Roy Lewis, electrical trade instructor, explained, "It was a learning experience for our young people, and it has taught us a lot."

Accepting the award for the class' outstanding achievement for excellence in community service are Ray Silvas, Curtis Jones, Jessie Hernandez, John Taylor and Joe Trevino. (Staff Photo)

Several thousand Lubbock youngsters are expected to include one or more summer school classes with their "vacation-period" activities, and others will take advantage of special library hours in many of the schools.

A wide variety of programs get underway this week and next week in Lubbock Public Schools. Many of the offerings are not those commonly considered as summer school, that is, remedial or make-up classes, according to Jay Gordon, assistant superintendent for instruction. Instead, many students enroll for special interest programs or register for classes in order to accelerate graduation or to take required courses for graduation and thereby free the regular school year for more elective subjects, he added.

Senior High

Senior high summer classes will be offered at Estacado, Dunbar, and Coronado provided there is sufficient enrollment. Registration will be Monday, June 4, and classes will be in session June 6-July 18. For the first time, some classes will be offered in the afternoons from 1:30 to 3:50 p.m. Other class sessions are 7:30 to 9:50 a.m. and 10:10 to 12:30 p.m. for a variety of courses. The tuition charge is $25 per course for residents and $37 for non-residents, except for driver education and homemaking (outlined elsewhere in this article).

Junior High

Mathematics, social studies, English, and science will be offered for seventh and eighth grade levels at Alderson, Matthews, and Wilson Jr. High Schools, providing there is sufficient enrollment. Hour-long classes in each subject are scheduled from June 6 - July 3 and are offered for students who have not been able to progress far enough to attain passing grades. The tuition is $15 per subject for residents and $23 for non-residents. Registration will be June 4.

Transportation

If sufficient enrollment is not attained at all of the junior and senior high schools tentatively scheduled for summer school, bus transportation to Wilson and Coronado will be provided for the areas of Estacado, Alderson, Dunbar, Lubbock, and Matthews if there are enough students to justify the expense involved. No charge will be made to students for the transportation.

Elementary

Enrollment is scheduled for Thursday, May 31, for several schools that will offer classes for elementary school children. Classes will begin Monday, June 4.

Bayless, Bowie, and Murfee will have academic enrichment programs, involving team teaching, student-teacher planning, and use of community resources, according to Ed Stokes, director of elementary education. Science, social studies, mathematics, and language arts will be taught for students who have completed any of the elementary grades 1-6. Tuition for the 10-day program is $20 for residents and $30 for non-residents.

Two other 10-day programs are offered to elementary school students. A "creative enrichment program," involving arts and crafts, will be offered at Stewart. The new learning center facility at North Avenue U and Cornell Street will offer a program in literature, mathematics, science, social studies, art, music, and physical education. The instruction will be based on the American cultural heritage in terms of the three prevalent cultures of the Lubbock area. Tuition for the programs at Stewart and North Ave. U is $20 for residents and $30 for non-residents.

A remedial reading program at Parkway will feature basic reading skills and language development, taught in small group classes. Two sessions per morning will be offered, and tuition is $10 per session. The program will extend from June 4-June 29.

A four week program, June 4-29, of basic enrichment instruction in reading and mathematics will be offered at Overton. The classes will utilize new materials, interest centers, and individualized instruction. Students may enroll for reading and mathematics separately. The tuition is $20 for each area.

Driver Education

The three phases of driver education - classroom, simulator, and in-car will be offered in all the five high schools, with sessions scheduled in June and July. Pre-registration has already been conducted for students who have completed the ninth grade.

National Black Women's Right Group to Meet Next Month in Washington, D. C.

The National Black Women's Political Leadership Caucus will hold its annual Convention in Washington, D.C., June 1-3, at the Shoreham Hotel.

The three-year-old non-partisan organization whose membership includes, in addition to most of the country's black female elected officials, women from all walks of life works to heighten political awareness and activity among Black women.

Convention Theme

Convention Chairperson, the Hon. Hildagardeis Boswell, member of the Maryland House of Delegates, announced the Convention theme "Black Woman in Politics: Perspectives and Strategies" and stated that this year's meeting will seek to emphasize the political leverage that the Black women can exert wherever she may happen to be.

"One doesn't have to throw one's hat into the ring to be in politics," states Ms. Boswell. "There is very little in the lives of Black people that goes unaffected by the body politics," she explains, "our Convention program is designed to heighten the Black women's awareness of this fact."

Activities

Convention activities include a 1:30 p.m. opening session on Friday, addressed by the Hon. C. Deloris Tucker, Secretary of State to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and a 3:30 p.m. general session presenting an overview of the issues to be studied in the Saturday workshops. Included among the workshop topics are: "Education, A Political Football"; "Health, More Than Sickle Cell?"; "Making the Media the Message"; and "Making Public Officials Accountable."

Panel Speakers

Workshop panels will include such figures as Dr. Ethel Allen, Philadelphia Councilwoman and physical; entertainer Dick Gregory; Ms. Sheila Thomas, Washington TV personality; Ms. Ida Lewis, editor of Encore magazine; Julian Bond, Georgia State Representative; Ms. Fannie Lou Hammer, Civil Rights activist and Ms. Elizabeth D. Koontz, former director of the Department of Labor's Woman's Bureau.

Other Convention activities scheduled for Saturday will be a luncheon address by Clarence Mitchell, Jr., legislative representative for the NAACP; a reception entitled "Black Men We Love You" and the Organization's annual awards banquet dedicated to Black women holding public office. Congresswoman Shirley Chisholm will receive the organization's first annual award for outstanding achievements in the field of politics.

A 10:00 a.m. plenary session is scheduled for Sunday after which the convention closes.

NAACP Continues To Win Despite Nixon Opposition

New York—(NBNS)—The nation's chief legal advocate of integration has continued to win court cases despite the Administration's opposition most of the time, its director said last week.

Jack Greenberg, director of the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, reviewed the progress of the organization since the 1954 Supreme Court decision ending legal segregation in the nation's school systems.

During the 19-year period since the decision, Greenberg especially pointed to the sweeping order of U.S. District Judge John Pratt in Washington that forced the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to threaten to cut off more than 100 school districts in 17 states that have been operating segregated systems despite decisions ordering them to cease the practice. The Administration has asked an Appeals Court to reverse the judge's order.

Unlike the four previous Administrations, Greenberg pointed to some 13 cases when the present Administration has opposed the civil rights organization on desegregation.

"As integration has approached becoming a reality," he told newsmen at a press conference, "many fears, many anxieties, many genuine problems have been turned against it."

He expressed the hope that the President might make dramatic policy shifts on civil rights as he has on foreign policy. Greenberg pointed out that the Administration's opposition in many cases "makes other school boards more litigious."

Last year, the legal fund, which is a separate entity from the NAACP, raised $4.2 million and hopes to raise $5 million this year.

The organization also announced a new program aimed at broadening employment goals and opportunities for black women through research, community action and litigation. A woman graduate of Harvard Law School, who is a member of the funds 26 person staff in New York, will direct the program.

NEWS BRIEFS

National PTA Opposes Busing

St. Louis—(NBNS)—The National Congress of Parents and Teachers Associations (PTA) voted this week by a margin of two-to-one against court ordered busing to achieve racial balance. In a highly emotional session, the delegates split 650 opposed to busing and 353 in favor. However, the measure must be approved by 31 state assemblies in the PTA before it becomes a permanent item for action.

KKK to Fight with "Ballot and Boycott"

Cincinnati—(NBNS)—Meeting here for a weekend rally, James R. Venable, head of the National Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, said last week the Klansmen are revising their previous tactics and are now beginning a movement to fight "with ballot box and boycott" rather than violence.

"We're heading for a revolution and when it comes, we think we'll have thousands upon thousands come to our aid," said Venable, adding that the Klan "is fighting enemies on all fronts now and we need all the patriotic right-wing groups."

The primary evil, said the 69-year-old Imperial Wizard, is communism. However, he also denounced busing of school children to achieve a racial balance, noting "as long as there is a white, there will be a Klan."

U.S. Joins Suit Charging Bias in LA Prison

Washington—(NBNS)—The Justice Department filed a suit last week seeking to join one filed by a group of Louisiana State Penitentiary inmates charging racial segregation.

The Department suit, which was filed in U.S. District Court in Baton Rouge, La., claims that prison officials "have systematically discriminated against black inmates in the operation of the reformatory by maintaining a racially segregated facility," and asked the court to enjoin prison officials from continuing the practice and order them to "promptly" desegregate.

The Government suit joins one filed by four Louisiana State inmates in March, 1971, alleging that they were denied equal protection of the law because of race and that they were subjected to cruel and unusual punishment.

Red Foxx Named "Father of the Year"

New York—(NBNS)—Redd Foxx, well known comedian and star of the television program "Sanford and Son," has been named one of eight fathers of the year for 1973 by the National Father's Day Committee. He shares the honor with U.S. Sen. Charles Percy (R-Ill.), Miami Dolphins quarterback Bob Griese, actor Jack Albertson, singer Julius LaRosa, sportscaster Howard Cosell, baseball Hall of Famer Monte Irvin, and Capt. Howard E. Rutledge, a former prisoner of war.

Young People and Parents: "You'd Better Wake Up!!"

We must take this opportunity to congratulate Dunbar High School for its record of 149 young people to graduate this spring. At the same time, however, we must advise them that there should have been more blacks in the top five of the graduating class. We can't overlook the accomplishments made by those white and Mexican-American students who did reach their academic goals at Dunbar. There were three whites in the top four positions and one Mexican-American in the third position.

There were no black students in the top four positions with the highest ranking black student being in the fifth position. A school in which over fifty percent (84 students) of its young people being black, there should have been a black in one of the three top positions. We are happy, too, of the contributions that blacks have made to Dunbar High School, but there is no sense of blacks falling short of this type of goal.

We must make it perfectly clear that our parents should get involved more if our young people are to make it or not. Any parent who is concerned about the welfare of their child will ask questions as to how that particular child is doing in school. We should ask that teacher why our children are not bringing home textbooks to study for their many assignments. Several years ago when Dunbar was an all black school, parents were seen constantly going to and from the school. Now since there are at least 25 percent white students and a majority of white teachers, the parents seem to stay at home and not be concerned about the welfare of their children. How come?

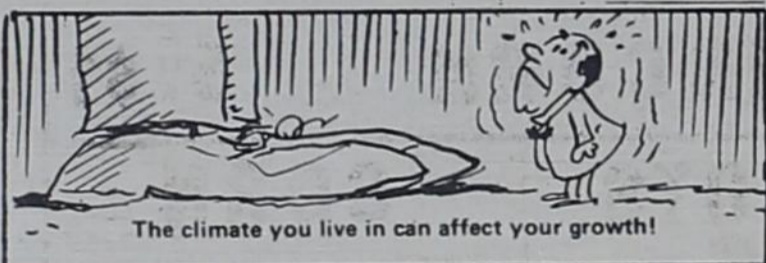

If we had to address ourselves to the reason for such problems, we would say that apathy has set in many homes of east Lubbock. Parents no longer care about the welfare of their children or school as they did in the past. We seem to let our young people (ages 6 through 18) get away with more than we once did. Facts will show that we are not the motivated parents we were several years ago.

Let us make it clear also that the Lubbock Independent School District can't rear your children. Nor can the School Board of Trustees wave a magic wand and let your child make it. All of the concern for the child should start in the home. This is where that thing we call black unity is started. If there is no cooperation from the parents, then the school can't fulfill its task. As parents, we'd better wake up and start thinking about what is happening to our children.

As black students, we will have to get away from that thing of only athletes or an after game "hop." As parents, we're gonna have to cut that television set off so our children's minds can function in a more positive situation. Education is more than learning to turn a button. Not only this, but since we are involved in this "integration thing," more parents will have to find a way to involve themselves in the welfare of the local school system.

The Parent Teachers Association (PTA) is an organization which parents have an opportunity to express him or herself about the welfare of the school. If a parent is unhappy over the way a child is being treated, then this type of situation could be brought to the meeting. If you look in East Lubbock, our PTA meetings are getting the job done. As parents we stay home and drink a can of beer and watch TV. Not only must the young people wake up, but as parents, we've got to quit playing Rip Van Winkle. We've got to pull off our rose colored sun glasses and get with the important things in life.

We hope that the Class of 1974 will emerge in a more positive direction in regard to black students being more concerned about acquiring knowledge at Dunbar High School or any other school in our community. We don't have time to sit back and care less about the destiny of our young people. There's too much going on around us for us to be nonchalant to the outcome of our education opportunities.

REPORT SADAT PLANS MOVE

by Jack Anderson

(Copyright, 1973, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Washington—The White House has been bombarded with urgent intelligence reports from the Middle East and from Ambassador John Scali at the United Nations that the Arab-Israeli crisis could erupt at any time.

The reports from Cairo warn that Egypt's President Sadat is planning military action against Israel. An intelligence analysis suggests he will make a carefully restricted military move—enough to cause worldwide alarm but not enough to reopen the war between Egypt and Israel.

His objective, according to the analysis, would be to force President Nixon and Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev to give the Middle East first priority at their summit meeting in Washington next month.

From Paris, meanwhile, Henry Kissinger recently sent back a dismayed, secret report that Le Duc Tho, the North Vietnamese negotiator, brought up the Watergate scandal early in their private talks.

Tho apparently was friendly enough. But he let Kissinger know Hanoi is aware that the President has been weakened by Watergate and that Nixon is too preoccupied with his domestic troubles to become deeply involved in Vietnam again.

The wily North Vietnamese, it appears, are using Watergate as a bargaining chip.

Secret Service Collusion: One by one, the FBI, CIA, the Justice Department, the Defense Department and the National Security Council have been implicated in the abuse of power by the White House. Now the Secret Service has been added to the list.

Secret Service agents have been charged with supplying the Nixon campaign with reports about the activities of at least one Democratic presidential candidate they were supposed to be guarding. Here are other incidents I have uncovered of Secret Service collusion with the Nixon campaign:

- The Secret Service refused to put through a call from a high federal official to Sen. George McGovern, unless the official revealed the contents of the call.
- A Philadelphia police officer has sworn that he was acting under Secret Service orders when he illegally denied McGovern supporters access to a Nixon appearance.
- In Atlanta, an armed agent, recruited by the Secret Service, helped shovel confetti in front of a giant fan showering down a tickertape welcome upon the President.
- At the same Atlanta appearance, the Secret Service cordoned off McGovern supporters, so Nixon recruits

As I See It

by T.J. Patterson

As I See It, there are a lot of facts that we must know about the black community. By knowing the facts I am going to present to you in this column, we should know why we are in the economical condition that we are. Because of these facts, which were recently discovered after many weeks of collecting data, as black brothers and sisters it should help us to get together in a new aspect of making it.

It's quite interesting to note that as black people in Lubbock, Texas, we had a population of 10,287 or 8 percent in 1960; in the 1970 census it shows that we increased in numbers, but the percentage figure declined. The report shows a population of 10,912 black or 7.3 percent of the total populas. Lubbock's population is registered at 149,101.

The Mexican-American population has grown significantly according to the census. Of course, it is hard to pinpoint the total population of Mexican-Americans. Yet, it is estimated that they constitute approximately 22,000 (15 percent) people. Or their population doubles that of the black community.

In looking at the various tracts in which we live as blacks, the facts will astound you as to the condition we find ourselves. Perhaps if the City of Lubbock took a look at our position, it would tell us that our efforts are darn near hopeless.

To further express my point, let's look at some astounding facts about the predominately black community. Of the 10,912 black people residing in Lubbock, the majority of us live in Census Tract 12. This is an area with Avenue A as west boundary; the Yellowhouse Canyon as east boundary; East 19th Street on the north; and the Santa Fe Railroad as the south boundary. A total of 4,542 blacks reside in this area.

A total of 1,645 blacks reside in the Estacado High School area or Cherrypoint (Tract 9); 2,529 reside in the Posey neighborhood (Census Tract 10); while 1,068 reside in the Thunderbird area or Census Tract 11. A little more than 10 percent of the black population lives west of Avenue A. They are found in Census Tracts 3, 4, 6, 7, 8, 13, 14, 15, and other areas of Lubbock.

From this recent study. Basic Socioeconomic Data for Lubbock Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area for the City of Lubbock, blacks are shown to be on the bottom in regard to median income of all families. For example, in Tract 12 (which is divided into two parts; 12.01 and 12.02), the median income is approximately $4,402.00. As could be bused to the front of the crowd of cheer for the TV cameras.

Of course, the Secret Service was a victim of pressure from White House aides. Above all else, the Watergate scandal validates the old adage about what happens when little men gain a lot of power. They abuse it.

The Giveaway Game: There's a great giveaway game in Washington called "R&D," which stands for research and development. For example, the Pentagon once sponsored a study of facial expressions. And a Chilean scientist got defense dollars to study the nervous system of the Chilean squid.

Crusty old Admiral Hyman Rickover tells the story of a Navy study "of the psychological differences between sailors who had been tattooed once, sailors who had been tattooed more than once, sailors who had never been tattooed but wished they had, and sailors who hadn't been tattooed and didn't want to be." The psychologists solemnly concluded this was a "very complex subject requiring more study."

The National Science Foundation is also generous with government grants. Many of them, of course, are worthwhile. But I just learned about a grant that was awarded to study the "Psychophysiology of sleep and dreaming in Antarctica." A student in Arkansas recently got $13,000 to study "The mobile home syndrome." Another got $4,000 to contemplate "The feasibility of studying the introduction of television in South Africa."

Taxpayers may rightly wonder what use these studies will be to the American taxpayers who have to pay for them. But they don't compare to a tax-funded study discovered a few years ago. Researchers, we learned, were paid thousands of dollars to take the temperatures at the southern ends of northbound Alaskan sled dogs.

IRS Crackdown Brewing: The Internal Revenue Service has a notorious reputation for going after the small taxpayers, while ignoring affluent citizens who skip out of paying taxes.

This year, however, the IRS appears to be more serious about cracking down on the rich tax dodgers. It has compiled a secret list, we have learned, of all those who made more than $100,000 but paid less than $1,000 in taxes. It also has a list of over 200 wealthy persons who paid no taxes at all. An investigation has been launched into exactly how these people managed to avoid paying Uncle Sam.

More Soviet Trade: The Soviet trading agency is back in the American commodity market shopping for more grain. Last year, the Soviet communists skinned the American capitalists by some of the foxiest trading in international commerce. The Soviets kept their purchases down and hinted they could take their business elsewhere until the Americans woke up to the fact that the Soviets had bought a full year's supply of grain at more favorable prices than are available to America's own consumers. The amount of the purchase was far greater than the Soviets could have found anywhere else. They simply turned out to be better traders than the Americans. Now the Soviet grain traders are back for more.

compared to Tract 3, a heavily populated Mexican-American neighborhood, Tract 12 income average is $1,204 less than that of Tract 3.

The percentage of families under the poverty level in Tract 12.01 is 54.7% and in 12.02 it is 42.6%, while the below poverty level average in Tract is only 22.6% of the residents.

It is hard to believe that the black community appears to be last in all of the economic facets in the city of Lubbock. If we look at the report objectively, it will show us that school years completed by persons 25 years and over in tract 12.01 is 9.7 years and tract 12.02 is 10.2 years. It is really hard to believe, according to the study, that people who reside in Arnett Benson (Tract 3) with only 8.0 years of education are in better economical situations.

There are only 1,297 in Tract 12.02 and 168 persons in Tract 12.01 who are over 16 years of age and are employed. As compared to 3,812 persons employed in Tract 3.

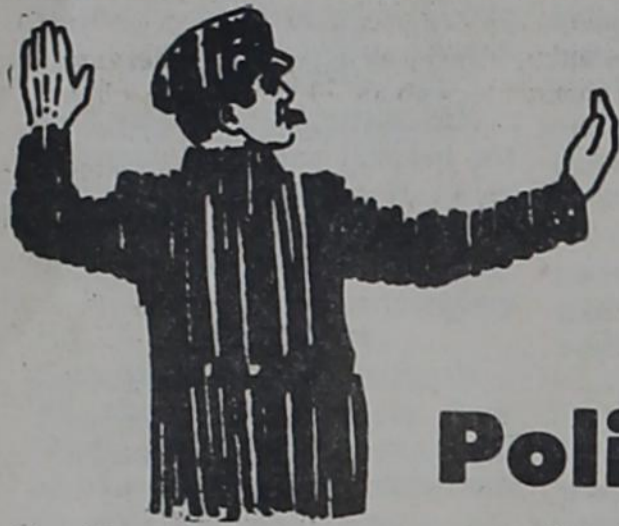

I could relate more facts about the City of Lubbock as to where the black community really is. The report shows that blacks in the City of Lubbock are far behind when it comes to the economical situation. Those of you who say that "we are doing fine" should really look at this report. It should knock you "doing fine" folk for a loop!

Many of you will disagree with the report and say that they don't know what they are talking about. This writer would like to inform you that these figures are for real as far as the city of Lubbock is concerned.

With statistics of the black community, it will take more than a local NAACP, United Black Coalition or Men's Civic Club to get us out of the rut we're in. We are just fooling ourselves in trying to overcome the many frustrations which exist in our community. I am not trying to say that the effort on the part of the above mentioned organizations or others who have tried to do something is not appreciated. What I am saying is that it will take more than local organizations in Lubbock to overcome the situation we are presently in.

I hope one day we will all wake up and see exactly where we stand. I've been watching very closely for the past several months. The longer I look, the more frustrated I become with the East Lubbock situation. And I'll admit that anyone can criticize and talk about any situation. But what I am trying to bring home to each of you is that we have got to change our game plan. With only 7.3 per cent of the population, we'll never be a voice until the entire community gets together.

Next week, I will continue with some more facts which you'll be interested in knowing about.

Police Beat

Too Many House Burglaries

The month of May is a very bad month for house owners in the City of Lubbock. For example, there were eighteen burglaries in one day of this month. This column would like to inform you that there are people in our community who are taking advantage of breaking into some of the homes in East Lubbock. Here are a few of those burglaries which have occurred this month. Please be aware of those persons who are breaking and entering homes. If you should see someone who looks suspicious around your neighbor's house while they are away, please call the police department.

House Burglary

Roy Roberts, 1827 Manhattan Drive, who is principal of Dunbar High School, reported to the Lubbock Police Department that persons unknown entered his house through the east side by breaking a plate glass window.

After entry, the burglars killed the little dog which was valued at $35. After killing the dog, they left it lying in the middle of the floor.

Also taken from the house were a color television set, valued at $300; a .38 caliber German made pistol, valued at $50; and a camera which was valued at $24.95.

It is believed that persons who gained entry to the house had cuts on their hands.

House Burglary

Olden Steadman, 1501 Avenue C, Apt. 6, reported to the police department that persons unknown entered his house by forcing the back door open to gain entry.

He said that they removed $50 worth of groceries and a hat which was valued at $32.

House Burglary

Andrew Tramble, 1501 Avenue C, Apt. 30, reported to police that while he was gone from the apartment, someone unknown removed a screen from an outside window and gained entry.

Taken from the apartment was a 20 gauge shotgun, valued at $15; and an AM/FM radio which was valued at $21.95.

House Burglary

Johnnie Vester, 3604 Zenith Avenue, told police that she returned to her house and found that it had been burglarized by unknown persons. It was learned that they did enter through the front door.

Taken from the house was a 12 gauge shotgun, valued at $125; and an album, "Let's Stay Together," valued at $5.98.

She was glad that some of her items did stay together, for several items were stacked on the porch, but were not taken.

House Burglary

Herman Johnson, 2709 Weber Drive, Apt. A, reported to Lubbock police that he went over to his daughter's apartment and discovered that persons unknown did burglarize her apartment.

Entry was gained through the front door. A television set, valued at $150 was taken from the apartment.

Assault with Intent to Murder

Johnny Johnson, 2402 Weber Drive, Apt. A, reported to the Lubbock Police department that he was driving down the 700 block of East Broadway when a lady driving a 1969 model car fired at him with a pistol.

Police found a hole in the driver's side of the front windshield, apparently from a .22 caliber pistol.

There was approximately $125 worth of damage to the car. He said he would file charges this week.

Assault with Intent to Murder

Harold Lloyd Crawford, 1619 Avenue E, reported to the Lubbock Police Department that he had been cut on the abdomen several times. It was reported, according to the police report, that "part of his intestines were coming out of the cut."

He said that he had been cut by an unknown assailant somewhere on 35th Street. He was transferred to Methodist Hospital.

Mr. Robert Deary and son, Reginald, arrived here last Saturday morning from St. Louis, Mo. Robert has been transferred from the postal department where was a mail carrier. He will continue to work here in the same department. A 1961 graduate of Dunbar High School, he will reside with his grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Johnson. He had been living in St. Louis for several years.

Mrs. Delia Tennison is home from the hospital and is resting comfortably at this report.

The Rev. Sam Laine, pastor of the Westminister Presbyterian Church, was guest speaker at 11:00 o'clock services at Messiah Presbyterian Church. His family and other members of his congregation were present.

Mrs. Lillie Mooney Parks suffered another coma and was again a patient at the hospital.

Rev. A.C. Johnson, former pastor of Bethel A.M.E. Church, visited Mrs. M. Terrell last Sunday evening and had prayer. Mrs. Terrell is improving and was able to attend Federation of Choirs last Sunday. Mrs. Joan Ervin served in her place.

Mrs. A.W. Wilson returned home last Friday afternoon from Arkansas where she has been visiting since Mother's Day.

Mrs. Katie Snell is home from the hospital and is recuperating nicely. Her sisters have returned to their respective homes.

Mr. Will "Rabbit" Austin is yet recuperating nicely.

Mr. Richard Rollison spent a week of his vacation with his mother at Marshall, Texas. He did some plumbing work for her while

Mount Vernon United Methodist Church

Last week was a very busy one for Mrs. Reed and your pastor. It was also a most enjoyable one. You, the members of Mount Vernon, started it all. Mrs. Reed and I are more than grateful to all of you for such a beautiful entertainment on last Sunday afternoon. We wish to say thanks for the gifts, for the many kind words spoken to us. Letters received from many of our friends of the city and elsewhere included letters from State Senator Doc Blanchard and Cit Councilwoman Carolyn Jordan.

Sunday is Holy Communion. It also marks the close of this conference year. I do hope that every member will be in church Sunday. It will also be the close of my (Rev. Reed) stay here as the minister of Mount Vernon. Let's communion together.

June 10th, the second Sunday, the congregation and pastor are to worship with the St. John United Methodist Church. Our orchestra and choir is to furnish the music. The time is 7 p.m. Please go with your pastor.

June 10th is also United Methodist Student Sunday. This is the Sunday we honor our graduates and returning students. The Education committee should be planning now.

Sports of The Times

by Joe Kelly

Texans got a big break from the Legislature the other day when our lawmakers made fishing licenses good for a full year from the date of purchase.

In the past, licenses were good only from Sept. 1 through Aug. 30, no matter when they were purchased. Now, the licenses will be good for one year from the date of purchase. Fees are going up, but not enough to hurt anyone, and the full year value is worth it.

I don't know if anyone around here goes to Buffalo Lake south of Amarillo, but plans may have to change. Because of ecological concern, the area may be closed to fishing, boating and camping. The final decision hasn't been made yet.

The main reason for the move is that Buffalo Lake is a national wildlife refuge and animals, etc., come first. There isn't a large enough force to oversee the refuge and, is so often the case, some of the public is abusing its privilege.

Really, it's a sad commentary on us Americans. We have become slothful and lazy to a major degree. We have lost our true appreciation for nature and natural resources.

Instead of taking time to dig a hole and bury trash, we sling it over our shoulder. We discard bottles and cans and somehow think that they'll magically disappear. We catch more fish than we need just in order to brag. We kill animals and then waste most of them.

I camp, when I can, in the Northern New York mountains. Forty years ago you could camp where I do and not see another human for 30 days. You didn't row six miles up a river, land in a marshy spot, walk a mile through the woods with all your gear just for an afternoon.

As a result, you took pride in your camp. You took care of the state property as your own. You appreciated the natural beauty. And then came the outboard motor and, with it, people.

The people came for a day in the woods. They built campfires with little regard to safety. They discarded tin cans, bottles and paper sacks. They drove the game deeper into the forests.

A friend of mine writes about people defacing trees so that they will die, for no apparent reason. It is state land, but he and his wife go in on weekends and try to clean up the mess that has been left—just because they love the naturalness of the place and want to keep it that way. It is sad, isn't it?

Frank Hudson, a big, likeable police chief at Dumas is an outdoorsman. His particular loves are pheasant hunting and fishing Lake Meredith. At both he is excellent.

Frank was saying the other day that the pheasant hunting this fall should be super. As far as he was concerned, it was last year, too. He got his limit every day that he went, but rain and cold cut down on the number of hunters in the field.

"The grain stayed in the field so long last winter that the birds had a wonderful supply of food," Frank said. "And things look good this summer. It ought to be great hunting come fall."

I have seen pheasants every time I've driven in the Dumas-Dimmitt area. You can see them flying. You can see them roosting. They'll even be alongside the road.

And there are indications that they have started coming into this area. If so, people won't have so far to go.

As for Meredith, Frank admits that you have to work the lake pretty hard if you aren't familiar with it. He knows Meredith like the back of his hand and says that he never comes away shut out. Like so many experienced fishermen, he likes the less-than-trophy sized fish, because they put up more fight.

Frank isn't opposed to catching a big one now and then. Typically, though, he enjoys being on the water and the sport of fishing for fishing's sake. And he says that Meredith has plenty of fish.

Personally, I was glad to see the other day that the AAU is absolving the great Jim Thorpe from charges of professionalism. Hopefully, his family will get all the medals he won and the Olympic committee will restore his records.

Thorpe was one of the greatest U.S. athletes on record, maybe the greatest. He was a one man track team. He was brilliant in football. He was outstanding in baseball. He was a great all-around athlete, capable in any sport.

I have always thought it was a disgrace to strip him of the medals and honors that he so richly deserved.

Now that the wind-plagued Donny Anderson Pro-Celebrity golf event is out of the way, a successful tournament, I might add, the path is clear for an all-out effort to make the All America football game the biggest of all, the biggest in every respect.

There's every reason to believe that this will be the best of the games played so far. First and foremost, there are some tremendous football players on each squad.

Perhaps, in addition to the caliber of players, the most important thing is that word of Lubbock's outstanding treatment of visiting players and coaches has spread.

Warm hospitality is extended to the visitors and they respond. Workouts are not killing and there is plenty of free time, with just enough entertainment to make the short stay enjoyable. It doesn't take long for the word to get around.

So, this year, look for a great game. And be sure to get your ticket early to avoid the rush.

Eighth Graduating Exercises Staged Last Friday at Mary & Mac School

Mary & Mack Private School held its eighth graduating exercise last Friday evening in the school auditorium, with Donna Walker, the only graduate, receiving her diploma. In accepting her diploma, she told the crowd of well wishers, "Some people said I wouldn't make it, but I did."

Her diploma was presented to her by the principal and founder, Mrs. L.S. Graves, who expressed her appreciation for the cooperation received by the parents and friends of Miss Walker.

T.J. Patterson, a former instructor at the school, was guest speaker. He chose as his subject, "Keep On Keeping On." He warned the only graduate of the 1973 class of the many pitfalls she will encounter and advised her to hold her head up and keep on keeping on. "When people talk about you, bad or good, it's free publicity," he said.

Patterson was introduced by the first graduate of Mary & Mac, Miss Cecille Joyce Graves, who is a graduate of Bishop College and an instructor at the school.

The Mary & Mac Acapella Choir, under the direction of Julius Graves, III, also a graduate of Mary & Mac and Lubbock Christian College, sang two selections which were arranged by Mr. Graves. They were "God Bless America" and "Salute to Our Flags."

Mr. Samuel Jayaseelen, an instructor, presented the class to Mrs. Graves. The presentation of the Key was made by Miss Walker to Sheldon Sedberry. Awards were presented to other students by Mrs. Graves.

Rev. A.L. Dunn, pastor of New Hope Baptist Church, gave the invocation and benediction. The school song, "Mary & Mac I Love You," was sung by the audience and students. "Pomp and Circumstance" and "War March of the Priest" was played on the organ by Mr. Graves.

Community Choir to Be Sponsored Here

A Community Choir is being organized and all interested young people between the ages of 13 to 30 are asked to meet with the group each Saturday afternoon at 3 p.m. at the Mae Simmons Community Center.

For further information, please contact any of the following persons: Mrs. Eula F. Williams, Mrs. Edna R. Walker, Mrs. Fayrene Alexander, Mrs. Bobbie Patterson or Mr. Roscoe Adams.

Birthday Reception Held

A birthday reception was held Saturday night, May 26 in the home of Rev. and Mrs. I.P. Gipson, 2619 East Cornell, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. George Lewis.

Guests present were Rev. and Mrs. S.R. Anderson, Rev. and Mrs. Lovett, Sister Ann B. Ford, Sister A. Coleman, Sister O. Moore, and Rev. T.L. Washington.

Many beautiful gifts were exchanged. Lovely refreshments were served to the guests, and a good time was had by all.
