must realize that you'll receive a complaint against you. This, also includes landlords who live west of the Avenue A area.

Thanks City Council, for the move you made last week. Let's hope that you will continue to enforce this must needed ordinance each year.

Helping One Another

It's always nice to know that black brothers and sisters are helping one another accomplish something. This happened last week on the campus of Texas Tech University when members of Kappa Alpha Sigma, Delta Sigma Theta, Alpha Phi Alpha, Phi Beta Sigma and SOUL gave a "special orientation" for all black students.

The orientation did include introductions to campus activities for black students and general information on campus life. This was good, for young blacks need to know where to go and how to get there. This type of an image, which was seen by those incoming freshmen and transferred students, is very necessary.

We salute those members, and their organizations, for a job well done in working with their brothers and sisters. Let's not stop at this orientation, why not something each month, similar to orientation, but getting down to the need for communicating with one another—the entire academic year?

From The Business Desk

For the benefit of those of you who may not be informed, or have overlooked the fact, O.I.C. is a reality in Lubbock.

The Lubbock Opportunities Industrialization Center was opened this week at 2200 East Broadway. Although they are still in the preparation and planning stages, applications for training and pre-vocational instructions are being taken.

The interior of the building has been cleaned out, and repair work and redecorating will begin in the very near future, but classes are under way at the present time, and people are already enrolled.

Any person in the community who is presently unemployed, or needs help in bettering himself or herself in the position they now have should make a very serious effort at going by the "Center" as it will be called, and checking out the services they now provide. As I stated earlier, they are still in the preparation stage, as far as the facilities are concerned, but the instructional and training stages are underway and it will be a very short while until all facilities are properly arranged. The programs listed, and the training available is too extensive to list here, but a pamphlet can be picked up at the center which will explain much more than I have room for here. For those of our readers who

by Jodie C. Sanford

I grew up in a rural area known as Rabbit Creek. It is about 3 miles west of Overton, Texas, deep East Texas. My grandfather, Parson C. M. Butler, founder of Butler College in Tyler, Texas, and owner of over a thousand acres of land, had forty families living on that land. This was not unusual in that to own that much land or more was very common then. The Kennedys, Parkinson, and Chesters; along with the Gipsons and Smiths, to name a few, each owned as much land and had as many families living on that land as my grandfather. Some of the names listed had several thousand acres of land. This made an area of about ten to fifteen square miles all black. There were adjoining communities with the same composition.

Juneteenth was a day we took for granted as a holiday. I was a big ole boy before I came in contact with anybody who would question the fact that Juneteenth was a holiday. To give you some idea how important it was to us, we started celebrating June 17th, and sometimes would go through the 20th. Nobody dreamed of asking the President of the United States if we could have one day, Hell, we took four!

The President got his own problems. There is a "non-war" going on in Asia, a planned trip to "ping pong" land, and just the other day pollution messed up his dog; saying nothing about the floating dollar. Out of respect for his high office I would not burden him with any kind of request have no transportation, call 763-8077 and ask the operator on duty to make an appointment for a member of the staff to come by your home and help you line out your training plans.

Lubbock OIC is going to be like any great idea, slow to start but watch out when it's underway!

Honoring American Labor

This coming Monday, September 6, we set aside a day in honor of the working force which has made this country the leading nation in the world today—America's Labor.

Not especially organized labor—in the strict literal sense—but all forms of labor today. The working man or woman in the assembly plant, the worker in the fields, providing enough food and fiber to feed and clothe the world, and all of the many, many little people in the long process of the American system.

These many people may or may not consider themselves part of the labor force, but if they do a job as menial as washing cars or mowing lawns or a job as large and important as helping place Americans on the moon, they are all a part of the great and glorious labor force that has made our country the great nation it is today.

With this in mind, it would be the hope of this newspaper that we are able to help our readers reflect on the original idea of Labor Day—to honor our laboring force for helping make this country what it is—and not just consider Monday another four day week-end holiday without even considering why it was established as a holiday in the first place.

That Juneteenth is a legal holiday decreed by blacks is pointed out in "An American Traveler's Guide to Black History" on page 194. It states in part, "On June 19, 1865 Major General Gordon Granger declared that all slaves in the state (Texas) were free. So much resistance developed that martial law was maintained until 1869. Granger's Emancipation Act unwittingly created an annual holiday for Texas Negroes. They call it Juneteenth and still celebrate it as their own Independence day." (Emphasis added is my own).

I am all for Martin L. King's birthday as a holiday. Will we treat it as we now do Juneteenth? Must we have the President's approval? This writer wishes to God that the last statement by Droying in "An American Traveler's Guide" were still true. "They call it Juneteenth and still celebrate it as their own Independence Day."

Some brothers and sisters in Lubbock and a few other places had the courage of their conviction this year and had their own Independence Day—Juneteenth. Let's hope more decide to take the same course.

Now Is The Time!

Now is the time for total commitment. We have played games entirely too long in our area.

If we are to ever raise our standards to the level of other communities and peoples, we must do more than we are doing now to get there. We have walked in the shadows too long.

We all want status without projecting the necessary energy to warrant status. Let's get up off it and go to work to project the image we think we are entitled to.

The time and opportunity is here. It's up to us to make of it what we may. The future—which everyone is always talking about—is now. Taking advantage of it and doing with it what we will is now up to us.

Brothers and sistes, get up off your middle-class bag hangup and work for a better total community. You impress no one with your "hang-ups" and talk. Performance is what counts in this world and as I have said so many times in the past, what one does speaks so much louder than words that people don't need to hear you when you speak.

We must prepare ourselves for the task ahead. Properly prepared and motivated a man can be or do anything he sets his mind to.

Let's stop fooling ourselves by thinking we are important because we have a good job, good house, clothes and a car. That's not where it is at! You are as important as what you contribute to mankind—your underprivileged brother or sister. That's what it is all about.

Every brother or sister that has made it and does not look back or reach back to give another a hand is not worth a dam—to himself, humanity or the world.

Now is the time for total commitment and involvement. This is what makes nations, states, cities and communities great, but everyone must do his or her share.

We don't need any more "only nigger here" attitude. House niggers, come down from your air castles to where the action is and help pull your brother and sister up to where you are. Help and show him how you got there. Then your seat won't be so lonely. The results will be amazing and fruitful—having some of your own there to share prosperity and what you imagine is a good life. Helping now will make everything much better—and not being alone will just be part of the rewards.

Police Beat

Car Burglary

Rob Robertson, 2735 66th Street, reported to Lubbock Police that his car was parked behind the Teki Kai Club, 407 Quirt Avenue, one day last week when someone unknown broke into it.

He told police that someone entered the vehicle by prying open the vent window on the passenger side to gain entry.

Missing from the vehicle were nine cases of cigarettes valued at $1,067.00.

Aggravated Assault

A young Lubbock man, Carl Jefferson, of 2316 Fir Avenue, reported to the Lubbock Police Department of a problem he had one day last week. He said that a young man did strike him with a "golf stick." The head of the golf club, however, had been removed and it was just the shank portion which was used.

He suffered a blow on the forehead, making a cut approximately an inch long.

According to Carl, all of this happened when he walked from a local establishment and the other party asked him about some money he (Carl) owed him in regard to a job. At this time, Carl was struck on the forehead and taken to West Texas Hospital for treatment by private vehicle.

Assault With Intent

Police were summoned to the East Lubbock area in regard to a stabbing one day last week. Roy Scott, 1614 Avenue A, told the city police that he had received a cut on the left side of his face, from the ear to the corner of his mouth.

He said that he had been at a local establishment at 1605 Avenue A when all of this happened. It was learned that he had an argument with a man about 40 years of age.

He was taken to St. Mary's Hospital for treatment. Roy said he would file charges this week.

Attempted Murder

A Lubbock man, who apparently had a love—and business—affair going, was stabbed last week. A 41-year old woman was having an argument with this young man about a payment made on a car—that they were buying.

She stabbed him in the upper left arm. He was taken to West Texas Hospital by private vehicle for treatment.

Without giving consideration to their mutual relationship, the young man said he would definitely file charges against his lady friend.

Fight Victim

Perhaps George Lee, of 1605 Avenue D, owes a great deal to a young man for taking him to Methodist Hospital after he received a bath of lye in his face last week.

Lee, who apparently was in a fight, ran into a drugstore at 1719 Avenue A and asked for medication, and was helped by a young college student who is attending Texas Tech University.

He was taken to Methodist Hospital by the young man in order that he (Lee) could receive emergency treatment.

Attempted Murder

Barbara Shelby, 815 Avenue C, reported to the Lubbock Police Department that a woman had stabbed her twice—just behind the neck.

According to Barbara, she was walking across the street in the 700 block of Avenue C, towards AC's Cafe, at the time of the incident.

Black History Notes—The South in History: Long, long before there was a United States of America, there was a Southland. The New England colonies were settled by dour-visage men seeking a freedom of religion that was denied them in England. They were men of serious vision who could fight and win the seemingly impossible battle of changing the mountains, forests and rocks of New England into profitable farms and eventually into an industrial and fishing center that rivaled Great Britain herself.

The English who settled the southern colonies had a different political and philosophical outlook. They were not seeking to escape persecution in England; they were searching for wealth and ease in a new, unfettered world. They were army officers and nobles who had been given huge grants of land by the crown and they were eager to share this tremendous potential with no one.

When the Indians could not be harnessed into working the fields, the colonists drove them into the swamps and woods. The English (and later the Americans) ousted the Spaniards, bought off the French and drove the Mexicans south of the Rio Grande.

The white settlers of the South would have kept the South white—except for two reasons. Cotton was one and tobacco was the other. Had it not been for cotton and tobacco, the black visitor to the U.S. today might well be an esoteric novelty who would be received with open arms by the cream of white society.

It is no secret that the black slave trade made the South. Without black labor in the cotton and tobacco fields, there would have been no Rhett Butlers and Scarlett O'Haras. There would have been no shipyards in Charleston and Newport News and there would have been no cities like Durham, N.C. or Richmond, Virginia or Memphis, Tennessee. From John H. Johnson in Ebony-August, 1971.

Recent great quotes: "The greatest obstacles to black progress are the lack of unity among blacks and the subtle racism that is deeply imbedded in all too many whites. The black leadership needs to face the fact of black disunity and map out programs that all blacks, whatever their views may be on certain issues, can support. It is useless for blacks to attempt to build a separate society." End of Quote from Dr. Benjamin Maya, noted black educator, former president of Morehouse College and presently Chairman of Atlanta, Georgia, Board of Education.

We have spent almost a week visiting and meeting with the administration staff and student body in general here at Eastern New Mexico University in Portales, New Mexico. What a delightful visit it has been! The president, Dr. Charles W. Meister, and his noble associate, Dr. Gail Shannon, vice-president for Academic Affairs and Dean of Faculties, have virtually given us the liberty to meet and chat with the personnel of the university that is now engaged in launching a department of ethnic studies and black history, that may set the pace in this direction in New Mexico. Especially rewarding has been meeting black students from all over the state and West Texas as well as other parts of Texas who "love it" here at Eastern N.M.U. More later.

The Schomburg Collection of Black Literature and History, named for a Puerto Rican of African descent who founded it, is about the largest facility of its kind in U.S. It is located now at 103 W. 135th Street., in New York City, as part of the New York Public Library system. The Schomburg collection is currently in the midst of a campaign to raise ten million dollars to build a new landmark in the center of Harlem.

Henry M. Ramirez, an educator and former migrant worker, has been named by President Nixon to head the Cabinet Committee on Opportunities for Spanish Speaking People. As chairman, he succeeds Martin G. Castillo, a Los Angeles attorney who resigned last December. Ramirez, 42, is the first Hispanic American to serve on the President's staff. The purpose of the committee is to represent the needs of the more than 12 million Spanish-speaking people in the United States and to assure that federal programs reach them. Ramirez lives in Bethesda, Md., and holds a B.A. from St. John's College in Camarillo, California and an M.A. from Loyola University of California.

Black Business Discriminates? A black real estate firm in Dallas recently carried in substance the following advertisement in a number of papers: "At CEMA Village we discriminate! At CEMA Village we are prejudiced! We want you to know before you move in or apply for a CEMA home! We are prejudiced against families who do not cut their lawns or take care in yard beautification. We discriminate against those who cause blight in the community by having useless junk cars parked on their lawns. . . However, we are color blind—We welcome persons of all races, creeds and colors irrespective. . . of dogmas. We actively seek to build a multi-racial community. If you are one of these you will be welcome." End of quote.

"White Flight" is in reality the flight of bigotry. The fact is these fleeing have no objection if the bussing is one sided. . . that is, just black kids being bused. The real objection is white kids being bused to what they know must be inferior schools since they gave them to us in the first place. This paper says their flight would be the flight of the ignorant, the unAmerican, and bigotted and again we say. . . Let the Mothers go." End of quote from In Sepia newspaper.

The last of the great Black Country Editors Gone? Louis Ernest Austin, editor-publisher of The Carolina Times, Durham, North Carolina died recently at a ripe old age and like the late-lamented Roscoe Dunjee of the Oklahoma Black Dispatch, Austin's editorials were marked for their courage, honesty and militance when it was dangerous for a southern black to take a forthright stand on almost any public issue affecting race relations.

For example we reprint his "Our Creed" in which the general policy of his paper heralded:

"We here at the Carolina Times have one solemn covenant to keep and that is with the thousands of people in all walks of life who turn to these pages week after week for a breath of truth written by our unshackled pen. In keeping such a covenant with our fellowmen we will be keeping faith with our God. For no man can make or keep a covenant with God Almighty who cannot keep one with his fellowman.

"The faith our readers have in us here at the Carolina Times has been bought with the blood of those strong, loyal men and women, who have stood side by side with us in the dark hours of its existence. Sometimes they have endured crucifixions at the hands of their beneficiaries, embarrassments at the hands of both their enemies and fair weather friends. Amidst it all we have never bowed to the gods of gold and silver. We have kept our skirts clean, we have kept the record straight. Our face has always been turned toward the enemy.

"This old newspaper has weathered some terrible storms and she will weather some more because she has an anchor of deep religious faith. We believe here at The Carolina Times that if our motive is just, our fight unselfish, we will ultimately be victorious.

"Readers will overlook misspelled words, incorrect English, poor rhetoric and numerous typographical errors. They will soon forget about how very poor the mechanical makeup of these pages are. But the most unlearned reader will never forget if we allow selfish, little power-drunk men to use these sacred columns for their own purposes.

"These pages constitute a battleground across which the struggle for justice must never cease until every underprivileged human being in the world has the opportunity to rise to the fullest capacity with which God has endowed him."

 TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin, Texas—The Legislative Redistricting Board, its hands tied by a court order, has called for a staff research toward reapportionment of both the Texas House and Senate.

If the Board were permanently enjoined from action, the thorny reapportionment chore may be handed back to the Legislature in a special session this fall. Board was created in 1948 to redistrict where a legislature fails to do so in its first regular session after a decennial census.

Day before the five-member panel was to meet and begin work on Senate realignment (a task left undone by the Legislature this year), an Austin judge entered a temporary restraining order. At the same time, Judge Herman Jones set a hearing for September 2 on a petition for an injunction.

Rep. Fred Head of Henderson filed the suit to stop Board action, contending 1970 census figures are not yet all in, and that reapportionment should wait until the 1973 Legislature.

On August 2 Judge Jones declared the House version of reapportionment by the Legislature this year unconstitutional. Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin has promised an appeal to the Texas Supreme Court.

Meanwhile, Martin who was named temporary chairman of the redistricting Board in absentia, left a message expressing hope that the panel will begin work "at the earliest possible date" on House reapportionment in event the High Court rules that is its duty.

Lt. Governor Ben Barnes, another member of the Board, also called for early staff attention to a House redistricting bill, although both he and Martin agreed Senate reapportionment is the first objective.

Board has 20 separate plans already submitted for recarving the Senate's 31 districts in line with the 1970 census and federal court rulings of substantially equal population for each.

"Feeze" Brings Summer Chill—The President's wage-price freeze continued to be the closest-watched and fastest-changing news event at the state capitol.

Gov. Preston Smith's proclamation to state agencies to disregard the presidential order and place pay raises for state employees in effect September 1 was quickly held invalid by Attorney General Martin.

Martin then went to Washington to plead for exceptions for state workers and school teachers who had been assured raises by legislative action and (in the case of teachers) valid contract well before the freeze order date, August 15.

Meanwhile, Texas State Employees Association filed a formal petition for exemption of 60,000 state employees from the order and hinted at court action if refused.

Teachers kept close watch on Washington announcements to see if subsequent federal agency rulings would permit their raises covered by contracts signed prior to August 15 to be granted September 1.

Info Offices Opened—Internal Revenue Service announced opening of nine offices in southern Texas to answer questions, study complaints and investigate alleged violations of the wage-price freeze.

Offices are located at IRS headquarters in Austin, Beaumont, Waco, Corpus Christi, El Paso, San Antonio, Houston, Harlingen and McAllen. Questions on new import duty surcharge will be referred to the Office of Customs in Houston.

Labor Day Toll Predicted—Fifty-two may lose their lives in traffic accidents during the long Labor Day weekend, predicts the Department of Public Safety.

If Texans can't drive more safely than that, Governor Smith told his traffic Safety Committee, serious consideration may have to be given to declaring a state of emergency on three-day holidays and calling out the National Guard to supplement police activities.

Smith's committee reviewed plans for an intensive Labor Day Safety campaign.

DPS Director Col. Wilson E. Speir urged motorists to refrain from drinking while driving, to avoid fatigue and to modify driving speed in accord with heavy traffic conditions.

All uniformed officers of DPS will be on highways Friday through Monday to enforce traffic laws. Maximum use will be made of radar and breath-testing devices. DPS special reports on fatal accidents will continue.

Final Rites Read for Lubbock's 20th Traffic Fatality

Final rites were read for Virginia Coleman, four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dewitt Coleman of 4303 East 64th Street, Monday afternoon at the New Hope Baptist Church. She was Lubbock's 20th traffic fatality of the year, three more than were recorded for the same period in 1970.

The Rev. A. L. Dunn, pastor, officiated the services. Burial was held in Peaceful Gardens Cemetery under direction of South Plains Funeral Home.

The child was killed last week in an auto accident. She was dead on arrival at Highland Hospital.

The vehicle, which was driven by the father, overturned on Loop 289 just south of East 19th Street. The car went out of control and struck a speed limit sign about .4 of a mile south of the Loop's intersection with East 19th Street.

According to police, the vehicle skidded more than 300 feet before it struck a reflector pole on the opposite side of the pavement. It then overturned, possibly as many as four times, coming to rest on its wheels almost 70 feet from the reflector.

The father was treated and released from a local hospital.

The child is survived by her parents and grandparents.

Brother of Lubbock Families Dies in Fresno, California

Funeral services were conducted Friday morning, August 20, for Mr. Marvin Thomas, a former resident of Lubbock. The services were held at Bain and Son Funeral Home, 2385 South Holly, Fresno, California.

Marvin was born December 22, 1903 at Denton County, Texas to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Thomas and most of his early youth was spent there. Later he was a resident of Lubbock for several years before moving to California in 1945.

His survivors include six sisters; Mesdames Louise Hill, Etta Turner and Catherine White, all of Lubbock; Mrs. Lillie Mae Thomas of Tuscon, Arizona; Mrs. Bertha Lee Johnson and Mrs. Frances Smith, both of Washington, D.C.; two brothers, Eugene and Roy Lee Thomas of Lubbock; many nieces and nephews and friends.

He passed away Saturday, August 14. He was buried in a local cemetery.

A sister here, Mrs. Etta Turner, was unable to attend the services.

Lubbock Family Attends Funeral

Mr. and Mrs. James Angles, 2613 East 19th Street, and family, attended the final rites of a relative, Albert Engles, of Fort Worth, Texas, last Saturday afternoon. Rev. W. L. Brown, minister of Macedonia Baptist Church, officiated the services.

Mr. Engles was buried in Cedar Hill Memorial Park Cemetery in suburban Fort Worth.

The Angles were accompanied by Mrs. Bessie Mae White.

of his visit, according to Horace Dove, presiding minister of the rapidly expanding East unit.

Jensen is in Lubbock inspecting three of the local congregations and described his talks as having mainly to do with the evangelic work of Jehovah's Witnesses locally as well as in 206 lands where over one million ministers are proclaiming good news to their neighbors. "The purpose of our work is to help people face the problems they are confronted with at the family level as well as nationally and internationally. The Holy Bible offers fine counsel on how to make decisions as well as predicting a happy future for people who want to follow its principles," he said.

Meetings during the week will include a morning session at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday through Saturday, which Jensen will conduct. He will then join with members of the East unit of Jehovah's Witnesses in going door-to-door to extend an invitation to interested persons to study the Bible, which Jensen explained, is done free of any charge. "Also, interested persons who want answers to Bible questions are aided to learn where, in their copy of the Bible, they can find the answers," he continued.

Saturday night Jensen will conduct a meeting entitled, "New Things Learned," which, he explained is a review of scriptural points discussed during the past six months with the audience participating in answering review questions.

Jensen's visit is provided by the Watchtower Society who sponsors more than 26,000 congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses world wide. Four times a year, circuit ministers such as Hermod Jensen, who represent the world headquarters in New York, visit with local congregations to further strengthen them to carry out their

CONSUMER CORNER

THERE'S THE RUB

When it comes to removing stains from and giving new glow to your home and property, every homemaker and her husband should be "Johnnie on the spot." Here are some hints that will achieve success for both men and women who apply themselves.

Equal parts of turpentine and ammonia will remove paint from clothing even if the paint has hardened.

Sometimes, bathtub stains just do not take a household cleaning. Especially the stains caused by the rusty pipes which some apartments have. Fill the tub with water, add lots of bleach and let this stand overnight. The next morning you will have a sparkling clean tub. If your rubber mats are badly stained, throw them in, too.

To get graphite (from lead pencils) out of nylon and dacron uniforms, apply the type of hand soap that mechanics use. Scrub with a soft brush.

If a third of a cup of vinegar is poured in your baby bottle sterilizer and left to soak overnight, it will remove the mineral and rust deposits.

You can remove yellow from treated white cotton shirts by using color removers that come in boxes. Follow directions on the box, using only enough for one shirt at a time. One package will whiten four or five shirts, depending on size. This works on dacron and cotton, too.

Here's a hint to the man of the house: Just as your wife wouldn't use a paper towel to clean fine silver, you shouldn't use anything but Chamois to dry and polish your car. It has an extraordinary ability to absorb and dispense quantities of water approximately seven times its own weight. It can be used wet on cars, boats, windows, mirrors, walls and chrome... and dry on silver, stainless steel and jewels. Pick some up at automotive accessory stores, hardware stores, department stores, chain and discount stores, and supermarkets.

Heed these hints and you'll have a bright future both inside and outside your home.

Want to Be Where The Action Is?

Then investigate a career as an officer of the Lubbock Police Department. In this day of rapid change, the policeman's job is demanding, but if you want to be "where the action is", this may be the job for you.

If you are 21-35 years old, in good physical condition, are a high school graduate (or G.E.D.), are at least 5'9" in height, and of good moral character, consider a career with the Lubbock Police Department.

Starting pay for a police officer is $587.60 per month and increases to $624.00 per month after a six month probationary period. All equipment and uniforms are furnished, and fringe benefits such as paid vacation, sick leave, retirement, hospitalization, and life insurance are provided.

To apply for the job of Police Officer, contact the Training Officer of the Lubbock Police Department, in person, at the Police Station, 9th Street and Avenue J, Room 119.

Applications for the next Police Officer Examination must be completed and returned before Sept. 13, 1971.
