

Alfred Named To Federal Judgeship

Appointment Came As Surprise; Both Texas Senators Having Favored Other Men

WICHITA FALLS, July 11 (AP)—President Roosevelt came to the home town of Gov. James V. Alfred today and, facing an audience of the governor's fellow citizens, announced that he is appointing Alfred as United States judge for the southern district of Texas, a place created by the recent act of congress.

Alfred has been mentioned for the post ever since legislation establishing it was first mentioned, but Senator Sheppard had endorsed Brantley Harris of Galveston and Senator Connally had endorsed Walton Taylor of Houston.

Sen. Wagner Talked For Court Post

New Yorker Or West-erner Likely To Take Cardozo's Place

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP)—Capital speculation over a successor to Supreme Court Justice Benjamin N. Cardozo, who died Saturday after a long illness, centered today on two possible courses.

1. President Roosevelt might select Sen. Robert F. Wagner (D-NY) or some other New Yorker, because the late justice was a resident of that state.

2. He might appoint a resident of the Far West, because that region is not now represented on the court.

Not Until Fall There is, of course, no requirement that the president follow either of those courses. In any event, he probably will make no appointment before fall, for the court is in recess until October.

The few political leaders remaining in Washington's midsummer hazy agreed that Mr. Roosevelt undoubtedly will choose a man of the same liberal views as the 68-year-old Cardozo, who had voted in favor of more New Deal legislation than any of his associates.

One of his last major opinions upheld the constitutionality of the social security program.

The appointment will be Mr. Roosevelt's third to the high court. Justice Van Devanter and Sutherland, both of whom had opposed many administration measures, retired from active service, and the president replaced them with Hugo L. Black of Alabama and Stanley F. Reed of Kentucky.

Should the president turn to the West for his choice, he could consider several federal judges whose names were suggested when he made his other two appointments. They are Sam G. Bratton of New Mexico, William Denman of California, J. C. Hutchison, Jr., of Texas, Harold M. Stephens of Utah and Justin Miller of California.

ORDERS A PROBE OF POLITICAL GRAFT

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 11 (AP)—Judge Paul N. Schaeffer today ordered the Dauphin county grand jury to start an investigation August 8 of charges of political graft against Gov. George H. Earle and 13 of his associates.

"There is reasonable cause," Judge Schaeffer said, "to believe that an investigation of the charges made will disclose some criminal misconduct on the part of the public business."

Big Spring To Make Bid For Vet Hospital

C-C Directorate Lays Groundwork For Campaign

Big Spring became a formal applicant Monday for the proposed veterans hospital due to be located in West Texas. Directors of the chamber of commerce, meeting in a luncheon session, instructed Manager J. H. Greene to mobilize forces for a determined campaign for the institution.

Legion Support The directors heard R. R. McEwen, American Legion post commander, pledge the full support of his organization in the campaign.

The Texas fifth division of the Legion, in convention here Sunday, went on record as requesting the hospital for "West Texas." It was clear at that meeting that individual post would be in the thick of the fight on behalf of their respective towns.

Manager Green made a report on the oil mill undertaking, announcing that Smith Bros. were ready to proceed with actual construction of the mill. Stockholders and directors of the new enterprise already have executed necessary preliminary papers.

Back Branch Bid Greene asked the directors for sanction to write endorsement of Branch Airways' application to institute passenger and mail service on the proposed line between Denver, Colo., and San Antonio, Texas.

He made it clear to the directors that American Airlines, whose division point is in Big Spring, the transcontinental line, and Transcontinental-Western Air with headquarters in Amarillo, were not interested in the proposition.

E. V. Spence, city manager, was a guest at the luncheon, and spoke briefly in reference to the water survey recently investigated by the U. S. Geologic department officials.

Directors unanimously voted a salary increase to the manager, effective immediately.

In attendance at the luncheon were the following: C. S. Blomshild, George White, Max Jacobs, A. S. Darby, Calvin Boykin, J. H. Greene, Mrs. Thurman, F. W. Melton, J. B. Harrison, V. A. Merrick, Pat Kenney, Merle J. Stewart, Dr. E. O. Ellington, Joe Galbraith, E. V. Spence, Miss Edith Gay and R. R. McEwen.

Interest In Election Picks Up; Absentee Vote Total To 91

The public's awakening interest in the July 23 democratic primaries was evidenced further Monday as absentee balloting continued at a brisk pace. The county clerk's office reported 91 absentee ballots had been cast up to noon, and workers expected a continued heavy demand during the week.

There remains only a little more than a week for absentee voting, the final date being July 20.

Monday was the first day for filing by candidates of expense accounts for the so-called "second period" of the campaign. The office seekers have through Friday, however, to file these reports, and none had reached the clerk's office Monday.

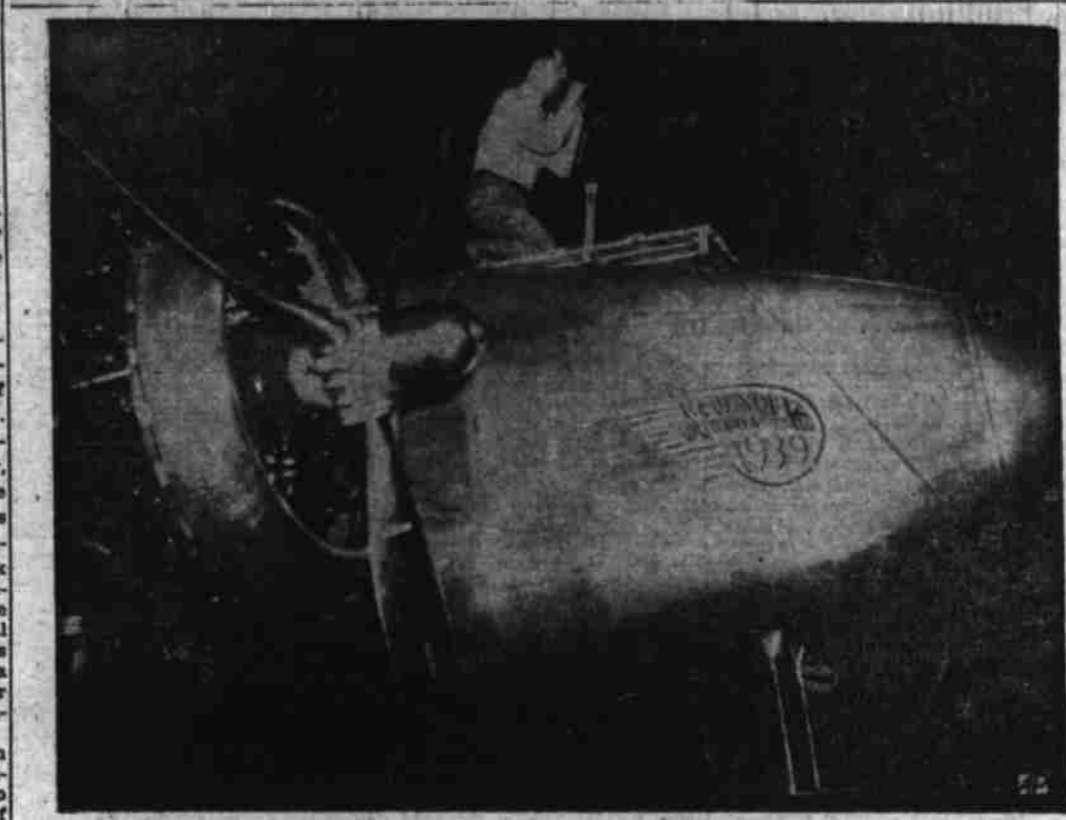

All candidates were slated to appear at Moore tonight in another of the series of community political rallies.

LANGUISHES IN JAIL

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 11 (AP)—Woody Hockaday, 52, of Wichita, Kas., shown above as he was seized, languished today in what he said was his 45th jail as the result of his wheat "raucous" during which he attempted to leap upon President Roosevelt's automobile and "abuse his shoes."

Secret Service Agent John E. Osborn clasped Hockaday as a "harmless eccentric" and added that "we probably will attempt to have him sent to an institution."

Osborn said no criminal charge would be filed. Detective Lieut. C. E. Biers said Hockaday was held on a disorderly conduct charge, filed by the city. The charge carries a $30 fine.

Hockaday was beaten to the ground Saturday when he attempted to jump on the president's car. He said he wanted to shine Mr. Roosevelt's shoes for a dime, and the shoes of 150 other prominent men for the same sum each, to show how much wheat and how little bread the money would buy.

Litigation On Gas Rates Is Renewed Lone Star Files A Brief Under Supreme Court Ruling

AUSTIN, July 11 (AP)—The Lone Star Gas company contended in a brief filed today the Austin court of civil appeals has no choice under a ruling of the United States supreme court other than to affirm a district court verdict invalidating a railroad commission order reducing by 20 per cent the company's gas rate in more than 275 Texas cities.

Moscow Flight Delayed Due To Weather

Damage Discovered As Fliers Start To Take Off

PARIS, July 11 (AP)—Howard Hughes, after spanning the Atlantic—New York to Paris nonstop—in less than half of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's time, was delayed tonight on his globe-girdling flight by bad weather and slight damage to his big twin-motored monoplane.

The American flier had hoped to be off for Moscow within two hours after landing from his morning crossing, 16 hours 35 minutes from New York.

But at the last minute a slight crack was discovered in the tail of his plane. He estimated repairs would require three hours.

Hughes himself was at the controls when the plane was wheeled to the runway late in the afternoon preparatory for the takeoff for Moscow.

But he wheeled it back into the hangar and a member of his crew said the take-off might be delayed even until tomorrow.

The American sportsman flier glided to an easy landing, taxiing up a concrete runway in front of the airframe where a crowd of officials and onlookers rushed to meet the big-gleaming twin-motored plane.

Far Better Mark His time from New York was less than half time of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh who flew non-stop from New York to Paris in 1927 in 33 1-2 hours.

The American flag was run up on the airframe's mast five minutes before Hughes and his four-man crew loomed over the field long before they were expected.

The big plane rolled to a gentle stop in front of Le Bourget field's main building, where United States Ambassador William C. Bullitt headed a throng of French and Americans waiting to greet the airman.

Hughes, however, did not cut the two motors for almost a full minute after rolling to a stop—the first flier since Lindbergh to make the flight.

As soon as the propellers stopped whirling the ambassador went to the door of the plane and opened it. He stuck his head in and shouted: "Congratulations, did you have a good trip?"

Hughes was the first of his crew to alight. He was evidently tired, but had a broad grin on his face. Before coming out he had taken the trouble to put on a necktie and place a hat on his head.

The flight leader was followed by the other four airmen. "We had a fine trip," said Hughes. "We made it in 16 hours 31 minutes."

French air officers stepped up to pat Hughes on the back and touch his hand.

Bullitt introduced his army and naval attaches and French officers to Hughes and members of his crew in turn.

The five fliers, accompanied by the ambassador, went to the airport commandant's office after posing had succeeded in cutting a path through the dense crowd which was in the U. S., with the suggestion that "95 per cent of all labor employed in the nation be American citizens"; (2) maintenance of adequate funds for veterans service and rehabilitation programs in Texas; (3) amendment of the veterans preference act to include those who served "in an emergency"; (4) an intensive campaign in Texas to stamp out sale of narcotics; (5) amendment of the state department's constitution to permit county organization of Legion units; (6) a change in the national organization's by-laws pertaining to travel expense of various officers; (7) amendment of by-laws to provide for a unified system of accounting for all posts, with finance officers bonded. A resolution also was adopted lauding Big Spring and all local interests for entertainment of the convention.

Reidel assumes office after the state convention at Austin in September. The division commander will select the next meeting place. Citations of honor were presented to three district commanders who were in attendance.

Other Resolutions Other resolutions adopted called for (1) a law to control alien labor.

MEET THE MEN WHO SPANNED THE OCEAN

NEW YORK, July 11 (AP)—Five men who beat Lindbergh's time on a non-stop flight from New York to Paris today were:

HOWARD HUGHES—Tall, graying and shy, Howard Hughes in 54 years has made several million dollars on movies, operated his father's oil-well drill factory and set several records for fast flying. Extremely nervous, he is slightly deaf and is one of America's most careless dressers. He attended four schools and graduated from none of them.

He calls himself a "sportsman-aviator," but his scientific study of flying ranks him near the top. He drinks moderately, but never smokes, and plays golf with a handicap of two. When he was 18 he inherited $17,000,000, and he has been adding to it ever since. Hughes was born in Houston, Texas.

RICHARD STODDART—Richard Stoddart, radio engineer for the flight, is a native of New York City. His education stopped with graduation from Newark, N. J., high school. He is 27 and has worked as radio operator on ships, planes and land stations.

THOMAS L. THURLOW—Navigator Thomas L. Thurlow, 28, is a native of Santa Ana, Calif., and a first lieutenant in the army air corps. At present he is working on the development of air navigation instruments and is an expert on the subject.

EDWARD LUND—Edward Lund, 31, Hughes' alternate engineer-mechanic, began his career as an auto mechanic at Kalspell, Mont., his native state. He became associated with Hughes in 1933 and has held several important jobs in airplane factories.

HARRY P. McLEAN CONNER—A native of Passaic, N. J., Harry P. McLean Conner, 35, learned navigation as a seaman. He holds a master's license, and served as navigator for Roger C. Williams in 1929 and 1930. Conner gave up aviation to return to the sea several times, but now specializes in seadromes.

Unless a last minute hitch developed, the conferees hoped to be able to proceed to drawing up an official resolution this afternoon.

Powers Urged To Evacuate Citizens

Japanese Threaten To Bomb Yangtze River Cities

SHANGHAI, July 11 (AP)—The United States and other foreign powers were handed new notes by the Japanese today urging them to evacuate their citizens from a half dozen Yangtze valley cities listed as probable targets for further widespread bombings.

Two previous notes, one a month ago and the other last Saturday, had asked that all foreign vessels and foreigners along the Yangtze river in the path of the Japanese advance on Hankow be removed.

The United States rejected the first note and has not answered the second.

The new memorandum informed foreign diplomats that concentration of Chinese troops and military establishments in Hankow and other key cities nearby necessitated a bombing campaign.

Riedel Is Elected To Head Legion

Named To Succeed Larry Daniel As Successful Convention Closes

Legionnaires of the Texas department's fifth division had concluded today what most of them termed their most successful convention. Business affairs of the two-day conclaves here were wound up Sunday afternoon as the World War buddies selected a new commander, named a national delegate, adopted resolutions of policy and heard addresses by Legion officials.

Named to head the division organization for 1938-39 was Ed Riedel of San Angelo, elected by acclamation to succeed Larry Daniel of Abilene. Daniel in turn was elected over George Broocks of Amarillo as the division's delegate to the national convention, and the Legion men further honored the Abilenean by endorsing him for national committeeman from Texas.

Another endorsement was for Lou Roberts of Borger, a candidate for state department commander.

Sunday afternoon's session at the municipal auditorium became a lengthy one as members engaged in a long, drawn-out argument over some of the resolutions presented. Most controversial subject was one calling for establishment of a veterans' hospital in West Texas.

Sam Snead Ready For PGA Tourney

COOPER LOW WITH SUB-PAR 66 By BILL BONY SHAWNEE ON DELAWARE Pa. July 11 (AP)—Samuel Jackson Snead, the sweet singer from White Sulphur who was such a host in the National Open, is ready for another bust—but this time he means to bust the professional golfers' association championship wide open. Samuel Jackson still is smarting from his disappointing showing at Denver, where he finished in the 300's and well out of the money. Since then he has gathered sufficient, and startling, evidence to show that his swing is back in the groove, that his putts are dropping, and that he's smacking them tee shots with all the persuasive power of a French 75.

Indians' Ability To Take One Run Games Have Placed Them Atop AL

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr. Associated Press Sports Writer One of the time-tested ways of deciding whether a baseball team really has the stuff to make it a pennant contender is to see whether it can come through in those high games where one run is the difference between victory and defeat. That ability is what makes the Cleveland Indians and Pittsburgh Pirates look very good right now.

CAPTURES EAGLE

Capturing a Mexican eagle, with a wing spread of five and a half feet, is the feat accomplished by L. T. Nowlain of Big Spring. This was accomplished Sunday when Nowlain, in company with friends, were sightseeing in the Davis mountain area near Fort Davis.

The party was looking for rattlesnakes, when suddenly they noticed a big bird on a ledge in the mountain area. One of the party threw a rock toward the bird, and stunned it. They promptly captured the eagle, and brought it to Big Spring, where it is on display at the Big Spring Motor company. Nowlain is a representative of the Universal Credit company. The bird was captured near the McDonald observatory.

READING AND WRITING

"THE CHALLENGE OF HOUSING," by Langdon W. Post; (Farrar & Rinehart; $3.50)

One October day in 1934 a man named Langdon W. Post walked through Central Park. Presently he saw ahead of him the handsome new zoo that Robert Moses, New York's commissioner of parks, was building to provide the monkeys and such-like a proper home. Building with money from the federal relief administration.

The sight inspired Mr. Post, who himself was a public servant—tenement house, commissioner and chairman of the New York housing authority. He hurried to his Washington plane, and within three hours was sitting across a desk from Harry Hopkins, "the New Deal's most human member, and the greatest enemy of red tape," in quote Mr. Post.

Post told Hopkins flatly that if he could build new houses for monkeys, he could build new houses for human beings. Hopkins agreed, asked how much would be needed, and "First Houses" became a possibility instead of a dream. Through the cooperation of Vincent Astor 122 families moved into this demonstration project, beginning December, 1935—paying an average of $6 per room per month.

Mr. Post has done other and bigger things since that time, among them the Williamsburg and Harlem groups. The first of these replaced an area which was 90 per cent covered with tenements with an area which was a third covered with modern low cost apartments, yet the new development actually housed 200 more families. These are pictured in the book Mr. Post has written about his great adventure: he calls this "The Challenge of Housing."

One reason Post has had time to write a book is that last year, for reasons Mayor LaGuardia did not make public, Post was removed from his position. It may be just as well, for he has not stopped thinking. His book is a strange combination of resentment at the blind perpetuation of conditions which demonstrably are vicious and uneconomic, with practical plans for eliminating it all. These last are too complicated for explanation here; it is enough to say that they contemplate approaching the matter as a public utility.

Mrs. Merritt Endorsed For Vice-president

Meeting Sunday Closes 2-Day Convention

Mrs. J. G. Merritt, president of unit 127, Colorado, was endorsed for vice-president of the fifth division American Legion Auxiliary to succeed Mrs. Larry Daniels of Abilene in a business meeting Sunday afternoon at the Settles hotel which concluded a two-day convention in Big Spring. Mrs. Merritt will be officially elected at the state convention in Austin Aug. 28-30.

Group singing of "Star Spangled Banner" with Mrs. Ann Gibson Houser at the piano opened the meeting. Welcome address was given by Mrs. E. V. Spence with Mrs. J. Danforth, past department president, Fort Worth, responding.

Business Session Mrs. Daniels presided over the business session which included a report of the credentials committee by Mrs. Edith Hopson of Alpine and of the president's work of the year.

Four district committee women also gave brief reports of their work including Mrs. Rufe L. Richardson of the 19th district, Mrs. Hopson of the 16th district, Mrs. Guy Clay of the 18th district and Mrs. Lance Thompson, acting secretary of the convention, of the 21st district.

Speakers Honored guest of the convention, Mrs. Pearl Ezell, department president, Beaumont, gave an interesting address following five-minute talks by Mrs. Hopson on "National Defense and Americanism," Mrs. Guy Clay on "Community Service" and Mrs. Richardson on "Child Welfare." Mrs. Tillman Jones, past department president, Post, spoke briefly and nominated Mrs. Merritt for vice-president.

The auxiliary was honored with talks by several of the national and state legion executives including Drury Phillips, national vice-commander, who advised the organization to begin today planning for the time when it would be larger than the legion because the ex-service boys were dying at the rate of over 100 a day.

Dr. W. J. Danforth, department commander, suggested that the auxiliary carry out the health education project started this year by the legion and George Betts of the state veteran's department spoke on the pension system. State Adjutant Fred Young addressed the assembly on the aid rendered needy families in the state. He emphatically stated that something must be done to prevent the WPA from cutting people off the roles when they are receiving legion aid.

In a few remarks to the organization, Tom Ward of the state veteran's employment service said his department is not to be considered a relief agency but it is merely to aid ex-service men in obtaining employment.

Mrs. Ruth Arp of Sweetwater presented Mrs. Daniels with a gift from the Sweetwater unit.

LANGUAGE AS A TRADE FACTOR

Texas educational system could properly include a compulsory study of the Spanish language, and it should go far enough that all pupils educated at state expense would be able to have at least a fair knowledge of this language and be able to understand and be understood in hearing and speaking it.

There are two languages in this half of the world—English and Spanish—and about one hundred and fifty millions of people speak each of the other. This is a condition existing nowhere else on the globe.

THE EDEN-CHAMBERLAIN DEBATE

PARIS, July 11.—The differing attitudes represented in Britain by Mr. Chamberlain and Mr. Eden are to be found in somewhat lesser degree in France and in other countries as well.

Though it is true that the Chamberlain policy has more active supporters among the parties of the right and the Eden policy on the left, it would be misleading to suppose that Mr. Chamberlain sympathizes with the fascist advance or that Mr. Eden is agitating in favor of a crusade against the totalitarian states.

There is no difference of opinion on the need of bringing the military power of Britain to the highest possible point of efficiency. There is no difference of opinion on the need to prepare a defense against a sudden blow against London, or against sudden incursion into France.

The question at issue between those who think with Mr. Chamberlain and those who think with Mr. Eden is at bottom whether time is on the side of the London-Paris axis or the side of the Rome-Berlin axis. This is the crucial question in the world today.

The questions are acute at two points—in Spain and in Czechoslovakia. Thus, according to one view, which we may call the Eden view, to permit Mussolini and Hitler to produce a victory for France is to give them permanent military control in the Western Mediterranean.

The Czechoslovak question, viewed from one side, is whether Hitler is to incorporate the whole Danube Valley, including the oil fields and grain of Rumania, within the planned military economy of the Reich.

In general, those who take the Eden view hold that since Germany cannot now afford to wage a long war, the only safe course is to resist now and to refuse concessions in Spain and Czechoslovakia which would enable Germany to wage a long war.

Those who take the Chamberlain view hold that if Hitler achieves his immediate objectives, he will then have the economic resources to challenge Britain because he will then be able to wage a long war.

Man About Manhattan

by GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — This is a sentimental sort of story — one of those I-remember-and-won't-you-swing-down-memory-lane-with-me sort of things.

In those days I was kicking around Columbus, Ohio. The center of attraction there was the Hartman theater, the same theater which Helen Hayes recently called the most beautiful theater she played in on her coast to coast tour.

One day a company of the musical show, "Good News," came to town. And in it was Dixie Lee. And by a coincidence that was the day she received word from Hollywood that the films wanted her. They wanted her to report at the studio as quickly as possible.

Now Dixie was a wide-eyed little girl. And she was so excited that she scarcely knew whether she was coming or going. I remember passing H. E. Cherrington, a critic at the time, in the lobby of the theater and he told me that Miss Lee had just had the big word from Hollywood.

Well, when a thing like that happens everybody knows it. All the critics know it, and all their friends know it, and pretty soon everybody in the audience was talking about Dixie Lee, the girl in the show, and her Hollywood contract. The ushers knew it, too, and so did the doorman and the man in the box office.

Meanwhile the curtain went up and at last that fast-stepping comedy of college life was on. It wasn't any trouble at all to pick out Dixie Lee, even if you didn't recognize her, because everybody was talking about her and nudging their next-door neighbors and saying, "Look, look how excited she is. There she is."

Sights And Sounds by ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — WITH ART... HOLLYWOOD — Every film player yearns for "the perfect part." Some wait for years before it comes along — and when it does they have to fight to get it.

1.—Margo read a best seller and although she then was just a little Mexican dancer, she decided the exotic lady of a mythical land was a character she just had to play.

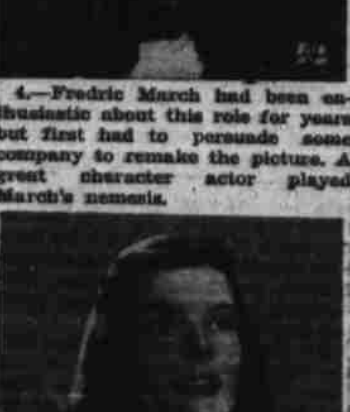

2.—Robert Montgomery had been looking for a way out of those smart-alecky roles when this sinister character showed up. Bob gave his bones no peace until they let him play it.

3.—Claudette Colbert had always been just a little little ingenue and was tired of it. She argued and argued for this part which her employers thought was too daring for a sweet young thing.

4.—Fredric March had been enthusiastic about this role for years but first had to persuade some company to remake the picture. A great character actor played Marc's nemesis.

5.—Katharine Hepburn wanted this role ever since she was under study to Hope Williams who played it on the stage. When Katy made her screen test, she read lines from the play, Columbia borrowed her from another studio for the part.

LOVE ON THE RANGE

Chapter Nine THE SHERIFF

Before the Stockmen's Bank in Paso Pinto, at Lee's order, Ankrum showed a sheet upon the banks and brought the car to a stop. A solid-looking man with a great wide forehead lunged against one of the twin pillars guarding the bank's entrance.

He returned the gaze with interest. He saw that the leugner was dressed in range clothes which he guessed to be of expensive make. These clothes, he saw, were well-fitted by the heavy-muscled figure of their wearer. The man's cream-colored Stetson was shoved far back from the forehead, disclosing a rebellious tangle of curly black hair.

Abruptly the man's head came up, the gray eyes slid away from Ankrum's glance and fastened on something nearer. A great brown paw came up and removed his hat while across his heavy features flashed a smile. Ankrum's gaze, slightly shifting, saw that Lee Trone had come abreast.

The man bowed with a gallant flourish. "Gosh," he said, "but it's good to see you, gal. Where you been keepin' yourself?" "Out of your way," she answered coolly. The big man's white-toothed grin remained. "Shucks," came the lazy drawl, "that ain't no friendly way to talk."

"I wasn't trying to be friendly," Ankrum saw the big man shove free of the pillar in such a way that his bulk presented a barrier between the girl and the door. "Lee, some folks are givin' an odd-time dance here on the twelfth. What say we take it in? Been a long time since you an' I have shaken a hoof together."

There was a dry sarcasm in Lee's reply that was not wasted on Ankrum. "It will be a long time before we do again—if ever. Let me pass now, Tom. I want to go inside." "Why, shucks, I thought you'd stopped to talk with me," he said, and made no move from where he stood. "Seems like you're awful cool today, ain't it the first time I've seen you since you got back. We used to be good friends. What's the matter? Did that college put big notions in your head?"

"Times have changed, that's all—people, too," she answered, "my going away to college has had nothing to do with it. You're not the man I used to know, Tom; you've changed. A strange man, it seems to have settled on this range." "What's all that got to do with you and me?" "Your father and my father were never friends—"

"But he don't have to make enemies out of his friends, he says. 'I'm not so sure. My loyalty lies with my father. Things that you and I once found possible are no longer. I don't think we had better meet again.'"

Ankrum could not see Lee's face; her back was to him now. But he could see the big man's features well; could see a look of resentment stir the gray smoke of those sleepy-lidded eyes. "I reckon," the big man said, "someone has been spreading lies about me." "I'm not so sure that they were lies. There was bad blood between your dad and mine for many years. Can you assure me that all this time you have not brooded on Ed Ratchford's death?"

"Out To Bust the Rafter?" Ratchford's sleepy lids marked all feeling from his glance. "I didn't think," he said, "you'd ever doubt me, Lee. He's had to see..."

Seek Injunction Against Raids
 NEW ORLEANS, July 11 (AP)—Attorneys for the Committee for Industrial Organization said today a federal injunction would be asked against future raids by police on the C.I.O.-affiliated National Maritime Union headquarters.

Police last Friday seized several men before the headquarters while they distributed circulars attacking city officials and police for their activities in a C.I.O. strike against 11 trucking firms and a cab company.

Later 86 men were arrested at the headquarters, and 49 of them awaited a recorder's court hearing today. The remaining 37 were freed on bond. All were charged with loitering.

Superintendent of Police George Rayer, who led the raid, said he would "drive the communist industrial organization Reds from New Orleans."

Amin
solated Press foreign staff, summed the position up neatly the other day when he reported that Haj Amin "sits in a big house in Al-Zok, near Beirut, and stirs the Arab world with a long-handled spoon."
Long A Troublemaker
Haj Amin has spelled trouble for the British in Palestine, ever since he fought against them in the World War. Neither Britain nor France want him in their Arabian territories, but both are afraid to let him out of their sight. Thus we have the strange circumstance of this man, wielding the strings for his marionette show from his big house in the sphere of influence of the unhappy but watchful French.
It came about like this: Last September when disorder broke out in Palestine the British "sighed" "The Muffin, again," and sent an eye about. But before they could do anything he withdrew to the Mosque of Omar, Mohammedan holy ground, where the British dared not touch him.
Then under cover of night and disguised as a Bedouin, he fled to the coast and tried to make his way to Damascus, in French mandate Syria. However, the French caught up with him at Beirut, and politely but firmly refused him permission to move on. He then set himself down in the big house in Al-Zok and started to administer Arabian affairs in Palestine at long distance.
From Beirut come reliable reports that the Muffin has created an elaborate and well-financed organization as he had in Palestine. It is claimed that money pours into his headquarters, and from this seat of power issues a stream of orders to hench men in Palestine.

Timmons Baby Is Taken By Death
Funeral services were scheduled at 8 o'clock Monday afternoon at the East Fourth Street Baptist church for Edwin Timmons, nine-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Timmons of this city. The baby succumbed in a local hospital at 9:30 Monday night. He was born September 14, 1937.
Rev. E. E. Mason will be in charge of the services, and burial will be made in a local cemetery under direction of the Eberley Funeral home.
Surviving beside the parents are a brother, Frank B., Jr., two sisters, Mabel Lee and Thelma Grace; the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. O'Brien and Mrs. K. G. Woodley of Big Spring; and these uncles and aunts: Frank, Bledsoe, Louis and Emmet O'Brien, all of Big Spring; T. A. O'Brien, Jr., of Odessa; Helen Green of Midland; Mrs. Mack Timmons of Big Spring and Mrs. G. W. Garlington of Vincent.

FDR
Eaton Summers of Dallas and W. D. MacFarlane of Graham, the president remarked that it looked like a regular old Washington reunion.
The representatives, and Senator Tom Connally and Governor James V. Alfred boarded the presidential train to ride to Amarillo.
Shortly before the train departed the president, standing on the rear platform with Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt, motioned to secret service men and out of the crowd came a flaxen-haired, grinning girl of about eight years, Matilda Nail of Fort Worth—running towards Mr. Roosevelt. She was hoisted to the platform, dug into her tiny purse and presented the president with a shining cigarette lighter.
Overhead throned a sky writer, releasing clouds of white smoke that seemed to voice the sentiments of a station crowd of several thousand.
"F. D. R.—OK."
Spent Quiet Day
The sun sent temperatures to 92 degrees as the president gave photographers their first break in Fort Worth, posing for scores of photographs. No pictures had been snapped of Mr. Roosevelt since his arrival here Saturday midnight. He spent all of yesterday relaxing at Dutch Branch ranch and saw only intimate friends of his son.
From Dutch Branch the ranch 10 miles southwest of the city, the president rode through the city, smiling to thousands who lined the streets and hung out of office buildings.
His automobile was preceded by 26 mounted officers and a car of U. S. secret service men.
The typical West Texas hot president wore—temporarily discarding the familiar panama—caught the fancy of the big crowd gathered on the fringe of the plains country. Son Elliott also wore a similar hat.
The president planned platform appearances at Wichita Falls, Childress and Clarendon, climaxing the day with a public appearance at Amarillo. It was his first trip through a region the federal government has aided through an erosion and crop program.

Legion
attended the convention: Jim Wilson of Floydada; Lou Roberts of Borger, and M. L. Hopson of Alpine.
Stresses Co-operation
The legion's program of cooperation in all educational activities was stressed in a talk by Drury Phillips of Huntsville, national vice-commander who referred to the recent incident at the national Education Association convention, where was released monograph by Prof. William Gallerman of Northwestern University who termed the service organization a "fascist" and "reactionary" group. Phillips stressed the fact that the NEA itself was in no way responsible for the opinion, that the convention went on record for a program of cooperation with the Legion. "It should be thoroughly plain to all unprejudiced minds," Phillips said, "that the relations between the American Legion and the NEA are closer than they have ever been. We of the Legion look forward to many years of friendly participation in the program of American Education."
Another speaker was Dr. W. J. Danforth of Fort Worth, state department commander, who stressed the Legion's youth program. He explained that 500,000 boys in the nation were enjoying the Legion-sponsored baseball program, many thousands more were in Legion sponsored troop. He said such activities should be broadened to train American youth so that it could carry on in future years the Legion's aims and ideals.
Others Speak Briefly
Mrs. Pearl Esell of Beaumont, auxiliary department president, spoke briefly, telling of the auxiliary's work in veteran rehabilitation and in the field of child welfare. The state adjutant, Fred Young, displayed a chart of booklets available to all posts at state headquarters, and urged that individual units take advantage of the facilities of the state office. Others who spoke briefly were Tom Ward, head of the veterans' employment service in Texas, and George Betts, service officer.
The Sweetwater municipal band, official Legion music organization directed by Jack Armstrong, played for the afternoon program, after having contributed a great deal of color to the convention as a whole. Auxiliary members were in a separate session at the Settles during the Legion's final business meeting.
Final entertainment event for visiting Legionnaires and auxiliary members was a barbecue served at noon Sunday at the city park. More than 400 attended this event, and final convention registration, including a big list of Big Spring residents, was approximately 500.

outing:
"Vive les Americains!"
"Long live the Americans!"
A special ground crew took the plane in hand immediately after Hughes and his crew left it and began to tune up the motor.
Caught Unawares
So quickly did the plane arrive at the airport that everyone was caught unawares. The first inkling was when the plane flew out of the clouds to descend quickly to the field.
Because the plane is of the same type as those used by a large commercial airline with a terminal here many observers thought at first that the plane was simply another straggler from London.
The first intimation officials had that the fliers were over France was a radio message informing Le Bourget they were about to land.
It was only then that the plane was received when the plane's broad wings dipped down toward the surprised crowd.
Until that moment, in fact, airport officials denied the fliers even had reached the French coast.
Brown hat awry, Hughes immediately checked the plane and gave orders to refuel it. He said he believed he had 250 gallons of gasoline left when he landed.

An extensive check for observance of the state health law in local food handling establishments was being continued Monday by J. D. Williams, health department officer, who already had filed complaints of violations against four stores.
Defendants entered pleas of guilty in justice court and paid fines. The complaints alleged specifically "contamination of food" in three of the cases, and officials explained that a violation was alleged in the use of meat preservatives. It was further said that the preservative was not on some meats, and that the practice had been halted.
Williams was continuing inspection of all stores which come within the jurisdiction of the health laws.
